

Now Here's the Proposition

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Way out where the wild canaries Have cars that are long and hairy. That's where the west begins; Where they all hope to soon be wealthy

Where the climate is very healthy! For all but the bandits stealway. That's where the West begins.

Where the guys that agin the law go Soon find that it ain't Chicago— That's where the west begins; Where the ante's a wee bit higher Where the end is a wee bit nigher, And they know when they hear a liar.

That's where the West begins; Where the boys shoot a wee bit straighter Where their nerve is a wee bit greater

That's where the West begins; Where the trail of the bandits ended

In a way that was not intended And everything turned out splendid--

That's where the West begins.

THE GRIST OF THE MILL Well, friends and neighbors, all we know is just what we hear at the barber shop but at that we're a whole day ahead of Bill Rogers, who doesn't know anything until the paper is out.

But didn't our little spell of Miami midwinter get a sore throat over the week-end! Topash has been hitting it pretty well on forecasts until this week, but we gotta chalk up an error for him.

Wasn't it fine about the Clark Equipment company getting that order for all those axles from wherever it was—Jericho, seems to me, or was it Hong Kong? That'll keep the boys working.

Then there was the good news about the city breaking ground next week for the new city hall on the vacant lot south of the hose house. The contract calls, we understand, for an expenditure of $25,000, funds to be loaned by the federal government under the P.W.A. And all without it costing a cent to the taxpayers, for the city is going to open a package licker store in the new city hall, where you'll be able to get it by the quart from Harry in front or you can have it served in glasses on tables by the CWA girls in the back room.

Take the construction work on the city hall and the order for 1,000 axles from Tripoli and we'll soon all be back on the good old '29 basis.

Then there was some more good news, when Mrs. Sanders offered bargains in dog faxes—only $1 for a male or $2 for a female until March 1, when they will be turned over to Bick Smith after which you'll pay a darn sight more for them if you get them back.

Mr. A. H. Hiller, local CWA director, states that he will put 200 more men on the first of the week in order to rush out that order for 2,000 axles for ice sleds from Greenland. It was learned from an authentic source that the CWA is moving the grandstand to the top of the Chamberlain hills, on the theory that with a good fieldglass on a clear day, you ought to be able to see anyone of a half dozen ball games. It is reported that the Clark Equipment company dug up another Indian Saturday and the same is on display in the window of the A. & P. this week. (Correction: mistake, that was just George Himmelberger we saw in the window.)

Bargains! Dog Licenses Half Off! Buy your dog licenses at the city hall, only $1 for males this year, and $2 for females, marked down from $2 and $4. These licenses are our new 1934, streamlined, knee-action models. This offer is positively not good after March 1. Get yours while they last.

PLAYBOX CAST APPEARS TUES. IN PREMIERE

Amateur Dramatic Group to Present One-Act Plays by Robert Geyer, Grace Letcher and Marjorie Campbell.

The Playbox Players, Buchanan's contribution to the Little Theatre movement, presented their premiere at the Hollywood, Tuesday evening in the form of the popular play, "Attorney for the Defense."

The theatre was nearly filled for the occasion with an appreciative audience, including several young gentlemen who were perhaps inclined to snort at inopportune moments at the sight of their friends making love on the stage.

The production offered local people the first opportunity to get an inkling of what the young people in the Playbox are driving at, and the initial impression was good. The performance of all the players was creditable, without going into particulars, although Mr. Boone's rendition of a "heavy villain" was so realistic that a young man in the rear announced his intention of meeting him at the door after the performance and making him take it back.

The main speaking part was that of Jimmy Carlisle, the attorney for the defense, which was played with much spirit by Ray Barbour, Vivian Wissler and Paul VanEvery carried the chief feminine parts as the daughters of the villain. Burton Mills carried the part of Jackson Milton, a secondary villain thrown in for good measure and more comic than heavy. Arnold Webb carried a subdued role as the father of the attorney for the defense, with his usual stagecraft, Teresa White as "the girl next door" and Marvin Gross as the clerk in the attorney's office contributed some good comic effect. Miss Mary Louise Beardsley, as the maid, dusted and answered doorbells with the proper quiet and unobtrusive note.

The committees who contributed to the success of the play were: Stage and general manager, Robert Geyer.

Properties, Marjorie Shreve, Ruth Pierce, Dorothy Rothfuchs, Tickets, Mrs. H. C. Stark, Marie Post, Marie Hess.

Lighting, Robert Montgomery. Publicity, Madeline Hamilton. Make-up, Jack Boone and Pauline VanEvery.

Costumes, Margaret Whitman, Johanna Desenberg.

Executive, Florence Franklin. Music, Mrs. Josephine Kelley, Mrs. H. B. Thompson.

To Present Original Plays

During February the Playbox group plan to present three one-act plays written by members of the organization. "Love Scene," a three-act comedy, was written by Robert Geyer. "The Death Potion," a Gypsy mystery drama, was written by Marjorie Campbell. "The Great Mine Disaster," a folk play, was written by Grace Letcher.

Wife of Merchant Dies After Illness of Few Days; Was Leader in Local Church and Social Activities for 45 Years.

Gov. Sponsors Reduction in Auto Wt. Tax

Bill Before Next Legislature to Reduce Tax from 55c to 35c Cwt.; Means Average Cut $5 in License for Light Car.

A 38 per cent cut in the weight tax applying to passenger automobiles will be recommended by Gov. Comstock in his forthcoming call for a special session of the Legislature, the chief executive announced Wednesday.

The proposal, backed by both the Legislative council and the Highway Department, would be carried out by reducing the levy from the present rate of 55c per hundredweight to 35c. It would mean an average drop of $5 in the cost of license for a light car.

The bill will authorize refunds to those automobile owners who have bought their 1934 plates. "It is the policy of this Administration to slash all taxes to an absolute minimum without impairing the financial structures of state and local governments," Gov. Comstock said. "The automobile weight tax has been considered a subject for attack, but we have been restrained by the demand of the Federal Government that we provide counties, townships and municipalities with $12,000,000 for welfare purposes in addition to the $12,000,000 appropriated from the sales tax revenue.

"The Legislature complied with this demand a year ago by giving the local governments the weight tax money for this purpose. Although all of the sum has not been paid, we were obligated as long as the law was in effect. Its effectiveness expired Jan. 1, and under the plan worked out by the Highway Department we can now proceed to revise the levy paid by automobile owners."

The discussion revealed that a cut in the levy is approved by all government and public agencies, but that no unit wants to pay the tax. In other words, the Highway Department believes the tax should be slashed, provided its revenue is not decreased, and the local governments demand a reduction and at the same time protest against any bill that will cut their shares of the revenue.

The Legislature council, however, has prepared a temporary draft of a bill that will distribute the reduction in receipts equally between the local and state governments. County, township and municipal requirements would be decreased by refunding Covert and other road bonds and centralizing the road systems in each county under one department. The state would absorb its share by adopting economies.

At the present time, all of the weight tax belongs to the local units. The levy produced $1,000 in 1933, but approximately $1,000,000 of this sum was "borrowed" by the state and is an unpaid obligation.

The proposed cut would mean a reduction of $5,100,000 a year.

CITY SUSPENDS BUSINESS FOR BOARDMAN RITES

Business activities were suspended in the city from 2 until 3 p. m. Monday as a mark of general respect during the funeral rites for Mrs. D. L. Boardman, a leader in the social and public life here for the past 45 years.

Mrs. Boardman passed away at 3 a. m. Saturday, after an illness of only six days with pneumonia. She contracted a cold while attending the funeral of a friend in Three Oaks Sunday afternoon and it became worse as a result of attending church that evening.

The funeral was held at the family home at 112 Clark street, in charge of Rev. Henry Liddick, pastor of the Kalamazoo Methodist church, and a former local pastor and friend of the family. Rev. H. W. Pall bearers were Fred French, Phay Graffort, Alfred George, Max Reese (Indianapolis), and Earl and Sherill Ellsworth, Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Boardman was born in Three Oaks, Nov. 25, 1865, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherill. She was graduated from the Three Oaks high school and continued her studies in the music departments of the Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti and Kalamazoo college. After her graduation she served as instructor in music in the public schools of Niles. She was married Oct. 2, 1890, to D. L. Boardman, then of that city, and soon after they came to Buchanan where Mr. Boardman entered the mercantile business and they lived continuously here afterward with the exception of a short time spent in Wyoming.

Mrs. Boardman was a charter and life-long member of the Thirty Club, a member of the Niles Garden club and an active worker in the Presbyterian church.

George Foulkes Seriously Ill at Washington

Congressman George Foulkes of the 4th Michigan Congressional district has been quite seriously ill with a bronchial infection and a general nervous breakdown, undoubtedly due to the stress of official business caused by his labor by reason of the many demands he has been called upon to meet during the past summer in connection with the Farm Loan Act and the Home Loan Act.

It is a well known fact that his private offices at Benton Harbor and Hartford have been crowded with the complaints of applicants and his efforts in their behalf has contributed to his present illness.

Of recent years there has been much comment upon the heavy mortality in the membership of the Congress of the United States. So far as I know there has never been any attempt to compare it with the general mortality of the same age periods within the population. Little, inasmuch as the membership of the Congress is a grouping of its own kind. There is usually some particular substantial physical and mental reason for the men here. At least, nearly all who achieve election to this high office are not here by chance.

There are certain periods—after a great war, for example—when men of reputation rapidly win their way in public affairs. But usually it is through physical and mental stress and strain that one has battled his way through the years to this eminence—often to the more or less unconscious neglect of his natural well-being. Every campaign thereafter is likely to be, and in most cases is, a grueling struggle against difficult opposition. A seat in the Congress is a coveted prize in every community in the United States. The ambition for personal preferment, the ambition to be close to the sources of power in the country, the ambition to serve well the age in which he lives, all contribute to the highly competitive conflict in the midst of which an aspirant for a seat in this Congress usually finds himself. And there is no release from strain when he arrives. The complexity of the problems he has to face, the gravity of the decisions which he is called upon to make, the frequent pressure of selfish group interests upon his spirit, the burden of the human contacts with a quarter to a half million people in his constituency, easily undermine his vital resistance if he is not intelligently careful. The human relationship of a genuine representative with hundreds of his constituents is as intimate as that of the doctor, the lawyer, the priest, or the minister. Continuity of

Perfect Indian Skull is Found By Arthur Mayhew

The only entirely complete skull to be found in the old Pottawatonic cemetery along the bank of the St. Joseph river north of Paul Wynn's home was uncovered recently by Arthur Mayhew who excavated it while exploring one of the opened graves about 12 inches below the surface of the ground. The entire head was in good condition, with all the teeth intact, save that several were broken out by the impact of the shovel. Traces of several scores of graves have been located in the past two weeks along this bank, but in practically all the human bones had crumbled into dust. It is on display in the window of the Treat grocery.

A number of fragments of pottery have been found in the graves but only one complete and that was broken by the shovel of the excavator.

RIGHT TEACHER WORTH MILLION SAYS KAZOO MAN

Solution of Crime Problem is Not More Jails but More Adequate Schools, Says Child Expert.

The right teacher may be worth a million dollars to a community if rightly placed, according to Professor Ellis of the Department of Psychology of the Western State Teachers College, Kalamazoo, in an address before the Buchanan teachers and a number of mothers in the junior high school assembly Thursday afternoon.

Ellis spoke on the theme, "The Modern Miracle of Education," defining this to be the growing science of salvaging the lives of children believed to be worthless. He stated that 250,000 of the children in the schools of America were definitely feeble-minded, and that 450,000 more were borderline cases. Of these only 60,000 are receiving any special attention as a measure of correction for their defects. The problem of the subnormal child in the school came into existence in the decade from 1890 to 1900 when school attendance first became compulsory, but it has only been recently that any advancement has been made in studying the problem.

Ellis said in spite of the fact that the cultural level is being raised, this condition remains a plague spot. Educationally speaking the people of the United States were third graders at the end of the Civil war; twenty years later they were fifth graders; now they are eighth graders.

It is among the a-typical children that the danger of criminal development begins, Ellis stated. The lowest estimate offered of the cost of crime to the United States is $12,500,000. The remedy for crime, Ellis stated, is not more jails, more policemen, but more adequate education. There are 200,000 boys and girls in more or less active stages of delinquency. Their salvation hinges on whether or not this tendency can be diverted while they are young.

Ellis stated that much light had been cast on the possibilities of salvaging delinquent boys by the experience of the Thomas A. Edison school in Cleveland, O., where the crime record of the graduates is not so high as that of the business men of the city.

The number of children of the neurotic, pre-insane type in the schools is on the increase, and the number of inmates of insane institutions has been growing by leaps and bounds in the last ten years.

Ellis stated that there are 1,000,000 children with speech defects the American schools or about one in 25. These defects can be helped if not entirely eradicated by expert aid early in life, he stated, at a great saving in life and efficiency to the individual.

CALL FOR AID FOR FAMILY OF RANCE CALVIN

Family Stricken by Death of Father and by Loss of Home by Fire in Space of Eleven Days.

A plea was made yesterday through Mrs. Lou Fydel for household supplies for the widow and family of the late Rance Calvin.

Mr. Calvin died Jan. 18, and on Monday, Jan. 29, his home on Arctic street was destroyed by fire. The fire started shortly after noon Monday while several members of the family were home, but no one seemed to know the manner of its origin, except that it started upstairs and spread all over the building in a few minutes. The inmates were driven out by smoke and flames and scarcely any of the furnishings or the clothing of the family were saved. Included in the loss were three organs which had been accumulated by Calvin. The fire department made a run to the fire but the structure was enveloped with flames when they arrived.

The family, consisting of Mrs. Calvin, her son George Hayes and wife, another son, Richard Calvin, and a daughter, Ruth, are making their home in a small house adjacent which Calvin owned but which has little or no furnishings. Among the urgent needs are bedding of all kinds, including mattresses, blankets, pillows, dishes, cooking utensils and other home equipment. Anyone who has anything fit for use which they do not wish is urged to communicate with Mrs. Fydel.

Mrs. Nettie Quick Dies While Visiting Her Children Here

Mrs. Nettie Jeanette Quick, the mother of Carl Quick and Mrs. Stella Pride of Buchanan, passed away Friday, Jan. 26th, at the home of the latter, following a short illness with chronic heart trouble. Mrs. Quick had been making her home with a daughter in South Bend, and had come to Buchanan for a visit with her children when she was taken ill.

Nettie Quick was the daughter of Nathan and Liza McDeed Mauldin, and was born Oct. 10, 1868 at Centerville, Ind. In 1884 she was united in marriage to Joseph Quick, who preceded her in death on August 26, 1920. To this union six children were born, three of whom survive. They are Carl Quick and Mrs. Stella Pride of Buchanan, and Mrs. Helen Lane, South Bend. Three sisters and a half brother also survive, Cora Maughan and Stella Mauldin of Richmond, Ind., Belle Becktel, Seattle, Wash., and Henry Mauldin of Georgetown, Ill.

Short services were held Saturday morning at the Swem Funeral Home, at which the body was shipped to Richmond, Ind., where interment was made at Crownhill cemetery, Centerville, Ind.

Mrs. Quick is known to a number of Buchanan residents, having made her home here for some time previous to going to South Bend.

Atty. Frank R. Sanders and Frances G. Merson are in Detroit attending the annual meeting of the Michigan Life Insurance Co.

DEFEAT NILES 27-25

By Dick Schram

Playing the best game of basketball seen on the local floor in recent years, the Buchanan Bucks defeated the Niles Redbirds in the final seconds of play Friday night. The score, 27 to 25, was identical to the score in the former Buck-Redbird clash at Niles this season, but the Bucks were on the long end of the score this time.

Neither team was ahead more than three points at any time in the game, although the locals led at the half, 15 to 12, and threatened to pile up this score at the opening of the third period.

Reum, of Niles, playing his final high school cage game, was the first to score in the game when he broke from center floor for a short shot. Danny Topash, Buck forward, tied the score with a short hook shot and the battle was on. The first quarter ended with the score 8 to 6 in favor of the Niles cagers.

Dreizler, Buck guard, looped in a long one to tie up the score at 8 all as the second quarter opened. The Bucks scored seven more points to Niles' four to lead at the end of the first half, 15 to 12.

Both teams collected five points in the third quarter. Anderson and Jaroch collected a field goal apiece and Reum sank a charity toss to total the five for the Redbirds. Danny Topash cashed in with a long shot and Aug Topash collected a field goal and a free throw for the locals' five points. The third quarter ended with the Bucks still in the lead 20 to 17.

As the final quarter started, Anderson and Reum scored to place the Redbirds in the lead by one point. Danny Topash tied the score with a free throw. Anderson again scored for Niles to place the Redbirds in the lead. August Topash tied the score again, 23 all, with a short shot, with less than two minutes left in the game. Reum again scored to place the Redbirds in the lead. As Danny Topash dribbled in for a short shot, Krat backed him and Danny made both of the free throws good to tie the score, 25 to 25. One minute to play, Aug Topash dribbled close in and sank a pretty under basket shot for the winning points, and the Bucks led 27 to 25, as the game ended less than fifty seconds later.

The Bucks used the following lineup: Dan and Aug Topash, forwards; Batchelor, center, and Dreizler, Leiter and Deeds as guards. Augie Topash held high point honors with a total of eleven points.

The Redbirds used only the first five men, Anderson and Jaroch, forwards; Ort, center, and Kraft and Reum, guards. Reum was a high point man, with Niles with a total of nine points.

This Friday the Bucks play the Three Oaks cagers in the Three Oaks gym. The Bucks should have little trouble in winning, having decisively beaten the Oaks in the local gym in the first clash this season. However, Three Oaks has been known to stage come-backs in the past, and may do that very thing Friday.

Next Wednesday the Bucks will meet the Watervliet quintette in a charity game at the local high school. Watervliet has had a good cage record this season, and should give the Bucks a little competition, making Wednesday's game well worth seeing. Local sport fans may have read in which Watervliet was involved, a 3 to 0 score being the final count. If this sort of thing happens in the local gym, an interesting ball game may result.

Mrs. R. A. Myler, who has been spending the winter at San Francisco, Calif., was a guest from Saturday until Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Boone on her way home to Detroit.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Dan. 6:22): "My God hath sent His angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocently was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 243): "The divine love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death. It crowned the demonstrations of Jesus with unsurpassed power and love."

Lesson study: "Intercession in Our Behalf." Memory verse: "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous." 1 John 2:1.

Notes: "In the courts above, Christ is pleading for His church, pleading for those for whom He has paid the redemption price of His blood. The guilt of His clients is admitted. The plea of guilty is the only one that can be entered. The law has been broken, the penalty for which is death. In order to present a successful plea in man's behalf, as an advocate, He must offer some means by which the demands of Justice can be satisfied."

"The broken law of God demanded the life of the sinner. In all the universe there was but one who could, in behalf of man, satisfy its claims. Since the divine law is as sacred as God Himself, only one equal with God could make atonement for its transgression. None but Christ could redeem fallen man from the curse of the law, and bring him again into harmony with Heaven, Christ would take up. I am sure the guilt and shame of sin, sin so offensive to a holy God that it must separate the Father and His son, would reach to the depths of misery to rescue the ruined race." Preaching service at 11:15.

Scrip for the Journey

Immensity By Harry W. Staver Some while back Earnest Poole wrote a novel called, "Beggars Gold." It is an interesting story revealing how we are all beggars sitting on bags of gold and never knowing it. We think the "bag" holds a lot of rocks and rubbish, and never take the trouble to look inside, which, if we did, we should find full of gold. There is a sentence in the story that is thrilling. It is spoken by the author concerning one of his characters. This character lives in a mean environment, in the slums, where there is no incentive apparently but to remain like the rest of the flotsam and jetsome of the place. In such surroundings there comes a tremendous moment and the whole circumstance is altered for the young man in question. The author says: "something in him poured up like fire and light. Amid the narrow tenement streets he felt a new immensity. There came intimations of thrilling powers within himself—deep, deep, inside like buried springs." It's a great hour for any young man or woman when that thing happens. Poole's story reminds us of another more famous than his. That story is the Parable of the Prodigal Son. In that story is a young man hired to carry swill to the hogs. His environment is ugly and squalid. It holds everything but inducements to anything better. In that sort of situation he, too, "felt a new immensity." Something in him "poured up like fire and light." He felt "thrilling powers within himself" and he knew he didn't need to keep on tending swine and enduring squalor and wretchedness when life held so many good things. He knew he could turn his back upon the squalor and "rise up" and be a man. The point of the matter is this: There is "something" in every man bigger than the mistakes he

When Puffs Were in Fashion. In the sixteenth century it became fashionable in Europe for men to cut holes in their clothing—and fill the slits thus produced with other material, the folds of which were pushed through these slits to form puffs.

Footlight Parade, Third Big Musical at the Hollywood. Marvin Gross to Debate With South Bend Team. Olive Branch. This new and mammoth spectacle is said to far surpass its predecessors in the originality and beauty of its ensembles, in its hilarious comedy drama plot, its songs and its romantic love interest. Two of the big surprises in this vast production are the singing and dancing of Jimmy Cagney, who really started his stage and screen career as a hooper. The all-star cast, headed by James Cagney, includes Juan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Claire Dodd, George Westcott, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh and Ruth Donnelly. Warren and Dubai wrote the song hits, "Honeymoon Hotel" and "Shanghai Lil," while Fain and Kahal wrote "By a Waterfall," "Sittin' on a Backyard Fence" and "Ah, the Moon is Here." The song numbers and dance ensembles in this new musical are alone worth going anywhere to see, while the story woven around the important featured players is novel and unusual. The newest Hollywood musical romance release, helmed from the studios less than four weeks ago, is Columbia's "Let's Fall in Love," with Edmund Lowe, Ann Southern, Miriam Jordan and Gregory Ratoff. The film is feature number one of another deluxe double feature program tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday of this week. George Brent and Margaret Lindsay in a fast moving story of New York's police department, "From Headquarters," is feature number two, while on the same program you will also see Chapter number 11 of Buck Jones in "Gordon of Ghost City." Maurice Chevalier comes to the Hollywood on Bargain Nights next Wednesday and Thursday in his newest starring vehicle for Paramount, "The Way to Love," with Ann Dvorak in the leading feminine role and Edward Everett Horton supporting.
