

FIGHT IMPENDS ON GAS AMENDMENTS

Prairie Farmer WLS to Present Barn Dance Show Here Nov. 15-17

Now Here's the Proposition

Well, the big high school game of the year is over and no one has a right to squawk about the game our boys played although it did look like they ought to have had more score to show for the good licks they put in. Probably it ain't so but it looked like they would push them Niles boys around awhile until they got close to the goal line and then they would say: "Aw heck, Curly needs the game anyway and we don't," and so they would sit down and watch that little shine's heels twinkle toward the opposite goal line. Anyway they watched his heels twinkle.

Anyway we have seen two games and we know by this time that Wynn can do what he was hired for—teach football fundamentals and we're bettin' on him. And there's another thing we sometimes forget. Coachin' football is only a part of the duties of a physical director, and not the biggest part by a long shot.

Buchanan can't kick about physical directors. They had a good one eight years and now they got another good one.

Some of the confirmed political addicts of both parties are makin' a lot of noise, but the man in the street is doin' more thinkin' than he ever did. They ain't thinkin' along party lines either. The party label don't mean nothin' to them and when a guy gets up and says he'd vote for a yellow dog on his ticket before he'd scratch, he is just greeted by an uproarious silence. All the boys want to know about a candidate is, will he deliver the goods? No goods, no vote. It ain't a bad idea.

They ain't votin' for a Republican because he is on the same ticket with Frank Fitzgerald and they ain't votin' for a Democrat because he belongs to the same party as Roosevelt.

High-Pressure Salesman

A friend of the Record brings us the following instance of astute business genius:

The city of Topeka, Kansas, needed a steam pump for its waterworks, and the city of Muskegon, Michigan had one for sale. Neither city knew the others need, but a Chicago broker did and engineered the deal. Muskegon received only $2,000 for its pump, but the amount paid by Topeka was more than fifteen times that amount, or $31,500. The broker pocketed a net profit of $23,500. Lawyers find no ground for criminal prosecution, and the wiser but poorer Topeka folks acknowledge that they were simply "taken in" by high-pressure salesmanship.

Well, I guess the situation is pretty well covered and we can put the paper to bed. Is everything set up and in the paper?

Have we got the Athletic Association in the Lions WLS program?

The Legion Pancake supper?

The FERA night school?

The Cassopolis game?

Art Knoblauch's baby?

Righto! Turn on the juke.

LIONS CLUB WILL SPONSOR APPEARANCE

Large Cast to Give Impersonations of Popular WLS Stars in H. S. Auditorium.

Folks, if you will all solemnly promise to keep it a sacred secret and on no account to let the barbershops or the South Bend newspapers in on it, we'll let you in on some advance information. On Nov. 15-16-17 the Prairie Farmer station WLS is going to sponsor a Barn Dance Show at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Buchanan Lions Club, and you're going to see the biggest entertainment feature that has struck this town since—well, since they listed Little Eva to heaven with a bailing wire in the Rough Opry house back in 1885.

The show is going to be staged by local talent under the direction of WLS experts. By local talent we mean anybody from southwestern Berrien county who can show class enough to emerge in the tryouts. And here is the secret that must be kept mum, even if the rest leaks out, and that is that the WLS people intimate that they use these shows as a means of spotting good talent for their radio programs.

So anyone that has aspirations to be a radio star—and who hasn't—should watch for later announcements regarding entrance for the tryouts. The final selection for the show at the high school will include a large cast of impersonations of popular WLS radio stars, including Uncle Ezra, Spare Ribs, Georgia Goebel, Lulu Belle, Three Little Maids, Ole Yonson and others.

Within the near future there will be a WLS director here and you will hear more about it. Meanwhile watch the columns of the Record, which will constitute the exclusive vehicle for new announcements on the program.

P. T. A. to Hold Carnival Nov. 9-10

The Buchanan Parent-Teachers Association will stage a carnival at the high school on Nov. 9 and 10 for the purpose of making money for the activities carried on for needy children and other purposes. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Lester Lyon, Mrs. E. C. Mogford, Mrs. John Russell, Arthur Knoblauch, Dr. E. T. Waldo. Further announcements will be made later.

Christian Church Rally at 3 Oaks Sun.

There will be a Christian church rally at the church of that denomination in Three Oaks all day Sunday, starting at 10 a. m. Communion service at 11 a. m. Claude Small of Buchanan will speak in the morning. There will be a basket dinner at noon on the church grounds. An afternoon service will begin at 2 p. m. with Paul Carpenter as speaker.

Record Displays Two Beautiful Dahlia Bouquets

200 PUPILS TO TOUR CENTURY PROGRESS FRI.

Excursion by Michigan Central to Cost $1.05 Each for Fare and Admittance.

Two hundred pupils of the Buchanan schools will enjoy a planned tour of the Century of Progress at Chicago Friday under the supervision of a group of teachers.

The children will leave at 7:30 a. m. on the Michigan Central and will leave Chicago at 5:30 p. m. In the morning they will make a tour of educational features of the exposition, and in the afternoon they will attend the "Wings of a Century" and other features. One teacher will be in charge of each ten pupils.

The excursion has been arranged by the Michigan Central and will include children from towns in southwestern Michigan. The fare will be $1 round trip and admittance to the fair will be five cents. The teachers in charge will be admitted free.

Local Hunters Short-Changed in License Supply

Hunters of the Buchanan district suffered considerable inconvenience this year from the fact that from some unknown reason local business men were not furnished the regular quota of licenses this year.

In 1929 one local business was the sole local agent for handling licenses and sold 750. This year that dealer was furnished only 50 licenses and was told that that was his quota. Another dealer who had lately been designated agent was furnished 450 but found this inadequate. The hunters report that plenty of licenses were available at Niles, Berrien Springs and Gallen, but that it was inconvenient to get them there.

The dealers state that their inability to get service points to either discrimination against Buchanan, or demoralization in the state Conservation business offices. The head of the state conservation department, George R. Hogarth, died at Lansing Monday. He was appointed by Gov. Fred Green and had continued in charge under Brucker and Comstock. He was known as "The man who took the conservation department out of politics."

FINLEY FOOTWORK DECIDING FACTOR IN SAT. CONTEST

Buchanan Makes 11 First Downs to Five, Aided by Niles Penalties, But Ebony Flash Breaks Out of Control.

Several hundred Buchanan fans who were lured to Niles Saturday afternoon by the prospect of comparative wares of a former pupil and teacher in the gridiron science came away with the satisfaction of having witnessed a real football game, even though the outcome was not all that their fond hopes had pictured.

The Buchanan team turned in a workmanlike job of football in most departments of the game and displayed plentiful evidence of good coaching in fundamentals. In fact in all but the two occasions when Finley, Niles backfield flash, got loose for long scoring runs, the locals fought on at least even terms with their heavier opponents. The chief disappointment resulted from a conviction that on their merit the Maroon gridsters should have scored at least once.

The game settled in the minds of the local sport followers the conviction that Buchanan high school will be represented under the regime of Coach Wynn of teams that will be well worth following and supporting.

A microphone scribe turns in the following account:

Niles Defeats Bucks 13-0

The Golden Tornadoes defeated the Buchanan Bucks in a game that was fast and exciting all the way through at Plym Park Saturday. The final score was 13-0, both the touchdowns being made by Finley, a colored half-back. Buchanan made 11 first downs to the Tornadoes 5, and Niles piled up a total yardage of 70 yards on penalties while the Bucks were penalized only 10 yards.

Niles made their first touchdown in the first quarter when Finley, half-back, intercepted a lateral pass on the 25-yard line and romped 75 yards for the touchdown. Jaroch's placement failed.

In the fourth quarter the Golden Tornadoes piled up their second touchdown when Finley, with perfect interference, went off tackle for 80 yards and the touchdown. They counted for the extra point by a pass from Jaroch to Ort.

The Bucks played a good brand of ball, even though weakened considerably by the amount of injuries; Deeds, half-back ace, had been running a temperature all week and saw very little play. Buchanan will journey to Cassopolis Friday for a game at 2:45, slow time.

Police Signal is Installed at City Hall for Night Use

A police signal consisting of an electric horn—was mounted on the front of the city hall this week the device being for the purpose of warning the night police whenever the telephone rings at night at the city hall. Residents are asked not to send in promiscuous calls at night as this signal will be sounded. Telephone operators are asked to check night calls as to origin.

I. O. O. F. Lodge Affiliates Are Honored by State

Twenty-five members of the local Rebekah lodge left Sunday for Alma, Mich., where they exemplified the degree work for a class of five before the State Rebekah Assembly.

This was a signal honor for the local organization as it was selected by the state lodge inspectors from over 90 chapters of the state after a review of their degree work. It was stated that Buchanan is the only town in southern Michigan from which teams from the three affiliated lodges, the Odd Fellows, Encampment and Rebekahs, have been selected to exemplify degree work before the state assembly. This is a high recommendation for the character of the work of the local lodges.

Mrs. Mary Roti Roti, team captain, received handsome gifts from the state president and from her teammates in recognition of her work.

Lions Advertise Redbud Trail at Lansing Banquet

The Redbud Trail on the St. Joseph river received some effective publicity from a delegation of Lions who attended the banquet at the Olds Hotel, Lansing, honoring the International President of the organization.

Buchanan Lions attending were Arthur Knoblauch, Dr. Snowden, L. O. Swem, A. J. George, Oscar Swartz, R. G. VanDusen, Glenn Smith and Howard Monroe, each carried a large red dahlia in his buttonhole as an emblem of the Redbud trail and they were known at the meeting as the "Redbud trail delegation." They also distributed two bushels of red Jonathan apples.

63 Enrollment for FERA Night School Classes

Supt. H. C. Stark reports an enrollment of 63 for FERA night schools at the high school Tuesday evening, including 19 who registered for a gymnasium and recreation class.

Classes are already assured in speech and dramatics, Commercial subjects, sewing and recreation and several other classes are contemplated. Supt. Stark states that the school will open about Nov. 1, and that anyone who is interested who has not already enrolled may arrange by calling 40.

OLD REDDING MILL, PIONEER DAYTON STRUCTURE; TO BE CONVERTED INTO FACTORY FOR MINERAL FERTILIZER

George Wheeler, Young Man of 92, is Developer of New Factory Enterprise at Dayton.

Back in the first half of the 19th century when the first farmers of Berrien county were reaping rich harvests of wheat from the virgin burr oak openings of Portage and Terre Coupe prairies, and all of the district north from Buchanan to Lake Michigan was shrouded by a gigantic and almost impenetrable hardwood forest, a little pioneer mill was located on the headwaters of the south branch of the Galien river at what is now known as Dayton Lake. It was the nearest waterpower to both those fertile farm areas, a sawmill as well as a grist mill was located there, the foundation of the village of Dayton.

For decade after decade the mill ground away, until it fell into disuse even as a feed mill a few years ago, and was considered as no more than one of the last of the old landmarks, standing only because there was no reason for dismantling it. The several stores of the two hotels, the cluster of farm handicraft shops that once thrived closed one by one until only one store is left and in the past year the remaining residents have been waging a battle to keep the post-office.

But—wonder of wonders—the first of the week a force of workmen appeared at the old mill and the sound of the hammer and the saw rang out, presaging revival of some sort.

Inquiry developed the fact that a new industry is about to be located in Dayton in the form of a fertilizer factory for the production of the Wheeler-Maxwell Crop Builder, a new mineral fertilizer to be compounded largely of ingredients mined from the surface in that vicinity. In active charge of the development of the new factory is a remarkable man, George Wheeler, 92 years of age, and as active and hearty as a physically sound man of 60. Mr. Wheeler walks with a sturdy and sprightly step, hears without apparent difficulty and has only a slight vision defect to reveal his age. Yet he has abundant documents to prove that fact and to establish a record of constructive leadership in many lines extending over two-thirds of a century.

Stacked in Mr. Wheeler's room in Niles where he is temporarily staying is a pile of testimonials a foot high from many of the leading industrial concerns not only of the United States but in England, Canada, Australia, Germany and Sweden testifying to the fact that he was a pioneer in the development of manganese steel, and other industrial products now considered basic. Since Mr. Wheeler started to learn the blacksmithing trade as a boy of 16 he has been active in research and experiment—a period of 76 years. And to judge by Mr. Wheeler's appearance, the end is not yet.

Among his treasures he exhibits a two-column article in the Los Angeles Times, written shortly after his 90th birthday two years ago. It was while making chisels as a youth that he hit on a secret of hardening steel, the first of a long line of discoveries. Wheeler went to Sheffield, Eng., to learn the secret of manganese steel, and returned as an instructor for the Carnegie Steel company. He returned to Sheffield as a steel expert and instructor and later went to several other countries. Among the great industrial concerns which employed him as instructor in steel work were the Carnegie Steel company, the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company, the Swedish Crucible Steel company, the Dominion Iron & Steel company of Canada and many others. He has their testimonials, and folders crowded with recommendations from scores of companies for which he did development work. Among them were the French Paper company of Niles.

At the age of 90 he had completed the development of a process for making a powder for hardening steel which is being widely used in oil fields and in construction work about Los Angeles and also a process for making bronze electrodes. At that time he was working daily, on the job at 8 each morning.

Mr. Wheeler states that he is still going strong, but that he expects to gradually taper off and retire in the next twenty years. He works with an old pipe, the companion of years, hanging in his mouth. He is no total abstainer, he says, but because a glass of beer helps occasionally he never makes the mistake of trying to drink a barrel. "Temperance in all things" is his secret.

Meanwhile the trucks are rolling into the old mill at Dayton loaded with marl, peat and leaf mould, to be mixed with other ingredients. He is constructing a frame addition to the mill building and is renovating the structure itself.

He is building another enterprise.

OLD AGE PENSIONS PAID IN 60 DAYS BOARD DISCLOSES

Eleven Thousand Dollars is Available to Berrien County Residents.

Old age pension payments for Berrien county will be forthcoming within the next 60 days according to the county old age pension board, which consists of County Welfare Agent Daniel Conlin, Mrs. Minerva Olson, and Probate Judge Malcolm Hatfield.

Eleven thousand dollars is all the old age pension money available for Berrien County, according to Conlin, and the more needy causes are given first consideration. The applications are approved by the county board and forwarded to the state board at Lansing for final approval.

In reviewing the applications, the county board found that 34 persons who had applied for pensions ten months ago have died. Twenty-two applicants were not United States citizens, and four were found to be receiving war service pensions from the federal government.

Eight applications were withdrawn by persons who found they did not need the old age pension money, it was reported. Nine applicants had moved to other states and in seven cases the investigators reported they could not locate the applicants.

Several cases were found, it was said, in which persons owning large amounts of jewels, real estate and securities had made applications for the pensions.

Of 84 pensions approved by the local board a week ago, 50 were rejected at Lansing, it was said. Pensions which are to be allotted in Berrien county probably will range between $6 and $10 a month per person, Conlin said.

To obtain a pension, the law provides the applicant must prove that he is 70 years of age or older, that he has been a United States citizen for 15 years, that he has been a resident of Michigan for the past ten years, and that he does not own real or personal property valued at more than $3,000.

Gospel Services All This Week at Church of Brethren

Revival meetings are being held at the Church of the Brethren this week with Rev. Dewey E. Rowe, pastor of the church as the evangelist. Baptism will be held on Sunday morning, Oct. 21, following the morning services with communion in the evening beginning at 8. You are cordially invited to attend.

GAS, WEIGHT TAX AMENDMENTS AROUSE INTEREST

State Municipal League, Teachers, Farmers and Other Interests in Opposition.

In view of the keen interest exhibited by the public in the provisions of the six amendments to the state constitution which are to be submitted at the general election Nov. 6, The Record is publishing information on the gas and weight tax amendments this week. In succeeding numbers which appear before the election the Record will carry the arguments on both sides of the questions at issue.

The issues of electing a successor to Gov. A. Comstock, of contesting the seat of one U. S. Senator and of a flock of U. S. Congressmen appear at this date to be rather overshadowed by the Guaranian contest now being waged by the embattled interests pro and con the passage of Amendments II and III to the state constitution, providing for the lowering of the gasoline tax from 3 to 2 cents and the pegging of the weight tax permanently at 35¢ per hundred-weight.

A public which is sometimes in a fog as to where its real interests are in a local, county and state contest now has found something on which it can bite and is proceeding to sink its teeth into it quite definitely.

The two automobile amendments have as their main champion the Michigan Triple Association, supposedly fronting for oil and automobile interests.

They are opposed by several state-wide organizations, including the Michigan Municipal League, the Michigan Educational Association, the Michigan State Grange, the Michigan Bureau of Highway Education, a railway men's association, the Michigan Real Estate Association, the Michigan Farm Bureau and the recently organized Michigan Constitutional league made up of various interests in opposition to the amendment and devoted to that end.

General charges against Amendments II and III are the following:

1. They deal with matters that should be currently in control of the legislature where they may be changed as seems best and should not be fixed immutably in the constitution.

2. They will nullify the 15-mill amendment passed two years ago.

3. They will unbalance the present program of refinancing County Covert Road bonds by withdrawing the gasoline tax receipts recently devoted to that purpose and will throw that burden back on the property tax.

4. The amendments will create a deficit in current income of $6,000,000 which will have to be shouldered by the sales tax.

5. The attorney-general has given an opinion ruling that if at any time in the future the legislature enacts an income tax the amendments will automatically exempt every firm or corporation of whatever nature connected with the automobile industry or the petroleum industry from this tax. Since there are the largest industries of the state, this would leave the smaller industries to carry the burden and represent class legislation.

6. The contention that with the reduced taxes contemplated by the amendments $31,000,000 will be available for the roads in 1935 is erroneous, as the latest estimate of the income from the gas and weight taxes for 1934 is $33,400,000, made up of $12,900,000 from the weight tax and $20,500,000 from the gasoline tax. If one third of the gas tax or $6,800,000, is subtracted, this does not leave $31,000,000.

7. The 3¢ gas tax in Michigan is low in comparison with other states. Only three states have lower. Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Mississippi, which have no taxes. Two of these have a heavy population in a small area, and Mississippi has a large amount still on hand from a heavy bond issue. There are twelve states, including Michigan, which have a 3¢ cent tax including such rich and populous states as Illinois, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. The others have gasoline taxes of from

Dayton School News

Mary and Marjorie Hamilton, Thelma and Albert Heckathorn visited school last week.

The ball game between Currier and Dayton schools was a close fought game. Currier won by 2 points. The score was 9 to 7.

The students of the Nature Study class brought some wasp nests. We are watching the paper hornets and their nest in the orchard south of the school. We intend to get it after the first hard freeze so it will be safe. A pupil brought an extra large cocoon to school but the worm inside was dead. Galls were examined and reported on. Some specimens were brought for exhibit that were no larger than a pin head while others were the size of an unshucked walnut. All had worms inside.

The girls are still far in the lead in the reading contest. Ruby Hall is ahead with 6,570 pages. Russell Heckathorn is highest on the boys' side with 1,241 pages.

Dorothy Arnold, Betty Lou Hall and Eva Trapp had 100 in spelling all week.

Fight Impends On Gas Tax Amendments

4 to 7 cents per gallon.

S. Michigan has 86,462 miles of road, including 8843 miles of trunk lines, 17,302 miles of county roads and 60,317 miles of township roads. All of these roads except the trunk lines will have become charges by 1936 and the law provides that all of the weight tax and $6,500,000 from the gasoline tax shall then go to the counties to build and maintain this 77,610 miles of road.

In 1929 property taxes were collected to build and maintain these roads totaling $24,434,714 but in 1933 this tax had been reduced to $1,688,449 or less than 7 per cent of the 1929 levy. By 1936 this income will have been eliminated entirely.

9. The oil companies fix their prices on what they think the traffic will bear, and the drivers will not benefit by a tax reduction. When a half cent federal tax was taken off, the oil companies absorbed the benefit. In Tennessee the tax is seven cents, but gasoline is cheaper there than in Michigan.

10. A large part of the present income from the gasoline and weight taxes is already obligated by the indebtedness of the state highway department, whose outstanding indebtedness would be endangered by these amendments.

11. The large number of signers secured for the petitions for these amendments signify little. It is known that many of the circulators of petitions received 20 per name from some slush fund of unknown but suspected source. The signers were sold on the idea that the cost of operating a car would be reduced. None of the complications were pointed out.

12. The charges of graft and waste by the state highway department have not been proved.

13. The finances of the state educational system will be seriously endangered if the amendments are passed.

Salt in Great Salt Lake

Brines from the Great Salt Lake in Utah contain, as a rule, somewhat more than 20 per cent of solids, and of this about three-fourths is common salt.

REPLACE THE TREES

Forests of the Buchanan district, once the seat of the finest hardwood timber of the middle west, have dwindled away faster than ever in the past five years, because of increased use for fuel. On one farm in Niles township, it is reported that 1,500 cords of wood were cut and sold for fuel a few years back.

Unless the trees which are the chief source of beauty of this district are to disappear it will be necessary to pay some attention to replacement. In European countries the government has for decades strictly "regimented" even the private owner, dictating an adequate program of replacement. If the free-born American is as opposed to such regimentation as he says he is, there is but one alternative. If he is not willing to be regimented in the public interest, then he must regiment himself in the public interest.

In former days a tree was something to cut and sell or get out of the way. The first settlers looked on timber as an obstacle to the attainment of their chief desire—arable land. Consequently they destroyed in the most effective ways they could devise. They "niggered off" millions of feet of the finest hardwood. This means that they felled the trees in windrows, one across another and burned them.

While timber is no longer so valuable as to be wantonly destroyed, there is no forward-looking policy on the part of the public. A man buys a piece of land, he gets some ready cash in payment by selling the old ancestral woodlot to the box and basket factory. More trees are gone and there are no replacements.

Relative to the campaign for the promotion of Redbud planting along the St. Joseph, a resident along the river told the writer that he had chopped down many fine Redbuds six inches through and forty feet high for fire wood.

Blonds Always Win That men have always preferred blond hair is supported by a number of facts in history. One of the best indications is that in the heyday of wigs it was the blond ones that were at a premium. The dark wigs were cheaper and made of horse of goat hair while the blond wigs were made of human hair.

The Turnspit Dog Up to about 1800 in England and France, the hardest working member of large households was the turnspit dog. In a revolving, treadmill-like cage, hung from the ceiling and attached by pulleys to the spit before the open fire, these dogs would run from two to three hours at a time, turning the meat while it roasted.—Collier's Weekly.

GIVING

He, who gives for the pleasure of giving
 Gives to his God, himself, and his friend;
 His sorrows shall die the while they're aborning,
 His travels be pleasant wherever they wend.

And the one who gives to help the needy
 May someday need the gift of a friend,
 His gift shall be blest forever and ever
 Throughout the whole of eternity's trend.

Yet, he who gives for the glory of giving—
 With a purpose that has a selfish end,
 Shall cheat and shall rob himself of all favors
 From God, from his brother, and from his friend.

But he who gives 'cause the Master bade him
 Has caught the spirit of Christ for a friend;
 His life shall be worthy of every endeavor,
 His soul with Heaven in glory shall blend.

—Franklin Lee Stevenson.

Many Newspapers Are Now Represented in Capital

Washington is now recognized as the world's center of important events, and, naturally, the city has more newspaper men in it than ever before. The classified section of the current telephone directory, for Washington lists 242 newspapers, press associations and news photo services.
 From the very beginning of telephone communication, newspapers recognized the value of this service in news gathering and dissemination, and a one-page telephone directory issued in Washington in 1879, the year after the telephone was introduced in the city, carried the listing of the Associated Press, Chicago Tribune, New York Herald, New York Tribune, New York Enquirer, Washington Post, and Washington Evening Star.

Can't Sell His False Teeth So He Chews 'Em Up

We can't seem to understand this old world anymore. First we hear of old lady Perkins swallowing her teeth, and then it's Mrs. Jones losing her teeth.

But today, my friends, we witnessed a pair of false teeth being chewed.

Grey Best, a dignified senior, came to school Wednesday with a pair of imitation, paraffin teeth. He had them for sale, but nobody needing them at the moment made Grey disgusted. Everything was quiet for awhile, and then we heard something grinding. To our surprise, it was only Grey chewing his paraffin teeth.

Oh Well, The School Board Was Doing Same Thing

A special general assembly program was held Tuesday, Oct. 9, in the auditorium during the home room period for the purpose of permitting the students to listen to a part of the final game of the World Series of 1934.

Although the score was already 10-0 in favor of the St. Louis Cardinals when the program began, the students were excited. Many Detroit fans were hoping that by some miracle, Detroit would overtake and defeat the Cardinals, while the St. Louis fans were thrilled by the performance of that team.

The G. A. A. Bicycle Hike
The girls of the G. A. A. participated in a bicycle hike Saturday morning.

They started at 7 o'clock in the morning and went 20 miles altogether. Some of the girls were back at 10 o'clock. However, there was a flat tire and some bungled-up knees during the exciting trip.

Everyone is pepped up for a bicycle ride now.

Everett Will In Whose Favor?

Well, the World Series is over, and Everett Deeds, a well-known senior has been mourning ever since. When Mr. Knoblauch was so kind as to let the high school attend the ball game over N.E., last Tuesday, Everett sat there all but in tears. Once in a while the students who sat around him could hear him say, "Their first chance in 25 years," or "Oh, well, maybe they can score 12 runs in the last half of the ninth inning."

H. S. Gals Not Good With That Kind of Ribbons

Anything for a ride is the motto of those ride-loving seniors.

Tuesday night at the half of the senior-sophomore soccer game, Shirley Howard, Pauline Topash, and Alice Ruth spied an oncoming vehicle that looked like good riding. It was a small wagon loaded with corn stalks and an old gray mare pulling it.

Jumping up and down, they hailed the wagon, and demanded a ride. The driver, obediently stopped, and the girls hopped on. Then the fun began!

Down the hill they went, with Alice at the reins. When they arrived at the corner of Clark and Smith, the nag ran off from her course. She made for a ditch, and before the merry-making girls could collect their wits the wagon was nearly tipped over in the ditch. However, after Shirley had nearly killed the horse hitting it with corn stalks and "Pat" had yelled herself blue in the face, the horse stopped.

After being once more adjusted in the right course, they rode merrily on.

In the commercial arithmetic department, Beatrice Neal was the head of the group in a spell-down of six per cent interest problems.

Score was Tie— Recover But It Will Take Time

The score was 3-2 in favor of the "Cards"; that is, by the finger code telegraph system between "Al" Flenar's Chevy and the journalism room. The journalism students had once more returned to their work when "Al" gently blew the horn. After receiving the message, the class went wild, for the Tigers had tied the score 3 to 3. After most of the excitement was over, one bright-eyed, baseball enthusiast inquired in a pleasant but very excited voice, "Whose favor?"

We've been wondering ever since who that could have been. Why not ask Una Kelley?

ALONG THE CORRIDORS

By Izzat So
Ray Juhl tried to drown himself in the drinking fountain. Wonder why?

The students have found a way to give vent to their feelings. Have you noticed the badly chewed lead pencils?

Nursery Rhymes. Oh! to be sure, Bob Willard sings those.

Have you noticed "Half-Pint" Fulk giving instructions on "How to become a cheer leader?"

Those loud metallic sounds are coming from "Hank" Richards and his "clod-hoppers."

Many a short stroll is enjoyed by Una Kelley and Ben Franklin.

Perhaps you have been wondering where all the whispering is coming from. That's only Dorothy Dunlap and Wilson Crittenden having a little chat.

That boisterous person making challenges and accepting bets is none other than Everett Deeds.

Arithmetic

The seventh graders had a speed test in short method of multiplication and division. Virginia Arnold took first place in the first division, and Dorothy Irvin in the second division. In the accuracy test Jimmy King rated first.

AT THE CASHIER'S WINDOW

When you hand in your deposit at the cashier's window and he checks over the items quickly and enters the amount in your book, you probably go on your way unconsciously thinking that banking is a very easy and simple business.

But a great deal happens after you leave the window.

The clerks must sort and examine the currency you deposit to be sure none of it is counterfeit, as well as to watch for bills of certain numbers which are known to have been stolen, high-jacked or paid to kidnapers for ransom.

They must be equally careful with coins, and in the end both bills and coins are recounted and wrapped in packages to facilitate supplying change to customers.

Old or mutilated currency must be sent to the Government and new bills secured in place of them so you can be paid in clean money.

Checks on the local bank are immediately placed on the spindle, marked paid and after the bank closes for the day, they are charged to the proper accounts on the "ledger sheets." The next day these checks are rehandled, posted on the "statement sheets" and finally filed in the customer's division of the check file in the vault. There they remain till the end of the month when they are again rechecked and delivered to the customer with his statement of account.

During the handling of these checks the clerks and bookkeepers must be alert as to the goodness of the check, must be sure it is not a forgery and that it is properly endorsed and has been paid or credited to the right party.

Customers sometimes order payment stopped on a check after giving it out. These stop orders must constantly be kept in mind.

The checks you deposit which are drawn on out of town banks are first sorted as to states or cities or Federal Reserve districts, then listed in great detail on remittance sheets, showing every essential feature of each check. At the end of the day these checks and remittance sheets are sent to the bank's reserve city banks where the final clearing and collecting is effected and the amount finally credited to the home bank.

The cost of doing this work, the responsibility involved and the cost of equipment and supplies, more than justify the nominal compensation received by the bank either in the form of an adequate balance or in the modest service charges made when the balance is not adequate.

Get Yourself a Hired Man Who
Will be on the Job

The Democratic candidate for Congress claims he fathered many bills which have brought relief to the people of the District. The truth is that he never fathered any bill. All he did was to vote for some of them when he happened to be present, and that was fifty-eight times out of one hundred eighteen roll calls; sixty he did not answer.

The measures which he supported are the ones which helped to increase our national debt to $9,000,000,000 in seventeen months, this after the Democratic platform had promised an economy program, a balanced budget and after the President had said he would reduce the budget twenty-five per cent, decrease government bureaus and federal employees.

The legislation the Democratic candidate voted for added more than sixty new bureaus and thousands of new federal employees to the tax roll.

What the President's brain trusters did do, and the Democratic Congressman assisted them in doing, was to start us on the road to bankruptcy, interfere in practically every private business by means of code provisions, increase the price of lumber, coal, clothing and even of grape baskets, while putting upon the Federal pay-roll political office-holders who rendered service of but little practical value. The Democratic candidate's friends were good collectors that is, they were in some respects, from acting postmasters and if he is elected and he and his colleagues have their way, you, as a taxpayer, and a business man, will find that the government is running your business, taking the income if any while you pay the operating expenses.

Yes the quicker we get out from under, the better. Let us do it while we have the opportunity. Two years more of arbitrary power will see the end of our economic, political and personal liberty.

Join Al Smith, John W. Davis, former Democratic candidates for President, Bainbridge Colby, Wilson's Secretary of State, Newton Baker, Colonel Breckinridge, Wilson's secretary and assistant Secretary of War, Carter Glass, Jas. E. Reed, Democratic Senators and hundreds of thousands of other sound, sensible Democrats who place their love of country above party name and register your protest by voting a straight Republican ticket on Nov. 6.

Over Breakfast Coffee

(By A. C. Clapp)

Now that the primaries, the county conventions and the state conventions are over with, politically minded citizens are bent for the campaign struggle culminating in the November election, and we are asking ourselves not only what it is all about, but also as a major factor included in that question, we are asking ourselves what are the qualities of the good politician.

With the yardstick of some such standard of quality we can better gauge the merits of aspirants for office.

I think the politician must be a student, a philosopher, be impartially humane, be possessed of self faith to stand up for his opinions, and be honest. Ability to adequately present his case standing on his feet facing an audience will follow possession of above requisites.

By being a student I mean the candidate must be alert minded and open minded enough to have pondered on past political history and to have read, digested and discussed much current politics. From the first United States has been education-loving and it has become the largest and most successful republic.

He must be a philosopher and that is not asking too much. The articles of confederation were a loose adaptation of the philosophy that in union there is strength. There is philosophy, a statement that holds good in all places and in all times. The constitution which followed is chock full of political philosophy and so is George Washington's dictum that we should keep forever free from all entangling foreign alliances.

To be impartially human with the accent on impartiality, is a yardstick under which many aspirants fail to measure up. We, the voters, elect a man to be the friend of the whole state and not to be a generous friend merely to some of his personal favorites. A politician, is to be honest. Who is perfectly honest? The best we can hope for, and we have had them, are politicians whose terms in office were even in the words of their political enemies, "honest."

These five planks make up a sound political platform and it remains to be seen who can walk on them without tripping up.

The fourth requisite too, keeps many aspirants from success in office. We have too many Hamlets and buck-passers now in and out of office. If the official has passed tests one, two and three, he should surely have sand enough to stick by the conclusion he has drawn, or otherwise of what use, was his thinking and fairness? He has not brought it to the point of bearing fruit. The academic mind and the schools based more on theory than practice proffer more "ifs" and "buts" and "there is much to be said on the other side" than the politician can use. Politics is action and cannot waste time in long drawn out hesitation. The good politician says like that specie payment statesman, "The only way to resume is to resume."

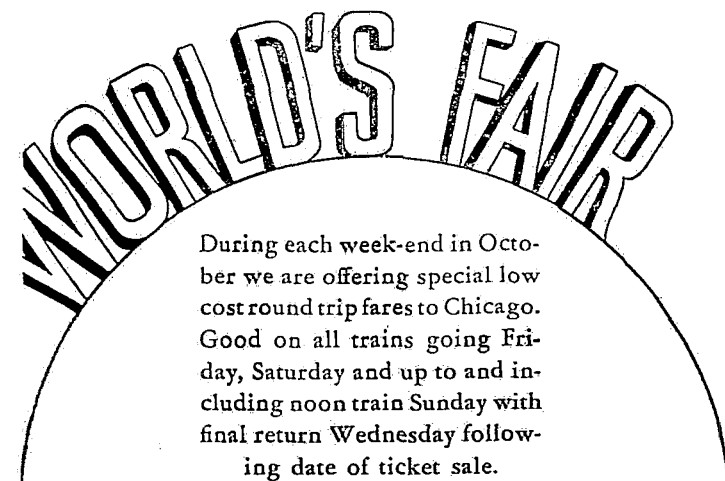

The last in order but of course not in importance to a permanent

AT THE THEATRE

Bold Doings in "Treasure Island" at Hollywood 3 Days

A blustering pirate with blood in his eye and friendship in his heart, and a young boy in the midst of the greatest adventure of his life—these are the characters brought vividly to the screen by Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in "Treasure Island," Robert Louis Stevenson's famous pirate story, which opens Sunday for a three-day run at the Hollywood theater.

The heart appeal of this great screen team that made motion picture history with "The Champ" and recently in "The Bowery" has in this latest vehicle a story that carries them to stirring dramatic heights. Their adventures together on board the good ship Hispaniola, and later on the island in search of treasure where Beery as Long John Silver saves his young friend, Jim Hawkins, from the pirates, will stir the emotions of millions who have read the book and bring new thrills to those not familiar with the story.

Added to this great co-starring team is one of the most notable supporting casts of the year with every player contributing a strong performance. Lionel Barrymore enacts Billy Bones, O. O. Kruger is Dr. Livesey, Lewis Stone plays Captain Smollett, Captain of the Hispaniola; Nigel Bruce puffs and blusters in old English fashion for the part of Squire Trelawney; Charles "Chic" Sale adds entertaining comedy touches as Ben Gunn, marooned pirate.

Some of the most beautiful marine photography ever seen on the screen provides a breath-taking background for action on board the Hispaniola, complete three-masted ship built for the production from the old Nanuk, famous whaling ship used in the Arctic expedition for "Eskimo."

The Hollywood announces that there will be a special Sunday matinee starting at 2:30 p. m. for children who, because of school on Monday, might not be able to come on Sunday evening or on the following Monday or Tuesday evenings.

Tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday of this week comes another deluxe Double Feature program—with feature number one a breezy, fast moving Fox comedy, "She Learned About Sailors," with Lew Ayres, Alice Faye (who sang "On You Nasty Man" in "George White's Scandals" and has been a hit in pictures ever since) and the comedy team of Mitchell and Durant. Feature number two brings back the always popular youthfulness of star, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in his latest production, "Success At Any Price," with Genevieve Tobin, Colleen Moore, Frank Morgan and Edward Everett Horton in support.

On Bargain Nights next week Wednesday and Thursday the Hollywood brings another Bargain twin feature bill. The always popular and romantic he-man screen star, Warner Baxter in "Grand Canary," plus Adolphe Menjou, Doris Kenyon and Dickie Moore in a human interest comedy of family life, "The Human Side." Both of these highly entertaining program productions combine just enough of humor, drama and pathos to make up an excellent evening's entertainment for the entire family.

Landscaping Work to be Continued in County

Extension work in landscaping will be continued in Berrien county this fall, according to an announcement from the office of County Agricultural Agent Harry Lutkins.

O. I. Gregg, specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan

State college, will hold the first of this winter's meetings on Friday of this week at Berrien Springs high school at 1:30 p. m., central standard time.

The lecture is on "Shrubs and Their Arrangement," and will be illustrated with lantern slides. The public is invited to come.

A school will be held Friday morning for class members in landscape work.

Edison Disliked Decorations

Upon Thomas Edison's second trip to Europe the French Telephone company offered him a decoration which required that he wear a long sash. But the Ohioan flatly refused with the assertion that he couldn't "stand for that." Persuaded by his wife, he did however consent to wear the little red button of the Legion of Honor. But whenever he saw any American approaching he would slip the button into his pocket for fear, as he said, "they might think I am trying to show 'em off."

ATTENDANCE AT WORLD FAIR INCREASED IN OCT.

Special Railroad Rates Increase Attendance in Final Month of Century of Progress.

The Congress of Thrills at the World's Fair is an addition of exciting free spectacles throughout October, announced at the same time as the special round trips offered by the railroads.

Attendance at the Fair during the pleasant autumn days has been even better than the summer averages. Crowds, anxious not to miss the final chance to see the great show, have pushed the total up close to 14,000,000 at the beginning of October's second week.

To make its last month a carnival celebration of its success and to wind up on its highest key of entertainment and excitement, the Fair has put on the daily Congress of Thrills in spectacular features all over the grounds. High above the roof of the Food and Agricultural building a troupe of aerialists perform daring tight-wire feats. Mail bag pick-ups in flight are demonstrated by an airplane swooping down over the south lake. Horses dive fifty feet into a tank. Girl and men Olympic divers give exhibitions from the high platform.

An extraordinary thrill is that of the human projectile, shot from a long cannon mounted on a tractor gun carriage. The performer soars high a hundred feet through the air into a net. A troupe of beautiful performing horses exhibit astonishing feats of action and rhythm. Graceful and daring performance is given by acrobats on the high trapeze. Automobile acrobatics, cars leaping from inclines and skidding sideways to roll over have been augmented to hair-raising proportions by Barney Oldfield and his troupe.

More tense than ever and full of wonder and terror are the exhibitions of Allen King, the famous trainer, with 25 jungle lions and tigers in the outdoor arena. The great fireworks spectacles include a record-breaking reproduction of the burning of an ocean liner.

All these and a hundred or more additional daily entertainments are free while a series of the leading fall features are offered with the October special railroad trips. With each round trip ticket the passenger receives a ticket which with $1 entitles the passenger to one day admission to the Fair and to the Sky Ride Observation Tower, the Sky Ride Rocket Car Ride, the English Village, the Horticultural building and gardens, Frank Buck (Bring 'Em Back Alive) Jungle Camp and tour of the Lagoons in Exposition motor launch.

Reduced rate railroad round trips for the month are at 1c a mile, starting Friday to Sunday on each week and with return trips leaving Chicago any time up to the following Wednesday at midnight.

Civil War Not Ended, J. H. Says He Can Prove It

Editor Record, I am grateful to Mrs. Anderson for telling me that the civil war is ended, but am sorry I do not believe it. I knew that on April 9, 1865 General Lee turned 27,805 Democrats over to Grant and quit. That, however, was only a change of the game. Up to that time the Democrats had been playing a losing game, so they changed from guns to diplomacy, and since that have been taking every trick.

Used to be a man named Abraham Lincoln in this country, who took great interest in public affairs and conceived it best for the slaves to be free, so he issued what was called an Emancipation Proclamation, which carried into an amendment, reading "Enforced labor or slavery shall not be allowed excepting for crime, of which the person has been duly convicted." A few months ago I read the story of how a building contractor in Louisiana wanted 50 men to work 90 days. He told the sheriff what he wanted; sheriff buys 50 pints of whiskey, has them passed around among the men wanted, then follows up with arrests, and throws the whole 50 in jail for violation of liquor laws. They are found guilty, sentenced to 90 days hard labor, that is sold at auction, and bid in by Mr. Contractor, and there goes the emancipation. Simple?

Another amendment says "No person shall be deprived of his right to vote, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. To get around this each state in the Confederacy passed a law that no person shall be allowed to vote unless his grandfather was a voter. The result of that was that it took only 646 votes in the district to elect Cordell Hull to the 68th Congress, 2300 to elect Charles Clegg in Georgia, over 92,000 to elect James W. Good in Iowa, fifth district. Five southern states at the same time on a vote over 100,000 less than was cast in Iowa gave the five states 50 Congressmen to Iowa's 11.

During the campaign of 1928 one of the Republican congressmen from California offered to make some speeches in Texas, but he was given very distinct notice that he better stay out of Texas, for they did not want any "damned carpet baggers" down there to tell them how to vote. He did not go.

No, so long as it is not just as safe for Bert Worthington to go to Louisiana to make Republican speeches as it is for Huey Long to go to Buchanan and speak in Rough's opera house for Democrats, the Civil War will not be over.

All due apologies to Bert Worthington for mentioning his name in connection with Huey Long or any other Democrat. J. G. HOLMES.

Christian Science Churches "Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Oct. 21.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 16:24): "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, 'If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.'"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 22): "Walking to Christ's demand, mortals experience suffering. This causes them, even as drowning men, to make vigorous efforts to save themselves; and through Christ's precious love these efforts are crowned with success."

Seventh Day Adventist Sabbath School Saturday, at 10 a. m. Lesson study: "Faith and Love." Note "Faith is trusting in God, believing that He loves us, and knows what is for our best good. Thus, instead of our own way, it leads us to choose His way. In place of our ignorance, it accepts His wisdom; in place of our weakness, His righteousness. Our lives, ourselves, are already His; faith acknowledges His ownership, and accepts His blessing. Truth, uprightness, purity, are pointed out as secrets of life's success. It is faith that puts us in possession of these. Every good impulse or aspiration is the gift of God; faith receives from God the life that alone can produce true growth and efficiency."

Preaching service at 11:15. Come and hear the youth Evangelist, Paul T. Jackson, Sunday evening at 7:30. Subject, "The Divine Searchlight."

Methodist Episcopal Church, Thomas Rice, Minister. Sunday School at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Glenn Haslett and Mr. Con Kelley are our superintendents. You will find the lessons and fellowship very helpful.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock. There will be special music by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Con Kelley. Sermon subject: "Is Faith Easy?" Epworth League at 6 o'clock. We had one of our best meetings last Sunday night under the leadership of Miss Minnabelle Reese, everyone seemed to enjoy the interesting discussion. Ernest Beadle will be the leader next Sunday night.

Evening service at 7 o'clock. A good crowd enjoyed the numbers.

Birthday Luncheon at Pres. Church On Tuesday Evening

The annual Birthday Luncheon of the Home Service Department of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday at one o'clock in the church parlors.

Each of the twelve tables was elaborately decorated in the colors of the birthstone and flower of their month, and was centered with a birthday cake.

The program was in charge of Miss Georgia Wilcox, who presented a musical program of the seasons. Spring songs were given by Mrs. Harold Stark. She sang, "Voice of the Woods," by Rubenstein and "Wake Up, Spring Flowers" by Phillips. Mrs. H. B.
Thompson sang the summer group, "Thank God for a Garden"

by DelRiego, "Boat Song" by Harriet Ware and "The Last Rose of Summer" by Thomas Moore. Autumn by Miss Charlotte Arnold who sang "Falling Leaves" by Logan, and "If Winter Comes" by Tennent. Winter completed the program and was given by Mrs.
E. C. Pascoe, who sang "Tis Snowing" by Bumberg and "Winter Lullaby" by DeKoven.

The committee in charge were:

Bring the Children Along —Let Them Have Something to Say, Too!

WELL, why not? After all, they have very good taste. Ever notice it? To say the least, they have very strong preferences.

We don't think that people generally do enough for the children in the way of home furnishings. Surprising how pleased and contented a few furnishings make them.
They feel important, regular members of the family.

Here's a sale that will place the needed juvenile things into your home at surprisingly low cost. It covers everything your child could need. And remember—everything is reduced to far below regular prices.
