

TWO FILE FOR CITY COMMISSION

B. H. S. Juniors to Present "Green Stockings" at Auditorium Fri.

Root, Hiller For City Board

Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle Hank Sez: Modern conveniences don't mean so much, if you ain't too lazy to stand up in the bathtub.

It's funny but it's life. Politicians arguing without a shade of doubt. Weighty propositions that they don't know much about; Men with one-horse intellects in 30-horse power cars; Nations ready to fight wars to keep from fighting wars; Splinters with affection and no place to bestow it; People who are lucky without sense enough to know it; Men whose interests are the same yet warring to the knife. World all messed with useless hate—it's funny but it's life.

Fellows in the throne room who should still be in the stable; Fat old ladies dreaming they are married to Clark Gable; Churches staying empty while the night clubs throng and thrive; Full of fellows drinking gin to prove they're alive; Wife at home a-working on a patch on honey's pants; Trying to save nickels any place she has a chance; Honey in a hot spot with another fellow's wife; On a gay old whizzer—it is funny but it's life.

Daddy's on the treadmill, working maddly night and day; Salting down the dollars for the kids to throw away; Old guys fat and dizzy who are lacking in controls; Minds messed up with chicken when they should be on their soles; Some boys put their war paint on and blithely go to town; Other fellows stand around and try to write it down; Goofy place, this world of ours, with saints and sinners rife; I'm in favor of it all—it's funny but it's life.

The shortage of robins which was reported here two weeks ago has now been taken care of by flocks and flocks which have been arriving daily from points south. Ava Schram, the M. C. gate keeper-naturalist, at the South Bend road crossing, reports that he has seen numbers around for the past week, but that none have reported at the tower yet for their rations. "They'll start about nesting time," he reports. Red, the woodpecker who spears bits of doughnuts on the fly, has not shown up yet. He has been reporting at the tower every spring for several years past but there is still time. Mrs. Lois Burks called the office Monday and reported that while she was talking on the telephone "the nicest fat robin" was singing just outside the window.

It's Worth Paying Your Bill For. The I. & M. are issuing the clearest souveniers to the select few who are paying their light bills this month in the form of brand new 1935 pennies set in a cardboard inserted with a message from the company. We haven't read ours yet but we think it is "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

You Try This, We Stumble. A friend of ours (wonder if he really is) told us we should ask Mr. Larson: "Don't you know how fast you are going unless you hear the car rattle?" and then run like heck.

50 Men Added to Sewer Force Here

Will Bring in Trench Machine Next Week if Weather Remains Satisfactory.

The force at work on the local WPA sewer project will be increased to nearly 200 this week, according to the supervisor in charge, an additional fifty men being drawn in from drain projects in this part of the county which are being discontinued.

The first additional contingent of ten were brought in yesterday, bringing the total on the job to 157. Engineer Gartner stated that if the weather continued good, the compressor trench machine would be brought in from South Bend next week and the force increased still more. The trench machine will then do most of the excavation of the main ditches, making about 300 feet a day and the shovel men will be used in clean-up and in digging the service pipe ditches to the sidewalks.

Much better progress is being made with better weather conditions, and with the completion of the main trunk line on the block on Third between Portage and Short streets, where the presence of the old sewer and of the gas and water mains complicated the work. The manhole at Third and Short was installed yesterday and the crew are now digging and installing on south on Short street in much better conditions. The trench is 16 feet deep at the corner of Third and Short and will be about 13 1/2 feet deep where the trunk crosses Dewey avenue.

The frost is now rotting rapidly on top, about 10 inches being out, but below it still extends from three to four feet. However the continuance of warm weather and a rain would render it rotten enough to be handled with a trench machine.

Alice Clark Dies in Calif.

Daughter of Mt. Tabor Pioneer Expires in California.

News was received yesterday of the death of Mrs. Alice Clark, 87, who passed away yesterday morning at the home of her son, Elmer Clark, Puente, Calif., where she had gone a year ago last October for her health.

Mrs. Clark was born Oct. 8, 1848, in the Mt. Tabor district, the youngest of the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Helmick. Her father was a well-known pioneer of the Mt. Tabor district, known as "Judge" Helmick, from the fact that in the forties he served as district judge. The death of Mrs. Clark will be felt the more because the hundredth anniversary of the coming of the Helmick family to Mt. Tabor was to have been observed at a large family reunion at the Mt. Tabor Grange hall next September and it had been hoped that she would be present.

She had been a member of the Mt. Tabor Grange for 51 years, and was an officer practically all that time. She was honorary chaplain of both the Mt. Tabor Grange and the Berrien County Pomona Grange at the time of her death, and had held the latter office about 20 years.

She was married in 1867 to Richard Vaughn Clark, who preceded her in death in 1905. She is survived by two sons, Elmer, Puente, Calif., and Dean Clark, Buchanan. The body will be brought to Buchanan for burial. It is believed that both Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark will come.

Peaches Suffer 50 Pct. Loss of Buds

Peaches suffered a 50 per cent loss in buds and both sour and sweet cherries even heavier as the result of the severe freeze of the last week in February, according to Glenn Kinney of the Mt. Tabor district. The loss varies according to location, some orchardists reporting that none of their peach buds show any signs of life. A loss of 50 per cent in peach buds may not mean any loss in crop, but rather a saving of labor at thinning time.

John Koenig Gets Old Age Pension

State Bureau Officials Attend Presentation of 1st Check.

Frederick John Koenig, Hills Corners Centenarian, reputed to be one of the oldest, if not the oldest, living person in Michigan, received his first "Old Age Assistance" or WPA check yesterday afternoon at the hands of Hugh K. Nicolls, manager of the Fourth District office of the State Welfare Department at Kalamazoo, with attendant ceremony in proportion to the unique nature of the event. Clarence Peck, investigator for the Old Age Assistance Bureau at Sawyer, was also present, with a battery of newspapermen, cameramen and correspondents.

Koenig was born in Poland Nov. 25, 1827, coming to America in 1899 at the age of 72. He was engaged in farming several years in Kansas and Oklahoma, coming to the Hills Corners district in 1924. His wife died at the Hills Corners farm in 1927 at the age of 99 years. He is the father of ten children and 21 great grandchildren.

I. & M. Hosts to Public Mar. 17

Lease Hollywood Theatre for Free Shows Afternoon and Evening.

The Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., have leased the Hollywood theatre in Buchanan for one afternoon and evening, Tuesday, March 17, and will offer an entertaining and instructive program absolutely free. Four highly diverting full length films, three with sound, and other features will make up a delightful two hour's show. The pictures are titled "Just Around the Corner," "Three Women," "Running Water" and "The House Next Door."

As a guarantee of the splendid quality of these films, a mention of the principal players is all that is necessary. "Just Around the Corner" was enacted by Dick Powell, radio and screen favorite, Joan Blondell and Bette Davis, dashing blond screen stars, Warren Williams, Preston Foster and Ruth Donnelly, two of the finest types of leading men in Hollywood and the funniest comedienne now before the cameras.

In "Three Women" such well-known players as Johnny Mack Brown, Hedda Hopper, Sheila Mannors, William Collier, Sr., and Roy D'Arcy will be seen. These are amusing and entertaining domestic comedies, secured by the General Electric Co. at great expense, each with a likeable story and just a hint of practical suggestions. "Running Water" is a rural film, of particular interest to the farmer who wishes to improve his working conditions and to learn of the progress that has been made in farm equipment.

No free tickets will be issued at the theatre, but adults who call at the I. & M. offices will be given a liberal supply for themselves and family. This is an instructive campaign sponsored by the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. (Continued on page 8)

She Remembers When Father Left for California Gold Fields Back in 1849

One day in April, 1865, Miss Anna Kidwell, the twenty-year-old instructor of some 125 nervous, wriggling specimens of youthful humanity in the Plymouth Seminary came home for dinner and was shocked by the news told her by her mother, that the president, Abraham Lincoln, had been shot.

That was all Mrs. Kidwell knew. The morning papers had come in from Chicago bearing the tragic news. Miss Kidwell (now Mrs. Anna Morley, aged 91) ran down and tried to buy a paper, but they had all been bought. But the news was on every one's tongue and a stunned pall hung over the little Indiana town. Nobody was glad but a few "Copperheads" as the southern sympathizers in the little Union town were called. To this day you can visualize the passions of that period in the way Mrs. Morley pronounces "Copperhead".

One evening during the campaign will be devoted to the author's illustrated lecture entitled, "An Evening with the Sacred Poets and the Story of 'The Old Rugged Cross'."

Observe 56th Wedding Anniv.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pangborn Wedded in Buchanan March 10, 1880.

A golden wedding is quite an event, but when you can go it six years better, as Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pangborn did yesterday, that is still more of an event.

The entire lives of Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn have been spent in and about Buchanan. He was born near Mt. Tabor, where his grandfather, Samuel Pangborn, settled in 1845. She was born in the log cabin home of her father, Albert Tomlinson, who settled there in 1853.

In a place of honor in the living room at the Pangborn home is the enlarged picture of the Tomlinson log cabin. This cabin stood back east of the Main street stone road about three miles north of Buchanan, on what is now the F. E. Hall farm. The old cabin stood until about ten years ago when it was torn down and the logs used in the Hall farm buildings. Back at the old cabin site Albert Tomlinson had set up his forge in the forest and did the blacksmith work, and the wagon and tool repairing for the north Buchanan district. There young Darwin Pangborn come courting nearly sixty years ago, with his hair slicked back and his boots polished as was the fashion with beaux six decades back. And finally they were married on March 10, 1880, by the Rev. Joshua White, the ceremony taking place in the Methodist parsonage on Days avenue, now known as the Cress Watson property.

Mr. Pangborn was in the grocery business in Buchanan for many years, first in a large grocery on Front, then in a tea and coffee store where the Princess Ice Cream Parlor now is and last at the Fourth street neighborhood grocery which he sold about six years ago. He continued clerking there until last Christmas.

Louis Poplar and Harry Comers went to Chicago on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmon Starr and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Starr, Berrien Springs, visited Sunday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Etta Smith, Three Oaks.

Bridge of Ice Forms in Niagara Gorge

This ice bridge was formed in the Niagara gorge below the falls by a combination of high winds holding back the water in the upper river back of the falls, and by the cold snap which formed giant ice cakes. The falls themselves (background) also were chained by the ice jam which lowered the upper Niagara river to an all-time record. The flow was lessened each day until a mere trickle of water was going over the brink and any intrepid soul might walk from the American side to Goat Island.

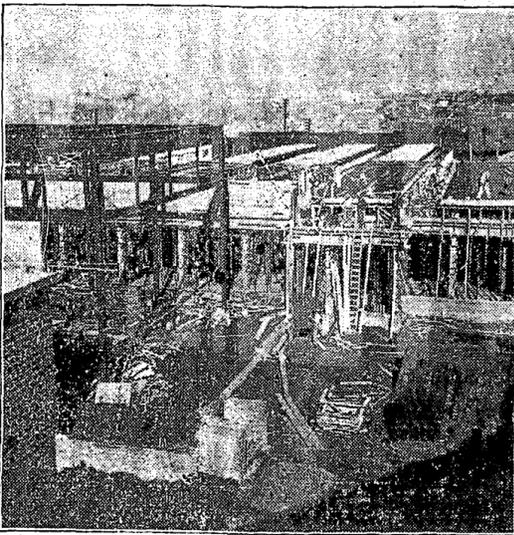

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Aronson and son, Orville, visited over the week-end at the home of the former's brother, Alfred Aronson, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Berry visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Truman, Benton Harbor.

L. R. Bradley and C. J. Bradley write that they arrived Saturday at Gulfport, Miss., after a fine trip of two days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Arney motored Sunday afternoon to Lyddick to visit the latter's sister, Mrs. Joseph Grouse, who had been released from Epworth hospital, South Bend, Thursday after three months spent there receiving treatment for injuries received when she was run down by an automobile, incurring a fracture of both legs.

Exposition Livestock Building Grows

This photograph gives a realistic idea of how rapidly work is progressing on the Texas Centennial Exposition's huge lot in Dallas. All of the frameworks shown above are part of Livestock Building No. 2, one of two structures which will house the greatest stock show the United States has seen. The two buildings, their construction cost close to $400,000, will contain an ultra-modern veterinary hospital.

Govt. to Enforce FHA Modernization Loan Collections

A reasonable, yet rigid policy will be maintained by the Federal Housing Administration in regard to collection of claims on individuals defaulting under the Modernization Credit Plan, Raymond M. Foley, Michigan state director, announced.

"I am advised," said Mr. Foley, "by the Housing Administration in Washington that a misunderstanding exists in the minds of some borrowers as to the action which is taken in cases of default on loans made under this Modernization Credit Plan.

"The procedure is well defined. When a borrower under this plan defaults on an insured loan made by a lending institution, the institution files claim with the Housing Administration for the insurance to be paid it on the loan. Then the matter of collecting the defaulted obligation is turned over to the Housing Administration.

"In such cases, I am advised, it will be the policy of our agency to act as rigid as the Treasury Department in making collections of taxes. Not that borrowers in default will be treated as tax evaders are treated, but rather along the same lines as an individual in default of tax payments. The collection machinery is well organized and, while every consideration will be given borrowers in default, none must get the impression that the Housing Administration will be lax in its duty."

Blossom Week Talent Contest Scheduled April 8

A new feature last year which proved very popular was the Blossom Talent contest. Amateur singers were invited to contest in their respective communities and the winners were brought to Benton Harbor for a final contest in which a soloist and a quartette were declared the music talent for Blossom Week. Those chosen participated in all the queen events and were given the privilege of appearing on NBC in two programs. The winners of last year's events both made good, and are now employed in study and radio.

"Bob" Simons, Benton Harbor, has been appointed chairman for this year. There is no doubt about the success as "Bob" who is a natural showman, has been staging the most successful amateur contests for the past two years and has shown marked ability along this line.

The final contest will be staged at the Liberty Theatre, Benton Harbor, Wednesday night, April 8. Some thirty towns and cities will participate. Judges will be brought from radio stations. The committee suggests that anyone interested shall notify the local theatre manager or address Mr. Bob Simons, care Blossom Festival Committee, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Poster and Essay Contest Announced

High school teachers of this city have received an announcement of two national competitive events—a poster contest and an essay contest—open to high school students of Michigan. Scholarships and cash prizes will be awarded the winners.

Both contests are sponsored by the livestock and meat industry of the United States, through the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The poster contest is being held for the first time, while the essay contest has been an annual event for the past thirteen years. Last year's state title holder in the essay contest was Miss Julia Walenski of Pontiac.

Michigan students entering the contest will also compete against students in other states for district and national championships. In 1935 the national winner in the essay contest was Miss Dorothy Lee Gillins of Ashmore, Ill., who won this coveted honor in a field of 12,269 contestants.

Collected and Edited By Members of the Student Body

Editorial

It will soon be spring and the carefree driver's mind wanders to yon hill and dale where the grass will soon be green, and the trees will soon bud, flowers will soon bloom, and the birds will soon "tweet."

Yes, we'll admit it's a beautiful picture, but when such dreaming is going on, what about accidents? The roads are clear now, but there is still danger; for some school children skate to school and some ride their bicycles. Carelessness on the part of the driver or pedestrian may be disastrous.

In order to take precautionary measures, patrolmen have been stationed at the most dangerous intersections. All drivers and pedestrians are to respect these patrolmen and cross the streets when signalled to do so. Each one can do his share by helping to prevent "wreckless" driving.

Office News

There will be a high school party, March 20. An outside orchestra which is to be larger and better than before, will furnish the music.

Mr. Moore, sometime in the near future, will take four or five high school students to Benton Harbor or Holland to see what the student councils of those high schools are doing. The students who go will be chosen from the various classes. They will report to their respective classes what they discovered concerning the council and whether or not they deem it worth while. This will enable the students of Buchanan to decide whether or not they wish one. Holland high school has an outstanding example of a well organized student council.

Baseball may be added to the sports program of the high school if the boys wish to participate in games. Most of the contests will probably be played as twilight games to give more of the townspeople a better chance to attend them.

School was dismissed Thursday afternoon, March 5, because of the Teachers Institute which was held at Niles. The first hour was taken-up with demonstrations and discussions. Miss Ella Champion, Dr. Galen Starr Ross and "Slim" Williams were speakers.

An orchestra festival was held at St. Joseph, Wednesday, March 11. Buchanan took part.

The County Nutrition club will meet Friday afternoon, March 13, in the high school. Mrs. Lynde is the leader of the club.

Preparations are being made for the gym show which will be given Thursday and Friday, March 26 and 27.

A meeting of the Progressive Educational Association is to be held in Detroit, Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25.

ORCHESTRA FESTIVAL PROGRAM

The music played at the Berrien County High School Orchestra Festival at St. Joseph March 11, at 7:30 p. m., in the St. Joseph high school was as follows:

Light Cavalry Overture, Fr. von Suppe; The Bohemian Girl Selection, M. W. Balfe; American National Airs—Selection, compiled by J. S. Zamenik; Who is Sylvia? Fr. Schubert; Poem, Zdenko Fibich; Minuet from "Berenice," G. F. Haendel; The Sleeping Beauty—Waltz, P. Aschaikowsky; Londonderry Air, Arranged by J. S. Zamenik; Tales from the Vienna Woods—Waltz, Johann Strauss; Ballet of Sylphs, H. Berlioz; County Gardens, Adapted by J. S. Zamenik; Marche Fantastique, George Bizet; (Prelude from Suite L'Arlesienne)

There will also be soloists on the program.

FADS

Girls of Buchanan high have started the fad of wearing their sweaters backwards. The front is in the back and the back is in the front. Spring suits are also blossoming out with colors such as dark blue and black. Shoes are of a variety. We find the square and the round toes, with colors of black patent leather, brown, gray, and black suede.

The fad among the boys hasn't changed much, but they have discarded their colorful tassels of last week. One outstanding fad is the tinting of finger nails to a ruby red. High school sweaters with '36 or '37 on the front are also outstanding.

SPELLING CONTEST

Finals in the Berrien County spelling contest will be held at the Niles high school, Friday, March 13, at 7:30 p. m. Buchanan representatives are Richard Hayden of the 8th grade and Arliss Fairman of the 7th grade. They will compete with representatives of other schools of the county.

Historic Gal!

Marian Rodgers, of Dallas, is the great-great-grand daughter of a Texas soldier who died in the famous "lottery of beans" after the battle of Mier in 1842. Of the 176 Texans captured by the Mexicans, 17 drew black beans from an earthen bowl and were shot to death, 159 drew white beans and were sent to a Mexican prison. Miss Rodgers, whose grandfather, Horace Isa Houston, was a first-cousin of Gen. Sam Houston, is a rangerette for the Texas Centennial Exposition opening in Dallas June 6.

Moving Pictures

Shown Friday in H. S. Assembly

Four films were shown in the general assembly program Friday, March 6th. The first was "A Pilgrimage Through Palestine," Cana, Galilee, where Christ performed the first miracle, the changing of water into wine at the wedding feast, was the first stopping place. The ruins of the synagogue, where Christ preached and the River Jordan, the principal river of Palestine, were then portrayed.

The roving camera next transported the assembly to Judea, the city of the palms and thence to the Dead Sea, which contains mineral waters that cure certain diseases. Jerusalem was the final stop. The two main points of interest were: The church of the Holy Sepulcher and the wailing walls.

"How Nature Protects Animals" was the next film. Many animals are provided with camouflage which permits them to defend themselves by hiding. Among the animals whose skins blend with the trees, grasses and other outdoor objects are the rabbit, racoon, giraffe, tiger, lion, zebra. The horse depends on its speed for protection. Sure footedness and jumping ability provides safety for the mountain goat.

"Football for the Fan," with Howard Jones, coach of the University of Southern California, who told about penalties and rules. Sam Wilson of Ohio State University, discussed blocking, which is considered the foundation of offensive playing. Hurling is no longer allowed because it is dangerous for the players.

"The Brass Choir," a Symphony Orchestra Series, was the last film. Trumpets, the sopranos of the choir, have a militaristic tone. The French horn, the Brass Choir's alto, has a tone quality which is mysterious and romantic. The trombones or tenors, have a powerful tone. Tuba, the bass of the Brass Choir, has a tone which is representative of power.

CHERRYHEIM HONORED

Here is something for the rest of you to work for, but it took Cherry Heim to set the pace.

In the February 22 issue of Scholastic, a national school paper for high school students, a poem of hers appeared in the round table section. Anything appearing in the Scholastic, has to have "it," and say, can't we classmates of hers be proud to say "we know her!"

Talking about "breaking into print," she was also honored by having this mentioned in the Sunday papers, and at that it was with some mentions made of Lowell Thomas. Congratulations, Cherry!

BUCHANAN GIRLS LOSE TO NILES GIRLS

Buchanan high school girls' varsity and second team met the varsity and second team of Niles on Wednesday, March 4, on their home floor. The score of the first team game stood 41-7 in favor of Niles. The second team of Niles also won over Buchanan by quite a high score. Both schools played with the fighting spirit to win.

BUCHANAN'S F. F. A. MEETS WITH BENTON HARBOR

The Buchanan F. F. A. club held a joint meeting with Benton Harbor's F. F. A. club Wednesday, March 4. Benton Harbor's F. F. A. basketball team defeated Buchanan's team 14 to 11.

News Round School

The high school basketball team had a group picture taken recently. Several of the players also had individual pictures taken.

"Hank" Richards must certainly rate around Buchanan high school or at least he can hit the principal and get away with it.

Here's the story: "Hank" was just getting ready to shoot for a basket up in the gym when Mr. Moore decided to walk across the floor. The ball hit Mr. Moore's head, but he just grinned and walked on. Oh yes, "Hank" also made the basket.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

The cast for the senior play, "Kempy," was chosen Monday, March 2. The members of the cast are as follows: Wilma Metzger, Cherry Blossom Heim, Evelyn Dolph, Una Kelley, Ben Franklin, Bill Habicht, Leslie Brewster and Lewis Paul.

Further details will be given at a later date.

NEW STUDENT

Richard Jenkins is the new student, who entered the ninth grade last week. He came from the Pottengill Jr. High school, Lansing. Buchanan High School is the first school out of Lansing he has ever attended.

"The Pottengill Junior High is three stories high, a half block long and has more than three thousand students," he stated.

Richard's hobbies are swimming, basketball, and especially horse-back riding. His future ambition is to be a successful farmer.

While attending the Junior high school in Lansing, he belonged to several clubs. They were the hobby club, which pertained to woodwork, the tumbling club and the poultry club.

REPORTS GIVEN

On Wednesday of the past week in Mr. Elber's government class reports were given on the peculiarities of the elections of different Presidents.

The outstanding report was given by Melvin Campbell. Other reports were given by Geraldine McGowan, Ross Leazenby, Robert Neal and Eva Kovich.

GOSSIP

It's a laugh to see some of the seniors and juniors seriously drawing with crayolas in the study hall. But, the older they grow, the more childish they get.

If you play with fire you're bound to get burned. Ask Marie Montgomery, she knows. The cause was nitric acid.

The boys of the journalism class have been writing up social events, teas and weddings. Deah me—what next?

Speaking of it, in a write up about a wedding, Ben Franklin had the bride carrying a bouquet of "orchards." She's some gal if she can do it!

"A rose among a bunch of thorns." That's the way he might term it, but we just say "Beans" sitting up near the front of the study hall among the seventh grade girls.

Cherry Heim is getting congratulations for making the Scholastic Round Table.

THE MYSTERIOUS HAND

Knock! Knock! The door slowly began to open and close. Suddenly a hand appeared at the window! Members of the third hour government class sat up in alarm. Could this be one of the mysterious hands one reads about in the detective magazine? Finally Mrs. Whitman asked Leslie Brewster to see what was at the door.

Leslie, probably quaking with fear, walked to the door, and was surprised to find a little girl who said, "I want my daddy."

After a little debating they finally decided it was Mr. Rizer's little girl. Leslie, the gallant gentleman, escorted the young lady to her father, solving the mystery.

Work to Better

State Roadside

"Conservation can start right at the roadside," declared Mrs. W. L. Lawton, of the National Roadside Council, in commenting on the aim of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan to improve Michigan roadside conditions.

The motoring public has brought about the need for more natural and beautiful highway settings.

"This portion of the countryside is often all that the majority of motorists see, and obviously the greatest enjoyment of nature for them depends on the view presented from the road," she said.

To achieve this end, Mrs. Lawton suggested a two-point program. She explained that one of the methods is now being carried out slowly in the landscaping of Michigan roadways by the state highway department.

The other point of the program, ridding the roads of objectionable signs, is still to be done, in the opinion of this national leader of roadside improvement.

AT THE THEATRE

"Tailspin Tommy in Great Air Mystery"

Starts March 20, 21

Of interest to many theatregoers is the announcement of Manager E. C. Hoffman of the Hollywood Theatre that he has booked "Tailspin Tommy in the Great Air Mystery," Universal's thrilling and entertaining chapterplay based on the popular cartoon strip, for showing at the Hollywood theatre starting with the first chapter on Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21.

Clark Williams plays the title role of "Tommy;" Jean Rogers is "Betty Lou;" and Noah Beery, Jr. portrays Tommy's pal, "Skeeter Milligan." The supporting cast of the Henry MacRae production which was directed by Ray Taylor, includes such popular players as Bryant Washburn, Matthew Betz, Charles Browne, James Curtis, Pat O'Brien and Paul Ellis.

One of the most popular chapterplays ever produced was the first "Tailspin Tommy" serial, and it is said this sequel or continuation of the adventures of the interesting young aviation characters is even more replete with thrills and action. Hal Forrest, creator of the "Tailspin Tommy" newspaper cartoon strip, served as technical advisor in the filming of the picture.

The story of "Tailspin Tommy in the Great Air Mystery" is laid on the mythical island of Nazil which is supposed to be situated off the coast of Central America. Tommy and Skeeter are hired by Betty Lou's uncle, Ned Curtis, to blaze a pipeline from an oil field, which he jointly owns with Don Alvarado Casmetto, in the interior of Nazil to the coast of the island. But Casmetto's unscrupulous step-brother, Manuel, who is associated with a wealthy and equally unprincipled American, Horace Raymore, schemes to secure control of the island and Tommy and Skeeter are hurled into a series of unexpected hazardous adventures. An unknown benefactor in the person of a mysterious aviator who flies an airplane shaped like a giant eagle and who himself wears a flying helmet shaped like an eagle's head, Buffalo pemmican Meat from the buffalo was dried in the sun or by fire, and made into pemmican, once the staple food of western Canada, when its only inhabitants were fur traders, explorers and Indians.

The Rainbow Goddess In the classical mythology, Iris is the goddess of the rainbow. She is the swift-footed messenger of Zeus and Hera, in the Illad. Iris was the daughter of Electra and the attendant of Juno. It was her duty to cut the thread which detained expiring souls.

Poor Sort of Patriotism That is a poor sort of patriotism which consists only in saying what fine and superior people we are.

Little Relief in Sight

Little relief from the flood of imports is seen in the face of the tendency to reduce tariff duties, exhibited by President Roosevelt in the Canadian and other treaties and pacts, by virtue of his having been given the right to increase or reduce tariff duties as much as 50 per cent by an act of congress passed July 12, 1934.

The "Bad Lands"

"Bad Lands" is the name given in the western part of the United States to certain sterile regions. They are characterized by an almost entire absence of vegetation, and by the labyrinth of fantastic forms into which the soft strata of clays, sands and gravels have been carved through the action of wind and water.

Early Civil Service

In 1855 examinations were instituted to test the efficiency of all candidates for subordinate posts in the government service. In 1870 it was directed that appointments in civil service should be filled by open competition, as was already the case with appointments in the Indian civil service.

Time and Chance

The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favor to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all.

Forest Air Pure

Forest air is pure because the leaves of the trees act as a filter, catching most of the dust and bacteria that would otherwise pollute it. Moreover, a forest has a definite hygienic influence on the land around it, a fact that has been confirmed by a number of villages in India which have never been attacked during cholera epidemics in their district due to their being surrounded by dense, protecting woods.—Coller's Weekly.

Each Man's Duty

The nature of the good life is such that each man's duty as an individual is complementary to the neighbor's; it can, in fact, be described as the duty of loving his neighbor as himself.

Mothers Disappointed

Jud Tunkins says one trouble about civilization is that so few boys grow up as smart as their mothers thought they were going to be.

Cat Apes Dog's Lead, Succumbs to Mumps

Jefferson, Ohio.—A big black Tom cat shared Freckles, the highly exploited "mump dog" who strangely enough, is a Jeffersonian, too.

The swollen-jawed feline came down with a case of mumps after being exposed to the disease when six children of the Edward Patterson family suffered the first case of its kind in medical annals, meows weakly and suffers intense pain, Patterson reported.

A few weeks ago Freckles, a fox terrier owned by Mrs. A. W. Teatsworth, contracted a case of mumps from his youthful master. He was reported the first known case of canine mumps and created wide attention.

MAN FINDS COBRA IN CAR BESIDE HIM

Cape Town, S. A.—Driving in a closed car through the country at midnight with a hissing cobra stealing toward him.

That was the predicament of Willie Swart, a Cape Town man who had been visiting friends on a farm at Kliphuevel, about 30 miles away, and was driving back here at night.

Soon after leaving the farm, he heard a hissing sound behind his head. Thinking it was the wind, he drove on.

After taking a corner sharply there was a rustling near his gear shift. In the light of the dashboard, he saw a cobra. With its hooded head swaying from side to side, it was closing on him, very slowly.

For a few moments he sat watching it. Then he acted—quickly. Opening the door of the moving car, he leaped out.

He was unhurt. The car careened into a ditch and drove itself into a telegraph pole. Mr. Swart walked to the farm.

Next morning the cobra was killed. It was still a prisoner in the car, the door of which had shut again in the crash. The snake is believed to have entered the car when the vehicle was parked in one of the farm sheds.

Bedridden Three Years, Kansas Lady Still Smiles

Brenner Heights, Kan.—To her bedside have come newspaper stories and radio bulletins of "mercy killings" and a plea from another woman invalid for death—but there is no despair in the heart of Pauline Ray.

Unable to walk since September, 1932, when she was injured in an automobile accident, Miss Ray has just celebrated her twenty-third birthday. The world has heard of the courage she had displayed during her three years as a bedridden, smiling invalid, and she received more than 1,000 greeting cards from all over the United States and Europe.

In the accident Miss Ray's neck was fractured in two places and dislocated in a third. Surgeons fear that an operation may cost her life. But Pauline smiles and says:

"I'm having a lot of fun just going on from day to day. Yes, I've read about Miss Ann Becker of Buffalo, whose case has been called hopeless and who has asked doctors to end her suffering.

"I sympathize with her, but I believe she should try and go on living. There is always hope. There may be a bright day for her."

Fierce Elephants Overrun Town in Belgian Congo

Brussels.—Telegrams from the Belgian Congo report increasing danger from wild beasts, which are becoming bold owing to reduction of the population because of the return of many colonists to Europe.

The latest message states that herds of rogue elephants came up from the Ruzizi valley and rushed through the streets of Uvira, head of the Kivu railway line to Tanganyika—an unheard-of occurrence.

Rogue elephants which are bachelors turned out of the regular herds take pleasure in destroying crops not for food but in a mania for wanton destructiveness. Their arrival on plantations is much feared by natives.

Their Love Rebuked, Boy, 19, Girl, 15, Die in Pact

Sheridan, Wyo.—The bodies of a young couple whose parents objected to their keeping company were found in a water filled gravel pit, a bullet hole in the forehead of each.

The couple, Dorothy Behurem, fifteen years old, and Donald Eychaner, nineteen, disappeared November 16 on the eve of the girl's departure for the East with her mother.

The girl's arm rested about the shoulders of the boy, who was slumped forward in the seat of the car.

Two notes addressed to the parents of the girl and of the boy told of their disappointed love.

SLAYER BANDIT IS SHOT TO DEATH AS HE PULLS 2 GUNS

Wife Says He Admitted Killing Radio Announcer in Detroit.

South Bend, Ind.—Robert J. Moore, alias James Lyons, alleged killer and bank robber, died in Epworth hospital here a few days after he was shot down by deputy sheriffs. He had reached for his guns when they surprised him in a filling station west of the city.

Officers said they traced him to a tourist camp adjoining the station through information obtained from his wife, Mary Moore, who is now serving a prison sentence at Shakopee, Minn., for bank robbery.

Mrs. Moore also told St. Paul authorities that her husband confessed to her he killed Jerry Buckley, Detroit radio commentator, at Detroit in 1930, and fatally shot Peter Karaba, a store-keeper, in a robbery at Moquah, Wis., in 1931. Fire as He Draws.

Five deputies who found Moore in a tourist camp cabin said they fired when he attempted to draw two guns. They found a rifle and 200 rounds of ammunition in an automobile which police said was identified as a car stolen at Welcome, Minn. The deputies also found tools used by bank robbers, a deputy sheriff's badge, and boxes of roofing nails, apparently used to retard pursuit.

The automobile Moore had been using was equipped so that the rear window might be opened for firing at pursuers. Among his effects were newspaper clippings describing a bank robbery on December 19 at Twin Lakes, Minn., for which his wife is now serving 5 to 40 years, and clippings on a robbery at Hunter, N. D., in 1932, for which he was being sought by the South Bend deputies.

Moore's reported confession of the two killings to his wife was revealed in St. Paul by Superintendent Melvin C. Passolt of the Minnesota crime bureau. She told of them in a signed statement made at the time of her arrest for complicity in the robbery of the Twin Lakes (Minn.) bank.

Mrs. Moore said she met her husband when he worked in a restaurant at Farmington, Minn., and married him at Wakefield, Mich., June 18, 1931. She asserted that he was a fugitive from justice then, although she didn't know it, for he later told her he was wanted in Detroit for the murder of the radio commentator.

Leaves Her Second Husband. She said the next day after their marriage her husband left their room in a Wakefield hotel and told her he was going to Ashland. He returned a day later and they started for Menominee, Mich. The following Sunday, when they were in Rhineland, Wis., she read in a newspaper an account of the slaying of the Moquah (Wis.) store-keeper on the day her husband supposedly was in Ashland.

"On the trip from Rhineland to Minneapolis," Mrs. Moore said, "I asked him about the Moquah killing and he said he drove up to the place for gasoline, then asked the man for cigarettes and followed him into the store where he held him up."

"The man was facing the wall when Moore shot him in the back of the head, killing him. I recall that at Wakefield my husband was practically broke."

Seeing Snakes at Movie Just Bore Australians

Darwin, Northern Australia.—If a blacksnake six feet long were discovered among the seats of a Chicago theater, there would probably be considerable commotion.

But in Darwin's "picture palace" such an occurrence failed to cause any excitement.

A woman who was sitting in the balcony noticed the great reptile crawling over a row of seats. Quite calmly she pointed it out to a man sitting next to her.

He seized it by the tail and broke its back across a seat. Then he flung it out of the window.

The audience settled down again to enjoy the theater.

Snakes are sufficiently common in Darwin to be treated with contempt—although some of them are extremely dangerous.

798-Lb. Couple Claim World Weight Record

Windhoek Southwest Africa.—The distinction of being the world's weightiest married couple is claimed by a man and his wife here.

Their combined weight is 798 pounds. To this the husband contributes 448 pounds and the wife is a comparative lightweight at 350 pounds. She still has time to catch up, however. Her husband is forty years old, but she is only twenty-four.

They have had to have special furniture made as the ordinary kind "gave" under their weight.

Roller Towel Mileage Chicago.—It takes an average of two and an eighth miles of automatic roller towels a day to dry the hands and faces of the 40,000 persons who visit the Merchandise Mart, huge wholesale "city under one roof" here.

Lanny Ross at Detroit-Mich. Exposition

Second Annual Trade and Industrial Exposition to be Held March 6th to 15th.

Popular star of radio and screen, Lanny Ross, who made thousands of friends in Michigan last year through his personal appearance at the Detroit and Michigan Exposition, will, by popular demand, open the Second Annual "Little World's Fair" at Convention Hall, Detroit, Friday evening, March 6th. He will make four appearances in the afternoons and evenings, concluding his engagement there on March 10, when a screen celebrity will fill the remaining five days, exposition officials announced today.

Characterized by General Chairman, James Vernor, Jr., as far ahead of last year's exposition which attracted half a million visitors, the 1936 Show opens in a brilliant Society Preview with a gala concert by the Detroit Symphony orchestra under the direction of Victor Kolar. Add to this, fast-moving stage shows, style shows, the popular orchestras of Benny Kyte and Del Delbridge, cooking schools, a 100-piece accordion choir, marimba band, choral groups, a state fencing tournament leading to the final Olympic tryouts, the personal appearance of nationally famous sports stars, and you have, with nothing more, a tremendous audience attraction.

The real show, however, dramatizes industry, science, education, art and various phases of Michigan activities. Exhibit classes include food and agriculture, automobiles, tourist business, lumber and building, science, health and culture.

The Ford Motor Co., Chrysler, Stout and other large manufacturers are displaying the unusual Gar Wood is showing his Miss America X, the world's fastest speedboat. Federal, state and city governments, as well as universities, colleges and schools will depict their activities. Eleven foreign nations will be represented in the exhibit by the Detroit Consular Corps.

Invitations have been extended by Governor Fitzgerald through Secretary of State Hon. Cordell Hull, to the ambassadors and commercial secretaries of 55 foreign nations, to participate in World out the entire country. He served as state liquor inspector for several months but was relieved from duty last summer when the inspection service was taken over by state police and local law enforcement officers.

"I am in this campaign in dead earnest," Mr. Ledyard stated, "and shall make every honest effort to secure the nomination and election. If I am successful in these efforts, I personally pledge the people of Berrien county that I will give them the service in the Berrien county Sheriff's office which they have reason to expect and receive. I humbly solicit the support of the voters of Berrien county."

Lenten Talk
 Ed. Note: The following is one of a series of papers prepared by the ministers of Buchanan for publication during the Lenten period.
The Jonah in the Life
 The text: The men rowed hard to bring it to land, but they could not.—Jonah 1:13.
 When we hear folks make the statement "It's a Jonah" or "He is a Jonah," we mean that there is something wrong. This text is applied to certain people in certain walks of life.
 What makes folks say, "I do not feel just like doing certain things for the church?" It is the Jonah on board. What makes folks say, "I do not make any difference if I am just a little late to church?" It is the Jonah on board.
 As far as we know from every external standpoint, the boat was in perfect running order. Doubtless there were no form sails, no broken masts, no disabled machinery, and no leaks in the boat. Just so it is with the justified Christian. His life is clean, his walk is straight, his conversation godly, and his whole demeanor is Christ-like. The justified soul will take up his cross and follow God without grumbling. Christ had a hard task on His soul in making redemption possible for a lost world. And every individual is in debt to Christ and the church whether they are a member or not. Who would want to live in Buchanan if there were no churches?
 The Psalmist said: "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits to me?" If we do our best at every turn for the Lord, still we are in debt to Him for all His benefits to us.
 What the church needs today is a good old revival of religion, and when this takes place our churches will once more be filled with folks who are anxious for a better community and a better world to live in. The only hope for this country is Christ and the church.
 Now every time one of the church members is absent from the church service without a reason, it is a slap against the boat on which the church is riding. We are forced to believe that most of the excuses for not going to church are prompted by some selfish desires of our own.
 Will the grace of God keep folks at home on Sunday evening? We say no. Then what does? Is it not the Jonah on the boat? Now, do I think that the church, and everybody in it, has gone wrong? No, we do not believe that, but we do believe that there is a falling away and a neglect on the part of the church. The church should always come first, because Christ gave Himself for the church that he might have a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing. And the church is not a place of entertainment; it is a place of worship. The soul of man needs to be fed as well as the body, and where else will you go to get the proper food for the soul but to the church?
 C. A. Sanders.

The Feijoa Tree
 The feijoa (Feijoa Sellowiana) is a small tree of the myrtle family, sometimes 155 feet high. It is native to Brazil, Paraguay, Uruguay and Argentina and is closely related to the guava. The feijoa has olive-like leaves, glossy green above and silver gray beneath, and large flowers, white outside and purplish crimson within. The oval, dull green fruit is marked with crimson. It is about 2 inches long, with a translucent melting pulp and pineapple flavor. It was introduced into Europe in 1800, says the Washington Star, and brought to the United States about 1900, where it is widely planted in California.

She Tells Them How to Park

Dallas, site of the Texas Centennial Exposition next year, has installed parking meters on its main downtown streets. For a nickel in the slot, motorists may leave their cars beside the meter for periods from 20 minutes to one hour, according to the time marked on each meter. An additional nickel extends the period.

Along McCoy's Crick

By Harrison Merrill
 Back in 1884 when General Benjamin F. Butler was running for President on the Greenback ticket he visited South Bend. Among those who made the trip to that city to see the candidate was Abe Baker, Buchanan's leading carriage painter.
 Mr. Baker who was always tonorially perfect except when engaged in the actual work of swinging the brush in his paint shop which was located on Day's avenue, was smartly attired for the trip to the Indiana city.
 He wore a tall silk hat, a Prince Albert coat, the latter fresh from the workshop of William Trembuth, the merchant-tailor, and with it, of course, other smart clothing.
 When the train pulled into the station at South Bend Mr. Baker crowded up close to the private car of the noted visitor. General Butler seeing Mr. Baker in his gay attire naturally concluded that the Buchanan man was at the head of the reception committee.
 Members of the reception committee seeing Mr. Baker with the General naturally figured he was a member of the Butler party. And that is how it happened that the Buchanan man rode along side of General Butler in the open carriage bowing right and left to the Crick people along the curbs, as the procession moved through the streets.
 That probably was the nearest a Buchanan person ever came to being President.
 Abe Baker, the carriage painter should not be confused in name at least, with Jake Baker, the harness maker.
 It might be well at this time to return to the corner of Front and Oak streets where once proudly stood the old Tremont House. Directly back of this "once famous hostelry was the home of Jacob Hahn, the village undertaker or mortician as folks of the present day might say.
 Mr. Hahn wore a beard, was slightly stooped at the shoulders and in winter also wore red mittens. It was his proud boast that he had laid more people to rest than there were left behind. And he had the figures to prove it, too.
 People who didn't feel so well used to complain because often when gazing out of the window they would observe Mr. Hahn walking back and forth in front of the home. Some people apparently overlooked the fact that undertakers, like other alleged humans, require exercise.
 There were those who even went so far as to insist that when feeling unusually low they had observed Mr. Hahn sitting on their front porch. Such folks also overlooked the fact that after a lengthy exercise for a considerable length of time that he requires a rest and that one doorstep is as good as another when it comes to sitting down.
 Aunt Lib Churchill and Aunt Nell Hotchkiss, who always attended the previous day's rites used to complain bitterly because Mr. Hahn's shoes used to squeak as he passed up and down the aisle. However that was a mere detail and as Mr. Hahn once explained to one of his critics he could not be expected to go barefoot at such a time.

 However, this lack of finesse, if it may be called such, was not Mr. Hahn's chief bid for fame. He was the town's leading bell-ringer! When a fire would break out within the village limits, Mr. Hahn would rush from his home to the calaboose whereon was located the belfry and in no time at all, as they say, members of the volunteer department, their suspenders flying in the breeze, would come dashing down the street.
 No other person in all the world could ring a fire bell as could Mr. Hahn. He put his entire soul into his work and as a result the firemen fairly fell out of bed and became imbued with a desire to win fame and glory and also the $1.00 poll tax which they, as members of the department, were not obliged to pay each year.
 As no other citizen ever paid the poll tax mentioned the brave firemen certainly did not receive much for their work and daring except that they were free to attend the picnic each year at Hudson lake.
 Had it not been for the inspired bell-ringing of Mr. Hahn, the village of Buchanan in the early days might have buried to the ground many times over. The effects of his great bell-ringing can still be felt in the low insurance rates charged in Buchanan today.
 Someone awhile back in the Record, told how hot the fire was that visited the village when the Birdsall Wagon Works burned. If the writer is not mistaken that blaze took place while most of the men folks were in the army and the women were obliged to fight the flames with the old pump engine.
 It is hard to believe that the Ben Davis apple tree on the opposite corner as a result of the heat suddenly started to bloom and a few hours later the crop was ready to market. The previous writer, the one who reported the incident as mentioned, must have been misinformed. The heat from any fire simply could not carry that far.
 The hottest fire this writer remembers was when the Big Shop burned. There really was a blaze! Also there was the Sparks and Hathaway fire which took place on the coldest of winter nights. Bill Burks, who owned the saloon in the middle of the block, feeling sorry, produced a tub filled with old and rare vintage for the firemen to consume during the time.
 Quite a number of the men overcome by the heat and smoke were taken to their homes on bob sleds. But they fought the flames just as long as it was humanly possible to do so. It was dangerous work, of course, but the next day there were more applications for membership in the department than ever before.
 Seems like men were made of sterner stuff in those days. Also they liked to get out at night and rousing good fire with Mr. Hahn ringing the bell served the purpose.

 Women in time got so they could tell when Mr. Hahn was ringing the fire bell and they would not allow their husbands to leave the house unless they knew that the old maestro was at the ropes. Before this wisdom was absorbed it was an easy matter to get away from the house at night by arranging with some friend to ring the fire bell.
 If this writer is not again mistaken Mr. Frank Barnes who was tall and likewise hardless, used to be Chief of the Fire Department and as such was allowed to carry a silver speaking trumpet through which from the top of a ladder he could address members of the department seated on the ground below.
 At one time, it is recalled, the village council voted to give a fee of $1.00 to the drayman who arrived at the calaboose first and dragged the hose cart to the scene of the conflagration. It so happened that seven draymen arrived at one time, and before they had, with the aid of draystakes, settled it among themselves as to which was first there, two houses, a barn and a cowshed in the north end of town had been consumed by the flames. After that the plan was abandoned.
 When the Big Shop burned it was just like setting fire to a straw stack. Only the place, instead of being filled with needler contained paints, varnishes, oils, shavings and sawdust. There was nothing that did not take hold in a hurry and start to burn briskly. Bakertown people to the west, claimed they were able to read their Waverly novels on their front porches by the light produced by the flames.
 Eugene Farron always claimed it was so light at the time that he was able to thread a needle, which at that time, was a record for long distance threading. Eugene lived in Bakertown along with the Reddens and other suburban folk.
 The Big Shop was half way up the Oak street hill toward the Michigan Central tracks. Buchanan, at that time, was quite a furniture producing center. There was the Spencer and Barnes shop on Days avenue, the Black and Willard shop along the crick down near the river and at one time the firm of Compass, Stone and Stoll was located in the wagon works building.
 Also George H. Black and this writer knows no finer Buchanan citizen and gentleman at this or any other time, was manufacturer ing a new type of typewriter desk at his factory near the end of Portage street. This desk had a compartment wherein the stenographer between times could store her chewing gum and also there was a mirror set in a small frame where the young woman could gaze at herself when not engaged in pounding the typewriter keys.

 Mr. Black also manufactured the Queen of the West garden plow which also contained all the compartments that the typewriter desk had. Plowing the garden as a result became a real pleasure as a result there was an overplussage of crops which in time led to the establishment of the A.A.A.
 Located in the calaboose which also served as the town hall was the "cooler" and it was there that the miscreants were held behind the bars until they had time to sober up. The building was located on the Crick on South Oak St. less than a stone's throw from the old Tremont House.

Look twice at UPKEEP!

FOLLOW through on the cost of owning a Buick and you'll see why some of our best customers are former owners of very low-priced cars.

In the first place, the time payments on a Buick Special are only a very few dollars a week more than on the lowest-priced cars. By the time you've finished "dressing up" a small car, most of that difference vanishes.

But on top of that, because of Buick's longer life, more rugged build, greater quality down to the last nut and bolt, and truly amazing low cost for gas and oil—the end-cost of owning and operating a Buick compares favorably, to say the least, with the cost of any car!

That's a challenging statement, we know. But we have some mighty

Birds' Feathers Fade
Certain species of brightly colored birds, in Africa and South America, have a unique kind of water-soluble pigment in their feathers which is permanently washed away the first time they are caught in a heavy rainstorm. These birds remain white until new plumage is grown.—Frank A. Walker, Pontiac, Mich. in Collier's Weekly.

Antipathy for Snakes
Man's antipathy for snakes is a very strange human trait. There are those who believe this universal dislike dates back to the Garden of Eden when the serpent induced Eve to entice Adam to eat the forbidden fruit and that from then onward men have been waging a relentless war on them, giving them no quarter. Scientists do not agree with this ancient superstition. They claim that if the trait were hereditary babies would fear and dislike snakes. Instead, babies and children are not afraid of them until they learn it from their parents, and which occurs early in life.

Chas. L. Miller. Captain Rounds who organized the first school safety patrol in Detroit 18 years ago is a firm believer in safety education, and he stressed the importance of teaching safety tactics in the grade and high schools. Sheriff Miller called the special meeting of employees of all filling stations and oil companies operating in the county to enlist their aid in his new drive to reduce crime and highway accidents in Berrien. The sheriff asked the filling station men to assist the sheriff's office in all phases of the work.

Scattering Blessings
The joy resulting from the diffusion of blessings to all around us is the purest and sublimest that can ever enter the human mind, and can be conceived only by those who have experienced it. Next to the consolations of divine grace, it is the most sovereign balm to the miseries of life, both in him who is the object of it, and in him who exercises it.
