Drops Dead While Helping to Rescue Furniture from Fire

Our community was saddened on Thursday night when the sad news was received that our esteemed neighbor and friend, Daniel O. Marble, dropped dead while helping to carry out a cook stove at the home of his brother-in-law, John Hamilton, whose house was on fire and who lives across the street from Marble.

Mr. Marble was born in Indiana in 1867 and most of his life was spent in this community. About five years ago he sold his farm and moved into Galien. He is survived by his wife, Mable, and two sons, Dana of Galien and John Seba, South Bend; also by one brother, John of California and five sisters. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the L. D. S. church conducted by the Rev. J. W. McKnight. Burial in the Galien cemetery.

A terrible shock came last week when we heard that during the fire at John Hamilton's, Dan Marble ran across to help and as he had just helped carry out furniture and having a weak heart, it was too much for him and he died. They tried to get three different doctors but couldn't get them there, till finally Dr. Higbee of Three Oaks got there, but no good, his heart had stopped beating. How bad we all felt. He leaves a widow and two sons, one in South Bend and the other north of Galien. The funeral was Saturday but the bad roads kept so many away. Our sympathy goes to Mrs. Marble and the boys.

Give Prohibition a Chance. The Liquor Traffic Had Its Day.

Give Prohibition a Chance. The Liquor Traffic Had Its Day (Excerpts from "The Ignoble Surrender," John Haynes Holmes)

"I'm amused, vastly amused, if men insist upon learning all over again what the liquor traffic has taught since the beginning of time, just as they insisted upon learning all over again what war has taught since that early year One, why not enjoy the ridiculousness of the process?" asks John Haynes Holmes, writing in the "World Tomorrow," of Jan. 12, on "The Ignoble Surrender," and comparing the great propaganda drive against prohibition with a similar drive against peace a decade and a half ago.

"These next few years I confidently expect to be the most hilarious of my life," he continues. "If only the boozers will win all along the line! My one fear is that they may get halted somewhere—the Supreme Court declares their bill unconstitutional, or thirteen recalcitrant states hold up their repeal resolution—and thus be able to continue their facie practice of blaming all ills, including crime, racketeering, kidnapping, unemployment, high taxes, bank failures, suicides, corrupt government, the depression, the eclipse of the moon and the last rose of summer, on prohibition. What I want to see is the decks swept clean, everything arranged precisely as the wets would have it. Destroy the Volstead Act, get rid of the state enforcement acts, repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. Then the fun.

"The fun of watching the Nation legalize the sale of liquor, and at the same time prevent the return of the saloon, which is a place to sell liquor.

"The fun of watching the nation provide places for selling liquor under strict legal control, and at the same time get rid of speak-easies, which are places for selling liquor under no control at all.

"The fun of watching the nation put a heavy tax on liquor, and at the same time suppress the bootlegging of untaxed, and therefore, cheap liquor.

"The fun of watching the nation take $500,000,000 or more out of the pockets of the people in taxes on booze, and at the same time not affect the purchasing power which is to restore prosperity.

"The fun of watching the nation, which had trouble protecting its single border line from wet Canada and Mexico, undertake to protect the many border lines of dry states from wet states.

"The fun of watching the nation, which failed to keep the liquor traffic out of dry states in the pre-prohibition days of horses and buggies, suddenly succeed in keeping the traffic out of such states in the post-prohibition days of automobiles and airplanes.

"The fun of watching the nation move into its five-day week with booze on tap at every corner for every leisure moment.

"The fun of watching innumerable homes in dry territory as well as wet, time in on the radio, and hear the family melliflously advised to drink 'gin rickies' at least twice a day, and to visit the corner saloon at least twice a week.

"And the fun, the warm, full-hearted fun, of seeing the good old days of childhood back again when drunks reeled along the sidewalks, children rushed the growler for sodden parents, when prostitutes lurked in the family entrances to catch the trade for the rooms upstairs run by the bartenders, when distracted women met their husbands on pay day at the factory gates to get the week's wages before it was wasted in the saloon, when Saturday night down town was a reign of riot and debauchery.

Fun? There will be fun enough these next few years, if the wets have their heedless way, to keep the sources of innocent merriment flowing like the beer that will burst its barrel hoops once Congress legalizes booze. I expect to laugh until I cry, perhaps laugh to keep from crying. 'I laugh,' said Voltaire, 'that I may not weep.' But I am going to weep, even over such a tragedy as the surrender of a gutless people to a few thousand bootleggers, racketeers, and their so-called respectable patrons. No I'm going to laugh, laugh long and loud, frank and free, till even the wets may see the joke. They laughed at us, the dries, because we succeeded none to well with a 'noble experiment' which they made incredibly difficult by blocking and interfering in a spirit of bad sportsmanship which would make a professional pugilist blush with shame. Now comes our turn to laugh at them, as they try their hands at a policy which is too old to be an experiment and has not even the grace of being 'noble.'

"But we can't laugh too long. The situation, however funny, is at bottom too serious for inextinguishable merriment.

INVADERS ARE CHIEF THREAT IN TOURNAMENT

Locals Nosed Out Springs Quintet in Closing Minute of First Game, Breaking Tie.

The most exciting game played this year by the Bucks was the first game of the year with Berrien Springs on Berrien Springs' floor. Berrien Springs led until the final minute of play when the Bucks scored a field goal and broke a 20-20 tie and forged ahead to win the game 22-20. This was the only time during the game that Buchanan was ahead and a good time in most contests. However, the Berrien Squad had seen several games played in Buchanan with other schools and Berrien has every reason in the world to feel that they can make Buchanan repent the defeat they handed Berrien earlier in the season. Berrien Springs is our strongest competitor in the tournament this year and if they win this game, they will just as likely as not win the game in the tournament and out Buchanan out of the race for the state title. Rooters and more rooters are welcome. So come one, come all and back our team to the limit. The game will take place tomorrow night in the local gym and the preliminary game is to start at exactly 7:30 p. m.

Who's Who

Many people think that the Kelly girls are twins. However, this is proven false by the fact that Hope was born in Glendora, December 2, 1917 and Janet was born in Stevensville two years later on April 8. Both are the youngest girls in their respective classes. Hope is a junior and Janet is a sophomore.

They have marked musical ability. This fact is proven by realizing that they won second place in a recent Ready theatre amateur contest. They both intend to use this ability to earn a livelihood. These girls like school in general, but both like geometry in particular. They have light brown hair and blue eyes and are about five feet, five inches tall.

They like most foods but Hope prefers ice cream to any other dish. Neither likes to wash the dishes, but Hope likes to sew and Janet is fond of cooking, so they really make an excellent pair.

Margaret (Whuzzie) Furner was born 15 years ago today, in Chicago. She is very short and slender. Her hair is light brown and her eyes are blue. She has a hobby of saving autographs but spends most of her time studying English in preparation for teaching this, her favorite subject. She likes all kinds of pie a la mode. She belongs to the freshman class. You might see her some day, especially if you have a microscope with which to hunt for this winsome colleen.

HAVE YOU NOTICED

Marvin Gross' spats? Tom Quirk's new Ford and his sudden rating with the women? Coach Bradfield's worried look as tournament time approaches? The worried and distracted look on Maury Aronson's face? How Glenn Jesse sticks around the lower hall of the building as much as possible? The sleighing parties that some of the senior girls are throwing?

It is rumored that Doris Campbell would like a new Lincoln 12, a Pierce Arrow 12, or a Cadillac 12 for a graduation gift. And the price of electricity is down too!!!!

The student (male or vice versa) turnout for the South Bend Auto Show was not large despite the fact that a style show was held in addition to the automobile display. Two of our dashing senior youths went over to see the show on Sunday, but were cruelly disappointed by the fact that the style show was not held on that day. Well, such is life. "Just one cruel disappointment after another!"

Proving Great Minds May Not Run in Same Channels

As there was no school Friday, Mr. Moore, Mr. Knoblauch and Mr. Hyink motored to South Bend. Here they attended the auto show. Many new cars were on display and the teachers took a great interest in them.

Mr. Hyink has a Ford and it still gets him there and brings him back. You ought to see the snow he plowed through on his way to South Bend. Mr. Knoblauch claims a Chevrolet is the best car, but Mr. Moore disagrees with this, because he still likes his Essex.

Friendship (By Marjorie Weaver)
Friendship! A beautiful word. A word that points exquisite memory pictures on the canvas of time, memories that bring deep and lasting satisfaction.

Beautiful, yes, but perhaps there are also unhappy memories of friendship. Perhaps there were friends who deserted you when you needed them most. Life is like that. It has its ups and its downs, its knocks and its boosts, and everyone receives his share. It's the fellow who keeps smiling that forges to the front.

The thing to do is to choose friends who are steadfast, firm, unaffected by petty gossip and jealousy.

Select your friends as carefully as you select your clothes, and remember it is often the obscure persons who prove to be the real friends.

While choosing your friends, keep this in mind:
Choose your friends wisely; test your friends well. True friends, like rare gems, prove hard to tell.

FANS BECK SNOW DRIFTS TO WATERVLIET

A group of seven loyal B. H. S. students, namely Marion Mitchell, Joe Dunlap, Walter Babcock, Dick Morris, Charlie Blake, Alan Stevenson and Jesse Leggett, followed the basketball team to Watervliet, Wednesday evening, Feb. 8. There was a procession of five cars which carried the first and second teams, which was headed by Mr. Moore, who with his powerful Essex stopped for nothing—not even occasional snow drifts which seemed to be like mountains.

At the game these five boys, with the help of the first team men during the second game and the second team during the first game, supported the team with tremendous yells that shook the gym.

Bit by Bit

Four days of vacation have enabled quite a few students to catch up on some studies. Other students had one merry time during the holiday and let the lessons slide. Anyway, every one looks much refreshed; even the teachers seem happy.

The freshman Valentine party will be held on Saturday night. They will not have a kid's party as was announced.

Basketball has started again now that we have finished the game with Dowagiac.

Have you noticed any of the chemistry students walking around the halls in a daze while they titter and giggle their heads off? It is all because of the laughing gas Prof. Moore has been making in his laboratory.

The 11th grade English classes were having great signs of relief when they were allotted one more day to finish their ninth study unit.

"Curly" Bradfield is whipping the tumbling teams into shape for the coming gym show.

Last, but not least, have you reserved your Annual yet? It would be a good idea to help the seniors. Don't hinder them.

B. H. S. GARNERS TWO SCALPS IN THE PAST WEEK

Plough Under Watervliet, Dowagiac Cage Quintets by Majorities.

A week ago Wednesday, the Buchanan basketball team started out in zero weather for Watervliet. The bus was unable to accommodate this particular evening and so the trip was made in cars in caravan style. Cold is no name for the frigid gusts that swept the cars around. The team finally arrived and trounced the Watervliet squad by the score of 22-8. At the half the score was only 6-4 in favor of Buchanan. Three players on the Buchanan squad made 6 points each and Captain Clark was high point man for Watervliet with four points.

The "B" team of Buchanan won handsily over the Watervliet "B" team by a score of 30 to 14. Batchelor, Buchanan center, accounted for 12 points. This makes the eleventh straight victory for the "B" team and no defeats this year.

Tuesday night of this week Buchanan played Dowagiac and gave them a sound beating in the local gym that Dowagiac won't forget right away. The score 40-12 indicates the superiority of the Buchanan team over Dowagiac. Rolen led the Bucks' scoring with 9 points as did Puchnick and Hall for the visitors with four points apiece. This makes 11 victories out of twelve starts for the locals, an enviable record indeed.

Assistant coach, Don Frettle's "B" team added another scalp to its collection by taking the Dowagiac "B" team by the score of 25-10. This makes the 12th victory for the "B" team. Batchelor was high point man again with 16 points, while Leszynski led the losers with six points.

What do you think of fifty cent "Pines"?

The "Pines" is K. O. and the price is all right. They have all the pictures of the kids in the class, and when you are old and lemon-like, and you're afraid to smile for fear of cracking, your face, just get out the old "Pines" and freshen up your memories of your good old school days and your old pals—Audrey McGlellen.

The price has been reduced to fit the pockets of the student; therefore, I think it should go over in future years, and to refresh your memories of school days—Wilson Crittenden.

I think they are the ideal thing to have for the price is low enough so every one is able to buy one. It is something you can look at later and remember your school days.—Genevia Williams.

Biographies

A very outstanding student around the corridors of this school and who is also a member of the basketball squad is Lee (missed a rabbit) Donley. "Pete" (as he is sometimes called) first saw daylight back in the pre-war days on a farm some five miles south of Buchanan. This all happened in 1918.

When the grizzly one was of age he started to obtain his education in one of the rural schools, namely, Currier school. Later he moved to the city of Dayton where he finished his grammar school.

Then Peter came to Buchanan to attend high school. Here he built up a reputation as an "Indignant Irishman" and has built a fine record in athletics. Last year he captured Buchanan's football team to a claim to a state championship. Last spring he was a main stay of the track team and holds several records for the 100 yard dash in this county.

This year is his first on the varsity basketball squad. He does not play on the first team, but when injected in the game, displays an unusual talent at close guarding.

Besides that, he helps Coach Bradfield from the bench find flaws in both the offense and defense of both playing teams. Besides his athletic ability, "Chief" as he is sometimes called, is a very keen student in his studies. His marks are not sky high, but they look mighty good on a report card.

"What a man!" is a part master on the intricacies of hunting, trapping and fishing. He is noted for his skill in trapping and wielding a wicked gun and ramrod.

"Need a shave" has accomplished all these feats with only one we speak of an inspiration.

This little biography is on a certain dashing figure who next fall will be the man of the hour. This great gentleman is no other than Bill (Main Street) Frame, who is destined to be next year's football captain. William was born on a farm not far from Dayton in the eventful year of 1914 on Nov. 10, a date that should be remembered.

A LINE OF CHATTER OR TWO

(By Chester G. Chatterton)
LAST YEAR'S predicted cold wave arrived at last. Last week several country fellows were late for school in the morning. Wednesday morning of last week, Mr. Moore's physics class was just getting nicely interested in a test over "Heat" (believe it or not) when who should walk in on us but "Chiz" Cripe in person—only an hour and a half late! Charlie lives out past Dayton and he reported very deep drifts. After you get on M-60, Charlie says, "There, just ain't nuthin' to it." A few of us city residents should be a little more ambitious and get to class on time after seeing the efforts these rural scholars put forth to get to school, following some of the storms we have had.

DID YOU NOTICE the refreshed looks on the students' faces following their two days' vacation of last week? It certainly is remarkable what a couple of insignificant days can do to brighten and polish a student's intellect! The teachers looked relieved also and some one reported seeing a teacher, high in the esteem of certain fortunate seniors, pick up a handful of snow and hold it to his face. The spying student said he was unable to see whether the teacher kissed the snow (in gratitude), ate the snow (for thirst), or rubbed the snow on his nose (for frozen nose).

If teacher "X" will come forward and consent to an interview, we would be very glad to clear the matter up in our minds.

SPEAKING of frozen noses, ears, hands, etc., it is reported that a number of students suffered from the cold Thursday morning to the extent of freezing said hands, ears and noses. Lester Bradfield, from his nose, Richard Koenigsdorf, from his nose, and even certain members of the faculty did not escape entirely unscathed.

SHADOWS (By Roy Ruth)
It is February the second,
And the sun shines in the sky,
And the ground hog saw his shadow,
So warm weather can't be nigh.
Put on your fur ear muffs,
Get your red flannels from the press,
Cause we're going to have cold weather,
Or the ground hogs missed his guess.

Vermarian Literary Society
The profit from the three plays which was sponsored by Mrs. Dunbar of the Vermarian Literary Society was $19.65.

These plays were original, written by three members of the class, Dee Weaver, Doris Campbell and Allen Riley. George Remington was stage manager. The plays were dramatized by the members of the class.

This money is to be used to sponsor the creative writing contest in which the upper six grades will participate.

Old Grads Make Good
Philip Hanlin, a member of last year's graduation class, has been awarded the jeweled pin for the most outstanding freshman in the Sigma Chi fraternity at Wash-bash college. It is customary for the fraternity to present this pin each year to the best all-around freshman. This is the second time that a Buchananite has won this honor, Fred Smith being awarded the pin in 1928.

Another honor well worth mentioning is the fact that Jane Hahlich, a graduate of last year, earned 5 A's as her first semester grades at Northwestern. Jane was an all A student throughout the grades and high school here.

There are a great number of persons who do not know the

Mrs. Weaver's Classes

To celebrate St. Valentine's Day, the members of Mrs. Weaver's home room held a Valentine party Tuesday, during the home room period.

The committee in charge consisted of Russel Proud as chairman, assisted by Dick Schum, Bill Frame and Carson Donley.

Comparing French family rules of etiquette with those of the American family is at present the main interest in French 12 classes. Pa's a Pas, a beginning French reader, is now being read by the French 11 classes. Mrs. Weaver reads them daily while the students copy this and recite.

Superstitions of the Roman family and a comparison of them with the American superstitions and beliefs is the chief work of the Latin 10 classes.

Passive voice and grammar work is now being studied by the Latin classes.

A new system has been adopted by the 8th grade English. Instead of having forty words a week to learn, they are now having five new words and five old ones to learn every day. The words are put on the board while the teacher takes the roll the students study them. Then the words are pronounced to them. This system has worked very well.

The class is still studying; Evangelism. Shirley Jennings handed in a very good Evangelism note book.

9th Grade English
Una Kelly is the new editor for the February Freshman paper. "Choosing Your Life's Work" was the subject upon which the ninth graders gave speeches this week.

The preliminary tests were given to the freshmen over quotation marks, punctuation marks and adjectives and adverbs. They are also studying "The Lady of the Lake."

Seventh English
Some very interesting themes have been written in the seventh grade English class on the subject, "My Favorite Hero or Heroine" and "The Ideal Citizen." This was the result of the study of "The Great Stone Face."

The spelling work is changing in form, adding other essentials to the mere spelling and is proving decidedly interesting as well as even more valuable.

Outlining and sentence structure form the subject of class study in grammar this week.

Mr. Knoblauch's Classes
How are plants propagated? Yes, that's just what all the students in the agriculture 10 class are wondering. They are working on that study unit now so they'll soon find out all the mysteries of plant propagation.

Knowing how to maintain their own health, the juniors and seniors in the horticulture class are studying the unit "How is the Health of Farm Animals Maintained?"

The main thing in life is health and even animals must have it. The debating team is finishing up its rebuttal speeches for the debate with Coldwater. This debate is to be held at the Coldwater high school, Feb. 16.

English 10, 11 and 12
The seniors are studying the life of Alfred Noyes. Their attention has been called to his epic "Drake" and to the mock epic "The Rape of the Lock."

Each Friday, the seniors hand in critical essays on subjects of current literary interest selected from The Literary Digest, Saturday Review of Literature, Atlantic Monthly or the literary section of the New York Times.

The eleventh grade students are developing their talents in creative writing. Each student is required to hand in at least two of the following: poetry, short story, and essay. However, they may hand in as many more than two as they wish.

Time budgets were made and tried out for one week by the juniors. At the end of the week, they were criticisms on the budgets and made all necessary adjustments. These budgets were found very profitable.

The sophomores are using their exercise books this week. Their work deals with the use of commas and non-restrictive clauses, transposed clauses and clauses in compound and complex sentences.

Chemistry
There are a great number of persons who do not know the characteristics about hydrogen, however, there is 79 per cent of the hydrogen in the air which we are breathing. This fits a great deal to do with ventilation and health. The main subject, which the chemists are experimenting on is hydrogen.

Physics
Magnetic forces and the history of magnetism is the task which has been given to the physics students.

Mr. Hyink's Dept.
Members of the freshmen algebra class, under the supervision of Mr. Hyink, have been studying and working problems on the multiplication and division of fractions. Most of the students have been progressing very well on this work.

All members of the geometry class have been doing construction work and exercises determining the location of points which meet certain given conditions. This sort of work has created much interest among most of the geometry students and they all seem to be doing excellent work.

Juniors and seniors are studying solid geometry classes are studying polyhedral angles, trihedral angles and theories based thereupon.

Mr. Miller's Classes
If you don't think the shop classes know anything about drawing, skip over to the manual training building and see for yourself. These classes have been doing a little drawing for the past two weeks, but they will be back to their regular classes in a short time.

After the lettering plates are finished, the mechanical drawing classes will start on the motor, which has been sent to the drawing class.

Instead of tracing the drawing plates in ink as they have in the past, Mr. Miller has asked that they be traced in pencil, because it seems that most of the drafting departments in factories are requiring tracings in pencil.

Arithmetic
It looks as though the seventh grade arithmetic students will make good store keepers. They have been learning how to make change and how much profit can be made by wholesale and retail dealers.

With the depression still upon us it is a splendid time to study the value of money and that is what the eighth grade classes are doing. They have been reviewing the business of a store, and have also been learning to figure on profit.

When you want to pull a fast deal on some one you want to be careful that it isn't someone taking commercial law. They have been studying Reality of Consent, Frauds, and most everything that deals with contracts, and different cases that are given to explain them.

Home Economics
"Struggling with their samplers containing eleven different kinds of seams, uses of bias bindings, and placket seams has been the work of the seventh and eighth grade girls," were the words of Miss Thompson, domestic science instructor.

They have begun the first seams on the dresses and blouses they are making. Learning to use the sewing machine and the darning hobbs has proven rather difficult work for the girls.

To insure the girls' knowledge of the various seams, a picture was selected which they trace on plain or colored material, then they will insert each of the seams in the picture. After the sampler is finished the girls may do what they wish with them. A few of the girls are going to use their clever samplers as pillow covers or centerpieces for a table.

The eighth grade girls are doing the same work that the seventh grades are doing, however, they are doing much better work. They are using the same pattern for a sampler as the seventh grade girls are.

The freshmen girls have been doing very nicely on their garments. They have finished working on the side seams and armhole seams, and are now working on the necks and sleeves of their dresses. The picture that these girls will put in various seams, may be of different patterns. Each girl may choose a different picture, with which to work.

Sophomores are on their own as half of them work in the cafeteria, while the other half sew. If they go to Miss Thompson for help, as she is busy cooking in the cafeteria.

Cold weather is appreciated by the tenth grade girls for more students remain at noon for their lunches, and, consequently produce better business profits.

Music Dept.
The orchestra festival which was scheduled for last Wednesday has been postponed until a later date. The orchestra has been rehearsing for this annual event for some time.

Announcements
The annual Berrien county band and orchestra festival was to be held at Niles, Feb. 8, was postponed indefinitely.

Miss Shriver has returned to her home in Hudson, Mich., on account of illness. Mrs. Weaver is teaching in her place and Miss Desenberg is taking Mrs. Weaver's classes for the present time.

Many Puzzles Occur in Work of Green Houses

The puzzles occurring in the business of producing plants under glass have reached such proportions in this state that Michigan State College at the request of a green house owners, has arranged a special course of instruction to be given Feb. 6 to 10 at East Lansing.

Two members of the faculty of the Ohio State University, staff members from Michigan State, and operators of greenhouses will act as instructors. The Ohio State men are I. C. Hoffman and H. D. Brown.

Many phases of green house management will be considered during the week. Some of the subjects listed are soils sterilization, use of fertilizers, spacing of plants and insect and disease control.

One thing of pertinent interest to be presented at the meeting on the study of the Detroit vegetable market. Chain stores, independent buyers, and other men interested in the trade will be at the college to give their views of the marketing problem.

The use of trucks in the shipment of vegetables and the recent quarantining regulations against the Michigan truck crops are other subjects which will be discussed.

Homemaker's Corner
Canning pork is an economical method of having a sufficient supply of meat on hand. Only clean, fresh products should be used. But this does not mean only the choicest cuts, as canning is a practical way of making the cheaper cuts tender.
Steam pressure cooking is recommended for pork, according to Miss Muriel Dundas, home economics extension nutrition specialist of Michigan State College. A pressure of 15 pounds (250 lb.) is needed. Water-bath, live steam, open, and open-kettle methods of canning will produce a temperature of only about 212 degrees F., which is too low to sterilize meat thoroughly.
Select meat which is fresh and in good condition, wipe with a damp cloth and remove excess fat. Cut into pieces suitable for placing in containers. Simmer in water or place in oven until meat is thoroughly heated and redness disappears. Pack into containers while hot, add liquid enough to fill container within one-half inch of top. The liquid may be the broth in which the meat, simmered or pan drippings which are not dark brown and are diluted with boiling water. About one teaspoon salt per pint is recommended.
Completely seal tin cans at once, or partly seal glass jars, and place in pressure cooker immediately before meat has cooled. Process at 15 pounds pressure as follows: pint glass jars and No. 2 1/2 and No. 3 plain tin cans, 60 minutes; No. 2 plain tin cans, 90 minutes.
With No. 2 and 2 1/2 tin cans, the petcock is opened as soon as processing period is over to allow the steam to escape. Place cans in cold running water, or change the water frequently until cans have cooled. With No. 3 tin cans or pint glass jars, the steam gauge must go to zero before the petcock is opened. Too rapid lowering of pressure surrounding the jars will draw the liquid out of jars.

Man Doesn't Bite Dog, But It's News Just the Same

It's no news when they move a movie troupe to a house in the country—but it's news when they move the house in the country to the movie troupe, if the old rule anent the man who bites a dog still holds good.

This bit of cinematic housemoving was accomplished during the filming of the latest Marie Dressler-arranged-for-the-purchase-of-the-latest-Mario-Dressler-Polly-Moran comedy, "Prosperity," which will be shown starting Sunday, Feb. 19th at the Ready theatre, Niles.

The plot called for the popular comedy paid to do "location work" in the environs of an old farm house. Then, instead of returning to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios to build interiors man'ging the location scenes, Director Sam Wood arranged for the purchase of the quaint house and took it along. Thus the actual interior as well as exterior was photographed.

"Prosperity" is a comedy of small-town life with Miss Dressler and Miss Moran as rival mothers-in-law fighting over the affairs of their married children and seven children, with a bit of distinctive character work for the versatile Miss Dressler thrown in for good measure.

Anita Page and Norman Foster play the married children and the supporting cast also includes Jacques Lyn, Jerry Tucker, Charles Bibby, Frank Darien and Henry Armetta.

"Prosperity" is the ninth comedy in which Marie Dressler and Polly Moran have been co-starring. Their most recent appearances together were in "Caught Short," "Reducing" and "Politics," while Miss Dressler's last single starring vehicle was "Emma."

Twenty Banks in Michigan Allied With Detroit Group

(Continued from page 1) stated in my interview of Feb. 14. "Chrysler and General Motors are not depositors. Mr. Ford had no agreement with the trust company or with Chrysler or General Motors.

"The Ford Motor Co., General Motors and Chrysler had not agreed upon any arrangement to take care of the trust company," he suggested by Chrysler and General Motors that Ford Motor Co. should put up a substantial part of the necessary funds to take care of the loss. Ford Motor Co., took the position that they had already put approximately $20,000,000 in the Union Guardian business and they could make no further investment in it.

Affiliated with the Union Guardian Trust company are some 20 large banks in leading cities throughout Michigan.

Governor's Proclamation "Whereas, in view of the acute financial emergency now existing in the city of Detroit and throughout the state of Michigan, I deem it necessary in the public interest and for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and for the equal safe-guarding without preference of the rights of all depositors in the banks and trust companies of this state and at the request of the Michigan Bankers' association and the Detroit Clearing house and after consultation with the banking authorities, both national and state, with representatives of United States treasury department, the banking department of the state of Michigan, the federal reserve bank, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and with the United States secretary of commerce, I hereby proclaim the days from Tuesday, Feb. 14, 1933 to Tuesday, Feb. 21, 1933, both dates inclusive, to be public holidays during which time all banks, trust companies and other financial institutions conducting a banking or trust business within the state of Michigan shall not be opened for the transaction of banking or trust business, and treated and have the same effect in respect to such banks, trust companies and other financial institutions as other legal holidays under the laws of this state, provided that it shall not affect the making or execution of agreements or instruments in writing or interfere with judicial proceedings."

"Dated this 14th day of Feb. 1933, 1:32 a. m.
William A. Comstock,
Governor of the state of Michigan."
