

H. S. BAND TO GIVE TWO CONCERTS

Four Buchanan Gold Star Mothers Invited to Detroit Convention

Now Here's the Proposition

THE CAN SPIRIT

By Haws

I can afford to wear a smile against depression's frown While wife puts the peaches up and puts the pickles down And when the wolf howls at the door, in fiendish style, Oh man! I'll sail out just as fiendish-like and bean him with a can! When that I read new market lows, I bolster up my nerves By thinking of our forty quarts of butter and preserves, For though my ship of dreams is wrecked upon depression's beaches I still can bank with faith upon my stock of pickled peaches. What is there in the business world that I should fret about While I have fifty cans of beans and fifteen kegs of kraut? Though work is scarce and bonds are shot howe'er, so help me Harve! I may go clad in Gandhi style, but turn me if I'll starve! So nigh is grandeur to our dust, so kinglylike yet is man, When duty whispers low, "Thou must," my wife replies, "I can!"

Fifty Years From Now
The community was shocked this week by the passing of Grandma Blivens, who expired at her home at the corner of Main and Berrien Streets in the bloom of young womanhood, aged 93. She leaves an estate valued at $10,000, consisting of a house and lot, one 1929 model monoplane and a large quantity of canned goods put up in the year of the big fruit crop, 1931.

This canning business is getting contagious, so to speak.

Believes in Poor Relief
"I want to tell you how much I appreciate your publicity in behalf of the poor and suffering in our midst in your last edition," stated Deacon Hiram Harduppe of Bakertown, as he fervently pumped our arm with one hand and mopped his eyes with the other. "You certainly struck a responsive chord in my heart, and I don't doubt, in the hearts of the entire community. I read it several times and every time I go down to the store and gets a dozen more jars for my wife to fill. I'm in favor of taking care of the poor, and if there is anybody poorer than I be, I want to look at him. Yes sir, if you get any good offers, let me know."

What Price Education?
Education costs like sin, as many taxpayers have found out, but the highest priced education we have heard of lately was that of the Buchanan man whom it cost $6 to learn to read a stop sign.

Also, What Price Repair Work?
But then we suppose that when an auto service man gets fined for traffic law violation, the traffic will pay for it in the long run.

Where Kin I Git a Pint?
In case you hear a Buchanan housewife ask where she can get "a dozen quarts" don't get the idea she is talking with her book-keeper. It's probably just another case of having been caught short by the can famine, with a bushel of ripe peaches on hand.

SELECT SEED CORN FROM BEST PLANTS

Picking Ears from Standing Stalks Help Rid Fields of Poor Strains.

Time spent in selecting seed corn from the field before the corn is killed by frost will help to eliminate the undesirable types of plants in next year's crop, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College. The plant which bears the ear of corn furnishes at least 50 per cent of the inherited characteristics possessed by the seed, and if the corn plant is weak or diseased, it is quite probable that the ear from that stalk will furnish seed that will also produce undesirable plants. It is impossible to tell what kind of a plant produced an ear after the ear has been separated from the stalk and husked.

Field selections should be made when 50 per cent of the stalks have lost their green color and the early maturing ears are well dentured and hard. Such ears may have lots of moisture in them but they will dry out without shrinking. Ears which are less fully developed will usually furnish seed that will grow but it is difficult to dry such ears.

The tendency for corn to smut varies greatly among individual plants. Some strains of corn plants have smutty ears and some have smut only on the tassels or on portions of the stalk. Seed from smutty ears will produce plants which have the same tendency.

All the seed needed for next year can be selected in a few hours, and the farmer will be sure of vigorous seed which will treat and yield well.

Snowden from the State Health Department stating that the need for blood for use in inoculation for infantile paralysis had been more than filled and that no further donations would be required. M-60 PAVING REACHES DAYTON FROM WEST END

Oct. 17 Set as Tentative Date For Completion Niles-Gallen Link.

Construction on the Niles-Gallen link of M-60 should be extended from the Gallen end to the Dayton Road by the end of the present week, according to the engineer in charge. Only a short distance remains from that point to the Dayton fill, but it is expected that construction at this place will be delayed during the installation of a culvert. The state has redynamited the fill, after an attempt to settle it with water jetties and has pronounced it to be ready for construction. Oct. 17 has been set as a tentative date for the completion of construction, in the event that progress is not hindered by weather conditions.

The question of whether Buchanan will remain on "fast time" the year round or will return to Central Standard Time will be considered at a special meeting of the commission to be held in the coming week, according to Mayor Hathaway. The return of Rev. Rice received the approval of his congregation, with whom he has been very popular.

BERRIEN-CASS LOAN ASSOC. MET SATURDAY

Jess Boyle Presides Over Sessions Addressed by Bank Leaders.

The National Farm Loan Associations of Berrien and Cass counties met Saturday at the Congregational church in Cassopolis, about a hundred members being present in representation of the 240 members in the two counties. The sessions were presided over by Jess C. Boyle, secretary of the Berrien County Association. Morning and afternoon sessions were held, with a dinner served at noon by the Congregational ladies at which the attending delegates were the guests.

A number of talks by association leaders were given during the sessions.

The Farm Loan Act was declared by Mr. John C. Stafford to be the most effective piece of legislation for farm relief that had yet been enacted. He deplored the fact that some localities had organized to force legislation providing for a moratorium on Federal Farm Loans, declaring that the Land Bank had demonstrated in its attitude towards delinquencies and foreclosures that it had no desire to acquire farms.

A moratorium on Federal Land Bank loans would, he pointed out, afford needed relief to an exceedingly small percentage of Michigan's 169,000 farmers.

"Less than 16 per cent of the 10,000 Federal Land Bank borrowers are in arrears on their loans," he said, "The other 84 per cent are meeting their payments promptly on time and are not asking for a moratorium."

He said he thought Michigan farmers particularly would be resourceful enough to carry on without Federal legislation that would very likely result in serious detriment to the Farm Loan System from the standpoint of its independence as a farmer owned co-operative.

Mysterious Death of Former Teacher Recalled Yesterday

Memories of a famous murder were revived here yesterday by press accounts of the death of Mrs. Sarah I. Taber, 93, at the home of a son near Kalamazoo. She had been accused of the death of her daughter, Maude Taylor Virgo, who disappeared in 1916 and whose body was found three years later in a trunk in her mother's home. Mrs. Virgo had been a teacher and taught part of a year in the Buchanan schools in 1915-16. After a defense of three years, the charges against Mrs. Taber were dropped for lack of evidence.

H. S. Bristol in Auto Wreck Near Barron Lake Sun.

H. S. Bristol and party had a very narrow escape from serious injury while en route home from Corey Lake Sunday evening, when his car crashed into a Ford parked on the pavement without lights. The crash occurred a half mile east of Barron Lake. Bristol had dimmed and turned off to pass two cars going east, whose lights blinded him so that he was unable to see the car parked on the pavement. He struck the rear end of the parked car, sending it hurtling into the ditch, a complete wreck. The right front axle of his own car was bent so that he was unable to steer and his car cut a circle and went into the marsh on the right side. Bristol suffered a slightly bruised hip. His sister, Mrs. Belle Weikel, and brother, Ude Bristol, who were with him, were unharmed. The occupants of the car were reported as having been in the woods nearby when the crash occurred and as having fled. The name of the owner of the car was secured.

THE MICROPHONE

News of Buchanan Schools

It is With Great Pleasure That This Issue of the Microphone Is Dedicated to the Freshman Class

Eighty-one Enrolled in Freshman Year 1931

LARGE CLASS OF DIMINUTIVE STUDENTS APPEAR

Upper Classmen Withhold Judgment Until Newcomers Run Gauntlet.

Eighty-one freshmen made their debut in Buchanan high school last Tuesday morning with the welcome of old B. H. S. ringing in their ears. This is one of the largest classes ever enrolled in high school, and it must be said also the smallest in stature. As yet, they have not accustomed themselves to the various activities.

Until the freshman-sophomore initiation their characters and possibilities remain a dull mystery. Have they pep? Will they "carry on" to the best of their ability? These are questions that follow the word "freshman."

"Thinking it all over one wonders what upper classmen thought of their class when it was called 'diminutive' just let these 81 pupils get organized and in full swing, and then make your decision.

Ormiston Okehs New System of Supervised Study

Mr. Ormiston has been very busy last week and this enrolling new students and seeing to everything in general. It is rather hard to get acquainted to the new system and taken his time straightening out for the pupils.

Concerning the new system of supervised study, Mr. Ormiston says, "It is one of the most valuable things of the day. Of course, it will take a little time to determine what we can do and what we can't, but after we get started things will run smoothly."

"For three reasons I think it is better. First, it establishes a closer fellowship between teacher and pupil. Secondly, it gives the pupil at least twenty-five minutes to study for each lesson. Thirdly, while the student is studying, the teacher will be present in case a question comes up, or if the pupil needs help."

"The students have responded very readily to this system, and seem to be satisfied with it."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

What things do you think should be discussed and accomplished in Home Room meetings?

"I think we should discuss problems of citizenship and create competition among classes."

Robert Dempsey: Co-operation among classes and classmates should be an important discussion in the Home Room.

Vivian Wissler: I think we should discuss ideas for the microphone, citizenship, and co-operation among classes and classmates.

Frances Sutphen: We should select our name and appoint a chairman so we can carry on with the business of our Home Room.

"Jimmy" Eisenhart: I also think we should elect officers and appoint groups to look after different things such as the Microphone.

Lauren Morse: I think for one thing we should decide whether to have a Student Council or to let the Home Room take its place. Marie Hess:

It would be fitting in the Home Room to discuss the topics of interest dealing with the present day; that is the news of the day, topics concerning government, etc.

John Strayer: It is a chance for the pupils to voice their opinion on the new method of schooling and the Home Room.

Teachers' Club Organized Monday

The Teachers' Club was organized Monday, Sept. 7. An election of officers made Mr. Arthur Knoblauch president; Mr. Harold Bradford, vice president and Miss Esther Vandenberg secretary and treasurer.

Another meeting of the club will be held some time this week to outline the activities for the year.

EMPLOYMENT INSURANCE IS DEBATE THEME

B. H. S. Teams May Not Enter State League Contest This Year.

Debating, this year, promises to take an important part in the curriculum of Buchanan high school, though the schedule has not been definitely decided upon. It is probable that Buchanan will enter the county league, although it is doubtful as to whether Buchanan will take part in the state league contests.

Positions on the team will be contested more this year than last, since there are more candidates. The veterans of last year, Pauline VanEvery, Philip Hanlin and Marvin Gross, have taken a real interest in the question for debate which concerns unemployment insurance. Others interested in debating are Thomas Quirk, Donald Burrus, Josephine Dunlap, Helen Mogford and Mary Jane Zerbe. Of these, Thomas Quirk and Donald Burrus have had some experience, as they were squad members last year and participated in several practice debates.

The question of unemployment insurance is a very important one of interest to everyone, and subject to much discussion by colleges last year. There is a great deal to be said on both sides of this question and it includes a wide field. Debates this year should be well attended because of public interest in unemployment which vitally affects everyone in this country.

Mr. Knoblauch intends beginning regular meetings of those interested in debating next week. He predicts that 1931-32 will be one of the biggest years in debating Buchanan has ever had.

Girls' Phys. Ed. Department Plans Corrective Work

"Buchanan high school girls are looking forward to a very peppy and interesting future. Miss Alice Rothenbach, athletic instructor, has announced coming events such as soccer, tennis, and basketball, that will stimulate the high school girls to participate."

Several changes have been made in both boys' and girls' classes. Outstanding among these is physical hygiene, a new course to high school students which will be given one day a week in place of active gym; also a corrective gym class for pupils physically unfit for active work. To interest more students in athletic work, it has become a required subject for three years. To graduate, a student must have gym credit and honor points.

The first sport of the season is tennis. The courts at the athletic park are being improved so that a tournament may be started in a few weeks. This competition will be strictly inter-class. Each class enters its player who competes for class champion, and she in turn plays for high school champion.

One of the main sports of the year, soccer, will also be started in a short time. Soccer has become one of the liveliest of fall sports and not only is an inter-class sport, but usually Niles and Buchanan have two games.

The G. A. A. will hold its first meeting sometime this week for election of officers. Awards will be given this year, as before, for athletic points. This organization is viewing an active year.

SCHOOL NOTES

The walls of the Dewey Avenue building are being reinforced by Mr. W. J. Miller.

The journalism class is to be drilled in accuracy this year. Such things as dangling participles, incomplete sentences, and misspelled words will be spectres to haunt the members of the class.

A Microphone staff has been organized to take care of the school paper. Alan Stevenson has been appointed editor-in-chief and Philip Hanlin is Sports Editor. A social editor will be named later in the year when events warrant the need of one. The staff is open to anyone in the high school.

Operated by a lighting current, a portable motor driven paint mixer has been perfected.

Rev. Boettcher is First Speaker in H. S. Assembly

Rev. Boettcher of the Evangelical church was the first speaker of the year at the high school assembly Friday afternoon. He gave a short talk for the occasion and then led in prayer.

Mr. Ormiston also spoke. He explained the new home-room system to the pupils. This year the students are divided into groups. At 1:10 every afternoon they go to their respective rooms, where programs are worked out that have been outlined by members of the faculty.

When a home-room group has worked out a program that is satisfactory, Mr. Ormiston wishes to have them present it at the all-high school meeting on Friday. He is very much interested in seeing which group will first ask to present their program.

NEWS NOTES FROM VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS

Home Ec Classes Enrollment is 135; Science Popular; New Band System.

The home economics department has one hundred and thirty-five girls enrolled in its classes this year out of the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades. The advanced domestic science class has nineteen enrolled.

The program for the first semester will be as follows:

The seventh grade students will begin their work with foods this year instead of clothing as they have in previous years. They will first take up the study of breakfast.

The eighth and ninth grade students will begin canning tomatoes and peaches next week to be used in the cafeteria, which will open sometime in November.

The advanced domestic science class, which consists of the tenth and eleventh grades, will make silk slips and wool dresses this semester. They may make over old wool dresses or make new ones. They will study dietetics during this semester also.

In order to join the advanced home economics class, students are required to have two years of domestic science during junior high and first year of high school, an exception being made of out-of-town students.

New Band System.

The Buchanan high school band and orchestra have begun an altogether new system. Mr. Robinson told the band and orchestra that they would have to work harder this year than they did last.

At the end of every month he is going to give them a test on the work of the month.

Twenty-five minutes of the period Mr. Robinson will teach different things to the class. The rest of the time will be used for practice. The orchestra has a few new overtures, and the band has some new marches.

Science Popular.

Physics and chemistry stand among the first in popularity of subjects. Mr. Moore states that he has large classes in Chemistry and a medium sized class in physics. He also states that he has received quite a little new equipment and is all set for a busy and successful year.

No laboratory sessions have been held, but in all probability they will start soon. There will be three laboratory assistants, one from each of the two chemistry classes and one from the physics class. Clem Binns is the only one appointed as yet.

New Manual Training Course.

Mr. Miller's manual training course is living up to its usual popularity this year. Although the shop is not as full as usual, in most all probability this is due to the expense required for the course. Very little new equipment has been put in the shop as yet, but more may be added later.

The mechanical drawing class has about the same number as usual, and is getting under way very well. The students started on their first projects Thursday with all the energy that had been saved up over the summer months.

Mr. Miller also teaches a new subject, commercial geography. This course is open to anyone in high schools. No girls have responded, so the class is made up of boys, fourteen of them. The purpose of this course is the study of the products and resources of the various countries of the world and the routes of the shipping lines.

SEVEN LETTER MEN NUCLEUS OF GRID SQUAD

Harold Pierce, Former Star Fullback to Assist Bradford in Coaching.

With seven lettermen back from last year, and an abundance of new material, Coach "Curly" Bradford began tuning up his 1931 football squad, on Tuesday night. Having an unusually large group of fifty-two, Coach Bradford has enlisted the aid of Harold Pierce, former Buchanan star, as his assistant.

The new material this year is plentiful, and although the weight average is below one hundred and thirty pounds, they have lots of speed and scrap. The veterans returning once again to "do or die for B. H. S." are: Capt. Marion Dreitzler, Louie Morse, Lauren Morse, Bob Ellis, Joe Letcher and Bob Montgomery. They will probably form the nucleus of this year's team.

Coach Bradford, in surveying his cohorts, made the following statement, "I expect a pretty fair season, especially if the fellows get down to work. Although the fellows are small, they have plenty of speed."

Assistant Coach Pierce made the following comment concerning the new gridsters, "They should go far this year. Speed will be the main factor, as it will make up for weight."

As yet, no line up has been announced, but positions will probably be filled at the end of the month, for the "Bucks" meet St. Joseph Sept. 26. This year's schedule consisting of eight games will be one of the hardest ones in a good many years. The schedule appears below.

Aside from the main stays there are many new aspirants to the team, and this group consists of: H. Dumbolt, J. Eisenhart, E. Rolan, R. Watson, O. Virgil, A. Topash, C. Cripe, G. Myers, L. Donley, D. Morris, C. Blake, O. Flenar, T. Marrs, D. Marrs, L. Leiter, B. Frame, R. Gladwish, H. Smith, C. Bradley, D. Roti, F. Riley, Max Dreitzler, D. Blaney, R. Antisdale, E. Deeds, G. Goering, J. Dallenberg, T. Kenton, C. Wessendorf, J. Morris, H. Currier, D. Topash, Russell Proudt, Raymond Proudt, J. Weaver, E. Letcher, N. Barbour, F. Reamer, A. Antisdale, M. Aronson, G. Yurkovic and V. DeNardo.

Faculty Facts

The teachers generally check up on the students but this fall the students checked up on the teachers and their whereabouts during the summer.

Miss Hanlin, having a thirst for knowledge, enrolled at the University of Wisconsin and took up the teaching of journalistic writing and the contemporary English novel.

Mr. Knoblauch, working to realize his ambition, a Master's degree, entered the University of Michigan and studied comparative psychology, supervision of high school subjects, and administration of the high school.

Mr. Hyink and his wife went to the home of the latter's father at Sherston, Ontario, where Mr. Hyink forgot angles and literal numbers while pitching hay.

Miss Chandler, according to her own testimony, passed a very wonderful vacation at her home, watching the tall corn grow in the Hawkeye State.

Miss Shriver furnishes a contrast to Miss Chandler by having visited the wild and woolly west, naming Denver and Yellowstone National park. She also spent several weeks in the upper peninsula.

Mrs. Whitman's vacation this year is a contrast to last year's because it was spent mostly at home in the garden. Some of the vacation was spent at the home of her sister in Iowa.

Miss Abell visited Indiana during her vacation, going to Steel's Art Gallery, Spring Mill Park, and the campus of the Indiana State University. On her return she brought back a collection of geodes.

Mr. Ormiston refused to take a restful vacation and ran a general refreshment store at Saugatuck. The Miller apparently enjoys the home town for he left it once and then went to Chicago.

Miss Reams, too, is a home loving individual only leaving town once and she, too, went to Chicago.

Miss Crawford studied at Northwestern, working on her master's degree. She made several trips to Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

Miss Walton spent her time profitably by taking a course at the Marquette Normal.

Mrs. Heim spent a few weeks at Eagle Lake, Decatur, and accompanied by her mother, made a trip to Northern Michigan.

Mr. Stark did considerable traveling, going to Hillsdale, Ann Arbor, Lansing, and taking a fishing trip to Anjunge Lake in Canada.

Mrs. Dunbar took several short trips, but spent most of her time being domestic.

Mrs. French also joined the ranks of those who seek higher learning by enrolling at the Western State Teachers' College where she took work concerned with the Junior High. Mrs. French is working on her bachelor's degree.

Mr. Moore must have felt the need of a very quiet, restful vacation for that is exactly what he got, because he did not stir from town once.

Editorial

Why do some of the people of today have so little respect for the rights of others? Both young and old are concerned in this. Certainly, if the children of today are not taught to respect the rights of their fellow beings, the children of tomorrow will not.

This disrespect concerns the school vitally. The cost of maintenance of the Buchanan schools varies between $2000 and $2500 a year. Repairs, painting, and cleaning are the principal items. Desks must be repaired, and sometimes refinished; the same with the chairs and seats and gum must be scraped from off the various parking places. By being more careful of school property, the maintenance fund might be lowered. This year every desk, chair and floor has been varnished. How long the newness lasts is up to the students.

A number of people have complained that students cut across their lawns. The side walks are made to walk on, at least the city has them there for that purpose, we have been informed. Try walking on the cement to the corner once and you can be assured that the time will be the same and that the new experience will give you a thrill.

Why throw gum and candy wrappers and other odd bits of waste on people's lawns? Undoubtedly everyone has a home, so why not keep the paper in one's pocket until one gets there, or to a receptacle for that purpose.

Buchanan is a beautiful place. It has one of the most beautiful residential sections and the most compact and convenient business sections of any city around. Why mar the grace and beauty of this splendid combination by littering it up with papers and such things as are very discouraging to those who have landscaped their lawns and to those who are doing so.

Perhaps this scattering of odd bits of this and that is more or less of an absent-minded habit. Cure it before it becomes a fixed one.

School Slants

Something new? Of course she's new. The dearest little thing with dancing blue eyes and brown curly locks. A new contract has been signed after leaving the lofty sky scrapers of Chicago for the timothy hay fields of this region.

She said (she actually talks) that this school is fine with splendid possibilities. She has never seen such good looking boys and girls! You haven't guessed yet? Why, it's Miss Betty Crawford!

Have you ever wondered why they trimmed the lower branches from the trees? If so, stop in and discuss it with Miss Rothenbach. She has quite a logical and practical viewpoint on the matter. She says that they cut them so that after our earth has been refreshed by a rain, the absence of branches will allow the street to dry up more quickly!!!

All those of you who pine for popularity, take heed from one who knows. Miss Hanlin finds hers rather interferes with her school work. The other day in the midst of an animated discussion in journalism, the door opened and a black curly head was thrust in. It asked for Miss Hanlin and expressed its intentions of staying for a visit. Of course, Miss Hanlin disposed of him in due time and the class continued undisturbed.

Admirers, whether they be from the second grade or otherwise—(this one happened to be from the second grade) are both some at times, says Miss Hanlin!

This issue is dedicated to the freshmen, but right here we stop the press to say that there are two darn good juniors in the old school. You have seen those two slim, good looking boys that have such smiling countenances and pleasant dispositions? Certainly everyone knows Glenn and Eddie! Well you should have heard the boys do their stuff Sunday night. By a lucky accident we dropped in at the Evangelical church Sunday evening. Glenn and Eddie, with the assistance of Paul DeWitt, an Hay Fever! A choo! A choo! We've caught it too. The season's opened fine. With heavy sighs and reddened eyes, We join the sneezers' line.

Now all we crave is a lonely grave. In a far off, frozen spot. Mid ice and snow we need never blow— And the weather won't be hot.

Don't Breathe a Word of It Have you got that "rundown feeling?"

Is your school work on the "bum?"

Are you underweight? Is that less late?

Do you feel unusually dumb?

Don't waste a precious moment. Be quick, yank off your boot. That's why your friends have left you.

You've got the "Athlete's Foot."

Freshman, and How! Teacher to freshman class: "I wear my glasses to bed every night so I can see you in my dreams."

"Brace up, ol' pal," said the senior to the downcast freshman, "we are both in the same boat."

The freshmen are all agog, trying to get the names, numbers and salaries of the players on the football team.

Principal to frosh: "So you are back in school again. I thought I expelled you last week."

Upstart: "You did, but don't do it again because my dad got pretty sore."

Mr. Robinson: "And what voice do you sing, young man, tenor?"

Frosh: "Shortstop."

Robinson: "Shortstop?"

Frosh: Yes, between second and third base."

Tips to freshmen at a football game: That passing attack has nothing at all to do with appendicitis.

The slips handed to the referee by the opposing substitutes are not excuses for coming late. None of the men out there in white suits are Coach Bradford.

Frosh: "Were you trying to catch that street car?" Senior: "Oh, no, indeed! I was merely frightening it away from this corner."

Anyhow, Buchanan high school is taking care of its share of the unemployed.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Thirty-nine seniors have enrolled for English twelve. This group expects to be organized later into the Velmorian Literature club.

This year, English twelve is a creative course based on World Literature.

An interesting fact about the text is that the author, Miss Mabel Irene Rich, spent ten days in Buchanan as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. White this summer.

In English eleven the Project Method will be the procedure of study.

A test for writing ability has taken place in the sophomore English classes and Mrs. Dunbar states that she finds a very fine beginning in creation of style.

The Scholastic, most popular high school magazine of the United States, will be used by the eleventh and twelfth grade English classes.

The circulation of "The Scholastic" has increased to such an extent in the last few years that the Scholastic Company this year, is awarding twenty-five per cent of the value of the total order in good books for class room use.

The Journalism class is looking forward to a very enthusiastic year, as the text they are using on "Journalistic Writing" by Grant M. Hyde, is most highly recommended for high school use, and Miss Hanlin came back from a summer session at the University of Wisconsin bubbling over with new ideas.

Each student will receive a grading chart, and Miss Hanlin states that the grading will be very rigid.

Mrs. French has charge of the Junior high school English classes. A new room has been arranged for the daily recitations. The reference books are to be placed in that room for class room study. There are four hundred and thirteen students from seventh to the twelfth grades, inclusive, enrolled in the English classes.

Debating

Debating this year, promises to take an important part in the curriculum of Buchanan high school, though the schedule has not been definitely decided upon. It is doubtful as to whether Buchanan will take part in the state league contests.

Positions on the team will be contested more this year than last, since there are more candidates. The veterans of last year, Pauline VanEvery, Philip Hanlin, and Marvin Gross, have taken a real interest in the question for debate which concerns unemployment insurance. Others interested in debating are Thomas Quirk, Donald Burrus, Josephine Dunlap, Helen Mogford and Mary Jane Zerbe. Of these, Thomas Quirk and Donald Burrus have had some experience.

"The Way of All Fresh" Tale of Ten Freshmen

Ten little freshies, all feeling fine. "Spot" glanced at one, then there were nine.

Nine little freshies, coming in late, One met Mr. Ormiston, then there were eight.

Eight little freshies, ready for heaven, One heard "Smoke" then there were seven.

Seven little freshies, fresh from the sticks, One was cyfied, then there were six.

Six little freshies, glad to be alive, One got initiated, then there were five.

Five little freshies, stuffed full of lore, One took a stiff test, then there were four.

Four little freshies, going on a spree, One saw "Curly", then there were three.

Three little freshies' assignments due, One pleaded sickness, then there were two.

Two little freshies, chuck full of fun, One threw a paper wad, and that left one.

One little freshie, school work done, Grew to be a soph, then there were none.

So there, little freshie, don't you cry, You'll be a sophomore, by and by.

Licensed Hunting On Preserves from Oct. 15 to Dec. 5

Hunting on licensed shooting preserves will be permitted this year from October 15 to December 5, under a resolution adopted by the Conservation Commission at its regular August meeting.

The dates were changed so that hunting will begin at the same time as the general bird hunting season. Last year the hunting dates under the Shooting Preserve Act were Oct. 25 to Dec. 15.

Closely following the form and regulations of Michigan's Shooting Preserve Act, Wisconsin has inaugurated a similar system to be effective this year.

The Wisconsin law provides that any farmer or group of farmers or other land owners may designate their lands as hunting preserves under a license issued by the Conservation Commission. They may then stock the areas with pheasants either produced by themselves or purchased from commercial game breeders. After an area is stocked and the number of birds has been carefully estimated by a representative of the Conservation Commission, the farmer may charge a daily hunting fee or a specific fee per bird killed during the special open season established by the commission, which shall not exceed ten days following the stocking and checking of the birds by the representative of the commission.

The total kill in any one Wisconsin shooting preserve for one year cannot exceed 75 per cent of the total number of the birds stocked. "This will mean," says a bulletin of the Wisconsin Commission, "that every locality in which a licensed hunting preserve is located will benefit materially from the stocking done on the preserve."

Provision is made in the law for groups of sportsmen who are not landowners to lease areas and propagate pheasants upon them, in this way creating their own hunting preserve. It is not necessary to charge a daily hunting fee per bird.

All birds killed on preserves must be tagged with a special seal. These seals must remain attached to the birds until they are finally prepared for consumption.

County-wide Happenings

PRISONERS IN COUNTY JAIL STAGE RIOTA free-for-all which resulted in injuries to two prisoners in the county jail Saturday morning was quelled by the fire hose, and resulted in withdrawal of all privileges from the 27 inmates of the first floor bull pen, in which the most disorderly of the county guests are kept. The cutting was done with a kitchen knife, which had been smuggled in to the jail in some unknown manner. The principals in the battle were Stuart Crawford of St. Joseph held on an armed robbery charge, and Clyde Lopez, held on a charge of breaking and entering. In a riot the previous day, 25 of the 27 meals brought in for the prisoners' breakfast were dashed to the floor. Hardly had Crawford and Lopez been separated when two other prisoners began a fight but were parted by other inmates.BENTON HARBOR HOLDS FLOWER SHOWThe Benton Harbor Garden Club held its first annual flower show in the gymnasium of the high school of that city where beautiful displays of gladioli, dahlias and zinnias featured an exhibit of hundreds of choice species of late summer and fall flowers.THROWS SELF IN PATH OF TRUCKAn obsession that she was fated to die under the heels of a motor vehicle is believed to have been responsible for the tragic death of Miss Jennie Bosgraas, 57, Three Oaks. Miss Bosgraas threw herself under the wheels of a truck in front of her home a mile south of Three Oaks, where she had resided with her bachelor brother, Peter Bosgraas. She had been acting queerly for several days according to her brother. On Saturday morning she apparently went to the road in front of their home while her brother was out of sight in the garden in the rear of the home. She waited there for the county road trucks which were engaged in hauling gravel daily from a gravel pit south of ThreeOaks to repair M-60. She rushed in the path of the first truck, but the driver was able to dodge her.
She then turned and rushed in the path of the second truck which was following the other closely, and was run down before the driver could see her.
Her brother stated that he had noticed signs of mental disorder and had planned to take her to Kalamazoo for examination. The neighbors stated that she had been much excited by stories of traffic deaths, and talked of them constantly.CATCH ALLEGED SAFE-BLOWERWilliam Frayer, alias Burns, believed to be wanted for a job of safe-blowing at Kalamazoo two years ago, was taken into custody
by Deputy Sheriffs Charles Davis and William White Friday. He admitted to officers that he had seen his picture on a poster but denied that he had any part in the safe blowing.ASKS $15,000 FOR AUTO INJURIESA suit for $15,000 damages was filed in the Berrien County Circuit Court Friday by Herman G.
Crow, St. Joseph city manager, in behalf of his seven year old son, against Benjamin Luckner, St. Joseph truck owner, who ran over the boy at the Crow home on the Lake Shore drive July 24, 1930.
Luckner holds the city garbage contract, and his truck was driven at the time of the accident by John Ringer.Since that time the child has laid at his home in a plaster cast, suffering from disabilities which are believed to be permanent, after several operations failed to relieve. Several vertebrae were broken.OLD RESIDENT NEW

STATION IS ROBBEDTheodore Anderson, night attendant at the Gaflil Oil station in New Buffalo, was held up and ing, when a bandit flourishing a after making him turn over the

Resort Business

Depression Proof
Says Gov. BruckerGovernor Wilbur M. Brucker's recent reference to the tourist and resort business as being "depression proof" seems to be borne out by the number of visitors to the campers using state parks this season according to the Parks Division of the Conservation Department.Despite a general depression felt in all businesses the attendance at the state parks now exceeds that reported for the same period last year. This includes not only daily visitors, but campers as well.The number of campers has been increasing every year. This is due to the fact that better camping and park facilities are being provided.The total attendance at the state's parks last year exceeded 8,000,000 people. It is considered probable that the 1931 figure will run close to or more than the 10,000,000 mark.Diamonds Found in Glacial Deposits of This RegionWould you like to find a diamond? Then the next time you are around gravel bed, keep an eye open and you see what appears to be a bit of glass and if it reflects lights as a rainbow, there are possibilities, remote perhaps, that your wish has been gratified. This is the advice given by the Geological Survey Division of the Conservation Department, which says that a considerable number of diamonds have been found in Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.Somewhere in the north is or was, a gigantic diamond deposit.
Glaciers sweeping over this deposit carried diamonds down with them and scattered the pieces over the Great Lakes states. No one knows whether the great diamond deposit was entirely swept away by the action of the ice or whether it continues to lie undiscovered. Attempts have been made to find this field but it has defied all efforts. In the great wild and inaccessible areas of Canada, it is like looking for a needle in a hay stack.The diamonds are scattered through the glacial deposits and generally have been found in gravel. While most of them are small, many diamonds of considerable value have been discovered.
Seventeen were one-half carat or more in size and the largest weighed 2 1/4 carats. It was reported that one diamond sold for $10,000.Washed by water, the diamonds found in gravel are clean and can be easily seen. The diamonds look similar to pieces of glass or clear crystal quartz. They will usually reflect a rainbow of colors without polishing. Pebbles showing rainbow colors are worth examining carefully.

sound design and fine manufacture

From the selection of raw materials to the completion of the finished Chevrolet product, each process of building, assembling and checking the Chevrolet Six is marked by extreme care and precision. An exhaustive system of test and inspection makes certain that every part meets specified dimensions exactly. Many of these parts are held to limits of one ten-thousandth of an inch. No manufacturer in the industry uses more care or precision in building and testing than Chevrolet.

Just as every part of the car is soundly built, every feature is soundly designed.

In planning the motor, Chevrolet engineers were not content to offer the public anything less than tried and proved design.
They knew that the only satisfactory way to get smooth, flexible power in a car is to use at least six cylinders. So they adopted the six-cylinder engine without compromise. And this is what you get in today's Chevrolet Six.

As a result of this sound designing and sound manufacturing, you can buy a Chevrolet and know you are getting a genuinely good soundly designed,

soundly built,
basically and

ALFALFA IS GOOD FEED FOR HORSES

Trials Conducted for Year Show Comparative Values of Rations.

Tests of the value of alfalfa hay as a feed for horses doing heavy farm work show that this popular legume maintains the weight of the horses and when fed with corn keeps them in as excellent condition as a ration of corn, oats and timothy hay, according to the animal husbandry department of the Michigan State college.

Two similar lots of horses were used in the tests which extended over a period of one year. At times the feeds given to the two groups of animals were interchanged to make sure that a fair trial would be made of the merits of alfalfa hay. The horses were weighed periodically to check whether the rations were maintaining the animal's body weight while they were doing heavy work.

The group of horses which were fed alfalfa made an average gain of 21 pounds per animal during the year while the lot which received timothy lost an average of 17 pounds per animal. One horse from each group was sick during the year so it appears that the two rations have equal values from the standpoint of health maintenance.

The daily feed cost for the alfalfa fed group was 31 cents and 37 cents for those fed corn, oats and timothy. Alfalfa hay was charged for at the rate of $20 per ton and timothy at $18.

REPORT SHOWS REASON FOR CARE FORESTS

Present Conditions Indicate Michigan Will Continue to have Problems.

The importance of the proper management of Michigan's forests and of the areas which need reforestation becomes apparent from a study of the report issued by the U. S. Forest Taxation Inquiry which reports that this state has 20,000,000 acres of forest lands.

The greater portion of this land is in the northern part of the state and constitutes more than one-half of the total land area of Michigan. Present conditions indicate that forests will be the most profitable crop on such lands for many years, according to Prof. F. Herbert, now head of the forestry department at Michigan State College and a member of the U. S. Bureau of Forestry at the time the forest land taxation study was made.

Large areas of forest lands in certain sections of the state make the problem of raising money for the support of local schools, roads and government a difficult one. The taxation study made by the federal group shows that the assessed valuations in single-room districts in Michigan show an extreme variation from $9,237.00 to $10,450.

The report made by the Forest Taxation inquiry contains a great deal of material which is of interest to Michigan taxpayers.

State Releases Motion Pictures Mich. Resources

"The Red Poacher," "Michigan's Mines and Minerals" and "Michigan's Natural Resource Inventory," are the titles of the Department of Conservation's latest motion picture releases.

"Fire, The Red Poacher," is a two reel film believed to be one of the finest forest fire pictures in the country. It not only depicts various fire prevention, detection, and fighting methods but includes pictures of some of Michigan's larger forest fires.

"Michigan's Mines and Minerals" is a one reel picture showing various mine and quarry operations, including copper iron and salt mines. The newly developed oil industry is also pictured. Activities and purposes of the Land Economic Survey are shown in "Michigan's Natural Resource Inventory."

Release of the new pictures will bring the Department's film library of 15 reels of pictures of conservation in Michigan. These pictures, printed on non-inflammable stock, are available in both 35mm and 16mm sizes. They may be borrowed by any school, church, club or other organization for the cost of transportation from the Educational Division of the Department at Lansing.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

LOOK OUT FOR THE KIDS!

Yes, we said "look out for the kids." If that be slang, make the most of it—we never fell for that charming diminutive "kiddies."

But anyway, have a care when you drive through the streets of town these days, especially around 8 and 9 a. m. and noon, and from 3 to 4 p. m. The youngsters can't be wholly responsible for their own safety.

They have too important business in hand to watch out for themselves, so you will have to help watch out for them. That kid coming behind is all set to administer a swat in the eye if he catches up, so there is no time to stop and watch for cars. Or there's a foot race on and who is going to slow up for traffic when he is two yards to the good and going strong?

Main Street is a bad place. It is a favorite racing place for the children, down the hill on Dewey and Third streets, pell mell across Main with never a stop.

For your own sake, if not for the kids' have a care. Think what a blasting thing it would be in your life to leave a mangled child in your wake. Remember, fifteen miles an hour is the legal limit there. If you are within that speed and your brakes are good, you are fairly safe from accident.

THEY KNOW WHO NEEDS THE VEGETABLES

In other days and in other places this scribe labored in newspaper offices which, about this time of year took on the aspect of a county fair horticultural display, all on account of the numerous and diverse offerings of the rural subscribers who sought to show the editor the fecundity of their grounds and the cunning of their hands.

But now they take all the prize pumpkins and the big ears to the banks. Not that they don't have enough of both in the banking business already.

Oh well, there is doubtless a reason behind all of it. Once all that the independent farmer wanted was the esteem of his neighbors, to be enhanced by a little friendly publicity. Now he wants to prove to the banker that his farm is good enough to warrant the renewal of the first and second mortgages. And so the summer squash adorns the marble railing of the Commercial Trust & Public Repository Bank rather than the rough pine counter of the journalistic sanctum.

ARE YOU PUTTING UP OR PUTTING DOWN

All the canny housewives who can can are canning everything that can be canned if they can get the cans to put in these days, with Ol' Man Depression doing the cancan on the prostrate frame of business and 18 months to go before the Democrats can can the G. O. P. and restore prosperity to this, our country.

And by that same token if you're in style you are either putting up fruit or putting down pickles.

"This is the first year in my life when I could buy fruit for less than the cans to put it into," said one local man. One housewife reduced her canning operations to figures and found that in putting up a product of the estimated value of $60, the cost was approximately $25, including an entire outfit of new cans. And of this $25, the cost of the fruit itself was less than $5.

Everybody's canning these days, for its smart to be thrifty.

There's a big run on the can factories. The output is from two to three times that of former years. One local merchant has sold 1065 dozen cans or 12,780 cans, an average of more than three cans for every citizen of Buchanan.

One housewife of our acquaintance has put up in the neighborhood of 200 quarts for a family of two.

Of course, most of this canning is done in glass jars, but for some reason they always speak of "canning" and never "jarring" the fruit. The only time fruit is jarred is when some farmer takes a pole and knocks down some fancy handpicked stuff for the swell trade.

THE TALE OF THE HEN THAT WORE THE ROOSTER'S TAIL

The barnyard's out at Bakertown are clamorous with sound; and down in the Bend of the River they are chasing the roosters round; they are hunting for feathers for new fall hats, those saucy hats and high, the kind that they wear on the side of their heads, tipped over a wicked eye. For they don't stand back for anyone, down round Mt. Tabor way; and out at Glendorry the ladies' styles are right up to the day. For they're simply dustin' the lids they wore in the days of Away Back When, and now when sixty years have passed they're back in style again. For this is the way it seems to be with fashion's funny stunts—no matter how new a style may be it was old-fashioned once. And so it is that they are wearin' again the hats with the saucy air, and trimmed 'em up with the fancy tails that the roosters uster wear.

BACKYARD MARVELS

There are many interesting things to be seen at back doors in Buchanan—just ask the iceman.

We understand that one Main Street family has been leaving the back porch via a ladder to avoid interference with a marvelous fly net that a spider has woven over the exit. If proper credit were given the achievement of the spider has anything James Eads or any other structural geniuses ever accomplished beaten six ways from the one spot. The web covers the entire doorway and is a marvel of suspension work. The slender filaments are joined, blended and attached with an artistry unbelievable in a mere insect. This morning he had a dozen and a half flies in his net. Or perhaps her net. In every species the females are the web spinners.

Then there is the backyard of Mrs. Florence Wooden. Mrs. Wooden has a Tree of Heaven which she planted last May and which in four months has grown nearly twelve feet of new wood. It rivals the eucalyptus tree which Los Angeles sent to a national exhibit displaying 15 feet of growth for one season.

Jerry Tucker, 4, of Chicago, won a job in the movies by his recitation of Gunga Din.

"Stool Pigeons"

A stool pigeon as the term is now used, is a spy or informer employed by detectives or police, but not a member of the force. Originally the term referred to a pigeon tied to a stool in order to decoy pigeons for the benefit of shooters. Then it was extended to a person who decoys victims into gambling houses, and finally the present meaning.

(II Peter 3:10).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To all that is unlike unerring and eternal Mind, this Mind saith, 'Thou shalt surely die; and elsewhere the Scripture says that dust returns to dust.'" Release Bottles to Study Currents of Lake Michigan

Traveling at the rate of almost 10 miles a day, a bottle travelled along Lake Michigan waters from St. Joseph to Sleeping Bear Point in Leelanau county. The bottle, carried along by the currents of the lake, travelled the 200 miles in 20 days, from June 18 to July 8.

The bottle was one of 283 released this summer in various parts of Lake Michigan from the steamer Fulmar, operated by the United States Bureau of Fisheries. Each of the bottles carried a note asking the finder to return the note together with information as to the date and the place where the bottle was found, to the Bureau's office at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

All of the bottles were released from June 17 to August 17. To August 22, 88 bottles had been recovered, giving considerable information concerning currents of the Lake.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine the surface current tendencies of the lake. The information will be of service not only to commercial fishermen along the lake, but to navigation as well.

The 200 mile journey of one bottle from St. Joseph to Leelanau county is the longest taken by any of the released bottles. One other bottle, thrown into the water 52 miles from Chicago on the route to St. Joseph, was found 24 days later seven miles south of Manistee.

Dr. Paul Wallace and family are scheduled to arrive here today or tomorrow after spending the summer in the northern peninsula. They were driven from L'Anse, Mich., by danger of forest fire.
