Dry Zero Reports

Delayed Progress

Progress at the Dry Zero corporation plant here is being delayed by the fact that the equipment for the local plant is being made at the Chicago plant and the heavy production schedule and cramped room there will not permit speedy completion of the work, according to plant officials.

The Chicago plant is now on the heavy fall production schedule, and time is lacking to make the added equipment. A force is now at work painting the interior. The earthen bowl in front of the building which was made and landscaped by Campbell Bros., has been cleaned preparatory to be landscaped again.

Must pay Water

Tax Before Oct. 1

Delinquent semi-annual water taxes which were due May 1, must be paid by the end of September or the water will be shut off, according to City Clerk Harry Post. The ruling was made at an unofficial meeting of the city commission that it is felt that enforcement may now be mandatory, in view of improved money conditions that make payment easier. The city has approximately $2,500 due in water taxes, which were legally delinquent a month after May 1.

Flag Raising Music For Event

Maroon Cubs Will Play St. Joseph Reserves Here Today

The maroon clad warriors of the Buchanan high school grid eleven will be seen in action for the first time this year on the new turf gridiron at Athletic Park Friday, when they play the scrappy Watervliet eleven here, the occasion serving as a dedication for the field.

The event will be signaled by a flag raising ceremony with a flag being hoisted on the pole donated by the Lions club last year. The high school band, under the direction of R. R. Robinson, will play stirring martial airs that will both fit the occasion and will also serve to arouse the fighting spirit in the team and the fans. It is desirable that as many of the local public as possible turn out, both to assist in the dedication of the field, and to cheer Coach Miller's proteges to victory in their first home game. The local team played very creditably at St. Joseph—but we will let the official Microphone sport scribe, Chuck Wesner, tell about that: Bucks Open Home Season Sept. 25 With Watervliet (by Chuck Wesner)

Buchanan will be host to the Watervliet football squad Friday afternoon, Sept. 25, at 3 p. m. It will be the Bucks' first home game of the season and they want to start the home season off with a victory.

Buchanan lost their first game to St. Joe but in losing they showed spurs of power in both offense and defense. The Bucks have a fast, scrappy team but were slowed down noticeably at St. Joe because of very wet ground. The coming encounter promises to be a real scrap in the fact that Watervliet has a team of veterans who held the Bucks to a scoreless tie last year. Not much could be learned about Watervliet but it is known that they are in for a real battle and they are out to subdue the Peach Belt gang.

A flag raising ceremony will be held just before the game. The high school band under R. R. Robinson's direction, will stir up the rooters with a selection of martial airs. The Bucks need some sideline support so why not take in that game Friday afternoon.

Buccaneer Reserves Play St. Joe Reserves Sept. 24 Buchanan reserve football squad will play their inaugural game of the '36' season Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. with the St. Joe reserves furnishing the opposition. The contest will be played at the Buchanan Athletic Park.

The second squad usually receives very little attention but they put forth an effort equal to that of their first string mates. Last year they outplayed the St. Joe seconds in every department of the game. Some of the outstanding players of last year's second squad now hold first string berths. Coach Rizor has reported that he has a team of go-getters and that they're going to get St. Joe again this year.

Co-Ops Defeat Monarchs 3-2

Final Contest Ends with Close Game with Crack South Bend Nine

The Buchanan Co-Ops closed the 1936 season with a close 3-2 victory over the crack colored Monarchs of South Bend, Everett Deeds of the Blues and several other stars from outside teams having been imported to strengthen the Portage Prairie boys for the test.

The game was anybody's until the final inning, when the contest ended when what might have been a drive to the score, turned out to be a pop fly and a Monarch runner died on second. The locals scored twice and the South Bend boys once in the first, which terminated the runs until the eighth when the Co-Ops put another run across. In the ninth the Monarchs scored one run, and had another runner on second with two men down, when the said pop fly terminated the game.

Two New Trains Will Stop Here

Buchanan-Niles Mark New Time Division on M. C. R. R. After Sunday, September 27

Passenger train service for Buchanan will be increased Sunday by the addition of two fast trains, No. 34, eastbound at 10:45 a. m. E.S.T., and No. 33, westbound at 2:05 p. m. E.S.T.

No. 34 will provide a fast and through eastbound service at a convenient morning hour. This train does not stop between Michigan City and Buchanan, and stops here only on flag to discharge passengers from Chicago or to pick up passengers from Kalamazoo and points east. It will also carry a coach for Grand Rapids, which will be switched at Kalamazoo for that point. The time actually scheduled on the time tables is 9:45 a. m., since according to a late interstate ruling the division point between the fast and slow or Eastern Standard and Central Standard time areas for the railroads will be between Niles and Buchanan, effective Sunday, Sept. 27.

No. 33, westbound at 2:05 p. m. Eastern Standard or fast, or 1:05 p. m. Central Standard time on the railway schedules, will also be a through train, stopping here on signal to take on passengers for Chicago or to discharge passengers from Kalamazoo and points east.

When the new Interstate Commerce Commission ruling goes into effect Sunday, Sept. 27, all trainmen will be required to have two hour hands on their watches, a gold hand for Eastern Standard Time in addition to the customary black hand, which will register Central Standard Time.

Trains No. 49 which went west at 7:20 a. m. Chicago bound, and Train No. 54 which returned from Chicago in the afternoon arriving here at 5:49 p. m., were both discontinued after Labor Day, being merely a summer passenger service to Chicago and return. They ran only to Kalamazoo.

The event of a lifetime for the average golfer happened to Harry Frew at the Orchard Hills Country Club Monday afternoon, when he made the fifth hole in one. He also played the nine-hole course in 33, which is close to the course record. He was playing at the time with "Swede" Ellison of Niles and Hess, the Orchard Hills pro. The distance approaching the 5th hole is 110 yards and the shot was made with a No. 3 iron.

Farmers Pray

For Late Frost

Late Season Will Mean Good Crop Potatoes; Late Corn Best

With late corn, late potatoes, and the later-ripening tomatoes, hustling along to make up for the drought ravages of the early summer, Buchanan farmers stand to recuperate much of the early season loss if the prophecies of the U. S. department of Agriculture for a late frost and mild winter come true.

The late potato crop will be especially good and there will be no potato famine as far as the Buchanan district is concerned unless an early frost intervenes.

There has been no good tomato-ripening weather since the beginning of the "soup" season on Aug. 18, and the grading down on account of bluish and lack of color has been unusually high. In the past week, however, the ripening conditions have been better and the quality of the harvest higher. There has been less cracked and blemished fruit, better color, and heavier pickings. Another month of fairly sunny weather without killing frost would mean a large tomato crop.

Some Mature Corn In spite of the "bear" talk about the 1936 corn crop, there are some good fields of corn already matured in the Buchanan district now, fine specimens having been brought to the Buchanan Co-Ops headquarters by Charles Postlewaite, Earl Beck and Tony Horner. All of these specimens are from early corn planted on low ground.

In the fields where there was adequate moisture, the hot weather and abundant sunshine of the early midsummer forced the crop along and sped its maturity. In the average farm in the Buchanan district, where the water table is not shallow, the late corn will be much better than the early if the fall is late enough to permit its maturity.

One Way to Be a Good Citizen

There are times—and especially in primaries—when we have gone into a huddle with our secret souls, such as they are, in the solitude of the voting booth and remarked to the said s. s.: "Migosh, if the rest of the people don't know any more about this than we do, God help the country!"

And we have emerged from the voting booth wondering whether we had really confirmed our claim to good citizenship by balloting, or whether we had just wasted a little time and paper.

But we feel sure that there is one act which if performed correctly and at the right time and place is an act of citizenship par excellence and that is the planting of a tree.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the salvation of the very economic basis of our life, the land, depends on an intelligent husbanding of the soil-saving forces, and the greatest of these is trees. Plant a tree, plant it right, at the right time, and when the last shovel full is tramped about the roots, you can straighten up and say to yourself: "Anyway this day I have performed an act of citizenship. I've done something to save my country in a very concrete way."

"You're wasting your time trying to get Buchanan people interested in trees in a general way," said a local man who probably knows more about them than any one in town. "Fifteen years ago I tried to get the city commission interested in properly thinning the trees where they are too thick along the streets. I couldn't get them interested. Since that time the damage to the trees has been continual and progressive."

"But the trouble is that trees are gotten too easily here, and when you get a thing easily you do not respect it. These trees were planted years ago by some one who wanted shade quickly. They probably knew that eventually they would be too thick but thought that they could be thinned. But they never were. Some day, when the damage becomes fully apparent, and a large percent of our trees are ruined, we will appreciate what we had."

The American Gets Acquainted With His Country

What seems to us to be a modern development on the black or asset side of the ledger of American life is the recent tendency of the American to get acquainted with his country, through a judicious combination of those two recent emergencies, the automobile and the vacation.

More mileage was piled up during the past summer by American vacationists than ever before, it is very safe to say, and much of that mileage was devoted to getting wisdom and understanding of the country as well as pursuit of entertainment. The motorists returned telling enthusiastically of historic scenes and historic roads which they had seen and traveled. Localities which possess such points of interest have come to a realization of their value as tourist attractions, and have advertised them. But it has worked out to build up a closer bond between the citizen and his country, based on a more intimate knowledge of the historic past, secured in the most graphic manner possible. Many vacationists in this section of the United States have improved their summer recreation period by becoming acquainted with our northern neighbor, Canada.

Among typical vacations taken by local business men recently is one completed by the past week by A. J. George, including a trip by steamboat down the storied Ohio and Mississippi rivers and a visit in the Old Southwest. Another recently completed by L. Bouws and his family involved a trip to Ontario, north to the Georgian Bay country and back across the Straits of Mackinac, with the famous Canadian nickel country and the residence of

Among the Bible citations is the following (II Sam. 22: 31, 33): "As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a ruler to all them that trust in him. God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 353): "Perfection underlies reality. Football Fans to Match Skill Against "Galloping Ghost"

"Red" Grange, famous "Galloping Ghost" off for a touch-down.

CAN you outsmart "Red" Grange, football hero, famous as the "Galloping Ghost," at forecasting results of football games? Gridiron fans will have an opportunity this fall to match their skill against that of "Red" Grange, in forecasting results of the country's major football battles in a new Sinclair "Red" Grange Football Radio Contest.

Beside pitting their skill against "Red" Grange, entrants in the football-score contest will have an opportunity to qualify for over 120 prizes awarded weekly, including a deluxe Chevrolet, Ford or Plymouth sedan, twenty Public Car Radios, fifty boxes of half-dozen pairs of Real Silk Hosiery and fifty

"Ah me! why may not love and life be one?
Why walk we thus alone, when by our side,
Love, like a visible God, might be our guide?
How would the marts grow noble! and the street,
Worn like a dungeon floor by weary feet,
Seem then a golden courtway of the sun!"

Professorship in Wild Land Use Established at Michigan
Wild land utilization is the field covered by the Charles Lathrop Pack Professorship just established in the University of Michigan School of Forestry and Conservation. The new position represents an expansion of the activities of the George Willis Pack Forestry Foundation, established in 1930 by Charles Lathrop Pack, of Lakewood, New Jersey, in memory of his father who was one of the pioneer settlers and lumbermen in Michigan and at one time a Regent of the University. The Foundation provided "for the promotion of practical forest land management in the broadest sense of the term," and the present grant will be used specifically for research in the basic principles underlying the use of our wild lands.
Lee Roy Schoenmann, at present supervisor of agricultural land classification in the Tennessee Valley Authority, has been named for the post. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, was for eight years director of the Michigan Land Economic Survey, and was in charge of the organization and administration of the State COC forest camps in Michigan.

Funds for the professorship have been furnished as a three-year grant from the Pack Forestry Trust, established by Charles Lathrop Pack, of which his son, Captain Arthur Newton Pack,

Spalding footballs autographed by H. F. Sinclair and "Red" Grange. Entry blanks for each week's contest are available to readers of this newspaper beginning September 12th at all Sinclair service stations, and the scores of each Saturday's games will be displayed at those stations. "Red" Grange, himself announces over the air his own forecasts, the scores of from sixty to a hundred games, and the principal winners in each week's contest which runs throughout the football season.

President of the American Nature Association, is trustee.

The new professorship is another step in the University's general program of research into all phases of scientific land use. It is felt that the University is in a particularly favorable position to study this problem because Michigan is a state in which industry, agriculture, forestry and outdoor recreation are all of major importance and tend to meet at many points of mutual interest and usefulness.

The School of Forestry and Conservation will cooperate actively in this work with the Institute of Public and Social Administration of the Graduate School. This unit has appointed Karl F. Behrens as research assistant to the Committee on Land Utilization, of which Professor W. F. Ramsdell, George Willis Pack Professor of Forest Land Management, is chairman. Mr. Behrens is a graduate of Michigan State College and is at present with the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission, and is especially interested in land economics.

Heat Swells State Death Toll
The enormous toll of lives exacted by the prolonged heat wave in July was brought forcefully home in the final compilation of death rates during that period by the Michigan Department of Health today. Commission C. C. Siemons announced that 956 deaths were directly attributed to excessive heat during that single month, 336 being recorded in Detroit alone. This was a startling contrast with the 25 deaths recorded in July, 1935.

Total deaths for the first seven months of this year, due mainly to excessive heat, jumped 2,472 in excess of the figures for the same period last year, the commissioner said. The total of 33,545 deaths was an increase of eight per cent. If this ratio is continued, it will mean an increase of approximately 4,000 deaths by the end of the year.

Excessive heat was also indicated as the principal factor in boosting the infant deaths during July this year when 375 children under one year of age died, compared with 274 deaths last year. A total of 2,746 infant deaths were recorded up to July 1 this year in contrast to 2,673 in 1935.

Facts About the Telephone

Radio telephone service was recently opened between Manila and Cebu, in the Philippine Islands.

Latest available data show the miles of telephone wire in the world total 155,337,500. Of this wire mileage, 55.58% is in the United States.

The average number of telephone calls over the lines of the Bell Telephone System last year was 61,000,000 daily.

A submarine telephone cable between the Australian mainland and the Island of Tasmania has been completed and opened for service.

Midwest Soaring Meet Boosts Interest In Sport in Mich. Area

Interest in the sport of soaring in West Michigan was given a great impetus by the Midwest Soaring meet which closed in Empire, Mich., September 13, following nine days of activity which attracted thousands of tourists and local people to see the gliders in action.

Although unprecedented fog and off shore winds for the season of the year tended to cut down the activities of the pilots the ten ships and twenty pilots piled up a total of 150 hours in the air. Best flight of the week was for nine hours, thirty-six minutes, made by Udo Fischer of Philadelphia, who learned soaring in Germany. Fischer won the trophy as Midwest Soaring Champion by his flight, which incidentally set a new Michigan record.

Best altitude of the meet was made by Art Schultz, president of the Detroit Glider Council, at 1400 feet. Schultz lost the soaring title by only 2 1/2 points in a close finish that was in doubt until the paragraphs carried by the ships were calibrated.

Ships and pilots were attracted not only from Michigan but from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Much of the success of the meet was due to the cooperation of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association and the people of Empire in offering prize money to be distributed among the pilots on the basis of their performances.

Success of this year's meet, which attracted international recognition among the soaring enthusiasts, has given an early start to plans for next year's meet when another chapter in the exciting drama "Wings over Sleeping Bear" will be written. The soaring site utilizes the steep slope of Sleeping Bear sand dune, the largest travelling dune in the world.

Berrien's Peach Crop Brings Big Returns

Over 600 Carloads of Peaches Sold on Benton Harbor Market Alone in Five Days

The five days from September 7 to September 11, inclusive, marked the greatest trading period on the Benton Harbor fruit market for the year 1936. Market reports give the information that there were about 660 carloads of peaches sold during the five days, at the estimated value of $893,171.10. This does not include the large volume of apples, tomatoes, grapes, pears, plums and other varieties of fruit and vegetables which were sold during those days and would bring the market returns to a much larger figure.

This report states that there were 264,278 packages of peaches sold at a figure estimated at $393,172.10; the number of packages of apples was 52,228, sold at $44,479.90; plums were next in value, bringing $16,978.80 for 15,062 packages; pears followed with 14,151 packages which sold for approximately $16,803.85, and there were 35,232 packages of grapes which brought the growers $5,679.27.

The above volume of peaches sold does not begin to tell the story of the peach harvest in Berrien county last week, for a very large percent of the peaches grown in the county and marketed last week, never passed through the fruit market, but were sold direct from the farms or from the several cooperative packing plants in the county. There are packing plants at Coloma, Millburg, Berrien Centre, Eau Claire, Pearl Grange, Sodus, Stevensville, Bridgman and other points where thousands of bushels were packed each day during the rush of the peach harvest. Many of the larger growers of the county sold their peaches direct from the orchards, thus it will be seen that the figures given by the Benton Harbor market very far short of giving the county credit for the unusually large crop of peaches that has been harvested this year.

Eight Inch Trout In Year by State

Brook trout of exceptionally large average size, some as long as eight inches, were grown this year at Slagle creek trout rearing station south of Cadillac on a canned food made of ground mackerel. Fisheries men of the department of conservation say that the trout at this station averaged better than most other stations in size. The substitute food was used because raw meat products were hard to hold due to lack of refrigeration. At present prices it costs three cents a pound less than raw meat.

Waivae Wassona Hanover
Waivae Wassona Hanover Annis was born April 11, 1883, the daughter of Francis and Sarah Hanover, Galien. She was baptized into Christ in the Englewood Church of Christ, Chicago, in 1904. On Aug. 15, 1916 she was united in marriage to Gilman E. Annis of Bloomington, N. Y., and they made their home at that place four years. Since 1920 she had made her home with her husband near Buchanan, where she passed away Saturday morning, Sept. 12, at 5:30 p. m. at the age of 53 years five months and one day. She was a member of the Portage Prairie Grange; also a regular attendant of the Church of Christ here. Surviving her are her husband, Gilman E. Annis; a sister, Mrs. Venus Bauer of Galien; and one nephew.

Mrs. Annis was blind for the last 12 years of her life. She was a verse writer and contributed a number to the Record. The last verse which she wrote, read at her funeral, was the following:

Father, I come to Thee at the morning light
Asking for guidance of my steps aright;
When I do not know which way to go,
Please, Lord, my way quite plainly show.
For I am dull and nearly blind,
The way sometimes is hard to find.
Show me, oh Lord, which way to climb
For the way is narrow and short of the time.
Before I leave this world behind,
Let me Thy loving favor find.
Show me mercy, teach me grace
That I may have a smiling face
And do each day a deed worth while
To gladden others and bring a smile.
And kindness I to others show
Because Thy love has taught me so.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

The giant elm in the rear of the home of Mrs. W. F. Runner, Moccasin Avenue, believed to be the largest tree in the city, was last brought low last week, having died from unknown causes during the past year.

The rings in the butt of the tree indicated that its age was somewhere between 85 and 100 years, the rings being indistinguishable in a small section. Much interest has been aroused over age of the tree, which was estimated by various people at from 40 to 250 years. Most of the estimates ran from 100 to 150 years. However, the elm is a fast growing tree, and the tree was actually younger than many trees half its size. Had it been a hard maple, or a beech, it would have taken not less than 300 years for it to attain its girth of approximately 13 feet through the length of the main bole or trunk, before the division of the branches.

Perhaps the only trees in the Buchanan community for which there is an exact date are the hard maples which stand in a row along the Portage Road to South Bend, immediately north of the Emory Rough residence. They were planted Oct. 18, 1839, by an uncle of Fred Howe, Francis Howe, we believe. He was the Howe who developed the place now known as the Hall apple farm. The date has been preserved from the fact that they were planted by Howe on his 18th birthday, four years after the arrival of the family from the east, in 1835.

These trees do not bulk a third as large as the old elm, although they are doubtless several years older.

On the A. Neib farm in the Sleepy Hollow district between the Niles-Buchanan road and the St. Joseph river there is a huge walnut tree in the Neib yard measuring 14 feet in circumference a few feet above the ground. The walnut tree, again, is a rapidly growing tree and it is not likely that this tree has a great age. The old oak which is dying at the corner of Oak and Third street is probably much older than any of the trees mentioned. In the corridor of the Chamberlain Museum at Three Oaks there is a section of a hard maple which blew down in the Warren woods, measuring about 3 1/2 feet through, or less than the Moccasin Avenue elm, which nevertheless on the testimony of its own rings is about 335 years old. It was a sapling in the woods when Jamestown was founded by the English in 1607. It was nearly a century and three-quarters old when the Declaration of Independence was penned in 1775.

To return to the giant elm tree, the top was cut out by a force of Indiana & Michigan men, assisted by men on the city street force. A very competent job was done, without damage to the houses over which the giant limbs spread 120 feet. The Indiana & Michigan men stated that it was the largest tree which they had ever handled. Having been dead almost a year, the nearby resident had become apprehensive of damage in the event that a hard wind should blow down the tree. The main trunk was finally sawed down by William Gombosi.

James Luke, 79, Works on Streets 8 Hrs. Day, Makes Fine Flower Garden

Remembers Back To Days of Fire Place Backlogs and Home Spun Shirts.

All summer and into the fall one of the beauty spots on Fourth street has been the cottage and garden of James Luke, 79, who has found time, with the good help of his wife, to keep up a bower of flowers and beautifully bordered walks while working eight hours per day on the city streets.

Mr. Luke will be eighty years old next spring, but he goes to work daily from 4 to 5 a. m., and puts in his eight hours on the city streets. For seventy years of his life he has worked continuously, since he was large enough to reach up to the handles on a single-shovel corn plow. Twenty-three years he has been in the employ of the street department. Through that time he has worked without an illness or lay-off. At one time while in factory work he was laid off for a time when he had a toe cut off. That and when he had measles at the age of 13 have been his only professional acquaintances with doctors.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke have a life experience that reaches back in the old fashioned days. In their cabin homes on the old National Pike just across the Ohio river from Wheeling in Ohio, they had great fire places that accommodated four-foot logs. On each side of the cabin were doors, exactly opposite, through which they pulled the big back logs on sleds. They rolled them off the sleds and back into the fire place, placing the fore-log and the smaller log on fire dogs in front. Mr. Luke wore home spun shirts made by his mother and sisters as a boy. There were three spinning wheels in the family cabin to provide the clothing needs of a family of ten. Life was more co-operative then, Mr. and Mrs. Luke say. It was just one round of "bees" in the fall and winter. They had kraut-making bees, woodcutting bees, corn husking bees, when they gathered at different houses in succession, doing up the work in a hurry and having a good time while doing it. They worked harder but they worried far less than now, for they raised and made about all they ate or used.

"I figure a fellow had better wear out than rust out" said Mr. Luke as he bent over his walk borders of moss rose, petunias and other annuals, after eight hours of manual labor on the streets. "When I was a small boy, the fifth in a family of eight, my father came home sick from the Union Army and died. All we children had to get to work. Then I raised eight children of my own. I and work have always been real well acquainted. But my wife does most of the work on the flowers. You ought to boost her for city park commissioner. She can make them grow."

Culvert Impedes Days Sewer Work

Old Stone Arch Built in 80ies Was Notable Public Improvement

Progress in installing the sewer on Days avenue has been slowed down by the problem of drilling through the stone culvert which houses McCoy's creek under the street there.

This culvert was built in the early eighties, according to the older inhabitants, the builder being Charles Snyder, a Civil War veteran and contractor of stone masonry. The arch at that time was considered the outstanding public improvement made in the town. It was built of Follet stone, the Illinois sandstone which then was popular and may be seen in the stone work of nearly all the older buildings. The contract price was $2,500. A wooden form was used and the arch made in sections. For years after it was completed the old forms laid in the town gravel pit above the switch track on Ryneason street.

Before the days of the arch, front streets and Days avenue were much lower there and were covered by wide, rough plank bridges. When the lumber wagons of the country people rumbled over, the towns people thought it was thundering.

Lurkins Gives Advice on Wheat

The drouth this past summer ruined a great many new seedings. No doubt some of the same fields will be seeded to wheat this fall and to clover again next spring in hopes of getting a catch of clover as well as a good yield of wheat. It should be our aim to grow good wheat and get a catch of clover at the same time, if possible, by liming the soil, if acid, by sowing good seed after it has been well cleaned and well treated.

The removal of smut balls seems to be the most important detail that is being neglected in cleaning. Annual seed treatment is cheap insurance against smut. For a few cents enough copper carbonate or formaldehyde can be purchased, which, if properly applied, will insure a clean crop in regions where soil infestation does not occur. Those who do not treat every year, run the risk of heavy losses.

There are two treatments for stinking smut. First, copper carbonate; second, formaldehyde. Copper carbonate that test 50 to 54% metallic copper requires 2 to 2 1/2 ounces per bushel. Each kernel should be covered. If it tests 18 or 22% use 3 ounces per bushel. Copper carbonate often sets in the drill if left over night. Be careful when you start the drill in the morning. It is well to turn the feed shaft with a wrench to loosen

SIX DECADES OF TELEPHONE HISTORY REVEAL REMARKABLE GROWTH OF THIS VITAL SERVICE

Sixtieth Anniversary of Bell's Invention Finds Telephony World-wide in Extent

This year marks the beginning of the seventh decade of telephone history.

In the six decades that have passed, the telephone has become one of the most important inventions of modern times, the telephone industry has evolved into a $5,000,000,000 enterprise in this country alone, and the telephone itself has become one of the most used and most useful adjuncts of present-day life.

Dates From March 10, 1876 Each of the preceding six decades has been epoch-making. Each has produced some outstanding development in telephone history that has played its part in meeting America's growing communication needs. They are the result of investigation and experiment and scientific research, without which these accomplishments would have been impossible.

The first decade of telephone history began on March 10, 1876, when the first complete and intelligible sentence of speech ever transmitted by wire was spoken by Alexander Graham Bell in his laboratory in Boston. The telephone switchboard was introduced commercially in 1878 and this made possible intercommunication—the essence of modern service. Before the first decade of telephone history was completed, Boston and New York had been connected by an overhead line and it then became possible to talk by telephone a distance of 235 miles.

Development of Cables Was Epochal In the second decade, from 1886 to 1896, as a result of the cumulative effect of improvements and inventions in telephone apparatus and equipment, long distance transmission was extended as far west as Chicago and St. Louis. In this period, underground cable development increased, and in 1887 the successful introduction of twisted pair conductors paved the way for the extensive use of cables. Dry-core paper-insulated cables, first adopted as standard in 1890, also began to play an important part in providing telephone service.

Telephony's third decade, ending in 1906, saw long distance transmission extended still further westward. It also marked the introduction in 1900 of the loading coil, which vastly increased the reach of the telephone and added to its value to telephone subscribers. In 1906, an underground cable ninety miles long was successfully operated between New York and Philadelphia.

Two very important events marked the fourth decade of telephony's history ending in 1916. One was the extension of long distance transmission across the continent, so that in 1915 it became possible to talk between New York and San Francisco, a distance of 3400 miles. This was due in great part to the introduction, in 1913, of the vacuum tube telephone repeater. The other was the carrying out of successful experiments in transatlantic telephony.

During the decade from 1916 to 1926 a deep sea cable was constructed between Florida and Cuba. Successful experiments in ship-to-shore telephone service were made, and transmission of pictures over telephone circuits was introduced. A storm-proof telephone cable was completed between New York and Chicago after seven years of construction work, and many important improvements were made in telephone equipment.

Across Oceans and Around the World In the last decade of telephone history, two-way transatlantic telephone service was made commercially available in 1927, and since then overseas telephone service has increased to such an extent that it now reaches every continent in the world and makes possible interconnection from any Bell System or Bell-connecting telephone with 93% of all the telephones of the world. Teletypewriter service was also introduced in this period, and one of the most dramatic events occurred in 1935 when the first telephone call around the world took place.

At the end of the first decade of telephone history, there were 155,300 telephones in the United States. At the beginning of 1936 this number had increased to 339,500, and in 1906, to 4,126,900. The gain in the thirty years since then has been so great that at the beginning of the present year the number of telephones in the United States was nearly 17,500,000 and the number of telephone employees was 293,000.

Hunters Who Lose License Tags Doomed

Conservation Department To Enforce State Law On Deer Hunters

Lansing, Sept. 26.—The attitude of the department of conservation toward deer hunters who lose their identification tags while in the woods this fall is going to be "stiff-bitted". H. R. Sayre, chief of field administration, said that problems will arise from the new license-tag regulations which will necessarily require strict interpretation and application of the law.

"The hunter who loses his tag will be one of these problems," Sayre stated. "No doubt there will be many of them, unless the tag is securely sewed on so that brush can't take it off. But many hunters will want to change garments; they won't be sewing the tag in the woods, there is only one thing the hunter can do to avoid embarrassment and that is to unload his rifle and quit hunting until a new tag can be obtained. He will be able to get a new tag from the nearest license agent for a fee of 50 cents by surrendering his old deer license and antler tag for new ones. It will not be legal for a hunter to improvise a new tag, even though he uses the correct numerals.

"The conservation officer who finds a hunter in the woods without a tag cannot know whether the tag has been removed purposely or accidentally; he is not supposed to know. He is obliged to make an arrest."

Plans for the annual Color Tours through the Flaming Forests of Michigan, which should be at their height about the middle of October, already are going forward. Newwaygo, first to sponsor a color tour as such, will again center its trip through the rolling country surrounding the Muskegon river valley and will make an attempt to interest more people in making the river trip, by boat from Croton to Newwaygo before the banks of flaming color.

At Cadillac plans are being made to lay out seven color tours so its visitors can stay for a full week and make a different tour each day. Possibly a favorite tour will be to Caberiacs tower, the tall wooden fire tower in the National Forest where the Forestry Service is establishing a park site and from which miles of forest clad hills may be seen.

Manistee also will utilize the National Forest as a high spot in its color tours. Frankfort plans to glorify the Largest Leper Colony. Cullion, the Philippine leper colony, is the largest establishment of its kind in the world.

Leprosy, although incurable for centuries, is the subject of intense study by scientists, and a cure is still being hoped for.

A new and more hopeful era in the 3,000-year-old leprosy problem has been opened up since 1910 by discovery of an improved treatment of at least the earlier stages of the disease. It remains a great scourge, however, recent estimates placing the world's lepers at two or three millions.

The greatest number are in tropical and subtropical Africa and Asia. Leprosy is most prevalent in hot, damp climates and least in very dry areas. It is common in South America, the West Indies, and certain isolated regions of Europe, as well as Asia and Africa. Africa has the greatest number in proportion to population.

DESPERATE LEPERS MURDER SEVEN IN PHILIPPINE ISLES

Soldiers Hunt Six Who Escaped From Colony and Terrorized People.

Manila, P. I. — A pall of terror hung over the island of Palawan, as soldiers and constabulary still searched blindly for six desperate lepers who escaped from the leper colony at Cullion.

The six men, who seized a boat from terrified fishermen, and looted houses on the islands several days ago, to sail hurriedly away when they learned they were being hunted by the authorities, were believed to be knocking about somewhere among the scores of islands that form the southern portion of the great Philippine archipelago.

In their mad dash for freedom from the leper colony, where they were under surveillance, but were not imprisoned, the six killed seven men. After they had left the colony, they embarked on a rampage of robbery, with the natives on whom they preyed, too frightened by their dread disease to capture them.

Their first stop after leaving Palawan was at Aboabo Island, where according to reports to the constabulary headquarters here, they murdered three natives and robbed their huts.

Reports of their depredations after that were few and confusing, due to the lack of communications facilities in the southern islands.

Plans for the annual Color Tours through the Flaming Forests of Michigan, which should be at their height about the middle of October, already are going forward.

Newwaygo, first to sponsor a color tour as such, will again center its trip through the rolling country surrounding the Muskegon river valley and will make an attempt to interest more people in making the river trip, by boat from Croton to Newwaygo before the banks of flaming color.

At Cadillac plans are being made to lay out seven color tours so its visitors can stay for a full week and make a different tour each day. Possibly a favorite tour will be to Caberiacs tower, the tall wooden fire tower in the National Forest where the Forestry Service is establishing a park site and from which miles of forest clad hills may be seen.

Manistee also will utilize the National Forest as a high spot in its color tours. Frankfort plans to glorify the Largest Leper Colony. Cullion, the Philippine leper colony, is the largest establishment of its kind in the world.

Leprosy, although incurable for centuries, is the subject of intense study by scientists, and a cure is still being hoped for.

A new and more hopeful era in the 3,000-year-old leprosy problem has been opened up since 1910 by discovery of an improved treatment of at least the earlier stages of the disease. It remains a great scourge, however, recent estimates placing the world's lepers at two or three millions.

The greatest number are in tropical and subtropical Africa and Asia. Leprosy is most prevalent in hot, damp climates and least in very dry areas. It is common in South America, the West Indies, and certain isolated regions of Europe, as well as Asia and Africa. Africa has the greatest number in proportion to population.

Olympics Started 1453 B. C. Many say the Olympics originated in Greece in 776 B. C., but this was a revival. Some historians fix the date as early as 1453 B. C.

Mother of Ten Children Studies to Be Lawyer

Boston.—Being mother of ten children does not dim the ambition of Mrs. Minna Kapstein, Providence, R. I., to realize her life's ambition to be a lawyer.

In fact, according to Mrs. Kapstein, completing four years of study at Portia Law school is harder work than rearing her large family. She takes her final examinations in June.

During her four years of study at the law school, Mrs. Kapstein, who is thirty-seven, has motored back and forth from Providence to Boston every day. Her nights are given over to her family and her textbooks, and about one hour a day is devoted to her work as editor of the senior year book.

She Wishes to Move; He Won't; She Burns Place

New York.—Mrs. Norma Weldhofer, dissatisfied housewife, walked into the police station recently and announced that she had just set fire to her home. Fire apparatus was passing and two policemen trailed it. The second floor of a frame dwelling was ablaze.

Mrs. Weldhofer lived on the second floor of that house with her husband and two small daughters. She wanted to stay. She sent the children out, poured kerosene over the furniture and set fire to it, she told police.

"I think my husband will move now," she observed as she was arraigned on a charge of arson.

Heat Speeds Life Processes Heat speeds up life processes; cold slows them down. It has been found that animals that hibernate have a special defense mechanism against germs.

Opinion Not Worth While Only rarely is it worth what it costs to tell a man what we think of him.

Serving Two Life Terms He Asks Pardon on One

Topeka, Kan.—Chester Morris, who is serving two life terms in the state penitentiary, is tired of serving his first sentence and has asked the governor to pardon him from it so he can begin serving the second term.

This request has Judge A. G. Poulks, pardon and parole attorney, in a quandary. Under state law a convict cannot begin serving a second term until he is legally released from his first sentence.

Morris has sent word to the governor that the reason for commutation of his first sentence is that he did not expect to live to serve out his first term and he did not believe it fair for a man to be serving two life sentences at the same time.

The prisoner is in a hurry to start serving his second life term sentence and hopes he will be pardoned from the first crime.

LIVING COSTS ARE SOARING

DON'T BLAME YOUR BAKER because Bread is UP on Stilts

REPRESENTATIVE SAMUEL PETTINGILL of Indiana, in a radio address, has dramatically illustrated what a small item in the family budget is the cost of electricity. He said, "The cold fact is that the increase in the cost of food alone—not the cost but the increase in the cost—in the past two years has been five times the total cost of light and power in the American home." Bread is up 24% and the average increase in cost of a single pound of butter since April, 1933, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce, amounts to 8 cents. Not the price of butter, but the increase in price is approximately equal to the average daily cost of electricity for a whole family served by this company.

"Border Flight" Despite the fact that aerial thrills of every sort are packed into the picture, including spectacular crashes, a dangerous "dog-fight" above the clouds, and a pancake landing at high speed, no one was injured during filming of "Border Flight," exciting air tale of adventure in the U. S. Coast Guard air corps. The picture opens here Friday.

"Little Miss Nobody" Jane Withers returns to the lovable harum-scarum type of role that first brought her screen fame in "Little Miss Nobody," Fox hit which shows locally Friday and Saturday. The story of "Little Miss Nobody"—who incidentally turns out to be quite a somebody after all—is concerned with a mischievous orphan whose antics and pranks are the bane, and at the same time the joy of the orphan asylum's heads.

"Poor Little Rich Girl" It's always an event when Shirley Temple comes to town, but according to advance reports, when "The Poor Little Rich Girl," the tiny star's new Fox hit, opens Sunday for three days at the Hollywood Theatre, it will be something in a way of a celebration, an epoch, a new milestone in entertainment.

George Brent Starred George Brent, dynamic Irish hero of a score of hits, is co-starring with Madeleine Carroll, English screen favorite, in her first American-made picture, "The Case Against Mrs. Ames." The film, a Walter Wanger production, opens Wednesday. A story as close to life as yesterday's headlines, centered about a woman's fight to clear her name of murder and to keep the custody of her six-year-old child, is the basis of the story.

George Brent Starred (Continued) Caught in a net of circumstantial evidence when her California millionaire and socialite husband is found murdered, Mrs. Ames is brought to trial. The mother-in-law who despises her, retains an attorney for her defense. In a dramatic court scene, however, Mrs. Ames disregards the advice of her counsel and appeals directly to the jury.

FREEDOM PROMISED TO "TIGER WOMAN" Clara Phillips, Hammer Slayer, Gets Good News. Los Angeles, Calif.—Freedom, barring another "indiscretion" such as the penning of a fervid missive of love to a fellow prisoner, is in sight at last for America's fiercest, most tempestuous "Tiger Woman."

Vet Carries 34 Pieces of Shrapnel in Body Washington.—Although he carried 34 pieces of shrapnel in his body, Dean Stanley Reynolds lost a suit to force payment of $10,000 war risk insurance because the government charged he was able to make a living. Reynolds waged a three day fight in District Supreme court to recover the money lost after his policy lapsed in 1919. He claimed total and permanent disability.

Wounded at the battle of Solis, Reynolds introduced in evidence X-ray pictures which showed 34 pieces of shrapnel lodged in his body. He told the court he had undergone three operations for removal of shrapnel since his return from France. However, Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea, government counsel, charged that Reynolds was capable of earning a living despite his injuries. Besides receiving $70 a month from the government, Shea testified, the veteran, as a shoe cutter, earned $16,000 in eight years. The jury returned the dismissal verdict in 40 minutes.

Hens Cleaning Feet on Mat Increase Profits Sallmas, Calif.—Hens that wipe their feet on a door mat have hoosted the egg profit of F. A. Hoddinot, Prunedale poultry man. Clean-shelled eggs bring better prices, so Hoddinot developed a concrete floor mat with rollers on it. The mat slants upward to the henhouse entrance. When hens climb the mat the rollers turn under their feet. In their frantic peddling to keep their balance they muddy feet mark up the eggs and Hoddinot estimates the door mat saves him $1,500 a year, which he has been paying pickers to clean the eggs.

New Haven Cat Adopts Family of White Rats New Haven, Conn.—About the same time Andy Kovach drowned a litter of kittens belonging to his pet maltess cat, Tabby, his two white rats ushered a family into the world. Tabby, stricken with maternal jealousy, immediately annexed the seven little rats and banished them as if they were her own.

News of Buchanan Schools
Collected and Edited By Members of the Student Body

Editorial

(Max Beadle)
"Live to learn and learn to live" is a good motto for the student body to accept. Learning takes in not only school work, but school spirit, honesty, and character building. Learning is the storing of information in your brain and not on a piece of paper sometimes hidden up the sleeve on examination day. One cannot gain anything by copying or cheating.

Doubtless you have been told many times not to cheat. If you cheat, even if your conscience doesn't bother you, your lack of knowledge will, in later years. Look forward to learning, grasp it, and profit from it by living a better life.

Library Gossip

(Charles Wesner)
A meeting of the librarians and their assistants was held in the library during home room period Sept. 15. A library club was organized at that time. Officers were elected. They are president, Chuck Wesner; vice-president, Mildred Miller; and secretary-treasurer, Maxine Shaffer.

It was decided to have meetings the first and third Mondays of each month.

Librarians this year are: Charles Brinton, Mildred Miller, Chuck Wesner, Virginia Lomahaugh, and Ben Harvel. Assistant are: Elaine Blaney, Winston Sands, Robert Fairman, Mary Cripe, Jimmy King, Maxine Shaffer, and Bill Ednie.

A few rules on the maintaining of the library are:

1. No books or magazines may be checked in or out between periods.
2. Six students from the study hall are permitted in the library at the same time.
3. Assistants will keep the library open until 4:15.
4. No report cards if fines are not paid.

NOTICE TO GIRLS—G. A. A.
(Evelyn Proud)
To all girls that are interested in joining the Girls' Athletic Association, it will be necessary to report for the various practices of the year, including soccer, now in progress.

For the benefit of the girls who know nothing of this association, here is a brief explanation about it. To join this association you must have five hundred points. To obtain these points you must participate in girls' sports. If you get on a first team you will receive one hundred points, and for second team, fifty points. To qualify for those teams you must first have so many practices in five sports. There are, on the average, five sports a year.

After joining the Association, I am sure you will enjoy it because the Club goes on hikes, winter roasts, and there are several banquets during the year.

Miss Henry, Physical Ed. teacher, is at the head, but officers are chosen from the group.

The G. A. A. will begin activities this year by selling candy at the first football game Sept. 25.

Soccer practice for those who are earning points for G. A. A. was begun a week ago. The annual game between the two highest ranking teams of Niles and Buchanan will be played later in the season.

OPEN DOORS FOR B. H. S.

(Mabel Bennett)
The great event of events, the things most looked forward to, the one thing that is always remembered in the hearts of hundreds has come, and alas! gone. The first day of school! Old and new faces have again reunited for nine months of hard work and achievement.

The students first met in the auditorium for a program which consisted of songs sung by the students and directed by Mr. Robinson. Mr. Moore introduced Miss Judith Bulla who fills the vacancy left by Miss Hanlin in the English department; Miss Orpha McNeil who fills a position created this summer for seventh and eighth English and social studies; and Mr. Claude Carter who teaches eighth grade science and Chemistry. After a rousing high school song the students then adjourned to their classes for the coming year.

GREATER UNIVERSITY TOURS

(Geraldine McGowan)
Mrs. Dunbar reports a very interesting trip this summer through the western state. The group was organized at Dallas Texas where they attended the Centennial Exposition. The group going to the west visited practically all the western National Parks, and crossed eighteen states. Mexico and Canada were interesting side trips. She visited many unusual but unadvertised places such as: a lava cave in Oregon. There are 25,000 square miles of lava fields in Oregon. Other places of interest were: Crater Lake, National Park; Snow Tunnel; Wenatchee; Washington, heart of the apple district. They rode on a tractor through a fifty foot road a mile and a half up a mountain to visit a gold mine. The party threw snowballs at each other at an elevation of 10,000 feet in Wyoming.

A number of professors accompanied them on this trip. The group had classes from seven to nine in the morning before they started on their journey to study the geography of the country.

Miss Genevieve Carnagan accompanied Mrs. Dunbar on the trip.

REAL CHEFS

(Keith Dalrymple)
Girls ahoy! Here's a real chance to pick an ideal husband. This offer requires no matrimonial correspondence course whatsoever. We know you must be anxious so will let you in on our simple road to sweet, happy, and contented married life. The answer is found in room No. 5, lower hall of old B. H. S., the boys general foods class.

In viewing this room of prospective young grooms we find four kettles in a corner still sticky and containing the contents of supposed candy, but in reality it's sugar. Still glancing about the room, the eye wanders to a waste basket. Here evidence leads us to believe that some one might have gone to sleep while hash was frying, as the pans are now large holed sieves.

What's this? This is indeed a laugh. Over in one corner are other victims, not utensils this time but genuine chefs. Among them are "Doggie" Luke, red-headed flash from varsity five, who reports that he cut his finger badly, while trying to slice hot butter. "Gus" Jerue says he scalded his dainty feet when some half-burned, half-boiled water accidentally splashed on them. Art Trapp says his arm was damaged when he tried to help Luke cut the butter. There are also scores of others, not to forget "Toad" Smith's burned tongue, which was blistered while carrying out his job as official sampler. We could go on like this forever, but we'll let you go down and visit the class for the rest of your information. Seeing is believing!

State News

To Fight Amendments
With the primaries out of the way the various interests are turning to the November election, which this year will be held on the third. Although a formal program has not been laid out as yet, tentative plans for fighting the proposed amendments to the state constitution have been made.

The two which are to be particularly fought involve a proposal to do away with the sales tax on staple food stuffs and to abolish all property tax even for local purposes.

Last week the Michigan industrial conference met in Lansing. This consists of representatives of farming, educational, financial and industrial interests. They all went on record as being bitterly opposed to both proposals. They felt that both the schools and highways would be imperiled by such movements. It is generally recognized that the counties must have more money from some source to properly take care of the roads taken over from the townships under the McNitt Act. Many townships were spending from $200 to $300 per mile for road repair and maintenance. Now they have less than seventy for the same job.

This means that nearly $8,000,000 more will have to be found in the roads are to be kept up as well as before. This must come either from the sales tax or the property levy.

The governor favors still, more aid to many of the local school districts. This means that more money will be necessary to meet the situation. This can only come from the sales tax and liquor revenues. To take out all taxes on food stuffs would seriously decrease the income, is the view of those who are fighting the plan.

Clark L. Brody of the Michigan Farm Bureau was particularly outspoken on the situation. He showed that farmers would be hurt very materially by such actions.

One would reduce outside income and the other would block the only other source from which the deficit could come.

M. E. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission and president of the state supervisors association, said that he believed that every supervisor in the state would oppose the property tax amendment and that most of them would oppose the other.

Mr. McPherson is planning to call a meeting of his executive committee within a few days. They will then formulate plans and these will be discussed and passed upon by the full conference at another meeting to be held soon.

It is expected that all the powerful influences which are primarily interested in education will unite on the drive.

School Heads Call For Better School Houses

The superintendents' section of the Michigan Education Association at the closing session of its conference today laid the responsibility for housing Michigan school children at the door of the state.

The superintendents held that "building deterioration, obsolescence of present plants, changed curriculum and heavy bonded indebtedness because of past growth, and virtual suspension of school construction during economic depression, present an acute housing situation for the school children of the state.

Provision for housing the children of Michigan is now an obligation of the state because constitutional amendment make local action and relief virtually impossible."

Oppose Amendments

The educators voiced their opposition to the proposed amendment to the state constitution which would eliminate the real estate tax, reorganize county government and eliminate the sales tax on food because "they would remove 60 per cent of the present revenue for schools."

The removal of the office of state superintendent of public instruction from a political status and its establishment on a "professional basis" also was demanded.
