Geographical Diver Johnny Jerue, who is known internationally as a cartoonist, is reported to be turning the scientific way to warring camps just as it reaches their throats through the paper. This is just more or less than that further north you go the water is Mr. Jerue says, water is not at rest, and is still in motion. He effect that toward here are cooler areas where the refrigerator may be set the year around. So Mr. Jerue's Johnny would up the Ford started for the North Pole via Ontario. While we are on our way marked Mrs. Johnny, "We might as well go by calendar and pay our respects to Doogie and the Dionne quintuplets."

"We will do nothing," replied Johnny. So after some discussion, they compromised and decided to go by way of calendar. So they started out but further north they got the hot became. Finally when they to Toronto they could stand longer. "Let's go home Johnny." "No, let's go Niagara Falls," said Mrs. Johnny. Here we been married all these and you've never taken me yet." So after some discussion they compromised and decided to go by way of calendar. So they started out but further north they got the hot became. Finally when they to Toronto they could stand longer. "Let's go home Johnny." "No, let's go Niagara Falls," said Mrs. Johnny. Here we been married all these and you've never taken me yet."

He was again full of sports. He called them a menace. Until he saw a shorts. And then he took tennis.

St. Joe Valley

You may fly over distant mountains
You may dwell in warmer climes,
But its grand in St. Joe valley
In Spring its blossom time
To view its beautiful picture
Of Nature on parade,
Its orchards decked like fairies
In delicate tints and shades.
Its nice to be in the valley
On some early summer morn
Before the sun peeps through the mist
That its river banks adorn
And try your luck at fishing
You will like to pull them in
And fry them crisp for breakfast
Just as the day begins.
You should be in St. Joe valley
When the Autumn time comes round
And taste its fruit so luscious
Its flavor is seldom found.
We are blest in St. Joe valley
By nature's lavish hand
Its scenic beauty and fruitful harvest
Our own valley land.
—Waivae Wassinee Annis.

Anchors Aweigh

—in Michigan

The vacation you are planning is almost sure to include, as one of its attractive features, the flash of sunlight on water—a swimming pool, a stream that invites your rod and line, a lake for sailing or motor-boating.

For pleasures of this kind, no part of the globe is more bountifully equipped than your native State of Michigan. Here are some of the finest fishing streams in America; here are lakes of unsurpassed variety—five thousand lakes of every shape and size.

You can set up your camp on a pine-shaded bank and swim in a lake no larger than a private pool. Or you can weigh anchor in one like an inland sea, letting your sail or outboard motor carry you away from the workaday world—out into a vast expanse of flashing silver and running white-caps.

In addition to water-sports, Michigan provides almost everything the pleasure-bent vacationist craves: Hundreds of miles of highways that increase the joys of touring by automobile; varied scenery; invigorating and an endless choice of golf courses.

Spend your own vacation in Michigan. Urge its excellent advantages upon your vacationing friends in neighboring states. By doing so you will increase the pleasure of their holiday. In addition, you will help to promote the popularity and prosperity of your native State.

It is for the purpose of sharing this promotion that this series of advertisements is being published by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, a Michigan organization that prospers only as the people of Michigan prosper.

Berrien County Record

Published by THE RECORD PRINTING COMPANY
 Editor W. C. Hawes
 Business Manager A. B. McClure
 Entered as second class matter November 20, 1919
 Buchanan, Michigan, under the act of March 3, 1879

Round About Buchanan

If Buchanan should wake up some hot day to find itself sweltering on a hot hillside, with all of its trees gone, it would awake to a realization that a considerable part of its appraised value of about $9,000,000 is in the forest in which it nestles.

R. E. Doak, who is remodeling the former Ray Babcock property into a beautiful country estate, says that the most valuable asset on the property are its trees. One of these trees is a huge soft maple which holds the record to date for any tree which we have measured, with a girth midway between the bulge of the roots and the division the branches of 12 feet 4 inches. This is two inches in excess of the elm tree on the Runner lot. While the tree lacks the bulk of the elm and of several of the great oaks about the city, since the undivided trunk is only about 6 feet long, it is nevertheless a grand tree. A few rods away there is another soft maple with a girth of 11 feet.

Oscar Morris of the local Michigan Bell force tells of a curiosity in the tree line which he witnessed several years ago on the Chamberlain hills. Wood cutters had chopped a tree down on the hills. The rings in the stump chronicled 130 years of life. Inside the tree about 25 rings the cross-cut severed a lead bullet, which had evidently been embedded there by some hunter a quarter of a century before.

The Weekly Parade

The nine o'clock residents who were able to wake up the 12 o'clock residents who were en route home and the 3 o'clock people who were able to break off whatever they were doing long enough to look, got a wonderful view of the total eclipse in Buchanan Monday evening. Not a cloud obscured the sight.

On a tip from a local stamp enthusiast we learn that the U. S. postoffice has quit making stamped wrappers for newspapers, and after the present stocks are sold out they will exist only in the collections of philatelist - oh you tell 'em, we stutter! Now they are ransacking the post offices and newspaper offices for them.

The Hotel Rex installed a new neon sign last week. When questioned about it, Mr. Quinn stated that it was a sign they sold rooms and meals there. They are also installing new tables and a new backbar in the cafe, replacing those leased from Gardner McCracken, who is starting a new restaurant in St. Joe across the street from his other restaurant.

Harry Stevens says the hottest spot in Buchanan (next to the one where we sit) is the flatiron shaped sidewalk in front of the Gaffill oil station. It is simply nothing at all to have mercury readings from 110 to 120 there.

A few days ago we saw a sight which, if photographed, might be captioned "The Beginning of a Perfect Vacation." There was a big red truck loaded with beer going west up Front street. Right behind it was a car towing a trailer in which was a boat. In the boat, holding to the sides with both hands sat E. N. Schram. All that was needed to make the picture perfect was to get the car out of the road and hitch the trailer to the beer truck.

A short time ago ye scrivener was called to the telephone and the tones of a lovely contralto (oh happy day!) voice came drifting out of the receiver. The tone was lovely but the words were clipped and decisive. "If that magazine sends in any more stories about cooking recipes of mine which have won awards, don't print them," said the voice. So that was that. We won't print them. The speaker is one of the most estimable of the young single ladies of the city and we understand that, following the notice of her second award, she received several proposals of marriage from starving bachelors. And she is perfectly satisfied with her lot in life. Well, we can't blame her. Or the bachelors either.

Apples, Pears Bearing 2 Crops In Local Orchards

Horatio Ropp reports apple blossoms on a Talman Sweet tree here which contains green apples the size of an egg. This phenomenon is duplicated by pear trees at the home of Warren Willard, 502 S. Portage, which bore both blossoms and half matured fruit last week. These pear trees regularly bear two crops.

Mystery Car Owned Here Gets Much Attention

If you are interested in the shape of things to come, it is quite likely that you might see a slice of the future parked at the curb in Buchanan most any day, in the form of a car specially designed by Willard L. Morrison, manager of the Clark Equipment plant for the manufacture of air conditioning equipment on Days avenue.

Queer-looking, perhaps because it is like no other car in the world, this automobile has aroused much interest. One of the first features that strikes the layman's eye is the general shape of the car, broad in front and tapering to the rear.

"That's natural streamlining," says Mr. Morrison, "you never saw a fish narrow in front and broad in the rear. The best instance of natural streamlining is a trout. A trout goes through the water without leaving a ripple behind. That is because its narrow tapered rear does not leave a vacuum behind. It is the vacuum in the wake that retards a car and not the air resistance in front."

In deference to that fact, Morrison's car has a capacity of three passengers in the front seat and two passengers in the rear. Besides permitting a narrow rear, this also places the most of the passengers where the riding is easiest, in the front seat.

Another thing which impresses the casual observer at once is the fact that the windshield is set higher and further back than in the average car, so that it is brought very near the face of the driver. The steering wheel is under the cowl and in front of the windshield. It is hard to appreciate the immense advantage this gives in width of visibility until you sit in the driver's place. It is also a safety measure, as in the event of a turnover, the chances of being crushed under the wheel are minimized and the steering gear is also protected from accident.

Another aid to the driver is the mirror set overhead with a reflector that gives a wide view of the rear, without the chance of obstruction from a crowded back seat. In the side of the car, to the left of the driver, is a slot in the side of the car which permits him to turn the steering wheel without interference from that arm. The front seat is also capable of being advanced and raised, or set back and lower to suit the size and leg measure of the driver.

One of the features of the car that will instantly appeal to many men is the fact that it eliminates all possibility of back-seat driving. The rear seat is set so low that it is not possible for its occupants to see anything through the high windshield in front, except to make weather observations. But the side windows in the rear afford a wonderful view of the landscape and the sky, being cut much closer and angled over the heads of the occupants.

A safety measure whose efficiency is immediately evident is the position of the spare tire. The spare lies in a sort of drawer between the rear bumper and a saddle attached to the frame of the car. In consequence the spare tire takes practically all of the shock when the car is struck in the rear. It is impossible to damage the frame of the car by a rear collision. As the wheel is able to absorb more shock than any other part of the car, practically the only effect of a rear collision would be to shunt the car ahead. The spare is provided with a crank which cranks the drawer into the open when it is needed.

The gasoline tank is encased within the body of the car, and may be opened only from the interior, which eliminates the possibility of stealing gas if the car is locked. It also protects the tank from a rear collision, which is the cause of fire in many accidents.

There are a number of other features in the car which are duplicated in no other motor vehicle in the world. The body in front is wider below the side windows, permitting the driver to bend his left knee outward if he so desires. The height of the windshield, and its nearness to the driver permits a corresponding contraction of the body of the car in front, reducing the weight of the car. The side windows in the rear are hinged so that they may be opened outward from the top, as well as slid backward and forward. By this means it is possible to regulate the wind and ventilation in the interior much better than in the average car. When the windows are opened outward from the top, they have a tendency to float up from the bottom as the speed increases, with a wing-like effect.

The car is equipped with a Ford V-8 motor but both the body

"No More Ladies" New Screen Hit

Robert Montgomery and Joan Crawford in "No More Ladies"

An array of stars, plus a sophisticated story triumphantly tested, first on Broadway, plus the important factors covered by "production value" equals "No More Ladies," Irving Thalberg's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, opening Sunday at the Hollywood theatre.

Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery are co-starred, heading a cast which includes Charlie Ruggles, Franchot Tone and Edna May Oliver.

The new Crawford-Montgomery vehicle is based on the stage hit by A. E. Thomas, which completed a long run on Broadway and was hailed by critics and public alike as the most sparkling romantic comedy of recent seasons. The screen story stays close to the original, retaining all the comedy situations and bright dialogue that characterized the play.

In keeping with the aristocratic character she plays in the new picture, Miss Crawford wears Adrian-designed gowns of chic simplicity and tailored smartness. There are twelve of these glamorous ensembles in all.

The picture opens with a whirlwind romance between Marcia, Joan Crawford, and Sherry, Robert Montgomery, and maintains a rapid-moving tempo until the final fade-out. Marcia is a light-hearted but level-headed society girl whose love for Sherry, an incorrigible heart-breaker, is such that she submits to wedding bells well within the first reel.

It is then that the picture settles down to revealing the problems that accumulate behind the glamorous exterior of the too-popular young Park Avenue couple.

Meantime, into the story have walked such true-life characters as Fanny, Marcia's salty-maiden aunt (Edna May Oliver); Jim, who wants to save her from her husband (Franchot Tone); Edgar, a thorn in the side of organized society (Charlie Ruggles); and Therese, the night club singer (Gail Patrick).

The final scene comes when Marcia, in revolt against Sherry, who has neglected her, invites all Sherry's former women friends with their ill-assorted husbands, to their country home. The ensuing party, with its surprising consequences, carries the story to a triumphant finale.

Friday and Saturday patrons are offered a fine double feature program with "Ladies Love Danger" and "Dinky," starring Jackie Cooper; also the 7th chapter of "Rustlers of Red Dog" and a Popeye comedy.

 Monday—D's Cafe vs. Chevrolets.
 Tuesday—Ramblers vs I. O. O. F.
 "Goldie" Smith's Wilson Dairy club strengthened its lead in the Buchanan softball league Tuesday night at Athletic Park by defeating the fifth-place Odd Fellow club, 6 to 2, in one of the best played games seen here this season.

The victory gave Wilson a standing Clark Equipment Co., defending 778, two games ahead of champions, who are in second place with a percentage of .714. Riverside Ramblers and Chevrolets are tied in third place with an average of .667. The Odd Fellows are still in fifth place with .375. D's Cafe are sixth with .286 and Days Avenue Merchants, which has won but one game in eight starts, has a percentage of .125.

A postponed game between the Chevrolets and Odd Fellows is being played tonight.

Ray Babcock's Clark Equipment Co. team knocked the Chevrolets out of first place in the game last Thursday night at Athletic Park, shutting out the automen, 5 to 0, due to the fine pitching of Jesse, Clark moundsman, who allowed but four scattered hits and struck out thirteen men in the seven-inning game.

The defeat sent Chevrolets into third place and sent Wilson Dairy into first place.

On Friday night, the Odd Fellows cracked out nineteen hits off the combined pitching of Hattenbach and Fabiano to smother D's Cafe under a 20 to 6 scoring avalanche, while Jim Ellis, Odd Fellow southpaw, held the cafemen to six hits, five or which were bunched in the first and fourth innings to bring in all of D's runs.

In losing by forfeit to the Ramblers for failure to have nine men on the field at the starting time for Monday's game, the Days Avenue Merchants lost its 7th game of the season and third game by virtue of forfeit.

Tuesday's game was a "honey." Wilson Dairy scored four of their six runs in the first inning to down the Odd Fellows, 6 and 2. ## BUCHANAN BLUES DROP TO 2D IN COUNTY LEAGUE

Three Oaks Now Leads as Blues Lose to Sawyer 5-4 in Hard-Fought Contest.

The Buchanan Blues lost possession of first place in the Community Baseball League last Sunday when they bowed to defeat at the hands of the Sawyer Aces by a score of 5 to 4 on the latter's diamond.

It was a nip and tuck ball-game all the way with both teams out for blood and fighting for their ball game. Both teams put forth plenty of arguments, which kept the umpires on edge the full nine innings.

Glenn Jesse did the tossing for the Blues and allowed only six hits, but two of these were home runs. He set down five by the strike-out route and walked two. Hansen did the hurling for the winners and allowed ten hits, but he kept them scattered enough to eke out a win. He struck out eight and walked four.

Bob Ellis was the leading batter for the locals, getting two singles and a walk out of four trips to the plate. He also did some excellent fielding in the outer left garden. Schmidt, of the Blues, also collected two safe bingles.

AL WILLIAMS WILL FEATURE AVIATION SHOW

Navy's Greatest Speed Pilot at Midwest Aviation Exposition at South Bend, Aug. 3-4

Al Williams, another illustrious name in aviation's hall of fame, has been added to the list of celebrated pilots who will participate in the Midwest Aviation Exposition at Bend's Municipal airport at South Bend, Aug. 3 and 4.

With him the one-time Schneider cup race winner, who ranks as the greatest speed pilot the United States Navy ever produced and today the nation's outstanding stunt flier, will bring his Curtiss-Hawk biplane in which he will perform every maneuver that has been devised for a single ship.

Announcement of Williams' engagement was made at the exposition's executive office in the Hotel Hoffman by Capt. Charles R. Bowers, manager of the Bend airport and managing director of the exposition. It followed a personal conference between the noted flyer and Walter E. Redmer, member of the City Aviation Commission which is sponsoring the exposition to raise funds for further improvement of the airport.

Actual construction of the physical plant necessary at the Bend airport for presentation of the city's greatest aeronautical enterprise expected to draw 50,000 during the two days is getting under way rapidly. Grass on the 400-acre port and the adjoining capacious parkway fields is being mowed. Rough spots on the port occasioned by natural wear and recent unseasonal rains are being smoothed. Erection of bleachers to accommodate 10,000 persons is to get under way soon. Safety fence has been hauled to the port and is ready to be put up any time. To further reduce dust to a minimum an additional 10,000 gallons of oil will be spread upon the port in front of the spectators' stands.

BUCHANAN PEOPLE REMEMBER GREAT FLIGHTS OF PASSENGER PIGEONS THAT DARKENED SUN IN SEVENTIES, EIGHTIES

Mounted Specimen of Bird Which Became Extinct in Late Eighties Now in Niles Museum.

George Black is one of a considerable number of Buchanan people who remember the annual migrations of the now extinct passenger pigeons which once darkened the sun and filled the air with hundreds of wings.

Although as a rule these flights were made to nesting grounds further north, it is stated in Niles newspapers of the fifties that the pigeons nested along the lake in Berrien county and made regular flights inland daily for feed, damaging corn and other grain crops.

A mounted specimen of the passenger pigeon may be seen in the Fort St. Joseph Historical Museum of Niles. The male pigeon averaged about 16 inches in length and 24 inches in wing spread, the female averaging about an inch less each way. The back was a slate blue, with sides and breast of inter-changeable gold green and purple, and beautiful orange eyes. They were reputed to have a maximum speed on the wing of 80 miles an hour, with an average of about a mile a minute when migrating, going hundreds of miles without lighting. The nesting grounds were usually on low grounds near a lake or river, always in a hardwood forest, where beechnuts were a favorite food.

The nests were made of a few twigs carelessly built from 10 to 40 feet from the ground, often from 30 to 80 nests in a tree. There was usually one egg to the nest, two at most. The squabs grew rapidly after hatching and at the age of three weeks, would weigh almost as much as the mother. The mother would then push it out of the nest and leave it to its fate. The squabs were captured most easily when they first fell to the ground, before they had developed ability to fly. They were priced at 12c a dozen at the nests and from 50 to 60 cents a dozen at the markets.

George Black says that when they were on their flight along the lake, they would often be forced by the strong wind off the lakes to fly low, and men and boys would slaughter them with sticks and poles as they just cleared the top of the dunes.

The birds disappeared with miraculous suddenness in the early eighties. The last nesting in Michigan was made near Petosky in 1881. The nests were built and the young hatched in late April of that year. Then a great storm blew off the lake, slaughtering the birds in Michigan. After the storm the dead birds were strewn in thousands along the beach and for weeks the woods were strong with the stench of their bodies. Smaller nestings were reported elsewhere later, but by 1890 they were extinct.

The following story describing the great pigeon roosts in Benzie county, last occupied in 1880, was printed in the New York Times of June 25, 1874:

The number of birds this spring has exceeded anything recorded in the traditions of hunters and the oldest inhabitants. The miraculous flight of quails that fell by the camp of the Israelites, a day's journey on this and a day's journey on the other side and two cubits high upon the face of the earth was nothing to the Betsy River nesting. Imagine if you can a tract of land about sixteen miles long and three wide, where every bough is occupied by a dozen nests and a hundred birds; where the air whirrs from dawn till dark with ceaseless wings, where the flights that settle soccer square acres with a living carpet; where from 250 to 400 men have for six weeks or more been engaged in trapping and killing without cessation, and yet do not make the numbers appreciably less; imagine 50 square miles of pigeons, and that is the scene. Almost daily armies of reinforcements fly northward from faraway Kentucky and Missouri, the beat of whose wings and whose countless numbers obscure the sky, and emit a hollow roar, as if a tornado or a thunder storm were approaching.

There are three regular flights a day—Tom flights and one hen flight. At early dawn the male sets out, flying to the east and north to seek a breakfast of seeds and berries, 10, 20 or 50 miles away and by six or half past the sky is black with the departing birds. They tower up in great armies to a considerable height, each sheet of birds—sheet is the word that best describes them—waving a moment like the needle of the compass when disturbed, then taking flight in the appointed direction, with a unanimity and evenness of speed that would make one believe that every bird was animated by the same impulse at the same instant. An hour later not a bird is to be seen but toward eight o'clock the rush of the returning army is heard. Squadron after squadron arrives, cleaving the air with unweary wings and unfailing sense, fluttering, wheeling and descending, each division over its own district, each bird over the nest of its faithful mate.

As "tom" after "tom" returns to take his "trick" at the domestic helm, "hen" after "hen" rises upwards and the armies of the Amazons go to the east and north. Towards nine o'clock the scene is indescribable. It is a very atmosphere of wings; earth and forest have been converted into feathers, and the eye gazes down vistas of pigeons to far horizons of squab pines and salmis de tourtes sauvages.

By and by the last female departs and the meek males remain incubating with a faithfulness and amenability to domestic discipline that would delight the sternest unfeathered sister. In the middle of the afternoon the hens return and the toms depart to make an evening of it, returning before or about sunset. The late birds, who stay out till after dusk, having apparently the latch key to their several nests, seem bothered and fly very low, sweeping along the ground until they get their bearings.

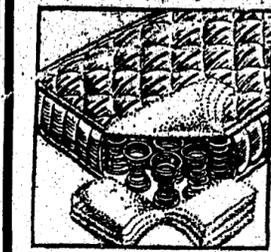

Then begins such a slaughter as marked the coup d'etat. Pole and club are the weapons, and at every sweep a dozen birds, brained, crippled or maimed, tumble to the earth. Scarcely less simple and efficient is the practice of raking them down at night with poles from the lower branches where they roost. The foxes and later the hogs fatten on the ungathered becombs that are left dead or to die in the grass. The New York State Sportsmen's Association has taken over 40,000 or 45,000 live birds from Frankfort, ap Fisher & Sons took as many more, alive or dead, and as for small dealers, it is impossible to say how many hundreds of barrels and coops they send away weekly.

W. B. A. to Hold International Meet In Cleveland, O.

The thirteenth quadrennial convention of the Supreme Review of the Woman's Benefit Association will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, on July 15 to July 23. This is one of the largest fraternal insurance women's organizations in the world, with a membership of over 215,000 and $33,000,000.00 in assets.

The association was organized in Cleveland forty-three years ago with a charter membership of twenty-three, by Blina West Miller, under and supreme president. The question was asked Mrs. Miller what the Woman's Benefit Association had done to attain these objectives under her supervision.

And she replied, "Our organization enrolled women throughout the country... mothers and wives of the home, business professional women, women of nationalities and women in all parts of life, interested in the ideals of the American people and attaining their daily needs of work, play and human service to the friendly approval and rewards which come from having a goal and striving for it.

There are forty-eight state divisions, add all of the provinces of Canada which are members of this international organization. Ohio is first in membership and first in the greatest increase in membership during the last year. New York is second in membership with over 21,000 and then Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, California and Michigan follow closely.

"Every state division of the Woman's Benefit Association has a state director, under the supervision of the international organization, and they are engaged in working out W. B. A. plans suitable to their respective states. There is little dissimilarity in their plans, and always a uniformity in their objectives which promote the interest and activities of the entire group.

Portage Prairie Nine Loses to S. B. League Leaders

Lester Sebasty, who was a main factor in keeping the Portage Prairie fence busters in the winning column for several years until he tried to run himself through a power feed grinder last spring, indicated that his accident will not act as a handicap once he is fully repaired by going on the mound for the Co-ops Sunday and stopping a murderous onslaught by the Simon Bros. nine of South Bend, checking the slaughter although too late to save the game.

Rolf, the Co-ops promising young twirler from Central high school, South Bend, was off form and blew up in the fourth, walking four men and allowing five to cross home plate. Sebasty came to his relief and set the blood-thirsty South Benders down on their haunches for several innings. The Simons Bros. teams have been battling for top place in a South Bend league.

Blues and Bisons Here as Arrows Play at Berrien

Following a disastrous visit to the Lake Michigan shore last Sunday in which they were nosed out by the Sawyer Aces, Augie Topash's erstwhile league-leading Buchanan Blues will try to return to their winning stride Sunday afternoon when they meet New Buffalo at Liberty Heights park.

Danny Topash, youthful Indian pitching star, will be on the mound for the Blues and his brother, Manager Augie, will be behind the bat. Drake will pitch for the visitors.

Johnnie Hittle's Buchanan Arrows, which has lost six out of eight starts, has a tough assignment Sunday afternoon when the team journeys to Berrien Springs for a meeting with the hard-hitting Berrien Springs Reds, which defeated the Buchanan Blues, 10 to 1, in an exhibition game here early in the season. Sunday's game will be played at the Grove diamond in the northern village.

50 Pct. Increase Motor Killings In Mich. in 1935

Michigan traffic fatalities this year will increase 50 per cent over 1935 unless there is an immediate curtailment of accidents, officers of the Michigan Safety and Traffic Directors' Association asserted recently.

In an effort to bring about this reduction a meeting of the association was called at Grand Rapids. "Killings in our streets and highways are at a rate that means at least a 50 per cent increase in deaths during 1935," Captain Raymond Sprague, president, said.

"There is no need for these fatalities. Most of them are caused by the carelessness of motor car drivers. Pedestrians are to blame for some.

"Inattention on the part of drivers, driving too fast for existing conditions and getting on the wrong side of the road are the three chief causes of traffic deaths. Survey of traffic fatalities during safety week bear this out.

"If motorists will display just a little more caution and if pedestrians will do the same we can lick this problem. The police alone can not do it. As Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald said in opening the safety campaign, an army of police, jail for all offenders and other drastic means might help, but it won't halt these deaths. Education of the driver, he said, is the most needed thing. We feel that every motorist is sufficiently intelligent to educate himself to traffic safety, once he realizes the danger of the road."
