

CITY, COUNTY, STATE POLLS MONDAY

Now Here's the Proposition

The Sounds of Spring There's a clang of skates on a coal hole grating; There's a squish of the spade where the worms are dug; There's the tender chirp of the wild birds mating;
There's the whang of the beater on the old rag rug.

There's a redbird in the beach; there's a robin in the maple; There's a pecker on a light pole boring out a bug; But of all spring sounds there is one that's staple—The whang of the beater on the old rag rug.

On moonlight nights there's the laugh of lovers
And I sigh a sigh as my tears fall—glug,
To think it will end as it has with others
With the whang of a beater on the old rag rug.

Oh, my heart is full of an ancient sorrow
I can soothe alone from the soothing jug—But what's the use of going on like this? It ought to be good for six or eight verses more, if we didn't have the spring fever.

As we write these lines Buchanan is digging out at the end of a hard winter. The toll of casualties was something terrible.
There goes Ralph Wegner across the street with his cane now.
Seems like all winter about half the population have been going around with their arms in slings or with dazed looks in their eyes as the result of tumbles on the ice.

F. E. Holley, the Daze Avenue baker was long on Indian pennies last week. Some one paid a bill with 175 Indian head coppers. The same party told him they had $3 more in Indian pennies. Must be a treasurer of a church.

Kroger Store To Open Here

The fixtures are now being installed for the opening of a Kroger store unit in the H. R. Adams building, formerly occupied by the Phelps 5 & 10.

Sam Bunker to Observe His 91st Birthday Friday

Samuel Bunker, one of Buchanan's first citizens and one of the two remaining Civil War veterans here, will be host at a dinner party for several of his friends Friday celebrating his 91st birthday.

The Buchanan fire department made a run at 3:45 p. m. yesterday to extinguish a roof fire at the home of Mrs. Ruth on Fourth street, known as the old Treat homestead. The fire, which was started from chimney sparks, did very little damage.

CLARK EQUIPMENT MOVES HUCK RIVET TO LOCAL PLANT

New Construction Device to Be Made at Buchanan; May Feature in Many Fields.

The Clark Equipment company is now transferring the development plant of the Huck rivet, patent rights to which it acquired last fall, from Detroit to Buchanan for manufacture at the local plant.

Several of the experts who were employed in the development are being transferred here with the equipment. The rivet represents a new feature in the construction world in that all operations in setting the rivet may be conducted from one side of a wall, eliminating the inconvenience of working from both sides or from the interior of boilers. It is anticipated that the rivet will prove adapted to uses in a number of construction fields, including automobile making, and its use is being watched with much interest.

Arms, Head of Murder Victim Still Unfound

Considerable excitement was experienced in Buchanan Saturday evening by the report of the finding of the upper part of the torso in the "Jigsaw" murder mystery which has been puzzling the police authorities of southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana during the past week.

The upper three quarter section of the torso was found about 7 p. m. Saturday by William Barlow, Ivan Mangus and Billy Parker, who were dip-netting for suckers about thirty yards below the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. dam on the south side of the river. The fishermen saw the section of the body lodged against a limb in the water and at first thought it was that of an animal.

The Buchanan officers notified Sheriff Charles Miller and Coroner Kerlikowski, who came from St. Joseph and held an inquest at the river before moving the remains to Niles where they were placed with the section found previously at the Kiger mortuary.

More of the No. 6 shot first located by Dr. Robert Henderson in an autopsy were shown lodged in the chest wound which police believe caused the victim's death. A wad from a 12 gauge shot gun also was found in the body by Dr.
Henderson.

Following the x-ray examination made at the Paving hospital the torso was held at the Price and Kiger funeral home in Niles while officers awaited further clues to the identity of the youth who met his death under such mysterious circumstances.

The first portion of the body had been discovered a week ago by Joe Wartha when he saw it floating in a backwater of the St.
Joe river, three quarters of a mile south of the Niles city limits.

The Berrien county coroner, Louis Kerlikowski, has asked the farmers and fishermen to keep a close watch of the river in hope of finding further other parts of the dismembered body.

City Treasurer Reports Collection 87.55 Pct. City Tax

Ada Dacy-Sanders, city treasurer, has completed a settlement with the county treasurer on the 1934 tax roll, and reports total collections representing 84.47% of the entire winter roll and 87.55% of the city tax. The total taxes collected for the year were $86,- 980.91.

CITY DADS PLEASE NOTICE

Either there is a city street ordinance that is not being enforced or there is a wonderful opportunity before the city fathers for a new ordinance on the subject of the truck parking nuisance. Complaints on the matter of interference with traffic on the part of large trucks unloading in front of stores on Front street have been frequent. At one time yesterday an observer counted ten automobiles tied up, unable to get away from the curb, on account of large delivery trucks parking in the middle of the street during delivery.
There is not a store in the business section which cannot be reached from the rear. Front street is too narrow to permit parking of large trucks even anglewise next to the curb, without undue interference with traffic.

Soldier of Fortune Heir of Millions, Visits in Buchanan

George Charles Jennings, Jr., soldier of fortune, veteran of the Boer War and the World War, and of the Klondike gold rush, was in Buchanan the first of the week, stating that he was looking up information regarding the Jennings family and its connections here who might be interested in the distribution of the $8,000,000 estate of the late John Drake Jennings, pioneer Cassopolis merchant and later Chicago millionaire.

George C. Jennings has a romantic story to tell. He ran away from home at the age of ten going to Seattle, Wash., where he was picked up by a prospecting party en route to Alaska. He accompanied them to Alaska, located several mines for himself and became a Canadian subject. He later volunteered for service in the Boer war, and then enlisted for a term of three years in the Royal English navy as a deep sea diver. He was decorated for bravery in the former war, and later served with Canadian troops during the World War.

While a resident of Nome, Alaska, he received notice from Probate Judge (now governor) Horner of Illinois that the estate of his father had been in litigation in the Illinois courts for several years. At the time of his father's death George C. Jennings was believed to be dead, and the state was left first to the widow and at her death to a half brother. The half brother was never married.

George C. Jennings stated that the will provides that in the event he never married, the sum of $1,- 000,000 was to be divided among the distant relatives. He has been searching for such claimants in southeastern Michigan and while here stayed at the home of Mrs.
E. W. Ashbrook, who is connected with the Jennings family. George C. Jennings says that he has had numerous offers of marriage from women who were anxious to help him save his estate intact. The land on which the LaSalle hotel in Chicago is situated is a part of the Jennings estate.

Is there something about the water supply in Buchanan that makes people vote Republican, while some more relaxing quality in Bertrand township gives them a Democratic complex?

Of course there is this: Both Niles and Bertrand township were settled a few years before Buchanan, when the tide of emigration was still from the south and middle Atlantic states. Then the current flowed strongly from the Carolinas up through Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and reached the southern line of Michigan. But about the time of the settlement of Buchanan, from 1833 on a counter tide had set in from New York state, composed mainly of natives of the New England states or their children, who followed the line of the Erie Canal and the Great Lakes.

These settlers, in spite of their New England origin, were strongly Democratic in the beginning.
No one can realize today the pride with which the pioneer farmer laid claim to the title of being a "Jackson Democrat." It was the boast of those who believed in the sovereignty of the common man.

Not the early settlers of Michigan were mainly from the poorer farmers, who were renters in New York state, or who had failed to pay for their government lands under the more rigorous terms which prevailed when that section was settled. Also there were many debtors among them, and debt was a jail offense then.

Consequently many of the early settlers of Michigan left New England between Saturday night and Monday morning, flying a jail sentence for their liabilities. There was then an established route across Lake Champlain by which debtors fled from sentence, much as the fugitive slave fled northward on the underground railway.

This is not to say that the early settlers of Michigan was not a worthy and respectable citizen. He was all of that but he was also, to an extent at least, a refugee from impossible social and economic conditions in the east. It was no wonder, then that he was a loyal adherent of Andy Jackson, the champion of the poor man, the frontiersman. And the extent of that adherence is shown by the following: Buchanan was named after James Buchanan, a prominent Democrat politician elected to the presidency in 1856; Berrien county was named after a prominent member of Jackson's official family. In fact, most of the counties in southwestern Michigan was named after prominent members in President Jackson's official family, and the list comprises Berrien, Cass, Barry, Jackson, Calhoun, VanBuren and possibly others. They were known in early days as the "Cabinet counties."

But the Republican party, in its formative days, was tinged strongly with the Puritan reform attitude; its central doctrine was opposition to the slave-holding aristocracy of the south. This appealed strongly to the sons of northwestern New York and Vermont who comprised the main body of settlement in Michigan after the early thirties.

But, however, all that may be, we like to think that one, George Dewey, a backwoods school teacher in the Buchanan community in the fifties had something to do with Buchanan's Republican complexion. Dewey was a man worth remembering, but you would have to dig deep to find any trace of his name or any one that remembered him here. In fact the only trace we know of his Buchanan connection is the attacks on him in the Niles Democrat newspapers of the early fifties as "Dewey, the Buchanan school teacher, bell wether of the Black Republicans."

But such attacks did not daunt young Dewey. He went right into Niles and started a Republican newspaper, the Niles Enquirer.
Dewey had an interesting history, which is recounted at some length in state histories. He was born in Lebanon, Vermont, Feb.
14. Ambitious for an education, he went to Lowell, Mass., and then to Harvard college. During his sophomore year in Harvard he was employed on an astronomical expedition to South America for 18 months. He then taught school first in Massachusetts and then in Berrien county. He came to Michigan in 1852 and took up teaching.
He came to the little sawmill town of Buchanan or in some nearby log school house in 1854. But he was not to remain in obscurity for long. A year after he came he was appointed deputy county school commissioner. He was one of the delegates who met under the oaks at Jackson, in July, 1854, to organize the Republican party.

GEORGE DEWEY, FORGOTTEN BUCHANAN TEACHER OF FIFTIES, BECAME POWER IN G. O. P. IN BOTH STATE AND NATION

Was Advisor of War Governor Austin Blair; Stumped East and West in Campaigns.

This, friend readers, is an article about politics but not a political article.

It is an attempt to go back into the beginning of things and to assess why Buchanan happens to be so strongly Republican, while Bertrand township and Niles are so tinged with Democracy.

It is an established fact that a man is more likely to inherit his politics than his religion. But Buchanan was at first a Democratic stronghold. Its first vote was cast for Steven Thomson Mason, the boy governor of Michigan. Then in 1839, it swung for the only time in its history into the Whig column as a result of the revolt against the Democrats following the panic of 1837 and the extravagant expenditures for state railways and canals by the young governor. After voting for Woodbridge, the Buchanan community swung back into the Democratic column in 1841 and voted for Barry. It then continued to vote consistently Democratic until the death of the Whig party and the organization of the Republican party in 1854. But from the candidacy of Bingham on to the candidacy of Fitzgerald the Buchanan community has never been out of the Republican column. But just across the township line, a mile south, there is another community which has been almost as consistently in the Democratic column, and to the east five miles is Niles, also a consistent Democratic community for the more than 100 years of its existence.

Why?

Is there something about the
makes people vote Republican,
in Bertrand township gives them
a Democratic complex?

Max Beadle to Go to New Orleans On Sponsored Trip

Max Beadle will leave Sunday for New Orleans, La., with a sponsored tour of carrier boys of the South Bend Tribune. He won the

Galien School Children Receive Tuberculosis Test

Through the efforts of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and the Berrien County Medical Association, Galien school children are having the opportunity of receiving a test for tuberculosis. ## FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8 — the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

...and it's even Better than it Looks!

At first sight, America named the Silver Streak Pontiac the most beautiful thing on wheels. But even that high praise tells only half of Pontiac's story. Get in, drive, and you'll discover that this low-priced car is even better than it looks. It's an unusually safe car with solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher and triple-sealed hydraulic brakes.

It's a marvel on the road—smooth, lively, easy to handle and easy on gas and oil. And, as such super-fine features as silver-alloy bearings and a completely sealed chassis prove, Pontiac asks no odds of any car at any price when it comes to quality and dependability. A look, a ride and you'll decide—the car makes the price phenomenal.

William Mathews Democrat Aspirant for Co. School Head

William E. Mathews, unopposed in his own party primary, will go before the Berrien County Electorate at the Spring Election April 1, as the Democrat Candidate for County School Commissioner. He recently rejected an urgent, widespread appeal to become his party's candidate for mayor of Niles. This fact is introduced simply to emphasize his popularity with his townfolk and neighbors.

As the aspirant for County School Commissioner Mr. Mathews will appeal to the people as a gentleman eminently fitted for that position. He possesses every qualification—and in a superlative degree, to discharge the exacting duties of that important post. He is a profound scholar and stands in the front rank among educators of Michigan. In addition to these accomplishments, Mr. Mathews is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where the Bachelor of Arts degree was conferred upon him. He holds a teachers' license, diploma and was a student of the Lake Forest University for special school administration work. He is a World War Veteran.

Though many years must pass before he will have reached the meridian of life, Mr. Mathews has already won marked distinction as a school teacher. For the past 20 years he has successfully taught classes in the public schools of this State—six years at Dowagiac and fourteen years in his home city of Niles. At the present writing, he is instructor of Economics, Social Science and Law in the Niles High School. To these accomplishments Mr. Mathews has one other; this is the realm of music, he being the director of the students band and orchestra at the Niles High School.

Mr. Mathews plans to make his campaign of a broad, well-thought-out Educational platform set forth in ten most important planks.

First—The schools must place a greater emphasis on the three R's and the correlation of all other grade subjects.

Second—Text books must be few but up to date and uniform throughout the rural schools. In this manner books can be used by more than one member of a family and save expense of buying books frequently by parents. Also when parents move from one district to another in the country, books will be usable in the new location.

Third—An up-to-the-minute course of study, so that, for example, a student that moves from one district to another will be able to continue his studies without being put back a grade.

Fourth—The city schools are receiving aid from the special State Equalization fund. Rural Schools should also share in this fund. To emphasize the injustice in the distribution of this State Equalization fund, the Niles Schools, with 3129 students received in 1933-34 $24,000. Dowagiac in 1933-34 with a total of 1918 students received $40,000 from the state Equalization fund, in addition to the primary money of $10.20 per student, while the rural school districts, with a student enrollment of 13,127 received very little, if any, from that fund.

Fifth—Rural schools should receive the same treatment as city schools. This money may be had by asking for it. This one item alone will put rural districts on as good a basis as the city schools.

Sixth—Parents and teachers must work together also a better correlation between rural and city schools.

Seventh—Local taxes must not be increased. Better pay for teachers through State funds just as cities do.

Eighth—A permanent record card for each rural student.

Ninth—Up to date report cards.

Tenth—Visual education will be encouraged, which will eventually mean a less number of books per student and a decided saving to all taxpayers.

That all the people of the earth

These are His attributes, the eter-

MR. EVANS IS HONORED

Berrien county Democrats have won recognition on the state ticket of their party in the coming spring election by the nomination of Attorney Fremont Evans of this city for a place on the state supreme court bench.

Michigan is overwhelmingly Republican and it would be something of a political miracle if Democracy triumphed at the April referendum. But this does not alter the fact that Michigan Democracy has come to St. Joseph to find a candidate for a state position, nor does it detract from the fact that Mr. Evans is a good selection.

Long the city attorney of St. Joseph, one of the city's prominent attorneys enjoying a large practice, respected by the bar and public alike, Mr. Evans would be a credit to the supreme court of Michigan. Certainly, if elected, that tribunal would have no harder working member among its personnel.

Berrien Democracy is complimented in Mr.
Evans' selection; and a deserving honor is accorded to the nominee himself, for certainly there has never been a more faithful or consistent Democrat than St. Joseph's city attorney. It might also be said that in offering Mr. Evans for the supreme bench, Michigan Democracy has picked a man who in his long practice has always conducted himself in a way that brought no discredit to his profession.

Life tenure for judges has become a definite issue in Michigan. The Michigan State Bar Journal of February, 1935, had this to say:

"In December, last, a conference was called at Lansing by the Michigan Farm Bureau and attended by representatives of fifteen state organizations including those of the State Supervisors, Road Commissioners, Real Estate Boards, Manufacturers, Educators, Banks, Farmer Granges, Railroads, etc.

"It was definitely felt that life tenure for judges is not acceptable in Michigan."

Fremont Evans

Democratic Candidate for

Circuit Judge

of Berrien County

Fremont Evans' legal and judicial ability is shown by:

(1) His selection by the Democrats of Michigan as their candidate for Justice of State Supreme Court in 1931.

(2) His selection as attorney for Federal Land Bank, to give legal opinion on titles for $2,000,000 in loans to Berrien County farmers.

(3) His selection as chairman of Saginaw Gas Arbitration Board, from a list of fifty prominent men throughout the State.

(4) His selection as chairman of Legislative Committee, Michigan Municipal League, and now as League President, all without pay.

(5) His selection as legal advisor to cities of St. Joseph and Watervliet, under Republican and Democratic mayors.

His efficiency and economy in public affairs, his fairness and his freedom from political obligations and prejudices are conceded, and have been demonstrated by his fifteen years of service, without pay, as a member of the non-political Board of Education of St. Joseph.
