Now Here's the Proposition

A gossip is a feller who kin put two and two together an' git 17 fer an answer.

The Ids of March The days grow longer, warmer and it's getting very clear that the season that's denoted as the Ides of March is here. For I hate to hear work mentioned even as a theme of talk I'd rather go a-walking and I'd rather sit than walk. My soul revolts at labor and if I could have my wish I'd rather be a fisherman or even be a fish. I'd rather be a robin, if I have them figured out. And make it my vocation just to follow spring about. If I have to spend my muscle I'd prefer to go it Scotch, I'd love to be a watchman without very much to watch. I should be in the garden with a shovel and a hoe. But I'd rather be a nun and do nothing else but grow. Funny how the first warm weather seems to sap a fellow's starch. And sets his system tingling with the idle Ids of March.

Jim Aichenbottom, the well-known River Road Democrat, says he often wonders how a newspaper editor can make a merchant believe that business is better and that the country is going to hell, all at the same time.

If you notice the Lions putting aside their work with a wild abandon and hiking down the street towards D's next Wednesday evening like they smelt supper—why, that is just what it will be, a smelt supper. The Lions club of Escanaba is sending them a box of smelt.

Well, friends and neighbors, the chief news of the past week has been the arrival of spring—the weather has been so warm and enervating that even the local thermometer watchman, Mr. McFarlin, has fallen down on the job. Just before we went to press we called on McFarlin.

"How warm has it been?" we asked.

"Just comfortable," answered McFarlin, comforting the action to the word by shifting in his rocking chair.

Over on Bob Reamer's corner it was 68 degrees in the shade at 5 p. m. Monday. On Swem's thermometer in front of the bank the mercury, encouraged by warm sunshine, mounted close to 90. But it is rumored that Mr. Swem has geared his thermometer up about ten degrees with the idea that along about midsummer he will promote a nice crop of sun-strokes in front of it.

Monday evening, following the warm spell there was a mud-shower, leaving all the shiny new cars covered with mud which is reported to have come from Kansas.

The first flowers of spring were reported this week, consisting of some crocus in Phil Landsman's yard (we checked this report carefully) and Ed Mitchell's African lily in Ralph Allen's store window. The flower is a peculiar affair, consisting of a purplish spike on a stem about seven inches long, growing at the top of a stem which grew five feet in three weeks after being taken out of the cellar (them's Ed's own words). Funny Ed doesn't enforce the speed limit better. The flower is a rare sight and it will pay you to look.

Mrs. Hugo A. Kechner left last week for her home in Lancaster, Wis., after spending three weeks here receiving chiropractic treatment. She states that she is much improved.

Last Rites Today for Wm. Speckine

Dies of Heart Attack While Working in Farm Woodlot.

Last rites will be held at 3 p. m. E. S. T. today from the residence on the Buchanan-Gallen road for Frederick William Speckine, 59, who died suddenly Monday as the result of a heart attack.

He had been cutting wood with his son, Valmore, on their farm and were driving with empty wagons at the time his death occurred. The younger man saw his father's team apparently out of control and ran to them, finding his father lying dead at the bottom of the wagon box. He had been in ill health for a number of years.

The following obituary notice was furnished the Record:

Frederick William Speckine, son of Edward and Rosa Behnick Speckine, was born in Michigan City, Ind., May 17, 1876, and passed away suddenly at his farm, two and a half miles west of Buchanan March 23, at the age of 59.

Mr. Speckine was one of the best known farmers of this community, having lived in this vicinity for the past 40 years.

He was married in Buchanan on Oct. 7, 1907 to Alma Holmes of Bertrand township. Mrs. Speckine passed away April 27, 1930.

His life was devoted to his home and family. He won the respect of all who knew him and his memory will be cherished by a wide circle of friends. Mr. Speckine was an active member of the Odd Fellow lodge of Dayton.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clara Davis and Miss Martha Speckine and by one son, Valmore, all of Buchanan; three sisters, Mrs. E. E. Platt, Buchanan, Mrs. John Acker, and Mrs. Carl Dipple of Michigan City; one brother, George Speckine of Buchanan and two grandchildren, Eva and Clara Wm. Davis, also of Buchanan.

The body was removed to the Hamilton Funeral Home. Funeral services will be held at the family home in Bertrand township at 2 o'clock C. S. T. Thursday afternoon. Rev. Thomas Rice, pastor of the Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will take place beside his wife in Oak Ridge cemetery. Contract 800 Acres Tomatoes

Campbell Soup Co., Nearly Triples 1935 Acreage Contracts. Representatives of the Campbell Soup company, who were in Buchanan last week reported that they had practically completed their canvass with a total of over 800 acres contracted by local farmers for planting to tomatoes this year.

This is nearly three times the acreage of last year and reflects the satisfaction felt by both the company and the growers over the results of the experimental year, although 1935 was unfavorable for the maturity of the crop. Cold damp conditions during the late summer greatly delayed the ripening of the crop, which was then caught by a hard frost Sept. 17, and as a result 50 per cent of the crop was destroyed in many fields. But even with a 50 per cent salvage, practically all the growers reported that they had made a profit above expenses.

Nearly all of the farmers who contracted acreage last year are doubling this year. Among the large acreages contracted were twenty-acre fields signed by Fred Koenigshof and Ralph Sebasty. The contracts will be practically identical with those of last year, prices being $19 per ton for firsts and $11 for seconds. Trucking contractors will haul the tomatoes to the plant at Chicago for $3.00 per ton. Color is a main determination in classifying "firsts" being thoroughly ripe tomatoes which are a bright clear color through. Size and shape is no consideration, and the tomato may be soft or broken, if only it be ripe and red as possible without decay.

Representatives of the Campbell company will conduct a school here this spring to instruct growers in setting the plants, fertilization, cultivation, harvesting and other problems.

Need Rain to Settle Ground

Trench Digger and Air Compressor Now in Use to Speed Work.

Frost still remaining in the ground from 4 to as much as 8 and 7 feet down is obstructing the progress of the trench digger which was installed on the WPA sewer job on Fourth street, according to D. W. Hostetter, superintendent in charge for the city.

Although the frost is somewhat rotten it still persists at unusual depths, the shaded nature of the street in part accounting for the fact that it remains in spite of several days in which the mercury has ranged in the upper sixties. Warm rain is needed to thaw the ground and settle the mud, according to the sewer workers.

The trench machine was brought in last week and was put to work Thursday morning. However, it will not make the progress expected until the ground conditions are more favorable. An air compressor for driving piling was installed the first of the week on Short street and has greatly speeded the work there. WPA officials stated that they expected to get an additional contingent of about 50 men today, which will be part offset by the policy which is soon to be adopted of removing from the sewer work all who are not physically capable of doing a day's work.

Little Theatre To Present Play

Need Control Drainage Work

Many Relief Projects in Drainage Ill-Advised Waste of Money.

A central agency, having the authority to approve or reject artificial draining projects on the basis of a broad appraisal of possible benefits or possible damage, is one of the outstanding needs in Michigan today, in the opinion of P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the Department of Conservation.

Big Road-Building Year for Michigan

Michigan today faces the prospect of the greatest highway construction program for a single year in all its history.

If State Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner obtains approval of all his plans more than $30,000,000 worth of highways, roads, bridges and grade separations will be built in 1936. These plans have all been given final or tentative approval at Washington.

Such a program surpasses any previous record, even during the days of former Gov. Alex Groesbeck, when the people voted a $50,000,000 highway bond issue.

The plans embrace: $16,000,000 worth of projects now under construction or to be placed under construction on the current $20,600 highway relief program. Approximately $4,500,000 worth of projects on this program have already been completed.

$8,000,000 for surfacing approximately 600 miles of tourist and farm-to-market routes with dust-proof, oil aggregate surfaces.

$6,000,000 for grading tourist and shoreline relocation roads. Many projects on this program are already under construction.

In addition to these plans the commissioner looks forward to the initial of the Federal Aid program for the next fiscal year by July 1. The first contracts covering projects on this program are expected to be awarded shortly after that date.

The two programs mentioned above dealing with oil aggregate sizer and investigate every angle of artificial drainage work with relocations are to be carried out in cooperation with the Works Progress Administration.

Along McCoy's Crick

(By Harrison Merrill)

The first of the Spring breezes sweeping along the old Crick used to bring about a restoration of liveliness on the shores of the ancient stream. The natives after a winter of hibernation, came out of their shells to bask in the warm sunshine and learn what had been going on during their absence.

The folks would flock to the metropolitan area which then extended from Days avenue to Oak street on Front street to gaze at the new creations, fresh from Paree and Fifth avenue as displayed in the millinery windows, the shoe stores and clothing places.

The farmer folk drove in with their winter's accumulation of hen eggs and home churned butter to exchange for gingham, denim and axle grease.

The farm owners and the hired men took a day off and came to town to partake of some much needed fixing up at the barber shops. The Tichenors came from across the river, the Wells and French family heads drifted in from the prairie and Jake Weaver who had earned the title of "The Marsh Hay King" brought in a load of that mixture over the hills from the west.

Barber shops were great lingering places for the men folk in the other century. Quite different than the "stoppes" of the present time. They served as a community center where men alone met and discussed the great problems such as how many bushels to the acre, the tariff on wool and the proper methods of baptism, with rare abandon and much gusto.

In those days the barbers were able to converse freely on all subjects pertaining to men. They had no knowledge of fashions or the latest modes in permanents or windblown bobs. A fellow whilst waiting could sit down and read "The Police Gazette" and learn how John L. Sullivan was carrying sail between bouts, instead of trying to become interested in "The Head Beautiful" as is the case at the present time.

It was in the Spring of 1888 that Mose Harrison, the colored barber, who had his shop at the foot of Front street at Portage street, in the wooden building across from the Morley foundry, provided Buchanan people with the story that has been handed down for 48 years now and which probably has several centuries ahead of it.

Mr. Harrison was the manufacturer of an Anti-Kink preparation used by colored folks to remove all sign of curl and frizz from their otherwise unruly locks.

Each Spring Mr. Harrison overcame by the wanderlust would take a journey down through Indiana, where his preparation always met with a ready sale. In the year in question, Mr. Harrison borrowed the horse belonging to Abe Green, a colored plasterer, for the trip.

Weeks later Green called at the Harrison shop to ascertain if possible the whereabouts of the horse. Mr. Harrison was unusually apologetic. "I thought I told you bout dat hoss, Abe," he said. "It was mighty keardless of me not to do so. The hoss done took sick and died. That's what happened."

Green stood for quite awhile deep in thought and finally turned to his barber friend and asked, "Did the harness die, too, Mr. Harrison?" Mr. Harrison apparently had forgotten that he borrowed the harness along with the horse. Mrs. Harrison, the wife, it is recalled, used to make wigs and switches for Buchanan women. She always claimed, however, that she used a superior quality of imported Chinese hair instead of negro tresses in carrying on in the business.

Always in the Spring Truman Fuller with his six quart pail filled with fresh horse radish would come to town from his home down along the river and make a house-to-house call while disposing of that product. Truman was a short, squat fellow, with a merry twinkle in his eye, who never took offense when prospective customers questioned him as to the amount of turp that might be cunningly hidden away in the container and which, he admitted, when pressed for an answer, might have gotten in there by mistake.

Also in the Spring the Hon. Julius Caesar Burrows of Kalamazoo, intent upon building up his political fences, would visit Buchanan and hold a reception for the G. A. R. voters at the hotel. Kalamazoo county was then a part of the Fourth Congressional district and Mr. Burrows was the duly accredited Representative therefrom.

The writer recalls that at such receptions some friend of the Congressman standing at his side, would slyly whisper the name of each veteran as he approached, whereon Mr. Burrows, all smiles, would grasp the hand of the visitor and state: "Why how are you Comrade Snyder" or who ever it happened to be, I was just asking about you a while ago." Hearing this Uncle Charlie Snyder would toss away his cane and grasping the noted visitor around the waist would swear eternal alliance to the cause of the Hon. Mr. Burrows and the G. O. P. forever and a year. The other members of the G. A. R. were caught in the same net.

This is merely related to point out that the office seekers in the earlier days were crafty and would do most anything to line up the votes. So different from the politicians of today who place honor above voting strength or vice versa.

Always in the Spring Uncle Pete Estes, a veteran of the Mexican war, would load his good wife, Mandy, into the roadcart and moving along the River road behind the little mare, Nellie, would drive to town to learn what had taken place throughout the world since their previous visit in the fall. The Estes family lived in a log cabin in the bend of the river a mile or so beyond the foot of Moccasin hill. Returning at night, Mrs. Estes would do the driving with Uncle Pete securely tied with a halter to the seat of the roadcart. Seems he was one of the kind who could not withstand the lure of the village with its accompanying pitfalls.

In the Spring the minds of certain young men would lightly turn to thoughts of baseball and other kindred sports such as foot racing, pitching horseshoes and tramping through Abe's woods in search of squirrel, quail and other table delights. The first baseball diamond was on the south shore of the Crick not far from where the present football field is located. Harvey "Duff" Rough, played second base. Frank "Mansy" Mansfield, at short, Frank Barr, who afterwards joined the South Bend Green Stockings, was in the outfield; and Ed Willard, who, without question, was the first in this section of the state to master the art of curving a baseball, was pitcher. Harry Howe was the first sacker and a fellow who used to be in the railroad mail service worked behind the bat. Names of the other players are forgotten.

Those were the days when many of the players wore handle-bar mustaches and often between innings the members of the visiting battery would step behind the back stop and take a number of swigs from a small black vial thought to have contained grape juice or some other unfermented product that would add to one's diamond technique.

There was also a high school baseball team called The Buchanan Stars. Charlie Pears was the first sacker in that squad with Claud "Daddy" Moulton in left field. The latter, it is recalled, always carried an official rule book in his pocket and made life miserable for the umpires. He knew more about the national game than did old Abner Doubleday, the fellow who started it all.

To "Daddy" Moulton should go the credit for having organized the Buchanan Blues, which team in 1895 won the Berrien County championship by a score of 8 to 3. Sweet Marie, in a game played with Berrien Center at Niles.

Young Moulton besides being a great baseball player also was a fine painter and paper hanger and also a splendid bass singer. In the latter two respects he followed in the footsteps of his father, who at one time was able to drown out anyone in town in the bass clef.

Buchanan, at one time, by the way, had a one-legged paper hanger who used to get around in great shape on the ladders. His name was Billie Wolcott, the son of Sid Wolcott, who made his fortune in the wild and woolly west during the gold rush days. He wore boots, spurs, a 10 gallon Stetson, along with other apparel, of course. The father was credited with having originated the idea that two pair beat three.

In the spring John Slouk, village marshal and street commissioner, would set out with his kit of flavoring extracts and secure orders from the populace. John Ray, who fitted spectacles would also start out on a house-to-house visitation and "Willow" Gymberson, with a full line of bandana "kerchiefs, would also get active and the old town would start to just more'n boom.

Henry Kingery would send the old street sprinkler into dry dock for repairs and paint. George Bird would treat the bus to certain refinements such as washing the windows, the Voorhees and Treats would start for the river with their mullet seines; and backyard gardeners would spend their evenings poring feverishly over the bright colored seed catalogues.

The coming of Spring always provided a lot of excitement along the old Crick. Letter from Dave Helmick down in Dixon, Ill., stated that it was Henry "Red" Spoor who gave him his first chew of fine cut. There must be others.

Hit Tunes Cram All-Star Movie

Musically speaking, 20th Century's "Thanks a Million" promises to have not one dull moment in its nine reels of vocal and instrumental music provided by such favorites as Dick Powell, Paul Whiteman and his band, Ramona, Ann Dvorak, Patsy Kelly, Dave Rubinoff, the Yacht Club Boys and the King's Men. The picture, which comes Sunday, Monday, Tuesday to the Hollywood Theatre, has a high tension comedy story in the adventures of a one night troupe herded through the backwoods by sour visaged Fred Allen.

The brilliant galaxy of screen, stage and radio celebrities all play real parts in a real story revolving about the romance between Dick Powell and Ann Dvorak.

Gus Kahn and Arthur Johnston wrote many of the featured tunes including "Thanks a Million" and "Eye Got a Pocket Full of Sunshine." It was personally produced by Darryl F. Zanuck.

Little Jane Withers, who emerges as a singing and dancing personality in Fox Film's "This Is the Life," Friday and Saturday at the Hollywood theatre, has never used make-up in any of her screen roles.

All the action, excitement, thrill and romance of the old time Western are included in "Moonlight on the Prairie," the Warner Bros. drama of the old West. Dick Foran, the singing cowboy, plays the male lead. Friday and Saturday.

The settings and cast of "Next Time We Love" have an international flavor like a dinner served in the restaurant of the League of Nations at Geneva. The Universal film, starring Margaret Sullivan, will be shown Wednesday and Thursday. The picture opens in New York. Then the scene changes to Russia, Siberia, China, Rome, and the Tyrolean Alps. Sequences take place aboard a Swiss train, as well as Italian and Japanese steamers. Another part of the story is laid in Hollywood.

In "It Had to Happen," 20th Century dramatic love story coming Wednesday and Thursday, the screen's new and sensational romantic pair make their first bow together. George Raft and Rosalind Russell are the co-stars of this fascinating new Rupert Hughes story.

Bend of the River

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Imhoff of Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lyddick took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lyddick of Bainbridge. The dance at the Grange Hall was well attended Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barbour and Mrs. L. E. Fevere spent Sunday at Ann Arbor with their son, Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett's parents of Kalamazoo spent Sunday with their son and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Sharber have moved into the Andrew Crothers place, vacated by G. W. Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett has returned to her home, after receiving treatment at the Pawating hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tenny Bunker of Buchanan were callers Sunday afternoon at the Lois Burks home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Sr. of Chicago, were recent callers at the J. C. Sullivan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dalrymple of Kalamazoo spent Sunday night and Monday with Mrs. Lois Burks.

COME SEE A CAR THAT'S BIGGER THAN ITS INCHES!

A SIXTEEN-FOOT tape won't measure the bumper-to-bumper stretch of a Buick Special and a yardstick gets lost in its back-seat head-room space.

But what yardstick have you for power so smooth, so quiet, so effortless that only the song of the wind in your ears tells you how swiftly you are flying?

How can you measure steadiness, and that down-to-earth sort of road-hugging travel that makes you feel so much more secure in a Buick, no matter what your pace?

What gauge have you for pride of ownership, or your wife's delight in a car that is more manageable than her knitting needles?

The Buick Special is what the trade calls "a big package." It offers much in measurable things, more than holds its own in side-by-side comparison.

But it has an extra edge in the eloquent fact that it's a Buick—and we'd like to show you how that makes it bigger than its inches.

THE SPIRIT OF LENT It is the paradox of Lent that self-sacrifice does more for the self than selfishness. Lent yearly brings home to us the message that God chose the way of sacrificial love to redeem men from their sin. Jesus chose to blot out the world's evil not with superior force, but by overcoming it with a superior principle—that of self-sacrificing love. It is a tribute to the nature and strength of the Christian religion that the word "sacrifice" has been changed in meaning through history from that of butchering an innocent animal or human being to appease an angry God to that of voluntarily giving up a privilege in order to further the will of God for men.

But still we often fail to give sacrifice its Christian meaning. Too often we think that we perform religious service to God by denying ourselves something merely for the sake of self-denial. We give up candy during Lent to make ourselves holy. It was in that way that the hermits thought to make themselves acceptable to God; and history has shown the folly of their method. For the goal of the Christian religion is not to make ourselves holy, but to make our fellow men happy. Let us give up candy during Lent so that we will have more money to give to charity or to the Church for God's work.

Self-sacrifice is only Christian when we are giving up something we would like in order that God's will may be accomplished and that people may find the life abundant. Such is the way of the Cross—not to be holy, but to be helpful. "For their sakes, I sanctify myself." (Written for the Buchanan Ministerial Association by Rev. W. H. Brunelle.)

News of Buchanan Schools

Collected and Edited By Members of the Student Body

Editorial

Ten years from now, won't it be fun to take out a copy of the Pines and wander back to the good old high school days? How you'll laugh when you recollect little incidents that transpired. What a thrill of remembrance will come over you when you turn to the pictures and find yourself once, twice, or maybe three times amid the scores of other faces; or when you find your name among the outstanding students for art, music, dramatics, or scholarship.

But then there are sad moments for those who didn't partake in the school activities — sports or clubs. What have they to remember of high school days? Just a diploma.

Those who do have an active part know the fun and enjoyment they get in return for being an active student. How the school needs them just as much as they need the school. And to those who haven't availed themselves of these privileges, start now. It's not too late!

SCHOOL IN DISTRESS

Way back when Jonah tied his red flannels to a stick to flag a whale, the idea was started to do something drastic when in distress.

Today when anyone is in distress he either puts a flag afloat upside down or he uses the proverbial white shirt.

On St. Patrick's day the school must have been in distress—anyway the flag appeared to be upside down on the flag pole. Maybe one of the red heads wore a green dress.

Camp Fire Girls

Celebrate Birthday

Twenty-four years ago, Indian lore of all kinds was rejuvenated and was opened to girls in the teen age. Through the efforts of Mr. Gullick and his wife, the nation witnessed the birth of the Camp Fire Girls.

The symbol of the organization is fire which stands for home, service, and romance; the three watch words are work, health and love. It was founded on the medium of teaching girls the beauty and sanctity of homemaking and developing the body and soul harmoniously.

In celebrating, the costumes and instruments of the Indians are used; bead work is the practice of all the girls, and by the design on their beaded headband, they know each other's Indian name.

So in memory of the Camp Fire founders, a nation-wide celebration has taken place—the girls taking their places amid the enchanting and mystic atmosphere around the camp fire; performing touching services that our Indian friends preserved for us.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

"Hank" Richards didn't laugh so loud?

"Ben" Franklin wasn't always busy?

Betty Ann Miller didn't blush?

Bob Habicht didn't like a certain senior girl?

Ruthie Babcock didn't linger in the halls?

Dorothy Jerue wasn't such a good athlete?

The journalism students all had their assignments?

The junior high girls weren't so conceited?

Charles Wesner didn't meet all the new girls?

The students of B. H. S. stayed in town on Friday nights?

George Ernst wasn't always combing his hair?

Students all got "A's" in typing?

Baseball

Buchanan High School is going to have a baseball team this year, or at least that is how the story goes. Again many of the football and basketball stars will be seen "struttin' their stuff."

This is an entirely new project sponsored by the coach. Soon you will know whether football and basketball stars are baseball players.

In the past there have been former letter men who have won positions in amateur teams around here, and this year's men should be no exception. Perhaps there is an "Augie Galan" walking around the halls of B. H. S. Who knows?

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW

The spring weather means more than joy to the seniors. It means to order that cap and gown to prepare for a final departure from school. The seniors have but the remaining events on their calendar: Gym Show, March 26-27; Spring Vacation, April 9-12; Senior Play, May 22; Junior-Senior Reception, May 29; Baccalaureate, May 31; Commencement, June 4; and a final departure June 5.

Story of Pines

in School Yard

The "Pines" as you know, are the many trees that decorate the walks and yards of Buchanan High School.

Probing far back in history, we find that the Hon. L. P. Alexander, then supervisor of Buchanan planted the pine trees with the assistance of his brother, Eric Alexander. Mr. Alexander also built the hospital which Dr. Gamble now occupies and various other homes.

Mr. Alexander planted these trees with the idea of beautifying the schoolhouse and also serving as a storm break.

A large number of pine trees were planted, but when the new school building was built, many of them had to be removed.

James Swartz, of Buchanan, bought a number of these trees and took them to a mill to be made into two-by-fours for building purposes. Later Harry Binns purchased these from Mr. Swartz and converted them into a building.

Today one can find a number of pine trees decorating the school yard of Buchanan High school. Many thanks to Mr. Alexander for planting them.

AH, 'TIS SPRING!

The time when every man's heart turns from work to pleasure has arrived, at least according to the signs. The blossoming of the pussy willow, white shoes, roller skating near River street bridge, and the return of the birds show sure signs of spring's return.

It takes more than molasses and sulphur to cure the fever that strikes the students—you know—night breezes, moonlight and well, you know.

During the past week the high school trio made another appearance. The trio gave a group of numbers at the Church of Christ, Sunday evening, March 22, under the direction of Miss Eunice Miller.

The "Other Side" of the St. Lawrence Waterway

THE ST. LAWRENCE Seaway rejected by the U. S. Senate in 1934 on its imagined navigation merits is being stirred into life again with its electric power phases blithely offered as a co-equally important argument. But in neither respect is the seaway needed.

VIEWED as a transportation agency, we already have a lakes-to-the-sea route. On it can be, is being, economically borne all the products for which America can find world markets. (Our railroads with their 50% surplus of equipment can handle all traffic given them, now and through the coming generations.)

IT WILL create no new markets, nor new traffic. It is simply a new shipping route, diverting traffic from existing transit agencies. It will function only in summer when railroad efficiency is greatest and need of it would be the least. It will be idle five months each winter when need of it would be greatest.

IT WILL not benefit the auto industry; or the wheat farmer; or bring farm relief; or aid employment; or "cure the depression". It will shorten no trade routes. It has no military value.

VIEWED for its power (half of which belongs to Canada) again the seaway is not needed. The region cannot absorb the vast surplus of harnessed hydro power it now has. The seaway is so remote from consuming (but disinterested) markets that transmission costs would make the new power—as it does present power—so costly as to be unsaleable.

TO ABSORB the contemplated power an industrial district twice as large as Detroit's must be built adjoining the seaway. Without such a nearby market the power and the immense cost of its development would be wasted.

LASTLY, we must furnish the bulk of the new money needed for a project benefiting another nation more than our own and lying more largely in another's territory than in the United States.

FACT, not fancy and emotionalism, should influence our consideration of the seaway. And the fact is America has come to know it as a project that is economically unsound.

Chevrolet's high-compression valve-in-head engine gives economy without equal!

Every test proves it's more economical... Every Chevrolet owner knows it's more economical... And every person will readily understand these simple A-B-C reasons why it is more economical

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine. Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—because six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles. Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the advanced construction of the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving. Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs.
