

WARM WEATHER SPEEDS SEWER WORK

Buchanan to Change Permanently to Eastern Standard Time Mar. 1

the
PropositionDon't Write—Wire If You
See a Robin

Well, friends and neighbors, maybe some of you can help us out—we're in a quandry and if any of you have ever been in a quandry you will realize our dilemma if you have ever been in a dilemma.

Here we are about to officially announce the coming of spring and we can't do it officially until somebody announces that they have seen a robin. We've been asking all our bird-conscious friends but to date nobody around Buchanan, at least, admits to having seen a robin. Bluejays, nutcrackers, starlings, redwings—but nary a robin. And while it may take more than one swallow to make a summer you all know it takes at least one robin to make a spring.

Do't write, wire, if you see a robin.

Washington's birthday went off as per usual, the only real outstanding occurrence being that a more or less prominent resident of Third street cut down a cherry tree on Feb. 22. We could tell a lie but in this case we don't have to, we did it with our little ax.

But the town missed an awful good publicity bet when no one thought to throw a dollar across the St. Joseph river. The river is approximately 375 feet across at the River street bridge. The Rappahannock is 372 feet across where the Big Train, Walter Johnson, duplicated the feat of George Washington. We got the river here and by another year we ought to be able to raise the dollar. Don't let's us overlook this matter again.

Now Back in 1831, etc.!

Winter seems kind of on the way out but here is a bit of interesting information on past winters from Mrs. Bertha Roe! She has an old pamphlet issued at the time of the Columbian exposition in 1893 which gives a few notes on early Chicago history. It relates that in the winter of 1831-2 Chicago was isolated from the world by four feet of snow and the thermometer went to 15 below and hung thereabouts for four weeks.

Starling Chums with Sparrows

From the River street outdoor relief station for birds comes a story about a starling which herds with sparrows. Starlings and sparrows are usually not very paltry, but this starling chummed all winter with a flock of sparrows. He has a crippled foot which may explain why he does not go with his own kind. Every day he comes with the flock of sparrows, alights on top of a chunk of suet, and remains there. He remains on or about the suet for several hours and then flies away with the flock.

Fannie, the Front Street Flapper, says she was dumfounded when she found out that a "common carrier" meant a box car or a truck when she thought all the time it was a bridge club.

Rev. Blanning to Speak on Russia

Special announcement is made of a lecture by Rev. Howard Blanning, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Benton Harbor, to be presented at the Methodist church Sunday evening. Rev. Blanning spent several months in Russia and other European countries and speaks very interestingly on his observations there.

Notice

Owing to a last minute shortage of space it was found necessary to omit the current number of the popular McCoy's creek series this week. The many readers of these articles by Harrison Merrill of Kalamazoo will be able to follow it in later issues.

Pres. and Church
Christ to E. S. T.Evan and Methodist Churches
Announce Slow Time
Sunday.

Following the lead of Chicago as in times past the Buchanan district will change to Eastern Standard, or fast time, permanently, on Sunday, March 1, although several of the churches plan to retain Central Standard time for the Sunday morning services.

The change in Buchanan will be generally observed in southwest Michigan, removing the last Central Standard time use in the lower peninsula of Michigan. Only five towns in this area have been in the habit of changing each winter to slow time, Niles, Buchanan, Gallien, Three Oaks and New Buffalo.

The Presbyterian church and the Church of Christ have announced that they will change to Eastern Standard or fast time for the morning service. The Methodist and Evangelical churches have definitely announced that they will remain on slow time for the morning service on the grounds that their attendants will not be in favor of making the change to early time on Sunday morning.

The postoffice announces the following time schedule:

Bridgman Upsets
Buchanan 27-25Buchanan Seconds Turn Back
Bridgman 19-17.

Last Friday night Buchanan and Bridgman matched their wares on the heat and forged ahead 16-13 as the going for the intermission sounded. In the next canto the Bucks tied the count 16 all, but two twin pointers put Bridgman ahead 20-16.

As the final quarter opened the Bucks slipped a fielder into the mesh making the count 20-18. Bridgman let loose a barrage of shots that gave them a lead of 6 counters. Luke split the twine from deep in the outcourt, and Jesse converted one from the back stripe, a 25-22 count resulting. Groth sank Bridgman's last field goal with about a minute and a half remaining. Stevens made good a gift toss and Luke hit the hoop from way out. The Bucks made a desperate attempt to score, but three shots in quick succession failed to slide through the twine.

The Bucks second team had a little better luck and emerged victorious by a total of 19-17. After a see-saw battle all the way the Bucks were trailing 17-15 with two minutes to play, but a fielder by Donley tied the count. With less than 30 seconds to go Dalrymple slopped in a two pointer that enabled the Bucks to emerge victorious. Weaver, diminutive Buck guard, copped scoring honors with three fielders and two free shots. Stelter and Baldwin led the losers with 4 each. The Bucks missed 12 out of 15 free throws. Had they converted a greater number their chances of victory would not have been so slim.

Luke and Groth tied for top scoring honors with 8 counters each. Zick and Virgil followed closely with 7 and 6 points respectively. The Buck varsity fared better on gift shots, making 7 out of 10 tries, Bridgman was rather weak from the black line, converting only 5 out of 16 chances.

The ice in the St. Joseph river is gradually melting without any apparent danger of jams, according to employees at the Indiana & Michigan power plant. The lack of current because of the power dams is believed to be a safeguard against any ice jams that will cause trouble.

The heaviest ice in many years was reported on the river last week, depths of two feet being reported in "folds" where the ice had been deflected up and additional accretions had been formed underneath.

The School of Religion was opened Monday evening at the Presbyterian church, with a satisfactory attendance and the following three courses: Teachers' Bible Study, Joseph Gross instructor; "Religion in the Home," Rev. Rice instructor; "Christianity and Contemporary Social Movements," John Elbers instructor.

Hollywood Theatre Will Present Passion Play on March 3

of St. AnthonyScenes of Picture Portrayal of Life of Christ Taken in Hollywood.

An event of special interest during the Lenten season in Buchanan will be the presentation of a sound film, portraying the life of Christ at the Hollywood Theatre Tuesday, March 3, under the auspices of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church.

The "Passion Play" comes very highly recommended for its realism and its faithful presentation of the incidents of the life of Christ, from His birth to the resurrection scenes. All the scenes of the picture were photographed in Judea on the actual site of the occurrence of the incidents. The action has a beautiful background of singing and symphonic music.

Special matinees will be offered at 2 p. m. and 4 p. m., prices 10 and 20 cents. Night shows will be held at 7 and 9 p. m. All seats, 20c.

Dynamite Ice at River St. BridgeSnows Disappear Swiftly Before
South Wind, 58
Degree Temperatures.

One of the longest cold waves in the history of Buchanan definitely came to an end Monday with temperatures mounting to 58 degrees and the snows which varied from about 18 inches on the level to 12 and 14 feet in drifts vanishing magically before a warm south wind. Farmers report that there is little frost under the snow blankets in the fields and that the snow is going into the ground with practically none of the run-off that had been anticipated.

The ice is melting rapidly on the St. Joseph river with none of the trouble that was anticipated. The county highway workers dynamited a small ice jam above the middle pier of the River street bridge yesterday morning, using two sticks of dynamite. The force at the local I. & M. power plant state that the water is not high in the river and that the power dams are taking care of the extra flow without any anticipation of trouble.

The last zero weather was on Friday morning when thermometers in the downtown district registered 8 below.

State Fair Will Stage Centennial
Exhibit, Program

George A. Prescott, Jr., secretary of the Michigan State Fair, has advised the Michigan Centennial Joint Committee that the outstanding feature of the State Fair this year will be a grand celebration of Michigan's Centennial of Statehood.

"The celebration at the State Fair will be a fitting tribute to the memory of those sturdy pioneers who paved the way for the remarkable progress of Michigan, and complimentary recognition of the industrious men and women who have carried on and are still with us to view with justifiable pride their wonderful achievements," said Secretary Prescott. "It will also serve as a grand finale to the series of splendid local Centennial Celebrations held throughout the state during 1935 and this year, a centralized observance of state's 100th birthday."

Included in the program will be the most elaborate exhibit of historical relics ever assembled from all parts of the State as the background for more extended displays depicting the progress of Michigan in agriculture, industry, transportation and commerce during the past 100 years. Michigan history and progress also will be depicted in spectacular pageantry and allegorical parades.

Atty. Childs
Talks to P.-T. A.Founders Day Program Observed
Here Monday Night.

Atty. T. D. Childs of Three Oaks was the principal speaker at the Founders day exercises held at the February meeting of the Buchanan Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening, speaking in place of Father John R. Day, who was unable to be present.

Atty. Childs presented a clear and instructive talk on Michigan laws and the advisability of more concern on the part of citizens in discharging their obligations to the state.

Mrs. Fred Moyer, president, had planned a Founder's Day program, reviewing the history of the local and national organization. The latter was founded in February, 1899, in Washington, D. C. The former was founded in 1921, Principal Strang of the Buchanan high school being the first president.

Miss Gertrude Simmons introduced the past presidents who were present, Mesdames J. A. White, Glenn Smith, C. D. Arnold, A. G. Haslett and M. H. McKinnon all giving brief talks on the work of the organization during their administrations.

The pupils of Miss Vera Ekstrom presented a dramatic entertainment. The high school glee club sang under the direction of R. R. Robinson, who also led community singing. The hospital committee served refreshments, chief of which being a cake, on which each past president lit a candle. Mrs. Ralph DeNardo was in charge of the program arrangements.

In the only other game played Rexall held off a last quarter spurt by the Co-ops to win 28 to 22. Ward Conrad easily topped the winners, scoring 14 points, while "Ooze" Letcher was high for the Co-ops with 8.

Loses Right Eye
in Freak Mishap

Alva Best, who lives near Clear Lake, lost his right eye through a freak accident at his home Saturday. He was warming up his carburetor, burning a glove soaked in gasoline under it while he stood several feet away. The cap to the oil line blew off flying 12 feet and striking him in the eye, causing injuries which necessitated the removal of the ball Monday.

Prove Horses
Climbed TreesMaybe So, But Who Said That Horse is Modern?

Evidence that in prehistoric days horses may have been tree-climbing animals was discovered by Artie Weaver and men aiding him in getting out fire wood at his farm during February.

Weaver and his men sawed down a beech tree about a foot through and started sawing it into 18-inch furnace lengths. Sawing about 20 feet from the butt, their crosscut suddenly gave a jump and a raucous shriek, as though it had struck a piece of steel. Weaver pulled out the saw and examined it. It had several damaged teeth. He then examined the tree. There was another sort of tooth embedded in the heart of the tree. He pried it out and brought it to the Record office where it was measured and found to be 3 1/2 inches long, 3 1/2 inches around and an inch in diameter, thoroughly petrified.

There was some conjecture about what it might be. A beech a foot through would hardly be more than 100 years old, so it could hardly be a dinosaur, unless the tree carried the tooth up from the peat bed in which it grew. Anyway it was too small for a dinosaur. A bear? Bears climbed trees but the tooth was too large for a bear. Anyway the tooth was that of a herbivorous animal.

Problem: what herbivorous animal with teeth 3 1/2 inches long climbed trees?

The problem was finally put up to the Field Museum at Chicago. The tooth was returned with the accompanying notation: "The tooth is that of the modern horse."

Ancestors Fought
In Am. Revolution

A moving story in which family and American history are interwoven was brought to the Record office Saturday by Mrs. J. C. Reep, who lives on a farm west of Buchanan. The story was contained in a clipping from a Washington, Pa. paper telling of the dedication of a memorial to Elizabeth Gilmore Berry, pioneer woman of western Pennsylvania, who served beside her husband as a soldier in the American Revolution.

Her story was typical of the times. She was one of the thousands of Scotch-Irish immigrants, who came over from Ireland in the decade previous to the Revolution, settling for the most part in Pennsylvania. She started for America at the age of 18 with her sister, and on shipboard she met John Berry, also an immigrant. When the war opened Berry enlisted as a soldier and Miss Gilmore as a nurse. During the war they were married and the wife also enrolled in the ranks beside her husband.

They finally located in the new settlements of Western Pennsylvania, in Washington Co. The clipping states that they bought their land from President Washington. Washington had large western land holdings in his own right and it is presumed that they bought directly from him, as Pennsylvania was not a public land state and the United States had no lands for sale there.

The memorial was of granite, 5 feet high, the entire front covered with a bronze marker telling of Mrs. Berry's heroic life. A smaller memorial was placed at the grave of her husband, Mrs. W. H. Alexander, State Regent of the D. A. R. presided. The graves are in the Robinson Run cemetery near McDonald, Pa. The McDonald American Legion furnished music. Mr. and Mrs. Berry were great-great-grandparents of Mrs. J. C. Reep.

Elda Rossow received a letter from Esther Canfield, who is attending a private Catholic school at Chicago. Miss Canfield is taking a commercial course and is doing fine work.

The office is being moved next to the south window to permit the extension. The alteration was made necessary by the large increase of business at the institution recently.

Health Bulletin
Issued by Buchanan
Ministerial Assoc.

Our medical associations often offer valuable help for the care of our physical health. Your ministers offer these suggestions for your spiritual health, believing, if practised they will add to your happiness and usefulness. Experienced and practical Christians have found that you have to feed your inner life if you wish it to be strong; as you find three meals a day help you fight sub zero weather, so these three suggestions will help you conquer and overcome the difficulties and temptations of everyday life. Here they are:

1. Daily read a portion of God's Word.
2. Daily set aside a period of prayer and meditation. Preferably first thing in the morning.
3. Attend at least one public worship service each week, as well as Sunday School.

These are three very simple things to try but you will find they will mean much to you and your home and community. While you are trying them, if you would like to go a little farther, remember that you can become immune from some of the most terrible things in life. Your medical advisers often tell you that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Prevention is a key note used by your spiritual advisers too. We suggest you watch your thoughts very closely, "for as a man thinketh in his heart so is he." Our Heavenly Father judges us by our thoughts, so one of our prayers should be: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." Here is another suggestion: try to practice the Golden Rule by doing to others as you would they should do unto you; as you like a day of rest on the Sabbath, refrain from making others work by buying and selling. You can go to the movies six nights in the week, try going to church Sunday night and remember the radio is not a substitute for but a supplement of the church. Now here is the hardest thing to try, it is what makes the churches unique, that is why the church offers you something you cannot get elsewhere for the church is a fellowship of those who seek to be friends of God; so here is the hardest thing offered by your ministerial association: Try with all the brains you have and all the skill you have to follow the Saviour and you will find it will make you very humble asking and giving forgiveness, and you will find you cannot do it alone, but God will help you. At least try this during Lent which begins March 1st and ends Easter Sunday.

Written by Rev. Thomas Rice for the Ministerial Association.

Good Entertainment
At Winter Carnival

Although attendance was not as large as had been hoped on account of adverse weather conditions, an excellent program of entertainment was presented at the Winter Carnival stage under the auspices of the Lions club at the high school Friday and Saturday evenings. An outstanding feature of the entertainment was the music of the Kraut Band of Decatur, brought here Friday evening thru the intercession of Kermit Washburn, a member. The troop had won first place in German bands contesting at the 1935 Blossom Fete and lived up to their reputation. Saturday evening excellent entertainment was presented by Caroline Harp of Edwarsburg, Blanche and Lucien Depyl and Dale Florey, all ballad singers, and by the tap dancing pair, Lillian Fabiano and Norma Bromley. The promoters state that a satisfactory net was made.

Work Pushed 64 Hours Weekly in Wet Sections on Third and Short Streets.

After six weeks of zero weather and storm hindered progress on installation of the WPA sanitary sewer project here, the work surged ahead last week, the Buchanan force of 85 workers being divided into two shifts of five hours each to permit 10 hours work daily six days a week.

The two-shift crews are being employed on the wet sections of the sewer on Third and Short St. Each shift works five hours, from 7 a. m. until noon and from noon until 5 p. m. each shift making up two hours extra in order to fill out 32 hours weekly. This allows a total of 64 hours of work weekly on these sections. The former four-day weekly shifts on the wet sections had occasioned much waste of time, because of the deterioration of the work through seepage and other causes during the three day lay-off.

The Niles force of about 60 men is still working on the four-day schedule as it is not convenient to make bus trips four times daily to operate two shifts. This force is being operated separately on Oak street, where there is no water to fight.

On Third street the installation is being made at depths of from 14 to 17 feet in two feet of water. This depth is required to permit grade for the flow through the former McGaghie lots and across Front street, where the depth will be decreased in places to 10 feet. The depth where the sewer enters Front street through the former Bremer lot will be 12 feet.

Much extra work was caused on Third street by the necessity of exhuming the old sanitary sewer laid there in 1928, which was laid at a depth of 12 feet, not deep enough for the necessary grade. A storm sewer and a gas main here also caused complications.

The engineers in charge state that they expect much better progress from this date on. Frost to the depth of three and four feet has already melted about a foot on top.

About 250 feet of main has been installed on Third street and about 280 feet on Oak St.

Novel Plan

For Safety To

Be Organized

Sheriff Charles Miller Calls Meeting of Filling Station Attendants for March 9th.

Another county wide safety campaign will be started in Berrien county Monday evening, March 9, with a mass meeting in the St. Joseph Bkls Temple at 8:30 p. m. eastern standard time, it was announced today by Sheriff Charles L. Miller.

Filling station attendants and other persons who have considerable direct contact with the general public will be invited to the meeting, Sheriff Miller said, and it is expected 300 or 400 persons will attend.

"We have decided to request co-operation of filling station attendants, rather than just to make contacts with the heads of oil companies," the sheriff said.

"The attendants meet and talk with motorists every day and are much closer to the general public than most employers are likely to be. Filling station men can keep us posted on traffic hazards in their neighborhoods, and we expect they may help us in handling accidents on the road and to some extent in dealing with hit and run drivers."

Managers or several oil companies in Berrien county have volunteered to co-operate in the coming meeting, the sheriff said. Speakers have not yet been secured.

Birds are more susceptible to contagious diseases than mammals.

Driving Hints

On Icy Streets

To drive with maximum safety on icy streets, partly deflate your tires and make all steering changes—starts and stops—gradually.

These suggestions for safe driving, under conditions such as many motorists have faced lately, were broadcast recently by Chevrolet Motor Co. to all its dealers and service stations in northern territories because of the numerous traffic mishaps that have been caused by slippery streets.

The bulletin says:

"One of the greatest single precautionary measures to take in driving a car on icy streets is to reduce the pressure of the tires. If tires are hard, they form a positive menace, since they cause the wheels to bounce off the road surface and to lose traction and steering effect. Soft tires, with air pressure lower than is normal for regular use, safeguard cars on icy streets because they not only eliminate bouncing, but, even more important, present a much larger area of contact with the road surface. A soft tire, because it sinks into every depression, gains a foothold where a hard tire would not have much more grip than a ski that slides over the hollows and bumps.

"The three chief causes of trouble on icy surfaces are:

"Loss of steering control, when the car refuses to follow the direction of the front wheels.

"Loss of braking control, when the wheels lock and slide upon application of the brakes.

"Loss of traction, when the rear wheels spin, upon application of power, without driving the car forward.

"All three of these difficulties are greatly offset by reducing the tire pressure. For conditions such as have been common lately, the tires should be deflated until they show a perceptible bulging of the side walls. There is little chance of tire damage, because the enforced low speed of driving, and the low temperature, eliminate the possibility of overheating.

"Other precautions, aside from maintaining low speed, are in the manner of driving.

Women WHO ARE Rundown

MRS. Leola Reisinger, 513 E. Peoria Ave., Decatur, Ill., said: "I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on two different occasions when I was rundown and weak and it soon had me feeling like myself again. In my opinion it is of the greatest benefit to weak, rundown women. It is pleasant to take, improves the appetite, and helps to build one up so quickly." Buy now!

Christian Science Churches "Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 1. Among the Bible citations is this passage (Luke 1: 32): "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father, David."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 332): "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive."

Have you ever heard of politicians who "will clean up a city, put good efficient workers in office, keep the streets clean, and awaken the citizens to realizing how nice their town looks when properly kept?" Well, in our city that is our platform, too.

In this "city" of ours we spend about seven hours of each day. It is a city of learning where all should be taught the city rules. Near the top of our laws stand neatness, dependability and willingness, all which convert to pride. Little pieces of paper thrown here and there on the floors, on desks, in halls, and in locker rooms give proof we have some lazy, uninterested citizens. Now please don't take your vacation until the act is made a law, but perform your duties as usual. As soon as it is added to our laws, we'll let you know.

Now, politicians, let's see what we can do by really living up to our platform and cleaning up this city.

VICTOR HERBERT, COMPOSER

Music lovers everywhere enjoyed seeing the movie "Naughty Marietta" when the opera was brought into the picture. And the one who made all that music possible was Victor Herbert.

Victor Herbert, "the Playboy of Broadway," as he is called, was an Irishman by birth, educated in Germany and America, played the cello, was a band leader, and composer of light opera—five in one!

His musical career started when he began playing on a piccolo in a school orchestra. Later he became an outstanding cellist. Onward pushed his career until Edward Strauss, one of the Waltz-King family, engaged him to play in his orchestra, and to play under guest conductors as Liszt, St. Sams, Delibes, and Brahms.

After eight years residence in the United States he accepted a position as conductor of Gilmore's Band. The serious type of music he left behind and began his career of composing light operas. He was a composer who "composed by the yard and all good." Operettas he composed are all someone's favorites. In the middle of all his composing, rehearsing and conducting, he left the music world in 1924, to enter a different world, and left memories dear to all his followers.

Here's the Dope

The sophomores put on a lulu of a dance last Thursday afternoon. The boys were a little backward in starting but they hit their stride at about half time and all went well, except for a few sour notes here and there.

The old stamping grounds, as we claim it should be called, the little cut out section directly across from the main door of the study hall, has been occupied as usual by a few of the more brilliant students around old B. H. S. Here "Beans" and "Imo" exchange thoughts of love. Here Luke relates his basketball ability to anyone that will listen, and others gossip about similar things.

From what we hear and see, we believe Marshall Doak is trying to beat the record for being tardy. When we beat Una Kelley, we thought we were tops; but when there's a fellow around like Doak, we just say "More excuses to you, Doak."

It seems that a former high school student had some trouble with her car last Tuesday and was about ready to call a wrecker when along came "Little Harold" as he is known around school, who was overcome by the fair woman and engineered the job of pushing her car down Chicago St. The car bravely started midway on the hill.

The first team has been drilling hard this week for their last basketball game of the season and also for the tourney in Niles. Let's hope the gang brings home the bacon.

When he was less than 100 miles from his home, he met a tramp whose real name was "New Orleans Frenchy." This tramp told Livingston that if he were to return home, he would be sent to a reform school.

Finally after fifteen years of traveling, both in the United States and foreign countries, Livingston returned to his home only to find that both of his parents had died five years before as a result of worry over him.

All the bright and prospective young Latinos look very forlorn because they were told that the Latinos never chewed gum.

Talks to Students

"Where is My Wandering Boy?" was the title of the speech presented by Leon Ray Livingston, traveler, author and orator, to the students of the local high school on Tuesday afternoon.

The speaker presented statistics which show that 40,000 of the 80,000 girls who run away from home never return to their parents and 35,000 of the 200,000 boys who leave home end as worthless rovers.

Mr. Livingston gave the history of his past which made the talk very interesting and at the same time gave his listeners an idea of the life that a runaway leads.

He was born in San Francisco, Calif., of rather well-to-do people. "The desire to travel and the spirit of adventure which was a trait of our forefathers, crops out in some of us today," he remarked. It was this same spirit of wanderlust which caused him to leave home at the age of eleven. Becoming homesick he finally decided to return home to his parents because, as he expressed it, "What a mistake I had made by running away from my parents who had gone out of their way many times to do things for me and did not ask a single thank you."

When he was less than 100 miles from his home, he met a tramp whose real name was "New Orleans Frenchy." This tramp told Livingston that if he were to return home, he would be sent to a reform school.

Finally after fifteen years of traveling, both in the United States and foreign countries, Livingston returned to his home only to find that both of his parents had died five years before as a result of worry over him.

In spite of this heavy burden on his conscience he continued his aimless wanderings for 30 years, until 1911 when he was married to a heroic woman for whom he stopped his wanderings.

KEEP YOUR SHOE ON

Miss Marjorie Mitch found that a shoe sort of hurt her foot so she slid it off, unaware that she was being watched. She had removed the shoe and asked for her shoe, but instead the culprit put the shoe outside on a window sill where it became quite cold.

Yes, Marjorie received her shoe later on and with a cold shudder she slid it on.

Being too proud to go digging in waste baskets, Miss Mitch scolded the culprit and asked for her shoe, but instead the culprit put the shoe outside on a window sill where it became quite cold.

Start Plans For Blossom Talent Contest

Ray Helson, Manager of Liberty Theatre to Continue Blossom Talent Contest.

Young people of southwestern Michigan who have an eye towards a career as an entertainer will do well to start now to prepare for the second Blossom Talent contest, conducted in connection with the southwestern Michigan Blossom Festival.

Ray Helson, manager of the Liberty theatre, announced today that the Liberty will sponsor the Blossom Talent contest again this year. It was inaugurated a year ago by Elwyn M. Simons, then manager of the theatre, who died in December.

The primary purpose of the Blossom Talent contest is to obtain entertainers who will travel with the Blossom Queen and her court. While the Queen and her maids of honor make brief radio talks and short speeches before luncheon clubs, the entertainers fill out the remainder of the program with songs, sketches or other acts that are adjudged worthy.

Each town and city in southwestern Michigan is invited to enter the contest. It may choose its representatives in any way desired; the most common way has been to hold eliminations in each town, with the audience as judge. The finals are to be held at the Liberty theatre in Benton Harbor, and are judged by radio talent scouts or others whose judgment of entertainment values is considered sound.

Dates for the contest have not been decided, Mr. Helson said, but the finals will be held sometime in April. The Blossom Festival will be held from May 3 to 10.

Winning the Blossom Talent contest may lead to better things. Miss Adeline Palmer, who won the solo contest last year, used this as a stepping stone to obtain a scholarship at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. The scholarship was good for a semester, and at the end of the semester she was offered a scholarship for the second half year.

The Goens brothers, four personable young colored men who were popular with audiences last spring, also are on the road to success. After the Blossom contest they won a vaudeville contract and now are on a tour of radio stations.

The contest will be open to any amateurs who can entertain with songs, instruments, novelties and even dancing. The only requirement is that audiences must like them if they are going to win.

The "Laughing City"
Throughout northern Europe, Lwow is known as the "Laughing City" because of the good humor and genial spirit of her inhabitants.

"Captain Blood" And His Pirates At Hollywood Sun.

Rafael Sabatini's famous and colorful story of romance and adventure, "Captain Blood," which Cosmopolitan Production has filmed on a gigantic scale, comes to the Hollywood Theatre Sunday and Monday.

This thrilling tale of seventeenth century sea pirates is said to be one of the most elaborate and pretentious productions in screen history. Tremendous settings were designed by master builders.

These include great sailing vessels of the period, massive in size and full-battered, which had to be specially built, complete in every detail; parts of a village in England; most of the old city of Port Royal, in the West Indies, destroyed by earthquake; King James II's palace; a governor's mansion; and costumes to suit everyone from King to slave.

Friday-Saturday Program
There's realism in the new Paramount production, "It's a Great Life". The picture is based on life in a C.C.C. camp and the script calls for a fight between Joe Morrison and Paul Kelly. Kelly was supposed to knock Morrison down with a single blow. In going down, Morrison struck his head on a sharp projection, and was knocked unconscious. He was treated at the studio emergency hospital for lacerations.

One of the first stories to laugh at the conventional mystery tale while still maintaining an exciting plot, "Seven Keys to Baldpate" achieved unusual popularity both as a novel and as a play. With Gene Raymond featured, RKO Radio brings a modern version of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" to the screen. Margaret Callahan has the feminine lead.
