Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle
Hank
of
Hills
Corners
Says:

Usta be a woman wuz satisfied ef you cut some wood and filled the woodbox, but now they got to have one of these push-button stoves.

Country Life 1936 Model

It's different down upon the farm so Alfred tells me now, For all the erstwhile country hicks are up to date and how! They very seldom work at all and still get better yields, Though they never use a cradle in the house or in the field. The binder now is rubber tired and proof from bump and shock And the farmer does not fall off when the bullwheel hits a rock. The work is done mysteriously as though by magic wand. The farmer always wears kid gloves but doesn't keep a hand. The farmer rides a combine haughty as a belted earl, And the hired man does not shock the wheat or even the hired girl. The daughter never works at all and mother saves her legs By using a production line to gather in the eggs. For housework is much easier now a mere push-button dream, She never takes a dasher to knock hell out of the cream. But rises with a singing heart six hours after dawn. And pours the cream into the churn and turns the current on. And does the housework easy-like upon the modern plan. And hits the night clubs every night—she and the hired man.

Fanny, the front street flapper, says she always thought the term combination meant a union suit until Alfred George told her the term also included farm equipment.

Well, friends and neighbors, the situation as of the present date is that Cress Watson is back in the O. K. barber shop again looking so natural that you can hardly realize he was ever gone, and he is moving his family back in the old Methodist parsonage at the top of Days avenue hill. At that Cress staid away longer than we thought he would.

The city commission will meet tonight to canvass the vote and if the ballots for the city commissioner remain a tie they will have the job of throwing either Phay Graffort or Fred Schwartz out. Mayor Merson has a large boot and it might be just as well if the boys went peaceably, and which ever way it goes we will still have a good city commission. How does that sound? Well, we haven't time to write it over, anyway.

It is more or less reliably reported that the election will be decided by lot of contest of some kind. If they pitch pennies Fred will probably win, but if they shoot craps—meet the new commissioner, Mr. Graffort.

Rural Schools Play Big Part In Blossom Plans

Rural schools of Berrien county will have a larger part than ever before in the children's day activities of the 1936 Blossom movement today from John Cox, secretary of the St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce.

Twenty or more schools are expected to be represented in the annual juvenile parade, which will be held in St. Joseph on Thursday, May 7. Ten schools have begun preparations for Blossom Week, and each school is to invite one other rural school to participate.

Nine of the 10 schools will enter a little girl as candidate for Blossom Princess. The Princess will be selected at 8 p. m., eastern standard time, on Friday, April 24, at the Bard school in Benton township. Entertainment for the Princess choosing program will consist of one number by the pupils of each competing school.

All the candidates are to be dressed alike, to guard against favorites among judges because of difference in clothing. The girls will wear dotted Swiss ankle length dresses in pastel shades.

Mrs. Marianne Bard Brado is the chairman of the committee for the children's parade and princess selection. Others on the committee are Miss Fredella Tuttle, Sorter school; Miss Dorothy Stemm, Boynton school; Miss Alice Swiger, Johnson school; Mrs. Octavia Forbush, Millburg school; Miss Marian Fisher, Bard school; Miss Dorothy Schneck, Lafayette school; Miss Virginia L. Smith, Lake Shore school; all in Benton township; Mrs. Doris Major, Brown school, St. Joseph township; and Mrs. John DeVries of the Stewart school Parent-Teacher association in Lincoln township. ### Mrs. Fred Moyer Treas. Co. P. T. A.

County Educational Body Favors Full Time Health Service for Schools.

Mrs. Fred Moyer, president of the Buchanan Parent-Teacher Association, was elected treasurer of the Berrien County Parent-Teacher Council at the annual meeting held in the Twin City Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, April 2.

Other officers elected were: president, Mrs. Milton Davis, St. Joseph; first vice president, Mrs. Charles Hess, Niles; second vice president, Mrs. A. C. Stark, Coloma; recording secretary, Mrs. Fred Miller, Fair Plain; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harry Gast, St. Joseph. The retiring president was Mrs. A. C. Stark.

The meeting was attended by about 150 representatives of 26 organizations, the local delegates being Mrs. Fred Moyer and Mrs. Clayton Leiter. The afternoon session was addressed by Dr. E. C. Forsbeck, Lansing, following which the council went on record as favoring a full-time health service for Berrien County schools.

Reports from the various P. T. A. units revealed many busy worthwhile projects in operation all over Berrien county. Dental and medical work, music projects, improvements and additions to school equipment, including radios, moving picture machines, stoves and school kitchens, provision of hot lunches for children, milk for the underfed, holiday treats and leisure time activities were a few of the many projects reported.

Mrs. Stanley Patrick of Benton Harbor, who was the first speaker of the afternoon, was especially well received in a talk based upon the book, "Magna Charta of Youth," by David Seaburg, leaving a challenge with her listeners for more understanding parenthood.

The Rev. George H. Wilson pastor of the First Christian church in Benton Harbor, gave a discussion and pronounced the invocation at the morning session, stressing the need for a four-sided education, intellectual, social, physical and spiritual.

J. W. Nelson closed the afternoon session with discussion of Thatcher-Sauer Act, presenting a need for action on the part of rural school leaders to overcome the inequalities and failings in the act through some action in giving rural school children the same opportunities that are provided in city schools. A committee appointed to study the present system includes Mrs. Clara Smith of Berrien Springs, Mrs. LaVice Pratt, Eau Claire and Mrs. Nagle of Twelve Corners.

R. Black Vs. H. Merrill Re Location Old Swimming Hole

Wherein Black Says Things in Plain Black and White.

Editor Record,

Dear Sir: It has been my privilege to read some of the articles appearing in the Record under the heading "Along McCoy's Creek." These articles I read with interest and some amusement because of the writers' insistence upon "keeping the record straight" for it is evident he is writing some history from hearsay.

In the article appearing in the issue of March 5th, he accuses me of mis-statement and untruthfulness as to the location of the old swimming hole mentioned in my letter that appeared in your paper of Jan. 16th, and for his benefit and the readers of the Record, I will re-state that the said hole was just where I said it was, "at a point opposite the mouth of McCoy's creek" and it was there long before Andy Caruthers came to Buchanan and dug his fish pond that caused us to abandon the old hole. In fact it was there and in use when Harrison donned his first diaper. At that time the property belonged to one Dutch John, who lived in a little cabin just where the river makes its bend.

If Harrison cares to verify my statement or the location of this swimming hole, he may ask Hank Kingery, who is the only one of the old gang left in Buchanan (as I remember) who shared in the delights of that old swimming hole.

Now to further straighten the record. The Abe Baker episode I remember well, for I was in South Bend that night and watched the procession as it came down Michigan street from the depot. Abe was in the second carriage, not with the speaker in the first one. The speaker and guest of the evening was not Benj. Butler but James G. Blaine.

Some historians know their history. Some know their onions. All I claim is, I know my swimming hole, McCoy's creek and the old St. Joe river.

ROL S. BLACK.

The Bishop Will Misbehave Here

Under the Auspices of the Buchanan Civic Players May 1.

The Buchanan Civic Players, sponsored by WPA Recreation project, will present on May 1, at the Clark Theatre, a three-act comedy entitled "The Bishop Misbehaves", written by Frederick Jackson. The play will be given under the auspices of the local Ralph Rumbaugh post of the American Legion.

"The Bishop Misbehaves" is a play just off Broadway that is enjoying a very successful run in the 1934-35 season, with Walter Connolly in the role of the Bishop. Robert Benchley, drama critic for "The New Yorker", says of the play, "A happy solution to the parents' problem of what to take the boys and girls to that would excite without bismirking."

The New York News says—"good fun, just what it is set out to be—a good evening's entertainment."

This is the first attempt this year of the little theatre group and promises to be a very excellent offering.

A capable cast of players has been selected to fill the roles. They are: Kermit Washburn, Miss Harriet Conrad, A. B. Muir, Miss Allegra Henry, Jack Boone, Earl Rizer, Miss Mayme Prosser, Maynard Post and Arthur Johnston.

The play is being directed by Harry Banks, Jr., with Mrs. Milton Ludwig assisting.

Melvin Campbell Gets 1st Aid Medal

Melvin Campbell of Troop 41, Buchanan, was awarded a First Aid medal Tuesday, April 7 at the Boy Scout meeting. He was awarded this medal for his exceptionally good service in the recent First Aid contest and also the contest held in 1935, sponsored by the American Red Cross and Mid-West Area of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Campbell has been a Scout for almost five years. He has devoted his time and energy to the progress of Scouting and First Aid in Buchanan since he joined the troop.

The presentation was made by Leo Slate, former Scoutmaster of Troop No. 41, Buchanan. Mr. Slate, who coached the teams for the past five years, is turning his position as instructor in First Aid over to Mr. Campbell, who will coach Troop 41's teams for next year. Mr. Campbell will be the youngest and probably one of the best instructors to enter any First Aid team into the Mid-West Tournament next year.

He has been employed much of the time since he was graduated from high school here at the Rexall store in Three Oaks.

10 Members Head Family Have Mumps

The Head family is the head family in Buchanan as far as numbers affected by that complaint commonly known as the mumps and usually featured by a head considerably off-center.

Ten members of the Head family now have the mumps or are in process of recovery, the afflicted including Mrs. Will Head, eight children, including all the big and little Heads, and Jack Head, the Head dog, who is now recovering from a lump on the side of his head closely resembling those on the heads of the rest of the family. Monday there were only nine Heads afflicted, including the Head dog, and excluding Mr. Head, the nominal head of the family, and one Head child. However, Mr. Head reported yesterday that the eighth Head child now had them, leaving only himself to be the head cook, bottle washer and nurse for all the rest.

"And I've never had mumps, myself," remarked Mr. Head, as he suspiciously felt of the side of his head.

No Miss Buchanan Named This Year

Selection of Local Representative in Queen Contest Goes by Default.

For the first time since the beginning of the annual Blossom Queen selection at the Twin Cities in 1926 Buchanan, home of two queens out of the eleven selected, will not be represented this year, as a result of the failure of two representatives of the Queen committee to interest local organizations in the selection. The B. G. U. Sorority had agreed to co-operate in the selection with other organizations, but no others were willing to enter the work. The central queen committee set Monday, April 6, as the last date for announcing entrance of Buchanan, stating that the local municipality would be "out of luck" if a decision was made later.

Local organizations approached took an apathetic attitude, stating that it might be as well if Buchanan dropped out for a year it might make the task of selection easier afterwards.

Trend of Vital Statistics Dark

Births reported in Buchanan for the month of March were 9, according to City Clerk Harry Post, who keeps close tab on items of the kind, as compared with a total of 22 for the quarter ending March 31. ### Find Vestige Old Fire Protection

A vestige of the town's fire protection system of the days of Away Back When was uncovered by WPA forces excavating for a sewer service pipe in front of the L. D. S. church on North Oak St., in the form of one of the old brick storage cisterns. George Black states that this cistern used to be filled through a hose 1,000 feet long, extended from the old hand pumper, now in the Three Oaks museum. This pumper would be stationed on the millrace bridge on South Oak street, and ten men would man the "brakes" pumping the cistern full, which would last about twenty minutes in a fire. Another storage cistern was located by the old Methodist church on the top of Days Avenue hill, filled by conduits carrying the drainage water from surrounding roofs. It is reported that there were several other storage cisterns about town, all used in the days before 1893 when the town waterworks were installed.

May Start Front St. Sewer Monday

City Commission to Decide Whether Force Transferred to Front or Moccasin Ave.

The WPA sewer force, aided by the power trench digger, will complete the installation on Fourth street to Detroit by the end of the present week, if weather does not interfere, and will begin next week either on Front street or on Moccasin.

If the city commission authorizes installation on Front street at this time, the work will begin at Oak, west of Oak street the brick paving is underlaid with sand instead of the concrete which underlies the pavement of the business district. The depth at Oak and Front will be from 11 1/2 to 12 feet.

The Buchanan men are now installing pipe at a depth of 14 feet in the alley in the rear of the old Wagon works building.

Charles Bainton, Pioneer, is Dead

With Brother, He Operated Niagara Mills Over 50 Years.

Funeral services are being held today for Charles L. Bainton, 72, from the home on River street at 2 p. m., with Rev. W. E. Brunelle in charge and interment will be made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Charles L. Bainton passed away at his home on River street at Buchanan, Monday morning at 4:20 a. m. at the age of 72 years, five months and 23 days. He has been ill for about three months.

He was one of the older residents of Buchanan and with his brother, William L. Bainton, operated what was known to the whole community as the Niagara Roller Flour Mills, where they made several different blends of flour, and dealt in wholesale and retail business for the past 53 years at the original old mill site on River street. In early years wholesale business was so extensive that Bainton's Patent, Golden Wedding or Daisy Flour was found even in carload lots at New York City and they even had foreign communications from Chas. Darmanin & Co., from the Isles of Malta, asking for samples of their export qualities and quotations of lowest prices for goods delivered CIF Malta. Business was so extensive that they had a night shift running under the supervision of Lagree Antisdell, which was operated by a steam engine and the day shift was supervised by Charles East and was operated by water power.

Mr. Bainton has always lived in Buchanan and watched the growth of the small village to a thriving little city. He is the last of a family of six children. His father, William Henry Bainton, came direct from England and built a flour mill at New Buffalo and brought stones and material direct from England, making several trips across the ocean in sail boats and built the mill which is now known as the Pears grist mill in the center of town. He was responsible for William Pears coming to Buchanan from England, bringing him here to work in his mill.

Mr. Bainton's mother, Amanda Swift, came here from Ohio in childhood and lived here when the Indians would pass their home on their trail which came through on Ryneerson street going to Moccasin Bluff for their trading Post. In recent years he quit the flour business and spent his time taking care of an apple orchard known as the Bainton Apple farm, where he spent his time until the last few years of his life when he was unable to do the work, his son still representing him there.

He leaves to mourn his widow, Amy L. Kelsey, and 3 children, Kelsey, of Buchanan, Mrs. Eugene Michael of Eau Claire, Mrs. Lyle C. Fitch of South Bend, and one grandson and three granddaughters.

An Expletive An expletive is a word, often profane, added for emphasis or rhetorical effect.

Swedish Fast Swimmer A fully developed Swedish is probably the fastest swimming creature in the world, says a Natural History.

"The Camera Cannot Lie"

British statesman W. E. Gladstone coined the expression: "The camera cannot lie" in August, 1896, during a speech at Liverpool. The speech tried to rouse indignation of the public over Armenian massacres at Constantinople. Reports of the horrible carnage seemed incredible. Yet photographs showed many heaps of slain Armenians lying in the streets. "Exaggerated atrocity stories?" "No," retorted Gladstone. "The camera never lies."

Financing a New Car? Appreciation

In appreciation (?) for your borrowing your money from them many finance and loaning agencies try and dig further into your pocket by representing that you MUST carry your insurance with them. This means, in many cases, carrying your insurance in companies in which you would not choose to carry your insurance. Also, paying, in many cases, more for the coverage than you could purchase it for from your own agent.

All this in the face of your having done them a favor by borrowing from them. (Remember, they must loan money, that's their only excuse for existing.)

When buying insurance buy it from your insurance agent, not a financing agency.

I AM called a "Load Dispatcher." From my seat in a gallery, I control great turbines that supply life blood to industry and a vital necessity to homes—electric current. My job is to anticipate your demands so as to give you all the power you need at the instant when you call for it, whether it be to cook your dinner or to turn the wheels of a great industry.

The turbines are part of a system with the power of a million horses. The pressure of my finger on a button will bring these huge spinning machines to life if there is available ample steam, the food they eat.

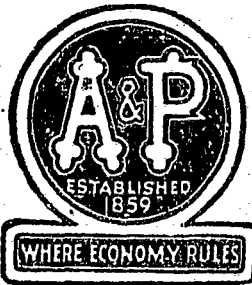

Near my "desk" is an illuminated diagram of the system of lines and substations so that I can tell at a glance what connection should be made to meet any emergency.

I care for the expected changes as they come along. Then suddenly the unexpected happens. In midday, the voice of Bill Jones, a dispatcher fifty miles west, comes over the loud speaker announcing a violent electric storm in his vicinity. My barometer is falling. The wind is west. When that storm reaches us we must be ready. Thousands of homes and business establishments in city and countryside will turn on their lights and in an instant the electrical demand may be doubled.

Such emergencies as these must be met by calling on reserve capacity in our own plants or those of our neighbors. Cold boilers must be started and fuel added to banked fires. Mine is a nerve-racking job because a mistake would cause untold damage. At the same time there is much satisfaction in hearing our customers say: "They give good service and interruptions are few and far between."

JOIN THE SPORTSMEN'S CLUB

Those who attended the meeting of the Berrien County Sportsmen's club which was secured for this city through the offices of Ted Rouse two weeks ago received something of an eye-opener in the possibilities of that organization.

It was apparent at that meeting that the club was considerable more than an organization of sportsmen, interested in keeping up the bluegill and cottontail supply. It is the strongest single influence now working toward conservation, not only of fish and game, but of the scenic resources and the great advantages that derive from the maintenance of natural assets of forest, field and stream.

Whatever the theorist may think about the matter, you can't interest the great body of men in such movements unless you can get at them "where they live." And the great majority of men retain the instinct of the sportsman throughout their lives. The instincts of the fisherman and the hunter go back to boyhood and far beyond—they go back to the beginning of the race when all men were of necessity fishers and hunters. You can lecture endlessly on the necessity of maintaining natural resources without awakening as much as a flicker of interest. But when you appeal to the love of men to roam field, wood and river for sport, you are touching a fundamental chord, where a response is easily secured. There you can get results.

The moral of the sermon is: If you believe not only in the preservation of game, but in the preservation of the forests and streams that are the habitat of the game—join the sportsmen's club. Every additional membership in that organization adds to the influence which is doing and will do more than any other agency in this direction.

A year's membership costs 50 cents, and is worth a lot more. In attending the meeting you get the swing of a big movement. If you are interested, pay your 50 cents to Ted Rouse, Carl Remington or any of the local fans.

PLANT A TREE

There is much concern, and rightly so, about the national financial deficit which now runs into billions, but not so much is heard about the annual tree deficit.

Yet trees are wealth, whether considered as individual property or a national asset. A good tree is worth a number of dollars, wherever it is. An annual deficit of trees is doubtless a deficit that is felt as much of a liability to the future as a deficit in dollars. A dollar of debt is a liability to the debtor, an asset to the creditor. But a tree destroyed is an asset to nobody, and the consequence if the annual destruction without adequate replacement is maintained is already ascertainable in the widespread disaster of flood and dust storm.

All of which is not a plea for a mammoth WPA project, but just a reminder that some individual concern about the replacement of trees is not unbecoming to a responsible citizen. The Buchanan district is no exception. Once McCoy's creek (beg pardon, Mr. Merrill, we mean creek) was much larger than now, and to the succession of carding mills, sawmills, grist mills and other enterprises along its banks the town owes its beginning. That was in the timber days when the shaded soil held its water longer and the run-off was distributed in a larger average year-around volume.

We don't have to wait for the government to do things. We can plant a few trees on our own premises or even on some other premises if we are sufficiently interested in the matter. Back in the seventies the village fathers passed an act remitting certain taxes for that year to those who planted trees on their frontages that season. That is one of the many reasons why the town nestles in forest that is a delight, at least, to all outsiders who pass through or visit here, regardless of the unconcern of the local populace.

A short time ago the Microphone carried a story on the planting of the pine trees which are now the distinguishing feature of the school grounds and a monument as long as they live to the public interest of the Hon. L. P. Alexander and his brother, Eric Alexander. Among those living who contributed in a considerable way to the beauty and the summer comfort of the town is George Black, who planted many of the trees on Front street and in the region of Charles Court and Roe street.

Many of the new books for the library have been read through already. Of all the books bought "Honey Jane" and "The Topaz Seal" seem to be the two best liked by the pupils.

We held school on Saturday to make up for one of the days we missed. We still have three more days to go before we will be caught up.

Bonus Explanation

In many cases a man's wife has lost approximately a thousand dollars in benefits. There are still a great many veterans who have not applied under the first act for their adjusted service certificates and they are urged to do so immediately and at the same time make application under the Adjusted Compensation Payment Act, 1936, for Issuance of Thrift.

and the amount of these bonds will then be the amount of the face of the certificate or about three times the amount of the Adjusted Service Credit.
The second group most likely to jeopardize their full benefits under the Adjusted Compensation Payment Act just passed are those veterans more or less in good circumstances who have applied for and received their Adjusted Service Certificates and are now holding the certificate free from all loans stored away in some safe or bank box. This group, since they have never borrowed on their certificates, may feel that it is not necessary for them to exchange their certificates for the Thrift Bonds and particular attention is called to the following language of Sub Section B under Section III of the law just passed which reads as follows:

"If the veteran dies without making a valid application under this act, no payment under this act shall be made."

In other words, if a veteran dies without making a valid application for the Thrift bonds, payment will only be made under the Adjusted Service Certificate to the beneficiary designated therein. In a large number of cases veterans have forgotten who they made beneficiaries of their certificates or have failed to have beneficiaries changed and we find the proceeds of the certificates in instances going to divorced wives where the veteran leaves a second wife with dependents. The possibility of this can be overcome by exchanging the Adjusted Service Certificates for Thrift bonds.

If the veteran holding a certificate should continue to do so feeling that he has something which can be turned in at any time and if he should die before making application for Thrift bonds as contained in the above quoted passage the estate would suffer a loss of interest at the rate of 3 per cent per year which is provided for in the new bonds. For example, a Veteran holding a $1500 certificate does not exchange the certificate for the Thrift bonds and should he die at the end of five years, still holding the certificate, his estate or heirs could not secure payment under the Adjusted Compensation Payment Act of 1936 and a loss of $225 in interest would result. This class of veteran should immediately exchange their certificates for Thrift bonds and then hold the bonds in place of the certificate as the bonds will draw interest for nine years at 3 per cent per annum for a total amount of $27.00 on each $100 bond. These bonds will be dated June 15, 1936, and will be payable only to the veteran on or after that date and will be registered "in the name of the veteran only," and will "in no way be transferrable, assignable, subject to attachment, levy, or seizure under any legal process," and are non-taxable.

Therefore, to summarize briefly and conclusively, every individual veteran, in order to avoid "these gaps" in both laws, should apply for NOW and secure his Thrift bonds regardless of his previous status of his adjusted Compensation. The American Legion urges all veterans, not in real need, to hold the bonds so that the cash burden upon the treasury will not be so heavy now and for their own Thrift and future benefit.

Levitation

The word levitation is defined as the phenomenon or illusion of maintaining or moving heavy objects, as the human body, in the air without support; also the subjective illusion of arising into or moving through the air without support, as in dreams. The art or science of levitation goes back into the mists of history. The tradition is ancient and, even today, widespread. In the puranas of Mother India there is a precise Sanskrit equivalent for levitation. This is laghima, from laghu (light). The Buddhist sutras describe a similar power.

Pictures Here Easter Week

Shure, and if it's a jig you want, Jane Withers does a grand one in the Fox picture, "Paddy O' Day", the heart-warming tale of a little girl from Erin which is on the double feature program Friday and Saturday at the Hollywood.

Prominent in the supporting cast of "Professional Soldier," second picture for Friday and Saturday, is C. Henry Gordon. Victor McLaglen and Freddie Bartholomew are starred.

An almost forgotten island hell on the coast of America becomes the center of action for the searing, enthralling drama of "The Prisoner of Shark Island," 20th Century's picture at the Hollywood theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Plucked from the pages of history, the new picture tells the authentic story of a man martyred for a deed of mercy, torn from the arms of the woman he loved to a living death on an island where brutes are masters.

The real-life hero of "The Prisoner of Shark Island," was Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd, who is portrayed on the screen by Warner Baxter. Sun-scorched Fort Jefferson, on a tiny key in the Caribbean, is the prison where he was sent under sentence of life imprisonment.

How Baxter, sustained by the love of his wife, Gloria Stuart, lives through spiritual and physical torture to emerge a hero in the yellow fever epidemic which strikes the island is revealed in the picture, which was directed by John Ford and personally produced under the supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck.

If you really want to see how a typical American family lives, what goes on in the home and what the real relationship is between father and children, and at the same time get a full share of glorious and uproarious fun, don't fail to see the new Fox comedy-drama, "Every Saturday Night," which comes on Wednesday and Thursday to the Hollywood.

A complete carnival including concessions and side shows, was taken over by RKO Radio for use as background for scenes of "I Dream Too Much," Wednesday and Thursday, starring Lily Pons, famed opera, concert and radio star.

Romance and delightfully human comedy vie with the spell of music in RKO Radio's "I Dream Too Much," debut picture of Lily Pons, opera star renowned as the world's greatest coloratura soprano.

Along McCoy's Crick

By Harrison Merrill

For several years there appeared opposite the Michigan Central depot a large sign reading "Buchanan—Home of the Blues." Just what effect this announcement may have had on passengers passing through is not known, and really doesn't matter at this late date.

The sign was not placed there with the idea of boosting real estate values, but was intended to convey to the traveling public that Buchanan was proud of a baseball team which had been able to crush all foes from surrounding territory without number.

Teams representing Niles, Gallien, New Buffalo, Pokagon, Marcellus, Berrien Center, Eau Claire, Berrien Springs and Three Oaks, had been met and bowled over with clock-like regularity by the celebrated Blues. The club as a result of its many triumphs had become an institution and was recognized as such by the Crick people.

The first games played by the Blues took place on the lot at the corner of Detroit and Fourth Sts. Playing on the team at that time were Claude (Daddy) Moulton, Herbie Roe and Frank Whitman. Later the diamond was transferred to the big lot at the far-north end of Portage street, not far from the river, and only a stone's throw from the "skunk farm" which also was an institution in those days.

By that time Frank "Stub" Sanders had joined the team as an outfielder. Also there were a number of other recruits who had taken up the national pastime as a recreation and a means to attain glory.

In the 90's the Blues moved to the field to the north of the Niles hill and on the property at present occupied by the Clark Equipment Co. The spectators occupied their own seats under the trees on the hillside and from there could watch "our boys" lick the socks off the opposition. Nero fiddling at Rome never enjoyed a spectacle quite so much as did the home town fans in those great days.

The Hatch Cutlery Co. had moved to Buchanan from South Milwaukee, Wis., and occupied the old wagon factory on Main street. The coming of the concern brought a number of high class ball players including several from Elyria, O., where a branch of the organization had been located at one time.

It was this increased strength that made the Blues of the late 90's one of the most formidable organizations of the kind then in existence. That is, so far, as Crick people were concerned.

At this point the writer wishes to pay tribute to William "Bill" Brodick, who is, and always has been, Buchanan's foremost baseball fan. He came pompadoored to the village from Decatur, with his father, the late Dr. H. M. Brodick in the late 80's or the early 90's. He was much interested in those days in the trotters and pacers and was able to give the pedigree and records of all the turf performers of that day. He used to drive a white horse up and down Front street amid a chorus of admiring "Ah's" from the younger set seated along the curb. Bill Brodick later was a star infielder on the Blues team. He had made a deep study of the sport and knew more about the national pastime than anyone located within the corporate limits. It was his knowledge of the game and not his heavy hitting that made him such a valuable member of the club.

It is recalled that when Pittsburgh won the National League pennant in 1901 that this player was the only Buchanan fan who picked the Pirates to lead and he had them right from the start. The so-called newspaper experts did not accord the Clarke team a chance to get above fifth place.

Playing on the team at the time was Wallace "Jim" Hanover, first sacker, a tall, slightly stooped player, who was able to hit the ball on demand and who was one of the most popular members of the Blues. Behind the bat Herb Hanover, a brother, also exceedingly spry and likewise a favorite with the fans.

Along in the middle 90's some player William "Bill" Silvers, a pitcher weighing around 200, and his friend, "Cap" Ashby, an infielder, came from Elkhart and joined the team. Silvers on his first appearance at bat against Pokagon, knocked the ball clear over in Bainton's mill pond, which was the longest swat on record at that time. The loss of the ball caused a delay in the game as it was necessary to drive to Niles to secure another one.

Charley Matthews, a product of Elyria, an infielder, and also a pitcher when the occasion demanded, the only player on the team to wear a red undershirt, was one of the outstanding stars of the club. So was "Bunny" Marshall, also of Elyria. Also in the outfield at times was Clarence Hatch, whose father was head of the Hatch company and also president of the club. This family connection accounted for the most part for his presence in the line-up.

Also playing on the team at various times were Herbie Roe, "Stub" Sanders, Earl Harkrider, and a fellow by the name of Snyder, who at one time had been a member of a Southern Association club.

There also was a player of the hobo type who used to play on the team. He had a habit of turning up from some place or other just at game time. The name is forgotten. It is recalled, however, that one time when the Blues were playing at New Carlisle with the score against them 8 to 5 in the ninth the player in question came riding into town on top of a boxcar on the railroad that passed near by the field. He was able to crawl down off his perch, roll up his trousers, and appear at the plate with three men in base and two out in the ninth inning whereupon he proceeded to strike out instead of pounding out a mighty home run that would, according to fiction, have won the game for the Crick team.

This is mentioned because it is unusual for a hero to strike out when a chance presented itself to deliver. Frank Merriwell, it will be recalled, never did any such thing. The writer however leans towards accuracy, even at a late date.

The greatest game the Blues played was at Niles when the team defeated the Berrien Center club and won the Berrien County championship, 8 to 3. It was a nip and tuck contest all the way with John Derringer, the long-haired Rolling Prairie pitcher, on the mound for the Crick aggregation.

It was a three-bagger by a young Buchanan player, Herb "Hep" Niles which decided the game in the eighth inning. The blow would have been good for four bases had not the ball hit a young Buchanan fellow, Eugene "Mickey" Murphy, who was seated in the top branches of a tall oak in deep centerfield.

Several years later Buchanan people read where a player by the name of "Harry" Niles was a member of the St. Louis Browns. There was some question among the fans as to whether he was the former Blues player.

To settle the question a committee was selected to visit Chicago one Sunday while the Browns were playing the White Sox and find out for sure.

"If he hits the ball and starts running toward third base instead of first we'll know that's 'Hep'," said the chairman of the committee.

Well, it turned out to be the former Buchanan player. On that day he did not get away from the home plate so there was no telling the general direction he would have taken. But the committee was able to determine by his actions that it was the same fellow.

This knowledge produced considerable excitement in the village. The fans figured on putting on some sort of a celebration to give vent to their feelings. The idea of having a "Niles Day" later was abandoned for fear the people of the so-called metropolis located five miles to the east might misunderstand.

The Niles family, by the way, was also strong for athletics. "Toad" Niles always won all the foot races at the Fourth of July celebrations. He was able to travel from Sam Smith's corner to Treat's grocery along Front street, barefooted, in almost no time at all.

The writer's mother, who taught a Sunday school class, at the Presbyterian church, it is recalled, was among those who were proud of the so-called "Harry" Niles who had become a big leaguer. He was a former member of her class and the only one apparently who had been able to make his mark in the world, at least nationally. His success was attributed to the early training in the Sunday school.

Letter from George Southern, who is in the hotel business at Battle Creek (Crick), says that it was Henry "Red" Spohn who gave him his first chew of fine cut. He remembers having been deathly sick at the time and is inclined to think he may have been poisoned. There must be others.

No use talking, Buchanan had a great ball team back in the days when the Blues were in their prime. "Our boys" were the apple of the eyes of the Crick populace. The sign "Buchanan—Home of the Blues" across from the depot was proudly displayed and from the heart out. Although it must be admitted that the information thus conveyed to the traveling public may not have had the lure intended, it indicated the high esteem in which members of the club were held.

Donkeys Seldom Shy

It is explained that the reason horses shy at unexpected sounds or at sight of strange objects while their relative, the donkey, doesn't is chiefly hereditary, says Pathfinder Magazine. Horses are descended from ancestors that roamed the plains where clumps of grass or bushes perhaps concealed danger. On the other hand, donkeys are descendants of hill animals to whom surefootedness and slowness were a necessity in traveling steep paths and precipices. Natural enemies were fewer and a sudden start of alarm might have been fatal.

Pea Fowls

Pea fowls are of two sexes, the male being the peacock and the female the pea hen.

Editorial

When Webster composed his famous non-fiction book, he had no intention of adding the words "heck," "golly," "darn," "ain't," and other slang terms, for they really have no place in any one's vocabulary.

This idea of slang isn't getting anyone any place, and as you grow up the world should grow up too, for they should get larger. Who wants to go around reciting "penny words" such as "cat," "dog," "goose," and "hain't" when they're ninety nine? Well, that is the road some of you are on, because you don't take time to allow your "diction mind" to mature.

It detracts from the personality to go about using profane and vulgar words, and tends to a certain vulgarity which is hard to break away from. If you stick to the good old remedy of counting to a hundred (and not by tens) when you are angry, your wrath will have subsided by then.

In after years when it comes your turn to seek a position, it isn't the clothes that puts you over, but the way you approach people, the manner in which you talk, whether clumsily or with ease.

HERE AND THERE

It seems that some of the high school teachers had April fool jokes played on them. It was rumored around that Mr. Moore went to the door during physics class and found no one there. Mrs. Whitman's fifth hour government class pulled the same thing on her. Wonder who the guilty one was? Mr. Robinson confessed that some one in every one of his classes during the day had fooled him.

From all reports the Republican convention at Kalamazoo was a great success, and the delegates seemed to have survived all right. We are told that a great calamity happened to our delegates about 3:30 in the afternoon. Ask some of the delegates the particulars.

The Glee club is planning another trip to Pipestone this year. We hope that they find their way there this time.

Mr. Franks brought the group pictures last Wednesday and you should have seen the jam in Mrs. Dunbar's room after school. Some seemed pleased with the results and others chagrined. Well, cheer up, students, we can't all be Mary Carlises and Tom Browns.

Miss Gale Pears To Wed June 8

The betrothal and approaching marriage of Miss Gale Pears, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Pears of Buchanan, Mich., to Hugh W. Blair, son of Mrs. Eva C. Blair, 214 E. Chicago st., Elgin, Ill., was formally announced Saturday at a lovely luncheon party, given by the popular bride-to-be in her apartment at 234 Villa St.

Frisily pink sweet peas in varied shades, arranged in a low silver bowl, reflected their loveliness in a silver plateau centering the luncheon table, over which stately pink tapers, tied with perky bows of white tulle, cast their rays.

White ribbons radiated from the plateau to sweet peas at each place which when pulled, revealed bridal folders holding tiny scrolls of paper bearing the message, "Gale and Hugh, June 8." The dainty pink, silver and white color scheme was also carried out in the nut cups and place cards. A delicious three-course menu was served, Miss Doris Graham catering.

Miss Pears, who has made many friends in Elgin during her residence here the last eight years, especially among the teaching faculty of the city, is a graduate of the Buchanan high school with the class of 1923 and from the Western State Teachers College at Kalamazoo in 1925.

Coming to this city, the bride-elect, taught in the kindergarten of Garfield school for five years, later at the Lowrie school, and for the past two years has been instructor in the kindergarten department of Washington school. Miss Pears is a member of Beta Gamma Upsilon sorority.

Mr. Blair, a graduate of the Elgin high school, class of 1918, was later graduated from the Lake Forest college with the class of 1927. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. The bridegroom-elect is now engaged as municipal bond trader with Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago.

Two Kinds of Vampire

The Greeks believe that there are two kinds of vampire—one dead, but retaining a sinister half-life by preying on the blood of the living; and the other still alive. Thus, we are told that the vampires of Thessaly and Epirus are "living men mastered by a kind of somnambulism, who, seized by a thirst for blood, go forth at night from their shepherd's huts, and scour the country, biting and tearing all that they meet, both man and beast." According to another authority, this type of vampire is particularly active when the moon is at its full.

Cunningham in Race for Probate Judge

Atty. Wilbur M. Cunningham

Attorney Wilbur M. Cunningham of Benton Harbor has announced his candidacy for the office of probate judge of Berrien county.

Mr. Cunningham, present city attorney of Benton Harbor and former county prosecutor for four years will seek the Republican nomination in the primary next fall on his record of public service and on the contention that an experienced lawyer is best equipped for the duties of the probate court.

Attorney Cunningham is a native of Benton township and a graduate of the Benton Harbor high school and the University of Michigan law school. He has practiced law since 1913 with the exception of almost two years in the United States Navy during the World war. His war service began the day hostilities were declared, April 6, 1917, when he left Benton Harbor with the first contingent of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph Naval Reserves for active duty.

Attorney Cunningham has always been prominent in American Legion affairs since the war. He was the first commander of the Benton Harbor Legion post and has served as county commander and district commander of that organization. Welfare of ex-service men has at all times been one of his chief interests.

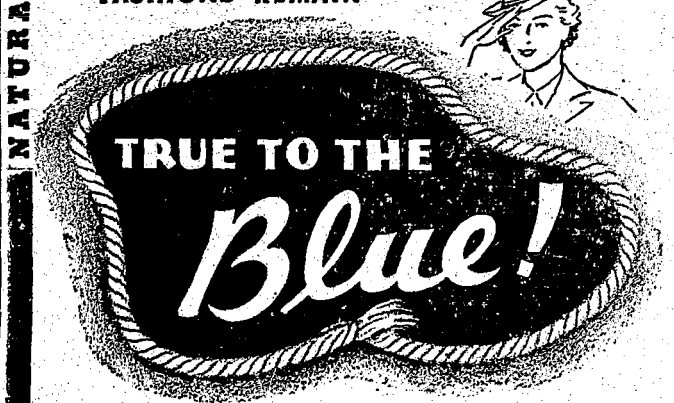

During the four years in which Mr. Cunningham was prosecuting attorney, he handled 6,574 criminal cases of which 6,166 resulted in convictions or pleas of guilty.

Mr. Cunningham was prosecutor at the time Fred Burke, notorious Chicago gunman, Capone gangster and killer of Policeman Charles Skelley of St. Joseph was captured in Missouri and was a member of the party that returned him to Berrien county to plead guilty to murder. Burke is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Marquette.

In addition to serving Benton Harbor as city attorney, Mr. Cunningham, recognized as an authority on municipal affairs, acts as city attorney for Watervliet and also represented the village of New Buffalo in the purchase of its water system.

Attorney Cunningham has made a close study of juvenile problems with which much of the work of the probate court is concerned. He is president of the Parent-Teacher association of the Benton Harbor junior high school and identified with groups interested in child welfare.

Pointing out that approximately 90 per cent of the work of the probate court is involved in technical matters pertaining to estates of deceased persons, and 10 per cent with juvenile problems and other matters Attorney Cunningham believes the probate court requires the supervision of an experienced lawyer.

A Zombie

Zombie is a Haitian name meaning a witch or magician and is used by uncultured negroes in Haiti to scare their children. The effect of this is very similar to the American expression, "look out or the boogey man will get you." These zombies, says the Washington Star, are said to be taken from their graves by men who want cheap labor, and who are able to make them work. They presumably have no soul; their faces are expressionless, and they are evidently hard of understanding. It is widely believed in Haiti that it is possible to inject a fluid into the bodies of dead persons which will make their bodies move and act as robots.

The most important thing a young man ever does is to get ready. The keynote lasts to the end of the time, and the foundation reaches clear to the final. Beginnings are automatic. No matter how long a man lives, he will never get away from his youth.
