Faculty Thespians to Face Footlights in "The Youngest" Friday

Edgar Doyle Is Killed at Galien

Now Here's the Proposition

Super-Fluity
He was a super-salesman with a bold and roving eye
He had a super-thingumbob, he knew I ought to buy
He set the thing up on the floor and made it do its stunts
And then he grasped me by the arm and said: "Now buy at once,
For all too soon the chance will pass—this is an hour of fate.
The price goes up tonight at six—you have no time to wait;
Don't fool around, go ask advice; don't sit around and think
But take this super-fountain pen and sign right here in ink.
The hour I saw you was for you an hour of super-luck.
Right now it sells for seven bits, tomorrow sixteen bucks!"
I listened to his super-talk, until I'd heard him through Whereon I rose, my heart was glad, I knew right what to do.
I did not wait or fool around but while the iron was hot
I landed on his super-bean a great big super-swat.
With one swift yank I snatched his neck and threw his head away
Whereon I donned my hobbled boots and stomped him where he lay.
And then I ambled gaily on and left him on the floor;
His offer may expire at six—he did some time before.

To Hold Scout Dist. Rallies

60 Troops with Membership of 1,600 Boys to Participate in Contests

During the past week there have been leaders' roundtables in the following District centers: Dowagiac, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, and Niles. The leaders in each of these cities decided that a rally would pep up their troops, and create greater enthusiasm among the boys.
Recognizing that the patrol system is the most vital part of the Scout organization, the rallies were designed so as to build patrol spirit and enthusiasm. All of the contests require a team consisting of a regular patrol of 8 boys. During the weeks to come each troop's program will be vitalized by inter patrol contests to decide which will represent the troop in each of the different events of the District Rally.
The first aid event will be in the nature of a problem covering practical first aid. Only general rudimentary such as triangular bandages, safety pins, and perhaps a roller bandage will be needed. The knots required for the tenderfoot rank are the only ones which will be used in the knot relay. The signaling team may use either the Morse code or semaphore. The compass team will need to know the points of the compass.
The rally in Benton Harbor, which will be under the supervision of Mr. Bierman, will include Riverside, Coloma, Watervliet and Millburg.
The rally in St. Joseph, headed by Mr. Single, will include Bridgman, Baroda, Berrien Springs, Berrien Center, and Eau Claire.
The rally in Dowagiac, directed by Mr. James Lewis, will include all of Cass County.
The rally in Niles will be in charge of Mr. M. Brenner.
Three Oaks, New Troy, New Buffalo, and the surrounding territory are expecting to make similar plans.
This together with the Air Derby launches a program of activities that surpasses the programs of recent years.

Fred Koenigshof Breaks Potato Record With Average 415 Per Acre

Dayton Farmer Has Two Crops Spuds and Boys, Both Run Ten to the Hill

What is believed to be a record for potato production in southwestern Michigan was registered on the Fred Koenigshof farm near Dayton in a field of 18.2 measured acres which went 415 bushels to the acre, a total yield of 7,550 bushels.
For the past two weeks an army of diggers, from 12 to 17, worked daily, rolling out the golden brown tubers, first by hand fork and then as the weather permitted with a digger. The potatoes are late Petoskeys, and the field run is excellent, almost entirely No. 1 potatoes. The great potato storage cellar, accommodating 6,500 bushels, was filled to capacity and another smaller storage cellar was filled.
Koenigshof states that this is the best per acre yield he has ever had. Since he is recognized as the most skillful potato raiser in south Berrien county, it is likely that the field has not been surpassed on a yield as large. Koenigshof's previous high mark was 350 bushels to the acre.
The potatoes will be largely trucked to Chicago, Indianapolis and other nearby midwest cities where the market seems best. If the crop is sold at the present price of $1 per bushel, it will mean a yield in dollars per acre equivalent to the yield in bushels or $400 per acre. There is a field which has deserved a long rest.
In fact, though, it had just had a long rest, which is one reason why it did so well. For the two years previous the field was pastured, the first year in clover, the next in timothy. The year before that it was in barley, and the year before that, four years ago, 'n potatoes. That is typical of the rotation on the Koenigshof farm. The field was plowed early last spring. Normally the field would have been cultivated several times before planting but because of the drought it was cultivated only once and weeded twice. An application of 250 pounds per acre of 4-20-4-12 fertilizer was made.
The excellent methods were reinforced by favorable growing conditions, the late rains coming just at the right time to spur the growth of the tubers to the limit.
But just in case Fred Koenigshof gets too chesty, it might be noted that most of the work was done by his three sons, farming with him, Carl, Harold, and Richard. The fact is that Koenigshof has two crop specialties, potatoes and boys and his results in the second specialty are even better than in the first. He seems to have solved both how to raise potatoes and how to keep boys on the farm. Another son, Robert, is the local management of Buchanan Co-Op, Inc.

Play Curtain Raiser at Berrien Springs; Miller Shapes Squad of Ten

(By Chuck Wesner)
Approximately 45 net hopefuls reported for their initial practice of the ensuing season last Monday evening, with an opening game at Berrien Springs Wednesday night, Nov. 25, as the immediate spur to action.
Coach Miller will carry only ten men on his first string. His this years squad will be fundamentally sound, will be stronger physically, and will contain speed and experience. There will also be more competition on the squad this year and some veterans will undoubtedly be benched. The Bucks will be handicapped by a lack of practice before their first game at Berrien Springs.
This year the Bucks will be in class "B" where the going will be much tougher. The squad has an air of over-confidence which is rather detrimental at the beginning of the season.
Virgil, Jesse, Simpson, Letier, Luke, Smith, Stevens, and Trapp will be given berths on the first squad and the remaining berths will be filled from Oak, Donley, Jerue, or Beck. Regulars back for the second squad are Wesner, Weaver, Dalrymple, and Rauch. Promising prospects are Hiney, M. Trapp, Topash, Habicht, Hanover, Schultz, Canfield, Penwell, Hamilton, and Morris.
The schedule will be somewhat changed for the Bucks this year when they meet Stevensville and New Carlisle instead of St. Augustine of Kalamazoo and New Buffalo.

Death Struck Twice in the Buchanan and adjacent area in the past five days through the automobile and the risks which attend them, the first victim being Mrs. Isabelle Wallace, Dowagiac, who was killed in an accident near the Colvin school Sunday morning, and the second Edgar Doyle, killed Tuesday morning on the fatal Michigan Central crossing a block west of the Main street of Galien, where Peter Smith was killed a year before.

Mrs. Wallace met her death when a car driven by Raymond Gregory of Buchanan failed to negotiate the curve just east of the Colvin school house on the Main street road four miles north of Buchanan, about 3 a. m. Sunday. The car turned over several times and struck the bank of a graded ditch on the east side of the curve. Mrs. Wallace and R. C. Allen of Buchanan were in the back seat. Mrs. Wallace incurred a fractured skull, a pelvic fracture, broken ribs, and internal injuries which resulted in her death at Pawating hospital four hours later.

The other occupants of the car, Raymond Gregory of Buchanan, and Miss Kathleen Hills of Dowagiac, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Doyle killed at Death Crossing
Edgar Doyle, 53, janitor of the Galien schools, was apparently hurrying to build the morning fires in the school building at 4 a. m. Tuesday when he found the crossing on the main Galien street blocked by a slow east-bound freight. He turned a block west to get around the end of it, and his Plymouth car was hit by the engine of a fast west-bound freight, which demolished the car and killed him instantly.

On the night of Halloween, October 30, 1935, Peter Smith of the Mt. Tabor district was killed by the westbound Twilight limited passenger train at the same crossing.

Doyle is survived by his wife, Mae, by two sons, Lytle and Lee, both at home; by his mother, Mrs. Alice Bremer, Galien; by a sister, Mrs. Ernest James, Galien; by a brother, Robert Doyle, New Carlisle, Ind.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car. Headlamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Extra space is in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Center-Poise Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels—top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

Astaire and Rogers Liberal With Dances In "Swing Time"

"Swing Time" the new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musical, coming to the Hollywood Theatre, is more generous to those who eagerly wait for the nimble-footed pair to present the latest word in team dancing than any of their previous features.

They danced once as a team in "Flying Down to Rio," swirling to "Caroco." They let themselves go in two dances together in "The Gay Divorcee" and "Roberta." They matched footwork in three dances in both "Top Hat" and "Follow the Fleet."

Now they may be seen in four distinctive numbers set to the rhythms of "The Way You Look Tonight," "Never Gonna Dance," and "Pick Yourself Up," and the "Waltz in Swing Time," all by Jerome Kern, who scored this RKO Radio picture.

Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Eric Blore, Betty Furness and Georges Metaxa top the support. George Stevens directed the Pandro S. Berman production.

Featured in Warner Bros. lead-riddled expose of the gang-wars of the imprisoned Public Enemies coming Friday and Saturday is June Travis who plays the role of secretary to a notorious racketeer. Others in the cast are Craig Reynolds, Barton MacLane, Richard Purcell and Addison Richards.

An old story twist in which a girl ranch owner is forced to steal her own herd of valuable horses in order to save them from a band of rustlers is one of the unique features of the punch-filled Zane Grey picture, "The Arizona Raiders," which is on the Friday and Saturday double feature program.

The awakening of China's teeming millions to battle against age-old oppression is the basis of a thrilling romance of intrigue and adventure, "The General Died at Dawn," which opens on Wednesday.

With Gary Cooper as a dashing soldier-of-fortune who links his fate with the oppressed, and with beautiful Madeleine Carroll as the woman whose charms are used by a scheming war-lord to destroy him, "The General Died at Dawn" was based on factual background. Enmeshed in the web she helped to prepare, Miss Carroll finds her admiration for her victim blooming into love. She offers her life in return for his freedom. But their destinies are worked out as they could be only in the modern war-torn Orient.

The Name "Laconic"
The name "Laconic" came from the Spartan manner of curt speech. A Spartan was called a Lacon from the name of his country, Laconia.

Combine Harvests Soy Bean Crop

Buchanan Co-Ops have had a force in the fields around Buchanan in the past week combining soy beans. Many of the farmers harvested their soy bean crop as hay, early in the fall and most of it was spoiled by the rains. The few that left their crops for the beans were better off, although the yields were small, running 8 to 10 bushels per acre. Among the farms where the Co-op combine has been working are those of Ollie York, Arthur Eisele and John Dale on Portage Prairie; Claude Scholte of Niles, and Walter Copeland, Carl Enders, John Showheart and Ed Jesswein.

Return 44,000 A. To Wild In Allegan Co.

Michigan is witnessing in Allegan county the exemplification of one of the newest ideas in land utilization. As if transplanted from the oak and jackpine plains of north central Michigan, an expanse of idle, semi-wild and wild forest land is "going back" to a wild condition with the deliberate help of conservation-land specialists after years of unsuccessful use for agriculture.

Conservation department workers here, who have been collaborating in the game management aspects, are watching the project with increasing interest.

Approximately 44,000 acres of sub-marginal agricultural land—land not generally suited to successful farming—have been acquired by the federal resettlement administration. The farmers from whom the land was purchased have been moved elsewhere and the tract is being developed for use as a public recreational area—the use for which it is believed best suited.

The production and maintenance of wildlife, not only to be utilized as game but for visitors to see, is receiving close attention. Under the direction of F. J. Hodge, wildlife technician, about 200 men are employed in various types of wildlife development work. Through Dr. Glenn W. Bradt, farm-game specialist and others the department of conservation is co-operating in various aspects of the development work.

A system of dikes has been constructed to control water levels on some 2,500 acres of marsh land, once a breeding and resting place for ducks and geese, but later ruined for this purpose by artificial drainage. Although the dikes have been completed but a short time, large flocks of ducks and geese have already made use of the newly flooded ponds.

Extensive plantings of aquatic vegetation suitable for duck foods have been made and another year should find a good population of ducks breeding in the flooded area.

Upland game also is receiving attention, Dr. Bradt says. During the spring and early summer of the current year, approximately 130 food patches totalling 105 acres were planted. The largest food patch comprised about five acres and the smallest about a half-acre. Food patches were planted in small groups adjacent to good cover, the whole unit being considered as one large food patch. Some of the patches were planted to a single crop, such as corn; others sowed to a mixture of plants.

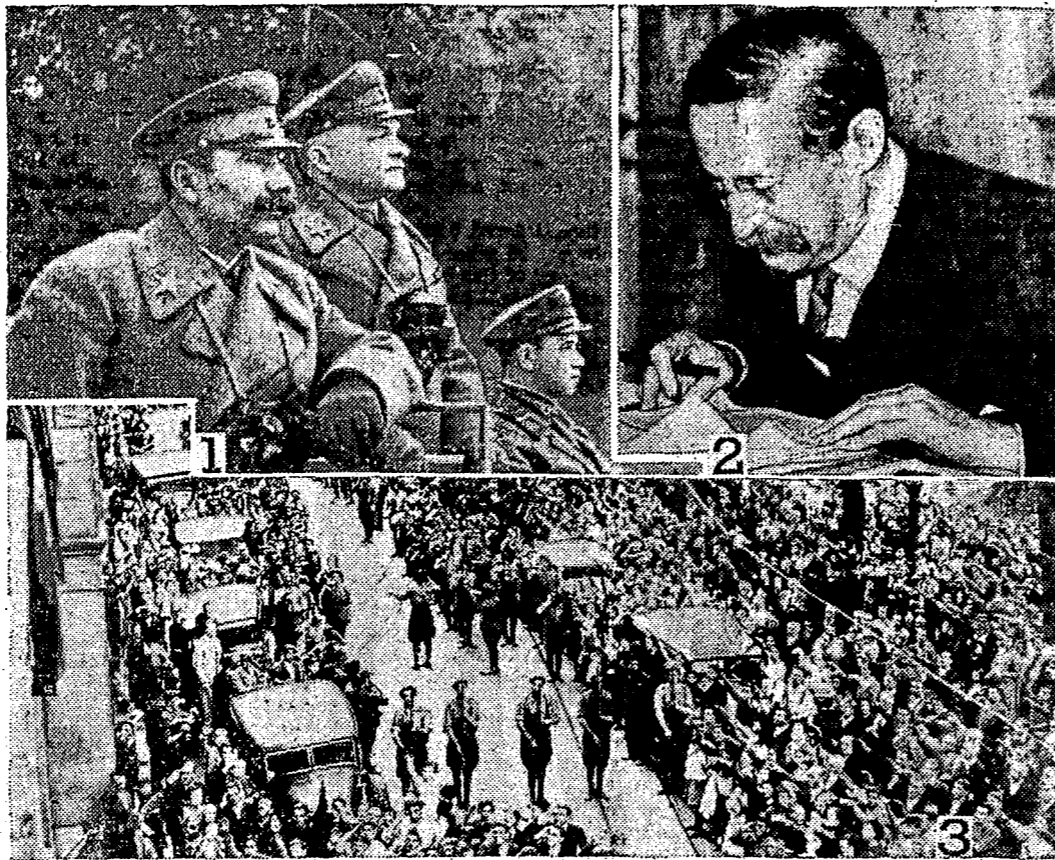

During the current fall, 115 acres have been planted to rye and vetch. None of these food patches has been less than three acres, nor more than 10 acres in extent.

Census work is being carried on over many parts of the area to find out present game populations and in order to determine the effects of the development work on these populations.

A herd of deer, estimated to number between 350 and 500, roams the Allegan project area. Since this portion of the state is not open to deer hunting the expected increase in this herd may prove a vexing problem to authorities interested in and in charge of the project in the near future, Bradt says. The herd is the largest in the southern half of the lower peninsula and both the deer and the area itself, located in a region under intensive farm and fruit growing, have become natural curiosities.

Progress is being made on the construction of a large fish-rearing pond and on stream improvement work. Contrary to customary procedure during the development of wildlife projects, neither hunting nor fishing is prohibited during the legal open seasons on the Allegan project, except in certain, designated refuge areas. Viewed objectively the resettlement program in Allegan county is a laboratory for various experimental conservation land projects. It is attracting wide attention.

As a part of the government's reforestation program Will Whitaker set out three acres to trees on Sept. 17 and 18, planting 1,000 red pine and 3,000 Norway spruce. Whitaker receives $5 per acre bonus from the federal government for setting the trees, which about pays for the trees. He secured the trees from Michigan State College, paying $3 per thousand for the spruce and $4 per thousand for the red pine. The trees were seedlings, advertised to be from 2 to 4 inches high, but many were actually 8 to 10 inches high. Whitaker plowed a furrow to plant the trees, setting them about 5 feet apart each way. They were planted on steep, hilly land that had shown a tendency to wash when cropped. The spruce will be sold for Christmas trees in six to 8 years. In excess of 90 per cent survived the transplanting, and the returns from the crop should be more satisfactory than from the usual crop if they continue to thrive.

Bittern's Plumage
The bittern's plumage is a wonderful example of camouflage. If the male is disturbed while booming to his mates, he stands perfectly still in the reeds and points his long neck directly upwards. The markings on his breast and other parts of his body resemble the reeds.

Public Buys 1,000 Car Permits Daily

Sale of motor vehicle license plates for 1937 is proceeding at the rate of slightly more than 1,000 pairs a day, Department of State figures show.

These figures include plates for all classes of motor vehicles, including passenger cars, dealers' cars, commercial vehicles and motorcycles.

Plates for 1937 went on sale Oct. 21, so ordered by Orville E. Atwood Secretary, as an aid to car manufacturers who bring new models out in the fall now, rather than during mid-winter. Plates for which revenue was actually checked into the Department of State for the first 19 days of sale, including Nov. 12, showed that 21,388 pairs of plates had been sold throughout the state.

Any disposition on the part of the public to defer purchase of plates for cars they now own, is seen as a reflection of uncertainty as to what changes the 1937 legislature might make in the motor vehicle law as it pertains to the deadline for annual plate purchases.

Atwood has publicly recommended a March 31 deadline; and on request of Leon D. Case, Secretary of State-elect, Atwood has announced a 30 day extension from Jan. 1, making the prospective deadline Jan. 31. In the meantime the 1937 legislature may take action on this matter.

Maybe This Isn't News

Shortly before Mrs. Alice Tourje left for Glendale, Calif., two weeks ago to make her home permanently with her son, Carl, we called at her place a few minutes. Mrs. Tourje, friendly to all, got out a dish of old maple syrup, a sort of refreshment.

It seems that 37 years before, when she and her family were living in the old Chamberlain residence on the opposite corner (now being dolled up like anything by the present owner, Clara Sabin) her two young sons took it in their heads they wanted to make maple sugar. So they bored holes in the hard maple trees in front of the house, and gathered the sap, which Mrs. Tourje boiled down for them. It was placed in a jar to be opened on some future special occasion. But one of the little boys died after that and Mrs. Tourje could never bear to open it. Finally just before she left for California, she decided that it should be opened and used.

So we and others had the pleasure of tasting it. It was delicious syrup, as fine at least as the day it was made.

Charles Smith of the Wolverine Garden Smiths of Glendora is a man who believes in taking care of things.

The other day we dropped into Charley's place with the idea that he could give us a tip where there were several old wagons of the Rough Wagon works make said to exist in the vicinity of Glendora, over 50 years old.

Charley looked at us and said "I can tell you where there is a wagon older than that. Just come here."

We followed him into a fruit closet which seemed like a funny place to keep a wagon. Charley started climbing up the shelves. Crash went a fruit jar.

"Better call it off," we warned, expecting a fury of petticoats to descend any minute. "We don't want to get you in trouble."

"You ain't getting me in any trouble," said Smith, still climbing. "Here it is, there are three fruit jars in front of it, if I can just get it out." Crash! crash! crash! Whattaman!

And there was Smith's wagon, a little two-wheel cart he had played with when a boy about 65 years ago. Charley says he is 70 but looks 80. The wagon is also remarkably well preserved. Then he showed us a hand-made sled that he said Tommy Lewin had made for him 80 years ago. The day he went after it Ira Boyle, who now lives near Buchanan, went with him. The day he is 75 they are going to ride it double.

Then he also showed us an old wooden box in which he had packed all his school readers, the Sanders series. He showed us an old green primer.

"That's the book I went to school with 65 years ago," he said, "Sam Fletcher went with me. I can tell you a story about that book. The teacher I went to when I studied it was Belle Royce Babcock, who still lives at New Troy. Last summer she was at the Hills Corners school reunion. I took the book with me, thinking I would frame a deal on Sam Fletcher, slip in the desk where he sat and then complain that he had my seat."

But when I sat down, there was my first teacher just a few seats ahead. Well, they called on her to talk and when she got through I asked her if she knew who I was. "She scrouged around in her seat and looked at me and said, 'You used to be the boy that I called my little Charlie; I can remember the first day you came to school. You walked up to my desk and handed me a little primer.'" "Would you remember that book if you saw it," I asked. "I think I would," she said. So I walked up and handed her the book, as I had 65 years before. "Would you call that a coincidence, or wouldn't you?" "It wouldn't happen again in a thousand years, we told Mr. Smith.

General Assembly

Armistice Day was observed in Buchanan High School with an assembly held at 11 o'clock. Promptly at 11 o'clock the firing squad fired a volley of shots, and the assembly stood in silence for thirty seconds in honor of our soldier dead.

Reverend Rice of the Methodist Episcopal Church offered prayer. Rev. Wanzel Brunelle of the First Presbyterian Church gave a very inspiring talk condemning war and those who profit by it.

The program was closed by the singing of the National anthem.

A short pep meeting was held Friday morning for the game which was played Saturday at Kalamazoo.

Has Essay Printed In "Scholastic"

Another member of Mrs. Velma Dunbar's English classes has scored an entry in the "Scholastic" national high school magazine, in the person of Miss Virginia Wright, last year's editor of the Microphone. Her essay, entitled "Fermented Thoughts," is herewith produced:

Fermented Thoughts
 "Knock, knock!"
 "Who's there?" came a muffled voice.
 "Tim."
 "Tim Who?"
 "Tim to get up—remember school starts today."
 "Yep," came the answer stifled by a yawn, and "huh" thought the occupant of the bed as he punched his pillow and cocked himself on one elbow and finally crawled out of bed. Yawning and stretching he began to dress. Shaking his head thoughtfully he began:

"Vacation's all over. Heck, and mine was just beginning. It seems only yesterday that I saw that major-league baseball game. Gee, how that ball did fly—it sailed just like a kite on a windy day! Humph! I'll never forget that airplane ride either. I can feel that sensation right now." He closed his eyes to make it more real.

"We sure had fun," he grunted, as he stopped over to tie his shoe lace, "up in the North woods camping, fishing, swimming"—his thoughts were interrupted by a snap. "Hang it all, why don't they put zippers on shoes instead of laces!" He continued muttering while he put on his tie. "All gone," he said between his teeth. "Nine months in school where teachers ask you questions. I can see myself reading some masterpiece such as (miming across to his mirror, he bowed and with a "con-torted face and soprano voice began): "She is a winsome wee thing; She is a handsome wee thing; This wee, wee, wife of mine."

The word "phooey" flew out of his mouth, the handbrush flew out of his hands back onto the dresser, and with a swoop he gathered his strewn clothes and after a quarter of a second's thought threw them under the bed. In two strides he was at the door. It opened and shut—bang! This, my friends, is the result of fermented thoughts of vacation days.
