Now Here's the Proposition

The man that loses money and worries about it loses it twice.

I can't get over the nerve of this here Gwerner Fritz. Jist becuz he is gittin' all the pennies Comstock used to git he has to clamp down on the slot machines so he kin git 'em all.

This feller Hauptmann proves that some people got poor memories—and others don't want to remember.

The feller that kin say things ain't gettin' better must hev a purty short memory, er he don't want to remember.

Revenge By Proxy
BI Haws
(Sport column comment: Prize fights are mainly attended by people with inferiority complexes, who imagine themselves in the person of the winning fighter, socking people whom they are afraid of in real life.)

My heart is not tuned for the battle,
I am clumsy in lead and in feint
And I'm free to confide it,
Whenever I've tried it
I most always hit where they ain't.

My form it is tenuous and febrile
My muscles are spindling and frail
But I lust for raw meat
As I sit on my seat
And my soul, it is surging with bale.

I may seem like I'm milkfed and peaceful,
But I sit on the seat where I'm at
And madly belabor
A pestilent neighbor
In bloodless vicarious spat.

Though I seem to be passively scanning
While some pug takes a sock in the jaw,
Or the out-going champ
Gets a poke in the lamp
I am socking my brother-in-law.

Where I seem to be merely speculating
I am smearing collectors out flat,
Or indulging my hanker
To wallop my banker—
"Take that! And take that! And take that!"

You may think I am watching the melees,
But I'm smacking a judge on the kisser,
Or crowning a copper
Right square on his topper—
"Take this! And take this! And take this!"

BENJAMIN BUCK, FORMER BUCHANAN TEACHER, RETIRES

Taught Here in Eighties; Has Been Assistant Supt. Chicago Schools for Six Years.

Many middle-aged residents of Buchanan remember pleasantly an enthusiastic and socially inclined young man who taught in Buchanan high school in the latter eighties, and who afterwards went on to broader fields. Benjamin F. Buck left Buchanan about 1899, after having taught here under the superintendency of O. E. Ayleshire, who also later went to Chicago and has for years been the executive head of the Modern Woodmen national headquarters there.

Buck will retire next Friday after 35 years of service in the Chicago schools, the last six years of which have been spent in the post of assistant superintendent of schools. A Chicago paper has the following to say of his retirement:

Benjamin F. Buck, assistant superintendent of schools, who has been Supt. Bogan's right hand since 1923, will retire under the emeritus law next Friday after 35 years' service in the Chicago school system. "I am still young," said Mr. Buck yesterday, "and were it not enforced upon me to retire at 70 I should like to continue in my present position. However, I hope to carry on with educational activity and I feel that my experience will enable me to do some good for a long time to come."

Mr. Bogan pronounced the retirement of Mr. Buck a serious loss to the high schools of Chicago. "I regard him as one of the most powerful influences in the development of Chicago's youth, for his experience has been almost entirely with pupils of the impressionable age," said Mr. Bogan.

After graduating from the University of Michigan in 1893, Mr. Buck became principal of Austin high school. At that time Austin was not in the Chicago system and enrollment was 75. Today the student body numbers 7,000. In 1899 Austin was annexed by Chicago and Mr. Buck became affiliated with Chicago schools.

Supt. Cooley transferred Mr. Buck to the principalship of Lake View in 1901, and he directed that school until he was called upon to organize Senn high school in 1912. As principal of Senn, Mr. Buck saw the school develop from an institution of 600 students to its present size.

In August 1928, Mr. Bogan asked Mr. Buck to take charge of the high school situation in Chicago. The assistant superintendent was born in Chicago and has lived in Glencoe for the last twenty-five years.

TWO LADIES WHO BEGAN LIFE IN THE CANDLE LIGHT ERA ARE HONORED AT BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCES THIS WEEK

As Girls They Heard Creak of Oxcart, Hum of Spinning Wheel and Sputter of Candle.

Birthday honors were extended this week to Mrs. Sarah Most, 89, and Mrs. Mary Barmore, 88, both of whom grew to womanhood in the era of candle light, both of whom lived in log cabins and wore homespun in their youth and saw the beginning of many things.

Both can tell tales of entrancing interest of the times of their girlhood.

We will begin with Mrs. Most, who is 89, a year older than her neighbor.

Mrs. Most was born in Dorchester, near St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, Jan. 28, 1846, and came to Michigan about 1870 as a girl of 24. She came to Lapeer about 20 miles from Flint, to join a sister. There she met her future husband, John W. Most, and they were married and built their log home in the woods. Money was scarce then and Mrs. Most helped out by turning a hand to weaving and knitting, at which she was skilled. They raised sheep and took their own wool to the carding mill, where it was prepared for spinning. Then Mrs. Most knitted socks and mittens for sale, or spun and wove cloth for her family or the neighbors, and the click of her needles or the hum of her wheel was often heard late into the night, finishing an order.

The returns in money were not large. Mrs. Most got 50 cents a pair for socks and mittens, which she knitted to sell to the lumberjacks in the logging camps in northern Michigan. She would start a sock in the morning and work at it every minute she could spare from her housework during the day and then work late at night to tie it out. It took a good deal at knitting to do that. Next day it was another day, another Wynn's basketweavers showed considerable improvement since the time they entertained Davidson's team on the Bucks' floor. Continuing at this rate they should be in top shape when the tournament time arrives.

Play by Play
Ort opened the scoring hooking a shot over his head under the basket. Again Ort sank a field goal from out-court. Topash opened the scoring for Buchanan connecting from the coffin-corner. Hattenbach followed suit with a push-up. Topash counted with a charity toss. Brawley tallied with a push-up, and Topash repeated. The quarter ended with Buchanan leading 7-6.

Dreizler snapped the net from mid-court, and Hattenbach tallied with a push-up. Jaroch connected, and Ort dropped one from way out. Hattenbach added two points and then repeated. Luke chalked up two more points and Robertson did likewise. Deeds added one point, and Jaroch and Luke counted with the Bucks leading 20-13.

Dreizler added a charity toss. Robertson counted with a push-up, Hattenbach sinking a free throw. The third period ended with the Bucks trailing 25-24.

Only one basket was made in the fourth quarter. Kraft tallied from the coffin-corner. The game ended with a score of 27-24.

DROUTH, AAA CUT U. S. LIVESTOCK SURPLUS; LURKINS

County Agent Says Farmers Should Reduce Corn Crop in Proportion; Co-ops Hold Annual Meet.

Farmers who signed up for the first year of crop reduction should continue through the three-year experimental program, in the opinion of County Agent Lurkins, in a talk before the annual meeting of stockholders of Buchanan Co-ops Incorporated at the Methodist church Thursday afternoon.

Continuation of co-operation with the AAA program is not a matter of politics but of self-interest for the farmer, said Lurkins, who said that the inroads made in the live stock supply of the country by AAA reduction and drouth in the past year had wiped out the surplus which had depressed the markets for several years. In view of the decreased live stock population the farmers will find it to their interest to reduce the yield of corn in 1935 by from 350,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels, or they will be faced by a surplus of that crop which will seriously affect the price.

Lurkins warned farmers against too drastic changes in their crop programs. He also warned them to pursue the measures advised as a precaution against the repetition of the chinch bug devastations of last year which experts declare imminent.

Mrs. Howard Paquin, South Haven, who was scheduled to deliver the talk on "The Farm Woman and the New Deal" which won her first place among the competing representatives of ten states at the American Farm Bureau Convention at Nashville, Tenn., in December, was unable to be present on account of illness in her family.

Robert Koenigshof gave an entertaining and humorous report on his trip to Nashville, Tenn., in company with A. J. George to attend the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Whittaker as "Mr. and Mrs. Agriculture" got out the old family album and discussed the merits and prospects of their thirteen children, including the Farm Board which had departed this life and was "perhaps better off where he was." Foreign Markets, who ran away from home and the well known triplets, the AAA.

Paul Reed presented several American folk songs to his own guitar accompaniment and was called back for more several times.

Philip Foxwell, South Bend magician, presented a half hour of excellent entertainment which closed the program.

At the business meeting held in the morning F. A. Koenigshof and Dean Clark were re-elected to succeed themselves on the board of directors for three years.

An excellent dinner was served complimentary to the stockholders and their families by the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church.

Net of Entertainment to be Given to United Charities; Coffee Served Between Acts.

The public spirited people of Buchanan are invited this evening to go to the Clark theatre, there to treat themselves to an evening of enjoyment and also to lend encouragement to the efforts of a group of young people, The Playbox Players, who have been devoting large measures of hope, faith and hard work to the joint cause of art and charity.

The Playbox Players will present this evening their World War comedy, "Three Live Ghosts." The antics of Buchanan have been ransacked with considerable success to furnish the semblance of a room in a Cockney home in the poorer quarters of London's east side, the living room of one Mrs. Gubbins, known locally as "Old Sweetheart." "Old Sweetheart" is an old skin-flint whose ruling passions are avarice and drunkenness. She has cashed the insurance policy of her son, who was supposed to have been killed in the World War, and when he unexpectedly shows up she attempts to conceal him. This part is played by Marjory Campbell. The part of the son, Jimmie Gubbins, is played by Robert Ellis. Chandos Jackson plays the part of an American "Black Sheep" who left America ahead of a warrant for arrest for confiscating bonds belonging to his father to pay his own debts. He joins the English army and becomes a buddy with Rose Gordon (Ruth Pierce), an American girl, who is starving for art's sake in London. The third "ghost" is Spoffy (Bob Geyer), a shell-shocked veteran, who has developed kleptomania, and who provides a comic angle.

Norman Barbour and George Remington play the part of Scotland Yard detectives who unravel the case. James Ellis has the role of the American detective who is in pursuit of the "black sheep."

Harry Banke, Jr., is directing the play. A hospitality committee, Miss Alene Riley, chairman, will serve coffee in the lounge between the second and third acts. The coffee was furnished by Buchanan merchants.

The net proceeds of the presentation will be given to the United Charities. The show opens at 8 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Over Breakfast Coffee

(By A. C. Clapp)

Anniversaries link up after a fashion, the present with the past, and so supply columnists in search of a lead, something to talk about.

Feb. 1, 1835, dates invention of the steamship screw propeller. Archimedes, 287 B. C. Sicily, discovered the principle of the screw and applied it to his tribular invention for raising water. Of course a propeller traces a spiral path through the water like a screw.

After James Watt's perfection of the steam engine, only 60 years elapsed until the propeller came along which utilized this steam power. That's power and progress.

Also at a not much later date, Jan. 31, 1835, the white man's progress had pressed "to the poor Indian" clear back to the Pacific ocean. The treaty of Neeah Bay was then drafted with the Indians in the state of Washington. Though the writer does not know the terms of the treaty, he does find in the atlas that Neeah Bay flanks Cape Flattery, the extreme western limit of the United States and that a small Indian reservation occupies the tip of Cape Flattery.

Well, it's worthy of commemoration that the invaders did not push the original American into the ocean. That's progress, too.

The old conquerors put whole populations to the sword.

Pontiac Motors Lays Stress on Sealed Chassis

Although the leading industry in the country during the last decade has been the motor car business, its leaders have never been so engrossed with their own importance that they were not ready to make use of the experience gained by older lines of business. Towit: watchmaking.

The Pontiac Motor Company is laying great stress this year on its sealed chassis and according to A. W. L. Gilpin, vice president and general sales manager, the company's engineers have used the same care in protecting every moving part of the chassis against dust, water and dirt, that the maker of the finest watch would use.

"The sealing of any piece of machinery is very important," said

COD LIVER OIL—Once a Punishment—Now a Treat

Stop trying to force your children to take nasty-tasting, fishy flavored cod liver oil. Give them COCO COD—the cod liver oil with a delicious chocolate taste—and watch their bodies grow daily with vigorous, athletic strength! Mrs. Meader of Milwaukee says:

"Before my child took COCO COD she weighed 80 lbs. Now, in two months' time, she weighs 105 1/2 lbs. and she has lost all her size."

Other cod liver oils have only Vitamins A and D, but COCO COD is also rich in Vitamin B—the appetite and growth promoting vitamin.

Start your children with COCO COD today. At all drug stores.

COCO COD

The Cod Liver Oil That Tastes Like Chocolate

Mr. Gilpin. "No manufacturer of precision machinery of any kind would think of leaving its parts exposed to the action of water and dirt. Likewise, the thing that any good judge of fine watches considers of utmost importance, next to its action, is how well its maker has protected that action."

"So, Pontiac engineers have used great care in sealing all vital parts of our 1935 chassis. And by doing that they have added to the riding comfort of the car and contributed to its durability, because, by careful sealing they have retained oil and grease where they are needed and they have kept out dust, grit and moisture."

"A car thus properly sealed will go farther and give a better ride than one in which less care has been given to this vital necessity."

"One of the most important points of sealing in the Pontiac chassis is the enclosed knee-action units. Thus, operating in their water and grit tight cylinders that are filled with oil, the same uniform free action gives assurance of the best ride at all times."

"Hydraulic brakes are guarded and protected by triple-sealed drums so that it is physically impossible for moisture, dust or dirt to get inside and interfere with the brake action. The same protection applies to the emergency brakes."

"The propeller shaft and universal joint are encased and protected with a strong tube. Rear springs are enclosed in metal coverings to retain the graphite lubricant and keep out the mud and grit, thus making sure of the continued flexibility of the springs at all times."

"Spring shackles are protected by fibre composition washers on both sides. The steering mechanism has a special type of seal developed by Pontiac engineers on the drag link, the pitman arm and the tie rod, which is one reason for the easy steering over long periods."

"The total number of points on a Pontiac chassis that are sealed are too numerous even to list in such a limited space, and in addition there are the many vital points of the motor such as the carburetor, crankcase, distributor, water pump, starting motor, generator, etc., that are just as carefully sealed as the chassis parts mentioned above."

the New Pontiac STANDARD SIX

An Additional line of cars whose quality and beauty make the price phenomenal $615*

Today Pontiac presents an addition to the Pontiac family—the Standard Six line—even lower in price and offering many of the features that the 1935 De Luxe Six and Improved Eight introduced with such sensational success. All models have the same speedlined styling that gained Pontiac the name of the most beautiful thing on wheels. The bodies are the same solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher. The brakes are the same—big, positive hydraulics, triple-sealed against dirt and moisture. The new ride, the happy result of stabilized, synchronized springing, is every bit as gentle and comfortable as you could ask for. The engine, with its silver-alloy bearings, provides dependable performance so smooth and lively that you will doubt it is a six. And, best of all, it operates with an economy of gasoline and oil that will literally amaze anyone who has had experience with other low-priced cars! A look, a ride and you'll decide you simply can't do better.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Leona Elmira Herman (nee Gazlay) was born near Buchanan, Dec. 14, 1873, and spent her entire life in this vicinity. She was married to Frank D. Herman, Sept. 23rd, 1891. To this union were born eight daughters and four sons, one son dying in infancy.

Mrs. Herman was of a quiet disposition, friendly to all and a good mother to her children. Since her long illness she was obliged to deprive herself of any of the public activities in the community. She was united with the Evangelical church of Buchanan about fourteen years ago under the pastorate of Rev. E. D. Riebel.

She passed on to eternal rest early Friday morning, Jan. 25th, 1935. She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, eight daughters, three sons, twenty-three grandchildren, three brothers and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held from the Evangelical church Sunday afternoon with Rev. W. F. Boettcher officiating. Interment was made in Long Lake cemetery.

OBITUARY

Frank Randal Taylor was born in Bethel, Conn., Nov. 15, 1850. When a boy at the age of seventeen years, he went to New Milford, Conn., to learn the carriage making business. He was united in marriage to Eliza Jane Hill on August 10, 1872. To this union was born one son and one daughter.

In 1879 he moved with his family to Rockford, Ill., where he engaged in the carriage and blacksmith business. In 1904 he and his wife moved to Buchanan, where he engaged in farming for ten years, after which he moved into town where he has since resided.

Mr. Taylor, throughout his life, has kept himself busy in the work in which he was engaged from time to time. He was of a cheerful disposition; a man of good habits and a kind hearted husband and father. Mr. Taylor, in faith, was affiliated with the Congregational church. For a number of years he has been deprived of his hearing which always proved a great handicap, yet he was cheerful and friendly to all.

God blessed Mr. Taylor with many years of life and enjoyment with his family. A few days ago he was stricken with a stroke, which left him unconscious and from which he never recovered. He passed away at his home at 203 N. Oak street, Jan. 29, 1935, at 4:15 a. m. He is at rest.

He is survived by his widow, by one son, Leonard S. Taylor, Tulsa, Okla., and by one daughter, Bessie Lehrke; one granddaughter, Mrs. H. P. Tolle, and two great grandsons, Leonard and Frank Tolle of Tulsa, Okla., and many friends.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home at 2 p. m. with Rev. Wm. F. Boettcher, pastor of the Evangelical church, officiating. Burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

New Riding Ease to match Time Proved V-8 Performance

NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

THE 1935 Ford V-8 has many advantages you'll want to investigate. But there's one that belongs at the top of the list—Comfort to match V-8 Performance.

To any one who has been behind the wheel of a Ford V-8—who knows from experience what a difference a V-8 engine makes—no other statement about this amazing car could be half so impressive.

It's a statement you can quickly prove, too—and have a lot of pleasure doing it.

There has never been a Ford like this one. And there's no better time to see it than today!

"Taking a back seat" used to mean sacrificing comfort—until the 1935 Ford introduced Center-Poise, placing back-seat passengers in front of the rear axle instead of over it. (See illustration below.)

Front-seat passengers in the New Ford find all roads easier, too—thanks to Center-Poise, another example of Ford pioneering, which combines and applies three related engineering principles in a manner certain to make motor car history:

(1) Longer, more flexible springs, set farther apart, retain time-proved Ford advantages, and provide a longer base for spring action;

(2) The forward placement of the engine—and other improvements in design—more nearly equalize weight distribution on all wheels;

(3) And the forward location of all seats cradles passengers between the wheels.

LEGISLATURE TO VOTE IMPORTANT BILLS THIS WEEK

Minimum Wage for Women and Children, Auto License Installment Payments up for Consideration.

Among important measures under consideration by the state legislature this week are bills proposing a minimum wage for women and children in Michigan and re-instatement of a law permitting installment payments on automobile license plates.

Both had been approved by the house in committee of the whole. The minimum wage bill, sponsored by Rep. Frederick Kappler, Democrat, Lake Linden, would set up a wage board made up of three representatives each of employers, employees and disinterested parties to settle arguments as to what constitutes a fair and unoppressive wage.

A delegation of women interested in the suggested law lined the house chambers as the bill went through committee of the whole. Although attacked by many members, few major amendments were added.

The license plate bill would reenact present law which permits automobile owners to buy half-year stickers at half the price of license plates. Barring legislative action the law will expire.

Anticipation of action by the legislature, Secretary of State Orville E. Atwood has extended the time for purchase of new licenses to March 1. The bill has passed the senate.

An anti-injunction bill which would prohibit the issuance of court orders to halt labor strikes was introduced in the house by Rep. Martin W. Baginski, Democrat, Detroit.

The measure, familiar because of controversies in previous sessions, would take from the courts the power to restrain employees in so-called peaceful labor disputes.

A measure to further extend the moratorium on tax sales was submitted by Rep. Walter N. Stockfish, Democrat, Hamtramck. It would prohibit the sale of property for 1933 tax delinquencies.

Such sales would be held in 1936, barring the passage of the measure. Delinquencies prior to 1933 may be retired under the ten year moratorium plan.

Rep. Fred C. Hollerbeck, Republican, Long Lake, put in a bill to change the hour season to the first Sunday in May to Labor day, inclusive.

A measure by Rep. Ezra F. Aldrich, Democrat, Hixcratha, would establish a state board to regulate and register finger print, handwriting or other "identification experts."

A senate committee charged with investigating the feasibility of closing one or more normal colleges began its work today. The committee was in Kalamazoo to study the Western State Teachers college.

It may visit the three other normals later in its inquiry. The investigation was authorized by a resolution which directed the committee to make a specific study of the situation at Kalamazoo, Chairman Frank R. Mostier, Republican, Fennville, said the proposed move to close one or more normals, although backed by the administration, has met with widespread protests.

Democrats Meet In Convention at Detroit Today

The Democrats of Michigan were scheduled to assemble in state convention at Detroit today, with a prospect in view of a battle between the Comstock faction and the opposition over the selection of the chairman of the central committee.

The Comstock faction is said to be opposed to the continuance of Elmer E. O'Hara as chairman and to favor the election of some outside man, among those mentioned being Thomas H. McAllister of Grand Rapids, W. A. Seegmiller of Owosso and George Burke of Ann Arbor.

The convention is expected to renominate Paul F. Voelker for superintendent of public instruction. While there may be other candidates, the opposition is not expected to be serious.

According to present plans, a candidate for auditor general also will be named in an attempt to force an election for that office this spring. Attorney General Harry S. Toy has ruled that John J. O'Hara, recently appointed Republican auditor general, will hold office until Dec. 31, 1936, and is not required to stand for election in April.

Don E. Canfield, secretary of the Democratic state central committee said Democratic attorneys do not agree with this ruling. Those mentioned for the questionable auditor general nomination were Marvin Cooch, Henry Stack, a brother of the late John K. Stack, Jr., and Martin R. Bradley, former speaker of the house.

All are from the upper peninsula. Charles Novak, Detroit school principal, may be the nominee for membership on the state board of education. For two places on the state board of agriculture, the names of Frank Wilson of Midland and James McFarland of Alma, were advanced.

A number of contests over seating delegates were in prospect. Contesting delegations have filed from Marquette and St. Clair counties. A ruling by the central committee held that fractional delegations, that is allotting half or three votes to individuals to gain admission for more delegates, will be barred.

Despite this a number of county conventions named fractional delegations and the credentials committee will have to decide what to do. John Dolfin of Muskegon, will deliver the keynote speech at the convention. A banquet for the visiting delegates will be held on Thursday night.

The line-up of the delegates will determine the nominees who will represent the party in the spring election. The convention must nominate two justices of the supreme court for the places now held by Justices William W. Potter and Nelson Sharps, Republicans.

There was talk of placing Frank A. Picard of Saginaw and Burke on the ticket for supreme court justices. The possibility of a "deal" in connection with the selection of candidates for regent of the University of Michigan existed.

The terms of one Democrat and one Republican expire and their successors will be named in the April election. Democratic spokesmen indicated they would be willing to nominate only one, and endorse the Republican incumbent if the Republicans will reciprocate.

The Regents whose offices are subject to referendum this year are Edmund C. Shields, Democrat, Lansing, and Esther Marsh Cram, Republican, Flint.

Sales Tax Receipts Indicate Growth of State Retail Trade

Sales tax collection figures for the last half of 1934 indicated a prolonged upward trend in retail trade in Michigan, according to James E. Morgan, sales tax director. He estimates taxable sales for December at $125,000,000, or 25 per cent greater than for the same month in 1933, which would mean tax collections for the month of approximately $3,750,000.00 as against $3,058,021.00 for December 1933. Other comparable figures for the final six months of 1934 and 1933 follow respectively: July, $3,034,974 and $2,580,131; August, $2,902,533 and $2,711,767; September, $2,920,792 and $2,806,214; October, $2,866,274 and $2,635,820 and November, $2,769,065 and $2,459,679. Morgan predicts that collections for the entire fiscal year will be at least $36,000,000. This would compare with $34,871,949 for the previous fiscal year.

CHINCH BUGS RENEW THREAT COMING SEASON

Unless Unfavorable Weather Conditions Develop, Insect Pest may be Worse Than Ever.

Chinch bugs which infested the Three Oaks and Galien sections and invaded the Buchanan district last summer may present an even more serious menace this year if preventive measures are not practiced, according to the Department of Agriculture experts.

A co-operative survey recently completed by entomologists of the department and of the states concerned indicates that hibernating chinch bugs in the corn belt are now more abundant than in January 1934. Furthermore, the infested area is larger.

Burning the bugs in their winter quarters, an effective partial control measure in open fields where there is no fire hazards to wooded areas has been hindered this season by heavy rainfall.

Weather permitting, however, much can still be done, in the treeless western part of the infested area at least, to destroy the bugs now tucked snugly away at the roots of tall grasses. But burning, though it can be counted on to kill millions of bugs, can not stop a chinch bug attack in 1935 fully as serious as that of last season.

Only nature, by sending heavy rains when the bugs emerge to lay their eggs or while the bugs are still small, can save small grains from severe damage next spring.

Fortunately for corn belt farmers, there are some crops on which the chinch bug will not feed, notably the legumes, including red and sweet clovers, alfalfa, vetch, soy beans and sopeas, according to Dr. Annand, who is in charge of the division of cereal and forage insects, bureau of entomology and plant quarantine. By planting these crops between small grain and corn fields, corn can be saved from much of the damage it would suffer otherwise.

All grass crops, and particularly barley, millet, and oats, are susceptible to the chinch bug attack. It is to the small grain fields that the adult chinch bugs fly from their winter quarters to lay the eggs that start the new generation.

If the green, succulent food provided by the small grains holds out long enough, the bugs can complete their life cycle without moving on to neighboring cornfields. Once the chinch bug reaches the winged, or adult stage, it is beyond man's control. Usually, however, especially in dry seasons like 1934, the small grains mature so that the succulent foods run short, while the bugs are still wingless nymphs.

They must then migrate by crawling to new feeding grounds, usually to the fields where young corn is just getting a good start. Such migrations can be stopped by creosote-rimmed trenches along the edges of the corn fields. The creosote line directs the crawling army down into postholes where the bugs remain until they can be destroyed by kerosene or crushing.

The 40,000 miles of barriers hastily constructed last year with Federal funds appropriated for the purpose, Dr. Annand says, saved corn worth millions of dollars from the ravages of first-brood chinch bugs. Those that completed their life cycle and migrated over a wide territory by flying, however, went into winter quarters in numbers large enough to be a serious threat to 1935 crops.

Entire Republic Visible San Marino, in the Apennine, said to have been founded 1,500 years ago and claiming to be the oldest nation in Europe, has a capital of the same name, a tidy, well-built mountain town of some 4,000 population from whose capital can be seen the entire territory of the republic.

Stones Start Fires South Africa has its own peculiar fire hazards. Baboons in the Drakensstein mountains turn over the rocks while hunting insect food, then nonchalantly let the big stones roll down the slopes. These strike sparks and set fire to dry grass in the lowlands.

Funeral Rites Held Here for O. H. Van Antwerp

Funeral services were held for Otis Van Antwerp, Three Oaks, from the Hamilton Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, Rev. Paul Carpenter preaching the funeral sermon, and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Otis Hiram Van Antwerp, son of the late Hiram John and Delia Clough Van Antwerp, was born in Harvey Co., Kansas, Feb. 15, 1885, and passed away at his home four miles north of Three Oaks, Sunday evening, Jan. 27, at 9:30 o'clock, at the age of 49 years, 11 months and 12 days. Death followed a short illness of two weeks with pneumonia.

On Oct. 25, 1918 he was united in marriage to Beulah Coleman. To this union were born eight children, seven of whom survive; one son, Otis, passed away June 29, 1923, at the age of one year. Mr. Van Antwerp was a member of the Hills Corners Christian church. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and four sons: Virginia, June, Mary, William, John, Rex, and Donald all at home; by one sister Mrs. John Andrews Buchanan. His mother passed away at his home, Jan. 13, 1935.

Managed by "politicians" who owe their appointments to pull rather than to any particular fitness, the reformatories and prisons of Michigan are mainly schools of crime, in the opinion of Judge Malcolm Hatfield of the Berrien County Probate Court, who spoke before the local Lions Club Wednesday evening.

STATE PRISONS CRIME SCHOOLS SAYS HATFIELD

Says Conditions in Reformatories Caused by Politician Wardens Render Them Unfit.

"Acrid and Lansing comprise the kindergartens of crime," said Hatfield. "Ionia is the grade school of crime; Jackson and Marquette are the high schools of crime, and Atlanta and Leavenworth are the universities of crime. Any knowledge of the unspeakable conditions among the inmates of these places, the social and moral conditions prevailing will explain why I am so loathe to sentence the delinquents who come in my jurisdiction."

"As I look back on my own adolescent days," said Hatfield, "it sometimes seems to me that if they had been as strict in sentencing youth on various charges as they are now I would have been sentenced a hundred times."

Parents are largely responsible for juvenile delinquency, the judge stated. This is especially true in the case of girls brought before him in pregnant condition, usually because of lack of proper sex education.

Bridge-mad mothers are one important factor in the creation of juvenile delinquency, Hatfield said. A more important cause is the broken home. The divorce mills grind out more than divorces, he stated; the problems that come in their wake drive children from their homes into a world they are not prepared for.

Much delinquency would be avoided if parents would give their children allowances, he said, or if that is not possible they should, as far as possible, encourage them to make their own spending money.

English Why the colonies became a nation, beginning of American literature, writings of Paine, Crèvecoeur, Freneau, and the life of Benjamin Franklin are being taken up by the 10th grade English class.

Ninth grade English classes are taking up word study, pronunciation, correct use of words, history of words, and the history and meaning of words. They are also starting English note books.

GRADE NEWS The first grade in the high school building is doing rhythmic counting. They have learned several rhymes and know by sight the numbers used in them. They can also make these numbers.

The following pupils in the second grade have not been tardy or absent this first semester: J. B. Anderson, Charlotte Banke, Robert Heiermann and Juanita Eittle. We invited the first grade to come to our room to hear a talk on "Winter Birds." The talk was given with stereoscopic pictures from Western State Teachers college.

The story of Benjamin Franklin was read for history because his birthday was in January. Reports were made on the printing press of Franklin's day, the modern printing press in the large city and in small cities or towns. Jack Frank and Richard Noe visited the Record office and they told us how our local paper was printed. Their reports were very interesting.

For nature study we are studying the penguin. Duane Chain brought a book about Byrd's Expedition which caused an interest in this strange bird. Magazines were hunted for pictures and several were brought in. They furnished material for art lessons.

Buddy Matthews has had charge of the bulletin board. He is displaying pictures of European people which he has collected mostly himself. As we are studying Europe, they give a splendid idea of the costumes of the various countries. We also have some views of European cities and places of interest for use with the stereoscope.

In Miss Ream's sixth grade the following children have been neither absent nor tardy during the first semester of school: Doris Allee, Clifford Bauch, Harold Borders, Arlis Fairman, Harry Hempel, Genevieve Norman, Wanda Wood, and Edward Hempel.

In Miss Abell's sixth grade the following people have not been tardy or absent this year: Jack Markham, Gerald Weaver, Eva Daggett, Loraine Morley, Evelyn Benak, Lillian Hartline, Marjorie Bowman, Betty Bristol, Suzanne McKinnon, Jack Ednie, Ivan Keltner, Judd Walls, Jack Hess and Bill Doney.

In Geography we are going to make a newspaper about the southern states. We have had a very interesting study about butterflies, moths, rocks, and trees. We have a large box of rocks and most of us can name nearly all of them.

The children in the second grade who have been on the spelling honor roll for the entire first semester are as follows: Billy Banks, Patricia Finney, Shirley Gess, Norma Vergon, Ivan Hines, James Zupke, Dorothy Young, Claudine Wolford, Dorothy Rouse, Marilyn Mann, Shirley Marks, Joyce Morley, Eleanor Rough, Billy Schreinspfer, John Slocum, Tom VanDeusen, and Ruth VanEvery.

The second and third grades are carrying on a project in the study of winter birds. As a part of the program, slides of winter birds were shown Wednesday forenoon in the third grade.

In the first grade Billy Swaim, Beverly Wallace, Betty Runyan, Georgian Bird, Virginia Ovington, Loretta Lee and Junior Borst were not absent or tardy last semester.

A poem about Santa was written by Eugene Spatta, and is as follows: Santa Claus is coming, In my stocking here He will find a piece of bread For his reindeer.

The kindergarten reading honor roll includes—Morning group: Billie Lou Lamb, Joanne Rough, Georgene Chain, Mary Walls, Paesler Cherne, Dennis Smedley, Laurence Banks, Neale Shore, Norlene Fuller, John Van Dusen, Barre Heim, Wilfred Blake; Afternoon group: Raymond Preston, Elwyn Noggle, Edna Brant, Johnny Leifer, Phyllis Hawks, Robert Gridley, Donald Hartman, Kathleen Birong and Beatrice Rauch.

Question: How do you like one hour examinations? A Junior—"It rushes you too much. You are unable to answer fully all questions. So many teachers are unable to give their examinations in one hour. It also makes too many examinations in one day."

Miss Quade: "I think an hour exam period is long enough. It doesn't take so much of my time and still is plenty of time to cover the necessary work."

A freshman: "I think the one hour examinations are all right, because it takes only one day for all exams and doesn't spread them over two or three days. Then when you're through, you're through, and there's not another day's work of exams to think of."

A senior: "I do not care for the one hour exams. There is not time enough for you to finish your exam. Also when you get to the last exam, you are too tired to do as good work as you did at the beginning of the day."

ALONG THE CORRIDOR Did anyone notice the Velmarian Literary announcements of the plays that were presented in the high school auditorium, Jan. 30? There isn't any wonder Dale Lyon is so tough. Why the other day he was seen eating old Dutch Cleanser on his candy. Maybe his hand is quicker than the eye. Heh, Dale?

Did anyone notice the new journalism teacher? Why it's Harry Banke! Haven't you had enough school, Mr. Banke? If you hear metallic sounds along the corridors, it's only Buddy Miller again.

It seems all the 9th and 10th grade boys are trying to get a girl friend. This is especially true with Raymond DeWitt. Poor thing, will he never grow up?

Scream, that's what Alice Ruth's been trying to do. She is now taking a lesson from Mrs. Velma Dunbar, instructor, on how to scream. She is to play the part of the mother in one of the three Velmarian Literary Society plays, "A Mistake," which calls for one big scream.

LOST AND FOUND After seeing the assembly program Tuesday, Arnold Herman tried to use his ruler for a sword. One at a time he would find his books missing. This happened while he had his back turned trying to stab students with his ruler. Hunting high and low he finally found trace of a funny picture he drew.

At last Arnold went to the library, and when he came back in the study hall, he found his grammar gone. Picking up the rest of his books, he made Marvin Mangold get up from his seat. Harold Jackson, who was innocent, would not even move for the poor 7th grader.

While Arnold was wondering about his book, Jackson slipped it out from underneath his sweater and put it back on Arnold's desk. The funny expression on Arnold's face registered every bit of his surprise.

A NEW PET! A stray puppy came ambling into the girls' locker room last week. Girls are dog lovers, as you know, and the pup was the center of attraction. Some one decided she would put the mongrel in her locker until noon, and then she would take him home with her. My, My, what new idea next?

Editorial

Education Education is an apprenticeship for life. That period which we spend in school is one during which we should strive to learn more about life and how to share it with others.

A wise and observing man said that education does not mean teaching people to know what they do not know; it means teaching them to behave as they do not behave. Nothing is cheaper than culture. Good manners are everywhere a passport to respect, and such manners can be obtained easily through observation and control of will.

There is always an excuse for one who takes a wrong course of action, if that course is taken, because of ignorance. True lack of mental control and the inability to make social adjustments become evident only after an individual has given a choice, preferred to defend the wrong action with an inferior, protecting stubbornness.

This point divides students into two classes. The sullen, stubborn mind fights the chance to be improved. The alert open mind invites improvement and mind-easily accepts constructive criticism.

In every day life our class association with other people makes it necessary to nearly everything we do. Many times that help is refused. The reason can, in every case, be traced to a definite prejudice based on social relationship.

We constantly are being judged, just as we are judging others. That judgment will show that stubborn minds have acquaintances, alert, open minds have friends.

An old adage says: "He who is least noticed is best dressed." Likewise we may say, "He who has the best manners is seldom judged."

A cross section of student opinion indicates that we, as a group, are at least average. It indicates, also, that there is room for improvement.

Let each of us, as an individual, try to eliminate our faults and at the same time share our good points with those who lack them.

Above all, let us keep an open mind and courteous attitude toward reasonable and constructive help which is intended to help us. And let us make our high school a better place for our having been students in it.

Mistakes Will Happen! Monday, during home room, William Zachman brought in some announcements. Among them was an announcement that Niles basketball game tickets were now on sale, and Mr. Hyink added that there was only 50 on hand. The students looked amazed at him. "Bill" told him that the word was "hand" not band.

Doan Straub is Speaker at State Dairymen's Banquet
Mr. and Mrs. Doan Straub left Monday morning to attend Farmers' Week at Lansing. Mr. Straub will be honored at the Dairy banquet held at the Michigan State college Monday evening.

Straub's herd of cows is recognized as one of the finest in Michigan. College officials report he has an average of 12.09 cows in his herd for the past five years with an average yearly production of 15,489 pounds of milk and 580.2 pounds of butterfat a year for each cow. For the past four years Straub has had the highest average production in the state.

Doan Straub, Galien, Mich., the owner of a Holstein herd, which has achieved both state and national honors over a series of years was among the speakers at the dairymen's banquet held at East Lansing Monday evening in connection with the Farmers' Week program at Michigan State college.

Mr. Straub's herd of Holsteins has a distinctive record. One cow Galien 1,209, averaged over a 5-year period 15,438 pounds of milk and 280.2 pounds of butterfat. The fact that cows in Mr. Straub's herd have led in his dairy testing association occurs so frequently that it has almost ceased to be news. The Galien dairymen gives his herd immaculate care and milks three times daily.

He has made a special study of milk and butterfat production and the record he attains are the result of much careful planning and diligent effort.

The Straub herd not only has attracted the attention of local newspapers, but has been publicized in accounts in dairy magazines many of them of national circulation.

Sarah Most and Mary Barmore Celebrate Birthdays

Mrs. Barmore is the junior of Mrs. Most by a year, being only 88 years young, but she has lived longer than Buchanan. She was born at Deposit, Delaware county, New York, her family being among the New York Yankees who were the main settlers of early Michigan. As a baby in her mothers arms she looked down from an overhead bridge on the first train that went over the New York Central. The other children cried but she craned her neck to see more. Mrs. Barmore has always been like that.

They came by train across Canada and over the Michigan Central to Galesburg, Mich., near Kalamazoo when "wilderness was king" over most of this section. In 1858 they came to Buchanan and her father, Francis Conroy, established himself in the trade of tailor in a room over old Dr. Harrison's drug store, where Glenn Smith's store now stands. Old timers will remember about Dr. Harrison. He helped bring many of them into the world. One day Francis Conroy was standing beside his tailor's goose near the window over Front street and he called to his wife and pointed out a man who had recently come on from Chicago and who was crossing the street.

"There," said Francis Conroy, "is a rogue if there ever was one." So it turned out. The method of making money had not then been perfected and counterfeiting was comparatively easy. The stranger was a counterfeiter. He established his headquarters, some say on an island on old Topinabee lake which was drained when the Michigan Central was straightened out. Not long after he was caught. In some way he involved Dr. Harrison, but that was finally cleared up. Several thoughtless boys had been implicated but the charges against them were not serious and they got clear by enlisting as soldiers in the Civil war.

Soon Francis Conroy, who had been a soldier before, enlisted and went. The wife and children remained and moved to a farm near Berrien Springs. Shortly before they left there was a great fire that burned most of the business section. Mrs. Barmore was out of town. She had gone with another girl to Niles, where they rode a logging train to Dowagiac and got off and walked to Sister Lakes to attend the "last day exercises" at the Pottawatomie Indian school kept there by a French priest.

So Mrs. Barmore missed the big fire, but when she came back to Buchanan the big Ross & Alexander store which stood on the corner where the First National Bank building now is was in ashes and a lot of other stores as well. But she had a fire of her own at the school. The priest was building a large chapel and the timber had been cut and cleared away and the brush piled in neat piles.

"Let's see how this brush will burn," said Miss Mary Conroy to her friends and they lit fires under the piles. The brush was dry and things cracked around there. The good father came hurrying out.

"Ver' bad lil' girl," he scolded, "I shut you up and feed you corn mush!"

But he didn't. There was no real damage done and Mary Conroy just wanted to see things. She's still like that.
