PERPETUAL EMOTION

BI Haws

In days of spring, so poets sing, While softly croons the turtle, Youth's fancy turns and fondly years For Mae or Maude or Myrtle.

That poet's stuff is mostly bluff And holds more rhyme than reason, For in these days of modern ways Love's not confined to season.

What matters youth or years for-sooth? Till age or hooch shall kill us, While life shall hold none are too od For the romance bacillus.

And dear old souls escape control As long as they can toddle And take their fling in fall or spring As well as later models.

For true love hath, in winter's wrath, No place among the dormants, But bills through fall and spring and all A whole-year-round performance.

Believe it or not but the seniors, 1932 models, are due to throw a first-class show at the high school Friday night when a cast of fourteen of the dramatically gifted will present the farce comedy, "Believe It Or Not", by Charles Caldwell Dobie. The author is one of the most talented and popular of the younger crop of playwrights and short story writers, and the number selected by the local seniors has been widely used.

Although the plot has a note of familiarity, a number of novel and amusing situations are developed, and those who have been privileged to listen to the rehearsals state that the dialogue is unusually witty and even uproarious in spots. The heroine, Harriet Follis, played by Jane Habicht, must be married by the age of 22 to inherit her uncle's money, and the deadline draws near, with no bidders in sight. So as a last desperate device, she resorts to newspaper advertising, with the astounding results always provided by that method of promotion.

Meanwhile, a chum, Nancy Hamilton, played by Pauline Van Every, decides to solve the whole problem by masquerading in male attire as the fiancé of the heroine. Representatives of the health department come looking up a supposed victim of the bubonic plague and detectives intrude following a hot murder clue in which a pair of abandoned trousers provide the evidence. But it won't do to give away everything and you must go and see for yourself.

The play will begin at 8 p. m. fast time. Tickets may be purchased from any senior at 20 and 30 cents, and may be reserved at Portz Food shop for an additional 10 cents.

The cast is: Lead maid—Teresa White. Mrs. Pottle, a sentimental dowager—Charlotte Arnold. Gladys Pottle, Jane Pottle, her caustic daughters—Margaret Koons, Kathryn Portz. HIGHWAY DEPT. FIGHTS TRANSFER TAX TO COUNTIES

Shift of Receipt of Weight and Gas Tax to Counties Will Cause More Unemployment.

By Elton R. Eaton Official Lansing has been spending the present week checking over the work of the special session of the legislature in an effort to find out how much good has been accomplished for the taxpayers of the state so far as a result of the activities of the law making branch of the government.

It is certain that the highway bill, held for days in the house committee, is not going to do all the things many had anticipated. Highway Commissioner Grover Dillman has pointed out emphatically that a very substantial portion of the state so far as a result of the department cannot be diverted to other uses and the department continue to build roads and maintain them.

How to prevent additional unemployment and at the same time bring relief to some of the counties and municipalities of the state is the main question that members of the legislature have been considering. It is known that the transfer of the weight receipts and a portion of the gas tax moneys from the highway department to other purposes will immediately cause a large number of highway department employees and road workers to be thrown out of employment. Highway department officials have not given an estimate of the number that will be deprived of work, but the number will not be small. This is about the only department of the state government that provides a substantial amount of common labor with employment. Members of the house of representatives have been endeavoring to save as much highway work as possible and at the same time use as beneficially as possible the proposed diverted highway funds for the benefit of property owners.

It is the highway bill which has been in the house committee for days that has been responsible for the time marking of the lower branch of the legislature.

In the senate, the budget bill which has for its purpose, a reduction of expenses of various state departments and institutions has been under consideration for nearly two weeks. The senate members have the same purpose as many members of the house, to force a greater reduction of higher-up salaries than a uniform fifteen per cent cut for all would bring about. The senate has had compiled a complete salary list of all state departments and institutions and this list, consisting of many closely (Continued on Page 6)

Benton Harbor Man Enters the Race for Sheriff Nomination

Dr. J. M. "Jimmy" Miller, Benton Harbor business man and veterinary who for the past several years has raced horses at Three Oaks fair, today announced himself as a candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket at the primary in September.

A resident of Berrien county since the age of 12 excepting the time spent in the army during the New Troy war, Dr. Miller is widely known throughout southwestern Michigan as a lover of horses and a breeder of race stock as well as a business man.

"Jimmy" Miller has always been interested in politics and has stood for the best in civic advancement, but never before has been a candidate for office.

His practice takes him into various parts of the county daily, giving him a geographical knowledge, a circle of friends, and a first-hand acquaintance with Berrien problems such as few people attain.

Aggressive yet clean as a sportsman, and with a true sportsman's sense of justice and charity, Dr. Miller has an intimate knowledge of Berrien county affairs which will qualify him remarkably for the office of sheriff, his friends believe.

Dr. Miller's family is one of the staunch old Democratic families in the county. His father, J. J. Miller, who to all his life has upheld the Jeffersonian banner, has served Benton Harbor as alderman, president of the board of trade and mayor.

The younger Miller has lived in Berrien Springs and has had a large veterinary practice around Buchanan, Three Oaks and Galien. He has taken time from his busy business affairs to get back to the soil himself and has a farm of his own in Benton township just outside the Benton Harbor city limits.

"Jimmy" Miller, who is a member of the American Legion, Elks and other organizations, is determined to wage a hard but fair fight to win the sheriffship, if elected by Berrien's voters, Dr. Miller will devote his entire time and ability to giving the county an efficient and business-like administration, he declares.

Chick and Egg Show Planned at College

Plans have been completed to have the egg show and the chick show scheduled annually at Michigan State College on the same dates and the combined shows are scheduled for May 17, 18, 19, 20.

Winners at the chick show are the pick of the 40,000,000 chicks which are annually hatched in Michigan and sold to farmers of this and many other states. Zeeland, which might be called the capital of the hatchery world, shipped 15,000,000 chicks last year. There are 66 hatcheries located within 10 miles of Zeeland.

Last year's show drew 73 entries which came from 12 states and one Canadian province. Chicks were shipped to that show from Bozeman, Montana, and arrive in first class condition. One of the requirements for entry in the show is that the birds be shipped, so those in charge of the exhibition can tell whether the birds possess enough vitality to make them good shipping risks.

The chick show provides regular classes for 20 breeds of chickens, turkeys, and ducks and usually the newest type of hatchery stock, pheasants, are included in the exhibits. All chicks will be sold at auction on the last day of the show.

The egg show is held to show both the poultrymen and the visitors to the show what qualities are needed to make a first grade exhibit of eggs. First place winners must be of a quality which would command a premium on the market.

The show will be held in Demonstration Hall and entries may be made by any hatcheryman or poultry raiser.

Buchanan School Holds Eight of Fifteen Records of Former Meets.

The county track meet, with all Class C and D schools competing, will be held at Niles this Friday, under the direction of Coach Davidson at Plym Park, with officials from all schools.

This meet will be arranged by the superintendent's association. Eight schools were entered last year and probably eight or nine this year, due to the entrance of parochial schools.

Buchanan has won this meet every year for four years, and stands a good chance this Friday. Of the fifteen events Buchanan holds 8 records. ### High School and Grade Play Days Scheduled in May

Although no definite decisions have been made, it is believed that there will be a girls' play with Niles about the latter part of May. This play day will include baseball and track events and will probably be held in Plym Park, Niles.

The grades, not to be outdone by the high school, are not going to miss out on anything, and will have a play day of their own. The date is rather indefinite at present, but the place will be back of the school. This play day, which was tried out in the grades for the first time last year, was so successful that depression or no, there just had to be another this year.

G. A. A. Shows Burst of Speed

Every once in a while the G. A. A. gets sudden bursts of enthusiasm and then you just can't stop 'em! Last week marked one of these epochal events!

Thursday they very capably sponsored a pep meeting for the two students, Otis Flenar and Phil Hanlin, who represent old E. H. S. in the District Declamation and Oration Contest held at Paw Paw.

Tuesday they went to the sand hills for a hike and Weiner roast (one of these bring your own food affairs) and to vary a cut and dried expression, had a darn good time.

At the present writing they're participating in baseball games, track meets (and by the by, there is a track meet May 18, among the four upper classes) and tennis tournaments. They were all set for a peppy initiation of new members but this certain species being scarce this time of year, they must needs be content with looking forward till members are in season again.

Reporting Inquirer

How do you plan to spend your vacation? "As to how I expect to spend my summer vacation I'm yet undecided, but I suppose I will either work around home or work on some farm. I will do my share of swimming because that is my favorite summer sport."

Howard Donley. "I intend to spend my summer vacation choosing the least amount of work and the most amount of play possible."

Ruth Cripe. "I intend to spend my leisure hours this summer in fishing, sleeping, and hoping the depression will end soon. I'm not taken up by these occupations, I'd like to spend my time doing nothing."

Tom Zerbe. "I plan to spend my summer vacation reading books, sewing, and visiting relatives."

Rose Bachman. "I suppose I'll stay home and 'monkey' around as usual."

Margaret Hamilton.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

Manual Training Class Turns Out Well-Modeled Pieces of Furniture.

The physics classes have just started the study of light, and certainly hope there is a lot more light on the subject than they see now.

If you want to know what a real chemist is up against, just ask some of the juniors. They spent Wednesday and Thursday trying to name the substances that Mr. Moore gave them. It's such a job that some of them, evidently, have not found out yet what it means. Of course, everybody got a different sample.

Mathematics. In mathematics, the algebra students are starting linear equations containing two unknowns and the geometry classes are well into variables and constants, preparatory to finding the value of Pi.

Surveying, as applied to oblique angle triangles, is the last thing to be taken up by the trigonometry students.

Quite a few very nice projects have been turned out during the past week in shop. Among the most outstanding of which are hall trees made by Lewis Paul and Ben Franklin, a typewriter table by Otis Flenar, sewing rack by Gordon Goehring, sewing cabinets by Ross Shetterley and Dee Weaver, wardrobe by Harleigh Riley, a number of checkerboards and about a dozen ball bats.

A number of other projects are nearing completion and some of these are well done.

English Department. "The Tale of Two Cities," by Dickens was started by the senior English class. The story is being analyzed by chapters. Students are being graded on their ability to read orally in class.

Correct use and history of words are being studied for the improvement of vocabulary in the freshman English classes. Also their last book reports were handed in last week.

Study of famous nature poems has been the work of the seventh grade English classes. Along with this they have learned Joyce Kilmer's famous poem entitled "Trees," and Wordsworth's "To a Daffodil."

The eighth graders have been working on tense and conjugation of verbs. The method of spelling in these grades has been changed. Words are now being dictated in sentence form. This method will be used the remainder of the year. Last week's record showed thirteen one hundreds in the seventh grade and sixteen in the eighth grade.

Journalism. Reporting of musical events was the chief study of the journalism class last week. Along with this the students had practice in writing head lines according to units.

Information. When a pet rat clicks its teeth it is showing contentment, like a purring cat, according to two scientists of the Wistar Institute.

Editorial

By Thomas Quirk

In the last sixty years the American college and university has undergone a great change in its structure, its methods of education, and especially in the type of training or education which is offered.

Many criticize our present institutions of higher learning because these sources of culture have deviated from their original purpose which was to round out fully the individual in a cultural and intellectual way.

Our present day institutions have taken it upon themselves to become a training and an educating ground for our business men and women to specialize in courses that are more of the business college type, than of the type which gives the full rounded education that was given before the days of specialization.

WHAT COLLEGE TO CHOOSE. By Mary Louise Beardsley. Now, there are so many colleges in the country that the student has to use some judgment in choosing the one that he wishes to attend. He should find the right one for his purpose.

The difference in the prices of colleges is what influences many persons. For instance, if a university cannot be afforded, a small college will do. There will probably not be as many social events, but the schooling will be as good.

There are several points to consider. In the first place, if he wants to specialize in some certain subject such as engineering or chemistry, a college can be found that makes a specialty of that subject. Then take the college that can be best afforded.

It is good for any student to go to college, but if it were to be chosen for the rest of the family financially, and the business being taken up does not demand a college education, it may be better to go directly into business.

Poor Potatoes

Grow From Diseased Seed

The selection of high grade seed potatoes and an inexpensive treatment of this seed will control several of the most important of Michigan potato diseases and will aid farmers in this state to produce the grade of table stock which consumers demand and for which they are willing to pay top market prices, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Potato scab, black scurf, and black leg can be controlled by treating scab potatoes with a solution of formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate. Rustium will can be reduced to a minimum by discarding the seed piece cut from the butt end of the potato. Tubers which show brown stains in the flesh should be discarded unless the grower is certain this discoloration is not caused by wilt or other disease.

Another group of potato diseases can be controlled by the use of seed from selected stock. Seed stock of this sort is produced by growers who can distinguish plants affected with mosaic or other disease of that type and who remove from their seed-plots all diseased plants before they produce tubers which may become mixed with the crop when harvested.

Any grower of potatoes can easily and cheaply treat his seed potatoes with formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate. County agricultural agents will visit any farmer and give detailed directions for this treatment. A special bulletin, published by Michigan State College, gives complete information on all potato diseases and control methods. This bulletin will be mailed to anyone who requests it from the bulletin clerk at East Lansing.

Elec. Refrigeration Industry Amounts To $400,000,000

Detroit as the center of the electric refrigerator industry of the country is destined to benefit greatly from the demand for refrigeration installations likely to develop through the almost complete failure of the natural ice crop this winter, according to Louis Rutherford, president of one of the large refrigerator manufacturing concerns, and chairman of the Refrigeration Division of the Electrical Manufacturers' Association. This situation has been brought about by the mildest winter in United States weather history.

Only one winter compares with the present one, and that was the winter of 1890 when the greatest shortage of natural ice had occurred up to the present time," said Mr. Rutherford.

"There is another significance which this fact has for the present industrial development of Detroit. For more than 60 years previous to the ice shortage of 1890, the manufacture of artificial ice had made no progress and had practically come to a standstill. The shortage of natural ice forced people to turn to artificial ice.

"During the past three years electric refrigeration has led all industries in growth. This public acceptance of a new type of refrigeration comes at a time when we have another epoch-making ice shortage. This shortage will not only add to the business of artificial ice plants, but it will mean a tremendous increase in the use of electric refrigeration in homes and business places such as groceries and meat markets, restaurants, hotels, clubs, etc.

"Also, for the first time in the history of refrigeration, farmers, dairymen, country stores, hotels, clubs, resorts, ranches, etc., beyond the electric power lines may have mechanical refrigeration to make up for the ice famine existing through the United States. This has been made possible by the introduction of refrigeration equipment powered by a small gasoline engine in place of the electric motor. This equipment is so designed that an electric motor can be installed at any time electric current becomes available.

"As a result of the universal shortage of ice and the fact that practically no ice has been put up for summer use, a great burden will be placed on manufacturers of electric refrigeration equipment. Electric refrigerators are made in other states, but the Detroit area is the home of four manufacturing establishments making electric refrigeration equipment. In addition there are large manufacturers producing parts and materials used in the manufacture of electric refrigeration units. In the state a large quantity of refrigerator cabinets and refrigerator display cases are manufactured for use not only of Michigan manufacturers, but for makers of refrigeration equipment elsewhere.

"Complete figures for 1931 are not yet available, but from figures that have been compiled it is possible that the value of electric refrigeration equipment and parts produced in the United States amount to something between 400 and 500 million dollars.

"Business recovery from most previous depressions has been brought about by the development of a new product which filled an important popular demand. Electric refrigeration, which has led the way to a return of business recovery for the past three years, now looms more important than ever as the leader of improved business conditions. This would be true in the supplying of already established refrigeration requirements, such as cooling food, drink, preserving foodstuffs; but in 1931 an entire new field for cooling operations was opened up, that of air cooling and conditioning.

"With railway passenger cars being provided with air cooling equipment, as well as homes, offices, restaurants, clubs, etc., it is obvious that we are only at the threshold of many uses of cooling equipment that will be developed within the next few years.

"Not only will the growth of mechanical refrigeration equipment be a major contribution to our industrial wealth, but the many lines of business which will be developed as a result of improved refrigeration equipment will open up a wholly new era of commercial development. Already the progress along these lines would make a long story."

They took him, saying: "You are a doctor, and if you did not do this particular poisoning, you have, no doubt, poisoned others; you are, therefore worthy of death."
