COMPETITION FOR OFFICE IN CITY IS KEEN

Three Apiece File for Commissioner, Justice of Peace, With Four Days Until Deadline.

Three cornered races for the office of city commissioner and justice of the peace at the April 3 election were in prospect last night with four filing days yet to come before the deadline.

Phay Graffort was the first to file his petition for the office of commissioner to succeed Wilson Leiter. In fact the Graffort petition was the sole filing at that time but petitions were known to be out for Eugene Steele and Wilson Leiter. All three of these men are very well known with good followings and the race should be exciting even if the competition goes no further.

Petitions have been filed for Lee Mathis, E. N. Schram and Atty. Philip Landsman for the office of justice of the peace, to which Landsman was appointed last fall to fill out the unexpired term of Al Charles, deceased. This assortment again should provide good competition.

To date the only filing for county supervisor to succeed William Fette was by the incumbent, Mr. Fette himself. Mr. Fette should win in a walk, if the filings go no further.

For the office of constable to succeed Edward Mitchell petitions have been filed for the candidacies of Mr. Mitchell and John Montgomery.

But the white cane, tapping, tapping, as a symbol of the blind should remind us to be watchful, to be thoughtful, to be kind.

BENNIAH WATSON,
BEND OF RIVER
PIONEER, DIES

Father Cress Watson Came to This District 60 Years Ago; Death Immediately Due to Fall.

Benniah Watson, 86, died Friday, March 3, at his home in the Bend of the River and the funeral was held from that place Monday afternoon at 2 p. m. with additional services at 2:30 p. m. from the Methodist church. Rev. Rice officiating, assisted by Rev. Peters of the Methodist church of South Bend.

He was one of the best known pioneers of the Bend of the River section, having moved there in young manhood about sixty years ago and having made his home there continuously since that time. He was born at Millford, Del., July 30, 1846, the son of William and Nancy Watson. He moved with his parents to Harris Prairie east of Niles when a boy, moving from there to Iowa. About sixty years ago he returned to Michigan, settling in the Bend of the River, where he was married Dec. 1, 1876, to Miss Angelina Swift. To this union were born four children, of whom two, Edward Watson and Goldie Watson Bates, preceded him in death. Surviving are the widow, and two children, Cress Watson of Buchanan and Mrs. Rudolph Kline of South Bend; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Meredith of South Sioux City, Nebr., Mrs. Emma Sanders of Vinton, Ia., and Mrs. Lena Barber of Bloodgood, Ore.

Mr. Watson had been blind for the past twelve years but otherwise he had been in good health until about two weeks ago, when he incurred bodily injuries which ultimately resulted in his death.

The following recent poem of Edgar Guest is reprinted at the request of friends as a fitting tribute to the deceased, who was blind many years:

I saw a white can glister as he slowly walked along.
And it seemed to catch my fancy as I mingled with the throng.
I thought it rather curious, for all the canes in town
That I have ever noticed were either black or brown.
And then as he came closer flashed the thought into my mind:
"I know the white cane's meaning 'tis the symbol of the blind!"

It's just a mild suggestion to the hurrying passerby
To be a little thoughtful of the brother drawing nigh.
When he sees that white cane gleaming in the glory of the day
There is one who walks in darkness, who needs help to cross the way.

'Tis a blind man's modest symbol that where'er his pathway winds
He is certain great and lowly, rich and poor are all his friends.

I've forgotten who began it or from whom the notion came,
But the white cane for the sightless is a thought deserving fame.

In life's feverish helter-skelter we go rushing right along,
Little heeding, little noting who may need us of the throng.

It was necessary to legal sale, and that suspension of publication constituted invasion of the right of noteholders whose loans had been secured only by the fact that the delinquent taxes constituted a collectible item.

America needs simplified banking and bankers need a sense of their social responsibilities, stated Henry Ford, potential savior of the Detroit banks, in an interview with press representatives Thursday.

"During what I call the crazy age in America," Ford stated, "all sense of values was distorted in the scramble to get money by speculation and not by work."

"Too many banking directorates were apparently selected on a country club and vice presidents on their strength as a social assets."

"All unused bank balances, after a certain figure, should be taxed to bring them out of the vaults and into active business so that the money will become an asset in commerce and industry."

"Most of our conceptions of interest and debt are wrong or unnatural. If a man determines to invest money in a productive enterprise, it seems to me wrong to tax to bring them out of the vaults and into active business so that the money will become an asset in commerce and industry."

"THE MIKADO"
MOST POPULAR
COMIC OPERA

Farcial Representation of the High Life in Japan Written 47 Years Ago Still Universally Popular.

"The Mikado" which will be produced by The Clark Players at the high school, March 16 and 17, is probably the best loved comic opera ever written. It was first produced 47 years ago and is still going strong. You can hardly turn on a radio today without hearing some of the music from this opera.

The story deals with Ko-Ko, a poor tailor, who was condemned to death for flitting but was taken from jail and raised to the rank of Lord High Executioner. Not being very well up on his job, he is forced to rely on the advice of Pooh-Poo, his legal advisor, with the usual comic opera results. The Mikado, noticing that there has been no executions in Tiipiu for over a year, orders Ko-Ko to behead someone within a month or suffer the consequences. He finally obtains a volunteer in the person of Nanki-Poo, who agrees to be beheaded in a month's time on condition that he be allowed to marry Yum-Yum, who is already engaged to Ko-Ko.

develops that Nanki-Poo is the son of the Mikado and is wanted by a lady named Katisha. So time in March 16 or 17 at 8:15 p. m. and get the second installment of this thrilling drama.

BALLAD TO EM
By Hays
She was only a printer's sweetheart
Of course her name was Em
Just a lively galley ready for the chase.

Who lived on the printer's alley,
Just around behind the bank
And whom everybody liked that learned her case.

She was strong upon the make-up and somewhat the boldfaced type
But not so bad when once you set her straight.

She wasn't less than thirty even if you'd date her back.
But her ears were always waiting for a date.

Her home was 'at a helbox, so the simple maiden said
For her father, he was always getting pried.

But at that she was a copy
you hardly could call dead
And I'll tell the world, her form was justified!

Graft Proves First Aid to Neglected Wives
We've been wondering what purpose Graft had in opening the Princess theatre, other than the usual motive of making money and at last we took the matter up with Graft himself and he told us.

"It was a matter of sympathy with the neglected wives of Buchanan," stated Mr. Graft to a representative of the Record who interviewed him in his office suit over the theatre. Just drop in to the theatre for a night and take a look at the hungry-faced women who slip in a bare, seal for an hour of forgetfulness, living in a world of romance with the heroine. They're left at home a solid brute of a husband, buried in his pipe and his paper from whom they get nothing more than an occasional grant. They take refuge in the romance of the movies, listen imaginatively in the distance to the tragic story of the ruin of the ruin comes and so home happy. Simple isn't it?

Attention Did You Say?
If the gentleman that old married man, who took exception to the attention he received at the chicken supper served at St. Ann's church last Tuesday evening, will just return the next time a supper is served he may be assured that he will receive the utmost attention. A table with snowy white linen, including a napkin, which he may tuck under his chin, will be at his disposal and a bouquet of flowers will also be placed on the table. It is especially called for more than one serving it might be well to note here that he can have a day's serving which means three meals.

Signed,
Ten pretty waitresses at your service.

THANKS, WE'LL RELAY IT TO HARRY BOYCE
The following straightforward expression of a widespread sentiment will touch the heart strings of many of our readers. It was kindly furnished us by A. Preston Sprague and is supposed to represent a letter actually written by a debtor to his creditor.

"Dear Sir, I got your letter about what I owe you. Now be patient. I ain't forgot you. Please wait. When I have the money I pay you. If this was the Judgment Day and you was no more prepared to meet your Maker than I am to meet your account, you sure would have to go to hell. Trusting you will agree to do this. I am.

Yours truly,

Hereafter and from Now On They will Spell It "Daze" Avenue

Friends, readers (note the distinction), as we peek out these lines on our battered Underwood, a hook is inserted in our collar and we are being hoisted on the daze preparatory for transfer with the other furnishings to the new location of the Record on Days Avenue. We've been here so long we don't know how its going to seem, but we believe the world will assume a more cheerful aspect viewed through the spacious plate glass of our new home than it has in the past, through the diminutive glasses of the Rough Wagon Works.

Well, well, well—the country only Democratic a week and here is Bick Smith announcing a free lunch and drinks at his store next Saturday. The lunch will be Rosebud ham sandwiches and drinks—that would be tallin' but they will be "good until the last drop." We knew Bick would be among the first to take advantage of the Democrat administration.

It is expected that the equipment will be fully established by the first of next week.

an interest return or he could lend it out to a productive business and get his return from the profit of the business, plus the increasing value of the business if it continues successfully.

No Amendments This Spring

There will be no amendments to the state constitution on the ballots for the spring election April 3, the deadline for approval of proposed amendments having passed Friday without action by the legislature. Among amendments proposed were:

1. To legalize graduated income and sales taxes, as well as special levies on personal property.

2. Reorganization of county governments, elimination of township and antiquated offices.

3. It is possible that the latter suggestion may be forced on the ballot in spite of the law requiring that such amendments must be certified by the legislature 30 days before the election, by amending the act to reduce the time limit to fifteen days. A resolution approving resolution of local government has been passed by the house and approved tentatively by the senate Friday.

Cuts Judges Salaries

The house passed a bill Friday reducing the salaries of circuit judges to $3,500 and of supreme court justices to $6,000. The senate made the bill a special order of business for next Wednesday.

The circuit judges now receive $6,000 from the state plus additional sums from the county. Supreme Court judges are paid $12,000 annually at present.

High Points in Michigan Bank Situation as Described by Couzens

In an interview with Detroit Free Press representatives, Friday Senator James Couzens outlined the development of the Michigan bank situation as follows:

Couzens told by R. F. C. director Feb. 4, that Detroit banks in difficulties had asked substantial loan, and had asked that request be kept from knowledge of Citizens. Couzens is told by R. F. C. that they will act on no request from Detroit without first informing him.

Detroit banks submit application for loan Feb. 9 and R. F. C. directors call Senators Couzens and Vandenberg of Michigan in conference. Later same day the Michigan senators were called to the White House in conference with President Hoover, Secretary of Treasury Ogden Mills and C. A. Miller, president of the R. F. C.

On Feb. 13, bank holiday, the Michigan senators were called to the R. F. C. offices, told that Detroit situation had changed rapidly, and that serious trouble would result if they were opened Feb. 14.

Long-distance telephone conversations held with Detroit bankers, with Melvin Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, and with Henry Ford.

As result of conferences, Gov. Comstock issued a moratorium proclamation at 2 a. m. Feb. 14.

Settlement confused because Detroit bankers were not united as to what they wanted, and R. F. C. board was unable to find out who was entitled to speak for Detroit and were in utter confusion as to what Detroit wanted. New York banker delegation visited Detroit, failed to understand Detroit bank situation and under current of opinion there a New York banker fathered the idea of the two new banks to act as liquidating agents. Idea debated two weeks, opposed by Detroit bankers and Couzens, who believed that existing banks should be maintained and kept open.

Meantime Henry and Edsel Ford were besieged by Detroit interstates to come to rescue and finally agreed, against their will to finance two new banks, on following consideration:

1. Receipt of substantial loan from R. F. C.

2. Receipt further substantial loan from Federal Reserve.

3. Receipt substantial loan from New York banks.

Couzens, under pressure and against judgment, consented to approve R. F. C. loans.

Feb. 26 new hitch in plans when New York banks withheld loan of $20,000,000 on legal question regarding collateral.

Bucaneers Edged Out of Tourney by Berrien

DOPE BUCKET IS UPSET AT END SEASON

Inability to Locate Basket Spells Downfall of Local Cagers, Who Led County During Season.

Buchanan's fighting Bucks lost a heart-breaking battle to the Berrien Springs quintet in the tourney at Niles a week ago today. At the end of the first quarter, Buchanan led 3-1. At the end of the half the score was knotted at 6-6. At the end of the third quarter it stood 11-12 in Berrien's favor. The Berrien team quickly leaped to a 15-11 lead in the last quarter and try as they might the Buchanan lads could not make the ball go through the hoop. The game ended 15-14 in Berrien's favor.

Editorial

(By Marjorie Weaver)

As long as you are protected from every danger, you cannot tell whether you have courage or not. As long as some one else shoulders your burdens, you have no way of estimating your strength. While everything is coming your way, you cannot tell whether you can stand reversed conditions. A great many men thought themselves courageous until the depression came. When they saw their wealth melting away, and found themselves uncertain as to the future, they did not even have the courage to keep on living.

While in high school, our parents shield us from the outer world, but when we go to college, we are faced with many unusual situations. Who have we to aid us in making our decisions? No one. We must decide for ourselves. Therefore it is best to learn to know your own mind and stand up for your own ideals, while in high school.

Perhaps your decisions may cause many disappointments, or place difficulties in your way, but it takes disappointments and difficulties to grow whether your nature is made of the fiber which is a match for the adversities of life or whether it is a by-product of circumstances.

SOCIETY SCOOPS

(By Sally Seene)

Miss Marjorie Weaver spent last week-end with her parents in the country at her home.

George Remington and Robert Watson were the guests at a house party last week-end. Robert is now ill at his home with the measles, (not due to the week-end however.)

Miss Helen Mogford and Miss Vivian Mogford attended the dog show in Benton Harbor last Sunday.

Miss Margaret Belvel, a former student in Buchanan high school, was a visitor in Buchanan over the week-end.

Miss Alene Riley was the guest at a dancing party held in South Bend to hear Jean Calloway's orchestra at the Palais Royale.

The Sunday Nite Club were entertained at a chicken dinner last Sunday evening.

Misses Shirley Rolen, Donna Bird and Barbara Hamilton went to Berrien Springs Wednesday. It is rumored that there is a big attraction there.

Who's Who

Helen Spatta is a star in athletics, likes to listen to detective stories, swim, and play basketball. She also says that she takes great delight in consuming roast chicken and hot fudge sundaes. Helen states that her favorite hobby is to flirt with good looking boys and to switch from blondes to brunettes. When asked what her favorite subject was, she replied, "like chemistry." Her ambition is to be a nurse.

Jan. 19, 1917 is the date of her birth and 1934 is the year of graduation.

We have a little senior chap of strictly Irish descent, whose name is John Colvin. John was born in Chicago, in 1915. He says he likes to play daily winks and work jig saw puzzles. Chaperoning with his pals, chiefly Blonde Fellell, and going for rides in Buicks is another hobby of his.

The dishes he takes greatest fancy to are raspberry cobbler and lemon pie. Blondes are his greatest attraction and he says he likes his history and loves to read stories written by Dorothy Chatfield.

Tom Zerbe, 16 year old senior, likes to hunt and fish and settle arguments, for and against "Pete" Donley. He was born on a farm in Niles township March 20, 1916. He says he likes all the high school subjects, but prefers English and history in preference to the rest.

Tom states that his choice diet consists of eating pies and cake of any kind. He declares that the one thing in life that he detests is hard work. Tom was a member of the boys' club for two years, an Ag club member for three years and is a member of the Velmarian Literary Society this year. When asked what he liked to do he said, "When I have nothing else to do I like to read DeMaupassant's stories and think about becoming a millionaire."

One Friday night as Robert Gladwish was jumping center against little Donald Shaffer, one of the onlookers yelled out "atta boy, 'Stretch', nice fallin'!" Thereafter, he got the name "Stretch" throughout his high school days.

When asked how old he was Robert turned red in the face and exclaimed, "Why let me see now, I think I was born in Buchanan in 1914, but I forget the exact date."

Robert's favorite sport is football and his big ambition is to be a Republican candidate for the presidency. When asked what he liked best to eat he declared, "Well sir, I like pretzels the best, and as for dessert I fancy cottage cheese mixed with huckleberry jelly and maple syrup. Physics by all means, says Robert, is his favorite subject. His best hobby is flit-

A LINE OF CHATTER OR TWO

By Chester G. Chatterton (Bob Gladwish)

THE AMBITIOUS SENIORS seem quite relieved of their Do you know the reason? They have completed their American history books and are now working on civil government. A study of Michigan government will be carried along with this work. The two studies are along practically the same line but there seems to be just enough difference between the subjects to satisfy the seniors. Or—who knows, perhaps they are glad of the chance to make a fresh start!

HAVE YOU HEARD OF "Housewife" Jackson? He was seen deftly sweeping Miss Hanlin's English room last week. Little Harold had been throwing paper around, and he expected someone else to pick it up. The rest of the pupils (dear little freshmen) obligingly threw paper on the floor so Harold could pick it up and sweep the room. We wonder where he got all his domestic training!

CHARLIE BLAKE WANTS it to be known that his name is not Charlie, it is Charles Lawrence Blake. As a wee twirp, he enjoyed the nickname of Chuck Larry. His family name is "Rink." However, he states that this nickname has absolutely nothing to do with Robert Rinker, the interclass basketball referee that we all love so well! "Ain't it awful!" says Charlie.

HAVE YOU HEARD the vague rumor? Someone heard Fred Riley carrying on snatches of conversation with our erstwhile colleague, Marjorie Weaver, in the study hall last week. Of course, the authenticity of this news is not to be vouched for, but the oft-interrupted speeches seemed to be about dates or something. But then, they might have been talking about palm leaves, olive oil, etc., along with the dates, but it's worth investigating.

CHARLIE CRIPES mysterious power over women has become manifest again. Last week Charlie was walking down the hall with about four other fellows, occupying all the space from wall to wall. They met a teacher of the feminine species approaching from the opposite direction. Approaching her Charlie growled, "Out of my way, woman." The teacher meekly disappeared into a doorway. There was absolutely no alternative! When questioned concerning the secret of his success, Charlie maintained a stoical silence.

DID YOU SEE the four horsemasters (or women) who graced our halls last week. This little foursome, which was observed in the hall at a time when most of us had gone home, consisted of Esther Kempton, and of course, Dick Morris, Jean Russell and of course (again) Howard Donley. They seemed quite occupied over something. Perhaps they were discussing a future party or maybe they were discussing themselves!

THIS AND THAT

Basketball season is over and it ended quite disastrously for the boys who worked so hard to win a title. Why not look ahead for next year, and maybe a state title will be won by the fellows.

Coach Bradford definitely announced that Buchanan would compete in class 'B' next year—something that should have been done this year, but was neglected. Track season is a little way off. Buchanan has a chance to win a championship in that if the boys don't let that basketball game wreck the morale. The seniors of this year and Charles Cripe, the track captain, want every available person to go out for track that can possibly get out.

This is probably the first time in a long while that Buchanan has had such a golden opportunity to collect so all those fellows that think they can do something in track, start experimenting and see what you can do.

Track is a funny sport. You do not have to have so much polish and grace, but just a bit of natural ability. Just because you don't do wonders the first couple of years, don't give up. You may blossom out in the last two.

Three meets have been scheduled besides the District, Regional, and State meets. Those are with Niles, St. Joe and a triangle meet consisting of Niles, Dowagiac and Buchanan.

The basketball team of the past season wants to give its vote of appreciation to the students and townspeople who supported them all season.

The thirteenth week of interclass basketball tournament saw two games and one forfeit.

The first game was played between the junior high first team and the senior first team, the seniors winning by a score of 24 to 8.

In the second game between the juniors second team and the freshmen second team, the freshmen won by a score of 16 to 6.

The sophomores forfeited to the juniors in the last game.

A Strange Coincidence

When Marjorie Shreve was asked to connect three dry cells in physics class, she was very much surprised that she had accomplished a great job.

After a hard and tedious job, the wires were all connected to the dry cells, but they also had to be united to a door bell which would ring if the connection was correctly done.

Hurray! the bell was ringing. "What's only the school bell," exclaimed Mr. Moore. Marjorie then realized that the task was not so easy, but she succeeded at last.

How Joe, the Tramp, Became A Good Soldier

(By Marian Glasel)

It was Joe's delight to watch the soldiers marching when he was a small boy. There was an army of soldiers in his town. Joe's parents always made him stand erect for they wanted him to join the army some day. Joe, at the age of ten, was very ambitious and cared more than ever before about being a soldier.

At the age of 16 both of his parents were killed in an accident. Joe's life seemed bleak to him. He had never noticed the depression and that jobs were so scarce before.

He searched many weeks for a job. Finally this led him into tramping from one town to another. He had run out of money.

What's the school bell, exclaimed Mr. Moore. Marjorie then realized that the task was not so easy, but she succeeded at last.

to him. The man had noticed a little way and soon came back in the same fashion. Joe was standing by the corner of a building. He was more than surprised when the man in uniform came up to him. The man had noticed that Joe stood very straight and he thought he would make a good soldier. The man spoke to Joe.

"You're rather young for joining the country, aren't you?"

Joe answered, "Yes, I am, but it's the best I can do."

Then Joe told the man his life story, all about how he had wanted to be a soldier and all his difficulties. The man in uniform was a Lieutenant.

The lieutenant said, "Well, Joe, why don't you start over and try to be a soldier. You still have your good posture. I am a lieutenant and could get you in the army very easily. Don't you want to try?"

Joe answered happily, "Oh, you are a lieutenant! My that must be pleasant work. You certainly are encouraging. I think I will try."

"Joe, you come down to the barracks with me and I'll see what I can do for you," replied the lieutenant.

Joe was delighted with the idea of being a soldier. At the barracks he was enrolled and was in the junior high first team.

Joe was out training. He looked just as much as any soldier. Several years later, Joe had a promotion in the army and he has become a lieutenant.

Class Activities

3rd Grade, Miss Simmons

The following pupils were 100 per cent in spelling last week: Eloise Arthurhult, Robert Dodge, Robert Six, Kenneth McGowan, Denny Cowgill, Richard Bromley, Eleanor Ingelright, Jean Dalrymple, Bernadine Reamer, Martin Walter, Betty Squier, Betty Metzger, Doris Rohl, Richard Troutetter, Philip Sands, Francis Heim, Vassie Paul, Marion Blake, Diane Amond, Doris Hollenbaugh, Richard McClure, Nancy Jean Schultz, Lola Mae Dalenberg, Doris Rohl, Gwendolyn Ihrie, Bobby Swain, Melvin Dreitzler.

We have a number of pupils absent on account of measles. Mrs. Fischner's pupils and Miss Simmons' pupils entertained the mothers of their grades with an assembly program in the auditorium Tuesday afternoon.

Citizenship Classes

"Gee, whiz! What's the use of studying about money when you don't have any in fact, why must we even study about banks in the community when we haven't any of those?" questioned the citizenship class. That's what they're doing though. Maybe they'll be able to devise a plan as to how to keep banks from the state of insolvency.

The history class, consisting of tenth grade students, are delving into the American Revolution. After studying about the various revolutions they will begin to see a few necessities for preventing war.

Ladies and gentlemen, have you heard the rumors around? Since the seniors are studying the foundation of the American government, Bob Gladwish thinks he knows enough about government already to become president. Tsk! Tsk! What some persons do think of themselves.

Commercial Department

The past week, bills of sale and simple contracts have been studied and typed by the second year typists and the first year typists are working on different types of business letters. They have finished the basic technique. Bookkeeping classes have completed the purchase and sales journals and have reviewed all principles up to date. Now they are working on new sets.

Sight reading in short hand, including new material in business letters, is the work of the short hand class.

Junior High English

With another six weeks brought almost to a close the 7th grade English students will have their regular test Thursday, which will cover all the work they have taken up on complex sentences. This class has also been writing stories and studying story writing in preparation for the creative stories that they will have to write later.

The students that won honors in spelling for the past week are: Bessie Crothers, Sam Balch, Iris Dalrymple, Phyllis Lamb and Gerald White.

Languages

A spell down was held last week in Latin 9 class and Chery Blossom Heim came out as the winner. The whole class is studying the third conjugation of verbs and ablatives of cause.

The Latin 10 classes are now with Caesar as he attacks the Helvetians. They are taking this great hero of centuries past and comparing him with some of the great heroes of yesterday and today, finding many similarities.

Mrs. Weaver states that her French XI class is learning fast to tell time, make comments on the weather, give the seasons, and even argue in foreign languages.

Mathematics

Mr. Hyink's 9th grade algebra class is studying fractional equations, while his geometry class is studying pythagorean theorems. The solid geometry class is studying prisms and cylinders.

Watching their savings grow and finding compound interest in depositing money every half year is the chief work of the eighth grade classes. They are also learning the advantages of compound interest and how their amount is invested grows when a deposit is made every month.

Computing interest for months and days and learning the exact amount of time between dates is now the main factor in seventh grade arithmetic. They are now practicing in finding out their exact age by this method. They have found that last interest is considered an item of expense.

Journalism

In the journalism class the students are studying the chapter on meetings and Symposium. The "views" and also time is being spent on newspaper analysis.

Two reports, given Friday by Bernice Newsom and Louie Morse were taken from the New York Times.

Bob Gladwish and Bob Ellis had very excellent writing interviews for their lessons Wednesday. Both were very amusing and interesting.

History, Civics

The reconstruction of the South is the work of the 8th grade history classes. A test was given by the teacher, Mrs. French, covering material from slavery thru the Civil War.

To follow a talk given by Mr. Kaye, superintendent of Paw Paw public schools, is the main discussion in the 7th grade history. Russia was his subject and it has helped the students' great deal.

In Miss Thompson's department topics on the North Central States have been given daily. Maps have also been handed in on this section of the states.

English Department

Tuesday the seniors handed in their original stories. They are now studying the simple lyric. The most important of these are L'Allegro and Il Penseroso.

The Scholastic magazine was revived on Monday by the juniors MIKE and seniors. The juniors are busy with the Romantic writers of the 19th century.

The lives and writings of Thorau and Melville are being studied by the sophomore classes.

Classes Visit Court

When court was in session, silence fell upon the courtroom as the most interested commercial law class that went to St. Joseph on Thursday, Feb. 22, to attend and learn the principles of trial procedure and contracts.

Upon arriving at the court house the class found that court did not begin until 9:30 a. m. With 20 minutes wait ahead the county jail was immediately crowded with curious students from Buchanan and Three Oaks, who were also present.

Court was called to order by the clerk and everyone stood up while he said a few words. As the proceedings, some folks sat open-mouthed, listening to the arguing of the lawyers and a word from the judge.

When the trial was over, the jury retired to bring forth a verdict. At 12 o'clock court was adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

Home Economics

The various uses of bias tape are being taught the seventh and eighth grade girls. Each girl is making either the initials or some original design out of bias tape. The girls are doing "nicely" on their projects.

The 9th grade girls are learning the various ways of trimming with lace, ribbon and bias tape. They are doing well on their samplers and are starting to work on their model closet and wardrobe.

This being the last of cafeteria,

THE NEXT GOVERNOR?

To the most unobservant observer of the Michigan scene, it must have appeared in the past few months that a political "build-up" was in progress for the candidacy of Frank Fitzgerald, present secretary of state as the next governor of Michigan.

Fitzgerald became a logical candidate for political preference at the hands of his party when he nosed out Burnett Abbott for his present office, thereby distinguishing himself as the sole Republican incumbent of state office to survive the Democratic landslide. The tenor of Mr. Fitzgerald's public incumbent since that date has been such an impression that he is speaking with an eye to his political future.

And then all at once the cat steps out of the bag. Rev. H. B. Johnson, toastmaster at the annual Lincoln Day banquet at Pontiac March 2, introduced Fitzgerald as the future governor of Michigan.

The 10th grade girls will take up sympathetic understanding to the study of interior decoration. They will also finish their sewing projects this week.

Science

The ninth grade biology class has been studying the classification of plants and animals. A general discussion has constituted the main work of the class.

The magnetic effect of the electric current and its applications will be the topic of this week's physical experiments. Measuring the electric current will also come under this heading.

Mr. Moore's chemistry class has studied nitrogen compounds such as phosphorous and arsenic. A general study of the match will come under the phosphorous division.

The story of "Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing," a first National picture which comes to the Ready Theatre, Niles, on Sunday, March 12th was hailed by many critics as a sensational human document when it appeared in book form. Walnut's Popularity Walnut, both the plain and buried variety, was the principal wood used in English furniture of the eighteenth century. Queen Anne era.

Speaking of holding perfect hands—when you know what we mean—Warren Willard had the pleasure of holding one in a cribbage game at the Odd Fellow hall Tuesday afternoon of last week, and would probably have never thought about mentioning it if it had not been that the occurrence of a similar hand had not been given a box space in the news columns of the daily of a nearby city. Willard was paired with Arthur Wray in a game with Harris Simpson and John Fydel. The "perfect hand" which he drew consisted of four fives and the pack of the five turned. This totaled 29 points, the highest number possible in the game. Wray held twelve points, making a total of 41 for the side.
