New Carlisle Men Negotiate For Flouring Mill in Buchanan

Now Here's the Proposition

AS I SEE IT NOW
By Haws

This is the thing as I see it now—Most of us fall but all of us try, And this it is, if anything, We shall answer for when we come to die:

That our ears are tuned for the clink of gain
Till we lose the sound of the inner voice;
That we work so hard to escape from pain
That we lose our sole chance to rejoice—

In a little forgetting of thought
In a little more thought for another's fate,
Not giving oneself to the chase of self
Till we lose our talent for thinking straight.

We're not such a villainous lot in youth,
But most of us fall of the vision splendid;
We fall away from the side of truth
And are damned for the things that we never intended.

Childs Offers Plan for Help To Unemployed

T. D. Childs of the Oak Ridge cemetery board came before the city commission Tuesday evening with a plan for local unemployment relief through the use of men in need of work in improvement of the cemetery. Childs stated that the grounds were badly in need of fencing, it being impossible to lock marauders out now. A number of men could be used grading and gravelling the graves, trimming the trees, cutting out brush, removing old curbing and foot stones that have lapsed to decay and interfere with mowing. No action was taken by the commission.

DAYTON PICNIC DRAWS LARGEST CROWD IN HIST.

Buchanan Babies Carry Most of Honors; Galien Wins One.

Favored by ideal weather, the Dayton I. O. O. F. picnic registered the outstanding success in the 15 years since the Labor Day picnic was begun, according to Jerome Sebasty, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The grounds were thronged all day by a crowd which was estimated at over 6,000 during the afternoon. The increased attendance required an addition of a three acre field for parking space which had never been used previously.

A very satisfactory income from the stands was reported, the bingo stand in particular breaking all records.

Winners in the baby contest were:

1st, Lois Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Reed of Buchanan; 2nd, Frank Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Green of Buchanan; 3rd, Janice Seyfried, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seyfried of Galien; 4th, Schuyler Hinman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hinman of Buchanan.

Final Date City Tax is Extended to October 1

City tax collections at the end of the first month of grace, which occurred yesterday were $300 ahead of last year, according to City Treasurer Ada Dacy-Sanders, who states that the payment has been very satisfactory, in consideration of general financial conditions. The period of tax payment was extended until Oct. 1 at the September meeting of the council Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson C. Brumm of Nashville were Labor Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McClure.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Geishart and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ott of Jackson were holiday visitors of friends here. Mrs. Geishart was formerly Evelyn Summerhill.

WILL MEET WITH CITY COMMISSION THIS AFTERNOON

Consider City Lots on East Third Street as Location for 50-Barrel Plant.

Massey Bros., New Carlisle flour mill operators, will meet with the city commission this afternoon in negotiation for one of the city lots on East Third Street adjacent to the gas tanks as a site for a mill here.

It is the intention of Massey Bros. to install a 50-barrel plant here in case a location can be found at a reasonable price, according to their representations before the council Tuesday evening. They stated that they had been in the business with a 50-barrel plant at New Carlisle for the past ten years and that they had built up a custom business that extended into the northern part of Berrien county. It is to take care of the trade in this vicinity that they plan a mill here.

City officials state that they would be unwilling to part with one of the two lots near the gas tank, since it will be needed in the event of the extension of Third Street east. One lot is available, however, and the extension of the street would make the property satisfactory for a mill site.

BERRIEN FARM

CULTURE BEST IN YEARS SAYS AGT.

H. J. Lurkins Answers Query "What to Raise Instead of Wheat."

We continue to have a full supply of all text books required for town and all country schools in Berrien County, also all other school equipment. Binns' Magnet store.

"Keep on raising it but don't overdo it, and see that you have not less than five sources of income from your farm," was the answer of County Agent Harry Lurkins to the question, "What shall we raise instead of wheat," which was put to him at the meeting of the Wagner Grange Friday evening.

Farmers lose through failure to dope plainly discernible market trends, according to Lurkins. A crop that proves profitable one year is raised on a larger scale next year, although all signs point to lower prices.

A farmer should have a group of staples which he raises consistently year after year, regardless of markets, Lurkins stated. If a farmer has always raised wheat he should continue raising it with discretion.

The depression has not been a total loss, Lurkins stated. In spite of the fact that money for crop expenses has not been forthcoming in amounts as large as formerly, Berrien county farmers have used better methods than in the preceding ten years, Lurkins stated.

Another Week Goes By

Another week has passed with tons of fruit now going to waste, and no local plans for utilization for relief of the needy this winter.

In the meantime more Chicago churches are taking advantage of the situation in Berrien county to provide in advance for the unemployed in that city. The Moody Bible Institute is among those having trucks in the field. The Record received a letter this week asking for information as to the possibility of getting surplus fruit and vegetables in this locality.

And the moral is: If Chicago has the initiative, let Chicago have the surplus.

Plans announced through the press for relief by cities over the United States indicate that almost without exception, the municipalities are preparing for more relief work than was carried on last winter.

The situation in Buchanan is, briefly, this:

Extension of credit by merchants reduced the need of relief here last winter.

This credit will not be available to the same extent this winter.

One reason is that many of the goods bought on credit last winter are not paid for.

Although Buchanan has ranked as one of the best towns in the automobile section in employment, less hours have been put in local factories this year than last.

This will in turn render it more difficult to raise funds for relief.

As one factory worker put it this week:

"If there is a hard winter this year there is a chance for more want than last.

"Take my case. Last winter at this time I had my money for coal. This winter I haven't got it yet."

All who are interested in trying out for the team this year are requested to report at the meeting next Friday evening.

CHICAGO CLUB HONORS PIONEER FREE THINKER

Big Delegation Visits Grave of Joseph Coveney in Local Cemetery.

Honor was done to the memory of Joseph Coveney, pioneer free thinker, by a large visiting delegation from the Czecho-Slovakian Society of Chicago which visited his grave in Oak Ridge cemetery Sunday.

The delegation comprised about 125 people, making the trip in two large buses and a number of private cars. Several talks were made at the grave by members of the society who stated that one of their number had worked in Buchanan a few years ago and had discovered the grave in the course of a Sunday walk.

The above picture represents the baseball nine representing the Orioles Athletic Club which carried off the city honors this year after a warm series with the Reamer Athletics. They won 12 out of 15 starts.

BERRIEN-CASS EAGLE SCOUTS HOME FROM TRIP

Meet President Hoover on White House Lawn and are Photographed.

Eagle Scouts, seventeen in number, have returned from a 2300 mile trip through the east and report a wonderful experience. At Akron it was their privilege to go thru the dirigible hanger and look over the big ship. The next stop at Gettysburg, proved very interesting also. They visited all the spots where major battles were fought and walked thru the national cemetery. The next attraction was a coal mine near where where much valuable information was gleaned concerning the industry. From here the party went to Washington where arrangements had been made by Executive Oscar Noll for a visit with the President.

Promptly at 12:30 Mr. Hoover and his secretaries came out on the private lawn and talked "Scouting" for several minutes. The president was then presented with the handcraft article, the first magazine rack to be made in the new camp this summer. The Secretary, Mr. Richey, then surprised the boys by having their pictures taken with the president.

Many reporters from the leading newspapers were there and snapped the picture and interviewed the boys to visit many of the rooms of the white house, not open to the general public. A special guide also took the party thru the capital and showed them many sections not usually seen by those visiting the capital. After 2-12 days in Washington, Annapolis was visited and then Norfolk ship yards. The new boat "President Coolidge" was seen along with many other boats under construction. The explanation of how the dry docks are operated was enthusiastically received. The next stop was Suffolk, Va., the Caverns of Lora and a trip thru the Blue Ridge Mountains. The boys passed the camp of President Hoover, Camp Rapidan. The brick ovens in Virginia and the coal mines were very interesting.

Many points of historical interest such as Mt. Vernon, Arlington cemetery, Lincoln's home were visited. During the trip the boys were very royally treated by everyone. Hotels and restaurants were very courteous and went out of their way to do their best for them.

On the way home the Harding Memorial was visited at Marion. The boys got some of the biggest thrills in the Blue Ridge Mountains where the new roads have sharp curves and steep grades. Many of them experienced difficulty in hearing at the high altitudes.

Those making the trip were: Robert Strayer, George Remington, George Spatta of Buchanan; Charles Pierce, Ross Greer, Robert Baehr, Paul Green of Niles; Hart Orris of Cassopolis, Edward Schreiber of Coloma; Philip Up-ton of St. Joseph; Mark Howard,

When More Banks Break Gossip Will Break Them

The situation in the county seat this week is evidence of the damage that may be wrought anywhere by peddling rumor, whether malicious or merely idle. The largest bank in the county has been endangered through unfounded gossip. There is no bank in Michigan so strong that talk cannot close it. Those who indulge in promiscuous talk regarding the solidity of banks are public enemies and are so considered by the law of Michigan, which provides severe penalty where proof is secured. Fear is more epidemic than disease and travels like wildfire. We venture the assertion that if any bank is closed in this county after this date, it will be closed not because of the fault of management but through the work of such public enemies as have endangered the St. Joseph institution.

BEGINS CAMPAIGN PREVENTION VS. DREAD DISEASE

Send Names of all Having Had Infantile Paralysis To Dr. Snowden.

Information as to the identity of everyone in Buchanan and the surrounding vicinity who has had infantile paralysis in the past twenty years is urgently desired at once by the State Department of Health as a chief step in a thorough preventive campaign undertaken to forestall a possible spread of the disease, which has already gained foothold in the Galien district.

Names of persons who have had the disease should be given at once to Dr. R. H. Snowden, who will forward them to the State Department. A representative of the state will then visit each one reported and explain the need for donations of blood.

Injection of the serum manufactured from the blood of individuals who have had the disease have been found to have considerable efficacy in preventing the paralysis which is the dangerous feature of the disease. Each donor is requested to give only 64 ounces of blood, which is less than a third the amount taken in transfusions. This amount will not be felt in the case of persons weighing over 90 pounds or in the case of normally robust children weighing less. A robust adult would be able to give two or more donations of blood without ill effects. However, no donation of blood will be taken unless the prospective donor is examined as to his fitness. In the case of people who feel that they cannot give the blood for financial reasons, a payment of $10 will be made.

The work is entirely in charge of the state department of health which assures absolute cleanliness and safety against any possible infection. The press of securing the blood is entirely painful.

Miss Martha Giltner, a representative of the State Department of Health, was in Buchanan on Tuesday afternoon to launch the campaign for all the donations of blood possible. It was emphasized that anyone who has recovered from the disease can make the donation without detriment to himself, and may be the means of saving another from death or from lifelong physical disability.

EXODUS TO RURAL DIST. IS NOT FELT

Stark Requests as Many as Possible to Turn in Old Textbooks.

That the prospective exodus to the farms has not materialized as far as the city of Buchanan is concerned is indicated by the enrollment of the local schools, a total of 979 being enrolled in all departments as compared with 978 last year.

The comparative enrollment is nearly identical with the school census, which indicated a decrease of four from 1073 to 1069.

Wants Text Books

Superintendent Stark requests that all who have old text books of the series now in use in the schools turn them over for the benefit of the many pupils whose parents are not able to buy this year. A large number have already been donated but not sufficient to meet the need. There has been no change in books this year and any aid that those may give who have books not in use will be appreciated.

Making it True to Life

A brewer, who had risen to a high position on account of his wealth, had a large portrait painted of himself and hung in one of the public halls of the town. A poor woman noticed it one day, and when asked if she did not think it a splendid likeness, remarked, "Yes, good enough. If only his hand were painted in John's pocket instead of his ain, 'twould be just true to life and a perfect likeness for sure".

Plan Campaign to Sell Prohibition to Nation's Cities.

The Allied Forces of Prohibition a group organized recently to strengthen dry sentiment, opened a nation-wide campaign at Columbus, O., Sept. 8. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, New York, is chairman. After a three day meeting, the campaigners will tour 260 cities for the purpose of re-selling prohibition to the country before the 1932 presidential campaign.

The cities chosen for the tour are regarded as strategic centers on which the speakers will move in three separate divisions.

Here's a Suggestion for our Michigan Solons

Inhabitants of a Japanese village in Mima County, Japan, who like their liquor, will have to nurse their thirst for a while. According to the press, delinquent taxes have reached the sum of $15,000 and in an effort to ease the situation the master of the village has issued an order forbidding the sale and consumption of alcoholic drinks for a period of two years.

U. S. Senator Sheppard says: "The occasional sight of a public drunkard today rallies a crowd. Before the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment drunken nuisances infested the streets and public places. There is a significance in the fact that the hip flask with its limited quantity of liquor has taken the place of the quart and the decanter. We are dealing in fractions now, when once we dealt in whole numbers."

Representative Dyer of Missouri tells President Hoover that restoration of real beer would raise $1,000,000,000 a year taxes and put 100,000 men to work. If Dyer is correct, why don't the beer drinkers help England and Germany out of their depression, which is infinitely worse than Uncle Sam's?

Twenty-Six Million Reasons for Abstinence.

There are in the United States 26 million automobiles. Rightly used these are a blessing, wrongly used, a menace, spreading death and disaster. The driver of an auto is required to perform at one time at least five distinct and difficult operations:

He must watch the rapidly changing panorama on the roadway ahead, often crowded with many other vehicles running at high speed.

He must manage the steering wheel and pilot his car safely thru spaces that often allow but a few inches on either side.

He must manage the gasoline feed so as to control the terrific power of his machine.

He must be prepared to operate the clutch and the brake with instantaneous effectiveness.

He must be prepared likewise to operate the gearshift. On the instantaneous and accurate performance of any or all of these operations may depend the lives of himself and of others.

The difference between life and death is but a fraction of a split second. No one who values human life should be willing to deaden the brain and the nerves with liquor and then to assume the responsibility for driving an auto upon a public highway.

Story of Milk Will Be Told At The State Fair

The complete story of your morning bottle of milk, from the earliest stages of production down to its final delivery on the back step, will be told at the State Fair in Detroit next week in an elaborate exhibit which has been prepared by the Michigan State College.

Starting with cultural practices necessary in raising foodstuffs for the dairy herd, and touching every step in producing, handling and marketing milk, the exhibit is said to be one of the most interesting and complete of its kind ever prepared in the state.

It carries sound technical information for the producer of milk, as well as a surprising story for the average consumer.

Live cows form a part of the show. Milk produced by them will be carried through the various stages of treatment in a modern creamery, and then delivered on an improvised doorstep.

A final portion of the big exhibit, prepared by home economics specialists at the state college, will show the place of milk in a well planned diet. Scientists have named milk as one of our most valuable foodstuffs, setting a quart a day per person as a wise minimum.

The average use of milk in the United States at present is said to be but little more than one-half quart a day for each person, and the exhibit at Detroit fits in with attempts being made by the health authorities to increase the consumption of dairy products.

Accused of stealing dirt from a park, Sam Pastor of New York City, was arrested and given a jail sentence.

Crazed with blood-flaming rum—those savage Kaffirs attacked! It will challenge your belief to read of the jungle horrors heaped upon this beautiful woman, who actually lived to tell her own true story in words so frank they terrify.

"If those degenerate Kaffirs had only killed me," this woman writes, "I would not today be tortured with telling you of that horrible jungle night."

"You may ask, 'Why tell it, if it tortures you to do so?' But I tell you that I must speak. I must confess. For in confession, so psychologists say, there is a magic balm that helps us to forget—forget—Oh, if I only could!"

If you, dear spectator, think Life has dealt you hellish blows—sore your soul with suffering—pick up this amazing real-life story, THE SAVAGE TRAIL, here in this thunderous climax. Even as you read, you may doubt that any woman of woman born could bear the nameless horrors heaped upon these defenseless feminine shoulders. But read this astounding true-life story for yourself. You will find it complete in October TRUE STORY. Get your copy—read it today!

The Old Timer's Corner

Esther Winch Pays Tribute To The Trees Of Buchanan

The story of the trees of Buchanan was a pleasing reminiscence. "Trees were God's first temples." Trees, too, were Berrien counties pledge of the future. They were a joy—sometimes a mishap—to generations of Buchanan boys.
One of the sports of long ago was "hooking on" especially to bob sleds. A common trick of drivers was to sway the "bobs" around so that the trailing sleds would hit a tree. Lucky boy if his sled was not broken, inducing a vivid recital at home of "how it happened." Hooking on had been forbidden. It was really dangerous. So, too, was climbing trees. And yet the boys could (and did) climb trees like a cat. The nuts, hickory, butternut and walnuts were shaken from the tree tops—afortime. Bird nests were high in the trees. The beautiful trees around Buchanan. The youthful audubons knew the color and call of the native songbirds in the trees in and around the village. Collecting birds eggs was a by-product of the sport of climbing trees.
The story of the trees yet standing was a graphic tale. I knew and grew with them along a score of passing years. On my route to school, more than 70 years ago, the old union school of blessed memory, I passed the large oaks at Carlisle's place, the spreading oak on the Mansfield farm, now the city residence of Mrs. Spaulding on past the huge old tree at Third and Oak Street. Fanny Carlisle was my seatmate one year at school. Mrs. Spaulding was a successful teacher in the Berrien County schools. We were friends for more than seventy years, although our life was lived apart.
Nowhere were there more stately full-leaved Christmas trees than near Buchanan. Santa Claus was a pagan myth in calendars of Saints, as I was taught. The red robed, white whiskered joy promoter was unknown. The reindeer bells never jingled on our frontier. Amidst hemlock, cedar, pine and spruce trees, where the gum and trees were no calls for the beautiful Christmas tree. Life was real. Life was earnest. Trees in lumber, were hostages to life and living.
During the presidential campaign of 1860 men of Berrien county swarmed to the standard of Abraham Lincoln like bees around a blooming basswood tree in ideal unity. He had known life in the elemental. So had they. They had held their breath as "Eliza crossed on the ice" (in Uncle Tom's Cabin). The spirit of Uncle Tom hovered over their consciousness. Lincoln was a man of the people.
So the "wide awakes" came like an army in the Lincoln campaign. Locally the band was of school boys, shop men and young farmers. Their rendezvous was under the old oak trees near the Carlisle home—then the Gillett place. It was the rallying point of the girls as well as the boys. Here I first saw Rollin Winch, my husband of forty-six happy years. Under the ancient oaks in couples and groups we giggled and laughed, school girl fashion—until the deepening twilight came. Glorious youth! All unmindful of the gathering tempest of war. Towering, blooming tulip trees, queens of wayside and woods had gone as white wood lumber. But the wayside oaks were left.
Ashley Carlisle, himself, a Civil war soldier and owner of the century old oaks, inaugurated a series of picnics. Old soldiers reunions, markers along the trail. I was delighted that Nancy Studebaker came into the corner again. She, the Carlisle girls and Amanda Gillett (who grew up under the ancient oaks) were school mates along the years. How we girls crowded the old Union School. I know of none living but "Nancy Smith" and I, of that galaxy of girl associates. Mr. Holmes' story of the black squirrels reminds me again of the trees. Trees where squirrels—thousands—black, red and grey, gambled in riotous freedom, gone to the city parks.

65 Ex-Buchanites Picnic at Los Angeles August 23

The Record is indebted to Mrs. Lucille Brockett Garton for the following account of the annual picnic of ex-Buchanites in California:
Approximately 65 former residents of Buchanan, Michigan assembled together at a picnic held on Sunday, August 23rd, 1931 at Sycamore Grove Park in Los Angeles, Calif. Folks from the old home town, who have been lured by the climate to the land of sunshine, heaped full their lunch baskets and renewed 'old acquaintance' over the picnic tables and under the trees in The Glen.
Inasmuch as unusual weather is a standing joke with Angelenos, true to form, the weather was unusually warm. However, conversation was not lacking in zest, with such topics as unemployment and "the good old days back in Michigan" to be discussed, together with a recounting of the doings of the absentees. Memories were stirred and reminiscences were interlarded with such exclamations as "Why, I knew your uncle well" or "I used to go to school with your brother." "We used to catch minnows in McCoy's Creek," etc. "Do you remember the first auto that ever appeared in Buchanan?" The first time Myron Mead tried to run it alone, he forgot how to stop the danged thing and got confused and shouted "Who!" at it, until it ran into a hitching post in self defense and stopped itself. "Yes the Treats have all gone back east." "The Adams were out here on a visit in March. No they didn't look me up. I heard they stopped in Santa Monica." "Did you know that Nettie and Emory Rough were out here on an extended visit some time ago?" "Miss Anna Simmons was my third grade teacher and mine . . . I went to school to her too" etc etc.
It is said to be true, although loyal native sons declare the report to be greatly exaggerated, that anywhere in California, one may safely accost anyone whom they meet with the query, "What part of the east did you come from?" and the answer will almost invariably be, "From Iowa or New York State" or from some other than California. At the Buchanan picnic, all who were not actually acquainted, knew relatives of everyone present, as subsequent conversation revealed.

This is the third annual picnic held by former Buchananites who reside in Los Angeles and vicinity. The credit for launching the first and second picnic goes to George Joslin, who was the original instigator of the plan to get the home town folks together. The 1930 picnic was held in Brookside Park in Pasadena, California, and the previous year in Long Beach.
Eli P. Conrad is the acting president of the Buchanan society. Names of former Buchanan residents who are now living in or near Los Angeles should be mailed to Mr. Conrad at 105 East Los Flores Drive, Pasadena, Calif., or to William D. House, 2250 West 25th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.
Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith, George Joslin, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Clara Dodd, Lee White, Paul White, Mrs. Fanny Ames, Mr. and Mrs. John Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blodgett, Charles Bugbee, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Conrad and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham, Mrs. R. E. Dempsey, Charles Dempsey, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. House, Pauline McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keating, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Selmar Chrisman, Mr. and Mrs. Parrett and Miss Helen Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goldfoose of Niles, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Harshman, Mr. and Mrs. John Lister, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Korn, Mrs. Fitts, Mrs. Henrietta Bosse, Mrs. Andy Crothers, John Catherman, Billy Simmons, Alanda Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon House and daughters, Jean and Pauline, Mrs. Lilly Coveney Blitz, Mrs. J. Holmes Seems to Lack Confidence in Our French

There is nothing like inquiring what you really know. I find in my French dictionary, "Gallen," a celebrated physician, born in Pergamus, Asia, 131 A. D. Just what that chap had to do with "Gallen Woods" may be questioned.
Once upon a time there was a U. S. Attorney General named John McPherson Berrien, from whom came the name of Berrien county. See Bulletin No. 255, Department of U. S. Geological Survey, to be found in libraries in most towns. Now out of print.
Some one has been taking privileges with my school record, and it needs some explanation. I began school in Fractional No. 20, Buchanan and Bertrand in 1857, with Catherine Holmes, teacher, attended each summer and winter term until the winter of 1863-4, when Jonathan W. Fancher was teacher, and the summer before, Miss Carolyn Ellrich. Winter of 1864-5-6-7 in Dayton, 1868 winter in Hillsdale college, and in all of that time there was never the name of Smith nor Potter in the list of teachers.
Did you ever notice there are over 400 town lots in the plat of New Buffalo and 120 in Bertrand? New Buffalo was planned with the expectation of having Chicago there, and Bertrand that it would be in line for the railroad and the railroad failed to carry out its part of the transaction in both cases.

Let Things Ripen
Don't try to force everything; you can't force anything in life. Things are hard as stone if you throw yourself against them, but they are weak as a child if you lay your hand upon them. So let it be a gentle hand. People should not be so impatient, but should leave things alone and let them ripen naturally.—Aphorism of Walter Rathenau.
1838 Store Still Used
Portland, Ore.—Believed the oldest store in Oregon, a heater in a cabin at Champeog is still in active use. It was brought from Canada by Father Blanchet in 1838.
Or School Examination?
An Englishman, sued for support, plead that he did not know his vast married "because the ceremony was performed by a foreign minister and in a strange language." One will wonder just what he did think the performance was—a spelling match?—Exchange.

Borer Called the Worst Foe of the Peach Trees

September is the best month for control work in checking peach tree borer, a pest which does more preventable damage to the Michigan peach crop than any other insect, according to entomologists at the Michigan State college.
Thousands of peach trees are said to be lost in the state each year as the result of the work of the borer, which is known to scientists as Sanninoidea exitiosa. The pest is a native one which many years ago transferred its attention from wild cherry and wild plum to the cultivated stone fruits, noticeably the peach. The presence of the borers is first indicated by brownish borings on the bark, but later the gummy mixture of sawdust which one associates with the work of this insect begins to accumulate.
The old control method of digging the borers from the peach trees has largely been supplanted in recent years by a newly developed treatment which involves the use of a substance known as paradichlorobenzene. It is applied in a ring around the tree, from one to three inches from it, and in amounts which are regulated by the size of the tree trunk. Definite recommendations for dosage and certain necessary precautions in the application to prevent tree injury are given orchard men by county agricultural agents or the entomology department at M. S. C.
The paradichlorobenzene which forms the ring is covered with a few shovels full of earth. When applied in this way, it volatilizes into a gas which kills the borers.

Special Vault Guards Nation's Timepieces

Washington—A special vault has been built underground at the naval observatory here to house the clocks which keep the nation's time.
It is a vault within a vault. The inner vault is constructed of hollow tile made so that hot water can be run through it in order to keep a standard temperature of 85 degrees. There is an 18-inch air space between the inner vault and the outer one, which is constructed of stone or cement. Both vaults are placed below the frost line.
By the time the new clock vault is in operation the navy hopes to have two more "short" clocks. The clocks now in use have been telling the country what time it is for the past 30 years, and while still in good running order, will not suffer from the augmentation of two new clocks.

Children So Numerous Mother Forgets Names

Brooklyn, N. Y.—The woman who lived in a shoe had nothing on Mrs. Alvin Reut of Brooklyn, N. Y., who had so many children she could not name all of them.
When Surrogate George Wingate asked her to name her 11 children, she remembered the older ones because she had known them longest and the youngest ones because they had required the most attention recently, but she could not remember the names of the others until they stood up and she saw them.

Cheaper to Hit Woman Than Man in Mena, Ark.

Mena, Ark.—It's $10 cheaper to hit a woman, Everett Wimberly found out here. Wimberly, arraigned in police court on charge of assault and battery, was fined $15 for striking Grace Eglkin, but was fined $25 for hitting Robert Miller. Police Judge Smith did not explain the difference in the fines.

Parish Older Than U. S.
Portland, Maine.—The First Congregational parish in Cape Elizabeth is older than the United States. Originally it was a territorial parish, its boundaries later becoming the boundaries of Cape Elizabeth as incorporated in 1765.

Wins National Shoot Despite Name Handicap

World renowned rifle shots are seldom named Reginald.
Few, if any, are ever recruited from railroad yard clerks.
Anamalous, as it may seem, Reginald A. Herin, a railroad yard clerk from Jackson, Mississippi, at present suffering from the technical unemployment prevailing throughout the country, entered and won the President's Match, the outstanding 30 caliber rifle event in the world. For winning he will get a letter of congratulation from President Hoover.
For this cherished accolade, 1,724 of the greatest rifle shots in the regular army, navy and marine corps, national guard and civilian units were entered.
Herin, sergeant in the 155th Infantry, Mississippi National Guard in winning, was bloody but unbowed.
From his first shot, in the rain, his rifle-bolt smashed his nose and made it bloody. Despite the blood and rain, and the high pressure of competitive shooting with the world great, the 35-year-old national guardsman from the Delta country of old Mississippi squeezed his shots in so consistently that he made a possible 50 at 1,000 yards, a 46 out of 50 at 600 yards, and a 49 offhand out of 50 at 200 yards. When told he had won the President's Match he said: "My nose is awful sore!"
In the Herick Match the next morning his nose was a little more painful, so he was not doing so well.
"My aimer ain't so good this morning," he apologized, "but the folks tell me winning the President's Match is pretty good, so I guess I'd better not complain." Sergeant Herin, having rifled his way through the woodpecker and squirrel days of his boyhood, shot-gunned oodles of quail in early manhood, finally came to Camp Perry to compete with the big leaguers of rifledom about four years ago. Never previously a prize winner, it took rain, a bloody nose and what is sometimes called fortitude for him to finally shoot his way to what is surely great fame among the riflemen of the country and they are legion.

This reminds me of the late war. Once, in a southern training camp, I was detailed in charge of a considerable number of men who had been sent down by draft boards. One of these men had a steel brace on his leg, which he had been obliged to wear since childhood and another was blind in one eye.

Ralph Hitz says that husbands who leave home, slamming the door behind them, usually go to hotels. Relatively few of them, he maintains, go to clubs, in spite of what novelists write.

"And," adds Mr. Hitz, "hotels have had enough experience in such matters so that they could tell a woman a lot about how to treat a husband."

As a matter of fact, New York hotels cater to about every class and nationality on earth. I frequently have thought that about the best experience a novelist of the modern realistic school could get would be to take a job in a hotel as a bell boy or floor maid, depending upon the novelist. They would see more life in less time than they would traveling around the world. Take a hotel with a turnover of 200 guests a day. That is 73,000 a year, and that would furnish a lot of human specimens.

Cop Rides Through Town With Snake About Neck

Monterey Park, Calif.—John Ostich, police captain and motor cycle officer, gave townspeople a few uneasy moments when he rode down the main street with a five foot snake coiled around his neck. Ostich explained that he had been called by a woman to come quickly and protect her from a big snake. He found the snake was harmless and conveyed it in the easiest manner to the hills and released it.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

THE PROPER THING WOULD HAVE BEEN A HAND BILL

A yarn going through the country press these days is that of the editor and the merchant who became involved in a heated controversy as to the relative value of newspaper advertising as against that of bill boards. The editor of course for the printer's ink, while the merchant stood for bill boards. They got no place until the merchant lost a sister by death.

The merchant handed in the obituary and waited until the paper came out. He did not see the notice, so he waited another week. Nothing appeared. So he went down to the editor's sanctum and asked him how come and why the notice was not printed. The editor, with a surprised look on his face, said, "Why I thought you wanted everyone to read the notice, so I took it down and pasted it on the bill board."

THE TROUBLE WAS, HIS CHICKEN WAS NOT WORTH ENOUGH

With the announcement that all three national news agencies have agreed not to carry further advance news of foreign lotteries and sweepstakes, there comes to an end a situation that has puzzled us for a long time.

For instance: This summer a good friend of the paper came in and asked that we make announcement of a drawing at the Dayton dance, in which the lucky person was to get a chicken, worth probably 75 cents at the outside. We had to tell our friend that the notice came under the postal ban on publication of lottery news and that in deference to that ruling we could not print it.

But at the same time it seemed rather strange that we were not permitted to carry the notice of the raffling of a 75 cent chicken, when the big dailies regularly carried notices of $10,000,000 sweepstakes lotteries in connection with English horse races and Irish hospital benefits.

It seems that the postal ban does not apply to reports after the event.

SAID THE SALESMAN—IF YOU CAN BELIEVE SALESMEN

"If Buchanan ain't one of the best towns in Michigan, then why ain't it," said a travelling salesman who was filling the gap usually occupied by writing orders with sociable conversation. "This is one of the finest little cities I hit anywhere in my territory. It has one of the best manufacturing plants in the country. It has a fine country surrounding it. It has a high-class American population. If it ain't good, tell me—why ain't it?"

A MILLION DOLLARS IS THE BIGGEST COWARD ON EARTH

The lack of gold in the banks of England and Germany was the result of fear on the part of foreign investors, who withdrew their money from those countries, creating such a heavy balance against them in international exchange that the balance had to be restored by heavy shipments of gold from government vaults.

This in turn created heavy surpluses of gold in the government banks of France and the United States. These surpluses, the greatest in history, are no assets to the banks. They merely reflect the fear of capital.

When ever an offering of securities is made in which the public have confidence, the response indicates a plentiful supply of capital in the country.

The belts are slack in the manufacturing plants of the country mainly because those who have money are afraid to put it to work. The situation was very well expressed in an editorial printed last month in the Canton Repository of Canton, O., as follows:

Idle Money, Idle Men

"There was a semblance of a run on the banks" in Canton yesterday. The result, strange as it may seem, probably will be a wholesome and healthy one for the business interests of the city.

"Vaults of these banks, members of the Canton Clearing House association, have been bulging with currency for months in anticipation of just such a development. Similar or worse disquiet in some cities of the country has left in its trail of hysteria wounded business, hurt friendships and weakened community strength—all of it self-imposed thru unwarranted fear. Here in Canton we are reassured by the perpetuation of confidence among our characteristically conservative citizens.

"When you realize that the banking business as a whole has had to combat wild, senseless and harmful rumors by persons who have no hesitation to point the finger of alarm in idle conversation, when you realize that the very people who are asking when the depression is going to end are largely responsible for carrying it on, it is small wonder that banks have tightened up on loans and have, on the other hand, felt compelled to retain in their vaults huge sums to meet an hysterical emergency. Blame rests with rumor-mongers, not the bankers.

"Those who withdrew their money should take it back or go out and spend it. Idle money means idle men and continued depression, a vicious circle of public creation. Eliminate fear and you eliminate the vicious circle. It cannot be done in a moment, nor in a day. Confidence in business institutions is much more easily destroyed than built, and it will require a gradual process of confidence building to restore normalcy in business.

"Thus it is that the flurry in the bank lobbies of Canton will mean a steady down and resumption of confidence and business building. Let's get the money and the men back to work."

Not only did the Repository aid in stopping the bank run by its editorial, but the paper was prepared on Monday to circulate a special edition among panicky persons who might rush to the banks to draw out their money. This extra was to contain boldface confidence statements from prominent Canton business leaders. The run on the banks did not materialize, however, so the extra was not needed.

LUCK AND TWO DOLLAR BILLS

It may seem strange in these times that the possession of any sort of money would be considered bad luck, but that is the way it seems to be, according to a woman who is cashier in a local grocery.

"Since I read lately that the federal government was considering the withdrawal of $2 bills because people considered it bad luck to have them and tore a corner off to change the luck, I've been watching for them," she said, and the only two that I have gotten hold of each had the corners torn off."

And she displayed the bill she had just received, indicating two corners gone.

EXIT THE FAMILY RECORD

"People don't keep family records nowadays," because they are afraid somebody might look at them and find out how old they are," said Burns Helmick, president of the Helmick family organization at its reunion at Mt. Tabor on Sunday, "People hate the idea of age these times. They are afraid of it. They try to keep away from it, to avoid it, to keep the idea out of their heads.

When I was a boy, age had no such meaning for us. We were taught to revere anyone older than us. When we became acquainted with anyone, the first thing we wanted to know was their age. We did not consider the question disrespectful. If they were older than we were we treated them with deference.

"Now it is an insult to ask people their age. They are ashamed to have their age known,

Buy a Rocking Chair and Sit Under Peach Trees

These days of so-called depression are also days of opportunity, as you can see for yourself by reading the classified advertisements for the sale of peaches and other fruit, published in another column of this issue.

Last week Albert Sherwood advertised his peaches and now, is nearly sold out. This week we are full of peaches. And another thing. We are advertising a bargain in rocking chairs in the classified column. What would come in more handy these days than a rocking chair. In fact the rocking chair factories ought to be working over time. The same party advertised 6 rocking chairs a few months ago and had a rush of orders.
