

Now Here's the Proposition

THEME SONG SELECTED
Howard Barbour, director of music for the Centennial, avails himself of this opportunity to announce that the music of "America" has been chosen and the following libretto selected to be sung as the Buchanan theme song by the massed choir and in community singing throughout the celebration.

The words are:
Buchanan, I love thee,
Thy tenacity,
(Don't tell my wife)
I love their charming wives
Their duds of latest styles
Bought in South Bend and Niles—
This is the life!

Town of the noble free!
No ten cent beer for me!
(But don't tell Mitch)
I but don't all the stills
Back in thy wooded hills
My heart-r-r-rapt with rapture
Thrills—
Moonshine and sich!

Land where our fathers died,
To many an elm tree tied,
At last reports,
Friends, Romans, lend your ears!
Now let us give three cheers,
Where do we go from here?
Hooray for Morf's.

Heat and Drouth

Conrad-Haas
Nuptials Read
Saturday Morn

Miss Ruby May Conrad, Cleveland, O., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Conrad of Buchanan, became the bride of Carl F. Haas of Lakewood, O., son of Mrs. Charles Haas of South Bend, in a ceremony performed at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, South Bend. The Rev. J. J. O'Rourke officiated before the altar which was decorated with red lilies.

Mrs. James McCartney played the "Wedding Chorus" from Lohengrin for the entrance of the wedding party, and Miss Florence (Cloutier of LaPorte, and Mrs. John Karall of South Bend sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "O Lord I am not Worthy."

The bride wore a tailored dress of powder blue crepe and her coronation bouquet was of white roses, lilies and blue delphinium. She was attended by Mrs. Alfred Leyes of Chicago, who wore a dress of tea rose crepe and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and baby breath. Mr. Leyes served as best man and the ushers were Russell and Howard Thornton.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast and a reception in the home of the bridegroom's mother, after which they left for Buchanan to be entertained by the bride's parents. They will take a trip through Michigan and will attend the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. They will be at home to their friends after July 10 at 1442 W. 101st street, Cleveland.

Mrs. Haas was a graduate of the Buchanan high school with the class of 1925, later graduating from the South Bend business college. For the past seven years she has been in the employ of the Westinghouse Co. Mr. Haas is an electrical designer.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Yost, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. King, Mrs. R. Reidenbach and Miss Emma Funtel, all of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newstead of Chicago; Miss Marie Martensen and Earl Matheny of LaPorte; Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Conrad and Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin of Buchanan; and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Conrad of Three Oaks.

DEAN MORLEY TO ADDRESS MERCHANTS OF BUCHANAN MONDAY NIGHT ON ADMINISTRATION OF STATE SALES TAX

State Tax Commission Advises That Each Community Work Out Its Own Method Collection.

The effect and manner of imposition of the new three per cent sales tax which goes into effect on Saturday, July 1, is a main theme of conversation among local business men, for the time even crowding the building situation from the picture temporarily at least.

Arrangements have been made for an address before local business men by Dean Morley, state representative from the First District of Berrien, who will discuss the sales at the Civic Association meeting Monday evening beginning at 8:30 p. m.

A number of merchants attended a meeting called last night by the Niles Chamber of Commerce at the Elks Temple to hear details of a plan for collection which has been adopted by Detroit merchants.

James E. Logan, managing director of the state tax administration board, said yesterday that that body had not yet prepared definite regulations for collection of the sales tax. Business men of each community will be expected to work out their own plan of collection and have it ready to hand over to the state, he said.

Property taxes, formerly chief source of state revenue, have not been due until Dec. 1, and the revenue has not actually reached the state's coffers until January. Every sale of goods to an ultimate consumer, whether it be a penny lollipop or a million-dollar yacht, must pay 3 per cent tribute towards the upkeep of the state. Electricity and gas used for domestic or commercial purposes also will be subject to the tax, and customers will have the amount added to their bills. The housewife in her daily shopping expeditions for bread, groceries, and household supplies must be prepared to pay the 3 per cent additional.

The tax is collectable from retail merchants, who in turn are permitted to pass on the levy to their customers. Merchants are expressly forbidden to advertise that the tax is not a factor in their selling price.

Rules and regulations to clarify and apply the act are unlikely to be promulgated before Monday, and then in a tentative form, subject to readjustment in the light of experience.

Merchants are first required to obtain licenses, costing $1 for each fiscal tax year starting July 1. Because the Board has had insufficient time to prepare licenses and forms, this requirement will be temporarily waived, but the tax year will start July 1 and merchants must establish bookkeeping systems which will enable them to prepare returns of that date.

The licenses will be distributed thru Chambers of Commerce about July 15. Retail merchandising will then be prohibited without a license. Hundreds of applications with license fees which Michigan's 53,000 retailers have sent to Lansing are being returned to permit of a more orderly sale when the forms are ready.

Such exemptions as $500 annually, $50 a month, and because merchants have no way of distinguishing between the taxable and nontaxable sale, they are entitled to collect $990,000 annually on $33,000,000 of sales, which will never reach the State Treasury.

On credit sales, each merchant is entitled to apply for permission to make his accounting only on the basis of cash receipts, and in the course of a regular business are not taxable. The householders can sell the discarded chair, and the farmer his livestock and produce without tax. Roadside vegetable stands which are regularly maintained and deal with the ultimate consumer are not exempt, however.

Sales to governmental units are exempt. Warfare orders ultimately to be paid for by the city may be deducted.

Wholesale and manufacturing establishments, whose commodity is later to be resold, are exempt. The wholesaler who makes an occasional retail sale must account, however, and the manufacturer whose product goes direct to a consumer is subject to the tax.

Return must be made by the 15th of the month for the preceding month. With the tax effective July 1, the first accounting therefore will be August 15.

Centennial Heads Ask for Products of Old Buchanan

For over twenty years, from the late sixties to the early nineties, Buchanan was one of the leading centers of the manufacture of furniture, wagons, carriages and other wood products in the Middle West. Perhaps the leading items of output were beds, lounges, wagons and carriages.

The Centennial committee would like to hear from any resident who has in his or her possession a Buchanan-made wagon, carriage bed or any article of household furniture. For a time the manufacture of cabinet organs was an industry here. The committee would like to hear from anyone who has an organ made in Buchanan.

Will Observe
Children's Day

The Hills Corners Christian church, Glendora, Mich., will observe Children's Day, Sunday, July 2, at 8 p. m. The pageant, presented by the children and the young people of the church. The theme of the pageant is the power by which Christ leads all people into the satisfaction of Christian service. This way is "the way of the cross." As the pageant unfolds, two pilgrims are to be seen traveling the earth in search of the way of life. The program has been prepared and directed by Mrs. J. G. Boyle and Miss Marian Boyle, assisted by other able helpers.

At the morning worship service, the pastor, Ernest L. Harrold, will bring a message on "Can the Church Live Without Missions?" The public is invited to both of these services.

ST. JOE VALLEY SHIPPING ASSOC. ISSUES DIVIDEND

Fourteenth Consecutive Dividend of Seven Per Cent Paid; Three Directors Re-Elected.

The story of 14 years of continuous successful operation through fair economic weather and foul was told in the report read by Manager A. J. George at the annual meeting of the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association held in the basement of the Presbyterian church Saturday evening.

The regular dividend of 7 per cent on the shares of $100 par value was declared, this dividend never having been passed in the history of the organization. The statement of assets and liabilities revealed that in the event the total business were divided equally among the 67 stockholders, each $100 share would be worth the sum of $439.87, which compared more than favorably with such so-called "securities" as U. S. Steel, American G.S. General Motors, Chrysler and others.

The annual election of officers was held the following three directors being re-elected: A. E. Houswerth, A. G. Haslett, Jim Reed.

The business session was followed by a talk by County Agent H. J. Lurkins, who advised the farmers to profit by the report of the business success of the Shipping association and the credit union and invest in their own business.

"Mrs. W. take care of the scarcity," he stated, in regard to the propaganda now being issued on crop limitation.

Lyman Campbell Dies Suddenly at Clear Lake Woods

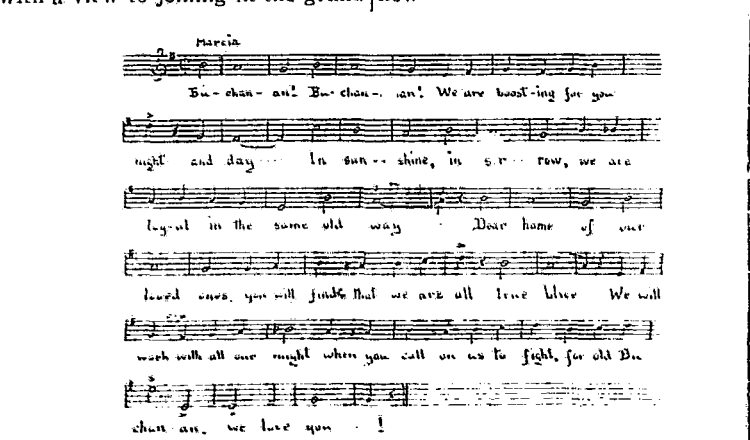

Lyman Campbell, former local manufacturer and a resident of this city for many years, died very suddenly at his summer home at Clear Lake Woods about 8:30 p. m. yesterday, cause of death apparently being heart trouble induced by excessive heat. It is reported that Mr. Campbell was believed to be in good health at the time of his death. He had made his home recently at 1450 West 81st Street, Chicago, and had moved his family to his summer home at Clear Lake Woods two weeks ago.

Mr. Troutfetter, caretaker at the Barton home is recovering satisfactorily after a major operation at the Pawling hospital.

Mrs. Ray Weaver has been taken to the Warren Clinic at Michigan City for treatment.

Buchanan Centennial Theme Song

Here's your Buchanan theme song, words and music hot from the brain of that well-known local musician and songsmith, Howard Barbour, and it is now up to all good citizens to memorize both with a view to joining in the grand chorus during the Centennial celebration here. The tune is catchy and the words sing well. So everybody be kind to their throats until July 27 and then join in the grand chorus. Everybody ready—now—

ANNUAL REUNION GALLEN SCHOOL NEXT SATURDAY

Teachers and Pupils of Near and Remote Past Plan Get-together for Auld Lang Syne.

The annual reunion and reminiscing bee of the Gallen school pupils and teachers will take place in the Gallen M. E. church, Saturday evening, July 1st, with a pot luck supper in the basement at 7 p. m. sharp and a business and fellowship meeting in the church auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Many of the more remote old timers have been especially invited and several have declared their intention of attending. Considerable interest is being shown by the classes of the late teens and the early twenties.

Mr. Robinson has kindly promised us the services of his nine-piece ensemble for the evening. And when the old gang gets warmed up the boys will probably sing "Sweet Adeline" and the girls will play hop scotch.

Centennial Fete Heads Offer Prizes for Machine Models

Young aviation enthusiasts will have their opportunity at the coming Centennial and Home Coming celebration, according to announcement just made by the committee in charge. Window space in one of the well-located business places of the city will be devoted to display of model airplanes and prizes will be given to the best reproduction. An effort is being made to have every person interested in the building of planes to have at least one model on display. Competent judges will be asked to make the awards.

In addition to the aviation model the committee is asking that any other model of other machinery, such as trains or ships and the like, be entered in the display, prizes for which will be awarded. It is expected that there will be enough entries to fill one or perhaps two large windows and that they will prove to be one of the finest attractions of the Centennial.

Members of the 1933 Limit Club

Herb Hanover, Charles Simpson, Ted Rouse and Charles Bachman caught their limit in bluegills and sunfish on the opening day of the season.

Frank King started fishing at midnight Saturday and had his limit in bass by 5:15 a. m. We don't know what lake he fished in or whether it was 5:15 a. m. Sunday or Monday.

Harry Post and Roy Pierce caught their limit in blue gills and bass at Indian lake Sunday.

Let's Clean House
Why not start a clean-up, paint-up campaign now to be finished before the opening of the Centennial and Home Coming? Thousands of people are expected on Buchanan's streets during the three days of festivities and about the worst that could happen would be for visitors to find the city wearing a coat of grime or presenting the appearance of days of '76 rather than of '33.

Water costs little, paint is inexpensive and there are plenty of unemployed men who could and would be glad to spend a few hours tidying up either business places or residences. Buchanan can well afford to put on a new dress for its 100th anniversary. Make the old new clothes add pep to any individual and it will work wonders with a community. Here's an opportunity to try it out.

First Farm Credit Union In Michigan Survives Banking Storms; Declared Success

COMMISSION ASKS CO-OPERATION IN USE CITY WATER

Heavy Demands for Sprinkling Overtax Plant Capacity Tuesday; Drouth Intensifies Situation.

Although the demands from the city water works have become very unusual as the drouth is prolonged, the supply should be adequate for all purposes if the residents of the city will co-operate in a system of division of use, according to F. C. Hathaway, chairman of the waterworks committee.

The following plan of co-operation in use of water for sprinkling is urged for all residents: those living in even numbered houses to sprinkle only during even hours, as 4 to 5, 6 to 7; all those living in odd numbered houses sprinkling only in odd hours as 5 to 6, 7 to 8.

Although the capacity of the plant is rated at 1,200 gallons per minute, the supply was stepped up to 2,000 gallons per minute on Tuesday evening in order to keep up with the demands of sprinkling and as a result the supply was muddled badly. The division of hours for use will have the effect of cutting the demand in half for any particular hour. It is believed that this method will be more convenient than the old way of requesting residents of one part of town to sprinkle in the morning and the rest at night.

The use of an open hose without a nozzle for watering is forbidden by city ordinance, which requires a nozzle not to exceed a quarter of an inch in diameter, without special permission. No hose larger than 3-4 inches may be used without additional charge. Violation of the above provisions is punishable by $50 fine or 30 days in jail.

Relative standings in the City Softball League remained comparatively unchanged at the conclusion of the sixth week's play Tuesday evening, Thuring's Frigidaires remaining at the top with no games played, and the Bend of the River Grange fatterening their average somewhat by a victory.

He was pulling a rope when it broke and he fell backward off the load, fracturing a pelvic bone of his left hip. He is now being treated at the Wallace hospital. He is 69 years of age.

MERCHANTS GET 6-1 REVENGE FROM BARODA

Locals to Play Lyddick Here Sunday; Michigan City Dairy Team Here Afternoon July 4.

The Buchanan Merchants returned with sweet revenge in the form of a 6-1 victory over the team from that place, whom they credit with their only bona fide defeat of the season in an early game.

Bob Morse, regular pitcher for the Merchants, was hot Sunday, retiring sixteen men by strikeouts and issuing no passes. Henderson, the Baroda big train, was not so good on this occasion, walking 4 and striking out 5. O'Brien substituted for Miller in the sixth in the Buchanan line-up, and Arend substituted for Ritz at left field in the Baroda lineup in the first of the seventh.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play the Lyddick Independents and on Tuesday, July 4, they will play the Rehlender Dairy nine of Michigan City, both games being on the local diamond.

Local Farmers Saved from Ruinous Interest Rates of Loan Shark Companies After Bank Collapse.

Maybe a smile will do some people for an umbrella, but for the majority a little money laid away or at least a chance to get some on terms something less than murderous would be preferable.

It was for the purpose of taking care of the credit needs of farmers in contingencies that had been driving them to resort to the legal loan sharks, paying charges of 3 1/2 per cent monthly on their borrowings. The increasing shortage of the normal banking facilities through the failure of banks or the curtailment of the scope of their activities had been driving the farmers of this district in considerable numbers to resort to the loan shark concerns.

Because of the fact that the Buchanan section was outstanding in the state in the development of successful co-operation among the farmers, and possessed sound and thriving general farm co-operative concerns in the St. Joe Valley Shipping Company, the department of economics of Michigan State college selected this place for an experiment with the farm credit union idea.

The experts of the college came to Buchanan last summer and in collaboration with the officials of the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association they drew up a plan for a credit union. This union got under way in August, 1932, with nine members and stock issued to the extent of $45.

According to the regulations of the organization, loans might be made to individual farmers to the maximum of $300 for farm purposes, the special purpose being to refinance the so-called "legal loans" of the loan sharks. The rate of interest was to be 1 per cent per month as compared with the 3 1/2 per cent of the loan sharks. As a result one well known and solvent farmer who had been compelled by an urgent need for ready cash borrowed $70 from a loan shark, refinanced the loan through the credit union. For the $70 he borrowed from the loan shark he paid at the rate of $2.45 per month. He borrowed $200 from the credit union, giving as security a bunch of shoats nearly ready for market and paid for that amount only $2 per month.

A credit committee consisting of James Reed, Albert Houswerth and Charles Tichenor was named to pass on the collateral for any loan, the requirement being that the market value of the collateral should be twice the amount of the loan. A number of loans were made for various purposes, all essential to farm business, such as buying horses, buying a truck, buying feed for stock.

The loan union, in which this credit union could do in cases where its collateral requirements were met would be unlimited if the organization could get money from banks. According to its regulations it is not allowed to use deposits for loans. It must remain practically 100 per cent illiquid for the withdrawal of deposits.

A skeptical attitude toward banks on the part of the organizers was responsible for the insertion of a clause forbidding the management to deposit over $500 in any one bank, the excess over that amount going to postal savings.

As a result of curtailment of operations it has been impossible for the credit union to protect the farmers as fully as when their collateral requirements were met, as would otherwise have been possible.

An indication of what happens when a farmer fails to meet the rigid requirements of a loan company was furnished by an instance which occurred within three miles of Buchanan last spring when a farmer was sold out completely at auction by a loan shark foreclosure. The mortgage given to the loan company covered not only the farm stock and equipment, but the house furnishings, including even the dishes, silver table service and window curtains.

The constitution of the union limits membership to farmers who are members of the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association but the word "membership" is interpreted by the state college experts as "customer." Each member is required to own one share costing $5. There is an initiatory fee of 25c to cover cost of enrollment and of the account book which each member receives. Interest of 3 per cent is paid on deposits, computed for each calendar month. The directors meet at call and serve without pay. No official of the union may borrow in excess of his holdings in the union. A loan may be made without collateral only if it is endorsed by a

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

CASH THAT CHECK IN BUCHANAN

The query, "Where can I cash a check?" which has been a leading question of the day in Buchanan not only since the well-known moratorium, but for many months before since the folding up of the two local banking institutions, has been answered by the development of the check cashing service now maintained by the Buchanan Farmers' Credit Union at the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association.

This service was initiated by the Civic Association in February, shortly before the closing of all the banks and has been maintained at some difficulty during all of the financial troubles ensuing.

This has been of inestimable use to the business men in enabling them to accommodate their customers in cashing their checks. The business men have been prompt to realize it and have subscribed to a fund to recompense the Credit Union for its trouble in their behalf. The public spirited men and organizations who have subscribed are as follows:

IS BUCHANAN A CITY?

"Buchanan has got to forget a few things," stated a farmer on a visit to this place recently. "In the first place you have got to get over this high hat notion that you are a city. You're not a city; you're just a bunch of farmers who have retired."

That statement set us thinking and some way we couldn't see eye to eye with the visiting ruralist. What is a city anyway and just what is it that puts Buchanan out of the city class? Is there anything really high hat about calling your town a city?

So we went first to our old friend, Noah Webster. He told us that city was derived from the Latin word, "civitas," which was applied in ancient times to any place large or small, including such hamlets as Bethlehem and Nazareth. In ancient times in England, when the word was first adapted to English usage, it was applied only to towns that had cathedrals in them, and were the seat of a bishop's see. Later the term became an honorary title conferred by the king at his discretion on any town. In Scotland and Ireland the word city applies to any cluster of habitations, large or small. Along the eastern seaboard of the United States the word first acquired the significance the farmer gave it of an especially large place. In the west and middle west the term signifies a type of civic organization rather than a size.

When influential residents of Buchanan started a campaign for a "city" form of government a few years ago, they had in mind rather an ideal of progress than any "snooty" distinction in size and importance. And as a matter of strict fact Buchanan is entirely entitled to the use of the word without being justly liable to a charge of high hatting. The high hatting is as a rule on the part of those who wish to deny the town the right to the term.

There is considerable absurdity in this high hatting between places. Your true New Yorker, for instance, will hardly grant Chicago the right to the title, preferring to call it a "country town." A few years back an Englishman of the supercilious type, Mr. G. K. Hesterton, delivered a series of lectures at Notre Dame University, South Bend. On his return to his native city of London, which is, of course, the largest and, in his own estimation, the only real "city" in the world he referred to South Bend as a "dismal and rambling country village."

But going back to our text, supposing we are indeed a bunch of farmers who have retired. Let's admit it. What's there to be ashamed of? Why does that bar us from the city class? We submit that there is no accepted dictionary definition, and no legal discrimination that excludes this town from the use of the term "city." We further assert and maintain that those who would deny the town the use of the term simply don't "know their groceries," and should wise themselves up a bit.

And finally we want to inquire: Just who is getting high hat?

NEW STATE LAW CHANGES SETUP ON PAYMENT TAXES

Penalty Charged Only on 1932 Arrears; Previous Delinquencies May Be Amortized.

As a result of two laws passed by the 57th Assembly of the Michigan legislature, recently adjourned, the old order of payment of delinquent taxes has been reversed and it now behooves the property owner whose taxes are in arrears to take care of the more recent assessments.

If 1932 levies are paid by November 1, neither interest nor penalties will be charged. The same is true of 1931 and 1932 taxes. There is this distinction, however, Taxes for years prior to 1932 may be paid any time up to September 1, 1935, without penalty, but 1932 taxes not paid by November 1 of this year immediately become subject to all the statutory penalties and interest. Even in 1935 only one tenth of all 1931 and prior taxes need be paid, but there is no provision for amortizing 1932 and subsequent levies. If they are not paid interest and penalties will mount, and after three years the property will be subject to tax sale.

What New Laws Provide The new laws provide this relief for the property owner: Pay 1932 and subsequent taxes and all other back taxes may be parcelled together and virtually be forgotten until 1935. Then they may be paid in ten annual equal installments, with all penalties abolished and only four per cent interest charged. The interest does not begin until Sept. 1, 1935, the date the first installment is due. Installments must be kept up, however, or the land becomes subject to tax sale the following May. Any time between the date an installment is due and the following May the owner may redeem by paying the installment missed, plus four per cent interest on the unpaid balance, plus an added three per cent interest on the unpaid balance, plus an added three-fourths of one per cent interest as a penalty for failing to meet the installment on time. The legislature first enacted the Bellows bill, extending the time for paying 1930, 1931 and 1932 taxes without penalty or interest until July 1. These three years were specified because delinquencies older than 1930 were subject to sale last year. Next, the Moore-Holbeck act was passed. It extended the time for paying all delinquent taxes, save those of 1932 to Sept. 1, 1935, without penalty or interest. If any property on which taxes were delinquent prior to 1930 had not been sold the owner may amortize the old taxes with those of more recent years. On July 1, the Bellows act becomes ineffective. John K. Stack, auditor-general, acting under a legislative resolution, has granted a further extension for payment of last year's levies to November 1. Those who have not paid 1932 taxes by that time will see penalties and interest on that year's levies begin to mount. For all other delinquencies, however, the Moore-Holbeck bill will step in to prevent either penalties or interest and technically set aside the charge of delinquency against the property. Although the legislature made no direct provision demanding the payment of 1932 and subsequent current taxes, the delinquent tax relief measure makes it mandatory for the owner to pay 1932 levies and those of following years, within three years. If 1932 taxes are not paid the owner cannot use the installment plan for retirement of previous delinquencies, for his property will become subject to sale in 1935. If 1933 taxes are not paid by 1936 the property would become subject to sale in that year and after one installment of the delinquent amountization had been met the owner would be liable to lose his holdings.

The formula written by the new act is: Pay 1932 and subsequent year taxes as promptly as possible to avoid penalties and interest. Pay all delinquencies, prior to 1932, any time before September 1, 1935, or pay one tenth of them in 1935 and one tenth each year thereafter until retired.

P. P. FIDOS HAVE LUNCH ON PRODUCERS CREAM

Expect Tougher Chewing in South Bend Malleable Iron At Letcher's Diamond Sunday.

"We upset their milk can and lapped up the cream" was the report brought back by the Greyhounds from their game with the Producers Dairy nine on the Letcher diamond Sunday, the score in that contest having been 9 to 3 in favor of the Prairie Airdales.

Next Sunday afternoon, the Greyhounds have a different proposition at the Letcher diamond in the South Bend Malleable Iron nine, one of the best in that city. Iron is a little tougher proposition than butter but the Greyhounds state that they are malleable and maybe they can hammer them into shape in nine innings. The game with the Producers Sunday was a tight contest with the pitchers well in control and the defense of both teams functioning well. The Greyhounds infield was working in big league form and stopped a number that might have been hits. The Producers were almost as good. Seabasty struck out eleven men and his opponent, Preston, struck out nine. Tibbison of the Producers got only one hit but that was a home run.

Sometimes we think children ask too many questions and we discourage them in this. They may then think it is wrong to ask questions—and do not learn as much as they would if encouraged to ask questions.

Young men and women who are too proud or too scared to ask questions are less successful in life.

Much useful knowledge is gained by asking questions of others who learned the right answers from experience.

Everybody ought to keep his question-box open, regardless of his age.

An authority once said that most millionaires who got there by their own ability were good question askers.

We ask ourselves here: How can we give you better values? And we are now giving you a better-than-ever answer to that question.

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Joel 2:26): "And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you; and my people shall never be ashamed."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite Principle. Love. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

World Famous Contralto to be at Benton Harbor 4th

The story of Mme. Schumann-Heink's triumphs in the land where she now makes her home would make a long story.

Mme. Schumann-Heink's announcement that she was about to retire professionally brought forth such urgent appeals for her to make one more appearance in cities where she has not visited recently that she has decided to give a few recitals during the season of 1933.

Schumann-Heink made her American debut Jan. 9, 1899, when she sang the role of "Ortrud" at the Metropolitan Opera Company performance of "Lohengrin" at Chicago. She was recalled twenty times in this sensational appearance.

Three years ago she celebrated her Golden Jubilee of song. In celebration she sang 70 choruses to packed houses, and was honored by 12 governors, 50 mayors and city officials, colleges and fraternal organizations. This was followed by a Farewell Tour, which, due to the many cities wishing to hear her, has extended far beyond the period she originally intended.

When the final pages of music history are written the name of Madame Schumann-Heink will appear conspicuously. There will be attached to that name a record extending over half a century of artistic achievements touching both opera and concert, in which voice, interpretative resources and human kindness have joined in contributing to the happiness and enlightenment of innumerable persons.

Don't fail to hear this world-famous singer with a record of over half a century of artistic achievement!

S. W. Michigan Swimmers to Meet at St. Joe July 4

Opportunities for swimmers in southwestern Michigan to win honors and medals will be given July 4 when a number of short distance swims will be staged in the St. Joseph harbor. These swims vary in length from 100 to 400 yards and are open to amateur swimmers only.

Surprising as it may seem, the Twin Cities have few strong swimmers and as a result may depend upon outside entries to make a showing.

Gold, silver and bronze medals for the first three places will be awarded in each event, including the fancy diving.

The longer two-mile swim, staged for the past two years, has been abandoned this year in favor of the shorter swims, with the thought in mind to promote races which will attract local swimmers.

Other aquatic events to be staged by the Fourth of July Committee of the St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce during the afternoon and evening, commencing at 2:30 p. m. E. S. T. consist of sailboat racing by boats of the star, snipe and catboat classes, together with a handicap cruiser race for the larger motor craft, a cutter race by the Twin City Naval Reserve, band concerts and the usual spectacular display of fireworks in the St. Joseph harbor at 9:30 p. m.

Last year a crowd of nearly 10,000 persons lined the banks of the river and harbor and it is confidently expected that upwards of that figure will be present this year when the starting gun is fired.

Breech-Loading Shotguns
The first practical double-barreled, breech-loading shotgun was made in 1836 by a French gunsmith, Casimir Lefancheux (1802-52). Although this was a crude weapon in most respects, it is a remarkable fact that its inventor utilized for the first time the principle of having the barrels tip downward from a hinge near the breech, a form which has never been improved upon and is used today by practically all shotgun makers.

ASK STATE FARMERS PLANT LESS WHEAT

Proposed Plan will Pay Bonus for 20 Per Cent Out in Acreage on Michigan Farms.

The step taken by the administrators of the Farm Relief Act in adjusting the acreage of basic crops to the normal demand from consumers will directly affect the Michigan farmer, who will be asked to reduce by 20 per cent the 765,800 acres of wheat grown annually in this state, and all consumers of wheat products will be indirectly affected, according to announcements made from Washington, D. C., by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Michigan is not usually considered to have vital interests in wheat crop but the production here totals over 15 million bushels annually. The acreage planted to wheat in the state is equal to the total acreages planted to rye, barley, buckwheat, sugar beets, and potatoes. As the Michigan wheat acreage is mostly confined to the southern portion of the lower peninsula, it is apparent that the proposed curtailment of wheat acreage will materially affect Michigan farm practices.

The plan proposed by Secretary Wallace to bring the wheat acreage within the limits called for by consumers is to reduce the acreage of the 1934 and 1935 wheat crops not to exceed 20 per cent. This would mean a reduction of 1,531,600 acres in Michigan if all wheat growers co-operated with the federal government.

No Michigan farmer is required to reduce his wheat acreage. All farmers will be asked to co-operate and those who believe that the payments to be made by the government for decreases in acreage will recompense them for the reduction in bushels marketed will sign contracts to cut their wheat plantings by the amount to be determined by the administrators of the act.

Farmers who believe that they can make more money by planting their usual acreage of wheat for sale on the open market will not sign contracts and will receive sign payments from the government.

Payments to be made to farmers will be obtained by placing a processing tax upon the 1933 crop of wheat as it goes through the mills to be made into flour. The amount of tax to be levied is tentatively placed at 30 cents per bushel but this can be changed by Secretary Wallace at any time that market conditions warrant.

Present intentions are to advance two-thirds of the bonus payment to farmers about Sept. 15, 1933, and to pay the balance upon evidence of fulfillment of the crop reduction contract.

County committees of farmers will be organized with the aid of the county agricultural agent. The purpose of the committee is to find the average acreages of wheat grown by farmers in the county, to find how many farmers are willing to reduce the number of acres grown, to ask farmers who are willing to reduce acreage to sign crop reduction contracts, and to decide whether or not the co-operators have fulfilled their contract.

Expenses incurred by the committee will be deducted from payments made to that county.

Attempts to defeat the purposes of the act by farmers who make optimistic reports of their previous wheat acreages are to be checked by surveys made by local men who know the amounts of wheat previously sown by their neighbors.

Expenditure of the bonus payments for added amounts of fertilizer to be applied on the reduced acreage will be dealt with by the county committees. Other crops can not be sown on land taken from wheat production.

"Our first duty is to the farmer," is the statement of George N. Peek, who is in charge of all plans of crop reductions Mr. Peek continues, "We propose to be watchful of the interests of others. The plan is financed by a processing tax but this should not mean necessarily that the entire tax is to be passed on to the consumer."

For example in 1909-1913, hard winter wheat sold for 95c a bushel at Kansas City, flour sold for $4.38 a barrel and bread was made at 6c per pound. In 1933, wheat sold for 46.9c per bushel in Kansas City, flour sold for $3.85 a barrel but bread retailed for 6.7 cents per pound.

"Wheat prices dropped more than 50 per cent but bread prices rose 10 per cent. Such a spread suggests that at least part of the processing tax should be absorbed in the difference between the price paid for wheat to the farmer and the price paid by the consumer for bread."

If all Michigan farmers accept the government plan of lowering the number of acres sown to wheat, crop plans on 63,968 farms in this state will be affected, and the operator on each of these farms will derive a greater income from his wheat crop while planting fewer acres.

The time for one season's crop may not be successfully collected a dividend in the United States senate. It would not have sufficient endurance if its rules and regulations were strictly enforced. It must have the tact, if not the public assistance of other senators in order to be even partially successful in delaying certain legislation.

Comstock May Veto Anti-Chain Tax, Old-Age Pension

It is anticipated that at least three of the laws passed by the recent session of the Michigan legislature vitally affecting the welfare of the people of Michigan may be vetoed by Gov. Comstock before the time limit for his disapproval expires this week.

They are:

1. Chain store license fee, primarily a punitive measure to establish a trade handicap in favor of the independent merchant. Annual fees range from $10 for the second store to $250 for each store over 25. Approximately 4,000 Michigan stores would be affected, and the $2,000,000 in State revenue inevitably would be reflected in higher food costs.

2. Old age pension, with a $2 head tax upon each adult, payable annually as its revenue source.

3. Milk price regulation bill, treating with milk as a public utility.

The Governor had not fully reached a decision on any of these measures when he left the Capitol but was dissatisfied with special provisions of each.

His objection to the chain store license fee is a possible Constitutional conflict with the 3 per cent sales tax, the State's main source of revenue and estimated to produce $32,000,000 annually. Both measures tax the privilege of doing business.

Whether the privilege of being a branch store is something that can be taxed separately is a question for legal determination.

Old Age pensions were urged by Gov. Comstock in his inaugural message and are a Democratic party pledge.

If the Governor signs, every resident over 21 years of age, numbering more than 2,000,000, must register with his county clerk by Oct. 1, and must pay the $2 tax between Dec. 1 and March 1. The exaction, despite its laudable purpose, is certain to be given a nuisance classification by the public.

The milk regulation bill is the first State attempt at price fixing of a commodity in daily demand. An emergency measure due to expire in two years, it invokes the State's power through a board of five to be named by the Governor, and a general manager, to regulate every phase of dairymaking.

The bill fixes a price minimum of $1.75 a hundredweight to the producer. The trade has discussed $1.35. Higher prices seem inevitable for the consumer. While Gov. Comstock finds it difficult to be enthusiastic over the State entering the price-fixing field, the bill is in line with the national Industrial Recovery Act in that it seeks to establish fair trade standards and to eliminate cut-throat competition.

National Champion to Enter Chicago Model Plane Meet

Joseph Ehrhardt, St. Louis, Mo., twice winner of the International Wakefield Trophy for model airplanes, has entered in the American Model Airplane Speed Tournament which will be held in conjunction with the American Air Races at the Chicago Municipal Airport on July 1st to 4th.

Ehrhardt, one of the few winners of national contests held throughout the world to ever win the Wakefield Trophy twice. He first won it in 1930, after capturing the American National Model Plane Contest, and again in 1931 when he represented the U. S. during the international contest in England.

Besides Ehrhardt, winners and runners-up in other important model plane contests have entered in the American Model Airplane Speed Tournament. They include Robert Pelkelsma, of Chicago, who won the Chicago Metropolitan Championship in 1931, and the American Legion Model Plane Contest, 1932, and Gordon Christoff, of Chicago, who placed second to Pelkelsma in the Metropolitan Championship of 1931.

Planes entered in the American Model Airplane Speed Contest must be capable of flying under their own power. Attempts to break the speed record, which is 60 miles-an-hour at present, will be made by many of the entrants.

E. M. (Matty) Laird, designer of famous racing planes, who will attempt to set a new world's speed record in one of his racing planes, will probably judge some of the model speed contests, officials declared yesterday.

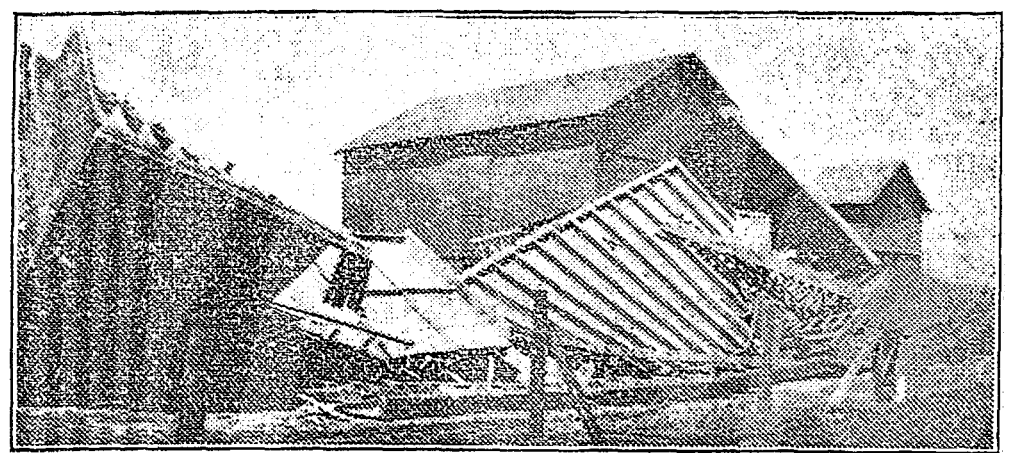

Laird, in his youth was a member of the Illinois Model Aero Club of Chicago and won many of the club's contests with his rubber driven airplanes.

As a result of his model plane work, all the airplanes he has designed and built have shown that speed quality in them, from his first 12-horsepowered ship to his highest powered Laird Super Solution which was flown by Maj. James H. Doolittle on his transcontinental speed dash. Even to this day, Matty Laird takes great interest in model aviation, particularly in the coming American Model Airplane Speed Tournament.

Yellow Water Lily Food
The Klamath Indians used to utilize the seeds of the common yellow water lily for food. The squaws would go out to the lily patches in canoes to gather the seed pods. One method they used to extract the seeds from the pods was to bury the pods in holes in the ground and let them stay there until they fermented into a mucilaginous mass from which the seeds could be freed by washing. The seeds were then used as meal or parched whole.

Big Record for Month May Shows Times are Better

As everyone knows the business of the Windstorm Insurance Company of this city brings it into close touch with the people of every part of Michigan. Consequently whatever new business it gathers in, within a given period, is a fair index of economic conditions in this state. The big volume of new insurance taken by the Windstorm Company agents in the month of May this year furnishes the most ample proof that times are decidedly better in Michigan. Not in any month in over two years has this company booked such a large volume of new risks as in May, 1933, when the total new insurance was $10,292,530. The people of this state would have been just as willing in May 1932 or May 1931 to have given the Windstorm Company as large a volume of new business as they did in May this year; but they did not have the money then and were not able to get it, so the business was not forthcoming.

A company that can add over $10,000,000 of new insurance in a single month is certainly to be congratulated. It is useless to add that such a showing would not be possible except for the splendid reputation and record of this company, and the fine spirit and fair dealing it has always shown. When people can get such satisfactory insurance as the Windstorm company furnishes at the very low price patrons have to pay for it, they realize that it is a wise investment and nothing but inability to pay could or would keep them from getting such insurance. The company not only writes a liberal policy but makes fair adjustments and prompt payments of losses. The company maintains itself in such a sound financial position that it can always pay its losses promptly. That is why it was able to make such a showing for May, 1933. We congratulate the company and its agents, and congratulate the people who have purchased over $10,000,000 worth of first-class insurance in a first-class company. —Hastings Banner, June 14, 1933.
