Bay County Man Pays $100 Fine for Using Nets

Lansing, Jan. 14. The heaviest sentence imposed on any conservation law violation in Michigan in several months was meted out to Benard Andrews, Bay County, convicted of using gill nets in inland waters.

The only possibility of immediate acquisition of a site in Monroe county is through gift. Because of lack of funds the park division has been forced to discontinue all hope of immediate purchase and is engaged only in choosing a site that a park might be placed under supervision as soon as funds become available.

Andrews was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and to serve ten days in jail, and to serve an additional 90 days if the fine is not paid. He was sentenced by Justice R. G. Phillips of Bay City. Four gill nets were confiscated.

RESERVES TAKE COLOMA SECONDS TO DEFEAT

Coloma Looks Well on Floor But Does Not Play Much Basketball.

Buchanan swamped Coloma 48-10, Friday night on their floor. Rolan was the only regular to play until the third quarter when Jesse went in for him. All the regulars were sent in during the last few minutes to play. Letcher came through with five baskets as did Marion Drietzler; Jesse and Rolan four each, and Harry Dumbolten who played for the first time this year, two.

Coloma offered weak opposition, though they looked well on the floor. Unfortunately they could not, for some reason or other, get started. Aiello, left forward, was their outstanding player.

In the second team game, Letcher, forward, made five goals. Deed, who went in for Donley, made two, and Max Drietzler, brother of the well-known Marion, two goals and a free throw. The second team look fairly good on the floor.

"Boiler Makers" Are Entertainers At H. S. Assembly

By Edwin Arthurhultz. An entertaining assembly program was featured last Friday, Jan. 8, 1932, at the high school auditorium by the "Boiler Makers" composed of the school orchestra and Boys' Glee Club, and directed by Mr. Robinson, leader.

The program was introduced by Mr. Knoblauch, after announcements for the week had been made. The program was as follows: Orchestra: Trio from the "Desert Song," "Jolly Fellows," sung by the Glee club. Orchestra and Boys' Glee Club: "Auld Lang Syne," Robert Burns "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," Egan Johnson. Male Quartet, consisting of Marvin Gross, John Strayer, Harold Pierce and Phil Hanlin. "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," Stephen Foster. Orchestra and Boys' Glee Club: "The Bells of St. Mary's."

Editorial

Every high school has a number of clubs. These were brought into existence for a specific purpose. But when these organizations cease to further their purposes, hold irregular meetings, and in general, function in name only, it is then time to disband.

All officials of secondary schools agree on this point. There are clubs in our high school that do nothing much in particular, meet only occasionally, and are practically a club in name only. They are not furthering their purposes and so why keep them? We are not against clubs; far from it. If an organization is functioning for the betterment of the members and the school, well and good. However, we could name three or four clubs which could be crossed off the list and no one would miss them. Credit will be given the "Ag" club, though. Its work is serving its purpose and the members keep it alive.

Some Points on Student Etiquette

"Excuse me" and "pardon me" have two entirely different meanings. You ask to be excused when you wish to leave the table or room. You ask to be pardoned when you have done something that might give offense. Using correct etiquette is a mark of good breeding and not a sign of being a "sissy."

Who's Who

(By Catherine Biesel) ALENE RILEY

All over the place in a minute. Where is she now? How can Phil ever keep track of that girl? Some of these days some one will ask Phil why he has that tired, worried look, and he will answer, "I can't keep track of her; she's gone again."

Don't wonder who she is, for I suppose you can guess. It's Alene Riley.

Alene is known as an excellent student and is always there with her work. She is a member of the musical organization, plays the saxophone in the orchestra, and is popular with her schoolmates. She was elected the Junior Class president for this year.

JOHN STRAYER

We have hopes for a future physician. Of course, he may not follow his father's foot-steps. No one seems to know his plans for sure.

He's a right hand man, and always on the spot with his offering help. Not only does he assist everywhere, but he is an excellent basketball player. He can usually hold his own.

He is senior class president, left guard in basketball, clarinet and saxophone player, tenor singer in the mixed chorus and is in many other school activities.

This is John Strayer, one of our most popular boys in high school. Keep up your good work, John!

ALBERT WEBB

Here's another one of our blondes. Yes, blonde, and curly headed, tall and slender. He is one of our freshmen. Oh yes, we have freshmen, and lots of them, too.

Maybe you don't know who he is, but I am about to tell you that he is Albert Webb, sure enough.

Albert is very good in his mechanical work. He is an excellent scout, plays in the orchestra, and was elected president of the freshman class of '31 and '32.

OTIS FLENAR

Now we have someone we can depend on. Lucky for "Al" Flenar. He has help and good help, too. Every Saturday morning you see faithful Otis go through town with his uncle, ready to work.

Happy go lucky, some people would call him. When any errand is put into Otis Flenar's hands, you may be sure it will be carried through safely, and taken care of. "Dependable" should be his middle name.

Otis plays interclass basketball, left tackle in football, and is the sophomore class president.

He hasn't been with us many years, but is a good example for those who have been here longer.

Pen Pals

By Doris Campbell. Being simply swamped with requests and demands and even threats of bodily harm, we are literally forced to run a column of advice; advice to the lovelorn and the lonely, to the weak-hearted and the misted, to the discouraged and the down-trodden.

You, the student body—when troubles assail you and your load is too heavy to bear—just appeal to me in your hour of dire need and you will find solace and contentment from the orgies of this cool, cool world.

Signed, Norothy Nix.

P. S. Here, gentle readers, is just one of the weighty questions that trouble the students, those who come groveling in the dirt, pleading for consoling advice.

It is from a tender maiden out in Oshkosh, who writes: Dear Norothy,

How, oh how, does a cranberry rear its young?

Ima Dodo.

Dear Ima, To tell you the truth, I am not in a position to say, as we only raise radishes in our garden. However, a well-bred cranberry is never heard to say, "Nerts!" If you hear one murmuring it, you will instantly know that it was either sadly neglected in its younger days or was raised on the wrong side of the tracks!

Sincerely, Norothy Nix.

Tonight little Ima can sleep well now that her mind is at ease. Let me ease your minds, too, my good people. Send in your laments, questions, or what have you, and Aunt Norothy will soothe your restless soul.

School Slants

(By Alene Riley) The Boys' Glee club had more fun practicing for their assembly program, especially "Nene" DeNardo, who plays "engine" for their choo choo trains. (They've slipped back a few years. They've missed Crawford attempted to limber up by playing basketball—but we're willing to bet that she wasn't as limber the next day as she wanted to be.)

The fatal words are out. The typing students have been holding their breaths until they found out how much more work they had to do this semester. But now—they can't even breathe. They haven't time.

How time flies! Already the classes are reviewing for exams. This is a good time for the girls to lose some of the weight they are always talking about by worrying and perhaps studying.

Whether boy of girl, students should hold the door open for older people to enter a room.

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

THE PIONEER

Portrait

By John Strayer

There are times in every student's life when everything looks futile, so far from everything, that often hope is lost. In these moments of fruitlessness one looks for aid and comfort. She is the one to whom we immediately go. She is the one person who we think is the aid in burdening our troubles and pains. Always there is some cognizant word of philosophy into which we can cast our mind and turn our thoughts to events of much more pleasant. It may be a poem, a bit of a drama, or even some immortal words of some great man, but never is there a time at which she cannot reach down in her deep realm of thought and bring forth real joy to others.

Not the beautiful things in life but the simple and empty seem to predominate in her thoughts and dreams. Dreams that she anticipates but knows that they are of no avail. A smile never appears to leave her lips but just for a moment in deep concentration and thought. Clever and witty, and also appreciative of another's talent, but never unrelenting or forgetting of a misdeed. Seldom comes the moment when she forgets her position in life and oftentimes lowers this position to permit someone else to climb above her.

Even when the shadow of ill health is cast upon you, she is the first to appear bearing aid. The gleam in her eyes and the sparkle of her voice remain in your mind continually. Mankind, she was "the survival of the fittest" and those that did not work did not eat; her favorite was the saying, "You get out of your life just what you put in it."

What more can you ask? Even though skies are gray and life is just one drudgery after another, there is always some one to comfort you. What could one ask more than the beautiful love of a Mother?

Reporting Inquirer

Question: What do school spirit and school loyalty mean to you?

School spirit and loyalty mean a great deal to me. I think a student has school spirit, if he cooperates in all organizations and does his best in helping his companions and the school. School loyalty is not "knocking" the school. That is, instead of "running it down," try to boost it. I think this school shows a lot of loyalty and school spirit.

Zelda Frank. It means that as a member of the student body, one is expected to cooperate in every way possible to make any project a success. When you fail, have courage; and when you win don't boast.

To me, school spirit means attending all school functions with pep for the activities. School loyalty is living up to the requirements that the teachers expect of me, being loyal to my classmates, respecting my teachers, and taking an interest in my subjects.

Kath Portz. The first thing it means, undoubtedly, is good sportsmanship. The school teaches good sportsmanship, and consequently, the proper school spirit should be that of a good sportsman. If loyalty to the school is considered also, it is still more important that good sportsmanship be the prevailing spirit so that the reputation of the school will be the best possible in this place. Also, it means fellowship, desire to learn and win, courtesy, obedience, and respect

Ask Parents to Cooperate in Cutting Failures

Just a word to the parents of our students: Last week there were 132 failures! Perhaps you do not care whether your son or your daughter fails or not, perhaps you do. Nevertheless the above figures are true and the facts may be obtained from the school records. Let's co-operate.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

More Honors Awarded in the Commercial Dept.; Editor Talks to News Classes.

Agricultural Department By Geneva Troutfetter. Students are wondering if Mr. Jewell will recover from the initiation into the Ag Club, Wednesday night. Anyways, he has no further opinion on the subject of mutations.

He says that the biology classes are having an interesting study, experimenting with rabbits, and that Howard Walker gave a very good report on "The Effects of Feeding Rabbits." He also praises the excellent soil maps of the commercial arithmetic class.

Three cheers for Joe Letcher, who hasn't been late for the last six weeks, but why does he leave the Ag Club one hour early? It must be that Chicago street has its attractions.

Journalism By Nina Nelson. The state editor of the South Bend News-Times, Mr. William Augsburg, spoke at the high school Thursday, Jan. 7. Mr. Augsburg addressed the young journalists of Buchanan on the prospect of amateur journalism in the present day newspaper field.

"For the amount of time and energy required, the reward is slight," Mr. Augsburg stated. He also gave several pointers to help the young reporter on his first venture into the newspaper field.

History By Marjorie Sands. The history 10 class has been delving into the various religions found in India and Japan. Richard Schram has promised to bring a Buddha image. This is an idol of the Buddhist religion.

If anyone wants to know anything about the Mexican war, just visit Mrs. Whitman's eighth grade history class. They have been having some interesting debates on the admission of the state of Texas from the northern and southern viewpoint. Some very good maps relating to this war have been handed in.

Do you want your personality analyzed to see for what you are best fitted? If you do, consult one of the citizenship students as that is what they have been studying for the past week.

Home Economics By Dorothy Bilger. Miss Skeels accompanied the last hour freshman class to Bick Smith's market, Wednesday. They were shown the different cuts of meat, which they have been studying.

Dorothy and Jane Briney are the first to complete their wool dresses. The dresses are an exceptional piece of work and may be put on exhibition down town.

The eighth grade had a spell-down on the work they have completed this year. Una Kelley was the winner in the first division and Bernadine Reinke in the second division.

Science Department By Pauline Topash. How would you like to take a trip to the moon? This is what Mr. Moore's eighth grade science class has been doing. Each member wrote a story on "A Trip to the Moon." Many good ones were handed in. Study of the moon has been the main topic of the week.

The physics class is getting hot. They've been studying heat! Soda compounds and potash compounds are being studied by the chemistry class.

Mathematics Department By Pauline Topash. The freshman algebra classes have been studying products and factoring, which is second semester work.

The geometry classes are studying tangents and secants.

English Department By Nina Nelson. Did you know that the average American has that rising spirit which signifies the recognition of a great national emergency? Students of the journalism class learned that from a report on "The Average American Emerges" by Anne McClelland, given by Madeline Hamilton last Thursday in class. These reports were taken from the New York Times.

Among the other reports presented were "Roxby Talks on Shows and Showmanship," by Edwin Arthurhultz, "The Epic of Wilson" by Mary Louise Beardsley, and "Japan's Course in Manchuria," by Robert Dempsey. ("Spot" really looked worried at first. He thought he'd have to learn the Japanese language.)

Debating is about to become popular with the sophomores. Speakers are being tried out now, and a little later two teams from each section will be chosen. Thus the winning team of each section will debate to determine the class team. An issue is also being decided upon.

Members of the freshman English classes are doing work in written composition and a great amount of review work. Other English classes are doing review work also.

History By Marjorie Sands. It seems that this reporter is getting in on all kinds of historical events this week. The History 7, or social studies class, has been drawing free hand maps of Magellan's first trip around the globe. Among the best handed in were those of Virginia Hoover, Virginia Blake, Eva Kovich, Melvin Campbell, John Dale, Don Virgil, Charles Wesner, Catherine Roti Roti and Joe Bachman. This class also has an interesting way of studying each explorer. They pretend that they were present when the explorer landed on American soil.

Typing Department By Dorothy Boyer. The girls in the advanced typing class must have thought there were legends in the schoolhouse the other day, when they looked up their semester's work with keys that did not fit and could not open them.

The following girls in advanced typing were awarded Competent Typists Certificates by the Gregg Publishing Co.: Pauline VanEvery, Claudia Young, Martha Speckie, Helen Huntington, Marjorie Niess, Helen Paul, Margaret Paddock.

The Honor Roll for Beginners in typing for the past week is as follows: Herbert Haas, Wanda Flenar, Genevieve Gassel, Vanda DeNardo, Bernice Newsome, Joe Dunlap, Margaret Hamilton, Alene Riley, Jennie Smith.

By Dorothy Boyer. The Senior French class has been studying important French cities, their products, location, and all important facts about them.

Girls' Physical Ed. By Mary Louise Beardsley. The big season is here again. Girls have started their inter-squad basketball games, which will be played off before the class games start in several weeks. The games are played off first between the squads in classes, the winning ones playing after school.

After selecting the teams, they chose captains and names. Captains selected were: Kathryn Portz, Dorothy Holmes, Mary Donley, Pauline Topash, Alene Dodge, Vera Bright, Rosemary Thompson, Helen Mogford, Edna Holmes and Beatrice Neal.

Basketball practices are continuing. There will be two or three more before inter-class games start.

EST OE PAS By Marjorie Campbell. When this poor life is ended, Our memory lives in the deeds we have done. Not the deeds we intended to do.

First Grade, High School. Our attendance is much better since vacation, most every one having had the chicken pox.

Use Motion Pictures in Schools Increasingly Popular

Lansing, Jan. 14. The use of motion pictures as a means of instructing Michigan's school children in conservation is becoming increasingly popular according to the Department of Conservation, citing figures compiled by the Educational Division of the use of its film loan service during 1931.

Motion pictures depicting wild life in Michigan and various of the conservation activities were seen by a quarter-million school children in the state the report shows.

The Educational Division for two years has been operating a film loan service through which the motion pictures are loaned to schools, sportsmen's clubs, churches and other organizations for the cost of transportation. Another loan service operated through the schools are given more or less permanent use of the films. The attendance figures for the year for these two services and personal lectures given to members of the staff totaled 623,239 people.

The film loan service, inaugurated in December 1929 has been proving increasingly popular. In 1930 the Department made 432 loans of films which were seen by 320,745 Michigan people. During the year just closed 628 loans of films were recorded and a total of 1,538 reels of films were distributed from the Lansing office.

Motion pictures of animals and birds are the most popular of the department's films according to the loan records.

The department now has 15 reels of conservation motion pictures, all taken in Michigan. It is planned to add other reels to the film loan service catalogue next fall.

Consider Sites For Additional Mich. State Parks

Lansing, Jan. 14. While no money is now available for land purchases, the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation has renewed investigations of three possible sites for a state park in Monroe County.

For several years the state has been trying to obtain an adequate and satisfactory park site in the southeastern corner of Michigan to care for visitors and campers for that section of the state.

While Monroe County has almost 100 miles of Great Lake frontage, most of this property, now held by individuals and corporations, is too expensive for the state to be able to purchase.

Rather than the Lake shore the sites along the River Raisin, one of the most beautiful and historic streams in southern Michigan. The area was settled by the French more than a century and a half ago.

Among the sites being considered are: One of the first settlements in this region was at "Grape." Today there is a mill more than 100 years old on the site, together with a dam that would be included in the park if the site were selected. The river at this point was also once famous as an Indian race course for canoes and dugouts.

"Bone Hill," another beauty spot situated in rolling country is also being considered.

A third site is at the mouth of

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

Vote for Your Neighborhood Newsdealer. Buchanan, in common with other cities, is afflicted with periodical epidemics of subscription solicitors, most of whom are primed with some ingenious tale of how they are working for a scholarship in this or that college or institution, and "how you can help me if you'll just vote for me." Either that or they will save you so much money over the newstand price.

As a matter of fact, none of them save you any money over the subscription price which any newstand will be glad to give you. And in a distressingly large number of cases they prove irresponsible and fail to deliver the goods. The next time you are asked to "vote" for any solicitor just remember that you can always "vote" for your neighbor, who is in the newstand business and who is scratching for the wherewithal to pay the taxes.

Son of Esther Winch Thanks Friends For Words Sympathy

The Record is in receipt of a letter from Will R. Winch of Amarillo, Tex., affording additional information regarding the passing of his mother, Mrs. Esther Montague Winch, the popular contributor to the Old Timers' Corner of this paper.

Mr. Winch stated that his mother had received 67 Christmas cards and had replied by a personal letter to nearly all of them before she was hurt. After she incurred the fractured hip she lapsed into unconsciousness for two days before her death, reviving for only about five minutes, when her son was able to tell her of the greetings which she had received from the National Headquarters of the Daughters of 1812, of which she was a member.

Mr. Winch requests that those readers of the Record who sent their condolences be thanked thru the columns of this paper. Many letters and wires were received expressing sympathy. The following was published in an Amarillo paper: Mrs. Ettie M. Winch, 87, mother of Will R. Winch, died shortly after midnight Friday night from the effects of a broken hip suffered in a fall last Tuesday morning at the Winch home, 1903 Taylor Street. She is mourned by scores of friends here.

Mr. Winch left last night for Kansas City, accompanying the body. Funeral services will be held probably Monday morning at the Stein-McClure Chapel in Kansas City. Mrs. Winch will be buried in Elmwood cemetery there, beside her husband, M. Rollin Winch, who died 17 years ago, and her daughter, who died in childbirth.

Mrs. Winch has lived with her son in Amarillo for six years. Before coming here they had lived in El Paso for 10 years. She came to Texas from Kansas City, where she lived in the same home for 42 years. Mrs. Winch was a native of New York state but was reared in Buchanan, Mich. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Daughters of 1812, her father having fought in that war. During her long residence in Kansas City, she was prominent in cultural and club work. For years she was engaged in chautauqua lecture work. She was the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Ward Arnold, a prominent figure among the Wesleyite Methodists of early American history. Mrs. Arnold, as Elizabeth Ward, was an heiress, who was disinherited by her father because of her religious affiliation. She was the author of the famous book, "The Disinherited Daughter."

Besides her son, Mr. Winch, who is manager of the Paramount-Public Theatres here, Mrs. Winch is survived by no near relatives, although she had several nieces and nephews. The body was in state at the Griggs Funeral Home here yesterday afternoon. Despite the fact she had a broken neck, Beatrice Johnson, 14, of Ft. Mill, ILL., pleaded so much that the hospital authorities permitted her to return home to see the tree on Christmas day.
