

CITY AND TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS APRIL 6

Locals Meet New Buffalo 5 in Opening Session Tournament Tonight

Term of Phay
Graffort Ends

Now Here's the Proposition

How Time Does Change!
How often, oh how often, in the years that now are dead
We used to climb upon a box to turn the clocks ahead.
Back there in the depression when for work we sort of lacked
It helped to pass the time away to turn them up and back,
The reason that we did it then one easy understand—
We had more time to change the time when time hung on our hands.
In fact, it was so much the thing to monkey with the clocks
It hardly seemed to pay a man to climb down off the box.
But since they've moved the hands ahead and moved them there to stay
We can climb down and dust our hands and kick the box away.
Some of the boys are edgy but it's hardly worth a row—
We haven't time to change the clocks, we have to punch them now.
So let us put the box away so we can find it when
They next decide to change their minds and change the clocks again.

Announces For Sheriff

Mr. Editor Record: I want to announce my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Berrien County on the Democrat ticket and am sending you an ad and $5.00.
The $5 is for the ad but I thought that you would be willing to throw in your vote. The way the boys are warming up, votes are going to be more in demand this year than knotholes in a nudist colony fence.
I am running for office because I need the money. I don't think it will do any good to put that old one about my friends asking me to run, and anyway neither of mine know anything about it.
I promise if elected to give the county a nice quiet administration and not bother anybody except to show up at the court house once a month on payday. I am standing at the bars with a milkpail on my arm calling "co-o-o-o-o-o-o boss, co boss" waiting for that old cow, the public, to come up and get milked. I promise that if I am elected she will get the dangdest milking she ever got.

Yours truly,
William Shingledecker.

She Wasn't The Noah Who Was Captain Of The Ark

Our friend who offered to stump the Sunday School teachers two weeks ago by the question, "Whose daughter was Noah?" tells us that since they appear to be stumped, he will furnish the solution, from Numbers, Chapter 27, first verse:
"Then came the daughters of Zelophehad, the son of Gilead, and these are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah."
Now Bring on Them Violets
Official announcement of the coming of spring, delayed last week because nobody in Buchanan had reported seeing a robin, is now in order, Allen Matthews having seen a robin perched on a telephone pole arm on Third street yesterday. A lady called up yesterday and announced seeing the first house fly.

Announces Subjects of Lenten Sermons

Paul Carpenter, pastor of the Church of Christ, announces the following sermon subjects for the Lenten and Easter season:

N. B. Winners 1935 Tourney

Berrien Springs and Three Oaks Rated Strong Contenders.

The Buccaneer cagemen have been putting the finishing touch on their defense this week under the supervision of Coach John Miller, preparatory to meeting the tough and rangy New Buffalo five at 7:40 o'clock tonight in the opening frame of the district tournament at the Niles high school.

Coach Miller stated that his men expected to give their best, but that only a dope reversal would give them an edge over New Buffalo, winner of the district tournament in 1935.

The Microphone dopesters laid it out to the following effect:

The fact that the district high school will wind up its 1935-36 basketball season next month is one small phase. The big question is "Who'll win the district championship?" This will be decided March 5-6-7 in the Niles gym. Fred Spurgeon, Walter Wegerly, and Erwin F. Woods will officiate at all the games. Three officials will be used on Thursday, two on Friday and Saturday. All games will be played on E. S. T. Student season tickets for one afternoon and three nights will be 50c. All other tickets will be sold as single admissions only with no reserved seats.

Berrien Springs has a chance of winning this tournament as this school has lost only one game this season and that was at the county tournament held during Christmas vacation.

There are possibilities for Bridgman to pull through with high scores. New Buffalo has battled against strong competition in all her games. Regardless of how anyone is betting on his favorite team, the championship tussle will be a toss up. Saturday will ring down the curtain by the playing of B, C, D champions.

Buchanan is in a tough bracket with New Buffalo. The Buchanan players have a chance of winning their first game with New Buffalo if they will get out there and play ball as they are capable of playing.

Perham Sentenced to From 1 to 10 Yrs.

Garel Perham, Niles man and former employee in a local factory, who fled from the scene of an accident after killing two school girls three months ago, was taken to the Indiana State prison at Michigan City, Saturday, to begin serving a sentence of from one to ten years imposed by Circuit Court Judge Dan Pyle, South Bend.

Perham was sentenced Friday after he had withdrawn a plea of not guilty and had entered a plea of guilty to indictments charging involuntary manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident. Perham was sentenced from one to ten years on the first charge and one to two on the second, the judge stipulating that sentences might be served concurrently.

Perham ran down Janet Becker, 7, and Magdalen Barrett, 8, Roseland, on the evening of Nov. 22, killing both.

Maynard Post spent the week-end in Kalamazoo.

Wilson McLeod Dies in Detroit

First Job with "Billboard;" Had Varied Journalistic Career.

Wilson McLeod, 45, resident of Buchanan for several years and a veteran newspaper man, died Monday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Kathryn Thompson, Detroit.

McLeod had had a varied experience as a newspaper reporter and editor, beginning with a traveling circus connection with the "Billboard" theatrical magazine as a boy and extending through a number of years as a reporter on Pittsburgh and Detroit newspapers. He also was employed on papers at Royal Oak, Bad Axe and other Michigan towns, and at one time owned and operated a weekly paper.

He was badly handicapped in his later years by chronic ill health. Coming to Buchanan in 1927 he opened and developed a news agency here. He left for Lilydale, N. Y., where he published a Spiritualist paper and conducted a bookstore during the summer sessions at the large Spiritualist camp there.

He returned to Buchanan in the spring of 1932, and remained here until he left for Bridgman last summer as editor-manager of the paper there. He was publicly representative for the two Bloomsom Festival.

He is survived by a son, Donald, who made his home with him here, attending the local high school, and a daughter, who made her home in Saginaw.

McLeod's health had been worse during the past winter, which he had spent at Bad Axe and Detroit. Funeral and interment will be held in Bad Axe.

Winters are Same Says Weather Man

Old Timers Refuted by Records of Weather Bureau.

"Winters, they aren't what they used to be," the old-timers familiar remark, has been badly upset by weather bureau records cited in Ann Arbor at the meeting of the annual Michigan Highway Conference. If it is snowfall the old-timer refers to, recent winters have been all they used to be or more.

These are the facts, according to H. M. Wills, meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau and director of the Michigan State Weather Service. During the past 48 years the average Michigan snowfall has been 56 inches. Seven times it has reached 70 inches or more, in 1893, 1901, 1909, 1923, 1924, 1926 and 1929. Only three such falls came in the first 35 years of this period, with four in the last 13 years.

Incidentally, the north coast of Marquette county has an average annual fall of 100 inches, exceeded nowhere in the nation except in mountain regions. Present prospects point to the likelihood of another 70 inch record for Michigan this winter, Wills said.

Complaints from highway authorities that the snow this year has been very difficult to move, were explained by Wills, who showed that the repeated, wind packed snowfalls, without warm periods, have resulted in a high density type of snow. Seventeen inches of snow tested at Lansing showed a water density of 3.7 inches, more than double that of normal light, moist snow.

Clayton Conrad Makes Going Venture of Library Chain

First of Several Hundred Units Opened in Buchanan Seven Years Ago.

Seven years ago a former Buchanan boy, Clayton Conrad, was browsing around in the old home town while on a visit with his sister, Mrs. John Fowler, of the Bend of the River, and at the same time turning over in his mind the idea of starting a chain lending library. Conrad had been in vaudeville, lyceum, and chautauqua, for years as a chalk talker. That business was to all appearances on the way out, and Conrad was looking for a new line. He had once met in the east three young fellows who had a chain lending library with units in several hundred small towns and they were getting away with it.

There was nothing of the sort in the west then and it seemed to Conrad that it might be a chance. Buchanan appeared a fair place to start. There was no library of modern fiction here and quite a few people knew how to read. He ambled around the streets and drifted into Nellie Cathcart's news stand. He used to know Nellie. Everything seemed to be working out right. He talked it over and Nellie agreed it might go. So he started his first lending unit here.

That was seven years ago, just before the start of the depression. But the venture went right from the start. It seemed to fill a long felt want here. Conrad gave the customers a variety. Mixed with his selections were some of the best current fiction and non-fiction. There was the sort of book you borrowed and carried conspicuously under your arm, stopping your friends with: "Have you read this book?" Here is something you should read. It's educational and it's real literature." Then also there was the kind that you stuck under your coat and hid in the garage when you got home. After all there's all kinds of books just like there is all kinds of people and the rule of successful business is "Always give the customer what he wants."

But on the whole Conrad's books were a distinct advance over the pulp magazines and he performed a real service. True, hard times were on, but people had more time to read, and three cents a day did not seem much for a book that you had heard about and wanted to read. Depression or not, Conrad's book business grew. He started a unit in Niles, then in other towns. He located in Three Rivers and there last week he rated a success story, two thirds of a page with pictures. That being the case, of course it becomes a pleasure to mention that he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Conrad, pioneers of the Wagner district; that he was born on a farm there and was a graduate of the Buchanan high school; that he had the drawing bug before he left here and eventually became a vaudeville chalk talker and a commercial artist.

But let's quote from the Three Rivers paper:

Both Mr. and Mrs. Conrad are great readers and on their trips over the various circuits had often experienced difficulty in securing good books—or even indifferent ones—in many towns visited. There had been for years a question in the back of his mind that some way be found to satisfy the demand for good literature in many towns where no books were on sale. To this was added the problem of supplying books to those unable to buy and particularly in communities where library facilities were lacking or inadequate as generally speaking the very new books could neither be bought nor secured from a library.

They quit vaudeville, however, before the crash came and he began work as a commercial artist in Worcester, Mass. The drive of the machine age was at its height and there was a "rush and drive" even in art studios which he found hardly compatible with production of the best class.

This was disquieting and while doing this work as an artist, Mr. Conrad devoted spare time to securing every available bit of information on this library plan which has since worked out successfully.

He finally worked out a tentative plan of operation, bought several thousand books. As southwestern Michigan generally and the vicinity of Buchanan specially appealed to him the books were shipped, and with some misgivings, of course, he set out to establish a chain of lending libraries. It should be said to his credit that his original plan has not been basically changed from the start.

From Niles and Buchanan the chain of lending libraries grew and there was an evident demand for new books. Some years previously while travelling on vaudeville in Michigan they had bought a summer cottage at Fisher lake and spent summer vacations there. When a definite location was sought Mr. and Mrs. Conrad decided on Three Rivers. It is centrally located for the numerous trips to the libraries which are visited at regularly frequent periods.

They located in Three Rivers and a short time afterward they bought the residence at 815 N. Main St., where they now reside. At the rear an extensive office and library building has been built to house the business and two full time employees handle much of the detail work of the growing chain which has extended to hundreds of libraries for which many thousands of volumes are required.

It is impossible to talk many minutes with the head of this library without becoming enthusiastic about the library, its work and its valuable filling of the niche provided by the public demand for literature, entertainment and education. While he modestly disclaims any special genius in his profession by adoption, and adaptation too, his friends appreciate that years of appearance before critical audiences of the circuits has attuned nerves to quick appreciation of individual likes and dislikes. It is that quality which probably has gone far to make his profession in Three Rivers outstandingly successful.

When he first talked to eastern book men about the then proposed plan and suggested that he had in mind Michigan and Indiana for his field of operations he was immediately told the country was too wild, the natives too uneducated and lacking sufficient culture to appreciate good books.

Of course that was only the viewpoint of the eastern resident untraveled and unschooled in mid-western standards of education.

Tapping Trees In Sugar Bushes

State Crop Experts Predicts Extra Run of Maple Sap.

Many Buchanan "sugar bushes" will not be tapped this year, because of the belief of many farmers that there will be a short run this year, contrary to the prediction of Verne H. Church, state agricultural crop statistician, who announces that there is likely to be a good maple yield.

Another reason for the inactivity of some bush owners is the fact that in the past few years, owing to depression, they have experienced difficulty in disposing of their syrup. Among those who are tapping this week is Emory Rough, who states that weather conditions are favorable this week and the sap is running freely. "Severe" winters are usually followed by a good maple sugar yield," Church says. "Total rainfall and the amount of moisture in the ground determines the amount of flow of maple sugar."

If the snow and ice thaw out soon so that farmers can begin tapping the trees shortly we may expect an excellent yield. The sooner tapping is possible the better will be the yield and the quantity."

The season usually lasts four weeks but it varies with the year and weather conditions. In the northern part of the state, it starts several days later than in the middle, while the season in southern Michigan opens several days earlier.

Schools Close for Co. Institute

Schools of Buchanan and the surrounding district will be closed this afternoon for the teachers institute to be held at the call of County Superintendent Jennie Mechem in the Niles high school, opening at 2 p. m.

During the first hour discussions will be held, with rural schools in separate divisions. Mrs. Ella Champion will then address the teachers on some form of nature study. The main address of the afternoon will be presented by Dr. Galen Starr Ross. In the evening Slim Williams will give a lecture on "Alaska, Our Last Frontier."

Pioneer of Bertrand Dies

Elizabeth Binns Macneil Wedded 44th Chief of Scotch Clan.

The funeral of Elizabeth Binns Macneil, held in Niles Sunday, brings to a close a remarkable career, which began in Niles township March 19, 1855, and came to a close in Great Neck, Long Island, last week.

Mrs. Macneil was a member of the well known pioneer family of Binns, a cousin of Harry Binns of this city. She lived the first part of her life near Bertrand, but left for the east after marrying Bruce Macneil, famous marine artist and scion of the Macneils of Barra, an ancient noble family of Scotland. Her husband was, to be exact, the 44th hereditary chief of the House of Macneil, Barra. She was an aunt of Harvey Sherwood, Kalamazoo teacher and summer resident of Bakertown. Sherwood has at his farm home an interesting relic in the form of the clan regalia of the Macneils.

Mrs. Macneil, who wrote poetry under the name of Bessie Binns and had compiled an exhaustive genealogy of the Lister family, was related to two old English families, the Binns and the Listers. The home of the Clan Macneil is the little Isle of Barra in the Outer Hebrides.

Mrs. Macneil is survived by two sons, Robert Lister Macneil, a British subject who is an architect in Great Neck, L. I., and Paul Humphrey Macneil, London, Eng., inventor of the fog-eye and radio sextant; a daughter, Mrs. Florence Martin, widow of Dr. Edward Martin, a former coroner of St. Joseph county.

Two Supervisors and Two Constables to be Elected in City.

Buchanan city and township elections of this district will be held Monday, April 6, with March 17 as the last date for filing candidacies for office in the city according to charter regulation.

One commissioner is to be elected for a three year term, that of Phay Graffort being the only expiration on the city board this spring. Graffort has been spending a part of the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., but it is reported that he is returning the latter part of the month. There will also be elected two supervisors and two constables for the city, and full states of officers in each township. Notice is contained elsewhere in this issue of the Buchanan Democratic caucus.

The township meetings have less significance because of the fact that the last fifth of the township road system will be transferred to the counties April 1, under the terms of the McNitt Act, and for the first time since the organization of Buchanan township in 1837 there will be no road maintenance business.

The McNitt Act provided that the counties take over their township road mileage at the rate of 20 per cent a year, beginning 1931. On April 1, 1936, Berrien county will have taken over 701.3 miles of township road.

Dirt Slides Disalign Mains

WPA Force Exhumes and Relays Gas and Water Mains on Third Street.

Dirt slides which have carried water and gas mains slightly out of alignment are delaying progress on the installation of the sanitary sewer main on Third street, according to engineers representing the city on the local WPA project.

The slide of dirt was occasioned by the fact that in installing the Third street sanitary sewer in 1928 the city dug an open ditch with slanting sides, instead of the narrow trench protected by pilings as in the present installation. Since the fill made in 1928 the dirt has never settled sufficient to cement the fill to the sides of the old ditch. When the sheeting was removed and the WPA trench filled this winter the dirt was frozen and could not be tamped solid. The dirt in the old fills on each side shifted slightly inward, carrying with it the gas and water mains which are interred on the north side of the trench about five feet below the surface. Although no considerable damage has been done yet, the engineers state that it would be unsafe to leave the mains in this condition and the WPA force will exhumate and relay them on Third street.

Engineer Gartner stated that progress is being made at the rate of from 70 to 80 feet a day in laying sewer main on Oak street, where the trench is dry and there are no pipes or other complications. About April 1, when the frost has left the ground, a trench machine will be used for the dry trenching, making from 300 to 400 feet daily. The first of the week the installing force had laid the Oak street main between Dewey Avenue and Third street and about 150 feet past Third.

Six inch laterals or service pipes are being installed on the mains for house connections by means of Y's which slant upward at a sharp angle to bring the lateral nearer the surface. The laterals will be carried one joint beyond the edge of the sidewalks on the private lots. Since public sewer installation usually stops at the curb, the Buchanan property owners are getting the benefit of 2 to 10 feet of lateral installation free. The laterals are from 7 to 9 feet below the surface at the sidewalks. The Y and one joint is installed when the main is laid and the installation to the side walk will be made later when the frost is out.

Miss Helen Shook, Benton Harbor, and Thurston Roberts, Chicago, visited Saturday at the home of Mrs. Florence Shook and Irenus Sparks.

Prices Drop 13% From
1932 on Basis of Gold

Washington, D. C.—On the basis of the gold dollar of 1932, the farmer in 1935 sold his products at prices 13 per cent less than in 1932. It is revealed in figures computed here.

Taking wholesale commodity prices of 1913 as 100 in an index of commodity prices, these prices were down to 70 in 1932 before the devaluation of the dollar. On the basis of the same gold dollar, these prices of 1935 were down to 78 in the index, a decline of 13 per cent from 1932.

Sale of All U. S. Farms
Wouldn't Pay 1937 Debt

Washington, D. C.—The total value of the 6,812,040 farms in the United States was $32,881,321,378 on January 31, 1935. It is reported by William L. Austin, director of the bureau of census. This valuation included all buildings and improvements.

With Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau estimating the national debt at 35½ billions of dollars for the coming fiscal year, it is seen that if all the farms in the nation were sold for cash at the value placed upon them by the bureau of census, and the proceeds applied upon the national debt for the 1937 fiscal year, the United States would still have to raise nearly 2 billion dollars to liquidate the debt, he said.

Government Cuts Burden Public
Chicago.—"The cost of all government in the United States in 1935 was as large as the total bill for food, clothing, rent and medical care for all of the population in the same period," S. Wells Uley, Detroit business man, told a gathering here. The federal payroll in March, 1935, required pay checks for 2,159,000 persons, while in December, 1935, 9,017,000 checks were paid, he said.

Along McCoy's Crick

By Harrison Merrill

Trouble with most historians, unless experienced in such matters, is that they do not confine themselves to the truth, due no doubt to the inroads on their memory, or that they are overcome by the power of exaggeration and are thereby tossed for a loss on the gridiron of knowledge, to use an outdoor phrase.

It was to overcome these historical discrepancies that this series of articles for the Record was conceived by the writer. The Record must be kept straight as somebody's friend, Al Smith, might say.

Not long ago Rolla S. Black, writing to the Record from Coconut Grove, Fla., made so bold as to state that the old swimmin' hole on the St. Joe river was at the mouth of McCoy's Crick. Mr. Black, of course, was just one and one-half miles too far up stream.

What the Florida correspondent had reference to, no doubt, was the time Andy Carother's pet sturgeon "Minnie", slipped her halter on the opposite side of the river and swam across stream and took a nap in the less turbulent waters of the Crick with the result that purrin' little brook overflowed its bank as far up town as Churchill's lumber yard.

This is mentioned not much with the idea of correcting the record, as it is to give present-day readers an idea as to the size of "Minnie" and other sturgeon which used to infest the old river.

In the old days when spring happened along certain fishermen with their nets used to take hundreds of sturgeon from the stream. That, of course, was back in pre-dam times. Among these fishermen were the Voorhees boys, the Treat brothers, "Doc", Fowler, "Steel", Rough and many others. Also mullet and lake suckers were taken from the river.

The sturgeon eggs, and there were millions of them, were bought by outsiders, shipped to Russia and returned to this country in the form of canned caviar. At one time Buchanan was the pre-cavier center of the universe.

Also the nose of a sturgeon is constructed of rubber and if John Holmes had never built his dam across the St. Joe river Buchanan today, no doubt, would be the tire making center of the U. S. A. But the dam put an end to caviar and rubber production along the Crick. It might be well at this time to state that Mr. Andy Carother's was the first person in this country to import German carp. He built a number of pools along the north shore of the river and the new fish were installed there. All would have been well had not the river overflowed its banks the following spring and the carp become widely scattered with the result that today the streams, lakes and woods are full of 'em.

It is regretted that the Republicans who were in power at the time could not have foreseen this and placed a much higher duty on the importation. Sufficient to have caused Mr. Carother's to have confined his efforts to cultivating home grown gold fish and other metallic specimens of the aquatic.

Then, too, there was that story which recently appeared in the Record which told of the "plush seats" in the opera house. If there were plush seats it certainly was because the patrons were wearing such at the time. There were only hard bottomed chairs with an occasional sliver to keep a person awake in the old auditorium. Otherwise there were benches, also hard bottomed. Writers should investigate such things carefully before rushing into print.

People of the earlier day were hardy and did not require plush seats. They did not go into a theatre to take a nap or get away from creditors.

Also there was that story about Harry Binns and how he almost saved his supply of bottled ink back there that cold winter old-timers like to tell about. That, too, requires considerable correcting. Instead of taking the ink home, as stated, young Mr. Binns, in order to preserve fluid for the dotted line, actually slept in the post office window, where the ink was located at the time. He figured he could provide enough warmth to head off the chill.

It was claimed at the time that had young Binns remained out of the window that the ink would have stood a better chance of retaining its fluid form. As it was every bottle in the place froze up and busted and for weeks Buchanan people were obliged to depend on slates to carry on their correspondence.

The writer several years ago heard a lecture by a Mr. Hanlin,

Bone of Contention in the Aegean Sea

View of the island of Leros, one of the Dodecanese islands, which the Italians term the "Belgoland of the Aegean." The island was taken by Italy in 1912 from Turkey, and heavily fortified. Now Turkey is thinking of taking it back while Italy is engaged in Ethiopia. However, the island is predominantly populated by Greeks and Greece believes that in case of a redistribution she should be given the islands.

who claimed to have visited Buchanan at some time or other, in which it was stated that the land on which the old village stood was traded to the whites by the Indians for a quart of good drinking liquor. Had the lecturer ever consulted Joe or Pete Person, worthy stone masons, and the last of the Mohicans so far as the town was concerned, he would have learned that the actual transfer never took place and also that it was a pint instead of a quart that was promised.

After the deal was closed it was found by the whites that there was something in the law which had never been upset by the supreme court which prevented the giving or trading of liquor to the then treacherous redskins. Therefore the actual transfer never took place and the land still belongs to the Indians providing they are willing to settle for the back taxes.

This brings to mind the fact that it was impossible back there in the 80's for an Indian to secure a drink over 'de bar. Also that certain women who feared their husbands were consuming a little too much red-eye, as it was called, could serve notice on the saloon owner and from then on said helpmate could not obtain anything by way of drink, that is, outside the alley.

The husband upon being so posted automatically joined the redskins and his name was placed on the Indian list and his photo likewise was used to adorn the back-

Of course in those days, remember that was back in the 80's, there was no chance for a fellow to turn around and have his wife posted. Nowadays, no doubt, it would be possible, if the custom still existed, to get some fine family group photos for the back bar. These amateurish discrepancies are merely pointed out in order to get the records straight on certain historical matters of more or less deep concern to all present inhabitants.

In the old days when there were two weeklies, The Record and The Independent, to check up on each other, and they did it diligently, such errors could not have happened.

J. R. Hill of the Independent used to carefully read all the items that appeared in the Record and in the next week's issue proceed to deny the truthfulness thereof. Mr. Holmes of the Record, always read the Independent items carefully and would deny them the following week. Not wishing to be denied, both gentlemen were a little wary about printing any news in their respective papers.

The only thing the two editors appeared to have in common were their long flowing beards. Publishers in those days always wore whiskers in order, no doubt, to follow the example of Mr. Horace Greeley, who had made quite a success of the New York Tribune.

It was Mr. Greeley, it will be recalled, who advised people to "go west, young man, go west." This was considered quite a daring thing at the time as it meant a loss in subscriptions. No one seemed to consider the added advertising space that might be purchased by the western railroads in an effort to promote such travel.

On the drop curtain of the old opera house for many years appeared in one of the spaces this sign:

"Do You Take The Record? - If Not, Why Not?"

And in the space directly under it was this reply:

"Because The Independent is the Best Family Newspaper."

This was the finest example of adverse advertising ever presented to the reading public. It shows, also, that Mr. Hill saw the sign writer after said artist had secured his pay for the Holmes sign.

Texas Exposition Steelwork Rises

The steel frame of the $140,000 Livestock Building No. 2 for the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas can be seen above as it rapidly takes form. With the $260,000 Livestock Building No. 2, soon to be started, it will house the greatest exhibit of livestock in the nation's history when the Exposition opens June 6.

There was no more imposing sight than to see Mr. Holmes, his limbs and whiskers dangling over the handlebars of his Rambler bicycle, coasting down the Front St. hill on his way to The Record office. But so far as can be learned, although the attempt was made a number of times, he was never able to play his violin at such a time. This, of course, merely goes to bear out the assertion that even editors have their limitations.

Mr. Holmes, unless the writer is somewhat confused, took over the Record along in 1878. At that time he was living with his brother, Phos Holmes, a successful farmer, out in Bertrand township, three miles or so west of the village.

According to information in the writer's possession, Mr. Holmes was obliged to change his political faith along with his overalls when he left the prairie and moved to town. He became a Republican over night which, of course, was the proper thing to do inasmuch as the Record had followed closely and persistently along those lines since 1857.

Mr. Hill of the Independent apparently never found this out as no mention was ever made of it in the editorial columns of his weekly.

The writer recently had a letter from Arthur Stone, former Niles

The Term Nihilism

The term nihilism was first applied to Turgenev in his novel, "Fathers and Sons," to a theory held by many Russian revolutionists at that time. The book was published in 1862.

Heart on Right Side, So Bullet Misses It

Perth Amboy, N. J.—Thanks to a tangled anatomical make-up, Mrs. Anna Krasko, twenty years old, may live, physicians said. During a New Year's celebration she was shot through the left breast. Physicians said the bullet would have penetrated the heart of an ordinary person, but Mrs. Krasko's heart is on the right side.

Blossom Fete Innovations Planned for 1936

Several New Musical Events are Added to Preliminary Program of Annual Festival.

The audience that comes to see the southwestern Michigan Blossom Queen chosen at the Liberty theatre here late in April, also will witness the annual scramble of newspaper men who wish to interview and photograph the lucky girl.

This was one of the decisions of the Blossom Festival committee at its regular meeting Friday.

In past years the stage curtains were closed and the queen was taken to the Hotel Vincent to be photographed and meet the newspaper people. This year, however, the reporters and cameramen will be seated in the front two rows. At the end of the selection they will go onto the stage where provisions will be made for them to work in full view of the spectators.

Spectators have crowded the Hotel Vincent for this procedure in past years. Their presence made things difficult for the chaperones, Blossom Festival committee members and the hotel staff, as well as for the correspondents.

This year's Blossom Festival is to have more music than ever before. Preliminary plans were made for three successive nights of musical entertainment. The program now considered calls for a concert Sunday evening by the Twin City Symphony orchestra, an appearance of the orchestra and a large chorus on Monday night, and a recital Tuesday evening by a soloist of national reputation. The Monday Musical club of Benton Harbor will be asked to co-operate in securing a singer.

The first Blossom Festival "hot" salon was held last year. It is to be repeated this year and the committee is considering placing it in a St. Joseph hotel. This event is sponsored by a club of amateur photographers in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Last year's plan of charging for auto parking along the parade route met with considerable favor among visitors to the city, according to J. Harry Pound, secretary of the festival executive committee. It is planned to do this again this year, but to provide more such parking spaces. Under this plan non-residents may request reservations several days in advance and be assured of a good vantage place from which to watch the Floral parade.

Another revision of plans contemplates judging of parade floats before the parade begins. While this will have little effect on the spectators, it will simplify the work for the judges, who in past years have made their decisions as the floats passed the reviewing stand.

The Knights of Blossom have been asked to work out a program that will give a continuous round of activity during the week. Another proposal considered Friday was a fireworks display on Saturday night, following the parade.

The five holy Mohammedan cities—Mecca, Najaf, Kerbela, Samarra and Khadimda, with a population of 2,500,000—have for 1,200 years depended almost entirely for their income on revenue derived from pilgrims, for whom they operate rooming and boarding houses, perform marriages and prepare prayers—Collier's Weekly.

U. S. Farmer Is Losing Market to Polish Hams

Chicago.—Half a million pounds of hams from Poland are being distributed in the United States monthly, according to a double-page advertisement for Polish hams published in the National Provisions here, indicating the manner in which imported foodstuffs have become common since the A.A.A. began experimenting in rural economies. The "copy" in the advertisement capitalizes on the novelty of such a situation as compared with the past.

"What! Polish hams sold on a big scale in America? Incredible!" you may say. Yet the facts will vitally interest you. First, because of the profits our present distributors are enjoying. Second, because of the profits you, too, may enjoy from sales in your territory. And, third, because you want to know why there is such a large increasing consumer demand for this imported product.

"From present distributor orders we anticipate a tremendous increase in sales over 1935."

Quick Thinkers Have Car Mishaps

Faster Driving and Over Confidence Offsets Advantage.

Quick thinking drivers habitually lose this natural accident preventing advantage by driving at speeds which nullify their superiority as brake jumpers-on.

This fact, and several others, largely driving faults, are revealed as a result of over 50,000 brake tests and questionnaires obtained by the safety education division of the state highway department. The conclusions of the survey were reported by F. R. Olmstead, research engineer, at the annual Michigan Highway Conference, meeting at the University of Michigan.

Brake reaction time, the time necessary to size up a situation, transmit the impulse to the foot muscles and step on the brake was determined by a full size automobile set-up connected with an electrical stop clock. The same drivers filled out an anonymous questionnaire stating their habitual driving speeds under different conditions and also gave their accident histories, if any.

Here are some of the conclusions reported by Olmstead:

1. Motorists with a quick brake reaction time have a tendency to drive at higher rates of speed than motorists with a slow reaction time. This tends to nullify the advantage that they should have over slow reacting motorists in cases of sudden emergency stopping.

2. The average motorist will improve his reaction time very little after four years of driving, indicating that there are other factors which tend to increase reaction time and thereby nullify further improvement from increased driving experience.

3. Age appears to be one of the factors which has the tendency to increase brake reaction time. As one grows older he should be more alert to compensate for the loss in quickness.

4. Accidents are directly proportional mileage, which indicates subject to accidents. The quicker that all motorists, regardless of their reaction time are equally reacting motorists are involved in more accidents than slow reacting motorists, but they drive more miles and consequently they are exposed to more situations which may result in accidents.

5. A brake reaction time of at least one second should be allowed for safety purposes.

The average motorist probably bases his sense of driving security upon driving comfort and car noises and pays little attention to facts. With increased riding comfort and subdued car noises of the newer type cars, the motorist will drive at a faster rate with the same degree of driving comfort, consequently, if the motorist fails to recognize this fact he is driving with a feeling of false security and is liable to accidents. If accidents are to be avoided a motorist must realize that other motorists have mental or physical limitations which may offset any safety factor he may have allowed to compensate for his own limitations. Very few motorists know the facts controlling safe driving. They may have gathered a few general ideas from experience but in most cases they are inadequately equipped to cope with emergency situations.

7. Educational programs are the best medium to use if the motorists are to obtain information which will enable them to recognize factors which control safety on the highway. These factors are not readily gained thru driving experience. They are facts which must be furnished and proven to the satisfaction of the motorists

State News

Representatives of 40,000 Michigan grape growers appeared at the state liquor commission headquarters in Lansing last week to thank that body for its action last fall in establishing a price of $40 per ton for grapes sold to wineries, and also for placing a tax of 30c a gallon on all wine other than that made from Michigan grapes.

Michigan grape growers were saved from disaster last fall when the state liquor commission reduced the Michigan wineries' wine profit payments to the state from 15c a gallon to one cent on condition that the wineries pay grape growers $40 per ton for the 1935 crop. The reduction covered wine made from 1935 grapes only. Growers' associations concurring in commendation of the commission included the Paw Paw Co-operative association, Paw Paw; Southern Michigan Fruit association, Lawton; Mattawan Co-operative association, Mattawan; Lawrence Co-operative association, at Lawrence; St. Joseph Michigan Fruit association, Stevensville; So. Claire Co-operative association; Benton Center Fruit association; Benton Harbor; Coloma Fruit Exchange, Coloma, and the Millburg Growers Exchange, Millburg.

N. Michigan Smelt Runs Preparations are being made throughout northern Michigan for the spring smelt runs. The smelt committee at Boyne City predicts that the smelt will start running up Boyne river about the last ten days in March. According to an announcement, the committee is arranging for a large celebration. At Escanaba, a smelt committee has set April 2 and 3 as the dates for the annual smelt jamboree and is making arrangements for the event.

Counties Must Balance Relief Budgets

A warning that counties must balance their budgets with local levies accompanied a notice from the state emergency relief commission of the allotment of $1,112,200 to the 83 counties for March. "Due to the fact that it will be impossible to assure additional state funds this month, do not plan on additional grants to meet deficits," a letter to county relief administrators read. "Any deficits incurred will have to be met from funds other than the state appropriation."

Dr. William Haber, state emergency relief director, announced that members of the commission have agreed to Gov. Fitzgerald's suggestion that all counties be given their share of state aid regardless of whether they raise the amount of funds locally that the commission believes they should. He said the governor's plan "will be tried."

"This does not mean that the commission in the future may not withdraw state funds from individual counties where circumstances warrant," Dr. Haber explained. The state relief director intimated that if counties fail under the new arrangement to keep their present pledges to raise specific amounts for relief their state aid may be withdrawn.

Editorial

Conduct in the assemblies could be improved upon. Less noise sometimes, more noise other times. It is rather discouraging when a speaker gets up on the stage to address the student body and a group of people continuously whisper, or some student makes a remark that is none too pleasing. Put yourself in the speaker's place and try to give a talk in front of an audience where there are people whispering, buzz, buzz, buzz! It's hard, isn't it? And what about the individual who is interested? He has to suffer because of the selfishness of others. Assemblies have a dignified atmosphere and are also informal; so when listening to a speaker give him all of your attention. He will appreciate it. When there's a pep assembly, let yourself go and give them all you have. But act accordingly.

WHAT MAKES—

Football players such "smooth" dancers? Niles boys come to Buchanan so often? Miss Krebs keep Luke after school? Our hand have so much pep? The junior class rings so smart? "Robby" so good natured? A certain crowd go to Avalon every Friday? Our basketball suits so neat? Boys wear "clap hoppers"? The girls' locker room upstairs so crowded? Sixth hour assemblies so welcome? B. H. S. the grand place it is?

Grade News

The Dewey Avenue second grade is working on bird booklets this week. We have entered the blue jay and cardinal. The Dewey Avenue third grade pupils have won all their silver Palmer buttons and all except three have won their gold Palmer buttons. The A and B classes in grade one have finished reading Story Hour Primer. The fourth grade has finished studying Norway and is now studying the Netherlands. The kindergarten has just finished making a reading book, in which they plan to add new stories. The Opportunity room are painting their little red chairs green. Each child is helping.

F. F. A. MEET
The F. F. A. club met in the Buchanan high school gym Tuesday, Feb. 25, to discuss business matters and to practice basketball. The pencils that were ordered a few weeks ago have arrived. They are white with Buchanan high school, Buchanan, Michigan in maroon and are selling for 5c each. The proceeds are to be used for the Annual picture of the club.

Here's the Dope

Well, what do you think of this? John Miller and his little helpers have organized a cage basketball team and claim they can beat any team brave enough to oppose them. If speed means anything to them they certainly should win all the games hands down, because Pal Coleman and Chuck Wesner, both members of the team, are the two fastest ankle wrapper uppers and leg rubber downers that we've ever seen.

Mr. Hyink asked Kelsey Bainton if he had worked a certain geometry problem and Kelsey replied, "Yes, but the darn thing is impossible."

Buchanan basketball first stringers are winding up their season this year at the district tourney in Niles this week. Let's all go over and see if the gang can't get down and really play a basketball game or two.

B. H. S. HAD GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM IN 1906-7
Some folks think that girls can not or do not play basketball but they have for years. Let us turn back the pages in the history of the Buchanan high school to 1906 and 7. There were at this time a very good team of girls representing B. H. S. The girls who composed the team were: Miss Ruby Phillips, Miss Mildred Roe, Miss Pearl Smith, Miss Iva McGowan, Miss Elizabeth Baker and Miss Georgie Zerbe. Out of seven games played three were won. Following is the schedule and the scores of the games in which the girls competed:

Jan. 11, Dowagiac, 4; Buchanan, 15.
Jan. 18, New Carlisle, 15; Buchanan, 14.
Feb. 8, Berrien Springs, 36; Buchanan, 11.
Feb. 15, Dowagiac, 9; Buchanan, 20.
March 1, Hinchman, 5; Buchanan, 15.
March 8, Hinchman, 8; Buchanan, 6.
You can see by the schedule and scores that some of the games were hard ones.

Today the girls have a basketball team, but it is hard to secure games as so many schools now object to girls' inter-school teams. The girls of this school have secured two games with Niles. They also play soccer with the Niles girls.

"Green Stockings" to be Given Mar. 13

It's here, folks, that great emotional, laughable, comical and serious drama, "Green Stockings." This play is to be given by the Juniors Friday, March 13, at the high school auditorium. The plot? It's great. What would you do if you were the oldest of four sisters and were looked upon as being old, dowdy and dull. She gives the family a shock and gets herself into a trying position by—no, we won't tell you. Come out and see how she does it. And don't forget they're having a politician in the play (you know, keeping up with the times!) who is gambling for the hand of the youngest daughter; and the father can hardly wait until all his daughters marry so he can live at the club; and of course we have a hero; two eligible bachelors, who are at sword points for the attention of the heroine, and two married sisters.

Reserve Friday, the thirteenth, and see the play.

Student National G. O. P. Convention

The student body of Kalamazoo college is planning its second model political convention. Four years ago, the model Democratic convention was so successful that this year they are making plans for a model Republican convention to be held on the campus Saturday, March 21.

High school students from Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana are being invited as state delegates with full voting power. The convention will be conducted following practically the same procedure as used by the official Republican convention to be held next summer.

The delegates chosen from B. H. S. are Vivian Sanford, Georgia Upson, Cherry Heim, Frances Hamilton, Ben Franklin, Leslie Brewster, Milburn Shafer and Howard McClellan.

Questions and Answers By L. B. Spafford

Question: Will a strong bow always shoot farther than a weaker one?

Answer: Not always. In one instance a 30-pound bow shot farther than a 50-pound bow. In another case a 60-pound bow shot farther than a 125-pound bow. Archers use the term "weight of the bow" meaning the number of pounds pull required to draw it.

Question: If the strength of the bow is not the most important factor in the length of arrow flight then what is the most important factor?

Answer: A scientist probably would call it co-efficient of restitution which means the time required for a bow to change from a "Wealth," said H. H. the sage of Chinatown, "is most enjoyed by those who dream with magnificence of what they would do if they had it."

A STRENGTH BUILDER

CHARLEY, Sergeant of the U. S. Army, said: "Mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery when I was growing, as I had become very thin. After taking only one bottle I was eating better, and I gradually put on weight and felt stronger in every way. From my experience I know it is a splendid tonic to build any one up." Buy now! drawn position to a normal position.

Question: What was the origin of the length of the rungs, 100, 80 and 60 yards used in all archery tournaments?

A. The Prince of Wales in 1792, an enthusiastic archer, stipulated that the distances to be shot should be 100, 80 and 60 yards. So these distances, in archery terms are known as prince's lengths. He also stipulated that the scores for the target should be 9 for the gold (bullseye), red ring 7, blue ring 5, black ring 3, and white ring 1. The white is 9 times, black 7 times, blue 5 times, and red 3 times the area of the gold. This method of scoring is termed prince's reckoning.

Question: Are there any makers of bows and arrows in this vicinity?

A. Bowyers and fletchers, as they are termed located in this vicinity are H. H. Stroud, Wayland, Michigan, Walton Becker, Buchanan, Michigan, and Roundseville-Rhom, Inc., Hazel Crest, Ill., near Chicago.

"I Read Meters and Most Always Make Friends"

The electric meter which records the number of kilowatt hours you consume each month is a precision instrument and accurate to a degree not excelled by the finest time piece.

"ON my job as a meter reader I read hundreds of meters every day. I go right into people's homes and they ask me all sorts of questions, many of which have nothing to do with electricity. The other day a lady asked me to recommend a diet for her baby."

"I go into their offices where they are busily engaged in the tasks in which electricity is their helper. I see them in the city, on farms and in the factory. It makes me realize just how important is this job of maintaining a constant, dependable supply of electricity for every need of the community."

"The best part of my job is the opportunity it gives me to make friends and to help people get the most out of their electric service."

"For many people I am their only point of human contact with the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company. Through me they appreciate that ours is not a soulless corporation but a big family of over 600 men and women who are serving the public."

"I like to have them ask me to help them; it shows they have confidence in me and in my company."
