

BUCHANAN HIGH SCHOOL IN CLASS B

Clark Equipment Lets Contract For Construction 80x240 Ft. Bldg.

Deadline Passed In Opening Week

Now Here's the Proposition

The Tax Bill When that I get my annual bill To kick into the city till I do not swear about the flat Abuse my wife and kick the cat, I do not tear the statement up And spank the baby, slap the pup. Although I am no plaster saint I know the city hall needs paint, They have some water bonds now due, And they must pave a street or two, They need new lights on several streets There are some bills they have to meet They have to help out with relief, They need a new star for the chief And then of course they count on me To pay the treasurer's salary. And so I cry a bit and then I jack the mortgage up again. There is no use to crab or snitch—I'm glad somebody thinks I'm rich!

700 Foot R. R. Siding To Be Built to Structure East of River Street Plant

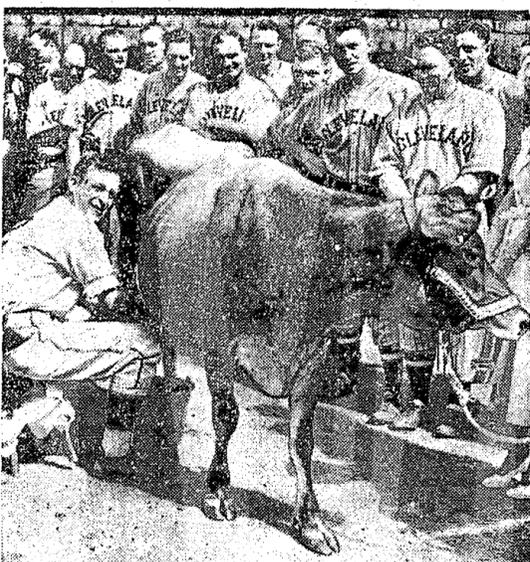

Contract has been let to the Austin Company, Cleveland, O., for the construction of an 80x240 two-story building for the local Clark Equipment plant, to be located east of the rear of the River street plant and to be used for storage for the immediate future, releasing other parts of the plant where production is cramped for room.

The construction will begin within the next ten days according to plant officials, and the structure is to be ready for use the first of the year. The basement will be of reinforced concrete and the first floor will be mainly of steel sash and glass. About 700 feet of additional siding will be built leaving the present spur on the east side just north of the foundry.

Contract has also been let for the construction of a second floor for the office building at the Berrien Springs plant, to house the drafting and engineering departments, to be built of brick.

Officials state that the new construction does not envisage immediate production expansion, but is part of an ultimate expansion program.

Orr was formerly in the sales department of the Timpkin Axle company of Detroit, and previous to that was connected with the Ford organization.

At the annual organization meeting held last week all of the officers were re-elected, as follows: President, Dan Larson; secretary-treasurer, Leonard Zick, South Bend; vice-president, J. Walter Wade, Grand Rapids; assistant secretary-treasurer, Fred LaPierre, Boston.

The officers report several good orders now received for immediate production. The force of the plant is mainly composed of skilled machinist and expert steel men.

Marital Barque Launched in Lake

Five years ago, Merlin Andrews, life guard at Lake Pontchartrain, New Orleans, rescued Miss Elsie Hagner from drowning in the lake. The other night he took her back into the waters of the lake and married her before a huge audience that lined the beach. Here the two are shown in bathing suit bridal array as they walked into the water before the ceremony.

Four Higher Grades Top 300 Mark; Place Locals With Niles, St. Joseph

Buchanan automatically enters the Class B high schools of Michigan this year with a total of 321 including the four upper grades and two postgraduates within a week after the opening of school, the deadline for Class C being 300.

The change in classification has no significance except in athletics, and not a great deal there in football, where the school has been playing many Class B teams for years, and where there are no organized class tournaments and championships. This year's schedule, made up while the school was still Class C, includes: Class B, St. Joseph, Niles, South Haven, Dowagiac, and Western State High; Class C, Watervliet, Cassopolis, Paw Paw.

In basketball and track, however, the promotion is a definite handicap, as it will make it necessary for the local school to play in tournaments and cope in track and file with such schools as Niles and St. Joseph high schools, which will make it proportionately difficult to achieve totias.

The high school narrowly escaped inclusion in Class B last year, with a total enrollment of 297 at the close of September, or three under the dividing mark. The total enrollment in the entire local system this year is 1058, as compared with an enrollment of 1037 at the end of September last year.

The enrollment by grades is: postgrads, 2, 12th grade 60, 11th grade 79, 10th grade 86, 9th grade 93, 8th grade 69, 7th grade 86, 6th grade 86, 5th grade 75, 4th grade 81, 3rd grade 80, specials 16, 2nd grade 65, 1st grade 100, kindergarten 80.

Remaining Grid Schedule for Bucaneers Sept. 25—Watervliet here. Oct. 3—Cassopolis, here. Oct. 10—Paw Paw, here. Oct. 16—Niles, here (night). Oct. 31—South Haven, here. Nov. 7—Dowagiac, here. Nov. 14—Western State High, here.

Bucaneers Bow To St. Joseph

Locals Satisfy Rooters As They Hold County Seat Team Until Final Quarter

(By Chuck Wesner) Playing in a driving rain the St. Joe High grid squad defeated Buchanan's Bucks at Wells field St. Joe last Friday evening by a count of 12-0.

St. Joe's running attack netted them 12 first downs while the Bucks were able to make one first down. Buchanan made their first down mid way in the third period on a forward-lateral pass, Jesse to Virgil to Trapp. The play netted the Bucks 23 yards. Buchanan tried two aerials one being completed. St. Joe tried the air lanes only once and stuck to a strictly running game which centered around Dumke, Bear left half.

Jesse, Buck left half, did some fine punting in spite of a very slippery ball and uncertain ground. The entire first canto was played in a heavy down pour. It rained so hard that the writer was unable to get an accurate running account. Neither team made any long gains. Buchanan recovered a St. Joe fumble, each squad punted on 3rd down because of adverse playing conditions. Score: 0-0.

SECOND QUARTER Beck substituted for Jerue at end by Buchanan. Smith, Buck quarter back, was laid out on the second play of the period. The Bears got possession of the pigskin and made a first down then fumbled but a Bear recovered the ball. St. Joe made two more first downs. St. Joe penalized 15 yards for holding. The Bears took time out on the next play Dumke ran down the sidelines for 17 yards. The Bears attempted to pass but Trapp, Buck right half, intercepted the ball on his own 18 yard marker. Jesse kicked for Buchanan on the first down. St. Joe's ball on Buck's 41. On several plays St. Joe made their fifth first down. Buchanan substituted Bainton for Kuntz and Hansen for R. Stevens. St. Joe fumbled on the Bucks 25 and Buchanan recovered. A 15 yard penalty was imposed on St. Joe as the half ended the score Joe fumbled on their own 40 and 0-0.

Buchanan kicked to St. Joe. St. Buchanan recovered. Buchanan penalized 5 yards for offside. Jesse passed to Virgil who in turn lateraled to Trapp. Trapp was brought down on the St. Joe 22. The play netted the Bucks their only first down of the game. Buchanan lost the ball on downs to the Bears on their own 19 yard stripe. Dumke slashed off 19 yards around his own rig and for a first down. On a series of line bucks by Schmidt and Dumke the Bears were able to rally another first down on their own 48. The Bears advanced the oval to the Bucks 27 for two more first downs as the quarter ended. Score 0-0. (Continued on page 7)

Co-Ops to Play 2 Games Sunday

Face Colored Giants and Roseland Team in Doubleheader

The 1936 baseball season will close for the Buchanan district at the Letcher diamond, Sunday afternoon, with the Buchanan Co-Ops placing two lineups in the field, opening at 1:30 p. m. fast time against the Christ Is King team of Roseland and following with a second game with the Colored Giants of South Bend.

The Co-Ops defeated the Christ Is King team 6-3 recently. Batteries in this game will be: Roseland, Hyde pitcher and Baker catcher; Co-Ops, Sebasty pitcher and Zeryak catcher.

The Giants are rated as one of the best teams of the South Bend district, and the Co-Op line-up includes a number of star importations to meet this threat. Szuski of the pitching staff of the Studenbaker nine will be on the mound and Baker, famous Singer catcher, will receive. Everett Deeds will play with the Co-Ops in both games and it is likely that other stars of the Buchanan Blues will be seen in action. Ford will pitch for the Giants and Dulin will catch.

Lower First Floor In Rough Building

When Clem Shuts Door It Is Shut

Clem Savoldi, partner in Fay's Smoke Shop, says he's going back into the wrestling racket, shutting doors is too rough. Monday evening he pulled the rear door of the establishment shut and the upper glass fell out, cutting an artery in the back of his left hand and opening a gash that required six stitches to close.

Buchanan Casts Light Vote Tues.

Heavy Predominance Repub. Ballots; Charles Miller Polls 206 Each Precinct

Buchanan, in common with most of Michigan, showed a decided Republican mopexion in the primary election held here Tuesday, which was distinguished by a comparatively light vote of 630 ballots in a registration of 1940, and by the rousing victories recorded by the two Millers, Charles and Jimmie, for the nomination for sheriff on the Republican and Democratic tickets.

At a late hour in the night the supporters of the former visited Buchanan in a large bus accompanied by a St. Joseph drum and bugle corps, arousing the echoes of the night in celebration of the Miller landslide.

Another peculiar feature of the local voting was the fact that Charles Miller polled exactly 206 votes in each precinct of the city, a combined city vote of 412 out of a total of 613 Republican ballots.

Combined precinct votes in Buchanan for the various state and county candidates were: U. S. Senator Republican: Brucker 317, Couzens 141. Democratic: Brown 70, Liddy 10, Muckens 7, Ward 15. George Snyder Has 3/4 Lb. Peaches

Some tallest tales have been going the rounds of the Berrien County press regarding big peaches, and in that line the Record received a nice exhibit from George Snyder, owner of the beautiful old Spring Hill farm on the east side of Lake Chapin a midway between the Kelsey hill and Pennellwood. The two peaches were of the Hale variety, as "are most of the large exhibits. One weighed a good 12 ounces and the other 11 1/2 ounces on Bob Reamer's meat scales. Both were approximately 11 inches in circumference.

RELATES STORY OF BEAUTIFUL WAR SPY

San Francisco.—In a weed-grown corner of the Presidio National cemetery here, WPA workers a few days ago discovered a small headstone with the arresting inscription, "Pauline C. Tyler, Union Spy."

No interment record could be found and efforts to identify the grave's forgotten occupant failed until the matter came to the attention of Dr. A. T. Leonard, director of the California Historical society, who supplied the answer.

The woman who rests in the Presidio grave, he said, is Pauline Cushman, the exotic Spanish-American actress.

Her entrance into intrigue was a dramatic one, he relates. In 1863, she was appearing in a play at the old Wood's theater in Louisville, Ky. Her role called for her to drink a toast to the Union.

She went immediately to the Union provost marshal, who saw a chance to employ her as a spy, and advised her to drink the toast.

The following night before a crowded house, she cried: "Here's to Jeff Davis and the Southern Confederacy! May the South always maintain her honor and her rights!"

A riot broke out in the audience. Pauline was summarily discharged and sent packing out of the city.

After that she was welcomed everywhere, and all the while she used her charms to extract vital information from her officer admirers, and was in constant touch with the Northern army.

Inevitably, suspicion attached to her; twice she was wounded as she fled from death traps, and twice she was found guilty of espionage and sentenced to die.

Each time her seductive beauty and her acting talent saved her.

She came to San Francisco in 1872 and lived quietly for 20 years before her death.

The surname Tyler, which puzzled those who discovered her grave, was that of the last of her three husbands, Doctor Leonard said.

Buffalo Moths

Buffalo moths are not really moths at all, according to an authority—they are beetles, and their proper name is carpet beetle. Why they are called buffalo moths is not known—maybe because of their destructive habits, and the fact that the larvae are rough and furry. There are six varieties of carpet beetles, but only four of them have been proved to be serious household pests in America. These are the common carpet beetle and the furniture carpet beetle. Of the four, the first and last species so closely resemble one another that only a microscope will show the difference. The result of their activity is also about the same.

Music in Early Times

Music was one of the graces of life carefully cultivated by races rising in the scale of early civilization. Egyptians and Greeks had their harps, flutes, trumpets, gongs (primitive oboes) and drums.

The Milky Way

The milky way is a hazy, somewhat irregular band of light, about twenty degrees wide, which completely encircles the heavens. It can be seen on clear, moonless, summer evenings, stretching entirely across the northern sky. The unaided eye gets the impression that the milky way is made up of faint stars. The telescope confirms this impression by showing that the light of the milky way is caused by millions of stars. In reality these stars are great suns and they appear faint only because of their immense distances. Most of them are so remote that several thousand years are required for their light to come to us.

Although a local tradition associates its symbolism with a rocky gorge in the parish of Blogdon, his first curacy. It was translated into Latin by Gladstone.

Why Drivers Need To Consider The "Other One"

People fail to realize the double hazard facing them when operating a motor vehicle in any type of traffic, as majority of accidents occur when two vehicles meet with the combined impact force of their combined speeds.

The driver who feels safe at 30 miles per hour (not a fast speed) must take into consideration that another car approaching him at the same rate of speed, meeting head-on or with glancing impact, brings the combined speed at time of collision up to 60 miles per hour, admittedly a dangerous one, and one at which a collision usually results fatally or in being crippled for life.

Drivers also fail to realize that when they momentarily glance away from the road ahead for any purpose they are at that instant "driving blind." As a vehicle doing 30 m-p-h is moving .44 feet per second, and as experience has shown, that the average driver, when glancing aside, takes from 2 to 3 seconds before his vision returns to the road ahead, it means he has traveled a distance of from 88 to 132 feet. If another driver approaching from the opposite direction at the same safe speed of 30 m-p-h, the two vehicles will have traveled toward each other a distance of 264 feet, nearly the length of a city block; and no driver has assurance that the oncoming driver has not also glanced aside at the same time.

The combined speed at impact of 60 m-p-h will do the same damage as though either car or driver were to run off the top of a twelve story building, and anyone looking down from the roof of a building of such height will better realize the seriousness of the situation.

No driver would be foolhardy enough to purposely drive into a stationary object at a speed of 60 m-p-h, yet he will swing his car across the center, over into the line of approaching traffic where he is constantly facing the same hazard. Even if automobiles were made to stand the terrific shock of combined-speed collision, the human body has not yet advanced to the point where it can resist the strains and tears of muscles, ligaments, and collision shock that always turns humans into suffering wrecks for the rest of their natural lives.

The individual people killed in auto accidents are through with physical suffering but their number is relatively small in comparison with the number who live, and through serious injuries are rendered incapable of making a living, thus placing them in that class that prefer not to live, facing daily the constant reminders of their own carelessness.

The majority of drivers operate their vehicle in an almost unconscious, state of mind. All agree to this when the following example is brought to their attention. A driver is proceeding down the street when suddenly another car approaches from the rear, and in attempting to pass, suddenly blows his horn. The first driver is so startled by the unexpected blast that he rises nearly six inches off the seat and for a brief interval thereafter he is an exceedingly alert and careful driver, but he soon lapses again. You know this is so. It must have happened to you.

Experience proves that the average driver does not know how to stop his car properly in emergency, because he hasn't trained himself. Therefore, when he suddenly gets in a tight place he does not know what to do. His instinctive action is often wrong because of the fact that correct reaction habits have not been developed by training and practice. The first thought is generally to step on the gas in an attempt to pull through when in many cases the brake should be used. The mind seldom functions to the point where it can direct the proper use of the brake. Generally a driver's "stopping" practice includes only stopping at the red light, stopping at the "stop" street and for the parking place. The emergency stop and the reduction of speed when confronted by a dangerous condition are not included. He is therefore to blame for his failure to properly control his car and avoid collision. This training should consist chiefly of braking practice and obedience to the requirement that a vehicle must be under control at all times and under all conditions of traffic.

Drivers fail to realize the reaction, thought or time it takes to put the foot on the brake after the danger is seen and the decision made to stop. The average driver reacts in three-quarters of a second during which time the distance traveled is 33 feet at a 30 mile speed. This means that he has proceeded 33 feet before his brake shoe grips. If his brakes are in perfect condition and the pavement is dry and clean, the brakes should stop the car in 40 feet, or a total distance of 73 feet from the time the first warning is received by the brain. Isn't it a wonder there are not more accidents than there are?

The chances one takes while driving are a thousand per cent greater than any risks a man could be hired to face, yet he goes on taking these risks daily; chances that may easily result in death or may cripple him for life, and with him his loved ones whom he professes to love, care for and protect yet so thoughtlessly endangers.

New License Applications For House Trailers

Colored Forms to be Used to Differentiate Between License Types.

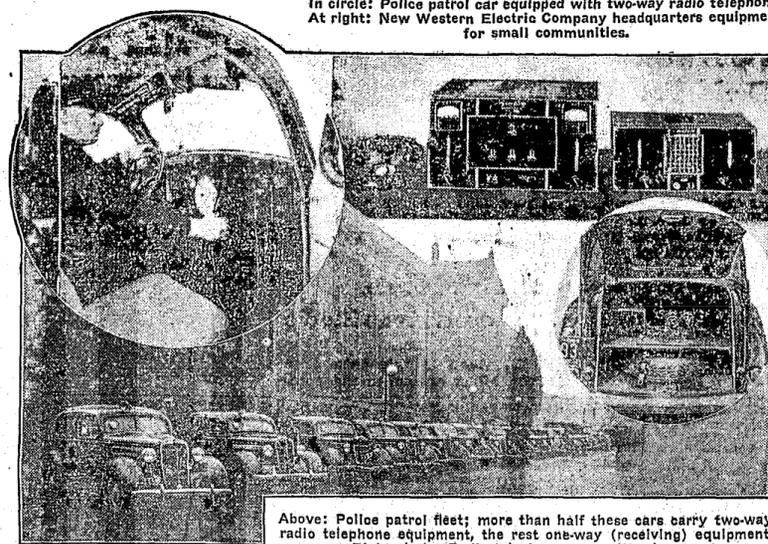

Increase in the use of automobile house trailers has created the necessity for two more forms of application blanks for automobile license plates and in 1937 these different forms will be distinctly colored for guidance of the public and as an aid to book-keeping in the Department of State.

Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, in deciding to have the several application forms printed on colored paper, has pointed out that there is no final and accurate knowledge of the number of house trailers licensed in Michigan today. In past years, applications for house trailer license plates—an almost negligible volume—have not been segregated from those of ordinary trailers. The rates for the house trailer and passenger vehicle are the same.

Today, when plate applicants go to the state capitol or to branch offices of the Department of State, they must choose the right form from a total of nine. There are full and half year plate forms for passenger cars, commercial vehicles, ordinary trailers, house trailers and motorcycles. Clerks must watch carefully in their handling of these nine distinct kinds of applications.

Two-way Radio for Police Cars Is Newest Weapon in War Against Crime

In circle: Police patrol car equipped with two-way radio telephone. At right: New Western Electric Company headquarters equipment for small communities.

Cities using radio-equipped police cars report substantial gains in their war on crime.

A survey recently made by The Municipal Index of 174 American cities where the police employ radio telephone extensively reveals very gratifying results. Twenty-five cities responded with complete crime statistics covering the year prior to and the first year that radio was used as a police aid, and their reports show substantial gains and a general rise in police morale. In several cases, police budgets were reduced or unchanged, in spite of the added cost of radio equipment. Some cities report that the use of radio had instilled in the minds of criminals a greater fear of being caught.

Protecting Forty Million People It was in 1921 that the Detroit Police Department began experiments in the use of radio. At the close of 1935, there were in operation more than sixty city, county and state Western Electric Company police radio systems, as well as others manufactured by other companies, all of them getting car full of police officers to scenes of crime within two or three minutes after the report had been received at headquarters. Thus, police radio is giving added protection to 40,000,000 people in the United States.

Medium Frequency Band Overtaxed The early success and increasing popularity of these systems brought a pressing need for continued development in this field of radio application. As city after city joined the ranks of those using police radio, the medium frequency band, reserved for police communication, was taxed to capacity in many sections of the country. To remedy this condition the Federal Communications Commission authorized experimentally the use of additional channels in the ultra-high frequency band.

Bell System engineers then contributed one more important weapon in the war against crime. This is the introduction of a two-way police radio, a development which can be used to great advantage by officers of the law in a limited area. For, with this equipment, the motor patrolman not only receives alarms, but he may acknowledge them, request additional information, report crimes, or suspicious persons or circumstances, and inform headquarters of his position and progress, without leaving his car.

Operates on Ultra-High Frequencies

The two-way police radio system operates on ultra-high frequencies in the band of 30-42 megacycles. There is a transmitter at headquarters and receivers in the patrol cars, and the system also includes specially designed transmitters for the cars and a receiver at headquarters. The car transmitters weigh but twenty pounds and are only 11 by 7 by 6 1/2 inches in size and yet are held to within .025 of an assigned frequency by a new type of crystal with a low temperature coefficient.

Relays Operate Car Set

Projecting slightly above the top of the car is a flexible steel rod which acts as a vertical antenna and transmits as well as receives. On the dashboard hangs a telephone, much like the familiar handset, and the patrolman's voice speaking through it operates relays which put the car transmitter on the air. So timed are these relays that they do not switch off during intervals between words, but do so after the brief pause showing the speaker has finished. The car receiver then automatically goes into operation, prepared to pick up messages from headquarters.

It has been found that for municipal stations certain advantages exist in ultra-high frequency operation. One of the most important of these is freedom from atmospheric disturbances, such as static or thunderstorms. Newark, N. J., where the ultra-high frequency system has received a thorough test on a one-way basis, employs a short section of the 100 foot flag pole atop the city's tallest building for an antenna. Conversion in the two-way service would be very simple, as the car transmitter could operate on the wave length which the station now uses.

Police Radios Get Results When this service had been in operation in Newark for one year, the radio fleet had made 2,240 arrests, answered 2,683 fire and 35,777 police alarms, had patrolled 763,029 miles and recovered 682 stolen automobiles valued at $170,448.

This new two-way police radio service was introduced first in Evansville, Ind. in Westfield, N. J., Morristown, N. J., Manchester, N. H., Elgin, Ill., Wheeling, W. Va., Nashville, Tenn., and other places, they have already placed the two-way equipment in operation. Five months of operation in Evansville showed startling results. They revealed a decrease in crime of 17 per cent and an increase in arrests of 60 per cent, following the introduction first of one-way and later of two-way police radio.

Giving the Law A Voice

The telephone, the teletypewriter and the police radio provide the long arm of the law with a voice. Through virtually universal telephone service the public is able quickly to give an alarm. Then, through teletypewriter service for an extended area and police radio for local areas, the authorities can spread the alarm at once and take rapid action.

"White Fang"

Lightning, the German Shepherd dog in the title role of "White Fang," Darryl F. Zanuck Twentieth Century production opening Friday at the Hollywood Theatre with Michael Whalen and Jean Muir in the leading roles, performs entirely by signals.

"Show Boat"

Here comes the "Show Boat" "Show Boat," with the memorable romance and drama of Edna Ferber's novel with the lingering melody and rhythm of Jerome Kern's music, "Show Boat," with the charming glamor and human appeal of Oscar Hammerstein's play. The 1936 Universal film version comes to the Hollywood theatre on Sunday for three days. The picture tells the love story of Magnolia and Ravenal on a Mississippi show boat. Irene Dunne, the star, and Allan Jones capture the imagination in these romantic singing roles. Charles Winninger plays Captain Andy, genial river showman. His straitlaced wife is portrayed by Helen Westley.

"Human Cargo"

Drama with a new wallop, action with a new twist highlight the high-tension excitement of "Human Cargo," the new Fox production that opens next Wednesday with Claire Trevor and Brian Donlevy featured.

Directed by Allan Dwan under the production supervision of Executive Producer Sol M. Wurtzel, "Human Cargo" is an often-hilarious always-thrilling romance between a deb who wants excitement and a reporter who wants headlines. They both get what they're after as they smash the underworld's vicious new menace—the smuggling of human beings into the country illegally.

Over $175,000 Delinquent Taxes Paid in August

A total of more than $175,000 in delinquent taxes was paid to the Berrien county treasurer's office during August, according to a preliminary estimate by Deputy Treasurer Veronica Mason.

Payments in cash at the office came to about $75,000. In addition there were probably $100,000 in mail payments, Mrs. Mason said, which the treasurer's staff has not yet compiled.

The office handled 2,500 tax receipts at the counter, and 1,800 tax receipts through the mails.

Damage Caused by Moths Amounts to $200,000,000

New York—Damage by moths to clothing, furs, carpets and furniture in the United States is placed at $200,000,000 by the National Association of Insecticide and Disinfectant Manufacturers. This figure was arrived at from reports from entomologists and exterminators, and statistics gathered from the textile, fur, insecticide and other industries. The association says:

"The moth now knows no season, and, contrary to popular belief, readily breeds throughout the winter in heated homes.

"In England, whence our clothes moths originally came (there were none in North America before the coming of the white man) there are but two generations of moths a year—in the spring and in the fall. English homes are generally poorly heated and not favorable to development of insect life.

"In many American homes there are now three, or even four, generations of moths a year."

Deceptive Names The names and reputations of places are sometimes deceptive; thus the Pacific ocean is turbulent; the Blue Danube ocean is green; the Black mountain (Montenegro) is gray, but Germany's Black forest is black.

AN OPEN LETTER

WITH A FEW PLAIN REMARKS ABOUT BEER

A great many people are asking—"What do Schmidt's mean by NO SUGAR—NO GLUCOSE—NO FATTENING SYRUPS in Schmidt's Sparkling Beer, and what difference does it make to beer drinkers?"

Here's the answer—

Fattening ingredients such as sugar, glucose, syrups, etc. provide a hurry-up, short cut method because they are artificial stimulants to alcoholic development. Beer brewed without sugar, glucose or fattening syrups is NOT a sweet tasting beer, either.

Please do not misunderstand. Beer brewed with sugar may be good beer and you may like it. However, the next time you order beer—call for SCHMIDT'S. Enjoy its fresh, clean after-taste. SCHMIDT'S is really better for you.

PARENTS REUNITED BY SMILE OF BABY

Scene in Court Room Turns Strife to Sunshine.

Chicago.—Most beautiful thing about the Scriptures is they never grow old. No world will ever grow too modern for the wise words of those ancients.
Take that line—"And a little child shall lead them."
One led a father and mother out of a courtroom into sunshine and future happiness. Moments before they had hated each other.
Little Jean Frandsen is the kind of girl who brings kisses and loving arms where angry tears and shaking fists had been.

Before Judge Justin F. McCarthy in Town Hall court stood an angry husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Frandsen, arguing their cases. But is the court all ears? Those bailiffs are playing and lifting and shyly tugging a cute little human bundle, bubbling love and laughter. It is the child these parents brought into the world.
Gradually pride crept over the face of the father, then a sly smile. The mother beamed, and into two hearts came the glow of love returned.
"The-entest darn baby," said the judge. "Imagine having such a treasure."
"All she does is laugh, your honor. Did you ever see such a cute, happy child?"
"Oh, yes, what were you saying, Mr. and Mrs. Frandsen, about your difficulties—nagging—temper—fists and—"
"Judge—oh, John, I do love you; I'm sorry; we—"
"It was all my fault, Madeline; I've been a beast."
The judge turned away as John Frandsen and his wife went into each other's arms and kissed.
"Sometimes," said Judge McCarthy, as the man and woman and a laughing baby walked out into the sunshine, "a man has to seek afar to discover the precious things he had at hand."

Woman Serves as Baggage Tossers in Railway Depot

Linna, Ohio.—Mrs. Kathryn Dicks, since 1907 railway station agent at Buckland, Ohio, without a day off for vacation or illness, wants to retire—"as soon as I find the money"—and divide her time between rest on the farm and travel.
Railroading is in the blood of this woman who handles as many as 20 trains through Buckland daily, still finds time for her duties as baggage man, switchman and telegrapher to keep her cottage home near the track tidy.
Her father, G. W. Dyer, was a railway agent at Bainbridge, Ind., for almost 50 years, and Mrs. Dicks says that she was "helping sell money orders and tickets before I could see over the counter."

BROTHER WHALES BLACK SHEEP BY ORDER OF COURT

Youth Does Job in Masterly Style; Stout Umbrella Completely Ruined.

Chicago.—In the opinion of a Chicago jurist there is one language a boy intent upon wrecking his own life and breaking his mother's heart can understand.
A pair of fists.
Facing Walter Kastian, twenty-three, of 4311 South Lincoln street, Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in felony court proved a modern Solomon in handling a difficult situation.
There was a mother weeping and pleading for the black sheep son who had been a cross in her life. On the other side of her, the good boy, Richard, twenty-one, who has remained at home and bore the fruit of good deeds, stood and asked, too, that Walter, who committed a robbery and once served a year in Joliet prison for attacking a girl, be given another chance.
"Can't he do so?"
"Richard," said the judge sternly, "can you handle this boy?"
"Do you mean physically?" asked the brother.
"That is just what I mean."
"I can, your honor."
"All right, then," thundered Judge Hartigan, "take him in the back room in my chambers and give him a good beating right now. If you do I will release him to you."
"Come on, punk," said the brother, while the mother, Mary Kastian, wept softly. "You're going to get it and you sure need it."
And get it the would-be black sheep did. He got it with fists and then he got it with an umbrella. A brother two years younger bounced lefts off a chin, rights off ears and then when that area had been covered he picked up the umbrella and made the crowning stroke of the session.
Umbrella Ruined.
"This one's for Ma," he said and wham. No one will ever use that umbrella again. It broke in so many pieces they had to sweep it up. Then grogg, Walter Kastian was led back to court by the obliging pugilistic young brother.
"The sentence," said the youngster to the court, "has been carried out, your honor."
"So I perceive."
Bailiff John Green and Benjamin Simons, 4000 South Paulina street, whom Kastian robbed, watched the beating in a rear room. Walter Kastian came out with lumps on his face as big as limes.
"Now," said the court, "take him away and do it to him often. He needs it. If he ever gets in here again he will go to prison and for a long term."
"Thank you," murmured the mother as she turned away. "You have made my life a happy one this day."

Juvenile Ills Take 700 in Mich.

Disease enemies of childhood take the lives of more than 700 children under five years of age every year in Michigan, declared Dr. C. C. Slemmons, state health commissioner, today in releasing statistics gained from a three year study of child mortality. These disease enemies include diarrhea and enteritis, whooping cough, tuberculosis, measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria, he said.
Each year has brought a steady decrease in deaths from these diseases, the records show, as parents have put into practice the methods for the prevention of these needless deaths. A remarkable contrast is shown between the deaths last year from diarrhea and enteritis when 216 infants under two years of age died and the 1,090 deaths recorded from this cause just a decade ago. Twenty years ago 2,056 children died from this same cause.
Diphtheria, too, so easily prevented by toxoid immunization, caused 58 deaths last year, compared with a toll of 677 deaths ten years ago. All of these diseases of childhood may be prevented to a large extent, the commissioner said, by a greater responsibility of parents in the protection of child health. Diphtheria immunization and smallpox vaccination are proved methods of disease prevention. Diarrhea and enteritis may be prevented by guarding against contamination of food and water supplies. Tuberculosis, which surprisingly is responsible for more deaths of children under five than diphtheria, scarlet fever or measles, may now be easily diagnosed by the family physician and curative treatment provided.
A major factor in the prevention of childhood diseases, the commissioner stated, is to avoid the exposure of children to these diseases. The old conception that every child must run the gamut of childhood diseases is a thing of the past. Too frequently the after effects of such diseases are a serious handicap to individuals through life.

Record Tourist Traffic in 1936

The Michigan tourist industry this week bade a reluctant farewell to what appeared to have been a record summer season.
With the passing of the annual Labor Day traffic rush, State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner offered additional proof to substantiate the belief that the 1936 summer season was the best on record for the tourist industry of the state.
The commissioner reported that traffic over the ferries at the Straits of Mackinac over the Labor Day week-end reached a new peak. He also reported that registrations at the state highway department's tourist lodge on US-12 near New Buffalo are almost four times greater than last year.
On Sunday, Sept. 6, the pre-Labor Day traffic on the ferries reached an all-time peak of 2,932 motor vehicles. This record was almost 200 more than the previous high mark of 2,736 vehicles transported on the ferries Aug. 16 of this year.
The three-day traffic this year amounted to 2,514 vehicles on Saturday, Sept. 5; 2,932 on Sunday; and 2,445 Labor Day for a total of 7,901 vehicles for the week-end. This compared with 6,920 for the Labor Day week-end in 1935 when the peak load also came on Sunday with a record of 2,625 vehicles.
Traffic at the Straits is "60 days ahead of that of last year," the commissioner said. More than 155,000 vehicles have been transported to date this year. It was not until Nov. 19 that travel on the ferries reached this figure last year.
Registrations at the tourist lodge on US-12 have passed the 50,000 mark to date this year compared with 12,600 at this time in 1935. Five boats were in service at the Straits last week-end and ran on "free" schedules. In addition to the three vessels owned by the state and the truck ferry leased by the state highway department, the railroad ferry, Chief Wawatam, was in continuous operation.

Buried in Coffin He Used as Couch for 15 Years

Watertown, N. Y.—George F. Patch, seventy-six years old, a descendant of Gen. Israel Putnam, Revolutionary war commander, was buried in a coffin which he had used as a couch for 15 years.
Patch, a justice of the peace at Groghnan, N. Y., was known for many eccentricities. He never wore a collar, shoestring or necktie. Land he owned in the Adirondacks was closed to hunters and fishermen, but he invited berry pickers.

Stork Proves Himself to Be a Mighty Handy Bird

Capetown.—Storks, coming from Europe in great flocks, are solving South Africa's locust problems.
"The storks have acquired a taste for locusts, and this season they have destroyed so many that the government's annual locust campaign—costing $10,000,000 a year—has been suspended."

Catch Fish by Hand

In the Tonga and other islands many of the South Sea natives are expert divers and swimmers. They are so quick of movement that it is not uncommon for them to capture fishes by hand while under water. It is said that some of the aborigines prefer the diving method of fishing to any other.

SCOTLAND YARD IS LEARNING FROM U. S.

American Methods Studied by English Detectives.

London.—Scotland Yard, England's famous detective center, has picked up some real pointers from American police methods. Plans already are being made to imitate the "more efficient radio communication" in American police work, as the result of the visit to the United States of Deputy Assistant Commissioner Ronald M. Howe and other Scotland Yarders. "I was impressed by the fact the American police use speech in their radio system, whereas we use code when sending messages to patrol cars," said Howe. "The American police radio system is remarkable and there is no reason why Scotland Yard's radio system should not become equally efficient."

Straight Roads Help

Howe also was impressed with the fact American detectives did not seem to mind how long a day's work they did when engaged on a case. "American detectives also do not appear to have to spend so much time on burglaries, shop-breaking and minor crimes as we do," he added. "Their time seems to be fully occupied with major crimes." "One of the most interesting experiments we saw in the United States," said Howe, "was a talkie film devised to make identification of criminals easier."

Can't Quiz Prisoners

"One of the American police officers told us he was convinced the time would come when the public would be able to assist in criminal hunts through the putting on of films of wanted men during ordinary cinema programs. These films showed the criminals in their natural poses and displaying their characteristics."

"One of the films we saw showed the criminal walking about, lighting a cigaret, writing a letter and stooping to pick up something. We were shown a 'close up' of him as he answered questions. We were also able to hear his voice. "But I am afraid we could not possibly adopt such a system over in England. Prisoners here are not allowed to be questioned. But the American idea is an interesting experiment."

Natural Electric Currents
Natural electric currents, having no relation to the weather, flow through the earth and often circulate in grounded electrical equipment to such extent that they set in motion and even damage receiving instruments. During one week many years ago, notes a writer in Collier's Weekly, these currents were so strong that they were able to carry telegraphic messages, without the aid of batteries or any other source of current, for more than 300 miles.

Volcanic Ash

The average volcanic eruption does not make it upper air dusty, but when the outbreak takes the form of a violent explosion great quantities of fine mineral dust (so-called "ash") reaches much higher levels than are ever attained by wind-lifted soil or by the soot from fires. In the strong winds prevailing at such levels the dust soon spreads out in an enormous canopy, dense enough to produce a number of striking effects.

Michigan Methodists Favor Church Union

Merger of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church had almost the unanimous approval of the Michigan conference of the Methodist Episcopal church last week.

The proposal received the entire laymen vote of 187. All but ten of the 162 ministers voting cast their ballots for ratification.

Approximately 20 conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, now have approved the consolidation, which would unite a membership of 8,000,000 into the largest denomination in the United States.

Protestants Voted Against The Michigan conference of the Methodist Protestant church voted recently against the proposal. It has yet to come before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and its state conferences.

The Methodist Brotherhood re-elected Archie E. McCrea of Muskegon president. Other officers include E. C. Warriner, president of the Central State Teachers' college at Mt. Pleasant, vice president; and W. H. Shumaker, Three Rivers, secretary-treasurer. Members of the advisory board are Luren D. Dickinson, Charlotte; T. O. Huckle, Cadillac; and Jacob Kindelberger, Kalamazoo.

Major General Smedley D. Butler, retired marine corps commander, told an audience that "there cannot be another war in Europe until Hitler has sufficient reserves." He said the German chancellor needs 4,000,000 men and that he has neither guns nor ammunition for a war.

Expert Tells How To Stage Flower Shows

"Even the most ordinary flowers and leaves are beautiful if they are chosen for their color and grace, arranged artistically in suitable vases and placed where they may be enjoyed."

This is the deduction of Miss Getrude Reis, extension specialist in home furnishing at Michigan State College. She offers pointers in flower selection and arrangement that will aid in enjoyment in the home and in obtaining placings at some of the many fall flower shows now scheduled in the state.

In the container itself, one can find means of aiding the flowers to exhibit their beauty. According to Miss Reis, a suitable vase should be simple in shape, with little or no decoration in the form of painted or moulded flowers upon the surface. The plain and simple vase allows the flowers to show and does not attract too much attention to itself.

Each house should contain three usable vases, a bud vase for one blossom, a low broad bowl for a medium sized bouquet, and a piece eight to ten inches high that is large and heavy enough to hold a fairly large bouquet of long stemmed flowers. Perhaps the one used most of all is the wide mouth container of medium height with a wire block for holding stems at any angle desired.

"Take a tip from the Japanese," Miss Reis suggests. "They do not combine flowers cut with even length stems, but arrange bouquets with three definite points of interest. The highest point is placed directly over the base, the second in point of height is placed to the right and a little forward of the center, and the third and lowest point is placed slightly back and to the left of the center. The highest point usually is one and one half times the height of the vase."

Announce Lower Distance Rates

Mr. Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, has made the following statement concerning the September long distance telephone rate reductions.

"The reduction in long distance rates which, on the basis of present business is expected to save the public $7,350,000 annually, is another step in a definite program for better and cheaper long distance telephone service which we have been working on for years. Only some ten years ago it was necessary to hang up the telephone after placing a call and have the operator call you back later after a delay of five or ten minutes or more, and the cost of a day station-to-station call from New York City to San Francisco, for instance, was $16.50. Today, nearly all long distance calls are put through without the person calling hanging up the telephone, and the cost of a telephone call on a week day from New York City to San Francisco is now $7.50, less than half what it was, and is only $4.50 on Sundays and after 7 p. m. in fact, it now costs only $5 on Sundays and after 7 p. m. to make the longest distance call possible within the United States, from East Fort, Maine, to Bay, California, 2,947 airline miles. Along with these improvements and economies, there has been marked improvement in the quality of transmission, the conversation being clearer and freer from noises and interruptions.

"Many things have contributed to the success of this program of better and cheaper long distance service—research and development applied to physical equipment, improved operating technique, earnings that permitted construction of adequate facilities, and above all, the incentive for accomplishment which is the ideal of the thousands of telephone men and women who have each contributed their part to this progress. Obviously, the goal is not yet reached, and we shall continue with every expectation that long distance rates may in time be further reduced, and that whatever shortcomings there may be in the service today will be eliminated so far as humanly possible."

Waiters in Rumania Are Ordered to Shave Heads Bucharest—All waiters must have their heads shaved, states a regulation of the Rumanian ministry of public health. This decree caused considerable excitement among the personnel of restaurants and cafes who consider themselves insulted by the implication that their cleanliness is in question. They have threatened to strike. After long discussions, the union of Rumanian waiters agreed to have that their employers should not force them to wear evening dress, stiff collars and shirts during the hot summer months. A compromise was reached and while the waiters will be obliged to appear with heads as smooth as billiard balls, they will be allowed to wear soft white shirts and collars, light, white jackets and black trousers.

Michigan Home Softball Game

Baseball's little brother, soft ball, is thriving lustily. Born in the Middle West only three years ago, this abridged version of our national game has grown so rapidly that there are now about 60,000 teams and 1,000,000 players throughout the country, with new teams being organized daily. Its national championship—a kind of world's series—was held in Chicago from Sept. 12 to 15, with competing teams representing States, sections and cities.

The game has not yet attracted much interest in the New York area as it has in the Middle West and New England. It is estimated that there are about 300 teams in this region, compared with some 1,200 in Detroit and 5,000 in the State of Michigan—soft ball's greatest stronghold at present. There are perhaps 1,000 lighted diamonds for the game throughout the land.

Metropolitan Teams Yet in many of the public parks, along the beaches and in outlying districts the sport holds forth in the afternoons and far into the evening. What the metropolitan teams lack in numbers they make up in enthusiasm and in picturesque names.

Among the registered teams are Manhattan Flashes, Village Vikings, Demons, Pirates, Comets and many kinds of All Stars. They represent business firms, churches, athletic and social clubs, or merely localities or "gangs." There are girls' teams, teams composed of boys or men, and mixed teams. Despite its name, soft ball is far from a "sissy" game. The ball is not so soft, either. It is harder than the sphere used for indoor baseball, being stuffed tightly with the fiber from the silk-cotton or kapok tree. It measures about 14 inches in circumference—much larger than the ordinary baseball. The bats used cannot be more than two inches thick at any place, and they must be taped at the handle. Otherwise, they might slip out of the batter's hand at the end of his swing and the diamond is so small that the flying club could seriously injure one of the players in the field.

The Equipment Needed The catcher wears a mask to protect himself from foul tips. All the players wear special gloves made with large "pockets" and well padded around the edges. Tennis or basketball shoes take the place of the spiked variety and the uniforms may be anything at all. Many players wear ordinary trousers, with jerseys and special caps on which are emblazoned the team name or initials.

Soft ball makes an especial appeal in crowded cities, where space for a regulation baseball field is at a premium. The bases of the diamond are only sixty feet apart, whereas in the case of baseball the distance is ninety feet. In baseball the pitcher is sixty feet from the catcher, but in soft ball he has to hurl the ball only thirty-five or forty feet to the batter. Tremendous hits, so common in baseball, are lacking in soft ball and therefore the outfield is not so deep.

Bases are so close together that rules have been adopted to prevent easy base-stealing. The runner must remain on the bag until the ball has passed the batter; he is not allowed to take a lead and go down as the pitcher winds up. If he wants to try his speed under this handicap, he may do so, but his chances are not good. He cannot score from third base on a passed ball or wild pitch. The batter is not allowed to bunt; if he tries it, he is automatically out. It would be too easy to drop one in front of the plate and scuttle down to first.

A softball team is composed of ten men, instead of the regulation nine, and the extra player is a sort of roving outfielder. He plays a short left field, back of the short-stop, when a right-handed batter is up, and changes over to right field when the batter hits from the left side. Thus he snares many "Texas leaguers" that would otherwise land safely. Rules for Pitching The pitcher is not allowed to throw the ball as in baseball; he must toss it with a swinging underhand motion, as in bowling or horseshoes. He cannot bend and jerk his arm at the elbow to give the ball speed, as would an underhand or sidearm baseball pitcher. Nevertheless, the ball shoots over the plate quickly and the batter must swing fast.

In other respects soft ball is the same as baseball. An out is three strikes, and four balls give a free ticket to first base. There are umpires and grandstands and bleachers, and the fans seem to enjoy the game as much as baseball. Soft ball is safer than baseball, faster, and a game that takes considerably less time to play. Soft ball is even organized into two leagues, one of which is headed by George H. Siler for many years a big-league baseball star. In the three-day national championships held at Chicago last year 160,000 fans witnessed the contests.

Old Log Trails Belong to Public

Danger of the public losing access to streams and inland lakes in Michigan is pointed out by Prof. P. A. Herbert of the forestry department at Michigan State College.

Future planning, he contends, needs to provide not only for roads to reach such recreation areas, but that such highway right-of-ways need to be considerably wider than they are today and the use of such right-of-ways by utility companies should be definitely restricted. "Since logging days," states Professor Herbert, "people of Michigan and visitors in the state have reached the lakes and streams in northern Michigan along many of the old logging roads. With the increased use of Michigan's recreational resources there is a distinct tendency by land owners to close these roads. Such logging trails that have been used by the public for a great many years cannot legally be closed. It is hoped that those who have used these facilities will take proper legal steps to preserve this right to the public for all time. "The time probably is coming when it will be deemed desirable to have highway right-of-ways 500 feet wide to adequately handle traffic and beautify the roadside and protect the several strips of cement from drifting snow. The present policy of utility companies of erecting pole lines either on or directly adjacent to the narrow right-of-ways of today should be avoided wherever possible. Future widening programs become very expensive if not prohibitive if pole lines must be moved back. Presence of such lines of poles interferes with radio reception in automobiles and otherwise detracts from the pleasure of the highway traveler."

AMERICA GREATEST WIRE SERVICE USER

Number of Telephone Calls and Telegrams in This Country Exceeds Other Nations

Statisticians of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in co-operation with officials of telephone services in other countries, have compiled figures which show that the United States leads all the world in the use of wire communications equipment. The number of telephone conversations in the United States for 1934, the last year for which comparable figures are available, was 24,250,000,000, and the number of telegrams was 180,000,000.

Japanese Made Four Billion Calls
 Japan used the telephone and telegraph to a greater extent than any European country during that year, and holds second place with 4,051,000,000 telephone conversations and 54,571,000 telegrams. Next comes Canada, with 2,298,508,000 telephone conversations and 9,857,000 telegrams.

Germany Has Largest European Total

Germany leads the countries of Europe, with 2,233,596,000 telephone conversations and 17,233,000 telegrams. The system serving Great Britain and Northern Ireland ranks next in number of telephone conversations, and next come Sweden, France, Spain, Denmark and Austria in the order named. In number of telegrams, Great Britain and Northern Ireland have a commanding lead over any European country, with France second, Spain third, and Germany fourth.

In compiling these figures, telephone conversations represent completed local and toll or long distance messages, and telegrams include internal messages and outward international messages.

Lawyer Invokes Biology to Defend Slander Suit

Liberty, Mo.—A slander suit involving an alleged false accusation that a man stole some peacock eggs was dismissed here when the defense lawyer pointed out it was biologically impossible for a peacock to lay eggs.

Therefore it would be impossible for the plaintiff to do what the defendant was charged with having accused him of doing—stealing peacock eggs.

"It's like putting skirts on a man," the defense attorney said.

Gum Causes Wreck
 Chico, Calif.—Trying to open a stick of chewing gum while driving near here, John Nopel lost control of his automobile, and it crashed into a bridge.

The School of Experience
 Experience keeps a dear school; but fools will learn in no other, and scarce even in that, for it is true we may give advice, but we cannot give conduct. However, they will not be counseled that cannot be helped.
