FRIGIDAIRE'S TOP SOFTBALL LEAGUE TUESDAY NIGHT

Clark Office Noses Out Orioles in Surprise Victory; Hotel Rex Forfeits to Frigidaires.

As a result of the unlooked for defeat of the Orioles, leading team for the city softball league, by the cellar champions, the Clark Office team by a 10-9 score Monday evening, and the forfeit of Tuesday evening's game by the Hotel Rex team to the Thanning Frigidaires, the latter aggregation topped the percentage column at the end of the play Tuesday night.

The reason of the forfeiture by the Hotel Rex team was Rule No. 2 of the articles of agreement of the league, which states that all league games must be called at 6:30 p. m. with 6:45 p. m. as the limit. Any team which does not have 10 men on the field by the deadline-hour will be declared the losers and the game forfeited to their opponents, if the latter have their full quota ready for action at that time.

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple:—a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

Henry Ford

LOCAL MEN AID IN CONSTRUCTION OF STATE EXHIBIT

Display Industrial and Recreational Assets 'Occupies Place of Honor in Court of States.

Among those who created the Michigan exhibit, one of the most attractive state displays at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, are two Buchananites, Robert Rinker and Max Lister, who supplied the builders of the display with a number of trunks of small beech and oak trees, secured from around Buchanan.

These trunks were trimmed and taken to the Michigan building where preserved leaves were fastened, creating a most life-like resemblance of the original forest.

The Michigan exhibit occupies a place of honor in the Court of States. It was designed and executed by a commission of citizens appointed by Gov. W. A. Cooledge, with W. E. Knudson, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company executive chairman. Other members are Albert Kahn, internationally famous architect; Eugene H. McKay, vice president of the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek; Willard Dow, president of the Dow Chemical Company, Midland; and Mrs. Noyes L. Avery of Grand Rapids.

Dominating the Exhibit is the scene first viewed from the entrance through the long vista of the three connecting sections—an actual waterfall cascading into a pool fringed by water lilies, tangled underbrush and graceful ferns. Above, a message beckons: "Come to Michigan to Play."

Landscape artists provided a natural and colorful background for growing pines, transplanted from the north of Michigan. Hundreds of gallons of water per minute flow over the 12-foot brink into the foam-flecked pool 10 feet below, in which can be seen the quick flash of speckled trout.

Ranked along the undressed cedar log sidewalks of this recreational room stand ten dioramas (illuminated 8-inch scenes, seven feet wide and five feet deep, in which accurately modeled figures and objects in actual colors are combined with painted backgrounds). Among the sports and features of the Michigan outdoors depicted in these dioramas are: deer hunting; trout fishing; boat races on the Detroit river; beautiful Glen Lake; the American boat locks at Sault Ste. Marie; Porcupine Mountains; harbor scene at Mackinac Island showing the ancient fort and the modern hotel; winter sports; a typical state park and the bird sanctuary at Battle Creek.

Also in the room are two Balopticon machines which automatically display at intervals of a few seconds, large natural-color photographs from every section of the state.

The center of the recreational room is given over to a huge, electrically illuminated contour map of Michigan, elevated 30 inches above the floor. Thirteen by sixteen feet, and accurately built to scale from U. S. Geographical Survey maps, this unusual topographical-pictorial map presents a most striking bird's eye view of the state.

All the major inland lakes are shown, as well as Lake Michigan, Lake St. Clair and parts of Lake Superior and Lake Huron, with illuminated lighthouses in proper locations, and such islands as Mackinac, Grand Beaver, Manitowish, Grosse Ile and Les Cheneaux group. All principal streams, railroads with miniature trains, state and federal highways, and approximately 100 cities are included. The outdoor recreational features receive special emphasis; state parks, state and national forests, game refuges and other forested areas being indicated by stands of mighty trees. Tiny flags each representing a golf course, dot the map.

Agricultural areas devoted to general and fruit farming and dairying are shown in their respective regions, as are also the various mining regions which produce such commodities as copper. The last three are marked by scale reproductions of shaft houses.

All Michigan airports are shown and sparks sputtering from small antenna towers reveal the location of broadcasting stations. An ingenious mechanical illumination system gives the map dramatic animation.

The reception room, in which provision is made for the registration of guests, presents the high spots of Michigan's colorful history in six large murals, each 8 by 13 feet. All have been executed by famous Michigan artists: Walter Speck, Zoltan Sepeshy, Leona Makieski, Hunter Griffith and Roy Gamble of Detroit and Vivian Brown of Lansing.

The mural subjects extend back to the year when Michigan first reached Michigan, the first white man to enter this region: Father Marquette is shown arriving at St. Ignace in 1668, and St. Jusson is depicted three years later taking possession of all lands in the name of Louis XIV, King of France, Antoine de la Moite Cadillac, the explorer whose name is woven so closely through the fabric of Michigan history, is shown conferring in 1688 with the same monarch.

Another mural reveals the successful defense which Gladwin, the British commandant at Detroit, made in 1783 against Chief Pontiac, the chief of the original Indian resistance.

The sixth mural pictures the old wilderness road which first joined Michigan with what is now Chicago.

Display Industrial and Recreational Assets 'Occupies Place of Honor in Court of States.

Among those who created the Michigan exhibit, one of the most attractive state displays at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, are two Buchananites, Robert Rinker and Max Lister, who supplied the builders of the display with a number of trunks of small beech and oak trees, secured from around Buchanan.

These trunks were trimmed and taken to the Michigan building where preserved leaves were fastened, creating a most life-like resemblance of the original forest.

Or Anyway They Won If It Did Take 8 Walks; Guettler, Hartline Swing Home Bats.

It was a nice day for a walk Sunday although rather warm and the Glendora team took several walks—so many in fact that they won in a walk over the Buchanan Merchants by the score of 9-6.

Dannie Topash was off the peak form which won him laurels as a coming moundsman last year, and led eight men get to first base, three in one inning before an out of the sixth he went to left field and Loren Morse took up the burden of pitching, holding the galloping Wolverines fairly well in leash for the rest of the game.

The game was featured by the stick work of Guettler and Hartline of the Wolverines, the former registering five hits, one a home run, and the latter four hits.

Hatfield Objects to Law Allowing Secret Marriages

Judge Malcolm Hatfield of the Berrien County Probate Court states that he is opposed to the law which permits the probate judge to issue a marriage license, perform the marriage ceremony himself and then issue an undated marriage certificate. The judge says that the law which enables the routine work of his court as many couples from Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois are applying to him to perform the secret marriage ceremony.

Judge Hatfield states that he hopes the Michigan legislature will repeal the law which enables the probate judge to set aside the usual five day period before a marriage license is issued. He also recommends that the legislature refuse the probate judge the power of granting a marriage license and also issuing an undated marriage certificate. He says that the law which enables the routine work of his court as many couples from Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois are applying to him to perform the secret marriage ceremony.

In our business offices throughout Michigan that statement has been heard frequently during the past few weeks. Many of our former subscribers say that it has been hard to get along without a telephone—that they never realized how much they needed it until they were without one.

A telephone in the home has become almost a necessity. Just one telephone call in case of sickness, fire or accident may be worth more than the cost of the service for a lifetime. Order a telephone today. Installation will be made promptly.

You are cordially invited to visit the Bell Systems exhibit in the Communications Building, Century of Progress Exposition, Chicago, June 1 to October 31.

have many women inquired about the possibilities of jobs from the Conservation department, and practically all of these have been as conservation officers and as towermen.

While the Conservation department has never officially ruled against women for its field positions, when the real nature of the jobs are explained, invariably their curiosity ceases, it was said.

A conservation officer's job, the recorders say, is not merely wearing a uniform and riding around looking for game law violators but it frequently means sitting all night in a damp swampy watching for deer shiners and such similar tasks. The fire towerman, too, not only sits in his high perch watching for smokes, but in bad weather when there is not much danger from fire, he must aid in forest fire prevention work by building fire lines and posting signs.

"Black Friday" The name "Black Friday" is given to September 24, 1869, when a corner in gold, manipulated by Jay Gould and his partner, James Fisk, till the price reached 162 1/2, was suddenly broken by the government's purchasing with gold $4,000,000 of its own bonds. May 11, 1896, is also known as Black Friday, because of the failure of the London banking house of Overend & Gurney on that date, and the disaster which followed.

Anita Boyle is Graduated from Mich. State College

Among the 609 students who received degrees at the Michigan State College 75th annual Commencement in Demonstration Hall June 12, was Anita Opal Boyle, E. H. in Home Economics. The commencement exercises, at which Dr. W. D. Henderson, director of Extension at the University of Michigan gave the address, marked the end of a long series of senior activities during the preceding week. Senior Swingout on May 31 was the first of these events. Leading the seniors in their march about the campus was the 75 piece band under the direction of Leonard Falcone. Immediately following were the senior class officers. Lantern Night on June 5, the senior play June 7, and the Water Carnival June 9 and 10 followed in rapid succession. The colorful pageant of floats on the Red Cedar River depicted "The Song of America."

Alumni Day on June 10 was another outstanding event of the week. Old grads from all parts of the country joined in the Sunset Supper at the Union Memorial building and in the class anniversary luncheons. President R. S. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw welcomed the alumni at their home on that evening. Baccalaureate services were held on June 11. The Rev. J. W. Fifield, Jr., of Grand Rapids, delivered the sermon.

Large Audience Enjoys Dance School Program

An audience of 500 attended the "Impressions of the Dance" program given at the high school auditorium Thursday evening by twenty pupils of the Teresa White School of the Dance. Nearly every phase of the terpsichorean art was included in the colorful dance revue presented by Miss White's pupils, all of the numbers of which were originated and arranged by Miss White. The work of all the pupils from the four-year-old tots to the mature dancers who represented work worthy of professional artists was very well done and appreciated by the large audience. The technique was excellent and the costumes were very beautiful. The same program was repeated Saturday night at the LaSalle School of Music.

Scout Meeting Berrien-Cass Area At Niles June 16

Louis C. Upton, president of the Berrien Cass Council called a meeting of the Area Executive Board June 16th, in the Four Flags hotel of Niles. This is going to be the most important meeting of the year and it is expected that fifty men will be present. Members of the six district committees have also been invited to attend. Mr. Upton has several important questions of policy operation which will be acted upon. These will include the serving of units in non-contributing territory, the proposition of furnishing awards, the operation of the camp, the participation of all troops in council-wide activities, and the financing of council and its operation on the greatly reduced budget. Because of the importance of the meeting, special effort has been made to have every member present. Scout Executive Oscar Noll announced today that even under the trying conditions of the present time the Council again took its place in the "A" rating class, and gained 60 points over the rating three months ago. This is exceptional. Mr. Noll is going to present the Executive board his plan of operation under the commissioner plan which he believes will greatly increase the efficiency of the Council during the next year.

The summer camp at Madron and the policy covering its operation will also be up for discussion, many changes necessary because of the new type of camping will be taken up for O. K. The executive board of the entire area meets five times a year, the balance of the time the sub-committee of the board meets every two weeks. During the past three months, however, the committee has found it necessary to meet every week and meetings have been held every Saturday noon.

The following men will attend: Sat. Sun. June 17-18 BERNIE And His Band Draught Beer Reservation Sun. Night 25c Adm. FREE DANCING

Neighbors

When you came into the world, it was the neighbors who cheered your parents by praising your first smile.

Now that you are a man, with a citizen's responsibilities, it is your neighbors who help carry these responsibilities and who stand by to help you in your defeats and to cheer you in your victories.

When you die your neighbors will shed a few tears, and sing a few songs, and say a prayer for you. When you have a favor to bestow, even though it be only the favor of your patronage, wouldn't it be good sportsmanship to bestow that favor upon your neighbor?

In a thousand ways you are a partner in business with every man in your home town. Your interests are common. If all your neighbors should fail, you wouldn't remain in business a week. If all your neighbors succeed, you almost certainly will succeed with them.

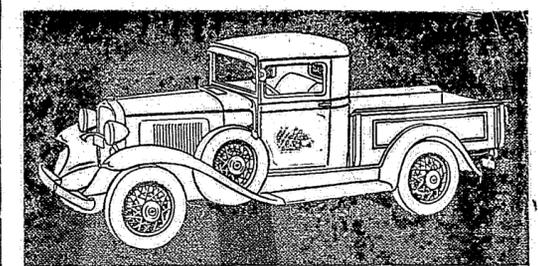

So, when you find yourself in need of a monkey wrench, a pair of pants, shoes, antacids, groceries, etc., or an insurance policy—to buy it from your neighbor is the next best thing to buying it from yourself.
