St. Joe, Buchanan 29's to Stage Scout Benefit Here February 23

WELCOMED TO NEW HOME BY LADY SHERIFF

Former County Officials Placed in Bull Pen; Sentenced By Kangaroo Court.

The term of Berrien county's first woman sheriff, Mrs. Jane Cutler, 55, began Tuesday, and the first prisoners booked in the county hotel were the five ex-members of the county road board.

The five were Claude Baker of St. Joseph; James Hampton, of Benton Harbor; Loren D. Snyder, of Benton Harbor; Clarence E. Renbarger, Niles; and Silas Merritt, Three Oaks.

The erstwhile prominent citizens and office holders were put thru the regular jail routine which includes an unofficial "kangaroo court." Charles Rice of Niles acted as judge for the kangaroo trial and Raymond Ottwell of Buchanan served as prosecutor.

The five new prisoners were convicted of "breaking into jail" and were fined $2 each, the fines going into the common tobacco fund.

No special privileges have been accorded the prisoners. They are employed in the bull pen on the main floor with the ordinary run of prisoners. Last night they slept on regulation cell bunks, but beneath bedding which they brought with them.

This morning they partook of the regular jail breakfast, according to one of the trustees in charge of serving the lower bull pen. The food for the morning meal included a large tin cup of coffee, a quarter of a loaf of bread and a cookie. Later some of the officials ordered a supply of milk and cup cakes from the grocery boy.

BI-CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE AT METH. CHURCH

"I STILL AM RICH" We have passed through a panic, suffered from a stock market crash and are now more than half way through the depression—and I am still rich. It may be true that I have much less to live on than I had a year ago, but it is certainly true that I have as much as ever to live for. The real values of life are unshaken and solid.

The stock crash cost us much that we never had paper profits which never got nearer our pockets than the financial pages of the daily papers. The market failed, but nothing else did. Prices went down, but not one acre lost its fertility and all the electrons, protons and ether waves went on working in their accustomed ways.

When the depression came I was compelled to take an invoice and soon discovered I was still rich. All my capacity for the enjoyment of life was intact. My two-hundred-thousand-dollar eyes are just as good as they ever were. Every landscape and sunset is mine if I want it. Twenty-thousand-dollar scenes and views are added to my collection almost every week.

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, business associates believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect. The wife's welcome at the close of the day has not depreciated in the least, and our daughters continue to lavish their affection on us with the same old extravagance.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something, only by becoming something. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

It is a challenge, not a catastrophe. A generation that has conquered the air and sent giant planes circling the globe, which has plunged into the depths and disported on the oceans floor, which has climbed above the clouds and lived in the stratosphere is now faced with the challenge to rise above its dependence on mere things and seek an emancipation of the spirit of man.

The last six months have been for many men a thrilling spiritual adventure through which they have discovered their real wealth. Bereft of dividends and profits they are discovering the sustaining powers of a strong religious faith, the abiding values of courage, heroism, honor, charity and trustworthiness.

The investments we made in ambitious youth, hospitals, crippled children's camps, colleges and service institutions go on paying dividends. The deepest satisfactions of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure. I am still rich because I am independently rich—none of my wealth depends on business conditions or market reports. By courtesy of The Rotarian.

Bailey played last year on the Western State College nine, and during the summer with the Frankfort nine, winner of the championship of northern Michigan. LOCAL TALENT TAKES LEAD PART IN MUSICAL TEA

Thirty Buchanan ladies attended the annual tea given by the Niles Musical club in the Four Flags dining room, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. H. B. Thompson was general chairman, and outstanding parts in the program were taken by Buchanan members. Tea was served by ladies dressed in colonial costume, a number of which were furnished by Mrs. Jesse Vile.

The section of the program entitled "The Gay Nineties," representing the music and costume of that period and directed by Mrs. E. C. Pascoe, proved especially successful. It was presented as a parlor concert. Mrs. H. W. Staver was one of the costumed models and had charge of changing the furniture for each period. Mrs. H. C. Stark and Miss Catherine Biron sang a duet in this group.

Another interesting feature was a short drama, "Ringing the Liberty Bell," which was written by Maude Stewart Beagle of Flint, a friend of Mrs. H. B. Thompson. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Pascoe presented a group of Kentucky mountaineer songs, dressed in costume as "The Strolling Minstrels" and accompanied by Mrs. Rex Leach on the guitar.

A touch of comedy was lent to the program by six ladies who made up as negroes and sang spirituals and by the number entitled, "The Strolling Minstrels," consisting of a rendering of Kentucky mountaineer ballads by Mrs. H. B. Thompson and Mrs. E. C. Pascoe, accompanied by Mrs. Rex Leach on the guitar.

Now Here's the Proposition

LAW ENFORCEMENT BI HAWKS Now that we have a lady cop it is a certain thing, of course, that all this crime will have to stop. And all the laws will be enforced. The courthouse is a chicken coop. They've named a hen to run the place. And won't it be a front page scoop to see the roosters all get chased? Since they have named a hen for sheriff.

US CRIMINALS ARE OUT OF LUCK— The hen is out to cook our goose. 'Tis time for us to quail and duck.

But You Should Hear the Luncheon Club Eat Celery!

Syncope Soup has been served with orchestral effects at public banquets as well as at the lowly lunch counter in Buchanan for quite some time, but now come the ladies with something new in acoustics in the way of "musical tea" which was served at a swell social function attended by Niles and Buchanan ladies at the Four Flags hotel Tuesday afternoon. There's a guy at Boosters who can get swell musical results out of a cup of coffee, too.

Sap Bleeding No Injury to Maple Trees, Says Bohl

The fears which have been expressed by a number of local people that the "bleeding" done by the maple trees trimmed this winter by the street department, may injure them are groundless, according to William Bohl, who says that the sap which has been running from the trees in the past few weeks is not essential to the life of the tree. The sap which contains the life of the tree does not run until late in spring after the sugar sap has run, and is bitter in taste. After the weather warms up in the spring the trees should be painted where the boughs were amputated, Bohl states, but it should not be done until the sap now running has been dried.

VISITING FIVE STATE CLASS B CHAMPS IN 1929

Tickets Sold by Members of Scout Troops or Scout Committee. Although the St. Joe aggregation was an outstanding bunch of performers in 1929, it is expected that the local 29's will give them a close race for the honors of the evening. The two teams met at St. Joseph last Wednesday evening, the locals losing 20-16 in an overtime period in which the former Class B champs rang up two baskets and blanked the locals.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

S'ired by Depression and Damned by Everybody

Buchanan ought not to object to depressions. The fact is that the city owes its very origin to a depression, it was born of the depression of 1837.

The first settlement of Buchanan, as everybody knows, occurred during the decade between 1830 and 1840. During that decade there was a great shift of population from the eastern states to escape depression and better themselves on the cheap western lands.

Most of the old original homestead filings about Dayton, Glendora, Mt. Tabor, date back to that time and were made by refugees from depression.

THE BULL AND THE BULLETIN

Our old friend, the government bulletin, came in for a panning in the halls of Congress a short time ago, when the facile Pat Harrison unleashed his powers of ridicule against government printing and the guffaws over the futile waste of bureaucracy ran through the nation.

Some way we remembered a talk with a Buchanan housewife during the canning season last summer. "I never did any canning until I came to the Michigan fruit belt a few years ago. Then fruit was so cheap it seemed an economy to can. I sent for all the government bulletins on canning. I followed their directions and I've canned literally hundreds of quarts yearly and never had a can spoil that wasn't explainable by a loose lid or some error of that sort.

This woman led a group of public spirited neighbors in canning for the poor, resulting in salvaging over two hundred quarts of fruit that would otherwise have gone to waste. This fruit was placed in the hands of Mrs. John Fydel and is being distributed. This was accomplished by a woman educated by government bulletins.

We venture to say that if Senator Pat entered the homes of the progressive farmers of his constituency, he would find hundreds of government bulletins dealing with the scientific technical side of farming, studied religiously by the farmers.

Pat cited a number of obviously absurd titles issued by government bureaus as proof of the futility and waste of the whole business. What percentage of the whole the absurdities constitute, Senator Pat does not say. That is not the politicians way.

Intellecually, as well as politically the direction of all true progress is toward greater freedom and along an endless succession of ideas.

English Editor Laughs at Idea Am. Depression

The following letter contains a message from an English business man, Herbert Casson, editor of the Efficiency Magazine, to an American business man.

You are depressed and think you are crippled. You are afraid of the future. You are full of fears.

You have half the gold of the world, half of the machinery, and most of the automobiles, and all of the skyscrapers.

You have the greatest home market in the world and the largest corporations that the world has ever seen.

You are ruled more by ideas and less by tradition than any people in the world. You have usually done what you thought you could do. How can it be possible that a progressive nation of 120,000,000 people can be wrecked by the speculations of a little handful of fools in Wall Street?

The prices that were forced too high had to come down. Today the prices are all too low.

There is now a golden opportunity for a man who has eyes to see it. Dollars are now being sold for thirty cents. Practically every security in the United States is now being sold at less than value.

The Old Timer's Corner

Holmes Tells Memorable Disaster when Hathaway Thresher Killed Two

Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Editor Record: When the Record type was bought there was nothing known about the point system of measuring and the sizes in the cases were adopted, beaver, long primer, small pica, and pica for body type. Under that system if an office bought a foundry it was obliged to continue with that foundry, as the bodies varied, and it led to trouble in justifying if they were mixed. The point system was adopted in the eighties. Under this system 72 points was an inch, 12 to pica, six to a nonpareil. When I bought a new dress it was hours ago, from Marsden, Luss, & Co. We used six-to-pica (2 point) leads.

Some time along in the eighties the Hathaway brothers, Homer and William, operated a steam threshing outfit in that neighborhood and in their last job, which they never finished, they were on the second farm north of the Brocous school, on the north side of the road. The farmer had his barn full of wheat and two or three little stacks outside. The machine was set to thresh what was in the barn. That finished, it was moved out a few feet to be within reach of the stacks. Abiel Hathaway hitched a team of horses to the hook on the front of the boiler between the fire and the ash doors to draw it back and on the first move the boiler exploded. The engine was torn from its moorings and thrown off to the northeast through a stack of wheat, landing about ten rods beyond. The stud of the rear left wheel was thrown to the northwest, striking the corner of the barn and out through the roof and within about five rods of across the ten acre field adjoining. Emory Hathaway, Homer's oldest son, and Frank Lawdon, son of John and Eunice Lawdon of Dayton were instantly killed, and Than Wilson, who was near the machine, had one thigh shattered so that it was necessary to amputate it.

Acquainted With Old Timer Was Thomas Trusty

Mighty glad to see the name of a cousin of mine in "the corner" this week. Yes, Rolla, there are a lot of the pupils of California Johnson still on earth, and I happen to be one of them. But your memory must be slipping, or something for he had two arguments, one for the boys and one for the girls, and they were called "Tom Trusty" and "Susie Trusty" and the "Tom" one was much heavier and stronger, made for service, I would say, and "Susie" was just a whip as you used to use when riding horseback, if you wanted to be stylish and carry a whip at all. Mr. Johnson had his idea of what kids should and should not do, and he managed pretty well to make the youngsters get his view point before they had been with him very long. It was Mr. Johnson, who noticed that in all my studying, reading etc., that I held my book as far away from my eyes as I could reach and he reported it to my father, and I was taken to Dr. Fred Bonine in Niles, who had just recently returned from college and was in the office with his father. He put my first glasses on at the ripe age of 8 years and I have worn them (or some like them) ever since.

Old Timer Was Another Star Pupil of California Johnson

If you live only for yourself, you are always in immediate danger of being bored to death with the repetition of your own views and interests. If your center of gravity is some extra-personal social movement you profit by the vitality and objectivity of that movement. Choose a movement that presents a distinct trend toward greater human happiness and align yourself with it. No one has learned the meaning of living until he has surrendered his ego to the service of his fellowmen. The dividends of too much caution and security are a sense of boredom and smugness. It is better to have adventured in life and to have made mistakes than to have

Jake Weaver Tells of Days When Wolves Were at Buchanan Doors

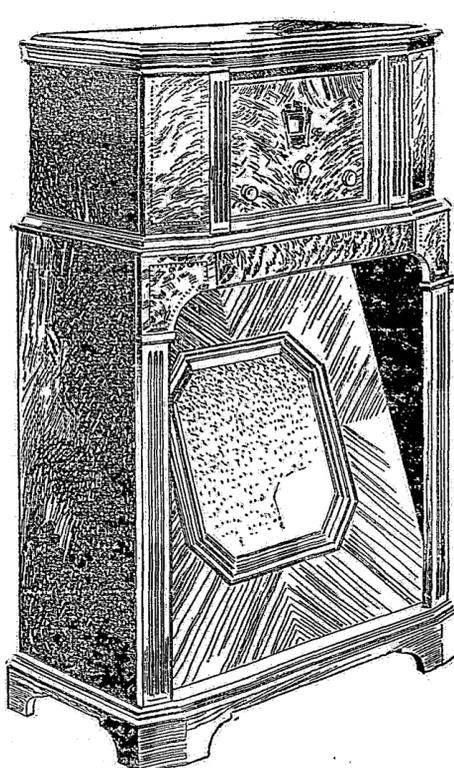

Echoes of the economy of an earlier day when we pumpkin rings were strung to dry over the kitchen stove and the smoke house was full of hams were related last week by Jake Weaver, whose father, Jake, Sr., came to Buchanan with his bride in 1848 and settled in the forest that is now the Wagner farming district. "My father used to butcher 20 hogs a year," said Weaver. "Ten at a butchering and two butchering per winter. He had a big family and he also butchered for some of his children's families. We used to pick a day in winter when it was cold enough but not too cold. The water would be scalding hot, so hot that until the hogs were ready we would have to throw snow in it to cool it. We kept the hogs a year before we put them in the fattening pens and they would dress out 350 pounds. Father used to smoke the hams and shoulders and part of the jowls in hickory smoke and then we would pack the pork in big hogheads five feet across, a layer of meat and a layer salt alternately. The rest of the meat we packed in smaller barrels. There would be about two barrels of lard.

In an article published in the Berrien County Record of Oct. 1, 1914, which Weaver filed away, his mother, Mrs. Ophelia Crum Weaver, was quoted as saying that she remembered when wheat was at 47 cents per bushel, which, oddy enough, was just two cents higher than it was last week. She also remembered that it was as high as $3.75 per bushel in Civil War days. Hogs were as low in pioneer days as two and a quarter cents a pound dressed. She remembered the price of 1857, when men they brought $20 per ton in the spring, whereas a year later choice clover hay brought only $1.25 per ton. Potatoes sold for as high as $2.25 per bushel and as low as eight cents per bushel in those days. Four foot wood sold for as low as $1 per cord.

Jacob Weaver, Sr. acquired 600 acres of land four miles west of Buchanan. It is occupied by his grandson, Artie Weaver. There in 1848 he built a log house with a clapboard roof tied down with hickory bark, there being no nails or other hardware involved in its construction. Later he built a large frame house. He kept sheep for the provision of wool for weaving the family clothes. They took the wool to the carding mill at Bakertown and after it was carded Mother Weaver spun cloth on a wheel, the head of which is still a relic at the Weaver home. One of the problems of the family was to keep away from the sheep the wolves which were numerous in the forest.

An older half-brother, John Weaver, was the first man to enlist in the Union army from Buchanan in 1861. He went to Kalamazoo to enlist and came home for a short visit wearing the blue overcoat with the brass buttons which attracted the attention of the younger children. A few days later they took him to the railway station in Buchanan and bade him goodbye, never to see him again. He served until within two months of the end of the war, when he was killed in battle. THE MICROPHONE News of Buchanan Schools

Bucaneers Invade Stove City to Win 35-26

2ND VICTORY OVER DOWAGIAC THIS SEASON

Morse, Jesse are High Point Men; Buchanan Seconds Win 18-14.

For the second time this year Buchanan defeated Dowagiac, and on their own floor, 35-26. Credit must be given to both teams as they played a good game, but the local quintet really stepped out in the first quarter and played basketball, at least, they made the points.

Buchanan led the scoring all thru the game, except in the third period when both teams scored 10 points. Louis Morse, forward, and Jesse tied for high points with four baskets each. "Sleepy" Ellis was second with three baskets.

Dale Hartman, forward for Dowagiac, scored 14 of the entire 26. He made the most of his shots from near the middle of the floor. The Indians had a good passing attack and in the first quarter threatened to get the lead on their opponents. However, they were unable to sink any baskets.

With both teams fouling considerably, nine persons were marked up for each. Out of 10 free throws the locals made 6 good, and the Indians, four of their 9 for points. The second team of Buchanan's also won from the Dowagiac seconds, 18-14. August Topash won high point man with four field goals.

The score by quarters:

Buchanan	10	8	10	7	35
Dowagiac	6	10	4	23

School Slants

All of our sick list has so far been reported to be coming all right. Every one decided that now was a good time to catch the flu, but we hope they'll soon come back. Mr. Jewell has been displaying a swollen cheek these last few days. It can't be that he had a toothache. Which reminds us of Alene's swollen cheek, and she swears that she hasn't had a fight with anyone.

We, of course, all know that last week was Boy Scout week. But if everyone thinks hard, maybe he will remember that there was a girl scout troop once upon a time. It consisted of a lot of our juniors and seniors. Perhaps you'll remember "If I quote the song that one of them made up in an evidently weak moment."

(Sung to the tune of "Together.") We tramped the roads, together, Laughed at all kinds of weather, Learned nature's ways, together, And we learned to work and never slack.

Girl Scouts do best together, Disloyal to their troop never. If each one plays fair, and all do their share.

We always will stick together. "Curly" has been walking with his head tipped dangerously on one side. We thought maybe it was stiff neck, but our further investigation we find that he and Clem Savold had a friendly wrestling match, and Clem didn't get a toe-hold on him from the looks of things.

Faculty Facts

What's this? Miss Ekstrom and Mr. Robinson traveled to Kalamazoo Saturday—unless Miss Ekstrom changed her mind at the last moment.

Miss Abell cleaned house and bought herself new glasses, so she could see the dust and dirt in every corner.

Miss French did her weekly washing Saturday.

Mr. Knoblauch cleaned his basement, so let's hope he finished in time to attend the debate between Riley High and Central high schools.

Mr. Hyink traveled to Sumnerville to attend to very important business, but he said, "I've spent all my money and can't go shopping."

Mrs. Fuller and Miss Reams stayed at home this week.

Pack 141 CUBS B. S. A.

By Bill Strayer

We not only have Scouts, but we have Cubs, too. We have four dens, Blazing Arrows, White Fangs, Red Eagles, and the Red Wings. We also have den chiefs, denners, and a cubmaster. There are eight in a den. Last Court of Honor we had three silver wolves, four gold wolves, and several wolves and bears. We have a pack committee, and on it are Mr. Pascoe, Dr. Beistle, and Dr. Strayer. We have pack meetings down at the Clark gym on Saturday at 9:30 o'clock. If ever you want to see us play, come down to the Clark gym at 9:30.

Our den chiefs and denners are: George Remington, George Spatta, Albert Webb and Ted Lyons. Our denners are: Dale Lyon, Gerald White, Earl Lyman, and Phil Pierce. Our cubmaster is Leo Slate. Rev. Staver is chairman.

Last Saturday we had several visitors. There are different ranks in Cubbing: wolf gold, wolf silver, wolf bear, gold bear, silver bear, gold lion silver lion. The Cub promise is: "I promise to do my best to be square and to obey the law of the Cub pack." At meetings we always call our Cubmaster or our den chief or denner, Akela. The uniforms are blue and trimmed in yellow.

Who's Who in Troop 42

By Donald Blaney

He is 18 and an eagle scout. He has curly hair and if you don't know who it is—it is "Ernie" Beadle. He is troop 42's future scout master.

Harold Collins—troop 42's new scout master. He knows his onions, and if you don't think so ask him. And can he play basket ball? He is fast. If you don't think so, try to guard him.

Carl Rossow, age 16, is center on the first team of both the junior high and the Boy Scout basketball teams. It takes something to out jump him. He is a first class Scout and is working for his star.

Joe Buchanan, yes, you know him. Nobody could ever mistake him by his pranks. Joe is a player on the first team but has played on the first team. He is a tenderfoot. His favorite sport is basketball. He likes to fight more than any boy of his age.

Harold (Beans) Holmes is a true scout and is working for his first class pin. He is on the second team of basketball. His favorite sport is basketball. "Beans" is 13 years old.

Junior Girls Win Title in Class Series

The girls' interclass championship was decided by the playing of the junior-senior class last week, the juniors emerging victorious with a total of 16 points to the seniors' 11 points.

Anita Andrews, flashy forward of the junior sextette, sank 15 of the entire 16 points, and Kath Portz, charity tosser, was high point girl for the seniors.

"It was a clean game. Although fouls were much in evidence, they occurred, for the most part, from close guarding and general excitement," said Miss Rockenbach at the finish of the game.

March 25 is Date Selected For Junior Play

During the coming months the students of Buchanan high school will present several interesting performances. To some the most noteworthy will be the annual junior play, to be given on March 25, while others will select the minstrel show to be directed by Miss Crawford or the gymnastic show given by the combined gym classes of the school.

The dates of the latter two performances have not yet been learned. Watch for further announcement on these coming student performances.

Scouts and Parents Enjoy Pot Luck

A pot luck supper was enjoyed by the scouts of Troop 41 and their parents Wednesday evening in honor of the scout anniversary.

Afterwards prizes were given for "thinking games" in which every one joined. The "grand prize" a Scout flashlight, was awarded Don Shaffer.

SENIORS, SOPHS WIN

The senior color team was victorious over the freshman color team last Wednesday with a score of 16-10.

SCHOOL DAYS! By DWIG

Editor's Note

The slogan which is run under the masthead of the Microphone this week indicates that the issue is dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America. It had been originally intended to make the dedication last week but it was delayed until this week on account of inability of the staff to collect the material for a scout edition in time.

Reporting Inquirer

Question: What benefits have you derived from being a scout? I have received my tenderfoot badge, I have learned to tie different knots, the scout laws, and the meaning of the flag.

I have received second class in which I have learned how to judge distance, path finding, pace, knife, and hatchet rope splicing, and first aid.

I have not finished my first class, but I have first class swimming, first aid, thrift, signal code, cooking, and trail blazing.

I find that scouting offers something worth while to do during spare time. It enables one to meet emergencies, especially if one uses the motto, "Be Prepared." It encourages leadership and prepares one for later life.

I have received a training in first aid, handicraft, woodcraft, and signaling that does not come to boys who are not scouts. I have obtained a training in camp lore, and I have learned how to take care of myself in the woods.

Being an Eagle Scout I was able to go on the 1931 Eagle trip thru the eastern part of the country, this summer, visiting many historical spots as Mount Vernon, Gettysburg, Washington and many others.

On the whole I think a scout receives training and experiences that do not come to every boy.

I have learned the laws of the cub scouts. I am trying hard to pass all my tests so I can be a good scout. Bill Ednie.

I am learning how to be a scout, so when I am twelve years old, I can be a good one. I have learned safety rules and like to pass my tests.

The benefits that I have derived from being a boy scout are: It has taught me many things that other boys, who are not scouts would never know. One of the things we specialize in is nature study. We learn about the different birds, insects, animals, flowers, and many other things. Leather craft, woodcraft, campcraft, and first aid are some interesting subjects that we specialize in.

Then there is the training-schools that we have. I have taken special courses in patrol leadership, campcraft, and sea scouting. Only boy scouts are eligible for this training school.

In the summer time we have the privilege of going to camp and going on long overnight hikes, and sleeping in the open, watching the stars twinkle, listening to the queer noises that come from the woods, watching the glowing embers of the campfire slowly die. There is nothing like it.

It is also very interesting to study the stars and their formations.

Scout life is a very interesting life to lead, full of adventure, the thing that every real boy wants. It helps prepare the boy for later years and helps develop his character.

Scouting can help one in many ways, and I advise every boy who wants to live a real life to join the Boy Scouts. Robert Watson.

CUB NEWS By Dale Lyon

The Cubs were started in Buchanan in October. The sponsors are Mr. Pascoe, Dr. Beistle, Dr. Strayer and Rev. Harry W. Staver. The cubmaster is Leo Slate. Den chiefs are George Remington, George Spatta, Albert Webb and Ted Lyons. Denners are Earl Stevens, Phil Pierce, Gerald White and Dale Lyon.

This fall some of the dens played football. They changed the pack meetings from Friday to Saturday. Now they meet down at the Clark theater. Some of the boys received bear badges, while others received wolf. Bill Strayer and Louis and Edward Pascoe received their silver wolf badges at the Court of Honor.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Boy Scout movement was started in England in 1908 by Lieutenant General Sir Robert Baden Powell. In 1909, when aided by an unknown scout, W. D. Boyce of Chicago brought the scout idea to the United States. The first society was formed Feb. 10, 1910, and this date has since been celebrated all over the United States each year.

The Boy Scouts were granted a Federal charter by Congress in 1916, the fourth of such organizations chartered. Before he may become a scout, a boy must learn the Scout oath and be ready to live up to it. The idea of service is stressed in the whole scout movement. Each one must do a good turn daily, and the Scout as a whole do great service to the community and country.

They are noted particularly for their "clean-up" work. They are also noted for their work during the war in selling Liberty bonds, and during such disasters as the Mississippi flood.

The Boy Scouts of America are neither military nor anti-military. It emphasizes religious obligations, but is entirely non-sectarian. It is endorsed by churches of the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths.

NEW BOOKS

"Heroes and Hazards" is one of the new books. This book will especially interest boys. It takes up various occupations, the prominent people in these vocations, and explains the hazards of each industry respectively.

Stories are told, in a most unique form of real happenings connected with their various occupations. It is a seventh and eighth grader's book. All of the pictures are based on reality; the illustrations are also very good.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

Make Lincoln Notebooks, and Find New Use for Cork; Make Pajamas; Debate Ear Claire.

The time of year has come again, when one of our great natural figures is being celebrated, Abraham Lincoln, who if he were living would be one hundred and twenty-three years old. The eighth grade finished the notebooks of Lincoln. Mrs. Whitman has had many good reports from both the maps and the notebooks.

Would you like to live back in the time of Louis XIV? Ask some of the ten great American states. You have been learning all about the condition of the European countries during that period.

"This is a good time to study stocks and bonds," declared Mrs. Whitman. The citizenship class has been studying management of stocks and bonds.

The algebra classes know the areas of some figures. Hard telling what the geometry classes are trying to construct, but they are doing this type of work.

Shakespeare's "Hamlet" was staged by the senior English class last Wednesday and Thursday. Because of the lack of time, unnecessary parts to the plot of the play were cut out.

"The Age of Johnson" and a comparison of Macaulay's and Boswell's Life of Johnson are being studied in the junior English class. The sophomores and juniors have been having comprehensive reading tests.

Mrs. Dunbar states that it is really surprising how much one misses in one's ordinary reading. Early American Romance with the authors, Irving, Bryant, Cooper and Poe, is being studied in the sophomore classes.

The use of the "Reader's Guide" is the program this week in all English classes. Although the number of magazines in the library is limited, it is quite essential to know how to use the guide in a large library.

English Department. The seventh and eighth grades have just completed the study of Longfellow's poems, "The Courtship of Miles Standish" and "Evangeline" and are starting the study of grammar.

Difficult passages of "Ivanhoe," by Scott, were discussed in the freshman English class, in preparation for a test to be given Friday. The class also began the study of the ballad.

Celebrating the one hundred and thirteenth anniversary of James Russell Lowell, we deem it proper to give a summary of his life. He was born in 1819, and died in 1892. His poems are very well known by all people of learning.

Many of his poems are American in sources and thought, such as "Biglow Papers," which were poems in Yankee dialect. Others introduce themes independent of national boundaries, such as the "Vision of Sir Launfal," which uses a familiar situation in the medieval romances to teach a modern lesson of charity and love.

Lowell also excelled in the familiar essay. He became the first editor of the Atlantic Monthly in 1857.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, whose birthday we are celebrating this week, was always remarkable for his sincerity and kindness of character. In his historic home, the Craige House, he was never too busy to see visitors. This home had been the headquarters of Washington during the Revolution, and people really wanting to see Longfellow made the excuse that they had come to see Washington's study.

Longfellow lived at Cambridge nearly all of his life. His college days were spent at Bowdoin where he was a classmate of Hawthorne. It was here that he learned much about the wild scenery and Indian lore that he later wrote about. It was through his mother, who was a descendant of an Abenaki, that he got his inspiration for the poem, Miles Standish.

He was born at Portland, Maine, on Feb. 27, 1807. After his college training he spent seventeen years as professor at Harvard University. The great part of his life was spent in Cambridge where he did his writing and teaching. Frequent trips to Europe were the only times when he left his home.

Journalism. Speech reporting was carried over into this week in a more advanced form. All the "do's and don'ts" were pointed out and applied. Sermons and radio sermons were reported on by each member of the class.

Mechanical Drawing. For reasons best known to himself, Mr. Miller, the mechanical drawing and shop instructor, has been giving his seventh, eighth, and ninth grade shop classes mechanical drawing lessons for the past three weeks.

The advanced class in mechanical drawing is working on lettering plates, while the beginners are just starting on the vice.

One ambitious student, namely, Beryl Shipley, has completed her year's work, and is so far ahead that he is starting on next year's drawing.

Studying structural and surface designs has been the occupation of the tenth grade class. They are also making hot-dish pads out of cork file, applying their own original conventionalized designs.

The ninth grade classes are completing their first project papers, which is to be handed in today. Una Kelley gave a very interesting report on the study of laces in the eighth grade class.

EXHIBIT CIVIL WAR SHINPLASTERS IN STORE WINDOW

Days when the drums of war and the youth of Buchanan rallied to the defense of the Union were revived, however dimly, by the sight of an exhibit of the old fractional currency popularly known as shinplasters, which was collected in those perilous days by Dr. John Anderson, who practiced in Buchanan then, and whose wife and son, Dr. Perry Anderson, each practiced here after his death.

The exhibit now belongs to Mrs. Jesse Viele, whose sister married Dr. Perry Anderson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson moved to New York City many years ago and are now both dead, the latter having died two years ago.

But to come back to the currency exhibit. It comprises some 39 different pieces, part issued July 17, 1862, and part on March 3, 1863. Of the 39 pieces, 11 are of 50c denomination, 8 are of 25c, of 10c, 7 of 5c and 2 of 3c.

These shinplasters were issued by the government when the issues of "greenbacks" as the interest-bearing notes of indefinite maturity issued to finance the war were termed, depreciated to 40 per cent of their face value and people began to hoard all species even to the smallest denomination. Metal coins for the time went out of circulation everywhere in the United States except California, where people refused to use the "greenbacks." In the first year of the war, the Battle of Bull Run and other reverses had shaken public confidence in the north and people began to hoard specie. On this account both the banks and the government were obliged to suspend payment in metal money and the government took steps equivalent to the recent action of England in abandoning "the gold basis."

The shinplasters were small, the three-cent denominations, measuring 2 1/2 x 1 1/2 inches. The first issues were exchangeable for United States notes, but this privilege was later withdrawn and they were exchangeable for postage stamps only.

Among Buchananites who remember the use of shinplasters is John Dick, who states that janitors of public halls often found considerable quantities of them when sweeping up after public meetings. A pocketful of these small papers was unwieldy and if one of them was accidentally dropped he would end by ringing to warn the owner of his loss.

The government remained off its metallic basis for some seventeen years, resuming specie payment in 1876.

Sales of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company for the four week period ending January 13th were $68,966,599, this compares with $78,814,370 for the same period in 1931, and is a decrease of $9,847,771, or 12.5 per cent.

January sales expressed in tons were 395,428 this year, compared with 410,807 in January 1931. This is a decrease of 15,379 tons, or 3.7 per cent.

Average weekly sales in January were $1,724,165, compared with $1,703,718 in 1931, a decrease of $20,447. Average weekly tonnage sales were 95,857 compared with 102,702 in January 1931, a decrease of 6,845.

Miss Shriver

French eleven classes are reading short stories in French and reproducing them in their own French.

Articles on the city of Rome, taken from the National Geographic Magazine, are being studied by the Latin ten class.

Mr. Knoblauch's speech class is studying the general structure and method of giving a speech. They have accepted a challenge to debate with Ear Claire.

Miss Chandler's Classes. The bookkeeping class has completed half of their practice sets. They are now preparing working sheets and statements.

In the "over thirty" group of the beginning typing class were Maurice Aronson, Doris Campbell, Herbert Haas, Charley Blake, Mary Richter, Alene Riley, and Vincent DeNardo.

The following are to be commended for accuracy in speed tests: Vivian Russell, Mary Richter, Vincent DeNardo, Geneva Williams, Lee Donley, Herbert Haas, George Zachman, Robert Kell, Joe Dunlay and Howard Donley.

Junior High. The mathematics classes are studying desperately with the volumes of spheres and hemispheres trying to find how much hay in a haystack. Those poor people who are not farmers!

Very good work has been handed in by the seventh grade pupils, states Mrs. Weaver. "They have been working on graphs, horizontal and vertical lines."

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Feb. 21.
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Titus 1:15) "Unto the pure all things are pure, but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 399): "Scientific speaking, there is no mortal mind out of which to make material, beliefs springing from illusion. This misnamed mind is not an entity. It is only a false sense of matter, since matter is not sensible. The one Mind, God, contains no mortal opinions. All that is real is included in this immortal Mind."

Straub-Holsteins Net 1000 Per Cent Over Average Mich. Cow

Michigan dairymen and farmers will be pleased to know that Doan Straub of Gallien, Berrien county, Michigan, a leading dairyman, who believes in continued testing in order to assure greatest profits, has a herd which has produced remarkably well this past year.
Mr. Straub has a herd of purebred and grade Holsteins which averaged 14,684 pounds of milk and 551 lbs fat for 13 cows. In 1930 this herd was one of the leading herds in Michigan and in national competition was determined by the Dairy Tribune of Mt. Morris, Ill., as the leading herd in the U. S. This year, according to the same paper the herd ranks third.
The Straubs started farming fifty years ago on a 260 acre sandy loam farm. Originally very plain cattle were kept. Ten years ago the first purebred animal was purchased for $140. This cow made 50 pounds of milk a day, a mere trickle compared with the yields that the Straub cows would yield later. A purebred sire was also purchased and since then only purebred sires have been used in developing the herd.
The credit for developing this splendid herd belongs equally to Mr. and Mrs. Straub. The Straub family, including a boy and a girl, has patiently cared for the cattle, growing the necessary feeds and especially planning large acreages of alfalfa, some soy beans for hay and silage so that feed costs have been reduced to a minimum. This program has resulted in the largest butterfat yields at lowest cost and the largest net returns under present economic conditions. More than 75 per cent of the grain mixture fed was home grown grain.
Purchased grain, especially 34 per cent Farm Bureau Milk Maker was used to supplement the home grown feed. Silage was fed at the rate of about 3 tons per cow per year and 1-1/2 tons alfalfa hay and soy bean hay was fed each cow.
The Straub herd has always maintained a good test. During the past year the average test was 3.75 per cent. The milk produced on the farm was sold as whole milk and averaged $1.99 during the year.
Testing Ass'n Results
In 1924 the Straub herd was first signed to belong to the county dairy herd improvement association. In that year the six cows averaged only 269 pounds of fat and 7,234 lbs milk. This fat yield was 80 pounds more than that of the best average Michigan cow. It showed that the practices sponsored by record keeping improved the production from each dairy cow and the value over feed cost for each cow the first year also.
Continuing the testing association activities, the Straub herd succeeded during the past five years in averaging well above 400 pounds each year. In 1927 the herd averaged 420 pounds with 9 cows tested while in 1928 the average was 482 pounds butterfat. In 1929 the herd averaged 572 pounds butterfat while in 1930 the highest production recorded in Michigan with one exception resulted in 621 pounds fat average for nine cows.
The record will be interested to know that this improved production also resulted in increased dollar returns over feed cost. The highest yield recorded in the herd books in Mr. Straub's possession is for 1930 when each cow yielded $222 over feed cost. This past year net returns over feed costs were $189.79.

During these two years this herd has yielded almost four times more than the average Michigan cow yields in butterfat production while the returns over cost of feed exceeded the average Michigan cow's return over feed cost by ten times or 1,000 per cent.
Expressed in another way the average cow owned in the Straub herd produces in a year more than the average Michigan cow produces in a lifetime. In returns over cost of feed the average cow owned by the Straub herd in one year, an amount equal to the amount that would be returned in ten years by the average Michigan cow.
To keep their fingers on the pulse and in tune with the constant changes occurring in feed prices, product prices and producing ability of a herd of dairy cows, the Straubs are continuing testing in the local dairy herd improvement association, according to the dairy department, Michigan State college.
The results obtained by this dairy family can be duplicated to a degree by many other Michigan dairymen by following the practices taught through the herd improvement association.
