

CITY HOST TO CO. FEDERATION TODAY

Frank Dillow Loses Life in Crash on Death-Trap Viaduct Sunday

Now Here's the Proposition

WHEN MA'S AWAY
By Haws

When ma goes off, not for to stay, But just down Mishawaka way, To spend perhaps a week or two A-calling on her sister Sue, An' leaves me here at home alone, A kind of goin' on my own.
For two whole days it is sublime An' I sure have the finest time.
I don't try to keep house in style, But just leave things into a pile.
An' fer a time it seems to be free, Just simply sumptuous to be free.
But after that I've allus found It's kind of hard to get around.
An' I start pokin' in the shelves To find out what it is that smells.
An' neighbor women ring the bell An' then I poke my head and say:
"Best not come in, fer ma's away." An' then they kinda hike their skirts
As though they might pick up some dirt,
An' act as if they calculated That they might be contaminated, An' then the last two days or more I sweep an' wash an' scrub an' scour.
Until things look in finest fettle, As good as when she left—er better.
But when she comes back and comes in,
She says that things sure look like sin,
An' runs a finger here and there An' sticks her nose up in the air, An' says she sure will know it when.
She leaves me keepin' house again.

The Big Hoss Race
And now here we are, all ready for the big spring hoss race, with a field of six fast entries in the Commission Free-For-All. We may be bettin' but we ain't sayin' whose nose we're puttin' our money on, and it ain't an easy field to pick from at that. Here's the way they'll line up at the barriers.

Frank, son of Merson. This is a brute who was in the money three years ago and who ought to make 'em step out again.

Doc, son of Beiste. This is stylish colt with a free-and-easy stride that carries him over the ground faster than you'd think.
Watch 'im.

Clarence, son of Spaulding. This is a stout-built hoss, a little short of reach, it may be, and hand-capped if the race is won by a neck, but his backers say that he makes up in leg action what he lacks in length.

Jes, son of Bradley. Here is an other seasoned hoss with a good track record and reach that puts him in the money when noses and necks count.

Lester, son of Lyon. Here is a colt with a world of style and a free-and-easy stride that the rest of us will have to go some to beat.

Frank, son of Imhoff. Here is a hoss with a good strong heart, and guaranteed not to shy at fence posts or to break and scatter. He'll run from start to finish.

Harkrider, Higgins Drawn For Service
April Circuit Court
Charles Higgins and Earl Harkrider were drawn for the jury panel for the April term of the Berrien county circuit court, which opens April 18. The jury will not report, however, until April 25.

DIES TWO HOURS AFTER CRASH ON BRIDGE SUMMIT

Was Accompanying Friends to Dowagiac; Crashes into Car Driven by Clifton Clements.

The death-trap viaduct over the Michigan Central tracks on the Niles-Buchanan road took its long expected toll of life at 8:30 p. m.
Sunday evening, the unfortunate victim of this poorly planned piece of road construction being Frank Dillow, 23, of Buchanan.

Young Dillow had started to Do-wagiac to accompany home Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davis, who had been visiting at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Ruth, on North Portage street. With him was also Lyle Davis, a brother of Leo, and Herschel Ruth, a brother of Mrs.
Davis. Lyle and Leo Davis were in the rumble seat and the others were in front in the single seat of the Ford roadster.

Directly on the top of the viaduct he encountered a car driven by Clifton Clements of Niles. To all appearance neither Clements nor Dillow were aware of the other's approach until the cars emerged on top of the viaduct and to all appearances both attempted to swerve just before they struck.
The machines did not collide head on, but struck sideways. Clement's machine ricocheted at an angle into the side railing and bounced along the north rail until it came to a stop at the west end of the line of posts on the west approach.

Dillow's car swerved almost at right angles and crashed into the south rail of the viaduct, where it was dashed into a worthless mass of wreckage. Garage men who extracted the remnants said that the "wishbone" of the radius rods had caught on the heavy steel pipe in the railing, preventing the machine from going over the side to the tracks 20 feet below.

Leo Davis stated that he and his brother were in the rumble seat with a blanket over their heads. He remembered that just before the crash Dillow had cut his gas off as though slowing for some traffic hazard. When the crash came he was saved by the blanket from serious damage from the small rumble-seat windshield and he extracted himself and rushed to the rescue of the others. He at once saw that Dillow was mortally hurt. Mrs. Davis was unconsciously. Herschel Ruth, who was also in the front, was unhurt but required aid to get free of the wreckage. Lyle Davis, in the rumble seat had incurred a badly fractured arm, of which he was unaware, until he tried to aid Ruth to get out.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Prince, the owner of the property at 202 Grant street, Niles, were the first to arrive at the scene, and they took Dillow and Mrs. Davis in their car and rushed them to the Pawating hospital. There it was found that Dillow had a three-inch skull fracture on the left temple and that the brain had been punctured. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davis were taken to the next morning by a Pawating nurse that life was not entirely extinct in the unfortunate youth until 10:30 p. m., two hours after the accident. It is believed that the fracture was caused by striking the steel brace of the side curtain.

Lyle Davis had the "elbow knob" of his left arm broken off and a piece fractured from the upper arm just above the elbow.
The fracture is a very difficult one to adjust and physicians stated that it would be necessary to insert a peg to set the elbow.
Mrs. Davis was found to be unhurt save for bruises and shock.
She had intended to take her baby with her in the car but at the last moment had arranged to leave it with her mother, Mrs. Ruth.
Clifton Clements of Niles, the driver of the other car, was accompanied by his two brothers, John and Cecil. John Clements received a severe scalp injury.
The two cars, a Ford roadster and a Ford sedan, were total wrecks.

An inquest was held the following morning by Coroner Ruthford of Niles, who came to the conclusion that both drivers were equally to blame.
Dillow came to Buchanan three years ago from Anna, Ill., and secured employment at the Clark Equipment company. He was known as one of the most expert electric welders at the River street plant. The first year he lived at the Markham home and for the past two years at the home of Mrs. Edith Houk. He was a quiet, and unassuming young man well liked by his associates, to whom he was known as "Red." His remains were sent Monday evening to his parents at Anna, Ill.

CITY ELECTION TO BE HELD ON FAST TIME MON.

Mrs. James Barr,
Former Resident,
Dies in Elkhart

A number of Buchanan people attended the funeral of Mrs. Margaret C. Barr held in Elkhart at 2 p. m., Tuesday. Mrs. Barr had formerly lived here, and at her death retained her membership in Bay Leaf Rebekah lodge No. 248.
The local I. O. O. F.-Rebekah hall was draped in crepe for the occasion.

Mrs. Barr was born in Illinois Sept. 13, 1870 and had lived in Elkhart, the past seven years, since leaving Buchanan. She had previously resided in Chicago. She is survived by her husband, James Barr; her father, John Kinsella, of Chicago; her sister, Mrs. Peter Andrews of Kenosha, Wis.

Dayton Woman Reaches Age 89

Mrs. Julius Richter, who passed her 89th birthday on March 16, is believed the oldest resident of Dayton, Mich. She has lived there 36 years. The photograph shows her with her daughter, Mrs. Emma Matthews, right, of near South Bend, and her granddaughter, Miss Mildred Richter, Michigan City.

LOCAL CITIZENS FORM TAXPAYERS LEAGUE WED. EVE

Appoint Committees to Confer with City, School, and County Boards to Reduce Expense Government.

Buchanan Taxpayers League was formed at a mass meeting attended by about 100 citizens in the American Legion hall Wednesday evening, with the general purpose of bringing pressure to bear to reduce tax rates in city, school and county governments.

A plan was adopted for co-operation with the Niles Taxpayers League and similar organizations in a movement to secure reductions in contract prices on the Niles-Buchanan and other roads, where a suspicion of shabby practice in the award of contracts has been raised.
Henry Kingery was chosen as chairman of the organization and Al W. Charles secretary. The following three committees were selected to confer with the city, school and county governments to secure the utmost possible reduction of taxes: schools, H. R. Adams, Ed Mogford, A. H. Hillier; city, Harry Brown, Charles Boyle, David Ellis; county, F. R. Sanders, F. H. Andrews, H. A. Hattenbach.
The meeting was opened with a talk by Atty. Worthington on the purposes of the League, followed by a discussion.

SAM BUNKER IS SURPRISED ON 88TH BIRTHDAY

Came to Buchanan in 1849 and "Grew Up with the Town," Hale and Well.

Eighty-eight years is a long time to wait to be surprised but that was the fortune of Sam Bunker, a long resident of this city, who was pleasantly surprised Tuesday by his niece, Mrs. Naomi Pheil of Niles, accompanied by Mrs. Ed Hahn, Mrs. Chapman and Sol Metzgar, all of that city. They dropped in on Mr. Bunker unannounced, bringing their dinners.

Mr. Bunker was born in Medina county, O., March 29, 1844, and came to Buchanan in 1849, a year after the Michigan Central had been built through to New Buffalo and when Buchanan was about the present size of Gallen. The Bunkers lived on the old Merrill farm now the Hiller and Mathie acres. Andrew C. Day farmed the area covering what is now the south part of town. Oak street ended where the battery shop now stands, and the present Days avenue ended at Central Court, Portage street was the only one leading through to the railroad.

After returning from the war, Bunker railroaded, then worked in the furniture and other factories of the place, among which were the Buchanan Manufacturing Co., the Kough Wagon Works, The Gus Koonz windmill factory, Black & Willard, Spencer and Barnes.
He worked last at the Clark Equipment company, leaving there for an operation about ten years ago.
He now enjoys fairly good health and is on the streets daily.

JOE AND CLEM SAVOLDI FORM WRESTLING FIRM

First Mat Card Staged Friday, April 1, at Niles Elks; Fred Hall in One Bout.

Sport fans of Buchanan, meet the new wrestling firm—Savoldi & Savoldi—Clem and Joe, to be explicit, who are entering mat promotion on a fairly ambitious scale, with show headquarters for the present at the Niles Elks Temple, where Clem will sponsor his first show Friday evening, April 1.
Clem Savoldi is well known in Buchanan by virtue of an excellent athletic record in Buchanan high school. In the new firm he has made a hook-up with his famous brother, Jumpin' Joe, now a headline in the heavyweight wrestling world. He plans to stage weekly mat cards in the Elks Temple for some time.

Friday night's show will be a four-bout affair with Barney Estopo, of Kansas City, former Lithuanian title holder, and Joe Hackenschmidt of Chicago in the feature go. This event will be a two out of three fall affair, with no time limit.

In the semi-final, Suleyman Bay, known as the "Terrible Turk," who is wrestling out of Cleveland, will tackle Ed Young Burns of Kansas in a one fall match with a one-hour time limit. Bay, it is said, has been in this country less than a year and already is considered by many matchmakers as the next world's heavyweight champion.

In the third bout, Fred Hall, well known local grappler and former claimant of the world lightweight title, will attempt a comeback after some time out of the arena. He will meet "The Masked Marvel," an opponent selected for him by Charles "Midget" Fisher, present kingpin of the welterweights. Hall hopes, through success in this bout, to secure a chance to meet Fisher for the world's title.

George Mack of Chicago and Battling Anderson of Milwaukee, two of the best known grapplers in the middle west will meet in a preliminary.

South Berrien Home Ec Clubs Met Here Tues.

One hundred and seventy-five members of the 10 Home Economics clubs of southern Berrien county met at the Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon for a lecture on "How to Keep Well," by Miss Robertta Hersey, state extension specialist. In the morning a meeting was held at the same place by the leaders of the clubs, who heard Miss Hersey give a review of the dietetic work of the past year and also made plans for Achievement Day which will be held at the Community House in Niles, May 3.

Due to the cancellation of a large part of the passenger trains formerly available here over the Michigan Central passenger transportation westward has been extremely inconvenient to those not operating cars, especially to nearby western towns, as the few remaining trains stopping here did not always stop at small stations to the west. Mr. Herring is making a very valuable addition to the transportation facilities in and out of the city and deserves the co-operation of the local public.

Buchanan-3 Oaks Scout Cage Games to be Held Apr. 6

The games between teams representing local Scout troops and those from Three Oaks, which were scheduled to be held here during spring vacation, have been postponed until the evening of April 6. A local Cub Scout team will meet a team from the Niles Cubs the same evening.

Now, You Cows, Do Your Stuff

Now that the grass is getting greener and greener, and the milk pails fuller and fuller, C. J. Wilson is planning to install a bigger churn next week of 750 pounds capacity instead of the mere 440 pound capacity with which the force have been tottling along to date.

County Atty. to Speak on Crime at P.-T. A. Assoc.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a postponed meeting next Monday evening, April 4. County Prosecuting Attorney Wilbur N.
Cunningham of Benton Harbor will speak on "Crime." Supt. Stark will talk on matters of current ad-vocational interest. Marvin Cross will present several piano numbers.
The meeting convenes at 7:30 p. m.

BUCHANAN TO HAVE BENEFIT CHICAGO BUS FACILITIES

L. E. Herring, Former Buchan-anan Man, Starts Bus Line to Mich. City with South Shore Electric Rail
Connections.

Passenger transportation between Buchanan and Chicago and all intermediate points will be greatly facilitated with the establishment by L. E. Herring, former Buchanan man, of a bus-rail inter-line service starting Friday, April 1, which will provide three buses each way daily between Niles and Michigan City, with arrangements for connection with the Chicago South Shore and South Bend electric railway at that point.

The new service will follow M-60 and US-12 between Niles and Michigan City with a side excursion to Buchanan. Buses will leave the Hotel Rex here daily at 6:30 a. m., 10:40 a. m. and 4:40 p. m., for Michigan City, where the passenger will receive a transfer to the South Shore Electric, making the entire journey for the single fare of $4.05 round trip, tickets good for 30 days. Further details as to time of arrival at Chicago and facilities en route are contained in an advertisement on another page of this issue.

The bus will stop at Dayton, Gallien, Three Oaks, New Buffalo, and Grand Beach, en route to Michigan City, and the regular stops on the South Shore will also be available.

The idea of this service is not entirely new. The points have long maintained similar connections between Michigan City and Benton Harbor for some time. I addition to the round trip fare, a one-way passage to Chicago will be available at $2.11.

Herring is well known here, having established the Buchanan-Niles-South Bend bus service in 1921 and making his home here until he sold it, as the few interurban interests in 1924. Since that time he has operated the bus line between Niles and the Michigan Central terminal, in addition to maintaining a chartered bus service for the Niles, Buchanan, Dowagiac and Cassopolis high schools for athletic contests. While in Buchanan he made his home in the Emerson property on North Oak street. His long experience in bus-line operation is a guarantee of reliable service.

Due to the cancellation of a
large part of the passenger trains
formerly available here over the Michigan Central passenger transportation westward has been extremely inconvenient to those not
operating cars, especially to near-
maining trains stopping here did
not always stop at small stations
to the west. Mr. Herring is mak-
co-operation of the local public.

Antiques Found in Demolition of Bremer Building

Bert Dalrymple has purchased the building opposite the junction of Front street and Day avenue, formerly occupied by Harry Rough, and is demolishing it and selling the salvaged timbers. The building belonged to W. D. Bremer formerly of this city and now of Three Oaks, but was condemned and ordered torn down by the state fire marshal. It is understood that several parties have been negotiating for the purchase of the lot on which it stands, with a possible view to erecting a new building. Among the matters of interest found was a hardware journal, date 1903, and a whiskey bottle (empty) also dated 1903.

Wuxtry! Did You Hear How Grand- mother's Bread Fell?

Did you hear about Grandmother's bread falling?

What's that—no, it wasn't the yeast. It was the price we meant.
The Grandmother's bread we are talking about is the brand sold at the A. & P. store, now selling at 4 cents for the pound loaf and 6 cents for the pound and a half loaf. This, as far as we know, constitutes an all-time low for bread of this weight and quality.

Breadmaking in grandmother's day was a long and laborious process requiring much skill and a measure of good luck with the primitive means at hand. Now the quality is uniform, and you not only don't have to bake it, but it comes ready sliced.

Only a few short years back a loaf of this size and quality sold unsliced at 10 cents. Who says that the cost of living is not lower?

"WE TO US"

A poem reviewing Colonel Lindbergh and his activities since his flight to Paris in 1927, is cleverly arranged by Arla Allen Kautenberg, of Sioux City, Iowa, a friend of Marie Dempsey.

They called him a hero, that gallant young man, As like a lone eagle the ocean he spanned.
No fear in his heart when he started the race,
With time and with elements close in his chase.
But bravely he battled, alone through the night, Then safely he landed from his hazardous flight.
He was cheered by the world, and named "King of the Sky."

They called him a Colonel as time quickly sped by.
Then he married Anne Morrow and the world spared his joy When he became "Dad" of a fine baby boy.
No honor bestowed him was greater than this Those two tiny lips and that first baby kiss.
Now he stalks through the woods, with his dog by his side.

His courage near breaking, he carries no pride.
Still silent as ever, this man of the air,
But his face is now haggard with worry and care,
For his dear little son has been stolen at night,
His baby whose smile was his greatest delight.
While his sweetheart, his wife is forsaken and sad,
And she weeps as she thinks of her lost little lad.
She aimlessly wanders through nursery room there, Caressing his bed and his vacant high chair,
And she prays to the God of the universe here That harm may not come to her baby so dear.
The long lonely vigil they keep through the night,
They have only a spark of hope left at daylight.
Not fame or not fortune could e'er take the place Of those two little hands, or that sweet baby face.
While the world looks on waiting, as a few years before, When Lindbergh took off for a far distant shore.
While Anne, like his mother awaits for her son,
And she asks only safety for her little one.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

NEW BUILDING MODES

Old photographs of Buchanan and Niles showing the business sections of those cities as they were in the Straight Eighties and the Naughty Nineties reveal a strange disparity from the present-day aspect in the prevalence of the horse-drawn vehicle and the total absence of the automobile, in the abounding burnside and goatee and the flowing skirt. But in one respect they are strikingly familiar—in the buildings which were hardly modern even then, but which nevertheless continue to dominate the scene. The main buildings still carry the long narrow window and the heavy cornice that marked the architecture of forty and fifty years ago.

What a boon it would have been to these towns if these buildings could have been practically replaced from time to time in accordance with developing needs. The device of the modernized front was a partial—but only a partial—solution for this situation.

But now comes the architectural management of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition of 1933 with the announcement that a new style of temporary building will be there inaugurated. It may well be that another era will begin with the mammoth display now in preparation on the Chicago lake front, just as the Era of the Skyscraper began with the World's Fair of 1893. In the construction of this new, structural type, say the Century of Progress architects, the tools will be screw-drivers and monkey-wrenches and the hammer, trowl and the rivet will be absent. It is estimated that they will be dismantled when the time comes for dismantlement and transferred to new location with a salvage value of thirty per cent.

Harvey Wiley Corbett, a member of the architectural commission in charge of plans for the fair, is quoted as follows in a recent issue of the New York Times:

"A revolution in building methods is coming. The old idea of permanency is losing weight. Suppose I design an office building to last a hundred years—what assurance have I that anyone will want to occupy it thirty years from now? It may be—indeed I think it will be quite likely—that fifteen years from now I will be unable to rent an office without television equipment. In thirty years there will be other necessities that are laboratory novelties now, or perhaps undreamed of.

"We can't afford to build buildings for a hundred years, any more than we can buy a suit of clothes good for twenty or thirty years. I have an old frock coat at home, but I shouldn't think of appearing on the street in it. Out of date, out of style—and so with buildings. They are just the next envelope, the next suit of clothes, and the law of change rules here too. The revolution that is coming in construction methods will provide for the economical removal of a building after it has served its day and generation. When buildings are made of manufactured shapes bolted or locked into position—as these Chicago World's Fair buildings are—this practice of wrecking will disappear from our building code. Building blocks will be interchangeable, and we shall be able to remove an outdated building with speed and economy, and utilize its parts elsewhere with the minimum of loss. Chicago in 1933 will be pointing to the nation and the entire world to that reform."

Mountaineer Sends Version of Hard Times To Montana Paper

Following is a letter from a mountaineer who signs himself as being from "Holler Junction, Tenn.," written to a California paper. His experiences with hard times are not original or unusual but his admissions about same are. The letter states:

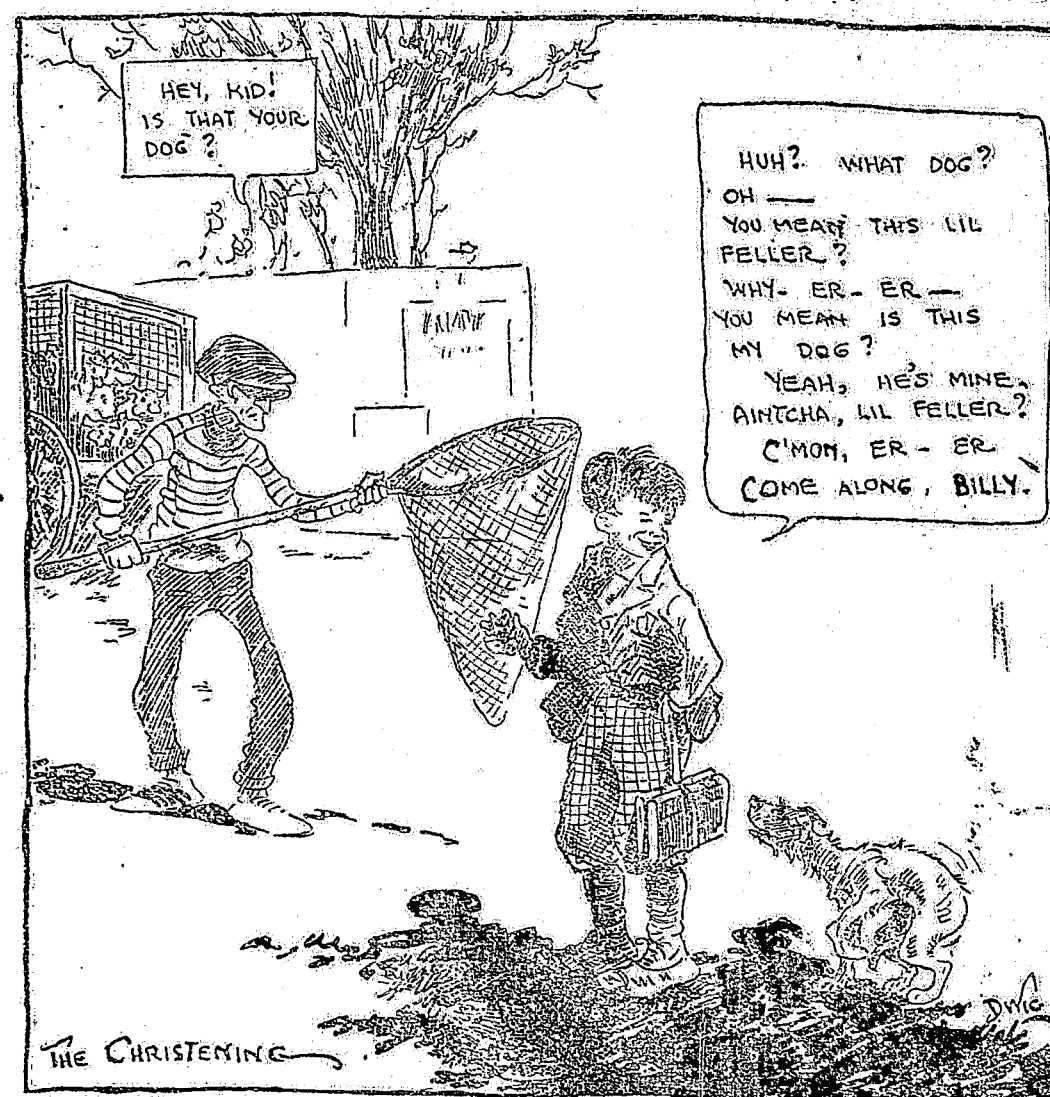

"There seems to be so much talk about our so-called Republican prosperity, I believe 'tis my duty to write my views on the same and help to analyze the situation as far as possible so's we can make up our minds we had other change our ways of living and so forth.
"I have taken my own case for example and I see my mistakes and many others have acted likewise. I bought a car instead of a farm, and it is worn out, but the farm I figured on is still OK. I invested in a radio instead of a cow, and the radio gives static instead of milk.
"I am feeding five nice hounds, which answer to the names of Red, Redwing, Slobber, Jake and Bay Rum, instead of five pigs. I had our piano tuned instead of having the well cleaned out. I spent all my cash in 1929 and traded my future wages for 1930 installments so hard times caught me in bad shape last fall.

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

Reader Sends Story of Summerless Summer and Winterless Winter

The Record is indebted to Jacob Hinton of Buchanan for the following clipping from an old issue of the Morrisons Cove Herald, describing the "summerless summer after a winterless winter" in 1816. Mr. Hinton offers the clipping as a suggestion for what may be a head this summer. The events of the last two weeks have lent color to such a belief. However, the clipping follows:

"Known as the 'year without a summer,' 1816 was, throughout the United States and Europe, the coldest ever experienced by any person then living. There are persons in Northern New York who have been in the habit of keeping diaries for years, and it is from the pages of an old diary begun in 1810 and kept unbroken until 1840 that the following interesting story regarding this year without a summer has been taken, says the Danbury (Conn.) News:

"January was so mild that most persons allowed their fires to go out and did not burn wood except for cooking. There were a few cold days, but they were very few. Most of the time the air was warm and springlike. February was not cold. Some days were colder than any in January, but the weather was about the same. Instead of covering my barn and I loafed in the mountains a week or two instead of being in the pasture fixing it up so's my cow wouldn't get out, but she'd dry and mortgaged to boot for two blankets my wife bought from an agent instead of paying the price. 'I'm on a cash basis now, but I ain't got no cash. I am tike to the end of a rope and the man I am working for is busted on account of nobody would pay him and his cotton won't sell 'cause nobody won't buy cotton clothes—all the gals wear slick silky stockings and silk underwear right here in our cotton patches. I saved up $4 for a rainy day, but it turned dry and I spent the $4 for inner tubes.

"I tried hard to make both ends meet with a turnip patch, but when I got turnips ready to sell everybody else was sellin' turnips for nothing and the market was glutted. I am worried plum to my bone and my wife's folks are comin' over next Tuesday to spend two weeks.

"Write or phone me if you hear of any relief coming from the government down this way. I am willing to be either Democrat or Republican for a few weeks if that will help any."—Billings Gazette.

"It was also dry; very little rain fell. All summer long the wind blew steadily from the north in blasts, laden with snow and ice. Mothers knit socks of double thickness for their children, and made thick mittens. Planting and shivering were done together, and the farmers who worked out their taxes on the country roads wore overcoats and mittens.

"On June 17 there was a heavy fall of snow. A Vermont farmer sent a flock of sheep to pasture on June 16. The morning of the 17th dawned with the thermometer below the freezing point. About 9 o'clock in the morning the owner of the sheep started to look for his flock. Before leaving home he turned to his wife and said, jokingly:

"Better start the neighbors soon; it's the middle of June and I may get lost in the snow."
"An hour after he had left home a terrific snowstorm came up. The snow fell thick and fast, and as there was so much wind, the fleecy masses piled up. Night came and the farmer had not been heard from.
"His wife became frightened and alarmed the neighborhood. All the neighbors joined in the searching party. On the third day they found him. He was lying in a hollow on the side of the
