

CLARK TO MAKE STREET CAR PARTS

City Bans Gambling Devices at Order of County Prosecuting Atty.

AXLES, STEEL CASTINGS MADE AT LOCAL PLANT

Will Move Front Axle from
Battle Creek to Buchanan;
Production in Three Months.

The award of a contract by the Brooklyn & Queens Transit Corporation of New York City to the Clark Equipment Co. for the manufacture of trucks for 100 new-type street cars to be used in Brooklyn, N. Y., will provide some additional employment for the present force of the local plant.

The contract represents the materialization of plans which have been under way for some time by a number of street railway companies of the larger cities of the United States, with a view to the manufacture of a new type of streamlined street car, lighter and quieter in operation and with more speed and pick-up than the present type of street car. The bodies of these cars have been purchased from a car manufacturer, the electrical apparatus from an electrical manufacturer, and the trucks and axles from the Clark Equipment Co.

The Buchanan plant will receive a large share of the work from this contract, as the steel castings will be made at the local foundry and the axles will be made in local axle departments. The gears for the trucks will be made in the Jackson plant and the incidental parts and the final assembly will be taken care of at the Battle Creek plant.

In making room for the assembly of the trucks at Battle Creek, plans have been made to transfer the front axle department from that plant to the Buchanan plant. The local plant will in consequence benefit in work from the transfer of that department and the manufacture of the castings and axles for the street car trucks.

In the neighborhood of three months may be required for the manufacture and installation of tools and equipment for the truck parts, after which production will begin. It is not estimated that the initial increase in employment locally from these sources will be large, but will represent a satisfactory addition to present labor.

SLOT MACHINES ARE REMOVED BY ORDER OF CITY

County Prosecuting Attorney and Sheriff Announce County-Wide Move vs. Gambling.

All slot machines were ordered out of the Buchanan business place Friday by Chief of Police Ed Mitchell, following a conference with County Prosecuting Attorney E. A. Weston and Sheriff Charles Miller, who stated that unless such action was taken the county would force the removal.

At Weston stated that slot machines and other gambling devices would be ordered out of all public places and that he would arrest and prosecute all violators of the order. It is said that the present order for removal of slot machines was precipitated by complaints of part-time operators of Vernon Club machines, which had been closed.

The first "Veation club" opened in Benton Harbor three weeks ago on Sixth street, and was doing a first class business when the sister city authorities ordered it closed. The next morning the club was housed in a tent on Territorial road, just on the edge of the city. That put the problem up to the county authorities. Two other similar clubs appeared in other parts of the county, and the officers accordingly closed them all.

The backers of these easy money schemes complained and pointed to the hundreds of slot machines operating in the county.

If you then did not have the "shakes" in Dayton then you were out of style. Ague was common everywhere at it was especially prevalent at Dayton on account of the lake mosquitoes. The victims then connect it with marshes and dampness but they did not dream that the actual cause was the mosquitoes which bred in the marshes in millions.

He also kept wood for the wood-burning stoves on the Michigan Central. He sold out his business and left the Dayton

BLUES REMAIN IN TOP PLACE COUNTY LEAGUE

Three Oaks and New Troy Remain in Tie for Second Place with Win Apiece.

The Buchanan Blues grabbed a firmer grip on their top-notch position in the Community Baseball League Sunday, by downing the Baroda Merchants to the tune of 6 to 1 at the Liberty Heights ballpark.

Buchanan played ace high ball all the way through, taking advantage of all breaks and hitting and fielding well in the pinches.

Dan Topash did the twirling for the locals, and pitched a creditable game allowing only four scattered hits. He also put twelve batsmen down by the strike-out method and issued three free passes.

Davis worked on the hill for the visitors and hurled a fine brand of ball, but due to ragged fielding on the part of his teammates at various stages of the game accounted for Buchanan runs. Davis was nicked for seven safe bingles, allowed three walks and struck out twelve.

The Blues garnered one run in the first inning, one in the third, one in the fourth, one in the fifth, and two in the seventh. Baroda tallied their lone run in the third frame.

Louie Leiter again led the local hitting attack by collecting two clean singles. Everett Deeds got the longest swat of the afternoon by sending the apple in deep right center field for a triple with one aboard.

Houswerth was the outstanding batter for Baroda, getting two of the four hits his team got.

Next Sunday the Buchanan Blues journey to Sawyer in hopes of another league victory. The Blues defeated the Aces in a previous tilt, this season by a 3 to 0 count.

"CHEVS" TOP LOOP AS THE RAMBLERS DEFEAT WILSONS

Autos Get Crucial Test Tonight in Meeting Clarks; Wynn, Covert, Rudlaff in Batting Tie.

Chevrolet Sales, erstwhile leader of the Buchanan Softball League which rode back into first place on Tuesday night when the Riverside Ramblers administered a 10 to 5 beating to the Wilson Dairy team to knock the dairymen out of the coveted first-place spot, has a tough assignment tonight at Athletic park, when it meets the strong Clark Equipment company team, which is in third place, but a game ahead of the fourth-place Ramblers.

Yesterday's mid-week respite in the seventh week of play found George Wynn, star fielder for the Wilson team, having serious competition as batting leader in the Clark loop. Today finds Covert, the local first baseman who led the league for a few days last week, and Rudlaff, pitcher and outfielder for the Ramblers, tied for first place. These three players have had ten hits out of 18 times at bat for an average of .556. Bob Ellis, Wilson shortstop, by virtue of getting three hits out of three times up Tuesday night, advances to 4th place with an average of .526, a full 38 points ahead of August Nehring, Odd Fellow infielder, who is in fifth place with an average of .438. Smiles, Chevrolet catcher, and Painter, Rambler outfielder, are tied in sixth place with .429 and Rothfuchs of Clarks, Smith of Chevrolet and Luke of Chevrolet are tied in eighth place with an even .400 to round out the group of the first ten clubbers in the local league.

Tuesday's game in which the fourth-place Ramblers knocked the Wilson team out of first place, the Chevrolet, idle for more than two weeks due to unfavorable weather, sliding into the coveted first-place spot, was a thriller. The game was a pitchers' duel between Proud of Wilsons, who allowed six hits and struck out seven batters, and Manager Loren Shenburn of the Ramblers, who was nicked for seven bingles. However, nine errors back of Proud was responsible for his downfall. With the game deadlocked at one-all to enter the third, the Ramblers stepped into the lead with three runs in that inning, three more in the fourth and still three more in the sixth to make it a Roman holiday. A threatened rally by Wilsons in the fourth was frustrated when Wynn was caught at third after Ellis scored.

Bob Ellis was the star of the encounter. The Wilson shortstop collected three hits out of three times up, scored three of his teams five runs and drove in another and stole two bases. Brilliant fielding plays were turned in by Hartline and Babe Sexton of the Ramblers and Mitchell of Wilsons.

Monday night, Everett Deeds' Days Ave Merchants, appearing on the field with one less than the required number of ten men, lost by forfeit to the Odd Fellows but played the game out and defeated the lodgemen 2 to 1 in a game replete with thrills and which was a pitchers' battle between Holmes of the Merchants, who allowed but two hits, and Jim Ellis, Odd Fellow moundman, who also held the opposition to a brace of hits. However, the game will go into the records as an Odd Fellow win due to the forfeit decision rendered by Umpire Chain.

Last Friday the Ramblers had an easy time defeating D's Cafe, 17 to 3, in which 16 hits were collected off the pitching of Frank Fabiano, D moundman. Rudlaff, Rambler pitcher, allowed but four scattered hits. Painter, Rambler outfielder, led in his team's attack with three hits, one a triple, out of four times up.

League standings to date are: Chevrolet .800; Wilson .750; Clarks .667; Ramblers .625; D's Cafe .333; I. O. F. .333; Days Ave. Merchants .143.

Half Year Plates Go On Sale Soon

On Thursday, July 25, automobile license plates for 1935 will go on sale at half price, Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, has announced. The plates will be available from that date on, at the Department of State, and all branch offices throughout Michigan.
Cars that have been on the highways without 1935 plates have been equipped with 1935 half-year permits or "stickers." Cars placed in operation on the highways prior to July 25 must be equipped either with half-year permits or with 1935 plates purchased at full price, it is pointed out.

Owners of cars which have been equipped with half-price "stickers" have at all times had available the privilege of purchasing 1935 plates upon payment of the balance of the 1935 license plate tax. But in any event "stickers" must be replaced with 1935 plates by midnight, July 31, Atwood warns. No extension of time can be granted without express authorization of the legislature. Motorists are asked to bring their "sticker" registration certificates with them when they apply for their 1935 license plates.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

Sunday afternoon ye scrivener walked footed along the path beside the millrace from Athletic Park to Oak street. You would be surprised how strong a place that old path holds in the memories and affections of many people. And how quickly they will endorse any movement to improve it.

A start in that line was made last spring by Supt. Stark in planting shrubbery from the park to Smith street. Further indication of just what might be accomplished by private lot owners may be seen in the block between Roe street and Charles Court. One of the most attractive lots along the race is that of Clarence Dunbar. The west bank has been leveled down to the edge of the water and a close shaven lawn is maintained. There is no shrubbery or foliage along the water. On the lawn close to the race are two beautiful tamarack trees. Opposite on the east side the Methodist church has set out spirea which has attained considerable height. Further down the race the water is lined with lilies.

Another attractive race front is that along the lot of Lester Mitchell between Chicago and Roe Sts. There ferns and Iris line the water. In the course of the walk we stepped aside to see the smoke bush in the garden of Arlen Clark. Another exhibit in his garden is an old-fashioned calico rose, pink striped with red.

But speaking of roses, down at the junction of the race with Oak street, there is one of the loveliest old-fashioned gardens for miles around, in the rear of the Sanders home. There you may still see in full bloom an American Pillar rose, one of the Dr. Van Fleet hybrids, with one of the finest displays of bloom in the city. The American Pillar is a single rose, pink with white center, growing in great clusters, a dozen blooms in a bunch.

Big Rose Crop
The 1935 rose crop is now for the most part gone, but while it lasted it was one of the finest crops ever seen in the town. One of the most enthusiastic and successful rose gardeners of the city is Chas. Dumbolten, who has fifty all of Heintz 57 varieties in the little garden in the rear of his home. A number of local people were fortunate enough to receive bouquets of Carl Druski roses from the Dumbolten garden. These roses are unusually large and of a beautiful waxy whiteness.

Many people think that the blooms are artificial, the first time they see them. Dumbolten says that he has best success growing roses in the ordinary soil about his home on Ryneerson street, Liberty Heights. He has tried importing clay soil of a type said to be most suitable for roses, but in the end discarded it and went back to his garden soil.

Big Trees of Buchanan
The largest tree that we have ever measured in Buchanan is the noble old elm on Moccasin avenue in the rear of the home of Mrs. W. F. Runner. That tree is 12 feet and two inches in girth four feet above the ground and maintains approximately that circumference to the fork of the branches about 10 feet up. Its long drooping branches have a magnificent spread of nearly 120 feet, reaching entirely across Moccasin avenue to the yard of the Roti Roti home on one side and to the Spatta home on the other. Its closest rival in size in the city limits is perhaps the old oak in Fred Andrews' front yard. This oak is approximately 11 1/2 feet in girth above the swell of the roots, and maintains that uniformly to the

Another Oak over 11 feet in girth is the one standing at the corner of Third and Oak street. This is a lone survivor of a group of three after which Oak street was named. It is the only Oak now standing on Oak street.

Ante-Bellum Homes
Among the residences of Buchanan built before the Civil war are the Frank Sanders and A. F. Howe homes on Front street. The Sanders home was the first brick building erected in Buchanan, built by John D. Ross, pioneer banker and merchant. It was the center of social life in the city during his tenancy, with spacious grounds taking in the lots now occupied by the homes on either side. On the corner where the Burks brick now stands was a croquet ground in times when that was the game of the day. There teams used to come from Niles, Dowagiac, even as far as Detroit, and compete with the local mallet artists. We have an old paper of the early seventies which records the coming of a team of eight from Dowagiac, who took the measure of the local experts. The Buchanan cornet band went to the Michigan Central depot to meet the Dowagiac team and escorted them to the grounds at the corner of Oak and Front. After a game rife with thrills and excitement they adjourned for dinner to the American House, now the home of Mrs. Nettie Pitcher on Main street.

Finds Wolf Spiders
Two specimens of what is reported to be a rarity in insect life, the wolf spider, have been found on the little hill in the rear of the home of Fred Howe and Mrs. May Lister, on the South Bend road.

The wolf spider does not spin a web, but instead, digs a well for its home. This well has a curb about an inch high projecting above the surface of the ground, built of twigs and stones glued together with spider silk. All summer the mother spider spins a ball of silk containing the young in the entrance of the well, carrying it quickly down whenever an intruder appears. Her young, when they finally emerge in the fall, all become aviators.

The wolf spider and its ways is the subject of a profusely illustrated article in the July number of "Good Housekeeping" which has the following to say of the aerial flight of the young spiders:

The gray wolf spider, after wearing her children for months, tells them sternly to go. When they still cling, feeling their need of her, she plucks them from her. There! They rush to high places to tops of tall grasses, a stump, a fence. There they lie on their backs and spin long threads and then a basket that fastens their legs together. Along comes a wind, and in that silver ascension they are carried a hundred or more feet up, eighty or a hundred feet out—too far to see their mother again.

Once away from their mothers, the babies never fly again. They forget how. The wolf spiders' children become plain ground spiders. They wait several months before digging a tunnel home; take life as they find it, true wandering gypsies running for shelter under any stone.

Their mother may live to be five years old. She cleans out her well and pantry, hunts fresh food, is happy, fat. She has already forgotten their existence. Another day, at the top of her well, another ball turns slowly. She has mated again, taken upon herself another burden.

C. A. Sanders, newly appointed to the local Evangelical church, has a major hobby—big game hunting. He recently suggested to the state game department a plan which has been receiving consideration, compelling deer hunters to wear on their backs metal tags bearing numbers corresponding to those on their hunting licenses. * * * Just in case you haven't paid your summer taxes, Mrs. Sanders is at the city hall in a receptive mood. She says the trouble with summer taxes, summer paying and summer not,

FARMERS DAY BRINGS EDITOR AS SPEAKER

Wheeler McMillen, Country Home to Tell of New Uses For Farm Products.

New uses for farm products is to be the base upon which the Farmers Day program at Michigan State college, Friday, July 26, will be built and the principal speaker that day, Wheeler McMillen, editor, Country Home, has been investigating that subject for several years.
In an interview with Dr. William J. Hale, Midland, Mich., Mr. McMillen last year found out how one of the leading scientists in the industrial field believes farm products can be turned to other uses than food or clothing. Conversion of the products of farms into manufactured goods is not wholly new but the interest in increasing this use is at a high point now and scientists are working overtime to develop new uses.

Mr. McMillen was chairman of part of the sessions at the agricultural-industrial conference called at Dearborn, Mich., by Henry Ford, and did much of the preliminary work which made that meeting possible.

He said at that meeting, "We are today utilizing but a small portion of the productive power of our cultivated soil, and an even lesser proportion of the productive power of our agricultural energies. We who are food producers have felt ourselves limited by the incapacity of human stomachs. Few of our customers, however rich, seem to want more than three meals a day."

"In contrast, the American people have an apparently infinite capacity, given adequate purchasing power to consume the products of industry and agriculture other than food. Therein lies an opportunity of greater magnitude than we may comprehend without careful examination."

Michigan farmers will want to hear the message that Mr. McMillen will bring from the scientists who are working to develop processes which will turn farm products into manufactured articles. The practicability of the plan is attested by the use of such products now in the production of starch, alcohol, cellulose, and oils which have a ready sale.

The speaking program Farmers Day will follow the basket luncheon at noon. Plans are being made to have some of the high school musicians of the state furnish a band concert after lunch. Inspection of the experimental work at College, a tractor plowing contest, and other features will occupy the morning hours.

Mich. Contingent CCC to be Raised to 20,000 Youth

More than 15,000 young men from every part of the state will be enrolled in CCC camps throughout Michigan during the current summer as a result of the federal expansion movement for the Civilian Conservation Corps.
It is expected that as new enrollments are made to fill the places made possible by the expansion movement and the allocation of additional camps, the total CCC personnel working on conservation projects within the state will be swelled to more than 22,000 young men.

Enrollments began in mid-June and are expected to extend thru July and to the middle of August. George A. Young, in charge of the Michigan Emergency Conservation Work office at Lansing, announced that four new Michigan state forestry camps have recently been occupied. These camps are known as the Sagola and Sturgeon River camps in Dickinson county, the Manistigue camp in Schoolcraft county and the Newberry camp in Luce county.

It is anticipated that within the next two or three weeks, Young's, seven additional state forestry camps will be established in Michigan, bringing the total of camps operating on state or privately owned forestry lands to the full quota of 33.

The 59 existing CCC camps under all agencies were to be filled with enrollees first after which the 50 new camps were to be occupied by new enrollees as soon as the camps are ready.

Keyworth's Death Recalls History

The death, June 22, of Maurice R. Keyworth, eight days before he was to assume the post of superintendent of public instruction, recalls instances in which major state officials have died while actually in office. Only three such instances are indicated by records contained in the Michigan Manual, official publication of the state, issued every two years.
More recent was the death, Jan. 18, 1935, of John K. Stack, auditor general, who was succeeded by John J. O'Hara, appointed by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald for the balance of the two year term. Prior to that, Fred L. Keeler, superintendent of public instruction, was the last elective official to die in office. He served from 1913 to April 4, 1919. Thomas E. Johnson was appointed by former Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck to fill the vacancy. The first recorded instance of death taking one of the governor's official family, was on Jan.

19, 1889, when James H. McDo. Lieutenant governor since 1 killed in a railroad accident place was taken by Willia who was named acting lie governor.

Knight Listed

In Aviation's Million-Milers

Jack Knight, son of Mrs. Emma Knight of this city, is featured as the main figure in a recital in the August number of Popular Mechanics. The article gives a detailed story of Knight's historic flight in 1921, when he flew a double portion of the first continuous day-and-night, coast-to-coast flight with the mail, covering the North Platte-Omaha leg and then going on to Chicago, when another pilot failed to arrive with his ship.

The foreword is as follows: Count noses among the 150 expert pilots who daily fly the coast-to-coast route of the United States Air Lines and you will find 40 men who have traveled 1,000,000 miles or more each—a record that cannot be duplicated by any other similar group of flyers in the world.

Each of these men has flown a distance equivalent to two round trips to the moon with enough miles left over for two or more flights around the world. These forty pilots have piled up a total of approximately 50,000,000 miles in the air, a distance equal to 2,000 trips around the world at the equator, or over half the distance of the sun from the earth.

Their mileage becomes the more impressive when compared with the travel of an average individual on the ground. For instance, if you averaged forty miles per day from the cradle to the grave, you would have traveled only a little more than 1,000,000 miles when you reached the Biblical three score years and ten.

These forty men are the real old-timers among transport and mail flyers, yet none of them is old in years because aviation itself is a young industry. Most of them have flown the greater part of their million miles in the past ten years; only a few have been flying longer than twenty years. In civilian clothes these million-milers would pass anywhere for an average earth-bound citizens, but a careful observer would detect an alertness of eye and a quickness of manner that would give him a hint of their calling.

One of the oldest of the old-timers in point of service, mileage and hours in the air is Jack Knight, who in 1921 participated in the first continuous day and night flight from coast to coast with the mail. He flies today between Chicago and Omaha, the identical route over which he piloted the first transcontinental mail plane fourteen years ago. In hundreds of flights over the route, Knight has never found the same thrill or faced the same dangers of that first trip with the mail.

M. L. Ihrie Truck Drivers Furnish New Kind Service

That a new department of service is being provided for customers by the Ihrie Grocery is indicated by the work of two of the store truck drivers, Stanley Wolkins and Richard Dellinger, in extinguishing a fire at the George Walker home north of Niles Saturday.

The two drivers were passing when they saw smoke emerging from the building. They ran to the house, finding it locked and everyone gone. They forced an entrance, finding the house so filled with smoke that they were obliged to crawl on hands and knees to the living room, where they found the furniture on fire. They were able to extinguish the fire and save the home. Previously they had aided in extinguishing a car fire and a residence fire.

INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC CO.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

A kilowatt-hour is an electrical unit and is greater than the power of a horse working for an hour. When we speak of "working like a horse" we voice a gross exaggeration for a horse can do ten times the work of a man.

A kilowatt-hour costs the average customer on our lines less than 5 1/4 cents. So that you can easily figure out for yourself that any one who does laborious work that can be done by a little electric motor, is working for considerably less than a penny an hour.

Women who sweep with brooms, toil over washtubs, pump a sewing machine and do many other manual tasks, are selling their labor for this small sum. These "Cinderellas" should shift their burden to the strong muscles of ELECTRICAL horsepower. Best of all, the more you work electrically the less it costs per unit. Fully electrify your home and the cost of a kilowatt-hour, under our low rates, goes down to about 2.5 cents.

W. S. Evershank

Vice President and General Manager

HORSEPOWER A'PLENTY... CINDERELLAS SHOULD RIDE

A little electric motor will sweep the house, wash clothes and do other laborious work. A woman who slaves at these tasks is working for less than 1c an hour.
