Murray's Snow Report

(News Note: Murray D. Van Wagener, state highway commissioner, announces that the total cost of snow removal on the trunk line system last winter to be $1,145,583.80.)

When mercuries go upon a lark And vault above the century mark It helps a little, Murray,—thanks To think of snow in drifted banks. It soothes our souls to know, Though hot, it is not always so For if it busted zero then Some day it may be cool again. It hath a solace cool and sweet To think of snow piled 14 feet, When snow plow men were busting gears While bucking drifts up to their ears. Though it wore out a thousand trucks And cost above a million bucks—Who worries now o'er waste of petrol, Migosh, I'd give that much myself! So, Murray, I do not berate That your report is six months late, Last spring I might have raised a row, But it is Oh, so timely now!

Favors Raising Resident Rod Fee

Convinced that additional funds are needed to meet the growing demands of sportsmen for more trout, bass and bluegills to plant in the streams and lakes, the state conservation commission at its July meeting went on record in favor of raising the resident rod license fee from 50 cents to $1.

"Only the legislature has the authority to increase the fishing license fee," said Director P. J. Hoffmaster of the department of conservation. "The commission's actions, therefore, constitutes merely an expression of sentiment."

The dollar fee, it was made plain, would include also legal fishing privileges for the wife of the resident licensee.

Not only are sportsmen demanding a heavier fish planting program than can be conducted under the present fisheries budget, but sport-fishing actually seems to be increasing, Hoffmaster said. "Eventually we will have to expand our planting program to satisfy those demands and to meet the heavier fishing of the future, but it is impossible to do so with the present available funds."

"Our hatchery system has been enlarged greatly during the past several years by means of CCC and WPA projects. We could produce more fingerlings for planting than we are now producing, if the necessary funds were available. Good conservation decrees that we make the greatest advantage of our hatchery facilities, but we cannot make the best possible advantage of them with the present revenue."

Baby Thrown 40 Feet—Is Unhurt

Truck Passes Over Two Children Thrown on Pavement

A carload of berry pickers driven by Aaron Anderson and consisting of three men, five children and one 10-months-old baby all had miraculous escapes from death or serious injury Monday evening when the car in which they were riding was run down and crushed by a large international semi-trailer truck loaded with thirteen tons of steel.

The accident occurred on M-60 just east of the Ralph Sebasty lane at 7:10 p. m. Aaron Anderson and his crew of young people had been picking berries at the Ray Frame and Ralph Sebasty farms and had started home. Anderson said that he had driven out on M-60 and had gone several hundred feet, acquiring a momentum of about 30 miles an hour, when the truck came up traveling rapidly and struck their car squarely in the rear. The car, Studebaker fordror Sedan, was shoved along the road in front of the truck for a distance and then hurled to the side of the highway, facing in the opposite direction and partly turned over. Four of the children had been thrown out of the car on the pavement, the truck passing over two of them without the wheels touching them. The 10-months-old baby, J. H. Anderson, was picked up forty feet from the scene of the collision having landed out in the field unhurt. Anderson was thrown forward breaking the steering wheel and jamming the fragments of it through the windshield with his hands.

The children thrown on the pavement were Aaron Anderson Jr., age 11; Beulah Anderson, 14; George Hempel, 12; Morton Hempel, 9. The girl, Beulah Anderson, who was holding the baby, was unconscious for a time after the accident. All of the children thrown on the pavement incurred painful but not serious bruises.

Aaron Anderson, Sr., and the two other young men, Ralph and Ross Leazenby, remained in the car and were not injured. After the truck had tossed the car in the clear, it ran off the road, coming to a stop in the field, from which it was extricated by a wrecker. The two men in the truck, owned by the Boswell Bros. Trucking Company of Detroit, were taken into custody by Under Sheriff Ben Dreier of Three Oaks until the nature of the injuries of the occupants of the car was determined.

Need More Men On Sewer, Says Engineer

A half dozen more workers were added to the WPA force installing the sanitary sewer here this week, but 50 more could be used advantageously, according to Engineer Howard Gartner, in charge.

At the present rate two more weeks will be required for the hand workers to complete the installation to the end of Front street. The installation has now about reached Detroit, and the street is open from the east to Lake street. The machine crew will finish Chipewa street this week and will then be transferred to South Detroit.

Local People Say Hoss Race Stacked

Buchanan attendants who were at the first Horse Show to be staged by the Saddle & Bridle Club at Erikside Park, South Bend, Sunday afternoon, came back protesting hotly that a Buchanan boy, Rex Reed, should have won the boys' pony race had it not been for a lamentable oversight on the part of the judges. It seems that the gentlemen who had the responsibility of determining the winner of the prize, a boy saddle, had determined that their responsibility ended with determining who crossed the finish line first and sat watching it intently, as the result of which they failed to note that the boy who crossed it first, had cut across the field at a far turn gaining a number of yards and edging in ahead of the Buchanan boy. Much dissatisfaction was voiced by a number of the spectators on the grounds that it was a bad example for the contestants that the race should be won unfairly. Otherwise, the local attendants state, the first showing of what is to be an annual event proved worth while entertainment.

Prizes will be offered, including a fine set of harness for the winner of the horse-pulling contest. The scene of the contest and Round-Up is to be the Indian Fields Park in Berrien Springs, August 15.

Butts Farm Barn Destroyed by Fire

Fire believed to have started from spontaneous combustion destroyed the barn at the Butts farm on the Walton Road three miles northeast of Buchanan last Wednesday night, 55 ton of alfalfa hay, a corn planter and other farm equipment being destroyed with the building.

The Buchanan fire department went to the farm with the chemical truck and was credited by Dr. Butts with saving the home and a corn crib adjacent to the barn which had already ignited when they arrived. The house stood only about 60 feet from the barn, the heat from the flames blistering the paint. The firemen were aided by the fact that a light wind was blowing from the south, carrying the flames away from the house. It was necessary to watch the fire all night to protect the other buildings.

The fire was discovered about 7:15 p. m., when the flames were already bursting from the roof. Employees rushed to the building and got nine dairy cows out with considerable difficulty. The loss is estimated at $3,000, covered by insurance.

Berrien Farmers Plan Round-Up

All Rural Business Groups Unite in Big Jamboree August 15

The farmers of Berrien County, aided by their various organizations and cooperative associations, are planning the biggest rural jamboree in county history at Berrien Springs on August 15.

The event is to be known as the First Annual Berrien County Farmers' Round-Up. All of the rural associations, co-ops, packing houses, farm bureaus, granges, milk producers, and other rural groups are reported to be combining for the Round-Up, which is to be a day of pure and undiluted fun. According to Earl Steimle of Sodus, Round-Up manager, such things as business, politics, education, and general up-lift are definitely out of the program. The day is to be given over to sports, music, horse-shoe pitching, baseball, horse-pulling contests, picnic dinners, and much hand-shaking and exclaiming by rural friends who haven't seen each other "since Fido was a pup."

One of the big events, the horse-pulling contest, is open to horses and mules, and there is some talk about a single horse-pulling contest, also.

Prizes will be offered, including a fine set of harness for the winner of the horse-pulling contest. The scene of the contest and Round-Up is to be the Indian Fields Park in Berrien Springs, August 15.

Among the committee men who are laying plans for the Round-Up are, Round-Up manager, Earl Steimle of Sodus. Executive committee, Fred Gleason of Sodus, Ira House of Niles, Carl Steimle of Sodus, H. Sewage Plant Must Come Here

Engineer Says Local Plant Will Be Required When Larger Cities Clean Up

The right of Buchanan to install a complete sanitary sewer without also installing a disposal plant is conditional entirely on the fact that the stream is already polluted by the larger towns up the St. Joseph river, and the local community will be obliged to comply with state regulations on stream pollution as soon as action against these larger towns now under consideration is completed, according to Charles Cole of the engineering firm of Cole, Moore & Geupel, in a talk before the Lions club, Wednesday evening.

This corroborates letters received by the Record from the State Stream Control commission, stating that as soon as information was complete on amount and sources of stream pollution, it is likely that legal action will be taken by Michigan to force the Indiana cities to cease pollution of the St. Joseph River within the latter state. A member of the Indiana conservation department who spoke before a meeting of the Berrien County Sportsman's club in Buchanan last spring stated that Indiana had an airtight law forbidding such pollution but that it would require a few years to permit the communities to adjust themselves to the expense of enforcement.

Engineer Cole stated that Buchanan would probably be required to install a plant of the primary or less expensive type, and that such cost would probably approximate from $10 to $12 per capita, or from $60,000 to $70,000, based on a plant for 5,000 people.

The sanitary sewer now being installed here has been pronounced by the state to rank among the banner projects of Michigan, according to Engineer Cole, and has also received a similar rating from national inspectors. Cole stated that main credit for the excellent results here were in great part to be credited to Engineer Gartner, who has been placed in charge of the local project and to the others in charge of the work who have been able to build up an unusual morale among the workers. Last week, Cole stated, the workers on the local job laid 90 feet of tile in 60 minutes, "which is good enough for any job."

Cole stated that the project would cost more than if installed by an efficient private contractor, but that the work was being well done. Largely as the result of the local project Berrien Springs and Cassopolis are lining up for the installation of sewer systems, and the latter village is also considering a disposal plant.

Ban Fires, Smoking In Hunting Areas

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald's proclamation, closing all of northern Michigan to certain uses of fire in the open, was issued to combat the most serious forest-fire hazard in Michigan during the past 11 years. During the week in which the proclamation went into effect, approximately 6,000 acres of wild land were burned over as a result of the drought and the carelessness of persons in the open.

Conservation authorities here say that it was the first proclamation of its kind issued by a governor of Michigan and that such a proclamation is advisable only in times of the gravest forest-fire danger.

As soon as the proclamation was made public the Department of Public Safety co-operating with the Department of conservation placed all the main north-south highways under patrol. State police and conservation officers stopped automobiles and notified occupants of the serious fire hazard, asking cooperation.

The proclamation as authorized by Act 143, P. A. 1923, a amended in 1935, forbade all campfires except those at authorized campgrounds.

"Red" Morelock Fatally Shot

Clarence Coleman Shoots Intruder When He Returns and Finds Him in His Home

Charles (Red) Morelock, 26, was shot and instantly killed at 11:15 Tuesday evening by Clarence Coleman, local business man, who had returned from a stag fish fry and found Morelock in his home with his wife.

Coleman had gone to a fish fry at the home of Ernest Young near the power plant earlier in the evening, accompanying a party of friends, including Merle Wideman, Charles Babcock, Charles Miller and Jerome Sebasty. At about 11 p. m. he excused himself by saying that he had to go back and take his wife home from the theatre.

According to a statement made by Coleman to Chief of Police Mitchell he had suspected Morelock for several months and believed that he would be at his (Coleman's) home that evening. He parked his car on Chicago street opposite the Miller Lumber yard and walked to his home on Sylvan Ave., approaching a side window and turning a flash light through it. Seeing Morelock standing inside, he rushed to both the front and the rear doors but found them both locked.

He then returned to the front door and demanded entrance. His wife finally unlocked the door, but he heard Morelock leaving by the rear entrance. He ran around the side of the house and pursued him across several vacant lots, demanding that he stop and firing twice in the air. When Morelock kept running, Coleman stated that he finally shot at him with the idea of crippling him and stopping him. The second shot fired at him struck him in the back of the neck, passing upward through the brain and emerging from the left side of his forehead, killing him instantly.

Coleman went at once to the home of Chief of Police Mitchell and gave himself up. The body of Morelock was taken to the Swem funeral home.

Morelock came to Buchanan from Jonesville, Va., about nine months ago. He was married in 1928, his wife being dead. He is survived by a son, aged 7, who lives at Jonesville, Va. Since coming here he had made his home with his brother next door to the Coleman home.

Later, Clarence Coleman was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lee Mathie at 2 p. m. yesterday on charge of first degree murder, and the preliminary hearing was fixed for Friday, Aug. 7, at 2 p. m. Coleman was accompanied here by Under sheriffs Kubath and Granzow and was taken back and committed without bail in accordance with legal requirements. He was met here by many friends who extended their sympathy. Mrs. Colman has been committed to the custody of her parents near Baroda.

The body of Charles Morelock will be shipped today to his birthplace, Jonesville, Va., where funeral rites will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Clarence Boyle Called by Death

Funeral rites were held at 3:30 p. m. yesterday for Clarence Boyle, 66, at the family home in Weesaw township on the Wagner road to Glendora, with Rev. Thomas Rice preaching the funeral sermon and interment was made in Oak Ridge.

He died at 9:30 p. m. Sunday after an illness of over a year with Berger's disease. He had lived his entire life in this vicinity, having been born in Oronoko township Dec. 9, 1869, the son of Godfrey and Sarah Jane Boyle. He was married Dec. 8, 1897 to Carrie M. Schreff, who survives him. He is also survived by one daughter, Mrs. Gladys Wright, Buchanan, and by a sister, Mrs. George Hartline, Glendora. He had followed the occupation of farmer his entire life.

Total Resources Are Tripled In Two Years Since Local Opening

A comparative statement showing the growth of resources of the Galien-Buchanan State Bank in the past five years and especially since the moving of the main bank to Buchanan July 18, 1934, reveals a remarkable growth of resources and also an excellent condition.

Total resources of the bank July 22, 1934, four days after opening here, were $811,833.80. On the same date of the succeeding year the resources totalled $634,910.84. On July 22 of 1936 the total was $1,006,271.79.

Total deposits of July 22, 1936 were $933,867.34 and total cash on hand or due from other banks was $327,757.36. This indicates that the bank is in far more liquid condition than the Buchanan banks were at the close of the boom year and in the opening years of the depression. Cashier Ewing stated that banks had been obliged to acquire a liquid condition during the depression, in order to meet any cash demands. The results of this necessity are reflected in the condition of practically all banks now opened. Cashier Ewing stated that the local bank is getting its business from over a wide area, having very satisfactory deposits from Berrien Springs, Niles, Galien, Three Oaks, New Buffalo and from New Carlisle, Ind.

The fine showing of the bank is due not only to excellent management currently, but is undoubtedly due in part to the conservative banking reputation built up by President Charles Clark over a number of years. Previous to the depression Clark had maintained a very conservative record, which was a factor in the ability of the Galien bank to remain opening when other financial institutions were crashing.

The following tribute to Charles President Clark is taken from the June issue of the "Michigan Investor":

"Charlie" Clark was 32 years old when he became a banker, but he has lived to be one of the oldest living bankers in Michigan. He is 86 years old and still active as president of the Galien-Buchanan State Bank of Buchanan, the organization he has been with since its beginning 54 years ago.

Mr. Clark became cashier of the private banking firm of G. A. Blakeslee when it was established in Galien in 1882. A few years later he became a partner and the firm name was changed to G. A. Blakeslee & Co. Since then the banking business of Galien and Buchanan has revolved around "Charlie" Clark.

In 1921 he felt the urge to widen the scope of his firm's activities and through the efforts a corporation was formed, and a charter was taken out under the name of the Galien State Bank, with Mr. Clark as president and the late Clayton Smith as vice-president. Dr. Stanley A. Clark, son of Mr. Clark, also became an official continuing in the present set-up as vice-president.

At the same time Mr. Clark relinquished his duties as cashier to D. W. Ewing of Grand Rapids. During the depression the Galien State Bank was able to reduce its loans, serve its community and, re-open unrestricted after the banking holiday. A short time later the bank repaid its RFC loan and since then has not found it necessary to borrow money from any source.

In answer to urgent requests from the people of Buchanan, which is a city nearby and several times larger than Galien, that the Galien State Bank moved to Buchanan to replace its two banks which were lost in the depression, the board of directors voted to open the main bank in Buchanan and establish Galien as a branch, changing the name to the Galien-Buchanan State Bank.

The capital was increased to meet the requirements, the closed Buchanan State Bank building was purchased and on July 18, 1934, the new bank opened in Buchanan. Mr. Clark continued as president, Dr. Stanley A. Clark and Clayton Smith vice-presidents, and Mr. Ewing cashier. When Mr. Smith died a few months later Mr. Ewing was given the added duties of vice-president.

When the last foursome was in it was found that the number of points scored by each side was the same, namely 37 each; however it was decided that the tie would be played off by Jim Van Horn representing Klinger Lake and "Cap" Grathwohl representing Orchard Hills and that the play would continue until one or the other was two up. A large group from both clubs followed these two sterling players but in as much as at the end of seven holes they were still all even it was thought best to determine the outcome by playing from number seven green to number nine green. This also resulted in a tie, both players going down in three. The issue was then settled by putting from different distant points on the ninth green, Gathwohl winning on the second attempt when Van Horn missed a five foot putt for a half.

JOHN M. BENSON
John M. Benson, member of the Benton Harbor board of education and the Berrien county tax allocation commission, and one of the most prominent of the city's fruit commission merchants is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.
Mr. Benson announced his candidacy today and intends to wage an active campaign for the nomination and election.
Two years ago Mr. Benson was a last-minute entry in the Democratic primary. He had made virtually no campaign and was induced to run only because of the entreaties of his friends, but in spite of this situation his popularity and wide acquaintance throughout the county landed him the nomination and he put up a strong contest against Sheriff Charles L. Miller who was elected for a second term, who will be a candidate for the nomination for a third term. This fall it appears it will be Benson vs. J. M. Miller for the Democratic nomination. Dr. Miller announced his candidacy last week. Four years ago Dr. Miller was the nominee and lost out to Sheriff Miller only after a state recount.
Mr. Benson was first appointed to the school board in 1933. He was then elected for three years and is now serving another 4-year term. He is also a former president of the Benton Harbor Chamber of Commerce and has wide contacts among business men and growers.

May Increase State Police to Enforce Yellow Road Marks

Yellow paint on pavements has apparently become one of the important traffic enforcement problems on Michigan highways today.

Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of the Michigan state police, informed State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner this week "there still appears to be wholesale violations of driving restrictions established by yellow markings." Olander said he had received a few queries asking the meaning of the markings.

For years the state highway department has used a yellow marking on hills and curves. This marking is uniform among the states. On three-lane highways, the state highway department has painted yellow markings on hills directing the traffic to the outside lane.

"While some motorists may not understand the meaning of these yellow markings," Commissioner Van Wagoner said, "there is ample evidence that most of the violations are premeditated.

"By and large, I believe that motorists realize that the left side of the yellow paint on a hill or curve is a no man's land of death. However, there is no question that many drivers are disregarding these markings."

Commissioner Olander has expressed the need to increase his

Experiment May Revolutionize Mich. Highways

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, announced plans today for an experimental project which may revolutionize construction of Michigan's secondary highways.

The commissioner revealed that field construction will start July 27 on a cement stabilization project on the proposed shoreline highway east of Cheboygan. The project will start one mile east of that city and extend east for six miles.

"Briefly, the project will involve mixing the soil with cement for a depth of six inches and then seal-coating the 20-foot, stabilized road with a quarter-of-an-inch thickness of bituminous surfacing," the commissioner said in explaining the work.

The research and testing division of the state highway department will be in charge of the work under the direction of J. W. Kushing director of the division. The Portland Cement Association and the Works Progress Administration will cooperate, the latter to furnish the labor. It is estimated that about 100 men will be assigned to the project, which, in view of its experimental nature, will take about 2½ months to complete.

The Cheboygan project is the second of its kind in the United States. The first was completed last year by the South Carolina State Highway Department at Johnsonville, S. C.

Irrigation Relieves Drought in Berrien Strawberry, Tomato Fields

Porous Hose And Flooding Systems Used to Spread Water

Irrigation both by the porous hose system and by flooding is being successfully used in the Buchanan district in southern Berrien county in general this year to supplement a shortage of rainfall.

The porous hose method was first tried in this section two years ago, when demonstrations were given to a Dowagiac man, afterwards filled several irrigating contracts with his pump and hose outfit. It is being successfully applied this year by Ralph Sebasty, who is pumping water from Pike Lake to irrigate about 12 acres of tomatoes contracted with the Campbell Soup company.

Sebasty uses a centrifugal pump, raising the water about 15 feet through a two-inch hose to his tomato patch, where he hooks two lengths of porous hose on the pipe. The pipe bisects the field, and equal lengths of hose run along a row at a time. The hose is laid close to the row on each side, and is allowed to lie about 20 minutes in a place, during which time the water seeps down below the roots.

Results in sections of the field covered so far are satisfactory, in improved sturdiness and size of the plants.

Larger scale operations are under way on the C. A. Stahelin farm near New Troy, where a considerable acreage has been flooded with satisfactory results. Stahelin, who has a nursery near Baroda, operates about 240 acres at New Troy, where he raises a part of his stock and also runs cattle to provide fertilizer for his nursery.

He purchased pipe and hose for irrigation after seeing the demonstrations by the Dowagiac man two years ago, and first tried it with good results on his strawberries that year. It was not necessary to use it last year, but during the drought of May and June he irrigated 12 acres of strawberries, and estimated that he increased the yield from 800 to 1,000 crates, at $1.50 each. The irrigation took a trifle over two days, during which three men were employed and about 15 gallons of gasoline used to operate the tractor.

He pumps from a dredge ditch, in which he has sunk a barrel several inches below the bottom of the stream in order to have a body of water from which to pump. Pumping is done either with a small F-20 tractor or a larger caterpillar outfit, which elevates the water about ten feet and boosts it 600 feet through a six-inch iron pipe. From the end of the pipe the water enters about 500 feet of hose, from which feeder hose lead off on each side. The irrigation is accomplished by flooding from about six of the feeder hose at a time. Two men work with the hose, relaying it to flood the entire field. When they wish to shut the water from a branch hose, they simply tie a knot in it and the pressure of water down the main hose carries it on without appreciable loss.

In this way Stahelin has irrigated 12 acres of early strawberries, another field of 15 acres of strawberries, and about 12 acres of tomatoes. The pump lifts about 14,000 gallons an hour, and as much as six acres can be flooded in a day. The results of the irrigation are most noticeable in comparing sections of the field where the water has been applied and where it has not. Where the water is used, the plants are taller, or a darker green and the settings are heavier.

The El Dorado Nurseries at Baroda completed irrigation of 25 acres of strawberries last week using a method similar to that used by Stahelin.

Pitcher Jesse Falls to Overcome Costly Errors in Fielding

A third game in the city series was assured Sunday when the Co-Ops forged ahead of the Blues in a disastrous seventh inning and won 10-4.

Pitcher Glenn Jesse pitched first class ball, and held his opponents well in hand until the seventh, when the score still stood 3-2 in favor of the Blues. I Crossed the Continent on a Cupful o' RED CROWN!
Kermit Lidder

IT'S something of a hobby with me—crossing the continent is. But, old experienced continent-crosser that I am, do I have my eyes opened this Spring? I do!
"Always before, I make the trip by foot, figuring I'm money ahead if other folks buy the gasoline. This time, though, I get reckless. I decide to forget expense and go in my own car. 'But, Kermit,' I say to myself, 'don't go completely nuts all at once. Take it easy and gradual,' I say. "That's sensible, so I start it off with just one tea-cupful of gasoline in the tank. And right there is where I get my eye-opener: It happens to be Red Crown gasoline that I buy. And do I have to make another single stop for gas the whole way across? I do not! That one cupful takes me coast to coast, and I even have trouble stopping the car when I get to the Golden Gate!"

We don't believe Kermit could really have been serious about this matter. In fact, we don't believe there is any such person. It is a fact, though, that many motorists do have false or exaggerated ideas about gasoline mileage. That's why Standard Oil is conducting a great public road test this summer, in which thousands of motorists are taking part.

Reports already indicate that many are learning valuable new facts about the economical operation of their cars—discovering how to use gasoline more efficiently—finding out which brand of motor fuel does the best and cheapest job for them. Even if you aren't entered in the World's Greatest Road Test, it will pay you to

HAVE YOUR STANDARD DEALER FILL YOUR TANK WITH STANDARD RED CROWN. Then note carefully how many miles you drive before you need gasoline again. Compare that mileage with any you've ever gotten before.

Program of Repair
30 Berrien Schools
The "little red School-house" is to be made as spic and span as when it first became a part of the American rural scene a half-century and more ago.
Under a comprehensive program of painting, repair and general rehabilitation, now being worked out in the Eighth W. P. A. district, as many as 150 country schools in ten southwestern Michigan counties will likely be restored to—possibly improved over—their condition long ago when they were new structures destined to become the center of rural life and education.
Already the program is under way in Berrien county where 30 of these basic educational institutions will be re-decorated and repaired to an extent not known in years. Presidential approval has been secured for the work and $14,000 in federal funds has been allotted, while the sponsor has agreed to pay for the materials amounting to an estimated $3,500.
Eaton county has asked that this type of work be carried out in 25 or 30 rural schools; Calhoun county seeks the rehabilitation of 40 buildings, while similar work has been going on in Cass for some time, although the method of operation has been somewhat different there.
The new plan of operation calls for the organization of crews especially selected for this type of work, which will move from school to school as rapidly as one job is completed. Skilled workers, such as carpenters, painters, etc., will be included as well as two or three common laborers to serve as helpers to the others. By maintaining the same personnel in the crews assigned to each county, activities will be carried out more efficiently.
Both exterior and interior painting will be done, old roofs removed and new roofs installed, foundations repaired and other similar work completed. No new additions will be made to present buildings under the "blanket" projects which cover all of each participating county.
As a general rule, the sponsor school districts will provide all materials, while the Works Progress Administration supplies labor necessary to finish each operation.
No definite number of crews has been assigned to any county, but from two to five will probably be chosen eventually.
While only four counties have taken steps to obtain this work immediately, proposals from rural school boards from the other six counties of the Eighth district will be welcomed as it is seen as an opportunity of carrying out activities of much usefulness—and which have been long needed in many sections.

Eugene Kelley Is Made Eagle Scout
The third week of camping at Madron closed with a big Court of Honor and several hundred awards made. The outstanding event of the week was the attainment of Eagle Rank by two outstanding Scouts of the Area—Dick Crippen of Niles and Eugene Kelley of Buchanan. It happened to be the birthday of Scout Crippen also. Excellent Pageantry was also a feature of the visitors night program. Many parents and friends of the Scouts were at camp during the week and witnessed the many activities.
The swimming meet, volley ball games, goofy golf, archery, and water polo, as well as flag raids, treasure hunts, etc. made the week most successful in every way.
The fourth week of the camp opened today with over one hundred enrolled, the camp is taxed to capacity, and the program lined up will keep every Scout on the job every minute of the day. It is estimated that at least 300 awards will be completed during the week in the Scouting advancement program, several boys are completing the Eagle work.
We will have several campers from Chicago again as well as other cities outside the Area. Scouts who are planning on attending the camp but who have not registered should do so at once as it was necessary to refuse registrations for this week and list them for later periods.
