

Am. Legion Calls For Co-Operation in Plans For Autumnal Festival

Now Here's the Proposition

There has been considerable pressure brought to bear on this great medium of information and opinion to make fun of a certain business man not far from the corner of Front and Days avenue who is inclined to lean back and sing ever and anon to relieve the burden of labor. We want it understood that we have no ridicule for him, nothing but a deep and abiding admiration amounting almost to reverence. How much better it would be around the Loop District if more of the boys would sing instead of—well, make the kind of noises some of them sometimes do. We agree with that old philosopher, Thomas Carlyle, who said, "Blessed is the man who sings at his work."

Let's have more harmony from the boys! We have always had a yearning to hear Waldo singing bass. While Beatie's heavy baritone rang all about the place. We'd like to sit and listen while Del Boardman strained a lung and Dick Smith joined in the chorus of "When You and I Were Young."

We'd love to hear Glenn Haslett chanting in his flute-like tones, with a rain barrel bass profoundly pouring out of Clarence Jones. And to hear Jedge and Houswiver as their plaintive woodnotes ring. And it's always been a question, can George Himmelberger sing? We would like to hear Matt Kelling just to know how it would sound.

As he trilled an obligato in a bass that shook the ground. We'd love to hear Bill Donley as he ladled out the beers as he sang in quavery tenor of "Among My Souvenirs."

And to hear the "Rock of Ages" by Vern Quinn and Howard Monroe. And to hear Jerry Wisner as he rendered "Sweet and Low" while Clarence in at Evans warbled "Sweethearts on Parade," while he measured off the calico that will not shrink or fade.

We would like to hear Bill Brodick warbling out "Sweet Adeline." We would like to hear Bob Reamer join in "For Thee I Pine." There'd be sunshine in Buchanan as they sang verse after verse, and the days would fill with music and the nights with something worse.

It would make for better business and a fine financial crop. For we all would pay to hear them and still more to make them stop.

And another good number would be a trio entitled "There's A Rainbow 'Round the Corner" by the boys in the new band.

The city of Buchanan moved its jail Thursday, thereby fulfilling the meaning of the old proverb relating to locking the stable after the departure of the horse. The steel cage which comprises the jail was jacked up and skidded to a new position nearer the door, where there are no holes in the floor that prisoners can crawl thru and where the floor is also cleaner for the time being. It reminds us of the farmer near our boyhood home in the West who always mowed his stable annually to save cleaning it out.

JAMES CLARK IS CHARGED LEAVING SCENE ACCIDENT

Two Crashes, No Injuries, on Portage Street Near Front During the Past Week.

Two minor automobile crashes occurred on Portage street between Front street and Central court last week, one resulting in the bringing of criminal charges.

While coasting down the hill on Portage northward Tuesday evening, James Clark struck a car parked in front of the Myers home with two young men and two girls seated in it. It is alleged that Clark drove on without stopping, although later the man who was riding with him, William Maggett, returned to inquire if anyone was hurt. There were no injuries, but a wheel was broken from the parked car and other damages effected. Charge was brought by Albert Hurley, owner of the car, against Jas. Clark, on the ground that he was driving while drunk and left the scene of an accident. Clark was arraigned before Judge Mathie yesterday and pleaded not guilty. Hearing was set for July 30.

Late Saturday evening Harold Sebasty turned from Central Court northward on Portage street and struck a car owned by Ora Coleman which was parked in front of the Wallace home. Sebasty had his wife and two children with him and although his windshield was shattered and his car damaged by the impact, none of the family were hurt. The Coleman car was unoccupied. The location of the Coleman car as well as the entire street for several rods north of Central Court is marked by a tree branch which obscures the street light at the intersection.

LOCAL FARMERS ON EARLY WHEAT THRESHING RUN

Dry Weather and Chinch Bug Hastens Harvest; Rising Wheat Price Cheers Farmers.

Rising wheat prices cheered local farmers this week as they neared the end of one of the earliest threshing runs in the history of the Buchanan district and grain prices on local bulletin boards stood at 85c.

Drouth and chinch bugs served to hasten the harvest this year, but in spite of all the publicity given those two crop threats, the quality of the grain is reported to be uniformly good and the yield from fair to good. Lowest yields around Buchanan are reported from the River Road district north of town, which failed to receive the benefit of early June rains which covered the remainder of the surrounding districts. The Ward Wright machine threshing along the River Road reported an average yield of about 12 bushels an acre. In the Bakerton and Dayton districts average yields of around fifteen bushels an acre are reported.

CARL ROSSOW EXONERATED IN RITTER DEATH

Jury of Six Absolves Local Youth of Responsibility for Tragic Driving Accident.

Carl Rossow, 18, was exonerated of all blame for the death of Ervin M. Ritter, by a jury of six which heard the testimony at the coroner's inquest held at the city hall Monday morning.

The jury was composed of Lester Lyon, Nate Brown, Howard Monroe, Bill Nelson, Lyle Erskine and O. L. Donley, who returned the following verdict:

In view of the testimony given due to the fact that Ervin Ritter had been arrested for intoxication the afternoon of the accident and had escaped from jail, and also that Mr. Rossow was driving at a low rate of speed, approximately 25 miles per hour, no doubt Mr. Ritter being intoxicated, walked out of the darkness into the path of the approaching car, not giving Mr. Rossow, the driver, a chance to avoid hitting him, therefore we, the jury, exonerate Mr. Carl Rossow from all blame for the death of Mr. Ervin Ritter. L. L. Lyon, Lyle Erskine, H. C. Monroe, William M. Nelson, Nate S. Brown, O. S. Donley.

Dr. Strayer was called as the first witness. He stated that he was called to the Childs Funeral Home to examine the body and that the apparent injuries contributing to death were a broken neck, fractured skull and a compound fracture of the left leg between the knee and the ankle.

Other witnesses called were the driver, Carl Rossow, his companion in the front seat, Miss Genevieve Hillman, 1547 Maple Street, Niles, L. B. Spafford, who was the only witness of the accident, Deputy Sheriff Robert Rinker and Chief of Police Ed Mitchell. Their testimony agreed in all essential facts and reconstructed the events leading up to the accident as follows:

Ritter had been intoxicated the afternoon of Wednesday and was placed in what is known as the town jail. About 8 p. m. he again appeared on the streets, having made his exit through a large hole in the floor for a toilet, escaping into the creek and wading out. He confronted Mitchell with the statement that he was "all sobered up now and I'll be a good boy if you'll let me go home."

Mitchell permitted him to go on the promise that he would go home at once. It was two hours later that he was killed about three quarters of a mile out, on River street. At that time young Rossow and his three companions were driving north-east on River street, taking Claude Deano home. Rossow was driving about 25 miles an hour, according to the testimony substantiated by that of others. Lights and brakes were in condition, but he had his dimmers on. He first saw Ritter about ten feet from him and midway in the path of his car. The girl testified also that Ritter "just loomed up ahead all at once, the first thing I saw being the sack on his back." Spafford testified that he was seated on the front porch at the time and that the accident occurred directly in front of his home. He stated that he saw the approaching car but that he did not see or hear Ritter until he heard the impact.

Ritter had bought some groceries and was carrying them in a gunny sack on his back when he was struck. Apparently he was hit by the front right hand fender, while walking in the middle of the right hand lane. The headlight was broken and bent backward by the impact and Ritter was thrown several yards to the south side of the pavement.

Spafford ran out and looked at the man and saw that to all appearances he had been killed instantly. Calls were immediately made for physicians, but no Buchanan physician could be located. Chief Mitchell, Deputy Sheriff Rinker, County Coroner Louis Kerlikowski and the Rutherford ambulance of Niles were called. Rossow had parked his car immediately and a throng gathered at the scene of the accident, waiting over an hour for the arrival of the coroner. Kerlikowski examined the scene, and then sent the body to the Childs Funeral Home, and held a short hearing at the city commission chambers. After examining the witnesses he ordered an inquest to be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Galien-Buchanan Bank Reports Fine Business For Its Opening Day

Graveling Nearly Completed on the Redbud Trail Road

The River Road project known as the Redbud Trail which is under construction by a force of relief and county workers has been gravelled and treated with chloride of lime from the north end at the Oronoko county line to the foot of the Moccasin Bluff hill.

The road will receive another treatment of chloride of lime in about five weeks, according to Engineer Heath Calvin, who is in charge, and will be treated regularly by the county each summer. Calvin stated that repeated treatments should render the road practically dustless in two or three years. It is not practicable to attempt to render the road entirely free of dust immediately by one heavy application, as much of the chemical is wasted.

The force transferred the steam shovel and gravel screen from the north end to the Shafer gravel pit on the north edge of town last week and the surfacing is now being hauled from this end of the road. The surfacing work will be nearly complete this week.

HARD RAINS STOP INROADS CHINCH BUGS

Damage Heaviest in Small Grain Crops; Trench and Tar Effective Where Properly Carried Out.

Hard rains of the past week served to end temporarily the threat of chinch bugs which damaged small grain crops in sections around Buchanan in late June.

The bugs damaged wheat, oats, and other small grain severely in places, although the general damage was over-estimated and the injury to corn was much less than reported. Local farmers insist that the pest which ravaged this district was the real chinch bug, as it worked mainly on the small grain crops.

The trenches and tar barriers served to check the advance of the bugs where effectively installed. On the farm of Frank Straub near Dayton, a trench was plowed to keep the bugs from going into his cornfield from the wheat. The trench was located about five corn rows from the edge. The corn was eaten off up to the trench and there the bugs piled deep in the notes which Straub dug at intervals along the trench. One 30-inch hole was filled with bug wire six inches of the top and every hole had several inches of the insects piled up in it.

The bugs also ceased their ravages on reaching maturity but a crop of eggs was laid and a second hatch is expected shortly unless weather conditions kill them.

BUILDS MAGIC HILLSIDE ROCK GARDEN WITH CARE, WORK AND LITTLE MONEY

The garden is most effective at night under the light of the lamps which he has strung. It is rarely a week passes without some social group meeting there, taking advantage of the tables and chairs which Imhoff has installed for picnicking. Among the lighting devices which he recently installed is a 14-foot shaft of cement, with rock incrustation surmounted with a 100 watt light and also by a wheel from a wheelbarrow, from which cords are stretched down to a wagon wheel encircling the shaft. Up these cords encircling the shaft for. For it is always open to live there, and many go there weekly without the formality of asking permission, their card of admission being nothing but the free masonry of garden lovers.

Mr. Imhoff has built his garden on the side of the Michigan Central railway grade in the rear of his home, and the steep incline renders the place peculiarly susceptible to development as a rock garden. It is hard to realize in viewing the results which he has accomplished in the three years since he began its construction, that the whole has involved an outlay of less than a hundred dollars.

Frank Imhoff's Backyard Achievements Draw Many Guests from Over a Wide Area.

The general committee comprises H. M. Graham (chairman), Arthur Johnston, H. B. Thompson, Jack Burks, William Kohlman. The chairman of the departmental committees are as follows: sport, Vic Prince; transportation, Frank Imhoff; refreshments, Arthur Voorhes; safety, A. H. Kiehn; prizes, E. C. Pascoe; advertising, C. D. Arnold; entertainment, Jack Boone; music, Paul Wynn; cards and bridge, Mrs. Don Rouse.

Injunction Issued vs. City Fund to Fight Amendment

A temporary injunction was granted in Circuit Court at St. Joseph, July 16, restraining the board of supervisors and county officers from paying out $179 to a campaign fund to defeat two proposed amendments which would reduce gasoline and limit automobile weight taxes, sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

In his opinion Circuit Judge Charles E. White ruled that the supervisors "had no power to make such appropriations and that an appropriation of this kind goes to the very foundation of our system of government." The Berrien County board of supervisors had appropriated the money from the public funds at its June session and the injunction seeking to restrain payment was brought by John S. Heilig of St. Joseph.

"If the board of supervisors have a right to make an appropriation creating publicity among the voters relative to the adoption or rejection of any legislation it would be a very dangerous precedent to establish," Judge White ruled. "In view of the conditions, I cannot hold otherwise than that this appropriation is beyond the power of the supervisors under our system of government."

One of the proposed constitutional amendments would limit the weight tax at its present rate, the other would reduce the gasoline tax from three to a two cent maximum. It was contended by Automobile club officials that the appropriation was intended for a slush fund to defeat the will of the people. More than 850,000 signatures seeking the amendments have been filed with the secretary of state.

Chief Logan's Oration Is Cited as a Classic

Chief Logan's original name was Tagah-jute and he was born about 1725 near Auburn, N. Y.

The boy was renamed for James Logan, secretary of Pennsylvania under William Penn. As a chief he became known for his friendship with the whites.

In 1774, while Logan was away hunting, all of his family were massacred by a party of white men, and this led him to instigate a war of revenge in the Ohio country.

Lord Dunmore, governor of Virginia, invited the chiefs to a peace conference, to which Logan refused to go. He made his famous speech to Dunmore's messenger under an elm tree, near Circleville, as follows:

"I appeal to any white man to say if ever he entered Logan's cabin hungry and I gave him not meat; if ever he came cold or naked and I gave him not clothing. During the course of the last long and bloody war Logan remained in his tent an advocate for peace. Nay, such was my love for the whites that those of my own country pointed at me as they passed by and said, 'Logan is the friend of white men.' I had even thought to live with you but for the injuries of one man, Colonel Cresap, the last spring, in cold blood, and unprovoked, cut off all the relatives of Logan, not sparing even my wife and children. There runs not a drop of my blood in the veins of any human creature. This called on me for revenge. I have sought it, I have killed many. I have fully glutted my vengeance. For my country, I rejoice at the beams of peace. Yet, do not harbor the thought that mine is the joy of fear. Logan never felt fear. He will not turn on his heel to save his life. Who is there to mourn for Logan? Not one."

Strange Temple Has Eyes Called "The Eyes of God"

The independent kingdom of Nepal, just north of India, is one of the most curious and hard-to-get-to regions of the world. It is high up on the roof of the world, with Mount Everest and the other Himalayan pinnacles towering still higher.

The people of those parts of the world take their religion seriously and they are willing to make any sacrifices for it. At the city of Both-Nath there is a very strange temple which has in the steeple two gigantic eyes, which are called "the eyes of God."

Hordes of pilgrims come to this place—many of them from India. These pilgrims leave everything behind them (which isn't much) and travel terrific distances. They live on next to nothing, and their very scanty cotton clothes are no protection against the extremely cold climate.

Tier after tier of temples rise on one another. Images of gods and goddesses, saints and heroes, demons and serpents, rats and lizards, birds and legendary creatures—many of them of enormous size—rise everywhere, like the trees in a forest. The pilgrims make these journeys in fulfillment of their religious vows and are then ready to face death with calm resignation. —Pathfinder Magazine.

Effect of Loss of Sleep

It requires fifteen days for the average human body to recover completely from effects of loss of sleep for two consecutive nights.

Greatest Meteor Shower

The greatest meteor shower of modern times occurred in 1833, when the Leonids struck the earth's atmosphere in tremendous numbers. Observers counted as many as six hundred in a small section of the sky in twelve minutes. Competent estimates indicated that they appeared at the rate of ten thousand an hour. Some were the usual streaks but some were as bright as Jupiter or Venus. One was reported as large as the apparent size of the moon.

LEADING PORTAGE PRAIRIE FARMER RECEIVES THREAT

Isaac Wells Receives Letter Warning Him to Beware of Nine Dark Men Carrying Clubs.

Considerable feeling has been aroused on Portage Prairie during the past week from the fact that one of its best-known and highly respected citizens has been receiving veiled threats through the mail presaging violence or worse in case certain conditions are not fulfilled.

The threats were received by Isaac Wells, the latest running as follows: "Mr. Wells, beware!! You are in danger! Look out for a dark man! In fact, look out for nine dark men! And don't be seen around the Letcher ball diamond next Sunday afternoon. There will be nine dark men there. They will bear clubs. They are looking for revenge. Beware Before It Is Too Late!"

State police and the county sheriff's office are working on the theory that the letters come from some member of the colored baseball team known as the South Bend All Stars which suffered defeat at the hands of the Buchanan Co-Ops Sunday afternoon 7 to 5.

The colored boys asked for a return game next Sunday when they say they will shut the Portage Prairie boys out or forfeit all claim to a share of the gate. There will be a large crowd out for the contest and it bids fair to be the ball game of the season.

The score sheet in Sunday's game read:

All Stars Win Victory Over Cities Service

The Buchanan All Stars soft ball team, organized some ten days ago, and victor over the Clark Equipment Co. team in its first game a week ago, won its second game at Athletic Park Monday night, when it defeated Cities Service, 16 to 3.

The All Stars collected 18 hits off Jess Brewer, Cities Service pitcher, and had one big inning, the fifth, when eight runs were scored off six hits. The winners played consistently in the early innings, scoring two runs in each of the first, second, third and fourth.

Sherburn and Babcock, both right-handers, took care of the pitching duties of the All Stars. The former worked the first three innings and allowed but four hits, and Babcock, working the last three, allowed three. The game played after the Clark-Bradley league game, was called in the 6th on account of darkness.

Sensational fielding plays of Babe Sexton, All Star shortstop, was a feature of the game. Joe Howard, All Star captain and first baseman, led the attack for his team, driving off three singles in four official trips to the plate. George Chain was the offensive star for Cities Service, getting two out of three.

The All Stars have two more games scheduled this week, and these with the same team. The newly organized club, scheduled to meet the strong Kewpee team of Niles here last night, will play a return game with that team in Niles Saturday afternoon.

The score by innings: All Stars 222 28—16 18 1 Cities Service 000 800—3 7 3 Batteries, Sherburn, Babcock, M. Sexton; Brewer and Hawkes. Umpires, Simpson and Dokey.

Lobsters Speedy in Water

Propelled chiefly by action of its tail the lobster, which swims backward, can make remarkable speed in the water. One of them has been observed to swim 25 feet, less than one second. But land traveling is quite another matter with the crustaceans. Owing to their weight and relatively weak legs, they are almost helpless when placed on the ground.

Curly's Clowns Win First Game in Eight Starts

The worm finally turned here last Thursday night and the lowly and much abused Curly's Clown softball team, beaten by every team in the league this season, won its first game in eight starts at Athletic Park by shutting out the third place Farm Bureau Cowboys, 1 to 0, in what was probably the best played game staged here this summer.

The Clowns afforded air tight support, support which was nothing short of sensational in spots, to their pitcher, Frank Fabiano, who allowed out four scattered hits while they maced the offerings of Jim Ellis, Cowboy moundsman, for seven healthy wallops, including a triple in the first inning by Ralph Pfingst, captain this spring of Western State Teachers college track team and one of America's foremost sprinting stars who drove the ball into center and was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to stretch the hit into a home run. There were also doubles by Juhl, outfielder, and Vandenberg, first baseman of the Clown cast. The latter's hit, to open the fourth, led to the only run of the game. One-Word Chorus

"Amen" is the last word in the Bible, occurs again in the preceding verse, is used once more in the Books of the Revelation as a synonym for "firm and true," and once by St. Paul in his second letter to the Corinthians, where he couples it with an affirmation, "Yea and Amen." It occurs nowhere else, and "Christ never uses it in the gospel. It comes straight from the Hebrew, and its significance is "truly," "verily," "Be it so really," "It is so in very truth," "Amen." All the churches, Roman, Greek, English, Non-conformist use it. Jews and Mohammedans say "Amen." There has been controversy as to its proper pronunciation. The dictionaries give "a-men," but in public worship the word, usually when spoken, and always when sung, is pronounced "ah-men." Handel wrote a chorus in which no other word occurs, and a sevenfold Amen is commonly sung in churches at the close of a service.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Fairy Flag

Probably of all the relics of Dunvegan Castle, Scotland, the most popular is the fairy flag of the Macleods, even more than a waistcoat worn by Prince "Charlie," and some of his hair in a locket. Tradition says the flag was a gift of a fairy when a Macleod chief wedded and then deserted. It insures victory in battle for the clan and lures fish in shoals for the fisherfolk of Dunvegan. But the flag can be waved only three times for service to its owners. Twice it has rendered help in dire need.

Franklin's Aid to Medicine

The name of Benjamin Franklin (1706-1790) is intimately connected with American medicine through his invention of bifocal lenses (1784); a flexible catheter, a stove, his letters on the treatment of paralysis by electricity (Franklinism, 1757); and on lead poisoning (1780); his observations on gonorrhea, the heat of the blood, sleep, deafness, nyctalopia, the infective nature of colds, infection from dead bodies, death rate in infants and medical education.

Third Commemorative Stamp

The third commemorative postage stamp issued by the United States in 1909 served to commemorate the discovery of the Hudson river by Henry Hudson in 1609 and the navigation of the same river by Robert Fulton in 1807. Hudson sailed his little Dutch vessel, the Half Moon, into New York harbor on September 8, 1609, and almost 200 years later Fulton proved the possibilities of his steamboat, Clermont, by a public demonstration on the river.

Sloe Used in Tea

Sloe, a wild plum, sometimes called the blackthorn, is the source of a leaf sometimes used to adulterate tea. The bush, which grows in height from four to ten feet, is covered with sharp points or spikes. In the spring, time, the bush is first covered with white flowers which appear before the leaves come out. These leaves, shaped somewhat like tea leaves, are used to make a type of tea peculiar to the sloe, and in addition, find their way into adulterated tea. The fruit of the tree or bush is of little use, being small and very bitter.

The school board of Fractional District No. 1, Buchanan, was re-organized Tuesday, the same officers being re-elected, as follows: president, M. L. Hanlin; secretary, Mrs. Ida Rice; treasurer, J. A. White.

Constituents of Human Body

A man weighing 150 pounds will contain approximately 3,500 cubic feet of gas-oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen—in his constitution. He also contains all the necessary fats to make a 15-pound candle, and thus, together with his 3,500 cubic feet of gases, he possesses considerable illuminating possibilities. His system contains 22 pounds and 10 ounces of carbon, or enough to make 780 dozen or 9,360 lead pencils. There are about 50 grains of iron in his blood and the rest of the body would supply enough of this metal to make one spike large enough to hold his weight.

"Center" and "Middle"

In general usage the words "center" and "middle" may be used synonymously, but in rhetoric there are shades of difference. For instance, one may speak of the center of the earth, or of a circle, or the center of population. We usually speak, however, of the middle of a line, or the middle of a week.

Europe's Territory

Pen Points Strong

Platinum and gold alloys, such as are used in pen points, are made with a tensile strength of 190,000 pounds a square inch, the equal of the hardest steel.

THE OLD SUBSCRIBER

The following editorial on "The Old Subscriber" was written by Bill Nye, noted newspaper humorist of a generation ago and publisher of the Laramie (Wyo.) Boomerang.

I would like to say a word in behalf of the old subscriber. Since the old subscriber does not generally say much in print, I may be bold to say in his behalf that, as a rule, he is not treated half as well as the prodigal son, who has been spending his substance on a rival paper.

Why should we pat the new subscriber on the back, and give him a new album that will fall to pieces whenever you laugh in the same room? Why should you forget the old love for the new?

We ought to remember that the old subscriber came to us with his money when we most needed it. He bore with us when we were new in the business and used general provincialisms as "we have saw" and "if we had knew."

Pontiac is First Auto Driven On Mackinac Island

History was made here today at this fashionable resort, Mackinac Island, the last stronghold of the horse and buggy in the United States, when a new Pontiac automobile, first motor driven vehicle ever to be permitted upon the island, was escorted under a heavy guard of Port Mackinac soldiers over the mile long route from the dock where it was landed to its resting place in the grille lobby of the Grand Hotel. With the tercentenary... three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the island by the famous French explorer, Jean Nicolet... serving as a background of historical pageantry, the thirty year old regulation of the Michigan State Park Commission forbidding a motor driven vehicle from being run on the streets of Mackinac Island was modified for the first time in order that the Pontiac might take its place in the celebration of progress that is being so fittingly observed here this summer. The motor vehicle ban was only partially lifted, however, thus preserving a complete victory for the modern car, as the gas was drained from its tank and it was hauled up the long hill by four spanking black horses led by coachmen in red livery. The complete escort as it drew up before the beautifully colonaded veranda of the Grand Hotel consisted of a captain of the Michigan state guard on mount, followed by eight eagle boy scouts of the governor's honor guard, then a band of Indians in costume in honor of the car which takes its name from the famous chief whose "Pontiac massacre" in 1763 is known to every school boy who reads the early history of the Mackinac region. Last in the parade was the Pontiac surrounded by the squad of regular army soldiers with guns loaded as a guarantee of the Pontiac's safe trip to Grand Hotel and to make certain that the car would not be driven. Horses that have never seen a motor car acted as they did on the streets of our cities thirty years ago, and Island residents are reported to have stood aghast as the last barrier to the motor car in the United States surrendered.

Not Familiar With Wood

Wood is one of man's oldest and most useful materials for an almost unlimited number of purposes. Man's familiarity with it has very often bred, if not contempt, at least carelessness in its use, which has resulted in unsatisfactory service attributable not to the inherent qualities of the wood itself, but rather to its improper handling. One serious mistake is to neglect the moisture content of wood, says a bulletin of the Canadian department of the interior. In communion with all other vegetable products, wood contains moisture. The amount so contained is usually expressed as a percentage of the bone-dry weight of the wood. Thus "25 per cent M. C." indicates that the weight of water present is one-quarter of the weight of the absolutely dry wood. The importance of the moisture lies in the fact that the dimensions of a block of wood are, within definite limits, dependent upon it.

June Weddings

June weddings are "good to the man and happy to the maid" according to the old saying. The belief comes from a Roman superstition arising from the fact that in June was held a great festival in honor of Juno, Queen of Heaven. Juno was the special guardian of women. She watched over them at their birth, their marriage, and throughout the rest of their life. To be married during the month in which her festival was held was believed to attract her special favor, and so insure the perpetual happiness of the bride and her husband.

Porcupines as Food

Despite the formidable appearance of the animals, porcupines are relished as food among certain gypsy tribes. Difficulty with the spines is overcome by rolling "Porky" in wet clay to form a ball which is then set among the coals to harden. When the clay is broken off the skin and spines of the animal come with it.

Abysians' Idea of World

Ostrich egg shells are considered highly decorative in Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, where the religion is a mixed form of Christianity and the church owns one-third of all the land. Numerous temples of worship are surmounted by a cross with ostrich egg shells stuck over the points—an ancient symbol of the primitive belief that the world was created from an egg.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

THE CITY HOOSEGOW

To an unofficial observer at the coroner's inquest Monday morning, it seemed that the only evidence of guilt that stood out clearly in connection with the incident was that attaching to the city of Buchanan for maintaining such a jail. It is quite apparent that the members of the city government feel that their chances of spending any time in the city hoosegow are somewhat remote. Otherwise the accommodations would undoubtedly be better. Of course, from our recollection of the dimensions of the members of the commission there is only one who would have been able to escape in the manner in which the last three "breaks" have been effected. It may be that the administration (this and those preceding as well) belong to that school of thought which holds that jails are not intended to be pleasant places and should rather be vile and terrible places so that the prospects of residence in them would deter the evil doer. The city jail is merely a steel cage in the old "hose house" which is also the city Hotel d' Bum in the winter time. There in the winter the bums congregate and fire the old potbellied heater all night to keep warm in the absence of covers. It has been a query with us as to what chance an inmate of the jail would have if the transients should build too much fire some night and set the building on fire. And also as to what extent the city would be responsible in that event. Of course, one solution would be to put the bums and the prisoners in the city hall and let the commission meet in the jail.

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAY

The first local traffic death to occur locally in two years brings once more to attention the question of just what driving practices tend to fatten the mortality lists. Only a few years back, in the speed-mad era, few of the steering wheel nuts would admit that speed is a major cause of accidents. But since that time there has been accurate check by insurance companies and the evidence against speed is too overwhelming to gainsay. Study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 756,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to blunders. A recent analysis by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters shows what the blunders were. There are eight in all. 1. Drove too fast for conditions—this accounted for approximately three-fourths of all mishaps in 1933 assigned to driving blunders. 2. Failed to slow down at intersections. 3. Failed to keep to the right. 4. Tried to pass another car going in the same direction when view was obstructed. 5. Failed to slow down on approaching pedestrians. 6. Passed on the right of a preceding vehicle. 7. Ignored important traffic control devices. 8. Parked at dangerous spots. If drivers will obey the eight common sense rules suggested by these violations, the annual accident record can be reduced to a negligible figure.

The above row of interrogation points represent the large questions in the minds of the attendants at the filling stations at Gasoline Corner as to just when the rare luck of the speedsters is going to end and there will be a major crack-up at the intersection of Front, Portage and Rynearson.

In the opinion of most people conversant with traffic at that intersection the fact that there have been no bad accidents there is not to be taken as evidence of the provision of adequate arrangement for public safety. There has been a number of almost miraculous escapes.

The situation is this: The old red and green stop lights were removed and a yellow blinker substituted to control the traffic from all directions. At the same time the old stop signs at the side of Portage street on the approaches to Front were left. Consequently in the opinion of many local people who have been driving here for years, Front is a through street and they have the right of way over all traffic from other streets. But to the stranger going north or south on Portage, which is becoming more and more a major traffic artery, the blinker light calls only for caution and not for a stop. Evidently there is no reason for expecting a blinker light at the approach to a through-traffic street. So they consider that they have the right of way over all traffic from their left on Front street, and they drive accordingly. And when something happens, it is going to take a Philadelphia lawyer to figure out just who has the right of way.

WHAT IS UNFAIR COMPETITION?

We have heard of two cases recently in this district where dealers were called on to submit bids for supplies in public undertakings and where, because of codes, all dealers submitted identical bids. Under the codes they could do nothing else. And in one case the contract was allotted by the flip of a coin. Which caused one dealer to raise the query: Just what is fair competition anyway?

An asserted policy of the NRA is the elimination of unfair competitive practices through the formulation of codes. But if the codes define prices so rigidly that all dealers charge the same, where is your competition, fair or unfair? Which brings us to the basic fact that the codes are in many instances not only eliminating the unfair variety but all competition whatsoever—except that of the chiseler.

The dealer referred to asked the Record to submit a public request for a definition of fair competition. The columns are open to anyone who knows. We'll bite—what is it? Or was Darrow right?

BEER AND BUNS

Interest in securing retail liquor stores at more convenient distances throughout the various communities of Michigan, which appeared at one time last winter to be keen, has abated and the question is why.

It may be that the disgusted consumer of hard liquor has chosen to content himself with the none-too-hard-to-get bootleg article. But we have a guess that it is in part because of the fact that he has learned from experience that he does not need whisky since a man can get a fair-sized bun on from the consumption of beer alone. It used to be an old saying that no one could get drunk on beer alone. If that were the case in pre-war days, it is no longer the case. People are getting drunk in Michigan, in Berrien County, not to mention Buchanan, on beer and beer alone. If beer is to be made the mild stimulating refreshing beverage that it was reputed to be in pre-war days, its present alcoholic content must be reduced to a fraction of its present percentage. Just now beer is an intoxicating beverage, and don't anybody forget it.

THE COLLEGE-MAN RECONSIDERS
In a poll conducted in the graduating class of Princeton University in 1929 the most valuable course pursued was declared by a majority to be corporate organization. That was in the heyday of flotation, when business incorporation was a major racket. In a poll conducted lately of the graduates who had been out of the school ten years, a majority indicated economics as the most valuable course they had pursued. From which you may draw any moral that may be warranted by the changed situation in 1934.

An Analysis of Myrrh
Myrrh, which, according to the well-known New Testament story, was included among the precious gifts carried by the wise men to the infant Jesus, is the fragrant, gum-like resin of any of several trees native to Arabia and Abyssinia. This resin is also said to have been one of the chief ingredients of the anointing oil used in the temple.

The Chinese were the first printers. The oldest known printed book, printed from blocks, was discovered in the Chinese province of Kansu in 1900. It bears the statement, "Printed on May 11, 868, by Wang Chieh, for free general distribution, in order to deep reverence to perpetuate the memory of his parents."

England in Napoleonic Wars
It is difficult to make a definite statement as to the largest number of men that England had on the continent during the Napoleonic wars up to 1812. At the end of 1812 Wellington had under his command 68,000 allied troops. At the beginning of 1813 this number was increased to 100,000, 47,000 of these being British.

SPEND AN ECONOMICAL VACATION IN MICHIGAN
There is no disposition in Michigan to "soak the tourist". Here you will find vacation costs moderate and accommodations to fit every pocketbook. Inexpensive tourist homes... moderately priced hotels... free camps... many points of historic interest and a variety of sports that cost but little to enjoy... all contribute to the pleasure and economy of a vacation in Michigan.
Michigan's tourist and resort business brings large sums of money to the state each year. It provides employment for thousands, and greater prosperity for all of us. We can increase that business further by telling out-of-state friends about Michigan's vacation advantages and by spending our own vacations here.
And, no matter which part of Michigan you visit this summer, banish worry by telephoning home and office frequently. Call ahead for reservations, or to tell friends you are coming. Long Distance calls will add but little to the cost and much to the enjoyment of your vacation.

Political Economics
 Political economics or economics is the study of mankind in the ordinary business of life.

International Revolutionists
 In April, 1834, a group of political refugees from several countries in Europe met in Switzerland and formed an international revolutionary society to be known as Young Europe, each country represented having its own branch.

Essentials of Good Hams
 Fat is essential to a good ham—if it is lean, it is nearly always lacking in flavor and tenderness. The famous Virginia hams from lean Virginia hogs are exceptions to this rule, their delicacy being attributed to the animals' summer diet of for-est roots and acorns and other nuts.

"Cold Light"
 "Cold light" is bioluminescence, which means that only very little heat appears as compared with ordinary methods of illumination. The light is no different, physically, from any other kind of light, but there are no infra-red or ultra-violet radiations produced.

"D" Mint Mark
 If a coin is dated prior to 1861, the "D" mint mark means Dahlonega, a mint established in 1838, and seized by the Confederates at the time of the Civil war. Otherwise, it stands for Denver, where a mint was established in 1906, and has been operated continuously since that time.

Animals Give Tips on Weather
 Farmers are often given valuable weather hints from the actions of their animals. When pigs are restless and are seen running about with pieces of straw or litter in their mouths, it is a sign of a weather change. In all probability a gale is not far away.

Emancipation Day
 The date of the proclamation setting free the slaves in the Territories of the United States was June 19, 1862, while the general emancipation proclamation which freed the slaves in all southern states was dated January 1, 1863. Because of the fact that June is a better time to celebrate than January, the former date is usually observed.

Shakespeare's Burial Place
 At the time of the death of Shakespeare his fame was not sufficiently great to authorize his burial in Westminster abbey, which at that time was reserved largely for the bodies of the rulers and statesmen. It was also his wish to be buried in the parish church, and as a title owner he was entitled to be buried in the chancel.

Squirrels Build Leaf Nests
 Gray squirrels seldom live in hollow trees. Indeed, in summer they forsake such hot and stuffy quarters altogether and live in clean, cool leaf nests high in the forks of hardwood trees. These nests are two feet or more in diameter, made of green leaves and twigs cleverly laced and matted together. Within is a cozy living room and a soft, clean bed, usually of dry grass.

Young Antelope Not Smelly
 An interesting thing noted about very young antelope is that they are lacking in the pungent odor characteristic of the adult animal. This is thought to be a provision of nature for the protection of the young antelope during periods when their mother leaves them lying hidden in the grass.

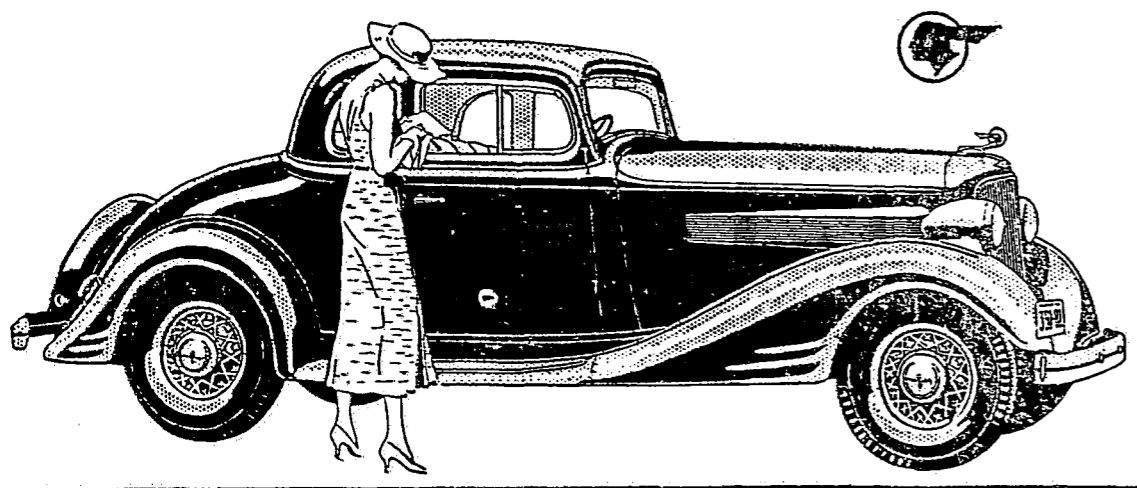

Copperheads Not Vicious
 Copperheads are not as bad as they have been thought. It is true that they do not warn before they strike, but they are not vicious or aggressive. However, they have very sensitive dispositions and are easily aroused. In captivity they thrive and live long with good handling. They quickly become accustomed to their keeper and will permit him to handle them.
