THE REASON

When the statesmen smite their chests Found the buttons from their vests And thunder till they jar the stateshouse dome. They're not talking as they think They're not talking as they drink They are talking for the folks back home.

When a statesman up and votes You had better make a note When he casts his sacred ballot with a vim, He's not voting as he drinks, He's not voting as he thinks He is voting for the folks who vote for him.

LOWELL WILLIAMS, FORMER BUCHANAN BOY, FATALLY HURT

Run Down by Truck Friday While Walking Along Highway near Stilesville, Ind.; Died Soon After.

Lowell E. Williams, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Williams, former residents of Buchanan, was fatally injured about eight o'clock Friday morning, dying a few minutes later, when struck by a truck near Stilesville, Ind.

The family, including the father and mother, Lowell and Robert, enroute to Arkansas to spend the winter, had stopped at a tourist camp south of Indianapolis for the night. The next morning, when about to resume their journey, a wreck was noticed a short distance down the road and Mr. Williams took the two boys and proceeded to walk to the scene. Before they reached the accident truck, driven by Chester Ruark, of Fillmore, Ind., crashed into the boys, running over Lowell, causing fatal injuries and knocking Robert to the ground with a severe flesh injury on one leg. The latter is expected to recover in about ten days.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 at Granger, Ind., Rev. Shanyfelt, pastor of the Evangelical church of that city, officiating. Burial was in Salem cemetery near Granger.

The Williams family lived in Buchanan before moving to Three Oaks last May, residing at 506 N. Portage.

CHARLES TREAT, LOCAL PIONEER, PASSED AWAY SUN.

Built 4 Store Buildings, 25 Homes; Developed Two Additions; Grocer Here 32 Years.

Charles E. Treat, 73, pioneer merchant and realtor of this city, passed away at his home, 112 Charles Court, Sunday evening, following an acute illness of three weeks.

He was very closely identified with the development of Buchanan for more than fifty years. The story of his life has been written by a friend of the family for this paper, as follows: Treat, son of George R. and Theoda Cooper Treat, was born in Buchanan May 6, 1854. His whole life was spent here with the exception of eight years in California. He returned here in May 1931, to attend to his real estate interests.

He was married Nov. 26, 1882 to Ellen Adell Alexander, in the old Advent Christian church on S. Oak street. To this union one daughter was born, Mrs. Theoda McLaughlin, who with the son-in-law, C. Dixon McLaughlin, have so tenderly cared for their father in his last illness.

Mr. Treat was in the grocery business here for 32 years and in the real estate business 14 years. He was a man who had the welfare of Buchanan at heart and did a great deal in promoting building interests here.

The name of Charles Treat stood for the sterling qualities of a well-ordered life; honesty and integrity being manifest in all his dealings with his fellowmen and will be missed in many ways by those who knew him best.

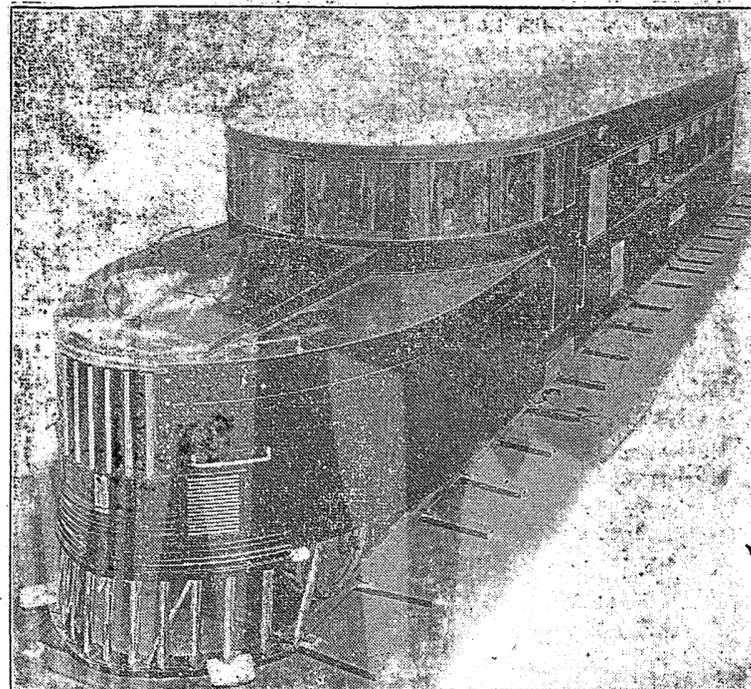

He was a member of the school board for nine years. Served as city assessor for two terms and was also a former councilman of the village. In the late seventies he was school commissioner of Bertrand township.

Mr. Treat organized a subdivision to Buchanan, Treat & Howe Addition, north of the city, and the development of Charles and Theoda Courts, named for himself and daughter.

He also purchased the Chambers property where the hospital now stands planning to subdivide it in building lots, but sold it to the Clark Equipment Co. Through his efforts twenty-five homes were built and sold through the local Building & Loan Association.

He also rebuilt a new four story business block, Dows Ave. to replace the two story office and business block which was destroyed by fire several years ago. He has been a member of the (Continued on Page 3)

MARJORY MILLER DIED WEDNESDAY OF DIPHTHERIA

Had Apparently Recovered from Disease, But Died of Heart Collapse Following.

Marjory Miller, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Miller, died suddenly at her home two miles east of Buchanan, the cause of death being a heart complication which ensued after an apparent recovery from an attack of diphtheria.

The little girl was a pupil at the Thompson school on the Niles road, and contracted the malady during the epidemic there a few weeks ago. She had been ill almost three weeks and was to all appearances, convalescent, her throat having cleared. On Wednesday morning of last week she was in good spirits, but shortly after noon symptoms of collapse appeared. The family physician was summoned and diagnosed the case as a post-diphtheritic paralysis. She died about 6 p. m.

Son of Franklane Sewall Loses Eye In Car Accident

Ralph Sewall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklane L. Sewall, formerly of Buchanan, suffered the loss of his right eye recently in a peculiar motor accident in Arizona. Sewall, who is an electrician, had driven 300 miles from his home in Phoenix. On his return his car slipped from a mountain road and went over a high bank into the canyon, a limb of a tree piercing his eye. He managed to crawl to a nearby camp and from there he was taken to a Phoenix hospital, where it was necessary to perform a delicate operation to remove splinters which had pierced the eye socket almost to the brain. For a time his condition was critical, but he is now reported to be improving.

His father, Franklane Sewall, lived in Buchanan many years gaining a national reputation as a painter of poultry pictures. He built the residence on Fourth St., now occupied by Mrs. Emma Hayes for studio purposes.

New Device Demonstrated Before News Reel Makers at Battle Creek During the Past Week.

Wide interest was aroused during the past week by the demonstration by the Clark Equipment Company at its Battle Creek plant of a new motor-driven, torpedo-shaped aluminum railway car, designed and developed by the engineering staff of the organization and produced by its plants at Battle Creek, Buchanan, Berrien Springs and Jackson.

The new product is termed the "AutoTram" and is 60 feet long, seats 42 passengers, and is capable of operating on fast schedules over the standard railroads. The body is stream-lined, with a rounded front and a wedge-like rear end, designed to reduce the wind resistance to a minimum. Visitors from Buchanan who witnessed the demonstrations during the past week stated that the president, E. B. Clark, stood within a few feet of the car as it passed at the rate of 45 miles an hour, and stated that he scarcely felt any suction from it. Bits of paper along the track were not carried in its wake, as is the rule with standard rail cars.

Local officials stated in answer to the query as to where the new product would be manufactured in the event that a considerable output should be sold, replied that the various parts would be made in the different plants of the company, distributed roughly as follows: body at Battle Creek, gears at Jackson, transmission at Berrien Springs, axles and at least part of the wheels at Buchanan.

The original idea for the AutoTram was that of President Eugene E. Clark, but the details were worked out by the engineering staff of Battle Creek, with the collaboration of the engineers of all the plants.

"That the railroads are in a critical condition is indisputable," said Eugene E. Clark, president of the company, in announcing the car. "That they must introduce some changes to make their operation successful in the future is generally accepted as a fact. That their continued success is necessary to the welfare of the country is also a generally accepted fact. Adequate transportation always has been and still is necessary to the welfare of this country. The railroads have been our most important transportation agency and must continue so. They suffer now by the general economic conditions that affect all industry and in addition to that, they are constrained by numerous regulations and restrictions, many of which are onerous."

"On the other hand, the railroad industry is practically the only one which has not reduced its charges to meet the economic conditions that exist today. It seems reasonable to believe that they must reduce their charges in order to attract new business and to recover business that has been lost to other transportation agencies. So far as this relatively short haul passenger business is concerned, it is entirely reasonable to believe that the railroads can adopt transportation units which will permit faster, more frequent and less costly service."

The body is of aluminum. This metal is favored not only by reason of its light weight but because of its high strength per pound of weight and its capacity to absorb stresses and strains. A massive but light aluminum alloy center beam forms the backbone of the frame. Structural aluminum members developed for use in dirigibles form the body; sheathing and interior finish are of heat-treated alloy aluminum plates; the vehicle thus has the strength of steel with its weight relatively light. Streamlining has been followed throughout. Not only has the contour of the body been designed to reduce wind resistance to a minimum, but aeroplane practice has been followed to the extent that all exposed struts and guards have been made of the shape which is conducive to a minimum wind resistance.

Safety glass in double windows insulate passengers from variable weather conditions. Windows are permanent and fixed. The entire passenger compartment is insulated and sealed against heat, cold, dust and noise. Ventilation is by means of a special air conditioning system which changes the air every three minutes. Temperature is automatically maintained by hot water radiator before entering air conditioning plant. The inside of the body is of the approximate dimensions of a (Continued on Page 2)

WINTER TAXES BECOME PAYABLE ON DECEMBER 10

Collections Declined 17 Pct. Last Winter, on Account Bank Failures; Levy is Down Almost 30 Pct.

The melancholy days of winter taxpaying will arrive Saturday, and the city hall will be fairly lousy with city and township tax collectors on the opening day, according to notices carried elsewhere in this issue.

Among those who will keep hours at the local city hall for tax collection are Mrs. Ada Dacy-Sanders, for the city of Buchanan, Miss Virginia Hess for Buchanan Township, John C. Redden for Bertrand Township.

The percentage of collection is a question of much conjecture now, especially by those interested in the administration of local government and schools. The percentage of winter tax collection for the preceding three years was: 1929, 94 1/2 pct; 1930, 95 pct; 1931, 78 pct. The drop in 1931 is explainable from the fact that both local banks had closed shortly before the taxes came due, tying up the funds of the taxpayers. The percentage of collection of the 1932 summer taxes was 81 1-3 per cent.

Material aid in maintaining the percentage or bettering it is afforded by the sharp reduction in the rate, the levy for this winter being $23.23, as compared with $33.69 for 1931. This is the first decisive drop in county and state taxes experienced here in many years.

Clark Equip. Co. Builds Auto Tram

(Continued from Page 1) standard railroad car. Seats may be installed of any desired type but if the usual seating arrangement is followed, there is a capacity for 42 passengers. The floor of the car is three feet above the rails, this being about fifteen inches less than the floor of a standard railroad passenger car. The overall height of the "Auto-Tram" is approximately ten feet eight inches, which is thirty-eight inches less than the overall height of a railroad car. The total weight, empty, is 36,000 lbs. and loaded to capacity 82,000 lbs. This is approximately one-quarter the weight of a modern steel railroad coach. The "Auto-Tram" is powered with a 16 cylinder gasoline engine, tractive effort is communicated to the wheels through a series of specially designed clutches, transmissions and axles. The power plant is located in the front end of the vehicle as is the case with the regular highway automobile and aeroplane. Back of the power plant is a liberal sized engineer's cab and behind that the entrance passage-way and the toilet rooms. This gives approximately 15 feet of isolated space between the engine and the nearest passenger, an arrangement by which all noise and vibrations of the power plant are absorbed before reaching the passengers. Low hung design and aluminum construction give the "Auto-Tram" an exceptionally low center of gravity, tending to promote comfort and safety of passengers by reducing side-sway. Being self-propelled, the vehicle needs no locomotive nor tender and the total weight per passenger is extremely low. The body is supported on two trucks after the fashion of the standard railroad vehicle and in this respect differs entirely from the ordinary automobile chassis. The trucks are of radically different design from those of the ordinary railroad vehicle but the method of mounting the body on the trucks is similar to railroad practice. Trucks swivel in rounding curves as do the trucks on railroad cars. Tractive effort is applied only to the front trucks, so the vehicle from an automotive point of view is what is known as "front wheel drive." The first "Auto-Tram" will go into service on the Michigan Central and New York Central lines where it will undergo extensive tests.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

WHAT DO THE FARMERS THINK ABOUT THIS? For several years the writer has held membership in a grange organization in the Buchanan district, and has been a guest at a number of other similar organizations. Attendance at these grange meetings has always been among the pleasant experiences of our residence here. Perhaps we're funny that way, but—take it or leave it—they are the facts. We have always had a special liking and respect for the people who make up the membership of these farmer organizations. When we first looked over one of the meetings, we said: "Here's the good old unadulterated American stock that has made this country what it is. People like this are the heart of America."

Nothing in our later association with these people has obliged us to change that opinion. The granges are organized to promote the interests of the farmer as an integral part of the nation, but both in their ritual and their practice they have always had an eye first to the larger good of the whole people. They have stood for farm interests, but they have tried to be fair. And with that in view, we've wondered what these farm people think of the proposal of Congressman-Elect George Foulkes, when he announces, according to direct quotations in the county dailies, that he will not make any appointment unless the appointee is a farmer or has the backing of farm organizations.

We have some Buchanan farmers in mind, of whose judgment we have always had a high opinion, and we can imagine about what they would say. We believe that they would agree with us that such a statement is raising the interest of class against class with a vengeance. No doubt every appointment might be filled satisfactorily without going outside the ranks of the farmers—and yet is that a fair basis for qualification? Why not appoint the best-qualified men available, without regard to profession? If the appointment to be filled should require some special clerical ability, why not appoint a man from a clerical profession who would appear to be best qualified, rather than appoint a man from another profession for political purposes and then educate him at the expense of the taxpayers? But then, let's see—just what appointments does a congressman make anyway? Perhaps George is merely indulging in a little vocal generosity to the farmers that doesn't mean a thing.

STATE SALES TAX MOST PRACTICABLE METHOD OF RELIEF FROM PROPERTY TAX BURDENS, SAYS NOTED MICH. ECONOMIST

Move for Tax Limitation Due to Breakdown of Property Tax, He Asserts.

The sales tax is the most practicable method of relieving the burden on the real estate owner, in the opinion of Dr. David Friday, noted economist and former president of Michigan State College, who took that position in an address before the high school principals of the state held at Lansing Thursday. Dr. Friday attributed the movement for tax limitation to the breakdown of the property tax. He stated that the maximum allowance by the amendment would reduce property levies to less than $100,000,000 or $164,000,000 less than the levies of 1929, and $166,000,000 below the levies of 1930. It would leave the educational system of Michigan in "a state of ruin," he stated. Although some new methods of taxation would be tried, he stated.

Introductory thought: After man has learned the prayer of surrender, the Bible clearly indicates that there are heights beyond his association with God that he has little dreamed of. These mountain peaks of experience lie in the field of intercessory prayer. The Lord's prayer, of surrender becomes a kind of vestibule, as it were. The main room where God wishes His children to live is the glorious experience of taking part with Christ in the work of intercession and redemption. Having fully surrendered to God's plan for us, we are now in a position to be instruments of righteousness in His hand to bring the glad tidings to others.

W. C. T. U. Notes—George W. Norman, San Diego, Calif., in mildly ironical vein deals with the expected results of liquor.

Editor National Enquirer, Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Arthur Brisbane's column, "TODAY," under the date of Nov. 10, contains the following paragraph:

"In October about 105,000 telephons were taken out of service in the United States, 90,000 were discontinued in September; 201,000 in August. Strange that so many should relinquish the three things that are, practically, most important in the way of modern convenience, automobile, radio and telephone."

Nothing Strange—Now my dear Mr. Brisbane, there is nothing strange about that. The people whose action excites your comment are simply cutting out all unnecessary expense so they can save their money to buy beer and help make better times. When beer comes back, as it will now, it is going to take a lot of drinking to produce that revenue of $700,000,000 (or was it seven billion?) which Mr. Roosevelt promises we will derive from it, and it behooves us loyal drinkers who expect to have a part in it to begin to save our money now, otherwise we may not be able to pay for our drinks without taking the money from our women and children.

Other Sources—Of course if our wives and kiddies have to furnish the money to satisfy our thirst, they will do so, as they used to do in days gone by, but the better way is to begin to economize now by cutting out our automobiles and radios and telephons, and then if we have to economize on something else, later on, we and our obedient dependents God bless them, will have become so accustomed to the econ-

Christian Science Churches—"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Dec. 11.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 Cor. 10:1): "Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 566): "As the children of Israel were guided triumphantly through the Red Sea, the dark ebbing and flowing tides of human fear—as they were led through the wilderness, walking wearily through the great desert of human hopes, and anticipating the promised joy—shall the spiritual idea guide all right desires in their passage from sense to Soul, from a material sense of existence to the spiritual, up to the glory prepared for them who love God."

Word's Many Applications—The English hunter pursues, with the aid of trained hounds, the adult male of the red deer, a European species. But the word "stag" has many more applications than that, according to Webster's new international dictionary, being not only the name of males of other species of deer, but of other animals, including man as well. "Stag" is probably of Scandinavian origin; it has been in the English language for many centuries.

omy plan that we can dispense with our Sunday clothes and hats and shoes and other luxuries and necessities and learn to swallow our pride while we are swallowing our beer and making our voluntary contribution to Uncle Sam and his nephews and the benevolent boys who are suffering from their excess income tax.

An Object Lesson—If our drinking does not help the people who sell automobiles and radios and groceries and wearing apparel, we can show them how it helps us, and then if they have good sense and good luck they can sell out their business and join us in our drinking, knowing that the more drinkers we have the sooner we will raise that revenue and dispel the gloom and make better times, and the sooner everybody will be prosperous and happy and feeling fine.

Think Again—Mr. Brisbane, before you take out our telephons and relinquishing our claim to all the good things of life, except beer, in order that we may accumulate a fund to drink ourselves rich when beer comes back and happy days are here again. Please bear in mind that we and our pinched families are the true patriots upon whom the balancing of Uncle Sam's budget depends. If you do not believe me, ask our President-elect, who is well acquainted with us and our problems and has pledged himself to come to our immediate relief as soon as he takes his office. If he was knocking on wood I did not hear him, and I do not suppose you did, otherwise you would have told us.

May Blame Themselves—All who are not happy and prosperous when beer comes back, will have only themselves to blame if they do not follow our example and cut out the non-essentials and spend their money for all the good old amber and foam that their bellies will hold. The more we spend for this long-lost, prime essential, the better we will feel and the sooner we will see the return of prosperity, with business booming in every line, on every hand. Not only that, it will make our boys and girls quit drinking, promote true temperance, and create a truly moral condition in our land that will be hard to beat.

Give us beer; you can buy bread at the baker's. Yours for beer and prosperity. George W. Norman.

NATIONAL TEA CO. STORES CELEBRATE ONE-THIRD CENTURY OF PROGRESS

"World's Fair Food Store" is the Latest Achievement in Food Retailing

Just as Chicago's 1933 World's Fair marks a Century of Progress of mankind's development, just so does the National Tea Co.'s 33rd anniversary mark a third of a Century of Progress in the economical distribution of foods to the people of the Middle West.

First Store Opened 1899—On December 8th, 33 years ago, the first National Tea Co. store was established at 1323 Belmont Ave., in Chicago. Mr. George Rasmussen, the owner and founder of this store had a great vision: the establishment of numerous food outlets direct from farmer or manufacturer to the consumer. Today, on the 33rd anniversary, you will find stores of this great food distributing organization in eight states where thousands of families profit daily as a result of the fulfillment of this man's dream.

The organization of chain stores dates back hundreds of years. Several centuries ago a chain of importing houses was started in Japan and this same house still flourishes today. In this country we have excellent examples of chains that were started with the arrival of the colonists. The great India Trading Co. had many branch trading posts scattered along the frontier. Another company is the Hudson Bay Trading Co. which is in existence today.

Chain Stores Fill Need—Thus the chain store idea has survived the years until today the chain is of vast importance, in fact, an essential agency for the distribution of the necessities of life.

Why has the chain been so successful through all these years? Simply because the most people are benefited by this method of distribution. Impartial leaders and unbiased scholars in all fields, substantiated by authentic fact finding research, acknowledge the valuable service rendered by chain store organizations such as the National Tea Co.

National Helps Communities—A number of university professors have recently made an exhaustive survey of food prices and report that the chain store definitely leaves the housewife an important percentage of her daily purchases. This saving remains with the consumer in each community to do with what she will and when spent creates additional business for other merchants.

There are many other important ways in which an organization such as the National Tea Co. distinctly benefits the community. In the November issue of a national periodical, one of the company's officials describes National Tea Co.'s expansion and development program. The remarkable thing about this program was that despite the nation wide adversity, it has been carried through vigorously and with enthusiasm. The keynote of this company has been progress. As evidence of this fact, the National Tea Co. has remodeled, rebuilt and opened over 250 stores. This was all accomplished during the last three lean years when unemployment has been on the rise, building and construction virtually at a standstill and expansion programs almost non-existent.

Employment Increased—An example of National Tea Co.'s unwavering progress is to be found in the many communities throughout the eight states where this large chain has stores. Here you will see brand new stores, sparkling and shining, inviting the housewife's attention, or you will find a remodeled store where a new meat department has been installed or other changes made in the store. All this activity required the employment of tradesmen who, in many cases, would not have had work otherwise. In addition, equipment and fixtures were purchased from factories which were feeling the effects of the depression. This business helped to make the wheels of their factories turn.

33 Years of Progress—Thus National Tea Co. celebrates its 33rd anniversary, truly in a spirit of accomplishment—a third of a century of progress. Tribute is paid to Chicago's World's Fair Exposition by designating the latest super food stores as "World's Fair" food stores, in every respect a symbol of progress. But just as National Tea Co. co-operates with the 1933 Centennial Exposition so also does it co-operate with the communities in which its stores are located. It takes an active interest in community events, it participates in worth while activities sponsored by the community. Numerous memberships are held by National Tea Co. either directly or indirectly in local Chambers of Commerce.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of the middle west to visit the National Tea Co. stores during this 33rd anniversary sale. Remember, "33" is a magic number; it signifies the date of the great Chicago's World's Fair Exposition. It also symbolizes one-third of a century of progress in the retailing of the necessities of life by this great chain. The National Tea Co. manager will be happy to give you further interesting information about his company.

Gaynor-Farrell in Film of Sea Life

Giving a vivid picture of life in the fishermen's colonies among the New England coast, "Tess of the Storm Country" introduces Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in a brand-new locale when it opens at the Ready Theatre on next Sunday for three days.

Revolving about the stormy romance of a sea-captain's daughter and a millionaire's son when Dudley Digges, Claude Gilman, and the former comes to live ashore, this new vehicle is said to be the most exciting one ever portrayed by the famous sweethearts of the screen. Picturesque settings in a rocky cove on the Maine shore and aboard a big three-mastered schooner at sea and the work of a noted supporting cast headed by Dudley Digges, Claude Gilman, and June Clyde, are said to add greatly to the entertainment quality of this Fox Films production. Alfred Santell directed.
