Democrats Will Stage Bryan Banquet Mon.

Democrats throughout the 4th Congressional district will hold a banquet Monday night at seven o'clock Eastern Standard Time at the Hotel Whitcomb in St. Joseph, to commemorate the birthday of the late William Jennings Bryan. The great commoner will be eulogized not only by prominent state officials but by many local democrats who served with him in the many unsuccessful campaigns which he waged in the cause of democracy.

This is the first time in the history of Southwestern Michigan that a banquet has ever been held commemorating the memory of the great commoner, William Jennings Bryan.

While the idea of the banquet originated among the young women of the Evelyn Mershon Chapter of the Young Women's Democratic Guild, it is being heartily supported by the various factions throughout the county and dis-

Because, in case of sickness, fire, accident or other emergency, aid can be summoned at once by telephone.

In emergencies, minutes are precious, and just one such call may be worth the cost of telephone service for a lifetime.

Considering the constant protection . . . the day in and day out convenience and comfort . . . the actual savings in time, steps and money it affords, a telephone more than pays its way.

Orders for telephone service may be placed at the Telephone Business Office

Both young and old democratic organizations alike are endeavoring to make this event one of the greatest in Southwestern Michigan. County chairmen, members of the various county committees, and public officials from Berrien and other counties in the Fourth District have ordered large blocks of tickets for the occasion.

Those desiring to attend the banquet should make reservations with Miss Florence Ladwig, 1011 Pearl St., St. Joe, Mich., not later than Saturday.

It is expected that Miss Evelyn Mershon, director of the State Welfare Department, will answer an attack made on her administration by W. S. Carpenter, ex-director of that department. Gov. MRS. A. MORLEY TELLS OF TEACHING IN EARLY DAYS

How Young Educational Enthusiast of the Sixties was Squelched by the Conservatives; Other Stories.

It was of a Tuesday afternoon that an old lady with a young mind and memory was reviewing her life on the occasion of her 93rd birthday, in the 91 year old house at the foot of Rynearson street, where she has made her home for 48 years.

She recalled many things in the course of the talk but the bulk of her recollections seemed to revert to the thirteen years that she spent as a pioneer school teacher through the sixties and early seventies. Oh yes—we almost forgot to tell you her name. It is Mrs. Amanda Morley. Well, she didn't tell us what her name was before she was married, but that does not matter now. She was born at Dayton, O., March 13, 1845, and came to this vicinity when in her early teens.

She started teaching at Galien Center school when she was less than 15, in the year before she was married, for the princely sum of $1.25 per week and board around.

Later she taught at the historic old Spring Creek School south of Three Oaks for five years and there is a story to that. She stayed for a time at the home of Uncle DeWitt Miller and there once on a time, it was Feb. 19, 1871 to be exact, the young school ma'am was all agog over the arrival of a bride party to spend the evening.

We don't know just how you are when you are all agog, but that is how a young lady is said to be when a bride party hoves in sight, so we suppose that is why Mrs. Morley was. The bride party were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Starr, who recently celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary, still living on the little farm on which they moved shortly after the wedding. Well, we only wish that we could improve on the story by saying that Miss Whatever-her-name-was-then kept on teaching there until Elmon was her Starr pupil, but she would not authorize that statement.

She also taught at the Howe school south of Buchanan and there is another story to that. Among her pupils there were little Eva Oanberlain, Freddie Howe and Lonnie How. Little Eva was always a bright and willing scholar, she says. She didn't happen to raise the subject of Freddie's record so we suppose he was probably a first lieutenant in the spitball gang, but she did say that Lonnie was her youngest and a very neat and bright little boy. He used to wear an item of dress then often a part of the costume of little boys but long since discarded—an apron. She did not tell us to tell this about Lonnie, but it is much to good to keep.

Then she taught out east of the Howe school in the Womer neighborhood and there is a story to that. She had been to "institute" and got a few frilly ideas in her head which she wanted to try out, but there were some old-fashioned patrons in her school and one day a representative, an old German, called on her and advised as follows: "I don't sent my kids to school to sing unt reat stories. I sent dem to learn 'rithmetick unt readin' unt spellin' unt how to figger de interest on dere money when dey get it."

So the stories stopped and the song died away.

Long years ago Mrs. Morley gave up the teachers ferule for the housewife's broom, marrying B. T. Morley, for many years the owner and operator of the Morley foundry on South Portage and later at Portage and Front. He was a civic and industrial leader and a pioneer here in prohibition reform but that is a story for another time.

Here's wishing Mrs. Morley bigger and better birthdays.

The Misses Johanna Desenberg and Margaret Whitman and Lee Roe and O. C. Snyder attended the finals of the Kalamazoo basketball tournament Saturday night.

Some More Data on Buried Fortunes in Moccasin Bluff

Editor Record,
A few more on the clay deal. When Mr. Linderoth made the test for enameled, his remark was that the test was worth ten thousand dollars as well as ten dollars.

To lay that enameled bricks are burned, allowed to cool, the enameled smeared on, returned to the kiln and brought to heat to melt the enamel. The costs of material and labor for that finish would cost not over five dollars per thousand bricks.

I wrote that the surface of the bricks was as smooth as that of a hone, an instrument for sharpening razors.

At the time I was figuring on the deal enameled brick was $120 per M. I do not know the present price. There is quite a market among builders for enameled tiling floors. That and the pottng business are generally separated, but generally because of want of suitable materials, but in the bed you have there is no need for not using it.

Of course each of these branches of the clay work calls for its own force of skilled labor, but that is not a necessary deterrent. When I had my tests made I took the clay from near to the line of the north of the Kinyon place, a short way from the spring which furnishes water for the water dam, which runs water out on the River road. There was a stump on the edge of the bluff at that point where the clay was exposed.

... THE MICROPHONE ...

News of Buchanan Schools

Collected and Edited By Members of the Student Body

Galant Gents Come to Aid of Beleagured Fair

"Who's afraid of mice?" "Well, I'm not," stated Miss Shriver, one day last week. "That is not why I'm sitting up here." Miss Shriver sat on the cafeteria table for a whole hour. Whether it was because of a few mice who were circling the cafeteria or not is still a question.

It was finally settled when the gallant Thomas Quirk and Bob Willard offered to come in after school and catch them. Whether they really succeeded and caught them is not known, but it's doubtful if they did.

However, these troubles are past now, because Miss Shriver has settled back into her own room which has been painted.

Girls Afraid to Get Tootsies Wet

"Noah, bring on your ark!" screamed shrill feminine voices as the daughters of B. H. S. entered the locker room Thursday noon to meet a miniature Mississippi river rolling along.

A fountain pen was dropped in the water. A furious owner dived in and came up with a pencil. Stretching on their tip toes, the screaming girls pushed their way to dry spots.

Who's Who

One of the best athletes in the senior class is August Topash. August was born in Pownagie, August 2, 1915.

Having moved to Buchanan before school age, August started to the Buchanan school and has attended it since that time.

In his freshman year, "Aug", as he is commonly called, went out for football and played fullback and end on the second team.

During the other three years of "Aug's" football career, he has played center on the first team.

Because of his ability shown at that position, he was, in 1932, on the honorary mention list for the all state team and in 1933 was placed on the All Southwestern Michigan Class C team.

This is the fourth year that he has participated in basketball games and the second year that he has been on the varsity team.

He intends to throw the shot in track this year, but does not think that he will run the mile as he has done in previous years.

Goldie Leiter was born near Dayton, Sept. 3, 1915.

She began her education at the Currier District school when five years of age and continued attending the same school until she entered the Buchanan high school three years ago.

Since she enrolled as a freshman, Goldie has been very well liked by all who know her.

She has been a diligent and faithful worker of the G. A. A. for the past two years and has a considerable amount of ability in all sports.

Last fall Goldie was chosen as a member of the Usher Club.

Although all types of study appeal to Goldie, French is her favorite subject.

Did You Know

Chandy Jackson has developed a new way of laughing?

George Spatta was eating carrots in school the other day? Maybe he's trying to get rosy cheeks!

The Velmarian Literature plays were a huge success?

South Bend is calling Bob Strayer, "Why don't cha come over some time?"

Deeds and Hattenbach are very well known in Niles?

Ethel Sibley has a bright red jacket, and she plans to buy a bright green sweater to wear with it? Christmas is coming?

No one received an "A" in the English 12 test? I guess there were too many dates to remember.

Initiate Six Into G. A. A. Wed.

A G. A. A. banquet was held last Wednesday evening in the high school cafeteria to complete the initiation of Joyce Bonner, Una Kelley, Mary Jane Zerbe, Elouise Squier, Estella Smith and Virginia Walter.

Entertainment of the evening was furnished by the initiates, who spoke on such subjects as: "How to Raise Alice Successfully" and "How to Grow Corns on the Barr."

LIBRARY NEWS

This week the librarians are busy recording the number of points each book is worth. This will be of great benefit to the student and librarian. Before this, it was inconvenient for these people to consult the book list to find out how many points a book was worth.

The librarians are each being given a pamphlet that will deal with the fundamentals of simple mending.

The library will be painted by the CWA workers the last of this week.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

Our basketball team was state champion?

"Chandy" Jackson lost his comb?

Helen Spatta lost her purse?

Wilson Crittenden's hair refused to curl?

All the journalism class remembered to bring newspapers for the daily newspaper study?

All the students got spring fever?

Roll call was abolished from the first hour classes?

Bob Willard lost his voice?

Every G. A. A. member appeared at school after a big G. A. A. banquet?

George Spatta wasn't seen with a stack of books?

"DROP THE HANKIE"

"Drop the hankie" seemed to appeal to some students in the second hour study hall, Monday.

Upon arriving in the study hall, Audrey Wilcox found that someone had left a handkerchief on her desk. She shifted it to the next desk which happened to be Helen Spatta's. As she was in the library, it rested there until she returned. Then quickly it was bestowed on Donna Bird. Donna's attempt to transport the unwanted hankie were futile. Hence, it fell gracefully to the floor.

Class Activities

History 7-8

Reconstruction maps showing the military reconstruction of the South after the Civil war were made by the History 8 classes last week. Exceptional ones were handed in by Melvin Maxon, Betty Semple, Agnes Kovich, Beverly Koons, Maxine Shaffer, Virginia Sanford and Wanda Topash.

Grant's administration was also under their observation. Chester Wessendorf's map of France was borrowed from Miss Shriver's room and used. Miss Shriver also supplied them with pictures of France and French newspapers.

Commercial

The first year typing classes are reviewing business letters, addressing envelopes, and are learning to type telegrams. They are also typing from rough drafts, bills, statements, and invoices, profit and loss statements and balance sheets are being typed by the twelfth grade typing class.

Shorthand students are working on disjoined prefixes and rules for phrasing.

The bookkeeping class has started the second month's work of their practice sets.

Journalism

This week the journalism group is working on the chapter "Obituary Articles." This not only includes death notices but biographical sketches of famous individuals. Miss Hanlin, the journalism teacher, will give notes on William Rockhill Nelson and the Kansas City Star. This material is written up by the students and entered in their note books under the title, "The History of Journalism."

Chem. Dept. Blowing Bubbles—Pretty Bubbles in the Air

Monday seemed to be a "rainy day" for a lot of chemistry students.

One would actually be led to believe that the laboratory had become a nursery, the way the pupils looked, as they walked here and there, carrying in one hand a test-tube of lime water and blowing bubbles like two year olds.

The task was quite a scientific experiment, at that, to them at least. To a few who gave too energetic a puff, was the comical result of a chemical face-washing.

This test is the proof that our breath contains carbon dioxide if the solution of lime-water turns milky and forms a white precipitate.

Class Activities

English 8

Spelling has reached a median of 96 in the eighth grade English classes.

Oral reading of "Evangeline" has taken up most of the periods.

English 9-10

The freshman English students began work on Scott's "Lady of the Lake," the first of the week. They are reading Scott's book, "Ivanhoe," outside of class in preparation for a test over it at the end of the month.

The sophomore English division started on "Poetry and Culture in New England" last Monday. They are taking up the study of Longfellow and his poetry.

Citizenship 10-12

Regarding the laws of our government, the seniors are studying the powers of Congress, especially the powers of Congress to tax.

The citizenship 10 group is discussing the different types of government, particularly Socialism, Anarchism, and our own form of government.

Physical Ed

Ninety grade girls and boys are practicing tumbling for the gym show.

For the first time since the gym shows have been given, the first and second grade girls and boys are going to present some complicated rhythms.

The first aid classes are studying artificial respiration.

The girls' class champion basketball team, the seniors, were defeated by the junior team of Niles on Monday night.

English

The senior English students have been studying the ballad. They will read older ballads and imitate ballads. These ballads will be studied with the view of writing ballads.

The junior English students are continuing with the work of Browning and Tennyson. They have been working on "In Memoriam" and one of the Idylls from "Idylls of the King" by Tennyson. They have also studied a small portion of "The Ring and the Book" by Browning.

Sewing

The seventh grade clothing class has been divided into two sections, finishing the second and sixth periods on Monday and Wednesday. The majority of the class have finished their towels and are now beginning their sewing machine work. The first project on the sewing machine is a holder.

The eighth grade have finished the lingerie problem and the girls are selecting patterns and material for spring dresses.

The ninth grade is still working on cotton dresses but expects to finish them in two more weeks.

The tenth grade is finishing their sport dresses this week. They will select patterns and material for coats next week.

Paul Muni in "The World Changes" is Epic Drama of U. S.

What exactly is a screen epic? The term has been used for such films as "The Birth of a Nation," "The Covered Wagon," "Cimarron," "Silver Dollar."

If it means a picture which relates the history of a hero, a family or a group in sweeping narrative style, with accuracy of detail and vigor of situation, then all advance reports must lead us to expect another screen epic in "The World Changes," starting next Sunday for a two day run at the Hollywood.

The film stars, Paul Muni, of "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" fame.

"The World Changes" covers a span of some 75 years in the history and development of America. Between its opening and its close, the crisis and triumphs of our national life figure as background for the saga of an American family.

Beginning as Dakota pioneers, the Nordholms rise to power thru the courage, the foresight and the faith of Orlin Nordholm, proud descendant of pioneer stock, daring danger and sweeping all obstacles from his path, he wins success after success in the midwest business world. The younger generation of his family disappoints him. His wife becomes a social climber. His son scorns his father's business as being beneath him and turns to Wall Street finance.

Mervyn LeRoy, who directed "I am a Fugitive," again directs "The World Changes." There is an unusually large and talented cast, including Aline MacMahon, Mary Astor, Donald Cook, Margaret Lindsay, Jean Muir and Guy Kibbee. The story was adapted from Sheridan Gibney's book, "America, Kneels."

"The Prizefighter and the Lady," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new picture with Joan Barst, Prince Caron, Jack Dempsey, Myrna Loy, Otto Kruger, Walter Huston and a

Mathematics

Transformation of polygons into triangles, also using computation exercises to show how algebra is applied to geometric theorems, has been fascinating work for the geometry students.

The freshman algebra classes have been finding out all about graphing linear equations.

Trigonometry students have been discovering all about the functions of twice an angle, half an angle, and the sums of two angles.

Bisecting angles, measuring angles, and making original modernistic designs has been interesting work for the seventh grade arithmetic classes.

During the past week, the eighth grade arithmetic students have been drilling on life insurance, limited payment policies, endowment policies, and term policies.

The commercial law class has been finding out all about negotiable instruments, promissory notes, bills of exchange, checks and money orders.

Science

The physics class has been dealing with electrical machines which includes the electric motor and the dynamo. Later they will take up alternating current machinery in a group, and expect to take a trip to the power house to see these things in operation.

The class now has a fairly good source of direct current. This is a motor-generator set. The motor of this set is a used, 1/2 horse power, A. C. Robbins and Myers motor. The generator came from an old model T Ford. The set is a direct drive affair using a flexible coupling.

This set makes available a fair supply of direct current, at 6 volts which the laboratory has needed for some time.

All of the parts in this motor-generator set are used parts which have been reconditioned and assembled for the present use. The base for this set was once part of an old piano. The total cost amounted to $4.80 and if the build-er hadn't made some mistakes, it could have been built for $4.10.

The set furnished direct current for electrolysis, electric-plating, the charging of storage batteries, and any use where direct current at 6 volts is needed.

After having watched the students in the chemistry laboratory blow their breath through lime water with much enjoyment, it is doubted that Joe E. Brown in his recent picture, "Son of a Sailor," applied the name, Gas Bag, to the right party.

The chemistry students' have taken up the manufacturing of coal gas and the refining of petroleum.

AT THE THEATRE

large supporting cast, comes to the Hollywood tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday of this week as feature number one of a double bill. The story is simple, but potent. W. S. Van Dyke, the director, has handled it with genius. It is guaranteed to please everyone who sees it. You will also get all the thrills and none of the discomforts or hazards of riding a 300-mile an hour racing airplane when you see Tim McCoy and Evelyn Knapp in "Speed Wings," feature number two of this double-feature line-up. A cartoon completes an unusually well-balanced program.

Tuesday evening only, March 20, The Playbox, Buchanan's Little Theatre group, presents three one-act comedy plays on the Hollywood stage. Number one, "The Passing of Mr. Peal," is a roaring comedy skit. Number two, "Be a Little Cuckoo," is a farce comedy. Number three, "An Evening at Coconut Grove," is a variety musical act and floor show with that the city of Benton Harbor had $6,000 in frozen funds in the bank that could not be used at that time. This was money laid aside with which to buy coal for the school building of the city.

Aroused over the prospect of unheated schools and shivering children with many cases of sickness and perhaps some of death to follow, Representative Foulkes took prompt action. He appealed to the Comptroller of the Currency to issue a special order allowing Benton Harbor to withdraw its $6,000 of school money and buy the coal so needed for the well being of the children. The order was issued, the coal was bought and the school heated comfortably in Benton Harbor this winter the same as usual, because of the Congressmen's quick and energetic work.

During the past week, the biology class has finished the classification of plants and animals, and is going to take up their behavior.

Rep. Geo. Foulkes Raises Money for Heating Schools

The story of how Congressman George Foulkes obtained a special order from the Comptroller of the Currency that insured having coal this winter for the school children of Benton Harbor, came to light today.

The subject arose in connection with the announcement from the Comptroller's office that the Farmers and Merchants National Bank and Trust Company of Benton Harbor had reorganized, using a name that differs with respect to a few words from its original name. Hereafter it will be known as the Farmers and Merchants National Bank in Benton Harbor. Its capital is placed at $275,000.

Representative Foulkes, after explaining that the system of reorganization proposed by him was approved by the government in that the present change is being consummated in accord with his ideas, told of the coal incident.

While the bank was in liquidation last fall, it was discovered

Hartline, Dellinger Live Life of Riley in Government Camp

The handsome and surprisingly buxom figures of Richard Dellinger and George Hartline were seen on the streets of Buchanan during the week-end, the two young men being here on a furlough from Thursday until Monday from CCC Company 686, Camp Newago, Mich.

They state that they are very well satisfied with the Conservation Corps life and both seem to have profited physically, Hartline having taken on 25 pounds and Dellinger more than he is willing to admit. Dellinger is a member of the basketball team which won second place in an independent tournament at Remus, Mich., and which is entered in a CCC tournament at Camp Baldwin. The team includes Heinie Cook and Gerald Gordner, former St. Joseph high school players.

The two young men plan to re-enlist March 15 for another six months in the service. They state that they are receiving the best of care and treatment and are not at all under military discipline, the camp being in fact under a system of self government by the boys themselves.
