Jesse Boyle slipped me an invite to the feed that the Methodist Ladies Aid served to the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association last Monday noon. They wuz a lot of town folks got mixed in the shuffle sum way. You cud tell 'em easy enuff. They had cut their feed-look.

While I'm on the subject, I want to hand a compliment to the Ladies Aid. I allus had a warm spot for that Meth organization if only for the fact they still hang to the good 'n' name when the ladies of the other churches air all goin' modern and adoptin' uppity names and Home Department an' Service Dept. After all, Ladies Aid is a good enuff name. The's what keeps the church an' most other things goin' - jes' plain Ladies Aid.

Joe Savoldi to Wrestle Feb. 26 at South Bend

Wrestling fans in this vicinity, who have been clamoring to see Joe Savoldi in action will have their wishes fulfilled at the Palais Royale arena on Feb. 26, when the former Notre Dame allback meets a nationally famous grappler in South Bend. Since he took up wrestling, Savoldi has engaged in more than 100 bouts and has suffered but one defeat, Ed 'Strangler' Lewis, claimant to the world's mat title, threw Joe in San Francisco last fall to break a long string of victories. It was Lewis, who taught Savoldi all the tricks of the game so Joe could hardly be expected to beat his tutor.

Thanks Mr. Vite, We've Had Exactly Same Kind Weather

Editor Record, I was thinking you might be interested in hearing from the sunny south. We have enjoyed the warmest winter which Florida has known in many years. Have observed the high point of practically all the days and find that 67 degrees was the lowest and around 90, the highest. The majority of days being between 80 and 90. This is taken on the north side of our house. We have had sunshine every day without exception. The state as a whole is very dry, due to the drought of the past summer which has never been broken. Many of the lakes are slowly getting lower. In the city of Orlando, with a population of around 30,000, we can count 32 lakes (some only partially). Garden truck and vegetables are very low in price. The fruit crop was immense but prices anything but encouraging for the grower. I remain, Merritt H. Vite.

Christian Scientists Hold Washington Celebration Service

A special service was held on Feb. 22 by the Christian Science Society, at Buchanan, as a part of the nation-wide celebration of George Washington bi-centennial. The service included an address on George Washington read by Mrs. Mary Bowers, first reader: 'Among Washington's most firmly formed traits,' said the address, 'were his faith in God and his respect for religion, even for other people's religions. When once extremely ill he calmly said, 'I know that I am in the hands of a good Providence.' And he recovered. To divine Providence, also, he attributed his immunity from injury in battle.' A lesson-sermon prepared especially for this occasion was read by the first and second readers. One of the scriptural passages contained in this lesson-sermon was from Psalm 22:28: 'For the kingdom is the Lord's; and He is the governor among the nations.' A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 106) was as follows: 'God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love.' The solo was 'Mount Vernon Bells' and the reading of the 'scientific statement of being' from the Christian Science textbook 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 106) was as follows: 'God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love.' Mrs. Phil Boone left Sunday by car to spend the rest of the winter at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Hill Climbers to Present Farce at Meth. Family Nite

The Hill Climbers class of the Methodist Sunday school will be in charge of the Family Night program at the Methodist church this evening, presenting a comic play entitled 'Rough on Roberts.' Earl Derflinger takes the title role of Roberts in a stunning feminine ensemble. He is ably supported by a cast composed of Misses Mabel Rivers and Marian Beisel and Russell Woolley. The play has been coached by Mrs. Will Irwin and Miss Ida Ahola. A co-operative supper will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Clell Sult is Studying Control of Fire Blight

Clell Sult, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Sult, is carrying on an experiment at the E. W. Clark orchard on the control of fire blight on fruit trees by means of painting with zinc chloride, which has proved successful in California. Young Sult is co-operating in the experiment with Dr. Cation of the Michigan State College, who is making periodic visits here to check on the work. During the past two weeks he has been isolating the germ of fire blight, preparatory to the treatment. To date no successful means of control has been discovered for Michigan conditions. The fire blight affects apple, pear and quince trees only. Its ravages were marked in the pear orchards last year. A. G. Morse of Chicago, who testified in his own divorce suit that he had to do all the house work, has remarried his former wife. Lawrence Collins of Paulton, Eng. was fined fifty dollars for taking into church a rooster that stopped the service by its crowing.

War Vets, Gold Star Mothers are Honored in Meet

The Methodist church was almost filled Sunday evening with veterans of national wars, Boy Scouts and their allied organizations for the special observance of the George Washington Bi-Centennial which was held there in charge of Rev. Thomas Rice, the speaker of the evening and of A. E. McClure, who was in charge of the music. Special honors were accorded to the two gold star mothers attending, Mrs. Nancy Lyon and Mrs. Frank Eames. The Civil war contingent was represented by John Dick and Sam Bunker. Three veterans of the Spanish-American war were present, John Portz, George Stevenson and John Mitchell. Rev. Rice presented an appropriate address on Washington, Special music was provided by quartet composed of Mrs. E. C. Panko, Miss Edith Eddy, Dr. Kenneth Gamble, R. R. Robinson. Several selections were played by the orchestra from the Portage Prairie Evangelical church, which received commendation from the speaker of the evening. The only orchestra in the state made up of the farm youth and directed by a director in a farm cooperative association. The orchestra made a very pleasing impression. Jesse Boyle, as chairman, introduced Eben Mumford, leading farm economist of Michigan and a member of the faculty of Michigan State College, who spoke on 'The Farm as a Source of Leadership,' as revealed in a survey of a large number of individual farm residents of the state. This study of the Michigan farmer and his farm shows, according to Dr. Mumford, that the best results are secured by the farmers of the larger acreages. On the larger farm units the yields of wheat and corn are twice as great as those on the average sized farm. The yield of corn per acre on the large farm unit is 56 bushels, which is twice the average yield in the state, he asserted. The better class of farmers, he said, show a higher average of education. They evidence a greater co-operative spirit by membership in 48 organizations as compared with membership in 1.7 organizations by the average farmer. They show a greater tendency than the average to work with the county agents and other sources of scientific information than the average. Complimentary Dinner A complimentary dinner was served to the members, their wives and a few guests at the Methodist church at noon. The dinner was prepared and served by the members of the Ladies Aid. The meat was furnished by Paul DeWitt and the potatoes by Fred Koenigshof. At the close of the meeting the (Continued on Page 8).

Sleet Storm Would Check Scale Pest Inspector States

The Buchanan district would be greatly benefited by a sleet storm that would encase the trees for as long as 24 hours and kill the San Jose scale pest, according to beach inspector George Kenney, who was a visitor at the St. Joe Valley meeting here Monday afternoon. The scale was active and widespread last year as were practically all other fruit tree blights, due to the mild winter of 1930-31. The present winter indicates an equal or worse epidemic next year. The scale is effectively checked by a sleet storm which encases the limbs in ice and smothers the pest.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

A Lot Depends on Whose Milk Can Every once in a while we have a story palmed off on us which is related with local names and flavor but which we somehow remember to have heard before of other persons and other localities.

Such a story was told us the other day relative to hoarding. The teller asserted that a farmer living near Buchanan had bargained to buy a farm, paying $16,000 cash. On the day when the bargain was to be consummated, the farmer appeared at the agreed place lugging a milk can. He took off the lid and counted out the contents, which totaled only $12,000. He looked aghast at his wife.

"Why John," she why-Johned, "You brought the wrong milk can." Now, although the teller stoutly asserted he could give the names if he wanted to, the suspicion remains that it was just another story, albeit a good story at that.

More puzzling to us is, just what constitutes hoarding? Wherein does private citizen who withdrew his money from the bank in anticipation of a run differ from a bank that refuses to let out its currency on account of the same fear?

The Greeks had a Word for It A Galien man dropped into the Record office recently and remarked: "I'm not working much this year. In fact, I'm out of a job, and I'm putting in my time studying Greek. I have always wanted to know more about the languages from which English is derived. I don't expect to ever learn to read Greek literature, but I want to learn a lot of vocabulary and get the origin of our own language."

That, it strikes us, is one more way of facing a depression. The study of Greek has come to mean, for most of us, about the last thing in uselessness. How a man could spend his time so impractically when there so many other branches of learning at hand which are socially approved, such as contract bridge or checkers or rum most of us can't understand.

Yet the hobby of this Galien man, has its merits. It is certainly better than useless worry, terminated by a jump in the river. And doubtless, it will aid him to pass away the days of depression, formerly called "panic", to know that the latter word is a genuine Greek term, deriving from Pan, the god of the forest and also of all unreasoning fear. To the Greek, "panic" meant that wild, sudden fear that assails a man lost in the forest that sudden sense of menacing, unknown forces closing in about him which drives him to wild flight, terminating in exhaustion. Many who have ventured into such of the wilds as are left have felt this fear in a measure.

Emily Estella Schram daughter of R. C. A. and Emily Stevens, was born in Boston, Ontario, Canada, March 31, 1865, and departed this life in her home at 216 Sylvan avenue, Monday night at 11:50 o'clock, Feb. 8, 1932, following an illness of six weeks, at the age of 66 years, 10 months and 7 days.

She spent the early years of her life and received her education in Simcoe, Ont. On November 13, 1883, she was united in marriage to Nelson J. Schram, of Simcoe, Ont. To this union four children were born. Mr. and Mrs. Schram resided in Simcoe for several years, and later moved to New Buffalo, Mich., coming to Buchanan sixteen years ago where they have since made their home.

In 1889 Mrs. Schram united with the Baptist church at New Buffalo; and had retained her membership in that organization for forty-two years. Surviving are the husband, one daughter, Mrs. Harry Edwards, of Lakeside, Mich.; three sons, LeRoy R., Michigan City, Enos N., Buchanan, and Russell E., Niles; 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild. One sister, Mrs. Joseph Austin, of New Buffalo, and one brother, Frank A. Stevens, of Browning, Montana, also other relatives and a large circle of friends.

Funeral services were held in the Church of Christ, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Feb. 11th, 1932. Rev. Mark Wall, pastor, officiated and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery. The casket bearers were, Jesse Leggett, Tom Evans, E. H. Murphy,

LOSE TO BERRIEN SPRINGS, TRIM STEVENSVILLE

Springs Solve Buck Defense and Overcome First Quarter Lead.

Berrien Springs defeated Buchanan 23-17 last night on the Springs floor. The Bucks secured a 5-2 lead in the early part of the first period and held it for the duration of the quarter. For the remainder of the game tried to force their way in Berrien's tight defense.

In the small, but very cold ice box that Stevensville calls a gym, the Bucks defeated the strong Cardinal quintet, 14-11, last Wednesday evening.

It was, despite the numbing cold, a rather entertaining night. With all the scribes, scorers and time-keepers donning coats, hats, scarves and anything else they could commander to keep the body heat at a normal temperature.

Question: What do you think you should do to protect fellow students from the cold epidemic going around? If you have a cold, you shouldn't sneeze or cough in anybody's face.

I think the only thing needed is a little common sense and courtesy. If you have a cold, stay home. It will help you as much as anything. At least be careful about sneezing and coughing when you are at school.

Faculty Facts

During the absence of Miss Helen Hanlin, the journalism class had Mrs. Harold Hanlin at the helm, and a mighty able skipper she proved to be, too. Miss Hanlin's absence was due to a very severe cold. She was well enough, though, to remember to call for notebooks, much to the despair of the entire class, who had been mourning the fond possibility that maybe she might have a lapse of memory as far as the notebooks were concerned. Lapses of memory are not included in Miss Hanlin's line, however!

Humorous Poems Added to Library

"A Book of Humorous Poems," has been among the new books acquired for the library. The book is small but approximately fashioned. The introduction explains the reasons for the importance of this small book, because, you see, "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men." The illustrations are all very fine. These poems are taken from many different types and classes of poets.

THE VALUE OF A SCHOOL NURSE By Pauline VanEvery Just what the value of the school nurse is, cannot be realized until one makes a visit. I came to school one week on one of those cold, snowy days with a sore throat. It soon became uncomfortable so I went down to the nurse's office to have her look at it. I waited for a short time until she came. She had been over to the little school house since 8:30. There she had stood at the door and watched the children come in to see whether or not they had rubbers or overshoes. There were ten without either. Three were fitted with rubbers that had been sent to the high school, and the others were given new ones through Mrs. Fydel.

Books and Songs

"Please Don't Talk About Us When We're Gone," Class of '32. "Who's Your Little Hoosier?" Sam Dehno. "Good Night Sweetheart," Sonny Riley. "Happy Days are Here Again," Phil and Alene. "Man in Possession," Mr. Jewell. "Laughing at Life," Lizzy Hess.

Best possible! It still takes the best possible talent to enact the best possible service for the least possible money. CHILDS FUNERAL HOME

For taking the hoarded dollars out of the box and investing them in United States Treasury certificates. These certificates will be ready for sale about March 5, according to information received by Mr. Ewald from Col. Frank Knox, national chairman.

It was a hectic morning in the Dog home. Mr. Dog had just opened the Record and read the notice published by the city treasurer announcing Feb. 29 as positively the last date for payment of dog taxes, $2 for a papa dog and $4 for a mama dog.

Mr. Ewald, president of the Campbell-Ewald Co., state chairman of the anti-hoarding campaign, has organized the entire staff, by cities, to participate in the drive started by President Hoover to get slacker dollars back into the nation's commerce and doing their bit. In this state work of organization, Mr. Ewald has had the assistance of the Detroit Board of Commerce, which is also headquarters of the Detroit committee.
