1936 Grid 11 to Be Plenty Tough

Say Members of the Squad, Electing Joe Bachman Capt. and Voting Confidence in Coach Miller

Any doubt that the Buchanan high school grid squad may be discouraged over the showing of the past fall was dispelled in the minds of the guests at the annual grid banquet held at the high school cafeteria Thursday evening...

Talks were made by the captain-elect, Bachman, the manager, Chuck Wesner, and members of the team all voicing the assurance that the team had done as well as could be expected under the handicap of inexperience this year...

HOWE FAMILY, PORTAGE PRAIRIE PIONEERS, ARRIVED FROM N. Y. IN 1835

With Them Came 90-Year-Old Johanna Howe, Born in 1745.

Thanksgiving Day 100 years ago in 1835, was most likely a day of more than usual gratitude in the home of Frederick Howe, pioneer of the Portage Prairie and Buchanan Howes, for only a few days before his immigrant train, consisting of two covered wagons, a little herd of cattle and two boys riding on horseback, had drawn up in front of the little log cabin on the western edge of Portage Prairie...

They had scarcely more than settled the family in the one-room cabin made of split logs chinked with plaster and floored with puncheon. Household furnishings were few, and it may be that only the short-legged chair on which Mother Johanna Howe, age 90, had sat in on the outward journey from New York State was the only chair in the house.

There was no need for the bill of fare to lack a Thanksgiving flavor for the woods that edged the burr oak clearing were teeming with wild turkey. And it may be that they took down the brown-backed bible, old even then, which Mother Johanna had read on the outward journey, and read from the annals of that old journey: "The Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks, of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills. "A land of wheat and barley and of vines and fig-trees and pomegranates; a land of oil, olives and honey; "A land where thou shalt eat bread without scarceness; thou shalt not lack anything in it. . . . "Where thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord, thy God, for the good land which he hath given thee."

For the past several months they had been part of an endless procession, winding steadily westward over the Genessee and Chicago trails to Ohio, Michigan and points south and west. They had started from their home in Cortland county in mid-western New York state, in the late summer. Howe had bought some heavier farm equipment and furnishings and a box of window sash and had shipped them by water via the Erie canal and the Great Lakes to St. Joseph, whence they had been sent on to Niles by steamboat by the Griffith Forwarding Co.

But his mother, his wife, his family of eleven children, and his livestock he gathered together and launched into the westward tide that streamed over the Genessee trail through western New York, about the lower edge of Lake Erie through Cleveland, Sandusky, Perrysburg to the western end of the lake, thence diagonally northwest to the Chicago trail at Clinton and along that historic road through southern Michigan, crossing by ford the streams which were shrunken by late summer to avoid the head charges for live stock where possible.

OLD WAGON WORKS BUILDING IS SOLD TO D. DI GIACOMO BY BISHOP ESTATE

Was Center of Industrial Life of Buchanan in Seventies.

Memories of Buchanan's long distant industrial past were stirred by news of the sale by the Bishop Estate of the old Wagon Works building to Dominic DiGiacomo, the E. C. Wonderlich company acting as agent.

The structure was erected during the summer of 1872 following a fire which had destroyed an earlier building on the same location. A new company was organized, known as the Buchanan Wagon Manufacturing Co., composed mostly of local stockholders. The company had a capital of $31,500 and officers as follows: president, N. E. Collins; vice president, J. M. Roe; treasurer, J. D. Ross; secretary, D. E. Hinman; directors, S. L. Beardsley, E. E. Binns, D. E. Beardsley.

Control of the company was eventually secured by Rough Bros. and Andrew C. Day and for a number of years the company did a good business in wagon-making. At the peak of production, according to an early prospectus, 100 men were employed in the building. The assembly work of the wagons was done on the first floor; the machine work on the second floor and the painting and trimming on the third floor. An elevator raised and lowered the product, which was then known as "The Buchanan Wagon."

Previous to the fire of 1872 the establishment had been known as the Beardsley Wagon Shop, Elijah H. Beardsley and David E. Beardsley purchased the establishment from William Miller & Bro., in 1865. The following letter written by Elijah Beardsley, who was located on a farm near Elkhart, to the son in Dayton, O., tells how the purchase was made and also the writer's impressions of Buchanan then:

Elkhart, Ind. Jan. 19, 1865

Dear Son, inform you of my travels. I started last Tuesday afternoon and went as far as Lem's and Wednesday morning started in a two-horse cutter to Buchanan, arriving there in 3 hours and 17 minutes. I found there a village of from 1200 to 1500 inhabitants, five churches, large school house, a large grist mill (13 ft. tall), two steam saw mills, two steam stone cutters, two steam turning establishments, several stores, taverns, saloons (they are to be banished), two cabinet shops, two wagon shops, 3 hands in each. One of the shops is for sale. It is situated one square from the center of business. The shop is 20 foot wide, 33 foot long, two stories high with platform on one end and one side with runway attached, and a part of a blacksmith shop on the lot which is four rods front and six rods back.

The shop is a strong building but has never been painted and looks hard. It has been plastered inside and of course, is knocked off in places. To make it look right it wants some repairing. He wants $800 for it, $400 down, the balance in two years. He has, he thinks about $150 worth of timber. Possession can be had March 1. Those are his terms to the first one that comes. He would not wait until I could get an answer from you without some bounty and I thought I would not risk it.

Prices for fitting wheels are $16 per set, $3 for axle, putting on thimbles or tongues, $2 and other work in proportion. He has 1,000 good seasoned spokes of hickory at $120 per thousand. A shop for turning spokes, hubs, bowing fellows, etc., has the framework up now. My opinion is, there is nothing lost in the transaction. There is any quantity of timber in the country and 19 saw mills in convenient range and a rich country all around. The railroad is one-half mile away and the St. Joe river the other side. Houses rent from $5 to $10 per month and hard to get but can be got. I can get a house and lot 4x10 rods, 2 square rooms, 2 bed rooms, a kitchen, pantry, cellar, cistern and well, in pretty good condition for $800.00. $500 down, balance on time.

I don't know what more to say, if you think it will pay to come to see it, come on. If the thing strikes you favorably enough to risk it, write immediately and I will secure it, if not sold.

Yours affectionately, E. H. Beardsley.

A second letter says the deal was closed on Jan. 30, 1885, by the payment of $50. He purchased the residence referred to in the first letter and lived in it until he died 20 years later, Sept. 1885. It is now the Cassier property and is the first house north of Dewey Avenue school.

He advised his son to ship his goods from Dayton, O., to Buchanan by way of Indianapolis and Michigan City. David Beardsley bought property on the same street as his father, and lived there until his death in 1879. This home is now owned by his daughter, Mrs. W. R. Tuttle.

E. H. Beardsley dissolved partnership by mutual agreement in September 1866 and S. L. Beardsley became a part of the firm. Their letter heads read: D. E. Beardsley & Co. Manufacturers of Wagons, Buggies, Sleighs, Cutters, Etc. All Kinds of Repairing Done

Two Hurt When Engine Hits Car

Grimes, Niles Champion Dist. Runner and Helen Plym in Wrecked Car.

Helen Plym, 18, and George Grimes, 18, escaped with only facial cuts and bruises when the light Plymouth coupe in which they were en route to Buchanan was struck by a Michigan Central switch engine at the crossing opposite the Clark Equipment about 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

The two Niles young people were bound to Buchanan with Miss Plym at the wheel. At the switch crossing on East front street, a Michigan Central engine switching cars to the Clark plant emerged just as the car reached the crossing, the rear of the engine catching the coupe on the driver's side showing it across the highway and turning it over. Miss Plym incurred slight bruises on her forehead and Grimes received a severe cut on his forehead, but neither were injured seriously. The girl is the daughter of F. J. Plym, head of the Kawneer Co. Niles. Young Grimes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Grimes, 29 River St. Niles, and is the captain of the Niles high school cross country team, state champions and record holders.

Lion Head Urges Patronizing Blind

Efforts to train the blind for useful service at the Saginaw Institute for the Blind and through other agencies are largely balked by inability to find a market outlet for their products, according to Bob Ludwig of St. Joseph, district governor of Michigan Lions who spoke at the meeting of the Lions club at D's cafe Wednesday evening.

Ludwig suggested that Lions clubs and others make a special effort to provide an outlet for a very limited product that the blind make. He cited the instance of brooms. The blind are trained to make brooms, and the state will furnish them the materials after they return to their homes from the Saginaw training school. He suggested that the Lions find a place where brooms made by the blind are sold and patronize them as far as possible even if they are slightly more expensive. Ludwig gave an excellent talk on the aims and achievements of Lionism.

Named Grid Captain

Joe Bachman, stellar end of the forward wall of the 1935 B. H. S. grid team, was elected captain of the 1936 team at a meeting held at the high school Thursday evening. Joe says they will be "tough" next year.

HATFIELD TALKS ON DELINQUENCY

Says P. T. A. Should Work to Maintain Decent Communities or Disband.

"I have never had a young person brought before me on any charge where the responsibility was not fairly at the door of either the parents or the community," stated Judge Malcolm Hatfield in a talk before the Buchanan Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening on "Juvenile Delinquency."

Judge Hatfield cited the case of a boy brought before him charged with stealing a small sum of money from a store.

"The fellow that runs that store had a slot machine in his place," said the boy, "and I was playing that slot machine when I lost my own money. Isn't it against the law to run a slot machine? If you are going to arrest me for stealing why is he getting away?"

It is the duty of the Parent-Teacher association to maintain proper conditions for young people within the community or to disband as delinquent in their duty, Hatfield stated.

In the course of his talk Hatfield recommended adequate insurance as one of the safeguards of the home. It will enable the mother to care for children if the husband is taken away, he stated, and statistics show most women never marry the second time when left adequately provided. It is the need of help in caring for families that drives most of them to second marriages, which may or may not be fortunate for the step children.

State reformatories are doing a fair job with the means at their disposal, Hatfield stated, but a check of one reformatory in New York state showed that 70 per cent of the graduates of the school landed in a state or federal penitentiary within five years.

The taxpayers of Michigan are now supporting 25,000 inmates within prison walls, Hatfield stated.

Tells of Scenic Falls in U. P.

John Kobe returned last week from a deerless deer hunt but had a very interesting story to tell of a scenic feature of the upper peninsula, the falls of the Tequamamam River, 40 miles below Newberry. Kobe went with a party of eight from Bridgman which have hunted together for several years and have a regular stopping place on the Tequamam River. This stream is much larger in flow than the St. Joseph and the falls are reputed to be the largest west of Niagara Falls and east of Minnehaha Falls, Minn. There are two falls, one 45 feet in height and a smaller falls 15 feet in height. A narrow gauge railway has been installed to carry tourists to the falls, and 3,500 visited them last week and at least a part of next week.

SEVERAL TEAMS NOW ORGANIZING

Plans for Annual Membership Canvass to be Formed.

Officers of the Buchanan Athletic Association announce a meeting to be held at the high school gymnasium Tuesday evening opening at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of organizing a winter basketball league within the city, and also to make plans for the organization of a membership canvass.

Several teams of last year's loop are already reorganizing, including the Wilson Dairy, Brodick, Roots News Agency and D's Cafe fives. The firms which sponsored teams last year now have the uniforms and will not be at any great expense in sponsoring organizations again.

The league held a very successful season last year and proved a very valuable winter recreational feature. About 50 former high school players were permitted to carry on the sport in the weekly games held in the high school gymnasium. While the series was held last winter under FERA auspices, the league officials state that they feel sure it can be carried on responsibly without that supervision.

In providing clean, well-managed sport for a half hundred boys and young men, the Buchanan Athletic Association justified its organization during the first year of its existence. The officers active have been: president, George Wynn; vice president, C. K. Detrick; secretary, Harold Boyce; and treasurer, Fred Smith. Two meetings have been called to hold a reorganization, but apparently the members have been so well satisfied with the officers that they were not interested in an election. However, the matter of election will be a main order of business at the meeting Tuesday evening.

Jane Habicht is Honored by N. U.

Miss Jane Habicht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Habicht, has been awarded an honor certificate for high scholastic achievement at Northwestern University. One hundred and forty-eight students received similar awards at the recent Honors Convocation held at the First Congregational church of Evanston.

The Honors Convocation is unique at Northwestern University and is part of the University's method of granting recognition to outstanding students. Students who attain high scholastic distinction are also eligible for a number of scholarships that are awarded each year.

To be eligible for an honor award, a student must have ranked in the upper five per cent of his class during the previous school year. The deans of the various schools presented the deserving students to President Walter Dill Scott who in turn made the certificate awards.

Miss Habicht is a graduate of Buchanan high school. She is now a senior in the College of Liberal Arts, and a member of Tri Delta sorority. She has been active in Y. W. C. A. and women's student government affairs, and was a member of the college annual staff last year.

To Hold County Basket Tourney

Plans are now under way for the initial county cage tournament to be held at the Niles high school during the Christmas holiday week, Dec. 26-27-28, with all high school basketball teams in the county listed to enter except St. Joseph and Benton Harbor. Class C and B teams will compete against each other and Class D and E will form a second division.

Meetings Continue At L. D. S. Church

Nightly meetings at the L. D. S. church under the direction of Eld stalled to carry tourists to the falls, and 3,500 visited them last week and at least a part of next week.

SUICIDE COCKTAILS

On Saturday last Gerald Perham, employee on the night shift at the River Street plant, loitered during the noon hour in a local thirst emporium and then went on to Niles, where he drank more beer. About 4:30 he started for South Bend, then well primed with beer.

Foggy with liquor to the extent of complete irresponsibility he jammed the gas pedal to the floor and wove dangerously from one side of the road to the other. At Rose-land, South Bend suburb, where the authorities have been incurring much criticism lately because they have been trying to protect the residents from dangerous driving, he veered eight feet off the road and killed two little girls. The body of one was thrown higher than the car, and that of the other was crushed under the wheels. Perham went on but in due time he landed in jail to face the consequences of his act.

As might be expected under the circumstances there was angry talk about what should be done to Perham. But it seems that the responsibility for what happened is fairly well scattered. In 1928 Perham was involved in another accident under suspicious circumstances, resulting in the death of Violet Jay of Niles. He escaped on a technicality because the coroner did not call the inquest in the presence of the body of the girl. In 1933 he was arrested for driving while intoxicated. His record in other respects has been thoroughly irresponsible. Yet the law permitted him to buy cars; agencies sold him cars and the authorities issued him licenses to drive them.

It is of course, wisdom after the event, but there was plenty of reason for denying Perham the right to drive a car long ago, and all ravings about what should be done to him are rather futile now.

The question is: Was Perham very much more irresponsible than the laws, the authorities, the public sentiment which permitted him to drive?

"Death After Dark"

Of 86,000 motor fatalities last year, 20,000 occurred at night, according to Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, New Jersey, in an article in Liberty entitled "Death After Dark."

The total economic waste of night time automobile accidents is estimated at nearly one and a half billion dollars.

Sixty-nine percent of those killed are pedestrians.

As a nation, we have failed to grasp the facts that as the sun goes down, so must our speed. We are simply driving too fast for our eyes.

Night driving, Gov. Hoffman points out, involves definite factors, each of which contributes to the hazard: 1. Overdriving our headlights. 2. Slow perception due to poor illumination. 3. The night pedestrian hazard. The first factor is probably the most important, inasmuch as it affects the other two. Gov. Hoffman says that the average man is fortunate if he can see 100 feet clearly with his headlights. That is less than the distance required to stop from a speed of 35 miles per hour, on good pavement with first class tires and brakes. If the night driver is traveling 60, not an uncommon speed on our highways today, that 100 feet of visibility will have been passed by the time he is able to even substantially lower his speed.

Thousands of us are driving 60 and 60 miles an hour in cars equipped with 30-mile headlights. One solution to that is better illumination for streets and highways—irrefutable figures, based on extensive tests, show that the saving in economic waste, to say nothing of the human waste, pays the cost of good lighting many times over. But it will be a long time before the average highway is lighted at all—and in the meantime, the only solution is to drive moderately if you wish to avoid "death after dark."

Sensible Decision

A year ago last spring a Michigan youth drove his automobile into a group of pedestrians and killed two people, the parents of five children. Charges were brought against the youth and just recently a final disposition of his case was made.

Under a court order, he must pay $10 a week toward the support of the five orphaned children for five years. He must not drive an automobile again, and under no circumstances may he purchase liquor. The court put him on probation to make sure that these orders were carried out.

Here is a disposition of a traffic case which seems to be highly insensible. The young motorist is getting enough in the way of punishment, surely, to impress on motorists generally the need for caution.

Being kept away from liquor and automobiles, he won't repeat his offense. Meanwhile, he is compelled to render a substantial financial aid to the dependents of his victims. The whole might well set a precedent for similar cases elsewhere. —Jackson (Fla.) Journal.

This year Chevrolet has two very good reasons for saying, "Thank you, America."

West Gives Another Grand Champion

about the end of their journey, as in so many of the emigrations, for Frederick Howe belonged to the canny Yankee tribe sprung from western Massachusetts and he had seen to all that. He had come to Michigan first on horseback in 1831 to locate a future home. Then for a few years the Blackhawk war and the Asiatic cholera scourges of 1832 and 1834 had checked the westward march. But when it was resumed many fold in 1835, he had come again, this time by mules and buckboard, to conform his choice. Then he had bought the farm of 160 acres which was to be the Howe home for generations, now known as the Emory Rough farm. Returning to New York, the illness of his father delayed him but after his death preparations were resumed.

LEADS IN FARM ORGANIZATION

Local H. S. Teacher One of State Heads Vegetable Growers.

Kenneth Washburn, the Smith-Hughes instructor in agriculture here, will attend the first annual convention of the Michigan Vegetable Growers Association at the Pantlind Hotel Dec. 3-4, in connection with the annual meeting of the state Horticultural Society at that time.

Washburn is a director of the association, representing the celery growers of Van Buren county, whom he was instrumental in organizing four years ago. The purpose of the association is the provision of regulations for the proper grading of vegetables in order to develop a standard product that will command a more stable price. At the present time there is no supervision of vegetable marketing.

In addition to his teaching duties, Washburn has supervised the culture of asparagus on 22 acres of land near Decatur in the past year, twelve on his own land and ten leased. He organized the asparagus growers of Van Buren Co. four years ago, the organization starting with 14 members and now having 38 with an acreage of between 1500 and 1600. It has effected considerable economies in packaging and cartage, as well as grading the product so that the association commanded a price well over the market in Detroit. He states that he expects to greatly increase the membership next year. There is a Berrien county asparagus growers association near Sodus, with about 500 acres represented.

"Asparagus is adaptable to a light sandy loam, Washburn states, and is one of the most dependable crops once it is properly started. Main assets are comparative immunity to damage from drouth and from disease and insect pests.

HOWE FAMILY, PORTAGE PRAIRIE PIONEERS ARRIVED HERE IN 1835

Tradition says that they crossed the St. Joseph at Niles by ford instead of ferry and toiled the last six weary miles through falling snow on a late November afternoon. There was no uncertainty of the five generations of the Howes, including and following Frederick Howe and his wife, Polly Bliss Howe, there are 172 known heirs, now living in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, California, Oregon, Alabama, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and China.

Mrs. May Lister and Mrs. Lou Treat, the granddaughters of Frederick and Polly Bliss Howe, treasure at their homes on the South Bend road the short-legged chair in which Mother Johanna sat in the covered wagon and the old brown-backed bible which she read on the journey.

GUY W. SHERMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Sad Circumstances Attend the Death of Man Formerly Highly Placed.

Guy Sherman, 73, died at the home of Clarence Huss south of Buchanan yesterday, the cause of death being heart trouble.

Sherman came to Buchanan several years ago, buying the former Andrew Carothers farm east of the river bridge. He lived there alone, his wife having died over 40 years ago. A son, Clifford, lives in New Orleans.

Mr. Sherman was not a communicative man and little is known locally of his early life, except that he was at one time an accountant with the Chicago & Alton railway and later in the automobile livery business in Chicago.

It is believed the funeral will be held here at a time not definitely decided.

Later: Friends state that Sherman was secretary to a governor of New Jersey and accompanied him to England in the nineties, and later was private secretary to the president of the Chicago & Alton railway. He came to Buchanan about twelve years ago for his health. He had lost his home on the river, moving out to the home of friends the day before his death.

Thanksgiving Program at Hollywood Theatre

A special Thanksgiving program has been arranged for the Hollywood theatre. "The Murder Man" starring Spencer Tracy and Virginia Bruce is the most amazing murder mystery in years. The second feature to be shown is Clarence E. Muford's "Hop Along Cassidy." Its a Paramount release with William Boyd, Paula Stone and Jimmy Ellison. Zane Grey producers bring to the screen the art of making good western entertainment that is not to be compared with much of the slap stick westerns that have been on the market the past several years. Both Paramount and Warner Bros. are making a series of high grade western features starring real actors that will be shown at this theatre from time to time. Manager Hoffman again wishes to state to his patrons that there will be a special matinee Thanksgiving day afternoon starting at 4 p. m. and will run continuous from then on. This will also apply to all holidays in the future.

Bright Side Out A THANKSGIVING MESSAGE

Thanksgiving blessings do not all come in equal sizes. Yours may be larger or smaller than your neighbor's . . . But, if you observe Thanksgiving in the true Pilgrim spirit, there will be no room in your heart for either pride or envy, or for discouragement . . . You will give thanks for the good things in your own life, and you will join with your fellow-Americans in a great prayer of gratitude that your homeland is enjoying the fruits of returning prosperity and abiding peace.

Campaign to Rid Mich. Highway of Transient Roadside Stands Starts

The state highway department and the Michigan state police have joined hands in a co-operative campaign to rid Michigan highways of transient roadside stands. Plans for the campaign were mapped at a conference between Murray D. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, and Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of the Michigan state police, along with several of their assistants. They constituted the first move to eliminate stands since Commissioner Van Wagoner announced his intention of carrying on the crusade several weeks ago. As the first step in the campaign, E. E. Blomgren, maintenance engineer for the state highway department, was directed to make a survey of all transient stands in the state that are within the right of way of the state trunkline system. Blomgren started district engineers to work on the survey at once. When the survey is completed, Commissioners Olander and VanWagoner will study the results to determine which stands are a menace to highway safety. The areas covered by these stands will then be zoned off as hazardous. Appropriate posting signs will then be erected by the state highway department.

Editorial

The amateur artists are at it again! Or are they artists? Some students do not seem content unless they are continuously molesting the school property. Walls that were once clean are beginning to show signs of everything from footprints to wisecracks. Desks are shamefully marked up with carvings, ink and other disfigurements. Last, but not least, some pupils find glee in loosening the putty from the windows.

Upper classmen (included in this group of offenders) are beyond the age when playing with blocks or building air castles is a pastime. But, after all, playing with blocks is much more sensible than deliberately marring a school's appearance.

If those who are guilty (there are many) would realize how detrimental these childish tricks are, they would discontinue these acts of carelessness.

MOVING PICTURES

Three films were shown in the general assembly program Wednesday, Nov. 20. They were "Fangs of Death Valley," a geographical adventure picture. The many varieties of snakes, turtles, and giant lizards that infest Death Valley were shown. It also depicted the catching of the huge rattlesnakes with a forked stick and the removal of their poisonous fangs; "Songs of the Range" or "Happy Ranch Boys" was a musical film which featured Jimmy Adams and Luther Hall; "Let 'er Buck," a Grantland Rice spotlight, depicting the western sports was then shown. It consisted of the following contests: calf roping, steer riding, bull dogging, wild cow milking, broncho riding and a Wyoming Roman race.

Mrs. Lamb's News

There are quite a few cases of chicken pox among the pupils. Pupils having chicken pox must be kept at home. The health officer should be notified and a placard placed on the house. When all the sores have healed, the afflicted pupils may return to school. Children in the family, who have not had it, must remain at home. Those who have had the disease previously may attend school.

Many appeals for coats, underwear, and footwear have come to the school nurse, Mrs. Lamb. Some families not on the relief are in need. Many provided for by the relief are not adequately clothed. If there is unused clothing in your home, will you kindly send it to the high school?

THANKSGIVING JOYS

It's over the hills and through the woods

To grandfather's house we go.
The horse knows the way
To carry the sleigh,
O'er the white and drifted snow.

Or, for a good old-fashioned snowy Thanksgiving! Oh, to have the frost bite your nose and sting your toes as you glide over the crunching snow! But alas, old Nell and the sleigh have long been put among the antiques, for the high-powered automobiles and trains have stolen their place, the woods have disappeared, it seldom snows, and the hills are cut off by roads.

We must accept the modern Thanksgiving as it comes, stealing quietly upon us minus all the old joys. The one thing we still keep as a remembrance of those first jolly Thanksgivings that fill the air is the odor of roasting turkeys and delicious goodies, which, like magic, lure us to have our fill of them—then we are content for another year.

We do not sit on log chairs in the candle-light and eat our feasts but amid an atmosphere of luxury. Thanksgiving is Thanksgiving, and maybe we wouldn't like to have lived years ago—who knows?

HONORING MARK TWAIN

The familiar Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are brought to life again, and the old books refreshed in the minds of young and old.

Samuel Clemens, the beloved author of many, adopted his pen name, Mark Twain, during his life on the Mississippi river. In his Tom Sawyer book, he, himself, is supposed to be Tom, Huckleberry Finn, and the other boys, actual playmates of his during this young or life.

This humorist, Mark Twain, has been brought back into the limelight in celebration of his hundredth birthday anniversary. The little town in which he lived as a boy, Hannibal, Mo., is planning a gala affair in his honor. One hundred years ago, Nov. 30, this legendary author was born, and in less than half a century, he became a universally famous novelist.

In this celebration Mark Twain will not be present, but the modern Huckleberry Finns and Tom Sawyers will be there to carry on his pranks. Mark Twain, we honor you!

A LAUGH

If you want to get a laugh, just come in and visit the first hour French class occasionally.

A certain junior boy while translating a sentence did not know the difference between "his beautiful hair" and the "beautiful horses."

Perhaps he had better look over his French lesson before class next time.

RED CROSS DRIVE

The Red Cross drive for funds was held last week in the high school. Rather than the various home rooms bringing money as in previous years, the first hour classes did so. Each student gave what he wished. When a total of $1.00 was received, the room was given a sticker to be placed on the window.

CANARY IN ASSEMBLY

All was quiet in the first hour study hall when a small chirp like a canary was heard in the back of the room. Everyone looked back to see where the canary was, but it couldn't be seen. Again it chirped. To the student's amazement, they found a junior student playing with a canary whistle.

WAITING

Anxiously Miss Hattenbach waited for someone to open the door to room ten, which she thought was locked. After waiting a while a student walked up and opened the door. My, was her face red? Try the door next time, Caroline.

Mich. Highway Department Begins Traffic Survey

The state highway department has started the field work of its $906,000 safety and traffic survey in Michigan.

A crew of four district supervisors, the state director, and a group of Federal representatives left Lansing on a tour of Ingham county roads as the first step in an inventory of the 85,000 miles of state, county, and township roads in Michigan.

Murray D. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, said the first tour was to be made "in the nature of intensive training" for the first four supervisors named for the inventory study. By the end of the week three of the four supervisors are expected to be sent into other counties while one of their number will complete the work in Ingham county.

The supervisors, who formerly worked in the road and bridge drafting divisions of the state highway department, are: Donald R. Alton, Detroit; Percy H. Williams, Detroit; Edward T. Broadwell, Detroit, and Lewis M. Millé, Pontiac.

Commissioner VanWagoner said it will take a crew about two months to complete its work in any one county. The inventory will first be undertaken in the lower two tiers of counties in the southern part of the state. The inventory probably will have to be postponed in the northern part of the lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula until spring because of weather conditions. A speedometer measurement of all roads is required by the inventory and snow and ice in the north prevent this type of accuracy on roads in that section of the state at this time.

Each county will be laid out in zones as the basis for the inventory study with each zone centered about particular trunkline highways.

Field work in the other two phases of the transportation survey—the traffic count at 6,000 stations and the fiscal study—should get under way by the end of the week.

The inventory study will not only result in a speedometer measurement of all roads but will yield data on their condition in relation to the entire road system. Accident records will be studied. Business establishments, residences and places of congregation will be catalogued. Of particular interest to the tourist industry is the fact that every mile of road will be classified as to its accessibility.

The Kingston News uses the picture of a draft team to illustrate its statement that local merchants are pulling together. Maybe it means also that they have horse sense.—Cameron (Mo.) Sun.

Note: We can name several towns where a couple of mules pulling agin' each other would be more like it.

Headline: New Dealers Seek to Keep Legislature! Why not let them, the taxpayer's have been tired of keeping them for some time.

Between the press service and the radio there is one thing a candidate can't be charged with doing today. That is making a statement and then stating the contrary in another section.

Ethiopians use drums to arouse their warriors. If they want to make them fighting mad, why don't they try saxophones.

MORNING

SAVINGS with ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION from morning until night

COMPARE the small payments that will buy an electric refrigerator with the dividends it pays you three times a day, dividends secured from quantity buying and food preservation. You will find that it is a wise and thrifty investment. This is particularly true in winter when prices of perishable food stuffs are highest. Old fashioned methods of winter refrigeration are unreliable, inconvenient and wasteful. In the kitchen it is always summertime—outside storage means extreme temperature variation which causes rapid deterioration of food and milk.

The only sure, safe way to keep foods fresh and wholesome winter of summer is in the constantly controlled cold of a dependable electric refrigerator.

FORD INVITES YOU TO TRY V-8 ECONOMY ON YOUR OWN FARM

No Cost—No Obligation—No "Catch" in This Offer

Get behind the wheel and get the facts!

IT STANDS to reason that your neighbor's opinion may not be your opinion. He may tell you his Ford V-8 Truck is the best truck he ever owned. But you may hesitate to rely on his opinion when you buy a truck.

Buying by hearsay is a slipshod method. The SURE way . . . the way that is least likely to bring regrets afterwards . . . is to make your own tests. When you have the opportunity of trying a truck right on your own farm, hauling your own loads, running over the same roads you would use if the truck belonged to you . . . you can get a much better idea of what to expect from that truck.

That's just what Ford wants you to do. If you will set a date for an "on-the-job" test, your Ford dealer will gladly place a 1936 Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Car at your disposal. Try it out on your farm. Use it as you would your own. Keep track of its costs. See how quickly it gets you places . . . how its 30-horsepower V-8 engine enables you to pull out of tough spots with heavy loads.

Could any test be more fair? Is there any better way to find out just exactly what a Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Car will do for you? Get in touch with your Ford dealer today and set a date for this test.
