Dunbar left two weeks ago Sunday in company with Sheriff Cutler, Deputy Sheriff Wise, Ernest Bowers and Clarence Brown of Benton Harbor. At Sault Ste. Marie they took the Algoma Railway 150 miles north to the vicinity of Lake Anigama, where they set up their camp.

The dining room was in charge of the girls and younger women, while Mrs. Guy Young, Mrs. Nels Anderson, Mrs. Herbert Ryan and Mrs. John Fowler, assisted by an able corps of cooks, had charge of the cooking and preparing of the food, which was most excellent in quality and sufficient in quantity.

During the entire third quarter the play centered around mid-field. In the last quarter the locals ran wild scoring touch downs at will. Brunelli started the scoring when he ran 15 yards for a touch down. Bristol accounted for another, and in the last minute Brunelli made another.

Flavor, taste, and odor (sweet, nutty, with no "off" taste) count 30 points. The remaining 10 are contained in the keeping qualities. Yeast may be bought in dry or compressed cakes or grown at home in the form of a "starter" or "liquid yeast." Dry cakes are recommended as keeping better than the other forms, but since the yeast cells are not growing actively, longer time is required to make bread with dried yeast. The compressed yeast is the most convenient to use if it can be obtained fresh. This type is usually more expensive and spoils rather easily.

Mr. Williams wishes to congratulate the subscribers to the Record, on the liberality of the editors who serve them in such a vital connection. This display of broadmindedness is appreciated by the lecturer and the hundred and sixteen thousand people he is serving in his capacity as a general church officer. The favorable publicity so generously provided through the pages of thirty-six newspapers has helped to make the efforts of the speaker a valuable contribution to those whom he is attempting to serve.

The country is mountainous and covered by heavy timber that has never known the axe. Hunting was made difficult from the fact that the weather was warm and there was no tracking snow.

Vocal selections were given by Paul DeWitt and Ralph Wheat and a number of selections by a male quartette from Mishawaka. A saxophone solo by Eddie Rolan and a violin solo by Robert Willard, both being accompanied on the piano by Miss Marian Van-Every, were enjoyed.

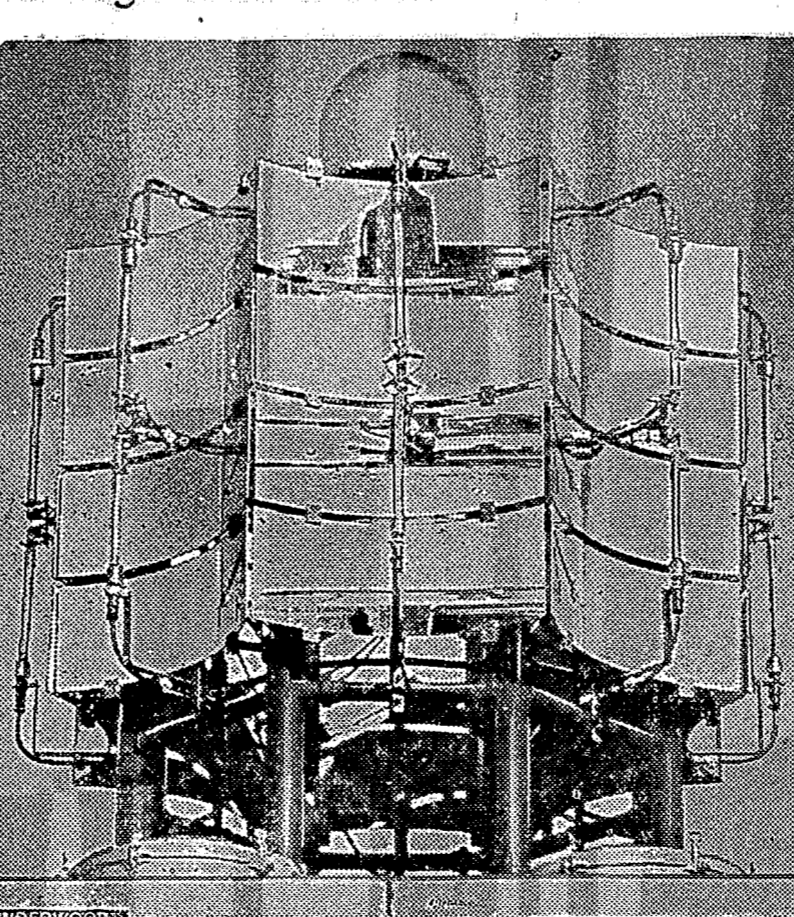

Rev. Richard D. Wearne, pastor of the M. E. church in Berrien Springs, gave an inspirational and timely address on the subject, "Home Grown Fraternity." All united in singing "America" and thus a pleasant and profitable evening was brought to a close.

Ira Swartz, Charles Lyddick Among Other Successful Deer Hunters.

It's going to be somewhat embarrassing for some of these mighty hunters who return without venison when they learn that Buchanan's feminine representative in the north woods, Miss Irene Imhoff, bagged a buck on the third day out, and brought back 126 pounds of dressed venison and a pair of antlers to show for her accuracy with the rifle.

Positive Proof of FORD ECONOMY
 City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars
 Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.
 21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.
 Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2,284 cents a mile—less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.
 Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled a total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents a mile.
 Many claims have been made on operating costs; but here in the carefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.
 In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

 Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such grueling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.
 The individual car buyer as well as the purchasing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.

After the guests had disposed of their burdens, the parsonage kitchen had the appearance of a harvest home display room. This affair was a complete surprise to the parsonage family.

Mrs. Winch Introduces Her Canine Friend to The Corner

A person nearing 78 years is supposed to be in second childhood. "Children and dogs are companionable." So it is that our dog Ted is my close friend. May he come with me into the Old Timers Corner? If dogs are permitted within that sacred circle, Prince comes first. He was a large brown water spaniel that my husband rescued from the dog pound. An irate mistress and decreed his destruction, peddled through he was.

Church Announcements

Church of Christ 10 a. m. Bible School. Claud Small, Supt. 11 a. m. Worship and preaching. Sermon subject, "The Missing Man." 6 p. m. Evening preaching sermon subject, "Do We Love the Lord's Work?" There will be no prayer meeting Thursday evening. The union meeting at the Presbyterian church will be held in the morning.

After a bath in the nearest mud hole usually outlined the home counterpanes with intricate design of fernlike pattern with his long silky hair as he rolled on the beds in doglike complacency. The dog was doomed when rescue came. Our son, Will, was delighted and Prince was satisfied. A year or two later Will was graduated from high school and went into U. S. engineering work on the Missouri River near Jefferson City. How sad we were. Our home lies broken and a loved child grown and gone from the home shelter. Boisterous, rollicking Prince was given to a friend who wanted him very much. She took him in her carriage wherever she went, except to church. On Sunday she said to him, "Prince, I am going to church and you can't go."

On Christmas he was not allowed to go on account of the displays. He knew she was going out and crowded to the door. Remembering how he stayed at home Sundays, she said, "I am going to church." Prince dashed to the library and grabbed her bible, which she always carried to church, racing back to her with it. An odd thing but true! When told to be would bring hats, gloves, coats, shoes, brushes, and things, each to its special owner. Never failed, even with strange guests, to give the right article. He brought a man's kid glove home, wagged his own approbation, went out again and soon came back with the mate to it. Whose they were we never found out. He brought home daily papers from other porches, regardless of political complexion. Such a dog dear as he is, does not fit in a city and Prince was poisoned. Dogs like children, like persons, have personality, mentality, differences too, like people, perhaps hereditarily. "Whiskers" with little white chin hairs, was the son of a snow white lapdog. His color was brown. Language could add nothing to his perfectly expressed and unabated, constant devotion. His presence was of magnetic affection. A greyhound killed him in a passing neighborhood. Harmless, tiny victim of fate as are we all.

Another dog reminiscence and I will give the weary reader a rest. All this for the boys anyhow. Three years ago a big dog came to my son's door, torn, bleeding and crippled, supposedly by an automobile. That was too much for my daughter-in-law. She took him in—as welcome as a guest. For three months she cared for him until he was healed and was no longer lame. He had been taking care of like a sick baby. Ted was the pet of the house. So the hound has been given away—far away four times. He will not stay. The psychology of dog affection! As soon as possible he returns to those who cared for him as a torn stray. Every frontiersman knew the psychology of his dog, whether coon dog or water dog. He called it "dog sense." Esther Montague Winch.

Move to Check Borrowing of Hunt Licenses

Lansing, Nov. 19 Reports received by various sources about the state of wholesale borrowings of hunting licenses has caused Howard Sayre, chief of the Division of Field Administration of the Department of Conservation, to order all Conservation officers to carefully scrutinize the licenses of all hunters they meet. Conservation officers will compare the license descriptions with the persons carrying the licenses and when there is doubt as to the legal ownership of licenses, to check actual identification. While a few cases of "borrowed licenses" have been reported in the past few years, it is claimed that large numbers of men are now borrowing licenses from friends and relatives. It is unlawful not only to borrow a license but to loan and the penalty is as severe for loaning a license as it is for using a borrowed one. Act No. 325 of the Public Acts of 1931 says that "any person who shall use or attempt to use the license of another or any person who shall loan or permit any person to use his license shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed ninety days or both in the discretion of the court."
