The Grave Beside the Trail
Where the creaking caravans rested
For an agonizing moment
Stand the crosses by the wayside
With their immemorial tale
Of the flagging feet that faltered
From the longed-for destination
And the weary forms that rested
In the graves beside the trail.

There the westward marching wagons
Paused a moment in procession
And the hurried graves were fashioned
And the hasty prayers were said
Then while streaming eyes trained backward
In the march that booked no stopping
When the wheels took up their burden
And the wagons lurched ahead.

Only strangers stopped thereafter
In a wondering contemplation
At the crosses by the wayside
Guessing what might be their tale
And the flower of the wayside
Hung its frail memorial petal
That no loving hand could scatter
On the grave beside the trail.

Famed Colored 9
Plays Here Sunday

The Buchanan Blues, who have been hitting a fast pace after taking a beating in their opening game from the O'Brien's Varnish nine of South Bend, will again clash with a headline organization from that city at Liberty Heights diamond next Sunday afternoon when they cross bats with the Monarch A. C.'s, famous colored team.

The Blues are much better than when they played the O'Brien team having made a total of runs in the last three games. A number of improvements have been made at Liberty Heights for accommodation of the crowd, six-foot wire netting having been installed sufficient to screen safely fifty cars. The bleachers will accommodate 120 fans. Admission of 25c is charged for men, women and children free. The public is forewarned that some first class sport will be exhibited there, beginning at 2:30 p. m. fast time.

Fall Festival
Dates Sept. 9-12Directors Vote to Emphasize Farm
Exhibits More This Year

Directors of the Buchanan Fall Festival Association met Wednesday evening at the Buchanan Co-ops pursuant to the call of the president, A. J. George, and voted to hold the event this fall on the dates Sept. 9-12 inclusive. It was voted to combine farm exhibits and entertainment to make a special effort to develop the farm exhibit line.

The date was fixed in accordance with the requirements of the state board of agriculture, which asks for a list of the dates of the fairs of the state for which the state pays half of the premium list.

President George stated that there had been inquiry already from farmers as to the possibilities of holding the fair. It was the sentiment of the meeting that a good list of premiums will be offered. Last year the festival was held in the last week in September.

2 of 3 Graves of Soldiers of The Revolution Buried Near BuchananEdward Otis in Oak Ridge,
Wm. Ferguson in Mt Zion
Cemetery.

Although the Buchanan district was not settled until nearly a half century after the American Revolution, two soldiers of the Revolution are buried here, one in Oak Ridge cemetery and one in the old Mt. Zion cemetery south of Dayton.

Near the north gate of the Oak Ridge cemetery on the small knoll immediately west of the entrance, lies the grave of Edward Otis of the New England Otis family, famed in the political and military annals of the Revolution. A kinsman was James Otis, one of the fiery Massachusetts orators whose passionate utterances fanned the flames of Revolution.

Edward Otis was the son of Major Stephen Otis, who was on the staff of General Warren at the battle of Bunker Hill. He was captured by the British early in the Revolution and later exchanged. Soon after his arrival home he and several others of the family were stricken with smallpox and died. The report was circulated that he contracted the disease thru whiskey inoculated with smallpox germs given to the prisoners before their release. Whether this was true or merely one of the "atrocity" stories which are inseparably connected with every war, the son, Edward Otis, who had survived and was then 15, shouldered a musket in vengeance.

He was born April 6, 1766, at Otis, Mass., and was 17 years old when the war terminated. After the war he entered the Baptist ministry and was caught up in the

M. C. Reduces
Rate to 2 Cts.Pick-Up and Delivery Service
Held Up By Order of Inter-State Commerce Comm.

Rates over the Michigan Central in common with all railroads of the Central West, will drop to two cents per mile for coach fares and three cents for first class fares, on June 1, in accordance with a ruling to that effect by the Interstate Commerce Commission, unless efforts now being made by the railways to secure an injunction against the reduction bear fruit before that time.

The reduction from 3 1/2 cents a mile to 2 cents is in line with action taken voluntarily some time ago by western and southern railways which have been trying to force the issue. The new rate sets up two classes of fares, coach and first class. The rate also goes into effect in the Lake Shore Electric to Chicago.

The "pick-up and delivery" freight service which was scheduled to be put into effect Monday was countermanded by a wire received at 4 p. m. Saturday by the local Michigan Central office from the Inter-state Commerce Commission ordering the institution of the service delayed until Nov. 1.

westward movement settling, in the phraseology of the day in the country of the Tuscarawas in northeast Ohio. Later he and others of the Otis family located in northern Indiana, and a village near Union Mills bears the family name of Otis. He died there June 6, 1862.

In the late sixties or early seventies, soon after Oak Ridge cemetery was laid out, the late F. R. Harding, father of Mrs. Frederick Howe, went to Union Mills and moved the bodies of his parents and of his uncle, Edward Otis, to the Harding lot in the local cemetery. Otis was a grand uncle of Mrs. Frederick Howe and of Glenn Haslett, who are descended from Stephen Otis.

Less is known about William Ferguson, grand uncle of Mrs. John B. Currier, whose body lies under a gnarled old burr oak in Mt. Zion cemetery. He was an uncle of Mrs. Currier's father, George Ferguson, who came to northern Indiana in the early thirties and lived for a time on the old Chicago road northeast of New Carlisle, then moving a mile south of the present US-112 near Dayton.

It is believed that William Ferguson came to this section and died here. The inscription on his tombstone reads:

William Ferguson
Born in Virginia 1760
Died July 1, 1844
Saw service under Washington in the War of the Revolution
In a canvass by the D. A. R. about ten years ago only three graves of Revolutionary soldiers were found in Berrien county, the other being located in Silverbrook cemetery, Niles.

B. H. S. Baseball 9

Buchanan cleaned the slate when they slugged an 8 to 2 defeat in Berrien's green horde last Friday evening on the Heights diamond.

Berrien scored both their tallies in the opening canto, after that the Bucks put on the pressure and held the Berrien boys down. The Bucks scored two runs in the second, five in the fourth and one in the seventh.

able Game, Fanning 8 in

The Buchanan Blues lived up to advance notices as a baseball team worthy of that time-honored name by taking the Buchanan Co-ops into camp at the Liberty Heights diamond 18-4. Pitcher Glenn Jesse performing the outstanding work of the contest by striking out 12 men, of whom eight were retired in three innings.

Either Sebasty, veteran performer for the Co-ops, was off form or the Blues batters were decidedly hot as they hit everything that came their way, getting 18 safe ones which they capitalized into as many runs.

After being touched for 14 hits and 11 runs in the first four innings, Sebasty changed places with Esarey, South Bend, who yielded four hits and enough walks to give the Blues 7 more runs.

DESERVE THANKS

The City Commission, Street Commissioner Ed Mitchell and all concerned in the clean-up and improvement of the vacant lots in the rear of business houses on the north side of Front and the east side of Main street deserve a vote of thanks from Buchanan.

For time out of mind this section has been an eye sore all too plainly visible, grown up with unsightly brush and containing the dumps of past generations. In the past year the city purchased back the lots formerly designated as a city parking ground, and added to it the lots extending east to McCoy's creek, in order to get a right to run a sewer main through. The ground has been filled with excess dirt taken from sewer trenches, and when complete will be leveled off to the bank of the creek. The brush has been cut out and the old dumps leveled off and covered. Philip Franks has aided appearances very materially by constructing a board fence around the junk yard to the south and east end of the lots.

At the present time the lots are being used for storage for sewer equipment and supplies but when this work is completed the space will be available for a city parking ground. It is to be hoped that business men will be able to park many of their cars there, making available more parking space on Front and Main.

Will Occupy
Campbell Bldg.Committee to Continue In Work on Advance Fund
This Week.

The city of Buchanan has at present within its grasp one of the most promising opportunities in the history of the industrial development of the community in the form of branch plant of a company with a first class production record and an established market which proposes to take over the building known locally as the Campbell Transmission Co. plant.

The realization of this opportunity depends on the securing of a fund of $7,500 of which $5,500 has already been raised, not as a donation to the company itself, but to defray half the cost of the installation of a new switch from the Michigan Central to the building. The company itself asks no favors of any kind, nor does it wish to sell stock. All it asks is a sidetrack, whereon installation of $50,000 in equipment and the employment of 100 people at the outset will be a matter of accomplishment during the coming summer.

The fund of $7,500 for the construction of a switch is made necessary by the fact that a new grade and track must be laid to permit a track along the east side of the present building. The company expects, if it comes, to extend the present building to the north and asks that the switch be lengthwise along the east side. It will be necessary to install a new 1500-foot grade and track along the main line eastward and then build a "switchback" track in a V back to the side of the building.

The financial and production record of the company has been thoroughly examined by the New York Central railway, which is putting up half of the $15,000 cost of the track installation, by the Indiana & Michigan Electric company and by several competent local men who are advancing largely to the fund. It is stressed by the committee in charge that the money to be secured will be in the nature of an advance and not a donation, as the railway company is pledged to pay a bonus of $1.00 on each car shipped in and out, which will go to a fund to reimburse those who will temporarily aid in the track construction. Careful estimates indicate that the company should ship 1,000 cars during the first year and that this output should increase, assuring the supporters of the fund of reimbursement.

It is expected that the plant will employ 100 the first year, of whom about 80 will be girls. All except the plant executives and the key men of the industry will be employed locally.

The committee now raising the fund has received a number of advances from $60 to $400 each, with only one refusal to date. While an attempt is being made to cover the city in the canvass the committee wishes to state that it will not be possible to see all who might be interested in aiding the cause and for that reason a representative of the committee will be at the city hall for the remainder of the week and will be glad to see anyone and explain more fully the proposition.

ALTARS OF FREEDOM

A Memorial Day Tribute

Patriotism is the soul of a Nation. It inspires men to put country above life; others before self.

Today, we honor once more, those mother's sons who held in their hearts this supreme ideal of citizenship, and gave their lives for it upon the altars of our freedom.

Their glory-wreaths will be kept green, and their names will shine undimmed as long as our Nation shall last.

Mouse and Cat Grow to Be Good Friends

Pittsfield, Mass.—When the cat's away, this mouse won't play. Mrs. P. L. Tobey has a pet cat which plays with a pet mouse.

The cat picks up the mouse in its mouth, carries it around, but never harms it. Sometimes the mouse becomes exhausted from playing with the kitten and takes refuge in a hole or atop a chair, and when rested returns to the play, according to Mrs. Tobey.

More Ways to Serve Cream

Try this on the family at breakfast any morning and you will see grins of delight: use any cereal food and place whole, hulled strawberries on top, and pour Heavy Sweet Cream over all!

Or if you want a meal in one portion, and a marvelous, tasty dish, give the family Strawberry Shortcake, served generously with Whipped Cream as a topping. They will think it a "food of the Gods."

Crothers Purchase John Dick Home

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crothers, Victory street, have bought the John Dick residence at 404 Days Avenue, the sale having been made by Edward Willard, administrator for the Dick estate. The building was erected by John Dick for himself, and has never been inhabited by anyone else. Mr. Dick lived there over twenty years, his sister Mrs. Squire Vinton, keeping house for him. When she died about 12 years ago he closed the place and would not rent it. The interior of the house was beautifully constructed. Mr. and Mrs. Crothers will occupy it as soon as redecoration is completed. The latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Hartline, will make her home with them.

Japanese Marriage

Marriage in Japan is more than our contract between the two parties who are to live together. In Japan the marriage vow has to do with the ancestors and the bride marries the whole family and must learn to please them all. Japanese novels start where ours leave off, at the altar, and Japanese novels end with every member of the family understanding every other member and each attending to his own business.

Figures of Speech Show Each Civilization Era

Stanford University, Calif., figures of speech, developed during each era of civilization are and will be of the utmost use to etymologists in determining the characteristics of the era that produced them, according to Prof. W. L. Davis, etymologist at Stanford University. Generations ago, he explains, the fact that the crooner insists his sweetheart is his "vitamin A, B and C" or even more likely that she is his "sun, moon and ice cream cone" will be to future etymologists that the present era was one of highly developed medical progress and of the art of eating.

Davis insists the figures of speech are not slang and do not have the same value in the language. The figures of speech, he points out, specifically name the thing that is being talked about, while slang is usually mere metaphor and hence valueless for future etymologists unless they find a modern Rosetta Stone that tells them what it is all about.

Modern language is rich with figures of speech that indicate the characteristics of past ages, Davis says. He thinks that traces of the Cave age can be found in such figures as "cut-throat tactics" or "wielding the big stick."

Omission Keeps Turkey and San Marino at War

Istanbul.—A recent incident has revealed the fact that the republic of San Marino is still at war with Turkey.

The manager of a Turkish agricultural institute recently spent a few months in Europe in connection with scientific studies. When he crossed into the territory of San Marino he was greatly astonished when he was arrested as an undesirable national of a country at war with the republic.

In 1915 San Marino joined Italy in a declaration of war on Turkey, but, owing to some omission, it was invited neither to participate in the peace negotiations nor to sign the treaty of Lausanne with Turkey.

Subjects of the republic of San Marino in Turkey have always been treated as Italian nationals.

Papyrus is of much earlier origin than vellum and probably is the second process in writing from the engraving on stones or rocks. This was succeeded by the engraving on clay tablets, which were afterward baked.

AT THE THEATRE

"Silly Billies"

Wheeler and Woolsey enact the roles of a pair of quick dentists who set out to pull all the teeth in the wild and woolly West in the newest RKO Radio feature, "Silly Billies" showing Friday and Saturday at the Hollywood theatre.

"Three Godfathers"

"The Three Godfathers," based on Peter B. Kyne's widely-read novel will be one of the double feature attractions at the Hollywood Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The picture tells the story of three bad-men or the American desert—Bob, young and reckless adventurer; Doc, the elderly educated "lunker;" and Gus, illiterate and happy-go-lucky who descend upon New Jerusalem to rob the bank a few days before Christmas. In their escape across the desert the three men find a dying mother, an infant clutched in her arms. The untold sacrifices they make to save the babe's life and get it back safely to civilization provides the theme of the human story.

"Small Town Girl"

The star of the immortal "Seventh Heaven," Janet Gaynor, and the sensation of "Magnificent Obsession," Robert Taylor, have joined hands to bring to the screen one of the most stirring modern romances in their latest picture, "Small Town Girl," playing at the Hollywood theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Gaynor was never more lovely in her successful career than she is in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production. Or the first time, she is allowed to dress up—and in this she reveals a new Janet Gaynor.

With the sensation of the screen season, the dashing Robert Taylor, as her co-star, a perfect screen team is formed.

The plot of "Small Town Girl," concerns a country girl who marries a handsome doctor while he is intoxicated. Her efforts to win his affection after she has fallen in love with him, bring tears and laughs alike from the audience.

The Hunt Stromberg production, directed by William Wellman, has a strong supporting cast including Bonnie Borne, Lewis Stone, Andy Devine, Elizabeth Patterson, Frank Craven and James Stewart, all of whom do well by their respective roles.

"Desire," A Comedy

All screen lovers who count Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper among their favorites have a rare treat waiting for them at the Hollywood theatre, where the new Paramount romantic comedy, "Desire," plays Wednesday and Thursday. It is the first time this glamorous pair has been cast together since "Morocco."

Comedy, drama and adventure are expertly interwoven into the texture of this exciting and diverting film, which recounts the romantic adventures that follow a sensational jewelry robbery by a breath-taking Continental beauty.

An Undying Fire
At the isolated Saltergate Inn, on the morland road midway between Pickering and Whitby, Yorkshire, there is a fire which was lighted in stagecoach days, more than 100 years ago, and has never been extinguished, says a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. Since passengers by coach arrived at all hours of day and night, and always demanded a fire, the innkeeper decided it was simpler to keep the fire always burning, and when railways superseded coaches nobody thought of letting the fire die out. The fuel is peat from the surrounding moors. It is cut and stacked in the summer, and is remarkable for the length of time it will burn without renewal.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

Catch Trout in Mill Race

All questions as to whether McCoy's creek is a trout stream was removed last week when urchins scooped up a nice catch in the bed of the mill race after the water had been turned out Friday while the Buchanan Co-ops made ready to clean out the crib which holds the pentstock and turbine water wheel. A number of trout from 10 to 15 inches or more in length were caught as they floundered helplessly, two below the falls, several under the implement building and several more on above.

The race has been shut dry until about the first of next week until the turbine has been cleaned. It is now planned to leave the old turbine in.

Old Mill Stones in Gardens

The two mill stones which were taken from the basement of the old Pears mill recently have been taken by Frank Hamilton and Dale

Nelson, the former taking the large 1,400 pound stone to his home in Dayton and Nelson the smaller lower stone, weighing about 700 pounds, to his home on Moccasin avenue. They are using them for garden ornamental stones.

Immense oaken beams 20x24 in., partially rotted by moisture, held the stones. Originally there were four "run" or pair of stones. It is reported that the old stones removed last week were installed about 1848.

Experiments

William Gombosi is likely to be one of the early ripe tomato producers of Buchanan this summer, one of his 500 Georgia tomato plants in his garden on South Davis avenue already having a tomato as large as a walnut on it.

Gombosi ordered these plants from Gargia—yes, huh. The first order he sent last spring they wrote back that all their plants had been destroyed by the big tornado that swept parts of that state. He ordered from another company, getting 1,000 plants, part of which he sold to his neighbors. He set 500 plants in a hot bed, each plant in an individual container made of a strip of thin wood folded about it. The soil was enriched with a special fertilizer. In 15 days the plants grew a foot. Then he set them out the latter part of last week, the plants ranging from 15 to 20 inches in height. He mulched them with straw nearly a foot deep. This holds the tomatoes off the ground, he stated, ensures an even ripening, and ends the weed problem for the season. The plants set out in individual containers developed a solid block of fine roots and suffered no check in transplanting, whereas two rows which were not reset in individual containers wilted badly.

New Dairy Front

Sam Rakowski is installing a new brick front on his store building on Main street, in which the Wilson Dairy is located on the first floor. The new front will be of brick which will be tied into the walls of the Kingery building on one side and the Pears building on the other. A regulation store front with entrance in the center is to be installed for the Dairy.

Gen. Pershing Visits His Old Home Town

To the older residents of Laclede, Mo., Gen. John J. Pershing is still "Jack," and they greeted him warmly when he recently made what he called his last visit to his home town.

Rain Saves Tomatoes

Tomato growers on the 1,000 acres contracted locally by the Campbell Soup company were just about in the soup themselves the latter part of last week with 2,500,000 plants shipped in from Georgia and planted during the week laying limp on the ground as the result of the dry, hot weather and wind. However the rain and cool weather the first of the week revived them, and they were in good condition Monday.

Strawberry Crop Short

The local strawberry harvest started Monday, with only a moderate crop in sight unless there is more moisture from time to time. The crop was reduced by frost on May 13, which killed the blossoms in low places. The rain of the week-end helped but more is needed at once. Unless shortened by dry weather the harvest should run until about June 15. Local berries were on the market here Monday.

Many Memorial Flowers Out of Bloom

Hot weather forced many of the flowers through a premature bloom period which are ordinarily depended on for Memorial Day. Among these are snowballs and spireas which were forced in full bloom and then ruined by the hard rain. Early peonies are shattering and the late ones will not be

Record Poppy Sale

The American Legion Auxiliary reported that they had the largest returns from their poppy sale on Saturday since they began the event, grossing $94. They wish to thank the people of Buchanan who were so generous in their support.

DAD TELLS SECRET TO REGAIN HIS SON

Shell-Shocked Vet Reveals Paternity of Child.

South Bend, Ind.—Tears streamed from the eyes of Alies Horning, shell-shocked war veteran, in St. Joseph county court, as he gazed at the five-year-old boy the world had known as his adopted son.

The crowded courtroom tensed while one of the most dramatic and touching scenes in South Bend history reached its unexpected denouement.

Alies Horning was fighting his divorced wife, Mrs. Betty Horning, for custody of blue-eyed, laughing Albert Eugene Horning. She had sought a writ of habeas corpus to take the boy from him.

The veteran had been telling why he should retain the lad in his own home. Suddenly he was shaken with sobs. In a strained voice, he blurted out:

"He is my son—my own son. Do you understand? I am more than his adopted father. I am his natural father!"

Attorneys and even the judge gasped as Horning continued:

"He was born to Mrs. Marjorie Denning in Aurora, Ill., where she registered in a hospital as Mrs. Horning. After the baby was born, her husband, C. W. Denning, also a war veteran, told me:

"That child is yours. You will have to keep him."

Horning said that when he adopted the boy the Denning explained they were giving him away because they already had one child and could not support another.

The tearful plea won at least temporary victory for the father, Judge Bingham said:

"The child would be better off with his father than anyone else. I'll award the father temporary custody."

Horning had taken the boy from the home of Mrs. Horning's mother at Pulaski, Ind., after he and his wife were divorced a few months ago.

"White Indian" Is Her

Lost Son, Mother Says

Seymour, Wis.—The surprising story of how a pioneer mother identified a "white Indian" living on the Onondaga reservation near here as her son 40 years after she lost him when he wandered into the woods was disclosed here recently.

Aaron Denny, the "White Indian," whose real name is Gustave Sump, came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sump to settle in early days near Bondell. Because the boy was unhealthy he was allowed to play alone at home instead of going to school with the other children. One day they missed him and he failed to return. For 40 years he lived among Indians, who picked him up and treated him with herbs to cure him of his illness.

He grew up, was married twice to squaws and is the father of nine blond, blue-eyed children. Virtually all of the paleface language he knows was imparted to him by his second wife, who is a school teacher.

Although he never was more than a few miles from his parents, it was nearly a half century since he strayed away from them before a chance remark on the strange resemblance his brother John bore to a "White Indian" led his kin to seek him on the reservation. Despite Gustave's insistence that his parents were Indians, scars left by childhood wounds on his nose and a finger convinced Mrs. Sump he was her long lost son. Older Indians' memory of his discovery confirmed this.

Sump, or Denny, as he is known, continues to live on the reservation. But four months after his reunion with his parents in 1928 his father died and his mother died in 1931.

The Story of A Visit to the Sugar Woods of Bertrand, March 18th, 1936

(By M. L. Mills)

We went to the sugar woods, E. Mae and I. 'Twas her first adventure in Sap-land. We rode in an auto the most of the way—Thru woods in the Township of Bertrand.

What maples and paw paws, tall and slim line the way,

How the swollen streams rush down the alleys
Awhirling and swirling o'er boulders and stumps
On their race, to the brooks in the valleys.

The tiny birds twitter in neighborly song—
As they flit thru the bushes and trees—

But the buds scarcely show their little bare heads,
Though the pussy willows sway in the breeze.

A spile in each maple tree holds a small pail,
Where drops the sweet maple tree's sap,
In this bush we visited March 19th, '36,
Full six hundred trees had been tapped.

A woodman attends to the pails as they fill,
While the teamster drives over the road,
Forty gallons to each, and four barrels in all,
One hundred-sixty gallons to a load.

This sap is then strained at the top of the hill,
Into a large cistern or vat, from there it runs down thru an underground pipe
Into a succession of vats.

Of these boiling vats, (or pans) at least there were four,
All snugly housed in a camp—From the wind and the storm, where the boiler man stands To keep fires burning—and keep tab on the time
While making maple tree syrup from sap.

A timer, a tester, a syphon is used,
For in making this syrup no guesswork is done,
In fact the quantity, quality and sweetness is gauged
From the time of beginning to the last of the run.

Now new, wooden spoons at this bush was made

And brandished amid simmering vats—
While the white foamy nectar was suddenly changed
To richest brown wax, or soft golden pats.

Hurrah for the forests of fair Michigan,
Furnishing maple tree sap, while the spring brooklets run,
Where the song birds wing, and young folks sing
To the stir of the sap in the bright March sun.

Donal J. Cutler Runs for Treasurer

County Treasurer Donal J. Cutler announced today that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer at the primary election in September. Mr. Cutler has been county treasurer since March 16 of this year when he was appointed to the position to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Treasurer Forrest E. Brown.

Nearly three years of service as deputy to County Clerk Guy Tyler from August, 1933, until two months ago, has given Mr. Cutler a background of county affairs that is proving useful in handling the county's financial affairs. One of his important contributions to county government has been the development of a new card filing system, to be installed next month which will reduce time and effort in paying of delinquent taxes and will save the county several thousands of dollars over a period of years.

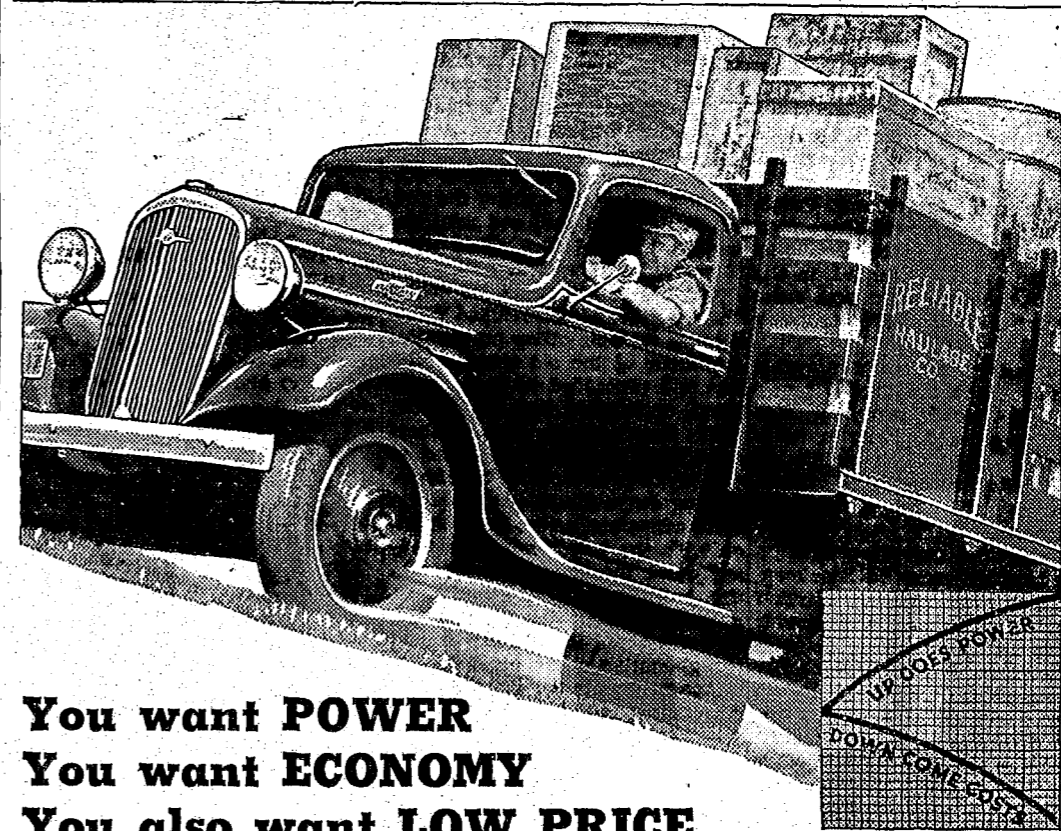

Mr. Cutler was born at Coloma, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Cutler. He grew up on a farm and has resided in the vicinity of Coloma and Watervliet all his life, except for 18 months of service with the United States Marine corps. For two years, 1931 and 1932, he was weighmaster, a position held under the county road commission and the sheriff's office. Married, he resides at Watervliet.

Buchanan

Along McCoy's Crick

By Harrison Merrill

The writer regrets very much his inability to accept the invitation to be present in person at this year's graduating exercises at Buchanan and address the members of the class of '36 and get them away to a flying start in race for Fame and Glory.

The exercises happen at a time when the writer will be in the midst of weeding 10 acres of onions, with a few rounds of golf each evening for exercise, and therefore it will be impossible to be at Buchanan at the time mentioned.

Doubtless members of the class are anxious to get started on their way and no doubt they would consider it more or less of an imposition were the writer to suggest that the exercises be postponed until sometime in July after the wedding season is over. Besides the world is in need of graduates and advice at this time.

The writer would hesitate about making such an address any way during presidential year for fear his motives might be misunderstood and he would be called to the political colors. The members of the class will understand that a few mixed metaphors or several split infinitives might raise havoc with one's ambition to some day lead this nation out of any dilemma it may find itself in at the time.

Had circumstances permitted the writer would have been pleased to appear before the class of '36 and without interruption, if possible, tell the members of certain hardships faced by former classes who have appeared on the same rostrum.

In the days of the former century before the coming of the radio, typewriters and adding machines, the three R's were considered essential elements of a person's education. To be able to read was necessary if a person was to know what was going on in the world; also one was required to write so that the Spenserian flourishes could be read and would somehow make sense; and people were required to know the multiplication table, otherwise there was always danger of receiving only 11 eggs to the dozen.

The trickiest thing in the world is memory! The writer at this time cannot, for the life of him, tell whether he spent two years in the third grade or three years in the second grade. Also he is somewhat vague about having graduated. He is inclined to think that he did not. This is borne out by the fact that he does not possess a wrist watch or a tuxedo.

The writer does remember pleasant evenings spent atop the grain elevator at the depot studying the Big Dipper in order to gain a fuller knowledge of astronomy. People deemed it necessary in those days to know just where the north star could be found, if needed, in the sky. There certainly was some lovely girls in that old astronomy class!

The writer also recalls enjoyable afternoons spent with the pupils out in the woods searching for little flowers and plants in order that they might reach certain required botanical heights. There also were some lovely girls in the botany class.

At one time the writer took a three months course in bookkeeping which proved a very difficult subject, indeed. He was forever putting the debits where the credits should be (evidently a banker in the making) and things looked pretty dark until along towards the end of the term the teacher, in tears, announced she had made a mistake and the debits should be credits. This resulted in the writer passing with flying colors.

A good working knowledge of bookkeeping, botany and astronomy has proved a great help in assembling knowledge of early Buchanan as it nestled quietly along the shores of McCoy's Crick. It has made for accuracy!

Loyalty among members of the class used to be one of the outstanding features among old time pupils. There was nothing they would not do for each other. An instance is recalled where young Joe Richards, whose report card showed a solid line of "P's" which stood for "Poor" was able to make his parents believe that the "P" stood for "Perfect."

When this was announced at the Ladies Aid the women rushed home and sternly asked to be informed why their offsprings were not able to secure more "Perfects" on their report cards. The loyal members of the class, rather than interfere with the Richards plan, proceeded to attune themselves to the new arrangement with the result that future report cards were well studded with "P's."

As a result there were only two young men made the grade that year and later were graduated. They were Frank "Stub" Sanders, a native of Dayton, who figured that he might some day wish to become an attorney, and Herb "Custard" Batchelor, who came from across the river and delivered milk from door to door for years by wagon and who was anxious to toss away the bell used for that purpose and tackle Blackstone. But the real Crick boys were loyal to young Joe Richards even though it meant they would be obliged to struggle through life without what is called an education.

At the graduating exercises it is recalled that young Mr. Batchelor was the one who hitched his wagon to a star, and that it was young Mr. Sanders who discovered what it was that lied beyond the Alps. One wonders if those same standard subjects are assigned to present day classes.

Several years ago the writer took a party of friends to Buchanan to view the school house from whence his knowledge was obtained and was much chagrined to find the old building at that time being used as a place to store kindling, anthracite and ashes.

The writer has only the fondest memories of the school marm who used to patiently serve in the various grades. They were all nice girls and smart as a whip. It is recalled and well worth fighting for which was often the case when one was slurringly referred to as the "teacher's pet."

Often the writer was called upon to remain after school and sit on the teacher's lap where he would be asked to promise to behave. Said writer has since often wondered if he did not make a mistake in making such a promise at the time.

The first professor of schools the writer remembers having encountered personally and likewise violently was Oscar Emmet Aleshire, who was the head of the Buchanan schools from 1884 to 1888. He was a very intelligent gentleman although a Democrat. When one takes into consideration that during the time Mr. Aleshire was in charge, the schoolboard, as usual, was solidly Republican, one gets an idea of the intelligence possessed by said professor.

After quitting as head of the schools, Mr. Aleshire, for one term, served as representative from the Second District of Berrien County in the state legislature, 1889-90. He also published the Buchanan Enterprise, which was exceedingly well written and edited, but which depending on Democratic circulation to get along, did not do so well.

Mr. Aleshire was born in Hancock County, Ill., Nov. 29, 1861. He was brought up on a farm and was graduated from Carthage College in Illinois in 1882 with highest possible honors. It was two years later that he arrived in Buchanan. He was one professor who did not believe in sparing the rod. He could wield said rod with unusual vigor and fine effect when the occasion demanded.

Old timers will recall, no doubt, the time Mr. Aleshire called Willie Anstiss into his office on the second floor of the old school building and proceeded to give him a much anticipated and, no doubt, well deserved spanking. Short time later, Joe Anstiss, father of the boy, who was one of the town's leading draymen, called at the Aleshire office and a real tussle started with the two combatants rolling down the stairs and out into the yard, where the scholars, much hearted by the display of fistcuffs stood in a circle around the gladiators and cheered lustily.

Another professor the writer remembers was A. J. Swain, who was tall and as thin as a telephone pole. He could easily have hidden in a stovepipe had it ever been necessary. He wore a beard and looked considerably like the pictures of Uncle Sam one used to see. He used to conceal a bald pate with several whisks of hair which he used to part over the surface thereof. Mr. Swain was a nice, intelligent gentleman and well liked by all.

The writer, for months, has been trying to think of the name of the woman who used to teach the 11th grade. She resided on Third street almost directly across from where the Bunker boys, George and Sam, used to live. She was the first Buchanan woman to wear bobbed hair. She was just getting over scarlet fever or something like that. To preserve the records it is necessary that this information be obtained.

Recently had a letter from Billy Wood saying that it was Henry "Red" Spohr who gave him his first pinch of Mail Pouch scrap. There must be others.

Changes Offered For Constitution

Six Initiatory Petitions for Amendments Already Approved by Sec. of State

With the deadline for submission of initiative petitions proposing amendments to the state constitution still a month and a half away, six proposals have thus far been approved as to form of petition in the office of the Secretary of State.

No petitions have been filed as yet; the signatures of 125,893 voters, or one-tenth the total number voting for all candidates for governor in 1934, will be required in order that any initiative proposal be placed before voters at the general election next Nov. 3. The deadline for submission of signed petitions is set by the state constitution in Article 17, Section 2, providing that such petitions be submitted at least four months prior to the election.

In addition to any proposals which may be placed on the ballot by initiative petition, two originating in the 1935 legislature will be offered to the voters. These would provide that: one, police might offer as evidence any weapon seized near a residence, without a search warrant; and two, home rule and tax limitations for counties.

Most recently approved as to form of initiative petitions is one which would eliminate the ad valorem tax on real and personal property; and provide for a tax on the income of property.

The other five would, in brief, provide:

1. For a single body legislature and civil service in state and county governments, and other changes.
2. Exemption from the State's retail sales tax of the sale of many staple foods.
3. That owners of other than residential property assessed at $5,000 or less, would be compelled to furnish a stipulated amount of employment.
4. For the legalizing of horse race betting in private clubs.
5. For a one-man state liquor control commission for the collection of state taxes, placing liquor sales in private hands.

This is possible by the extensive records maintained at the Dutch observatories at Batavia, Java, for a period of more than 60 years. Temperature and pressure readings taken every hour are available. The lunar tides in the atmosphere cause changes in pressure and the alternate compression and expansion cause temperature changes.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE SIGHTS IN Michigan?

TO MANY PEOPLE, the ideal vacation is one devoted to sightseeing. In order to enjoy themselves fully, such vacationists require three things: Sights worth seeing; something to travel in; and good roads to get there.

Very few parts of the Union offer as much in these respects as the State of Michigan. Here are many spots well worth visiting—historic buildings and grounds, interesting cities, and open country of unsurpassed scenic beauty. The journey itself becomes a separate pleasure, a real addition to the joys of vacation. Splendid highways, fine lake liners, trains, buses, planes—all these means of transportation, comfortable and economical, stand at the service of those who are planning to see the sights.

Have you considered Michigan for your own sightseeing? Have you told your out-of-State friends of the exceptional advantages here? If so, you have done them a favor—and promoted good will for the Wolverine State.

As our part in this promotion, this series of advertisements is being published throughout the State of Michigan by an organization that can prosper only as the other citizens of Michigan prosper.

EDITORIAL

The filming of the picture is complete—a story of student life through 12 years of learning.

On June 14, fifty seniors donned in caps and gowns will ceremoniously file, one by one, to the strains of majestic music and receive the "key" that unlocks the door of a new adventure.

Some will carry away the honor of triumph—scholastically or dramatically, while others have attained recognition in sports.

Yesterday we didn't know what would happen today and today we are in question as to what tomorrow will bring. So those who didn't excel in sports or who didn't reach the high scholastic standing, may be bright stars in the stellar system tomorrow. Perhaps Buchanan may turn out some competition for Einstein, another Carl Sandburg or Edna St. Vincent Millay and maybe a Major Bowes.

Each one, as they file out of their high school "Alma Mater" may take to the open roads striving to reach success. The success that benefits not one but many. Bon Voyage!

Father Day Speaks at High School Honor Convocation

Rev. John R. Day, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church in Three Oaks and St. Anthony's church in Buchanan was the speaker at the Honor Convocation held in the high school auditorium Tuesday, May 19. "The Contribution of Adversity" was the topic on which he spoke.

He extended his congratulations to the students who were honored by awards for their scholastic achievements.

"Opposition is a wholesome thing," began the speaker. "High success is attained only through long continued striving and the patient enduring of hardships."

To prove his statements Father Day cited the case of John Milton who, despite the handicap of losing his sight, gave to literature two wonderful poems, which are classed among the great epics of literature, "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained." Milton is second only to William Shakespeare in the field of great writers.

"An indomitable will to survive is the secret of success," emphatically continued the priest. Determination, which is the key to success, is needed if one is to persevere against adversity.

Enthusiasm and confidence should always be present in whatever one undertakes, as future success is undoubtedly determined by a person's diligence in overcoming obstacles.

Father Day sincerely exclaimed, "Victory is not always the achievement of success as measured by money, material or scholastic gains. Victory may also be expressed by honesty and character which are as much to be desired as any material success. In regard to scholastic achievement Napoleon told forty-third in his class of forty-three. Not one of the forty-two are remembered, but the name of Napoleon lives on."

Unless a person recognizes adversity success will, in all probability, never crown the efforts one has put forth."

In conclusion Rev. Day gave this bit of advice: "Accept adversity as an angel in disguise which may give you greater acknowledgment than would otherwise be yours."

Spring "Cruise" of Sea Scouts June 5, 6, 7

St. Joseph to be Host to 250 Boys From Western Michigan Seascout Organization

The annual spring "cruise" of the Western Michigan Seascouts association will be held June 5, 6, and 7 in St. Joseph, local Seascouting officials announced here today.

The yearly spring outing, a feature of western Michigan Seascouting for several years, will attract 250 boys to St. Joseph from Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and other inland towns, as well as lakeside cities as far north as Ludington and Traverse City. Other contingents will come from South Bend, Ind., and from Michigan City, Ind., the Michigan City boys sailing up in their own sloop.

Scouts will come on Friday afternoon, June 5. There is no program for the day, except to pitch camp near the old Naval Reserve training station in the St. Joseph harbor.

The series of events will run on Saturday, June 6. The day will begin with reveille at 5:45 a. m., and will end with a banquet at Sonner hall, in the Benton Harbor Congregational church, in the evening, followed by a dance at the Masonic temple, St. Joseph.

Events in Saturday's competition will include heaving line, splicing, life jacket relay, knot tying, semaphore signalling, ring buoy, cutter drill, cutter race, swimming race, inspection and close order drill.

The Scouts will join in an open air religious service Sunday morning. Sunday noon they will break camp and leave for their homes.

Registrations of Seascout ships will wish to participate in the "cruise" will close May 23, according to Jack Gardner, Benton Harbor, who is in charge of arrangements.

Seascout activity in the St. Joseph harbor got under way for the summer this week, with the launching of two 24-passenger life boats now owned by Seascout Ship No. 25, St. Joseph. One of the lifeboats was purchased from the steamer City of St. Joseph, recently dismantled here. The other was donated by Captain Roen, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., head of the company which now has the City of St. Joseph.

The Seascout fleet has been augmented with another life boat, donated to the Scouts by the Coast Guard. This boat is in possession of Seascout Ship No. 10, Ship No. 25 will keep one of its boats intact to use for life saving drills. A mast will be installed on the other for sailing practice.

All three boats will be anchored in the Naval Reserve basin in the St. Joseph Yacht harbor, and will be for general use of Seascouts in Berrien and Cass counties.

HAS YET TO MEET ANOTHER MOTOR OIL THAT CAN OUTLAST HIM!

Standard's premium-quality motor oil keeps your oil level UP and your oil costs DOWN

Endurance—that's the thing you notice first and foremost about this motor oil. No weakening under the punishment of long, steady summer-time driving. No wilting away in the face of searing engine heat. And the reason is, Standard makes ISO-VIS "D" by a special process that removes those sludge-forming, carbon-forming impurities which cut down the resistance-to-wear of a motor oil.

Every drop of ISO-VIS "D" is clean... smooth... all off... long-lasting. And the reason is, Standard makes ISO-VIS "D" by a special process that removes those sludge-forming, carbon-forming impurities which cut down the resistance-to-wear of a motor oil.

ISO-VIS "D" IS THE LARGEST SELLING PREMIUM-QUALITY MOTOR OIL IN MIDDLE WEST

Only 25¢ a quart
Plus Michigan General Sales Tax 1¢ a qt. plus Federal Tax 1¢ a qt.—total 27¢ a quart.

It's on sale wherever you see that familiar red-white-and-blue sign of Standard Service. A special chart at each station shows exactly what grade you should use in your car for the most economical safe driving. It will pay you to let the Standard Dealer drain your old oil, flush out the crankcase, and start you out with a fresh filling of ISO-VIS "D". Then, so far as the oil itself is concerned, you wouldn't need to drain for an indefinite length of time. ISO-VIS "D" won't wear out.

But it isn't wear that hurts good motor oil—it's dirt! Road dust and other gritty foreign material gradually sifts into the best-protected engine. So, for safety, drain and change your motor oil every 1,000 miles.

Cute Twins Go Hollywood

An intense search was ended recently with the selection of Jean and Judith Kircher, one-year-old twins, to play the role of Prince James, son of Queen Mary in "Mary of Scotland," in which Katharine Hepburn and Fredric March are co-starred. John Ford, director and Pandro S. Berman, producer for RKO Radio, tested 500 babies before the Kircher twins were chosen.

Because of the strict laws governing the use of babies in pictures, it is necessary to have two youngsters who look alike for each role. One baby doubles for the other in long shots. The law requires that a baby shall be under lights for not more than sixty seconds at a time, with rest periods of five minutes between. A life-size doll is used as a "stand-in" for the babies during rehearsals and while the set-up is being prepared and lighted for the scene.

Jean and Judith were launched on their screen careers when they were eight months old and have appeared in "The Three Godfathers," "Riffruff" and "The First Baby." They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kircher and reside in North Hollywood, Calif.

The babies won the part in "Mary of Scotland" because they have the Stuart mouth, which is a Cupid's bow with a full under lip, and the classic forehead for which the Scottish queen was famed.
