

Merson Named as Skipper For Buchanan Ship of State By City Commission Mon.

Now Here's the Proposition

Well, friends and neighbors (note the distinction) there's been big events in the makin' around the city this week.

Tiny Merson was elected queen of the May at the commission meeting Monday evening, with Clint Hathaway, Ed Mitchell and Frank Sanders named as maids of honor for the queen's court. The mayor of Buchanan will be selected at the Hollywood theatre, on April 24, the runner-up to be named chief-of-police.

During the past week we had four days of real spring, with the frogs singing every night in Ed Pascoe's garden pond, and the suckers, the sap and the candidates running full blast. Mistake—the candidates quit running last week, there's just the suckers and the sap left in the race.

The A. & P. cat had kittens last week and it resulted in a doctor's bill and the cost of a pair of new stockings (see George Himmelberger for particulars.)

Buchanan moved en masse to the sucker fishin' grounds below the Berrien dam Sunday afternoon but nobody caught any suckers. Anyway Mort Snyder and Ed Mitchell never caught any and when they boys don't catch 'em it is safe to say nobody else does. The farmers have started stirrin' the ground for the production of the annual surplus and Alf George, local fertilizer king, has been doin' big business in seed oats and onion sets.

There's been quite a license sale we understand, fish, beer and weddings, all bought by suckers or for suckers. The city commission is puttin' out the beer licenses, the Smoke Shop boys and Ralph Allen the fishin' licenses and the boys and girls are buyin' the 1934 wedding licenses in South Bend. We wish 'em all happiness and the best of (gosh how they need it) luck.

The annual house cleanin' debacle is now on in full swing—yeah, we're tellin' you. We know it without tellin'. George Exner, the justly celebrated Third street landscape gardener, is hidin' around his yard with a rake. Carl Remington, who lives in the rear of our back yard, where we can watch him, took his goldfish out of his garden and dumped them in his garden pool, where most of them are swimmin' round belly-up. Why don't you turn 'em over, Carl? While sittin' leisurely in our luxurious home twiddlin' a radio dial with one hand and wipin' the woodwork with the other we note Artie Hamblin, Mark Trent, Frank Lamb, Bert Montgomery, Harris Simpson and Slim Stults beatin' the genuine Smyrnas in their back yards. Somehow they seem to lack the old punch. A dose of sassafras or bonaset seems to be what they need as a tonic, instead of so much Belle of Nelson. Further down the street we can hear a dull but steady thud with the monotonous refrain of a jungle drum, which must be Fred Smith, Vine Cool and Chummy Deelyple beatin' their Orientals. It's a sad, haunting sound. Anyway it haunts us. It will probably do more than haunt us before the season is over.

Lines to be Sung with Appropriate Gesture at the City Commission

Bi Haws
We got rye on our sideboard
We got beer in the case
We got moon in the bath tub
We got gin in the vase
We got champagne to cellar
Our thirst for to quench
You can turn it off, Harry,
So bring on your wrench.

SCHOOL DISTRICT CASE INVOLVED RIGHTS IN PERPETUITY TO PROPERTY SOURCE 1-11TH CITY SCHOOL INCOME

Lack of Official Record of Northern Boundary of School Dist. 1 Is Source of Controversy.

A fourteen-year controversy and a nine-year litigation were brought to an end last week when the Supreme Court of Michigan definitely assigned ownership of the right to the tax income from the local power plant and dam of the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company now and for all time to School District No. 1, Buchanan, in its verdict handed down last week in the appeal of the suit brought by School District No. 14 Fractional, Niles Township.

The significance of the suit lies in the fact that the case involved future rights in a tax income which now amounts to over $7,000, or about 1-11th of the income of the city school district. Loss of the property would consequently have meant a rise in tax levy for local school purposes.

In the case which was carried from the district court to the state supreme court, Harry Post and William T. Richards were named as nominal defendants for the city.

School District No. 1 was represented by Atty. Frank Sanders and by the firm of Gore & Harvey. School District No. 14 Fractional as represented by Atty. Stewart White and Atty. John Lyddick of Gary, Ind.

The controversy had its root in the entire absence of an exact official description of the northern boundary either of the city of Buchanan or of School District No. 1 paralleling the power house site. Also there are no official records of the establishment of the school districts. In the old plats of the time the boundary at that point is merely designated as "the highway." Since this "highway" line has been moved since the construction of the dam and power house a source of possible controversy was established.

The case involves a parcel of land containing about eight acres on which both the power house and dam are located. It was originally in Buchanan township, but in 1891 the improvements of the village of Buchanan were extended by a special act of the legislature to include it. In 1893 a portion of the land was conveyed to the Buchanan Power & Electric Company, which erected a dam and a power house south of the old road which was designated as the village boundary. For a few years following that time the tax rights to the properties appear to have been hazy. Several parcels of the eight acres were assessed by Dist. 14 and other parcels by Dist. 1. The electrical development seems to have been always assessed to Dist. No. 1.

Beginning with the year 1905 the entire tract of disputed land and the improvements thereon have been uniformly assessed in Dist. 1. Since that time the assessed valuation of the land and improvements has varied from $175,000 to $450,000.

The controversy began when the electric company erected two houses on company land, and the school district census takers disputed over which district should be credited with the children of the occupants. This controversy continued several years, until finally suit was begun by District 14 in 1925 for rights to tax income from the whole tract.

It was asserted in the suit brought by Dist. 14, that the disputed tract had been shifted from its tax rolls to that of Dist. 1, without its knowledge and by means of chicanery variously termed in the legal briefs as "robbery" and "trickery." It was asserted that for several years Dist. 1 was getting the taxes from the power house and dam while Dist. 14 was getting the taxes from the land on which they stood. It was asserted that the shift from one tax roll to another had been a matter of collusion between the officials of Dist. 1 and the electric company.

It was further asserted that Dist. 14 had paid tuition to Dist. 1 for pupils residing in the disputed land who went to Dist. 1 schools and that in so doing the latter district had tacitly admitted that the property was outside its limits. It was asserted that Dist. 14 had drawn state primary money for pupils residing in the disputed district. It was asserted that during some twenty years that the directors of Dist. 14 did not know that Dist. 1 was collecting taxes from the property.

The defense asserted that the case was a matter of equity, in that Dist. 1 had built up its educational plant on the basis of the tax income from the land and improvements, which total in excess of $100,000 to date, while Dist. 14 had maintained its rural school at about $800 per year. It was asserted that for twenty-five years the directors of Dist. 14 had made no protest, and in view of the fact that the total assessed value of

New Form Money Is Appearing in Buchanan District

There's a new kind of money in the Buchanan district and it is not the result of inflation either, according to Alfred J. George, manager of Co-Operators Co-Operating.

The new money is in the form of U. S. bonds of $100 denomination which the federal government has been using instead of money in issuing loans since March 26. Manager George states that the new bonds have started to circulate as payment of obligations or in purchase of supplies and are a perfectly acceptable form of money.

J. G. Boyle, secretary for the St. Paul Farm loan bank for this section, states that a considerable number of the new bonds have been received in this district and that they will constitute an increase in the local currency supply.

STATE MAN TO ADVISE FARMERS ON PROCESS TAX

Deputy Collector Kneibus will be at City Hall Today to Collect Tax and Furnish Information.

Farmers of southern Berrien county who are puzzled over the details of the processing tax will have an opportunity to add to their understanding by a conference with Frederick C. Kneibus, deputy collector, who will be at the Buchanan city hall all day (Thursday, April 12) for receiving payments and giving information which may be desired.

Revenue for benefit payments under the Agricultural Adjustment Act is obtained by a process tax levied on a particular agricultural commodity, the object for which is to provide certain remedies for the re-establishment of farm produce exchange values to a pre-war basis. In the case of hogs, a processor is deemed to be the one who slaughters hogs for market and a monthly return should be made on form F-1 showing the inventory of hogs, the number and weight of hogs slaughtered and the amount of the tax liability. This return, together with payment should be sent to Collector of Internal Revenue, Detroit, Mich., and should be filed in duplicate within thirty days following the end of the month in which slaughtering took place. The tax rates are based on live weights and are 50c per cwt. for November, $1.00 for December and January, $1.50 for February and $2.25 for March and until further notice. There is no tax on the sale or exchange of live hogs and also no tax on the slaughtering of hogs for a producer's own family consumption. A producer is one who is the owner of the hog at the time of fattening and such producer is entitled to an exemption from the tax on the sale or exchange of 300 pounds of pork products in a marketing year, which is Nov. 5, 1932 to Nov. 5, 1934; provided his sales and exchanges do not exceed 1000 pounds of pork products for that period. If so, the exemption is lost. As the tax is based on live weight it can readily be seen that the exemption for tax computation will be more than 300 pounds. The dressed weight should be converted back to live weight on the basis of yield and in the case of farmers and conversion factor to be used for this purpose, for dressed hogs, head and leaf included, is 132. This is the same as saying a 100 pound live hog will dress to about 75 pounds. In cases where the full 300 pound dressed weight exemption is taken the live weight deduction to which the farmer is entitled will be 396 pounds. Where a custom processor slaughters hogs for home consumption by the owner of the hogs he should include these in his return, taking exemption thereon, and substantiating this exemption by an affidavit, PT form 29, signed by the consumer. A non-producer of hogs is not entitled to the 300 pounds of pork product exemption on his sales or exchanges, but is allowed exemption unless he sells family consumption for his own use, in which case the entire hog is taxable. Further information and forms for filing may be obtained by writing Collector of Internal Revenue, Detroit, Mich.

Joe Bachman Wins In Poster Contest from 1,000 Entries

Much attention was attracted during the past week to the exhibit of art posters by pupils of the local school exhibited in the window of the Glenn Smith store, interest centering in the drawing by Joe Bachman, which won the first prize in the contest sponsored by the Berrien County Federation of Women's Clubs in its annual meeting at Berrien Springs March 29.

The theme of the contest was "An Invitation to the Garden." In the neighborhood of 1,000 pupils entered the contest and 207 posters were hung and judged. Joe Bachman of the ninth grade of the Buchanan high school won first prize and a $2 award in the fine arts department, a similar commercial art prize going to Josephine Breckman of the Benton Harbor Junior High school. The local entries were uniformly of high grade, testifying of the thorough art instruction by Miss Lilly Abell, who has been in charge of that work in the local schools for a number of years.

Wins School Case

Frank R. Sanders, Buchanan city attorney, represented School Dist. No. 1 Fractional in its suit with School District No. 14 Fractional Niles Township in which the latter attempted to establish its right to the tax income from the I. & M. power house and dam. The verdict handed down by the state supreme court last week assures the tax income of over $7,000 in perpetuity to the city district. This income, if funded, would represent a value of about $150,000.

Man Who Made City Rug Conscious Goes to Chicago Position

Miriam Siraganian, who may be said to have made Buchanan "Oriental rug conscious," has accepted a position as store manager for the firm or Nahigan Bros., leading dealers in fine rugs in Chicago and has gone to take up his duties there.

Mr. Siraganian was employed by Nahigan Bros. for many years previous to coming to Buchanan eight years ago. As the result of his eight years, of which four were extremely unfavorable for the sale of furnishings in the luxury class, it may be said that Buchanan has doubtless more fine Orientals per capita than any city in Michigan. Mr. Siraganian is an unusual salesman, with a profound knowledge of Orientals, and he was able to "sell" many local people on the desirability of Orientals. He made this city an operating center for sales trips to Michigan and northern Indiana cities and in the course of his residence he had some very beautiful specimens of the rugmakers art, the likes of which are not often seen in towns the size of Buchanan. To visit his home during an exhibit of Orientals was an education in a form of art not generally understood.

LOCAL WOMAN WINS NATIONAL COOKING HONOR

Mrs. Ann Diggins Awarded Two Certificates for Recipes By Magazine, Better Homes and Gardens

Just in case you want to add another good address to your list of "places to drop in for dinner," you may be interested to know that Mrs. Charles Diggins of Buchanan has received two honors in the field of culinary creativity from the national magazine, "Better Homes and Gardens," for two recipes for making oyster stew and baked liver patties.

This recognition gives Mrs. Diggins a nationally recognized niche among the heaven-born cooks of the country. The recipes thus honored by Better Homes and Gardens are required to undergo kitchen laboratory tests. In awarding the honors it is the intention of the magazine to provide proper recognition for the creative work done by women in their own kitchens, and also to raise the standard of accuracy and dependability of recipes as a whole.

- The two recipes follow:
- Oyster Stew
  - 4 cupsful of milk
  - 1 teaspoonful finely cut onion.
  - 3/4 cupful finely cut celery.
  - 2 sprigs parsley.
  - 1 pint oysters.
  - 1/2 bay leaf.
  - 3 tablespoonfuls of butter.
  - 4 tablespoonfuls finely ground cracker crumbs.
  - 1-8 teaspoonful salt or enough to suit taste.

Heat the milk with the onion, celery, parsley and the bay leaf over hot water for 20 minutes. Strain and add the cracker crumbs and butter. Heat the cleaned oysters in their own liquid until the edges curl then combine with the milk. Add seasoning and serve immediately. Part of my family like a sprinkle of paprika.

- Baked Liver Patties
- 1 pound beef liver
- 1 tablespoonful finely cut onion
- 2 1/2 tablespoonfuls finely cut green peppers
- 4 tablespoonfuls cold water
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoonfuls bacon fryings
- 3/4 cupful bread crumbs

Cover the liver with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain and put liver thru food chopper, using a fine knife. Cook finely cut onion and pepper in the cold water 5 minutes. Add to liver with unbeaten egg, bacon fryings, salt and half the crumbs. Stir until thoroughly mixed. Shape into patties and roll in the remaining crumbs. Heat a small amount of butter or fryings in a skillet and brown the patties on each side. Arrange in a baking dish, rinse the frying pan with one-third cupful of hot water or milk and pour over the liver. Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 40 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Johnson and son and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Yost and two sons of South Bend called Tuesday on Mrs. Al Hurbutt. They also called at the home of their great grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, who is 94 years old, and bedfast at her home for the past four years at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. S. Mitchell.

COMMITTEE NAMED BY LOCAL LIONS COMPLETES PLANS

Arrangements for Selection Most Complete in Years; Entrants Assured of Social Supervision.

"Miss Buchanan, local candidate of 1934 Blossom Queen honors, will be selected by competent outside judges from a bevy of local beauties appearing in review on the stage of the Hollywood theatre, Monday evening, April 24, according to plans completed by the committee named by the Lions Club, who are sponsoring the selection this year.

The advance information indicates that the plans this year for the selection will be more elaborate and complete than ever before, to ensure that the city will be represented by a candidate who will compare favorably with the high level which has given Buchanan a reputation throughout southwestern Michigan for maidly loveliness. Activities already under way indicate that the city is taking up the task of selection this year with fresh enthusiasm appropriate to the revival of bloom and beauty in spring and also to the general revival of enthusiasm and hope in the world.

The committee is anxious to correct former misapprehensions as to the care taken of the candidates from the various cities during the Blossom Week and its attendant tours and festivities. The girls are by no means permitted to "go on their own," making chance contacts and acquaintances that might be detrimental. Instead the supervision and constant surveillance by high class chaperones affords them far more protection than they receive in ordinary social life in their home communities. When on tours of the state and elsewhere they are under the constant direction of several wives of leading Twin City business men who serve as official chaperones. Under such direction the experience becomes a social opportunity of a high order that should be of benefit to a girl throughout life.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the selection here comprises Mrs. H. M. Graham (chairman), Mrs. J. F. Vele, Mrs. J. C. Strayer, Mrs. Arthur Knoblauch, Mrs. Clarence Fulks and Miss Marie Post.

Tickets for the selection program at the Hollywood will be on sale at the Princess Ice Cream Parlor and at Glenn Smith's store.

School District Case Involved Rights to Property

their lands never totaled $100,000. It was not likely that they had merely overlooked the fact that the tax income from a property which they saw daily and which was assessed at from $175,000 to $450,000 was going to another district.

The defense further asserted that no definite proof was presented that Dist. 14 had paid tuition to Dist. 1 on pupils living in the disputed territory. It was asserted that the power plant and dam were not in fact located on one hand between the old road location along the river meander line and the location of the present highway.

In the course of the inquiry the following local residents were called to the witness stand: Fred Howe, Charles Ingles, Andrew Lyddick, Vernon Taggett (Niles city engineer), Elta Denno, Herbert Batchelor, Edward Denno, Sgt. H. C. Stark, Paul DeWitt.

It is the theory of the plaintiff that these disputed parcels of land should be assessed in the plaintiff district because they were originally part and parcel of lands that have always been assessed in the plaintiff school district, and that the defendant school district could not arbitrarily detach these parcels of land from the plaintiff district and set them over in the defendant district merely by assessing them in that district over a period of years and without the knowledge and consent of the plaintiff district.

On the other hand it is the contention of the defendant school district that, irrespective of the fact that these disputed lands may originally have belonged to the plaintiff school district, that the continued assessing of said disputed lands in the defendant's district from 1905 down to the time of the commencement of this suit, with no objections being made thereto by the owners of the land, or by anyone connected with the plaintiff district, constitutes an acquiescence over a long period of time, so that the court must now conclusively presume that the transfer of said territory from the plaintiff district to the defendant district was made in a legal and lawful manner.

"It has always been the policy of courts to treat long acquiescence in a settler state of facts as settling permanently controversies of this kind."

Buchanan Hears Rastus and Sambo at Legion Benefit

An audience that approached the seating limits of the high school auditorium enjoyed the minstrel program, "Shells and Snorks" presented Tuesday evening by a cast of 100 from the famous Legion drum and bugle corps of Three Rivers. Before the show the corps paraded and played in the business section.

The Nature of Braille
Six dots, arranged like the six dots of a domino, give the blind a key which opens out for them the whole range of literature and music. By cutting out one or more of these dots, sixty-three different combinations can be formed, and the inner-combinations possibly are innumerable. This is the famous Braille system, called Braille after its inventor, and it is used by blind readers and writers in every part of the world. The sixty-three combinations allow sufficient variety to cover any alphabet and also the punctuation marks and contractions. They can also be applied to numerals and music symbols. A thorough knowledge of the Braille system can be acquired in a few weeks' study, and proficiency in reading—performed by the fingers—is obtainable after about six months.—Montreal Herald.

Idols on Top of Mountain
On the top of a mountain in Mexico, 14,000 feet above sea level, explorers found several idols, bits of pottery and other clay pieces, lending credence to the legend that this lofty eminence was once the site of an ancient Indian temple. This is believed to be the highest point in North America, where Indians once worshipped, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. At one time, it is believed, there was a shrine on top of the mountain to which Indians came to offer gifts to the "God of the Mountain" when desiring rain and good crops. The Indians today, however, believe the top of this mountain is inhabited by an evil spirit which drops rocks on living climbers.

American Crab Is Useful
More than 3,000,000 acres of prickly pear-infested land in north-eastern Australia was reclaimed through the importation from America of a grub which eats the roots of the plant.

Soil of Ellis Island
The area of Ellis Island is 21 acres, while originally it was but 8.3. Two islands were built to the southwest and tied to it by causeways. Later, made ground was added. Foreign ships were permitted to dump their ballast there, so to some extent this island for the reception of immigrants is made of foreign soil.

Editorial

John Dillinger, notorious gangster, has slipped through the fingers of the law twice. Both times he has been locked up behind stout iron bars and armed guards have been stationed nearby. But thru his utter dare-deviltry and ruthless energy, he has sighted freedom and grasped it.

Pictures of him in dozens of different poses have been plastered on the front pages under glaring headlines on nearly every newspaper in the nation. Bitter criticism has been openly and carelessly made of Indiana's state government and woman sheriff. In short, he has been the talk of the nation.

Through his cleverness in dodging the law, what has he gained? Neither peace nor contentment console him. He is hunted in every city and town to which he could possibly stray.

If the law never catches up with him, Dillinger's bill to society will be paid in full. The staining blood on his hands will always remain. He may change his physical appearance, such as dyeing his hair or having the shape of his face changed—it will fool the public. But his soul will not be changed. Terror and guile will follow him to the grave. Dillinger's sentence does not go unserved.

Poor Venus

Poor Venus! How her pride has suffered these past weeks. After being transferred from her watchful position in the left corner of the senior high school hall in the busy halls by CWA workmen, her modesty has been shocked further by having been removed from her pedestal. Imagine the dainty lady having to place her perfect and flawless toes on the cold, hard floor!

But such is fate for the artistic statue, who patiently waits and waits, while unthinking students brush past, little aware of her.

Wet Paint

Wanted, "Wet Paint" signs to tack on the walls at certain corners and in the halls of B. H. S. Whether the "wearing of the cream" colored paint has become just a passing fancy, or whether it is just another coincidence has yet to be determined.

Several boys have been featuring smears of paint on the arm of their sweaters, and, likewise, others have paraded around with paint on their hands and wrists. Seems as though the compact can not quite answer all the demands.

Arithmetic 7

Seventh grade arithmetic classes have learned how to find the areas of six sided and the areas of trapezoids or an eight sided figure.

Who's Who

A little, but outstanding, member of the senior class is Richard Boone. Dick, as he is commonly known, was born in Buchanan, on Dec. 18, 1916.

Having always gone to school in this city, he has become very well known and popular among his fellow students.

Since enrolling as a freshman, Dick has been a member of the Link club and Vesperian Literary Society. He also has played on the chess basketball teams and is a member of this year's senior play cast.

Dick plans to be an aeronautical engineer.

Annabelle Dalenberg

Annabelle Dalenberg was born at New Buffalo, Jan. 1, 1917.

When only two years of age, Annabelle moved to Buchanan with her parents and has lived here since that time. At the age of six she started school in Buchanan. This year she is one of the popular members of the senior class.

Since entering high school, she has been a member of the G. A. A., Latin club, Glee Club and Usher Club. She was also in the musical play, "Chonita," which was given at the high school this year.

Diagrams

Although only 17 years of age, Dick Schram, local aviation enthusiast, has a match with any of the airplane designers in the industry. Mr. Schram has designed landing gears and wings for many successful racing planes built by the International Aircraft Corporation of Niles.

One of the planes, the Bullet, won first place in the light plane race, averaging 121 M.P.H. at the International Air Races in Chicago. This plane is owned by Art Davis, famous racing pilot of East Lansing.

Some idea of the skill required to design a landing gear of this type may be gained from the fact that the landing gear supports a weight of from 1800 to 2000 lbs. when used on this ship and weighs less than 50 lbs. complete.

Mr. Schram has also designed replacement parts and repairs for government licensed aircraft and this work is recognized at the Aeronautical Department of Commerce in Washington, D. C.

Favorite Hobbies

Here are a few hobbies of some Buchanan high school students and teachers:

Donald Burrus, fishing.
Carson Donley, fixing automobiles.
Robert Willard, singing.
Richard Schram, aviation.
Harold Bradford, drinking lemon or coca colas.
Ruth Cripe, keeping her journal note book.
Elicano: Miller, keeping a scrap book.
Donald Blaney, collecting junk.
Arthur Knoblauch, playing volleyball ball.
August Topash, collecting pictures of big league baseball players.
Verl Brewer, talking in Journalism class.
Helen Spatta, disagreeing with everyone who agrees.
Edna Holmes, dancing.
Jack Lalenberg, trying to find Everett Deeds.
Johnny Hattenbach, trying to win a box of candy.

EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY

Eat, drink and be merry has been the policy of the chemistry students during the past week as they finished their optional experiments.

"Mmm, that milk tastes pretty good, eh what?"
"You haven't tasted anything. Taste these walnuts."
Such were the exclamations of the students as they drank and ate the remainder of the food left from the experiments.

Fashions of B. H. S.

Corduroy trousers, slip over sweaters and hobbled nail shoes complete the ever popular garb of the Buchanan high school boy.

Minus ties, with his shirt open at the throat, he can be seen plodding up the wide stairways or entering class rooms, seemingly ready for the daily grind.

Hats with their narrow brims and scrawled phrases written all over the crown, complete this outfit, giving them the jaunty collegiate air.

The girls have a tendency to copy the boys in their styles, for green, brown, and blue corduroy skirts are frequently seen topped with bright, frilly organdy blouses.

Polo coats and short jackets, along with berets of contrasting color, complete this outfit for out of doors wear.

There are a large number of children who need dental work.

Priceless Vehicles in Ford Exposition at World's Fair

Henry Ford's priceless collection of road vehicles will be the central feature of the Ford Exposition at the Chicago World's Fair this year. Hugh Ferriss, New York artist, at the right, gives his conception of how this unique transportation show will appear in the Grand Concourse of the Ford building now under construction. On the circular walls above the motorized portion of the display photo-murals eighteen feet in height will present one of the most elaborate pictorial features of the Fair.

Prominent among the collection of motor cars of a generation ago will be No. 999, the priceless relic of the days when Mr. Ford was making his way as an automobile racing driver and a "mille-a-minute" was a common word.

In seeking a keynote for the architectural motif of the Ford building at Chicago this year Albert Kahn, Detroit architect, decided upon the appropriateness of the gear. The result is that the huge central rotunda of the building will resemble graduated internally meshed gears standing ten stories high and measuring 210 feet in diameter at the base. The main entrance of the building is shown at the left.

"Snowflacs"

"Snowflacs," also known as "spring-tails," belong to the order of insects which scientists call "Collembola." The jumping about which may be noticed is caused by the spring-like tail (whence the name "spring-tails") which is fork-shaped. Springtails are found the year round under stones, in damp cellars, and other moist places. They abound most in spring and autumn, laying their eggs at both seasons. Because of their minute size, they are seldom seen, except when contrasted against the snow. This has led to another common name, "snowflacs."

Disarmament

AT THE present time much is heard about disarmament. To the world in general the word means the act of disarming, as by reducing the military or naval force of nations. As the years pass, it is being learned that this taking away or lessening of a material sense of power is not in itself capable of bringing peace. Yet is not peace what the people of the whole world are seeking? The realization of harmony can never be gained while the thoughts of men are filled with envy, hatred, and suspicion. If fear could be eliminated from the thoughts of men, the host of evil beliefs, expressed in malice, jealousy, and the like, would disappear.

Suppose the right way of thinking, with the consequent blotting out of thoughts of hate, should spread until for the whole human family all sense of hatred had been destroyed. What a change would have come over the world! Indeed, to disarm men of the evil mode of thinking would bring about the peaceful attitude of nations towards one another which people so much desire.

As nations are aggregations of people, each individual in the nation must disarm his own thought of fear and hatred. This disarmament is not material, but spiritual. If we really desire to have no need for arms, we must begin with ourselves and control our own thoughts.

Those who have learned through the teachings of Christian Science that man has the right to divine Love, God, the creator of all that is real, must live consistently with this teaching. They must refuse to think or express thoughts which include hatred. What will be the result? The love expressed in their thinking will be felt by all with whom they associate.

For those who have the correct understanding of Truth, now, not tomorrow or next week, is the time for them to begin by right thinking to help disarm the world of its fears. One may say: "What good can my thoughts do for the world? I am only one standing against the widespread belief in the power of evil." Studying the life-example of Christ Jesus, we find that he was one against the world. He was the right thinking, right thinking, and right action in vain? Are we truly his followers when we are not endeavoring to fulfill his mission? Was not this mission to bring to light peace, good will, universal love? The three years of his glorious healing ministry were filled by him in showing the world that all time, lowly as it may seem, is all of error. As in the time of Jesus, envy, hatred, and malice were aroused by his demonstrations of the truth, so at this period, Mary Baker Eddy writes (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 134): "Error is only fermenting, and its heat, arising at all times, will destroy itself of all error. As in the time of Jesus, envy, hatred, and malice were aroused by his demonstrations of the truth, so at this period, Mary Baker Eddy writes (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 134): "Error is only fermenting, and its heat, arising at all times, will destroy itself of all error. Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 367): "Because Truth is infinite, error should be known as nothing, because Truth is omnipotent in goodness, error, Truth's opposite has no might. Evil is but the counterpoise of nothingness. The greatest wrong is but the supposititious opposite of the highest right. The confidence inspired by Science lies in the fact that Truth is real and error is unreal."

Note: "There are not lords many and gods many—there is but one God, our heavenly Father. None other is entitled to our worship. And there is only one mediator between man and God, that is Christ Jesus our Lord. No man or woman, however good, no angelic being however exalted, is to come between. Through Jesus only may we come in prayer to our heavenly parent. Of Jesus we read: 'He shall build the temple of the Lord.' By his sacrifice and mediation Christ is both the foundation and the builder of the church of God."

"If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father. His intercession is that of a pierced and broken body, of a spotless life. The wounded hands, the pierced side, the marred feet, plead for fallen man, whose redemption was purchased at such infinite cost."

Preaching service at 11:15 a. m.

DAUBERT C. LUNDGREN
Laid to Rest Amid a Wealth of Flowers and Friends
Daubert Christian Lundgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Lundgren, passed away at his late home at 108 North Washington Ave., Roswell, New Mexico, on Tuesday, March 27, 1934, and was laid to rest in Oak Ridge cemetery, Buchanan, on Sunday April 1, 1934.

Mr. Lundgren was born in Chicago, February 5, 1896, and attended the public schools of that city until 1909, when he came with his family to Buchanan, where he finished his grade work in the local school. In 1915 he returned to Chicago and entered the Chicago Technical School, where he took up mechanical drafting. After his graduation from that institution he accepted a position as draftsman with the Clark Equipment Company of this city, where he remained until Sept. 22, 1917, when he enlisted in the United States army to serve his country in the world war. He went overseas with the 25th Engineers as a draftsman and was stationed at Tours, France for eighteen months. Upon the close of the war he returned to the United States and was discharged from the army at Mitchell Field, Long Island, June 27, 1919. He returned to Buchanan and resumed his position with the Clark Equipment Company where he remained until April 15, 1920, when he went with the Campbell Transmission Company of this city. He remained with this company until his falling health compelled him to give up all work.

Upon his return from France he was married to Miss Dora Smith at St. Joseph, Michigan, who survives him. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Lundgren, 109 West Dewey Avenue, and one sister, Mrs. Bernice Wagner of St. Joseph, Mich.

In October 1925, Mr. Lundgren went to Roswell, New Mexico, hoping that a change in climate would benefit his health, which it did. His passing was indeed a shock to the family and his host of friends as his condition had not been considered critical. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, The Disabled American Veterans, The American Legion and the Roswell Elks club. Before leaving Buchanan he had taken the first two degrees in Masonry but never completed the work.

Funeral services were held in Roswell on Thursday, March 29th at the Ballard Funeral chapel with Rev. LeRoy Thompson officiating.

Famous Lake Not Bottomless
The belief that Lake Ronkonkomo, on Long Island, is bottomless originated with the Indians. Subsequent soundings, however, found a uniform depth of 15 feet except in the center, where 60 to 70 feet and later 92 feet were measured. It is here that fresh water pours into the lake. Geologists who have studied the subject believe that this water comes from the northern states, passes under a stratum of rock underlying Connecticut to find an outlet in the porous bottom of Long Island.

Even Bees Bring Worry
Even the beekeeper faces epidemics which may cause him serious loss and certainly will cause him much worry. One disease in particular, world-wide in its spread, is that known as American foulbrood. When it is found in an apiary, even the strongest colonies being susceptible, the only course open is to burn the colony and thoroughly disinfect the hives.

The larvae of the caddis fly build themselves cases of fiber and serve them, lined with silk, which serve them in the capacity of submarines. The nature of their craft, like that of the submarine, is such that they can rise and sink in the water at will.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

GOLD BRICK PROSPECTS

We've always been a great admirer of school teachers (both sexes), which perhaps inclined us to sympathy for their financial troubles of recent years...

This was none other than that hoary fiction about the vast financial value of an education. According to a reliable survey, it stated, college graduates were averaging from $8,000 to $10,000 annually...

Anyone knows that it is not true. The fact is that many have been converted into opposition to educational financing because the schools have tried in the past to sell themselves on that basis...

When schools bend their efforts to the moulding of good citizens rather than big money enthusiasts many of the taxpayers will support them less begrudgingly...

BANG! YOU'RE DEAD!

In a discussion held locally recently regarding the part played by the movie presentations of gun play in learning the young idea to shoot or at least to want to play at it...

So, when a young gent of tender years points a Dillingham model .32 at your head and announces: 'Bang! You're dead,' you are not correct in assuming that he has been going to the Hollywood theatre...

The presentation of gold coast existences in movies doubtless does more harm to young people than the gun-play. But after all it's not much use to be critical for the tyrannies of the producers and of the box office dictates to most theatre men what pictures they may show...

Locusts, Hoppers Have Ears Locusts and short-horned grasshoppers have large ears that can easily be seen on the sides of the body just back of the legs. They look like tight membranes stretched across round holes on the sides of the body.

A Falling Star A falling star is a meteor. If it actually reaches the earth it is known as a meteorite. Meteors are tiny masses which under certain circumstances of motion and position dash into the earth's atmosphere at a speed of from 10 to 40 miles per second. The heat generated by the friction with the upper air usually completely vaporizes or burns them.

CLARK GABLE and JOAN CRAWFORD in "DANCING LADY"

With Joan Crawford and Clark Gable headlined, a smashing parade of sizzling song hits, an eye-thrilling cavalcade of pulchritudinous, chorus ensembles, and a sensational Broadway drama as story motivation, "Dancing Lady" which opens Sunday for three days at the Hollywood theatre, towers to new heights in screen musical entertainment.

Here is the Joan Crawford of old, the lingered lady of "Our Dancing Daughters," "Our Modern Maidens," and "Our Blushing Brides" - the Crawford that stamps the box office, and leaves 'em panting for more.

Teamed once more with Gable, Joan plays her chorus role with all she's got. She wears the kind of costumes that men will like and women will try to copy. And when she dances - well, she dances!

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has topped them all with this musical smash. The picture abounds with spectacles that stagger imagination and throbs with a romance that alone would make the picture a grand evening's entertainment.

The cast reads like an all-star screen, stage and radio aggregation. In addition to Crawford and Gable, you will see Franchot Tone, May Robson, Winnie Lightner, Fred Astaire, Robert Benchley, Ted Healey, Gloria Fay, Art Jarrett, Sterling Holloway and Ted Healey and His Stogges.

Among the song hits are "Let's Go Bavianian," "Heigh Ho," "Everything I Have is Yours," "The Rhythm of the Day" and "Dancing Lady."

LEAVES TAKEN FROM NOTEBOOKS OF LOCAL NATURE LOVERS ON HOW TO LOVE THINGS OF THE WILD, YET NOT DESTROY

How Pussywillow Catkins and Apple Blossoms may be had in January and Other Hints on Wild Culture.

The current vogue of the rock garden has to some extent obscured another horticultural pursuit that has its charms, and that is, to speak in terms of apparent contradiction, the culture of a wild garden.

For the loveliness of wild things can be reproduced and is being reproduced by a few Buchanan people, with even added luxuriance that comes from special care and provision of conditions that eliminate the ruthless competition of the wild.

If it is not possible on a large scale it can be pursued with interest on a small scale. For instance we know one Buchanan couple that have for many years made it their special and peculiar observation of New Years day to go some place where pussywillow branches are available and carefully trim a quantity with pruning shears.

The twigs were taken home, placed in a jar, and sprayed regularly with water just enough to take off the chill, an imitation spring shower. During late January they would have pussywillow catkins in full bloom.

They often followed the same practice with dogwood and with apple, plum and cherry branches. In late January and early February they would have fruit blossoms galore in their windows, not as large as those that bloom in season out of doors, but just as beautiful.

They learned the whereabouts of bittersweet, pigeonberries, wintergreen, cranberries, northern orchids, arbutus and the other selective rarities of nature and culled them sparingly, always clipping carefully with pruning shears. They never followed the practice of the thoughtless nature lover who tears the branches from the bittersweet vines, leaving on the remaining branches, long wounds of stripped bark that eventually ruin the vine for future production. If you are a hunter of bittersweet, dogwood, redbud or other rarities, why not take a hint from their carefulness and get equipped with pruning shears or knives to preserve the beauties that you admire. Clippings of blossoms or of twigs in the fashion will damage the plants no more than picking apples from a tree.

Which calls to mind that one of the finest and most productive bittersweet vines near the city was destroyed root and branch by the highway construction force on the Moccasin hill or "Redbud Trail" road. The vine clambered over a small tree on the right-of-way north of the Paul Wynn home. The thoughtless practice of stripping the bushes has made the formerly prevalent bittersweet a rarity along the main highways. Remember the pruning shears.

Among the other wild things that are culled for winter bouquets are the pods containing the hard seeds known as Jobs' tears. Some nature lovers gild the pods and place them in vases for permanent clusters. Another much sought after winter beauty is the pigeonberry of Michigan holly, which is often picked and sold in quantity for florists for sale in the cities. One South Bend store sold several truckloads of the Michigan holly during a holiday season. But these have also been largely destroyed in the swamps near the main roads by careless cutting. In fact they are only too often taken with no regard for rights of ownership, from farmers who consider them as a source of revenue.

W. C. T. U. Notes Newspaper Headlines The newspaper headlines of the present day offer an interesting study of conditions, and offer up-to-date education as to the present day effects of alcohol upon those who imbibe in that "revenue collector" of the United States government.

Here are a few gleaned from the papers of the past few weeks: "Chicago Mayor Worried About Liquor Too bad he does not know that All liquor is BAD. Then he would have something to worry about. However, we were solemnly assured that repeal of the 18th Amendment would do away with cheap and adulterated liquor. Now it seems that a veritable flood of cheap, bad liquor has been released upon the unsuspecting public. Let us help people to realize that the safe way is to leave it alone.

Boats to Fight Rum Row The above headline is startling. What is Rum Row still out there waiting for a chance to bring in contraband liquor? Most assuredly. The tariff is high, and foreign wines and liquors are trying to get into the United States and the cheapest way is to run in at night, and so, we must have large sums of money set aside by the government to build new and faster boats to carry on the fight. During the prohibition period this expense was considered very unnecessary, but now it is quite all right and gives the laboring man something to do.

President Worried Over "The Bootlegging Situation" The above is another headline sent out by the Associated Press. With so much to worry over, too bad the President must begin to soon thinking about the bootlegger who was supposed to have vanished with the repeal. The bootlegger, seems to be like Banquo's ghost and will not down. He can always beat the price of the so-called legitimate business. "Over 11 Million For Gov't." "Philadelphia Revokes 100 Beer Licenses" A much being Lady." You'll hear them plenty from now on!

What happened? A much be-

The daring border legion will ride out of the thrilling '70s tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday, onto the screen of the Hollywood, to live again in Paramount's "The Last Roundup" - those dangerous days of the West when the majority of adventures took gold from the ground and the minority took it away from them. Monte Blue, Randolph Scott, Barbara Fritchey, and Fred Kohler have the lead roles in this exciting, fast-moving Zane Grey screen story, which is feature number one of a double bill. Feature number two brings Colleen Moore back to the screen as the dynamic little society crasher in "Social Register," with Chas. Winninger, Alexander Kirkland, loved police officer was wretchedly shot down in a beer parlor and that resulted in a wholesale investigation of places selling beer, and so many illegal conditions were revealed that 100 licenses were revoked. Should anyone be surprised to find that the liquor business is up to its old tricks of violating the law? Why should anyone be so glibly as to believe that the leopard had changed its spots or the rattlesnake lost its rattles.

"Eleven Year Old Girl Acts As Bartender For Her Mother." Isn't that a lovely headline. We were told that we must repeal the 18th Amendment to protect the youth of the land. We have had the young girl in Michigan tried for murder for killing the proprietor of a liquor store, after both had become intoxicated. The Detroit papers have been filled with columns about the children found in beer parlors there, especially Saturday nights. Some of them have had to be carried home too drunk to walk. Where are the so-called "Reformers"? Now is the time for them to get busy and do something.

The above headline startled the reading world just recently. August Busch was a "Moderate Drink" all his life, but according to his physician, "had suffered in his pain for six weeks, from a complication of heart disease and gout." Well, ask any physician what is most likely to cause gout, and then decide whether or not Mr. Busch was justified in his belief, publicly expressed "That beer was a temperance drink in addition to being an excellent tonic." Here we have quotations from Dr. Charles Drysdale, speaking to the British Medical Association, when he says: "The drinking of beer is the greatest cause of gout among the population of London."

In a recent article, T. N. Carver, Professor Emeritus of Economics of Harvard University calls attention to the fact that some concerted effort should be made by all good forces to CURB the education being carried on through the press, movies and radio for intemperance. He states that such education is most damaging to the ideals of the nation. False avenues of thought is evident. The great liquor interests have a pecuniary motive for carrying on such education and it is difficult to combat it. The have gone to ridiculous lengths to carry on; such as printing receipts for making "beer soup," and making much of the proper dress for the "cocktail hour." With thousands still going hungry, it seems incredible that so many are deceived. Rodger Babson recently stated, "For every dollar of whiskey revenue received, we have lost twenty dollars in the loss of legitimate trade and the cost of damage done to society."

Scrip for the Journey

By Harry W. Staver

"Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only." The importance of such a statement is as obvious as it is emphatic. In a similar vein, Ralph Waldo Emerson writes: "Every idea must have a visible enfolding; a habitation is necessary to any principle; every dogma must have a temple." Of course! An idea, unembodied, is only an idea. Embodied it becomes a reality. A principle, incarnate, is only a principle. Incarnate in a man, it becomes a reality. The "word" has to be "made flesh."

We talk about faith - what a mighty thing it is - how it has enabled men to "move mountains." But the important thing is to take faith and go out into life and be faithful. We talk about love. We hear Drummond call it "the greatest thing in the world." We read Paul's word about it and how it is the supreme thing of supreme things. But the only love that amounts to anything is the love men live every day, not the love they read about in the Bible or elsewhere. We talk about mercy and what a wondrously beautiful thing it is. But the only mercy that really matters is the mercy that men practice. Justice is great thing and a good thing, but unless it issues in just men and women its greatness and goodness is impotent. There are what we call the "Cardinal Virtues," basic and fundamental moralities, but there is nothing either cardinal or virtuous about them except they find habitation in the human heart. The religion that avails is always pragmatic; as the Biblical James phrases it: "Faith without works is dead."

In this column two weeks ago we stressed the fact that a man is what he THINKS. Today, we would emphasize the fact that a man IS what he DOES. "Sow a deed, reap a habit. Sow a habit and reap a character. Sow a character, reap a destiny."

His helpers outside the cage have only prodding poles and blank cartridges. They carry bottles of ammonia to break up incipient fights between individual animals before they can develop a gigantic battle royal.

Galoshes The galosh or galosh was originally a wooden shoe or clog, but later came to mean an overshoe. Galoshes are false shoes, or covers for shoes. The word is adapted from the French galoches, from low Latin galopetula, a wooden shoe.

"To Eat Humble Pie" Here, humble is a pun on umble, the umble being the heart, liver, and entrails of deer, the huntsmen's perquisites. When the lord and his household dined, the venison pasty was served on the dais, while the umbles were made into a pie for the huntsman and his fellows, who took the lower seats.

Settlers Called Coureurs Many of the earliest settlers of Ohio were what the French called Coureurs, or outlaws. The Canadian fur trade early fell into the hands of companies organized and chartered in France, and only members of these companies, or those to whom they gave permission, could trade in hides. Hence, to make a living by engaging in the beaver trade with the Indians, many Canadian settlers forsook their homes and families and took to the wilderness to the west. They were later driven onward by regular traders and officials, and finally vanished in the prairies and mountains of the Far West.
