Mercury Marathon
In order to promote the cause of bigger and better weather records the Record (than which there is none bigger or better) announces a Mercury Marathon in which everybody is invited to enter their thermometers.

Outlying Thermometers
The scientific world was set agog (whatever that is) by news yesterday that it was 12 degrees warmer Tuesday evening on Bob Reamers corner than on Jerry Wisner's corner just across the street.

They say it's the kind of conventions they throw at Grand Rapids that makes the Rapids so Grand, which explains why Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Root bucked through the drifts in zero weather to attend the ice (of all things!) cream convention there Wednesday.

Cyrus Bulhand is back at work this week but he ain't taking any chances—he wears mittens in behind the counter at the A. & P. The customers don't mind the mittens as long as he keeps his hands off the scales.

Fine Orchestras Signed for Dance

Card Party to be Largest on Record in Buchanan.

The snappiest modern orchestras, the best entertainment features of southwestern Michigan plus dancing, pinochle and bridge play, bingo and a varied card of other entertainment will be offered at the Lions Winter Carnival and Bridge Party to be held at the high school Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 21 and 22, from 6 to 12 p. m., nightly.

The card party promises to be one of the largest ever held in Buchanan with 40 tables of bridge and pinochle already practically arranged. Play will begin sharply at 8 p. m., and late comers may be "out of luck."

The committee on arrangements state that everything will come off as originally billed with the exception of the motion pictures of local business houses.

The following letter received recently by President Lowell Swern of the Lions club relative to glasses purchased by the club for the daughter of a local widow illustrates the character of the work done:

Buchanan, Mich. Feb. 17, 1936.
President and members of the Lions club: Please accept my appreciation and thanks for your doing so many good deeds in helping my little girl getting her glasses. It was so much closer for her and the weather was so bad. She received them through the mail Feb. 5 and they are doing her so much good in her school work.

Worthington Talks On Topic of Lincoln

Orators and other speakers who use Lincoln's birthday as an occasion for political harrangues in support of some person or other who wants office do not properly do honor to the great president, according to Atty. A. A. Worthington, who spoke before the Lions club Wednesday evening.

Atty. Worthington has been a student of the life of Lincoln for many years and has been in demand for talks on Lincoln's birthday for many years. On this occasion, however, he departed from his custom in the past and talked on his interpretation of what Lincoln's reaction to the present situation would be.

Father Day to Address P.-T. A.

Father John R. Day will speak at the meeting of the Buchanan Parent-Teacher Association to be held in the Junior High school assembly Monday evening, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p. m. The high school glee club will sing several numbers. Community singing will also be enjoyed. The pupils of Miss Lena Ekstrom will present a play based on the early history of Michigan. A brief history of the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will be given on the occasion of the 39th birthday of the organization.

B. H. S. Loses To Berrien Sps.

Mid-County Five Wins 15th Victory of Season Here.

Buchanan's much improved cage unit showed up well in their last home battle of the season against Berrien Springs' green clad horde last Friday evening by holding the Springers to a 28-20 count.

The game was hotly contested every inch of the way and the Bucks would not give up. Berrien led at the end of the first canto 9-6 on fielders by Evans, Dean, and Hoadley. Hoadley also connected twice from the black stripe. Field goals by Luke and Jesse and gift tosses by Virgil and Luke constituted the Bucks scoring.

There will be 16 district tournaments in addition to the championship finals. Although the host city for the state tournament has not yet been selected the meet will probably go to Lansing in view of fact that two new fields are being added to the city program there, making a total of 13 good diamonds available.

I. and M. Crew Thaws 50 Pipes

Shoot Current Nearly Quarter Mile to Thaw Frozen Pipes.

Water pipes servicing 50 homes were thawed out last week by the I. & M. crew operating their big electric thawer in collaboration with the city water department, according to Chief Mitchell.

From 3 minutes to three hours were required to thaw the pipes, it being necessary for the current to follow the pipes thirty and forty yards (nearly a quarter of a mile) to thaw the frozen points. The large I. & M. home-made device with an 800 volt capacity was used after the small outfit of 100-volt capacity which the city had on trial proved inadequate.

The Bucks could have won by a good margin had they converted some of the free throws. Trapp took scoring honors with 4 fielders. Storick collected three of the same variety.

Ice on St. Joseph 16 Inches Thick

The ice is 16 inches thick on the St. Joseph river between Deb's Island and the Paul Wynn country home, according to Deb Voorhees, who states that this is the thickest ice since 1888. The river was frozen almost to the foot of the dam last week and the falls themselves represented a miniature Niagara of ice.

Bradfield Named On Softball Bd.

Plan to Organize State Tournaments for Class A and B Teams.

Harold Bradfield, former Buchanan high school coach and at present football coach and director of recreation in Niles, has been appointed softball commissioner for southwestern Michigan, representing this area in a state organization which will meet in Lansing, Feb. 22.

Other district commissioners re-appointed are: Casimer Jablonski, Bay City; Rudolph Schmelling, of Saginaw; A. W. Thompson, Grand Rapids; Foster Kenny, Ionia; Geo. Zorn, Ishpeming; Herbert Kipke of Lansing; L. H. Holway, Ann Arbor and F. G. Siddall, Reading.

The meeting is expected to mark a new era in the growth of the association, which was established in the early summer of 1934 with the co-operation of the city recreation department of Lansing.

Plans will be formulated for the division of men's teams into two groups, Class A and Class B. The former will include all the major teams that play in open or unrestricted leagues, while the latter will be for closed league teams, church teams and smaller communities.

It is planned to hold district and state tournaments in each of the men's divisions as well as the regular state meet for girls.

Michigan was one of the four leading softball states of the nation last year and under the new program of the Michigan Softball association should go more to the front this year.

Campbell Soup Signs 500 Acres

Burys Auto To Extinguish Fire

A representative of the Campbell Soup Co. was in Buchanan from Chicago Monday, signing up between 400 and 500 acres for growing tomatoes this year. He stated that he would return to sign up several hundred acres more. The company is much pleased with the Buchanan district as a tomato-producing section and the farmers appear to be in a receptive mood. The terms of the 1936 contracts are the same as those of 1935.

Lions Club Is Guest of Niles

The Buchanan Lions club members were guests of the Niles Lions club at a smoker at the Four Flags hotel last night, practically the entire club making the trip to partake of the "Dutch lunch" and to witness the boxing matches.

Don Burrus left Saturday for Detroit to enter a technical school to learn electric welding.

Bucks Play Last Game at Bridgman

Buchanan's cage quintet will face the Bridgman five on Bridgman's hardwood Feb. 21 at 7:30. The Bucks have a slight edge over Bridgman by virtue of their two wins over the Lakeside boys. Bridgman is in the same fix as the Bucks. Neither team has had much experience and have consequently not had such a successful season. The Bucks have showed up well against the best teams in the county including Berrien, Three Oaks and New Buffalo.

Is Victim of Divided Loyalty

Mrs. Carl Hamilton Doesn't Know Whether to Hooray for Dad or Ma.

Mrs. Carl Hamilton is the victim of that tragic situation—divided loyalties, according to her statement to a representative of the Record regarding the rival candidacies of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Squires, for the office of assessor of Decatur.

According to an Associated Press story from Decatur under date of Feb. 18, Mrs. Squires has been nominated on the People's Ticket to oppose her husband, nominee on the Citizen's Ticket. Mr. Squires has been assessor for 25 years and has been considered unbeatable as long as he cared for the office, although he is a Democrat in a Republican town. However, those who reckoned him invincible were over-confident.

"Why not?" they said, "She does all the work anyway." So they up and nominated her.

Asked whom she would favor for the office, Mrs. Hamilton was doubtful. "Of course dad's had the office a long time."

Mrs. Hamilton was not sure which would be elected—she thought it depended on whether there were more People than Citizens.

School Religion to Begin Monday

Three Churches Combine to Sponsor Weekly Lenten Sessions.

Former Teacher Dies In Niles

Elsie Kingery Cottrell Had Gallant Life Record.

Memories of a loved teacher were aroused in many Buchananites with the passing last week of Mrs. Elsie Kingery Cottrell, 62, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Adah Weaver, Niles, last Wednesday, the funeral being held at the Price & Kiger Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Cottrell was born in Buchanan, the daughter of Atty. W. D. Kingery, who owned the Berrien County Record until his death in partnership with John Holmes.

She was reared in Buchanan, attending the Buchanan high school and later Albion college. She engaged in teaching in the local schools for eight years before her marriage to Rev. Frank Cottrell, a Methodist minister who served a number of years at Whitehall. After her husband's death she taught two more years in Buchanan.

Later, the lack of normal school requirements interfering with her choice of positions, she went to Detroit and opened a private studio for the teaching of English, instructing both native Americans in literature, grammar and correct speech and instructing foreigners in the English language.

She opened her studio about 1927; advertising in newspapers for pupils and receiving as many pupils as she could care for. She charged $1.00 per lesson and taught about 25 pupils. She was able to relate many interesting experiences, especially with foreign people learning English. One woman of foreign birth and reading, was satisfied with her imperfect English until her children arrived at high school age, when they became critical of her speech.

Stung by the fact that she might in any way discredit her children, the woman secretly started taking lessons in English from Mrs. Cottrell. She took lessons for three years, mastering not only a correct and exact spoken English but writing the language also fluently and accurately. But she kept the secret of her improvement. Mrs. Cottrell had a number of letters from her, written in faultless English.

Mrs. Cottrell was obliged to give up her classes three years ago when she became afflicted with asthma, which later affected her heart. She came to Niles, making her home with her sister, but always planning a return. She was a frequent visitor in Buchanan, and was a guest several weeks last summer of her aunt, Miss Kathryn Kingery.

Her father, Atty. W. D. Kingery, was a brother of H. F. Kingery and Miss Kathryn Kingery. He became associated with D. A. Wagner in the conduct of the Record in 1870. In April, 1874, he entered partnership with John C. Marble, buying out Wagner. On April 8, 1875, the name of John G. Holmes appeared without announcement like a bolt from the blue, associated with Kingery as editor. On Aug. 18, 1875, Kingery died of typhoid at the age of 29, and Holmes continued the publication for about twenty years.

Trucks Buck Through Drifts 10 Ft. Deep with Aid of Shovel Men.

The principal employment of the Buchanan district in common with most of the Middle West during the past week has been combating the inroads of cold and the handicap of snow which now lay 18 in. on the level in protected areas and in drifts ranging up to 15 feet.

Extremely valuable service in keeping roads opened has been performed by both state and county highway departments, the work of the latter being especially heavy as it involves the maintenance of travel conditions on approximately 1,000 miles of road, with a force of trucks and an army of as high as 400 men operating the trucks and working by hand with shovels.

In answer to a request for a statement of the conditions confronting the county road department, John H. Bateman, engineer-manager, gave Record the following statement:

We are keeping open about one thousand miles of road of which five hundred miles is on the original county road system, the remainder consisting of former township roads which we have taken over under the McNitt Act.

It is our policy to open the main roads first, this includes county roads and some of the more important McNitt roads.

We have divided the county into 18 snow removal districts, each served by one V-type snow plow mounted on a truck. It has been necessary to supplement each plow with a large number of hand shovellers to break open the roads ahead of the plows where the snow is too deep for the plows to handle.

The extreme northern part of the county and the eastern half of the county extending clear to the state line covers the areas which have the most snow. Our Three Oaks and Gallien districts have had snow in some locations but in general they are not as bad as the other districts. Our Baroda district has heavy snow in some locations, somewhat heavier than in the Three Oaks and Gallien area.

There are a good many problems connected with snow removal. During the present emergency our biggest difficulty has been due to the short space of time between successive snow storms. It has not given us enough time to widen out many of the side roads particularly. We have also been confronted with truck and plow break downs. One truck burned up two weeks ago last Friday morning and is being rebuilt and should be received here sometime this week. We have broken a lot of axles, worn out a lot of tire chains and had many other types of break downs. The extreme cold at various periods has made this work very hard on mechanical equipment.

We have encountered drifts up to 10 and 12 feet and many of them have been long, in some cases reaching a length of over a half mile.

Our working forces naturally have gone up and down in number of men. Last week we had over 400 men working which included a large number of hand shovellers. From December 17 to February 8, inclusive, we had a total of 26,300 man hours and 12,100 equipment hours. The total expense during that period has been about $25,000. We have not gotten in all of our bills yet and the above figure may be somewhat increased. These figures do not include a large expenditure during the past week. Most of our snow plows have been operating on a 24-hour schedule; the men work in two 12-hour shifts. In many cases it has been necessary for some of our men to put in much more than 12 hours per day.

One of the most important features of the work has been the shop work necessary to keep our equipment in running condition. Our shop has worked night and day for more than a month and has turned out a tremendous amount of work. We now are commencing to have difficulty obtaining parts. Two truck companies have practically run out of parts.

Last fall we purchased two

G. M. Plans World Fair on Wheels

America is soon to be given a heartening look at evidences of its present progress and an inspiring glimpse of the continued advancement which the future holds, thru inauguration of the world's first caravan of science built to visit the people of the nation in their own home towns, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, has announced.

Known as the General Motors Parade of Progress, this unique traveling exposition will seek to portray, especially for that vast portion of the population living in smaller towns, the contributions of a new age of scientific progress to the comfort, happiness and welfare of 126,000,000 Americans.

An important purpose of this "world's fair on wheels," according to Mr. Sloan is to foster a better understanding of how industry and science work together even during depressions to lay the foundation for new advances. Specific examples of the results accomplished by industrial research are presented in the belief that an understanding of their significance will inspire increased confidence and add to the momentum of business recovery.

Heralded as a "circus of science" the huge exposition will be carried by a fleet of especially built motor transports which are themselves portents of the future. The 28-vehicle caravan, which is two miles long when in transit, with units spaced at 200 foot intervals for safety, is scheduled to start its showings early in February, and to travel more than 20,000 miles within 12 months, displaying its exhibition of marvels to an audience running into millions.

There can be no question but what the village should have been named McCoyville in honor of the missionary who discovered it. But the citizens of the 80's had learned it was a dangerous thing to try and change titles which fact had been grounded in the minds of the populace.

There was the change of West street to Moccasin avenue, for instance. The Beardleys, Kingerys and Lambs along that thoroughfare had been plunged into great difficulty over the many ways in which the name "Moccasin" could be spelled correctly, incorrectly and otherwise.

Also there was the time when the name of Second street had been changed to Dewey avenue shortly after the battle of Manila Bay and then a short time later Admiral Dewey proceeded to dead over to his second wife the mansion in Washington which had been presented to him by the American people. This was a bitter pill for the people living along Dewey Ave. to swallow.

It was in the early 80's that the Dunning Millinery Parlor, located at the very foot of Front street on the north side, in the home now occupied by the Vieles was the acknowledged style center of the village. It was there that the dowagers, mesdames and debutantes of the Crick region, only they weren't called that, would meet and discuss impending fashions filtering in from Paris, London and Fifth Ave.

Such places were called parlors in those days. Not shops or shoppes! Each hat or creation was built on the premises and there was no danger of substitution and resultant battles. Hats were constructed in layers same as a chocolate cake and the more layers the more expensive the assembled creation.

Husbands accepted the financial burden without complaint! It was necessary in those days to preserve peace in the home if one expected to get away on lodge night. That, too, was back in the days a dollar a day was pay and the family budget was predicated on the theory of "one hundred days, one hundred dollars."

Mrs. Dunning, the proprietress, was not the kind to leave town for a few weeks and then return claiming she had been abroad to study the styles. She was too busy receiving folks from off Portage Prairie who brought eggs and butter to her door in payment for hats which they had purchased at some time or other at her style and fashion salon, only it wasn't called that.

The cost of a first-class creation several stories high with a bandeau and styled with peacock feathers would set a husband back several months work in the fields. The price of a jeweled hatpin alone would completely do away with a week's wage. Still husbands never complained! They were too anxious to attend the weekly sessions of the Independent Order of Good Templars and the Berrien County Anti-Horse Thieves Association.

The organizations mentioned, next to the Masons and Odd Fellows lodges, were the important social bodies of the 80's. The writer who holds a life membership in both hopes they can someday be revived providing some such thing has not already been accomplished.

In those days when women were considered the weaker sex it was somewhat necessary that they go around armed in case of attack and therefore hatspinners were considered necessary equipment for virtue's sake. It was not until just a few years ago that women started carrying small ivory-handled revolvers and had learned to shoot at the drop of the hat. Husbands in those days did not know the satisfaction that comes from wearing a bullet-proof vest when entering the home at night, perhaps unexpectedly.

In this connection it is recalled that at one time the official record made in traveling from the village line on the west to the village limits on the east, was three minutes and 22 seconds. This is not intended as an indication of the size of the town but rather gives an idea of the remarkable speed that could be developed in those days by a traveling man being chased by an irate husband with a smoking revolver in the perturbed mate's hand.

One of the greatest days in the history of the village, from the standpoint of style, artistry, and splendor was when Mrs. Dunning after installing a bay window in her home—an idea gathered from Godey's and the first of its kind in Buchanan—had a grand re-opening at which free green tea was served and sipped and fashions discussed both pro and con.

The Parlors were crowded with the gallant and the gay! There was an unusual out-pouring of high heeled society dames with their well-heeled escorts. And the creations went like hot cakes!

There were no cocktail hours in those days! Just plain green tea with the grounds used for fortune telling. Nor were there any cigarette smoking in polite circles. Cigarettes in those days were called "coffin nails" and the party inhaling therefrom was viewed with suspicion.

The only woman smoker in the village in the 80's was Aunt Charity King, who occupied a rather dismantled home on the Flats, the colored section of the town. Aunt Charity used a clay pipe for her secret indulgences of the weed and claimed that was the only means whereby she could obtain relief from the dreaded asthma which was then making serious inroads on the accredited population.

Mrs. Dunning besides turning out creations also manufactured hoop skirts and bustles on order. The Milady of that day did not consider herself at all stylishly clad until she wore the hooped attire.

Along McCoy's Crick

By Harrison Merrill

There was rejoicing up and down the old Crick when the 1880 census figures published in The Record showed that of the nine Buchanans listed in the U. S. A. the Michigan Buchanan was in third place from the top. There was talk at the time of changing the name of the village to "Buchanan III" which, it was claimed, had an aristocratic tinge to it. But the question, as a result of something or other, was never put to a vote.

Many people at that time, it seems, were under the impression that the village was named after James Buchanan, 15th president, and as he was listed as a Democrat in the official standings the title was obnoxious particularly to Civil war veterans who were strongly allied with the G. O. P., first of the alphabetical organizations to claim Washington, D. C., as a birthplace.

Although numerous campaigns of education were carried on both in and out of the press it was a difficult matter to convince certain Crickites that the village was named in honor of Chief Buchanan, an own brother to Chief Pokagon, and a nephew of Chief Dowagiac.

The Chief it seems had not remained in the village long enough for any of the early settlers to get well acquainted with him. After sampling the waters of the Little Crick and finding them without alcoholic content he had moved on presuming in the general direction of the Happy Hunting Ground.

It was this same lack of alcoholic content and the bushy beards worn by the natives along the stream that no doubt caused Pon-e De Leon, at an earlier date to pack up and continue his journey in quest of youth and real estate booms to Florida.

There can be no question but what the village should have been named McCoyville in honor of the missionary who discovered it. But the citizens of the 80's had learned it was a dangerous thing to try and change titles which fact had been grounded in the minds of the populace.

There was the change of West street to Moccasin avenue, for instance. The Beardleys, Kingerys and Lambs along that thoroughfare had been plunged into great difficulty over the many ways in which the name "Moccasin" could be spelled correctly, incorrectly and otherwise.

Also there was the time when the name of Second street had been changed to Dewey avenue shortly after the battle of Manila Bay and then a short time later Admiral Dewey proceeded to dead over to his second wife the mansion in Washington which had been presented to him by the American people. This was a bitter pill for the people living along Dewey Ave. to swallow.

It was in the early 80's that the Dunning Millinery Parlor, located at the very foot of Front street on the north side, in the home now occupied by the Vieles was the acknowledged style center of the village. It was there that the dowagers, mesdames and debutantes of the Crick region, only they weren't called that, would meet and discuss impending fashions filtering in from Paris, London and Fifth Ave.

Such places were called parlors in those days. Not shops or shoppes! Each hat or creation was built on the premises and there was no danger of substitution and resultant battles. Hats were constructed in layers same as a chocolate cake and the more layers the more expensive the assembled creation.

Husbands accepted the financial burden without complaint! It was necessary in those days to preserve peace in the home if one expected to get away on lodge night. That, too, was back in the days a dollar a day was pay and the family budget was predicated on the theory of "one hundred days, one hundred dollars."

Mrs. Dunning, the proprietress, was not the kind to leave town for a few weeks and then return claiming she had been abroad to study the styles. She was too busy receiving folks from off Portage Prairie who brought eggs and butter to her door in payment for hats which they had purchased at some time or other at her style and fashion salon, only it wasn't called that.

The cost of a first-class creation several stories high with a bandeau and styled with peacock feathers would set a husband back several months work in the fields. The price of a jeweled hatpin alone would completely do away with a week's wage. Still husbands never complained! They were too anxious to attend the weekly sessions of the Independent Order of Good Templars and the Berrien County Anti-Horse Thieves Association.

The organizations mentioned, next to the Masons and Odd Fellows lodges, were the important social bodies of the 80's. The writer who holds a life membership in both hopes they can someday be revived providing some such thing has not already been accomplished.

In those days when women were considered the weaker sex it was somewhat necessary that they go around armed in case of attack and therefore hatspinners were considered necessary equipment for virtue's sake. It was not until just a few years ago that women started carrying small ivory-handled revolvers and had learned to shoot at the drop of the hat. Husbands in those days did not know the satisfaction that comes from wearing a bullet-proof vest when entering the home at night, perhaps unexpectedly.

In this connection it is recalled that at one time the official record made in traveling from the village line on the west to the village limits on the east, was three minutes and 22 seconds. This is not intended as an indication of the size of the town but rather gives an idea of the remarkable speed that could be developed in those days by a traveling man being chased by an irate husband with a smoking revolver in the perturbed mate's hand.

One of the greatest days in the history of the village, from the standpoint of style, artistry, and splendor was when Mrs. Dunning after installing a bay window in her home—an idea gathered from Godey's and the first of its kind in Buchanan—had a grand re-opening at which free green tea was served and sipped and fashions discussed both pro and con.

The Parlors were crowded with the gallant and the gay! There was an unusual out-pouring of high heeled society dames with their well-heeled escorts. And the creations went like hot cakes!

There were no cocktail hours in those days! Just plain green tea with the grounds used for fortune telling. Nor were there any cigarette smoking in polite circles. Cigarettes in those days were called "coffin nails" and the party inhaling therefrom was viewed with suspicion.

The only woman smoker in the village in the 80's was Aunt Charity King, who occupied a rather dismantled home on the Flats, the colored section of the town. Aunt Charity used a clay pipe for her secret indulgences of the weed and claimed that was the only means whereby she could obtain relief from the dreaded asthma which was then making serious inroads on the accredited population.

Mrs. Dunning besides turning out creations also manufactured hoop skirts and bustles on order. The Milady of that day did not consider herself at all stylishly clad until she wore the hooped attire.

The writer recalls that one of the prominent women of the village got her foot caught in her hoop skirt and fell down in the door leading into the post office and it was several hours before the very estimable, but modest lady, could be extricated from her precarious position by workmen from the Ellis Roe tinshop.

In the meantime hundreds waited outside the post office for their seed catalogs and copies of the Congressional Record. What effect this may have had on the spring planting has never been estimated. In those days a woman would never have consented to leave her hoops in the P. O. door and hurry home through the gaping crowds rather than be late with her husband's supper.

Women in the 80's also wore long sweeping trains to their best gowns. As they journeyed over the wooden sidewalks the proprietors and clerks of the stores along the way would rush inside and cover up, their stocks to escape the dust storms thus created. The microbes and germs, were riding high at such times.

The first cement walk in the village was built by Aaron Miller, a former member of Company C, 12th Michigan Infantry, assisted by his sons, John and William. It would be interesting to know just how far the cement walks built by the Millers would reach if placed end to end, which was exactly the way they were laid, it is recalled.

Store proprietors and clerks in pre-dam days in summer used to clean out the stone gutters in front of the Front street stores. Grass grew in the streets and it was not the result of a political promise either, but was more an evidence of the fertility of the soil on which the village was built.

It recently has been learned that the proprietor of the butcher shop in the old Tremont hotel building was Tip Tourje. No doubt he was assisted by Webb Matthews, also by Bert Tourje, his brother. At an earlier day Harrison Glover, known as "Hat" because, no doubt, the elder Harrison when a candidate for the presidency had worn a tall fuzzy hat when campaigning for himself and Tippecanoe, too, was proprietor of such a shop in Buchanan.

In the old days butcher shops were cooled and able to maintain a North Pole atmosphere inside the place in winter by keeping the doors and windows wide open and dispensing entirely with a stove of any description. There was always a heavy coating of frost on the windows which usually did not disappear entirely until along the middle of the summer.

The floors also were covered with a thick coating of sawdust which could be obtained for that purpose from the mills along the Crick. The idea of the sawdust, as figured at this late date, was to hide away any small change the customer might be unfortunate enough to drop on the floor.

A pound of round cost 10c and liver was free for the asking. Most people raised their own chickens and when a family was without the dime for meat one of the backyard pullets was obliged to bite the dust and serve as a platter decoration on the Sabbath board. As a result of this early method of securing a feast when required the hen coops throughout the village were kept securely locked at all times.

Unfortunately there was no Anti-Chicken Thieves association in those days with a picnic each year at Sawyer on Lake Michigan, same as there was in the case of the Anti-Horse Thieves Society.

Feed Gulls By Plane

Six hundred pounds of bread and state buns, donated by bakers, were dropped from an airplane flying low over the Lake Michigan icebergs Saturday afternoon, to feed the starving flocks of sea gulls that have been unable to obtain forage for themselves.

Pilots Bert Briney and Jack Kleine of Benton Harbor, their plane loaded, took off from the Benton Harbor airport at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon after a runway had been plowed clear of snow.

An army bombing plane dropped food for starving birds in St. Clair county at Port Huron, Saturday. Two tons of grain purchased by the Port Huron Times-Herald and employees of the Diamond Crystal Salt Co., of St. Clair, was sacked by Port Huron Boy Scouts, and delivered by trucks to Selfridge Field near Mt. Clemens. Use of an army plane was granted by Col. Ernest Clark, acting commander of the post. Reserve Lieutenant Robert J. Potter of Algonac, directed the distribution of the grain from the air. Theodore L. Foulair, St. Clair county conservation officer, who suggested to the Times-Herald the plan of saving the lives of thousands of birds, supplied a map designating the best feeding places.

More Grain to Pheasants

Another half ton of food was distributed to game birds in Berrien Monday. So far this winter approximately one and three-quarters tons of food has been provided by the Berrien County Sportsmen's club in an effort to save pheasants and quail from starvation.

Checks on food previously placed on the game areas reveal that the birds are having little difficulty in finding it.

Farmers are co-operating with the club and conservation department both by feeding the birds themselves and reporting birds so that food may be sent out by the club.

So far no pheasants have been found dead, although quail have been found in some numbers.

PWA Workers to go on Four-Day Week

With the beginning of their next payroll period, Michigan's 95,000 PWA workers employed on projects will go on a four-day week with no loss in pay.

"We are changing the present 5 day week in order that our employees in the larger communities may have an additional day each week in order that our employees in the larger communities may have an additional day each week to compete for better jobs in private industry," Harry L. Pierson, State Works Progress Administrator, announced in Detroit.

"In rural communities the four-day week will give WPA workers a chance to cut wood, fish and do odd jobs to supplement their incomes. This plan has been in operation several months in the Upper Peninsula and its success there has induced us to put it in operation all over the state."

The new schedule of four days of eight hours replaces a work-week of five seven-hour days. It will be in force on all WPA projects in Michigan by Feb. 15.

Except on projects which must be kept operating as continuously as possible for reasons of efficiency and safety, the workers will have the same three days off each week, Pierson said. In Wayne County, for instance, most of the 25,000 employees will have Saturday, Sunday and Monday off. Many employees in this area have requested Monday off because they say Detroit industrial plants do more hiring on that day than any other.

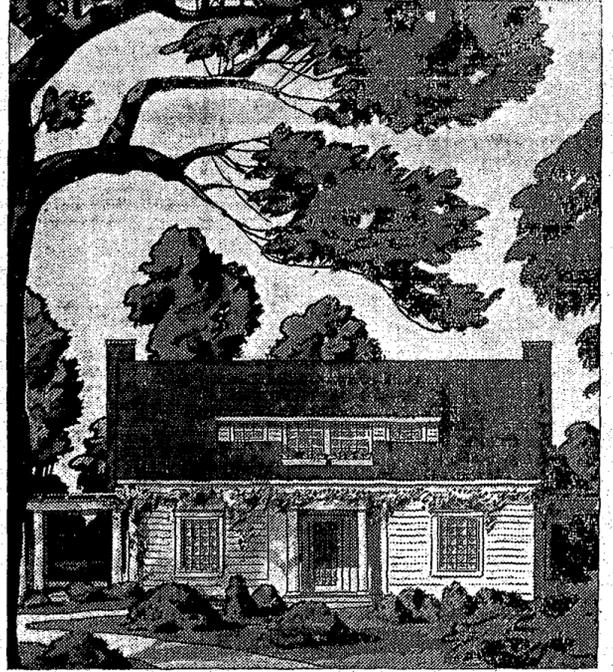

"While some difficulties may arise in this change of program, we feel the good to be accomplished in behalf of the workers will more than offset these difficulties," the Administrator said. "Our constant goal is to help all our workers back into private employment."

An Addition to the House

Very few purchasable things add as much to a home—solid value per dollar of cost—as modern telephone service.

It adds security. The presence of a telephone in the house means that here no time will be lost when some sudden crisis demands the services of a doctor. It means dependable, 24-hour contact with the police. It is a valuable form of insurance, for its swiftness in summoning the fire department can easily mean the difference between trifling damage and a crippling loss.

It adds comfort. The telephone frees every member of the family, and especially the housewife, from the drudgery of unnecessary steps. It saves them bothersome errands.

It often enables them to escape hazardous exposure to disagreeable weather.

It adds enjoyment. The family accessible by telephone has greater opportunities for social pleasures. Over it they can both extend and receive invitations; they can send congratulations, or exchange greetings of the season. They can take part in "voice reunions" with distant friends or relatives—can indulge in the amenities of life to an extent denied those families without this modern, inexpensive convenience.

By delivering genuine value, telephone service of the type this Company supplies to Michigan has earned recognition as a welcome, sensible addition to the house.

Sourdough of Oldtime Gold Rushes Is Replaced by Tame Modern Miner

The grizzled "sourdough" of the old West, whose best friend was his six-shooter and whose favorite sports were rum and fargo, is nowhere to be found in the new mining camps now going up in the wider and remoter regions to the north of the Abitibi gold fields in Western Quebec. Many of the new, styled prospectors are college-bred men. Airplanes and tractors are being used in developing new areas. A road that will enable American motorists to visit this "last frontier" is under construction.
An old-time pioneer gold-seeker, coming to one of the new mining camps in this "Yukon of Quebec," would find placer pans and sluices replaced by modern machinery, smoke-filled bar rooms and gambling dens dispossessed by motion picture theatres and soda parlors. Instead of the clatter of gold-rush memory, neat, colorful houses line the streets and there are no rip-roaring tendencies among the friendly quiet village folk.
Not only are many of the new miners well trained and fully equipped, but few come with any ideas of high adventure and get-rich-quick results. Rather, they have settled here with their families to engage in a well-ordered, steady occupation. The older, developed section is the seat of the most intense operations, with big smelters and 159 mines working to the tune of $12,000,000 worth of gold annually.
North of this region new camps are going up. With the high price of the yellow metal in world markets luring many into the industry, geological survey parties from the Quebec Bureau of Mines worked all last summer mapping promising mineral regions and guiding prospectors in the development of mineral deposits.

Moreover, in accordance with a program laid out by J. E. Perrault, Minister of Mines and Roads for Quebec Provinces, schools for miners are being opened up not only in Abitibi but in Lake St. Jean and at points on the Gaspé Peninsula and in the eastern townships. At such centers those who intend to go gold mining listen to lectures on mineralogy and geology as ap-

Mich. Egg Producers Protected by State

Michigan has ceased to be the dumping ground for poor eggs shipped here from other states, Commissioner of Agriculture J. F. Thomson announced. More than 500 dozen ungraded eggs from other states have been held up at the state border since Michigan egg grading regulations went into effect January 1st, the commissioner said. Surrounding states have strict grading regulations for eggs, and prior to now have been dumping off-grade eggs into Michigan.
Commissioner Thomson meanwhile is conducting an intensive egg grading educational campaign and hopes to have the industry in line for strict enforcement of the new rules by July 1. "We hope to start a strict enforcement camaign within a few months after egg handlers and shippers are familiar with the regulations and have adjusted themselves to them," Thomson said.

The egg regulations call for grading as to quality only. Four grades are provided for, "Fancy" and Grades "A," "B" and "C."
The Indiana and Ohio borders are being closely watched by department of agriculture field men in an effort to prevent shipment into the state of ungraded eggs. No prosecutions have been started by the department as yet but dealers who handle out-of-state eggs that are not graded are being warned to cease practice.

Champion Amateur Gardener and His Garden

Hours spent in his garden to regain health after a nervous breakdown have resulted in John Kakakes of Spokane, Wash., being judged the best amateur gardener in America. Kakakes' garden has just been unanimously awarded first place by the judges in the 1935 national yard and garden contest. The Kakakes garden is an example of what can be done through careful planning and continual care. Shrubbery with branching foliage and small pine trees make an effective background for flowers of all types. One of the features of the garden is an irregularly shaped lily pond surrounded on three sides by moss covered rocks and foliage.

AT THE THEATRE

Walter Catlett, Donald Woods, Ronald Colman in "A Tale of Two Cities"

"A Tale of Two Cities" at Hollywood Wednesday, Thursday

With the amazing total of 112 speaking parts in the screen play, "A Tale of Two Cities," starring Ronald Colman, sets an all-time record for size of a motion picture cast. It comes to the Hollywood Theatre Wednesday and Thursday as one of the year's greatest achievements.

The scenario, according to D. O. Selznick, who produced it for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, not only retains every major character in Dickens' original novel—the most spectacular story of his distinguished career—but has amplified some of the incidental characters to major importance.

The astonishing total of speaking parts in the story created a casting problem such as Hollywood never before had encountered. It far surpassed the problem of selecting actors for "David Copperfield," which had the most prepossessing cast of any picture up to that time.

Ronald Colman, one of filmdom's most distinguished stars, creates the immortal role of Sydney Carton, the wastrel who rises to heights of dramatic sacrifice. Elizabeth Allan, who scored delicately as the young mother in

What Others Say

A Plea to Go Forward Perhaps no man, perhaps no group of men, perhaps no party can chart a course or map the details of how they are to deal with all these new problems.

Now that the announced policies and principles of Gov. Smith's campaign of 1928 have been made effective under the progressive administration of Franklin Roosevelt, the opposition with which Governor Smith has aligned himself is denouncing the Roosevelt administration as socialist.

Hale, South Haven Buds Still Okeh

An examination of Hale and South Haven peach buds just previous to the cold snap of this week showed practically all alive, according to Glenn Kinney of the Mt. Tabor district. Since the lowest recorded there Tuesday morning was ten below, it is not thought that the fruit was damaged this week.

Thermometers in Buchanan registered from 12 to 18 below Tuesday morning, the average down town being 15 degrees. Readings of eight and ten below were reported yesterday morning.

Four Bldgs. Treat Estate Are Sold

Four buildings belonging to the Ella Treat estate were sold last week, the Berrien County Record buying the one on Days Avenue which it occupies; Mrs. Ada Dacy-Sanders buying the next two immediately north and Babcock & Coleman buying the one next north occupied by the Bradley Barber Shop.

Personal Government

We are still in the throes of personal government. Only a government of laws, not men, can rescue us from this plight. A mere change in officials in Washington will not suffice. The next national platform of the Republican party should be a straightforward declaration that will set forth the careful thought and serious convictions not of one person but of many.

Then And Now

In 1928 Governor Alfred Smith, as the Democratic candidate for President, invited and obtained the support of progressives because he advocated a program of agricultural relief, electric power development and protection of labor similar to that which President Roosevelt has put into effect.

Now that the announced policies and principles of Gov. Smith's campaign of 1928 have been made effective under the progressive administration of Franklin Roosevelt, the opposition with which Governor Smith has aligned himself is denouncing the Roosevelt administration as socialist.

U. S. Regulates Electrical Installations

A few rules taken from the National Electric Code which is used as the minimum standard for electrical installations in Michigan are given below. These more or less affect the average home owner and deal with new installations.

"Underground metal fixtures shall not be installed within reach from bath tubs or shower baths. Metal pull chains within reach of bath tubs or shower baths shall be provided with insulating links."

Lamp holders in clothes closets shall be installed on the ceiling or on the wall above the door. Drop cords shall not be installed in clothes closets."

"When necessary to prevent portable lamps from coming into contact with inflammable material, or to protect them from breakage, their flexible cord leads shall be equipped with handle, socket and substantial guard, the guard being securely attached to socket or handle."

"Gas filled incandescent lamps shall not be located in show windows, nor where liable to contact with inflammable material, unless installed in improved fixtures that are equipped with shades or guards or suitably designed to operate at a safe temperature."

The following is a Code recommendation that is being carried out in practically all new residences, "That house wiring installations be laid out on the basis of one branch circuit per 600 square feet of floor area in addition to the one or more appliance circuits installed."

An appliance circuit is of No. 12 wire, the next size heavier than that used for lighting circuits, which feed receptacles located in kitchens, breakfast room, dining rooms and laundries, and also

Editorial

Nowadays youth is taking a greater stand and is sharing the glamour and disappointment of life with the older ones. Practical experience is the best teacher, and so youth will be prepared to take the stand to carry on where the others leave off.

Have you ever dreamed of something that you were determined to do? Of course you have; and whether it was making that team or that scholarship, you could always picture yourself with the laurels.

In just this same manner did George Washington take the helm and pilot our United States on its journey to success. He, too, had a dream of this being a wonderful country, but he knew also that time would overtake him long before that dream would be a realization. That was 150 years ago; it's a long time, and times have changed. Life is easier to live, but this advanced age has advanced us to a degree where it has harmed us. We face the truth, wars, unemployment, the morality of youth being torn down, death on the highway.

This noble man, whose birthday we celebrate the 22nd of this month, was the first builder of this long-hoped-for dream. His memories will be forever in the hearts of youth, and youth will not fail to remember him.

WHAT NEXT?

The newest fad to strike B. H. S. is unique, to say the least, for dangling from pockets, sweaters, collars, and every conceivable place, hang bright colored balls of wool.

Basketball heroes, former football men, and future track stars strut down the corridors carelessly playing with the multi-colored tassels. (That is, if they are lucky enough to capture one or two from their current girl friend!)

What fad next? It is impossible to conceive—for who would have thought a week ago that such bits of wool would fascinate the students of this school?

A THING OF THE PAST
A basket—a cheer—it's over! And so is the basketball season. Yes, the game at Bridgman tomorrow night is the last game of the season—the Buchanan quintuplets will be no more.

We've seen these Buchanan fighters push through many tight places and fight for the honor of old Maroon and White; we've seen those breathless moments where the ball wavers on that rim! Basketball will soon be in the background.

For the fine playing that has been witnessed, we extend congratulations to the five boys: Don Virgil, Kenneth Luke, Earl Stevens, "Toad" Smith, Kenneth Jesse, and to the other boys who have helped.

Don't forget tomorrow evening at Bridgman! Watch the grand finale—the grand finale of Bridgman (get it?) and the close of Buchanan's basketball.

It couldn't have been the strain from studying so, therefore, it must have been the lack of his beauty sleep that possessed "Ben" Franklin to drop off to sleep in history class.

It was such a funny sight that the whole history class started to laugh. Amidst this noise "Ben" came to his senses. Mrs. Whitman remarked that it might be a good idea for some people to go to bed earlier at night.

VALENTINE PARTY

The Latin club held a Valentine party Thursday during the regular class period. Valentines were exchanged. It was completed by a theatre party at the Hollywood where they saw "The Last Days of Pompeii." The officers of the class were in charge, Betty Semple, Shirley Trapp, Beverly Koons and Dale Lyon.

CIVICS CLASS HEARS TALK ON BUSINESS

Sales work should be centered around a study of sales potentialities, upon which the cost of selling, including advertising and sales promotion, should be computed for the purpose of fixing profitable prices.

So said Roy Powell in civics class Thursday afternoon to his fellow students on the topic of "Sales Planning and Control for Profit."

The speaker pointed out that he meant by sales potentialities, sale possibilities in liberty or obligation.

"In marketing a product four important factors are necessary—the product, the market, the relation between the company and prospect, and the performance of the sales organization," he remarked.

He further stated that every manufacturer should consider four angles in his products. First, each product should be studied for its suitability for many uses—does it meet competition? The second consideration: How are the products recognized by the trade? Is the need for the new product recognized and must the product or the process offered be sold? The third angle was that of price.

"Not only the product should be studied but the market also. This should be considered from five angles. First, a detailed study of all the industries. Second, worth while potential buying units according to industries, location. Third, the present uses in each industry. Fourth, the additional application and new uses in each industry. Fifth, business conditions in each industry," he stated.

In conclusion he thinks the future manufacturers will use similar sales planning and control in their industrial marketing. This would always keep marketing costs in a desirable relation to sales.

SOMETHING'S GOT TO BE DONE ABOUT IT
Phil Pierce has been writing notes to strange girls. Phil is so young, too.

Lewis Paul has a large beard covering his manly jaw. If it keeps growing, he will be able to chew it and save his gum bill. Goats do.

Betty Mitchell goes around with a "Cassopolis" stare on her face. Maybe she caught it at the Avalon.

JUST A QUARTER
The other day in one of the home rooms one of the high school boys, Dick Ellis, went up to Virginia Wright, took a quarter from his pocket and said:

"What is this worth?"
Virginia: "Twenty-five cents."
Dick: "Well I know that."
Virginia: "If it were a $13 nickel you might get something for it."
Dick: "Well it isn't, but what can I get out of this?"
Virginia: "Bite it and see what you get."

HOME ROOM EXCHANGE VALENTINES
Mrs. Weaver's 8th grade home room exchanged valentines Wednesday afternoon. The committee in charge for fixing the Valentine box and other arrangements were

BOYS NEW HAT STYLE
Harold Jackson was seen walking about the halls wearing one of the new Shirley Temple hats. The hat was red and white and had a red ribbon which tied in a very becoming bow under Harold's chin.

Attention boys, Shirley Temple hats are much more stylish than stocking caps. You'd better be quick and not let Jackson get too far ahead of you!

DO YOUR HIDING EARLY
Everyone in the journalism class has been pestering the life out of ex-soldiers, teachers, successful business men, travelers, and everyone except ex-convicts, which was probably how everyone interviewed felt.

The persons interviewed need not worry for this only happens once a year. So you had better dust off your favorite hiding spot and get ready for the next year's rush.

AGRICULTURE CLUB
Buchanan high school now has an Agricultural club that can do things. They have received their charter from the state department of Vocational Education and are now known as chapter 165, Future Farmers of America. They will soon hold a charter night and celebrate this achievement.

Refreshments, popcorn and candy.

IS IT A JINX?
Friday, the thirteenth! Are you superstitious? Well, if you aren't the junior play cast is plenty worried. Maybe you would be, too, for the play is scheduled to be given Friday, the 13th of March. Practice has been hindered by the illness of one of the cast who has the mumps. Do you suppose the mumps will subside and not bother the poor students? Well, at any rate rabbits foot will fill their pockets, and maybe some horse shoes will be hung around their necks.

So don't forget to set aside the 13th, and come and see some "jinx worriers" do some real worrying.

NEW MAGAZINE TO BE USED
To be used in connection with their work this semester, the short hand students have subscribed to a new magazine. The name of the magazine is "The Gregg Writer." It costs 50 for five months, and is published once a month.

Stories written in shorthand and other material of interest are included in the magazine. The students will get a lot of good out of them.

Dorothy Irvin, Elaine Blaney, and Monabelle Dreitzler. After the Valentines were exchanged, the class discussed "Manners in the Home."

Driving Hints

On Icy Streets

To drive with maximum safety on icy streets, partly deflate your tires and make all steering changes—starts and stops—gradually.

These suggestions for safe driving, under conditions such as many motorists have faced lately, were broadcast recently by Chevrolet Motor Co. to all its dealers and service stations in northern territories because of the numerous traffic mishaps that have been caused by slippery streets.

The bulletin says: "One of the greatest single precautionary measures to take in driving a car on icy streets is to reduce the pressure of the tires. If tires are hard, they form a positive menace, since they cause the wheels to bounce off the road surface and to lose traction and steering effect. Soft tires, with air pressure lower than is normal for regular use, safeguard cars on icy streets because they not only eliminate bouncing, but, even more important, present a much larger area of contact with the road surface. A soft tire, because it sinks into every depression, gains a foothold where a hard tire would not have much more grip than a ski that slides over the hollows and bumps.

"The three chief causes of trouble on icy surfaces are: "Loss of steering control, when the car refuses to follow the direction of the front wheels. "Loss of braking control, when the wheels lock and slide upon application of the brakes. "Loss of traction, when the rear wheels spin, upon application of power, without driving the car forward.

All three of these difficulties are greatly offset by reducing the tire pressure. For conditions such as have been common lately, the tires should be deflated until they show a perceptible bulging of the side walls. There is little chance of tire damage, because the enforced low speed of driving, and the low temperature, eliminate the possibility of overheating.

"Other precautions, aside from maintaining low speed, are in the manner of driving. "In starting from a standstill use second gear, keep the engine speed low, let in the clutch gently, and shift to high gear as soon as the car gets fairly under way. Do not attempt to accelerate in low gear in its second.

"In stopping, leave the car in gear or quickly shift to second, ease off the gas gradually, and apply the brakes softly. If the wheels lock and slide, release and apply the brakes repeatedly.

"In steering, make all changes of direction gradually, with very slight movements in the steering wheel."

A TOE TOUCH

OIL-HUSHED to a sigh of silence under Buick's style-tapered bonnet, a great-powered valve-in-head engine waits to unleash a torrent of action at your command.

There's thrill in it—and triumph over time and distance. But most important—there's eyewink obedience.

Teamed up with this ablest of driving forces is the newest and most highly perfected system of hydraulic brakes.

The quickest of stops is velvet smooth under their self-energizing action. On the wettest of streets there will be no slewing, no swerves, for they are automatically self-equalizing.

Their action has the smoothness of a closing hand, increasing its grasp steadily to the maximum. Their steel-tendon grip would halt a heavy truck, but it takes only a touch of a daintily-shod toe to put them into action.

We call them "tiptoe hydraulics," and how apt the name is you'll never know until you drive a Buick and sample for yourself their softness and their velvet command.

The first few times you sit behind a Buick wheel, you may find yourself traveling faster than you think. No car is more buoyantly smooth in its power-flow, more deceptively effortless in its swift flight.

But no car is more surely under control at all times—quicker, smoother, easier in its stopping. If you must drive with an eye on the passing minutes, do so in a Buick which matches engine eagerness with tiptoe braking sureness, offsets highspot go-ability with dependable stop-ability.

$765 to $1945 are the list prices of the new Buicks at Flint, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment.

STRAIGHT AS A STRING

Every stop is a straight-line stop with Buick's "tiptoe" hydraulic brakes. All four wheels are always equalized; the only adjustment is an occasional tightening as brake bands wear. For emergency stops and for parking purposes, the hand brake conveniently at the left under the dash, operates the two rear brakes mechanically.

Hattie Gates, 80, died at the Women's and Children's hospital, Toledo, O., Feb. 10, after an illness of several months.

Miss Gates was well known locally although she had lived most of her adult life in the west. She had spent the most of the past three years here, coming here about three years ago to help care for her nephew, the late Charles Ingalls. She made her home in the winter of 1934-5 with Mrs. Belle Wagner, and was about Buchanan until last fall, when she went to Toledo to make her home with her grand niece, Mrs. J. W. Holroyd, and her grand nephew, H. G. Stephens. She was born in Berrien Springs in 1855, coming to Buchanan when a girl. She learned dress-making in the shop of Mrs. Wilson. When young she went west with her sister, the late Mrs. Ellen Glover, settling first at Fort Mead in the Black Hills, where the two sisters were dressmakers for the army post in the early eighties, seeing something of life in the Indian days. Later she went to Butte, Mont., and was at Casper, Wyo., for a number of years during the oil boom there.

Local relatives in addition to the above named were the late Ira Wagner, Frank Rinker and Mrs. Beatrice Viele, all distant cousins.
