The Lucky Stiff
Ed Teeters was a bozo who was always feeling pains. There was something ays the matter with his tummy or his brains. He used to babble endlessly to all his suffering friends. Of the miseries that inhabited his middle or his ends; He worried while he breakfasted and while he supped and lunched. So while he chewed his provender he felt around and punched; He ate pills by the bushel and took physic by the crock. And every time he felt a pain he hollered for the doc. When'er he felt a shooting pain he worried very much. Over rheumatics, sciatica and patorias, and such; He worried o'er diphtheria, delirium and mumps. Over rickets, meningitis, apoplexy and the thumps; Till he bought a dozen drug stores every time he came to town. But he dodged the whole caboodle when a big truck ran him down.

Maroons Defeat Dowagiac 18-15

Nose Out Big 5 Conference
Leaders in Last Period
Rush

(Chuck Wesner)
Although handicapped by playing their second tough battle in a week the Buck hoopers turned in a 18 to 15 victory over Dowagiac's Big "5" conference leaders last Friday evening.

Leiter, Buck forward, started the evening's scoring with three timely goals while Luke, his running mate, dropped in a lone tally. The Bucks' defense was so stiff that the Indians were unable to register a single point.

Buchanan continued to hold the lead until the opening minutes of the final canto when they topped the Bucks 13 to 12. Luke and Leiter again came through at the crucial moment with sorely needed baskets. Virgil dropped in a pair of charity tosses and the game was in the bag for the Bucks.

Leiter was the high scorer of the struggle, dipping through the Chiefs' defense for eight markers; Squires, Indian forward, kept the Chiefs in the running with his total of seven goals.

The Maroon reserves kept up their fast pace in turning in a 25 to 6 decision over the Papooses, Chief scrubs. In defeating the Papooses they increased their point aggregate to 244 to 141 points for the opposition. Considering the competition they've faced, a 103 point advantage in eight games is something.

Score by quarters:
Buchanan 8 13 6—18
Dowagiac 0 7 4—15
Referee: Dutt (St. Joe), Timer: Miller, Scorer: Wesner.

Clubs, Firms Aid in Drive

Funds Sent Nightly to Admiral Grayson, Washington, D. C.

Anyone who has not contributed more to the Red Cross drive for funds and other aid for flood victims is hereby reminded ed. or who is interested in con- that the drive remains open, that cans may be found in many stores marked for the funds, and that Mrs. J. C. Strayer, who is the local chairman, will be glad to receive additional funds at her home or at Dr. Strayer's office.

Mrs. Strayer reports that the response from clubs, firms, and individuals has been very gratifying and that total receipts paid to the Red Cross here totaled $800.32 yesterday morning. A number of organizations had sent their funds through WLS and other channels which makes it impossible to state the community's actual contribution, but it is believed that the total would run well over $1,000.

The funds are sent each night to Admiral Cary Grayson, Washington, D. C., the Gallien-Buchanan State Bank furnishing their forwarding facilities free of charge. Mrs. Strayer stated that it will be impossible to write to all contributors whose names are known, and many donors have been anonymous. The task of thanking all would add to the already burdensome work of those who are handling relief, and it is believed that the many who have so generously given of their money and other resources will not expect to be personally thanked.

A check was received from Sam Rakowsky for $50. Organizations, firms and clubs which gave as a group were the Clark officials and office employees, the Ind. & Mich. employees, the Buchanan schools, a number of rural schools, the College Club, the American Legion and Auxiliary, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, the postoffice, the Odd Fellows, the Gallien-Buchanan State Bank, the Hollywood theatre, the Teachers Club, the Montague Motor company, the Lions club, the Chevrolet Motor company.

It had been suggested that each school child give at least a penny to the fund. The total contribution of the local schools was $66.12, or an average of five cents per child.

Hold Back Clothing
A special message from Admiral Grayson asks that those who have food or clothing supplies to give hold them temporarily until warehouse accommodations can be secured. These supplies will be needed later.

Child Conservation League

The Jane Addams Chapter of the Child Conservation League met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Rizor. Mrs. Herbert Huebner read three papers on "A Sense of Justice as The Foundation of All The Virtues," "Application of Law of Justice to Acquisition and Use of Money," "Play The Game According to the Rules—An Epitome of Life's Training." The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Alice Ludwig. Mrs. Earl Derflinger and Mrs. H. Swank will be in charge of the Welfare Room above Treat's grocery from 2 until 4 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Mack Widmoyer will be in charge of the Story Hour at the Deway Avenue school from 9:30 a. m. until 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

Former Resident

Writes of Flood

Mrs. Cora O'Hara, better known here as Cora Imhoff, former resident and cousin of Frank Imhoff, writes that she was forced from her home in Mound City by flood Sunday, Jan. 24, and is now with her brother, George Imhoff, at Blueford, Ill.

Editor National Sorority Annual

The Record Print shop is issuing this week the 1936-37 edition of "The Tattler," the annual published by and in the interests of the national Beta Gamma Upsilon sorority.

Mrs. Marie Dempsey of the Record force is the editor of the national publication for the current year and it is needless to add that the publication will compare most favorably with the 29 previous annuals. The publication is to be ready for distribution at the 30th annual convention to be held at the Drake hotel, Chicago, February 12-13. The delegates from the local chapter will be Mrs. Kenneth Blake and Mrs. Vernal Shreve.

Mrs. Dempsey attended a tea given by the Grand President for the national officers at Whiting, Ind., Sunday afternoon.

When Will We Have That Skating Rink

There has been much grief in the past week on the part of most of the youngsters and some of the oldsters from the fact that the city tennis courts have not been flooded for ice skating. Weeks ago the Niles courts were flooded and there have been several weeks this winter in which conditions were favorable for skating on a shallow rink. Conditions for the past week have been almost ideal.

Mgr. Pickle Co.

Alleck Lindquist has resigned as district manager for the Standard Brands, Inc., over 10 stations, and is to be succeeded by Maurice Andrews of Howe, Ind.

Gamble Moves to Office Over Bank

Dr. Kenneth Gamble, is moving his office today to the quarters over the Gallien-Buchanan State Bank formerly occupied, by the late Dr. Snowden. He moved his household goods and family yesterday to 206 Chippewa street.

World Day Prayer Observed Feb. 12

Annual World Day of Prayer will be observed Friday, Feb. 12, at the Church of Christ with special services at 2:30 p. m., as an occasion for prayer for missionary work all over the world. Committees of the various churches will be in charge. All interested are invited to attend.

Start Annual Drive For Girl Scout Fund

The Girl Scout Council of Buchanan is making its financial drive this month, with Mrs. Harold Stark as chairman of the financial committee, assisted by fourteen women.

Will Rogers At Hollywood Tonight

"State Fair," with that beloved character, Will Rogers, is playing at the Hollywood theatre this evening for the last time. This picture, which had been previously advertised as being sponsored by the St. Anthony's church, is being shown by the manager, Mr. Hoffman, as the ladies decided to wait until after Lent before sponsoring a benefit show.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eisenhart received word yesterday that a baby boy had been born to their daughter, Mrs. John A. Schram, nee Cecilia Eisenhart, at the St. Joseph city hospital. Mrs. Schram was Miss Buchanan also the Blossom Queen of 1930, and made her home here before her marriage to Dr. John A. Schram.

Dry-Zero Insulation Brings Many Coast Fruits, Vegetables to Buchanan

Coast Freezes Make Fresh
Vegetables Dearer; Eggs
Continue Under Normal Price

Although prices for fresh vegetables are up slightly in the past two weeks because of freezes in California, the supply continues as one of the outstanding features of present day grocery service.

The emergence of Texas as a supply of vegetables softens the blow of the coast freezes.

"In a few years you will see Texas as the big supply for winter vegetables and citrus fruits," said a local grocerman, "the Texas country has been coming to the front by leaps and bounds. Some people do not like Texas citrus fruits as well as Florida but they have the credit of propagating the pink grape fruit."

Each week there comes to Buchanan iceed baskets of vegetables from Texas. The spinach from that source comes on the market as fresh and crisp as though the merchant had just picked it from a garden behind his store.

The secret of this is modern refrigeration. A main contributor is the Dry-Zero Corporation whose product is used for the insulation of a large part of the new refrigerator cars now bringing coast and southwestern fruits and vegetables east by fast freight. The Dry-Zero insulation is used in many of the great refrigerator trucks owned by the big milk and meat companies.

AAA Egg Reminds of NRA Chicken

Mrs. Charles Dodge brought a Rhode Island Red egg to the Record office yesterday which takes prize for the past year at least. The egg was 8 1/2 inches in circumference the long way, and 6 1/2 the other way. It was 3 1/2 inches long and weighed 4 ounces, or at the rate of four to a pound. The average Grade A egg runs eight to a pound. Mrs. Dodge states that her hens are known as Triple A Rhode Island Reds, which makes it an AAA egg. Which also makes it unconstitutional.

Swordfish On Market

Here's a food novelty that will be sold in Buchanan during current week-end—swordfish. No doubt you though, as we did, that a swordfish was a lean and athletic fish that would likely make rather tough eating. Our mistake. It is said to be one of the most tender and delicious of all fish, and reasonable in price. It is, of course, an ocean fish, preserved by the modern quick-freezing process that preserves fish in its pristine firmness and flavor, the equivalent of fresh fish. Here is what you do with swordfish:

Arrange the steak on a greased broiler rack or in a baking pan placed on the broiler rack. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with melted butter, fat or oil. Place broiler rack two inches below broiler heat and broil in broiler oven which has been preheated ten minutes. Broil until tender and juicy on one side, then turn and broil until done, allowing fifteen to twenty minutes, depending upon the thickness of the steak. Serve with Lemon Juice or Tartar Sauce, and you have a meal fit for a king.

Sandwich Towers

Sandwich towers, made of alternating layers of round sliced white and brown bread in graduated sizes, are among the latest culinary concoctions. Between the layers of bread are placed such fillings as peanut butter, cottage cheese, jam, preserves and jelly.

Friends and neighbors, we are again coming to you over Station MGS (Modern Grocery Service) to tell you that one of the big things in the food picture still is the presence on the market of the nation's biggest grape fruit crop in history, now and for some weeks yet being sold at prices which give the public advantage of the immense production.

In other words—get this—the crop is not being handled on the basis of the economics of scarcity, that is, of destroying part of the crop to keep the price up. The retailers and the retailers have organized to handle the great crop as economically as possible, so that people may get the fruit cheaper than ever and may avail themselves of the opportunity by breaking consumption records.

You might be surprised how many people right here in Buchanan in the past have never eaten grape fruit on account of the price. An investigation of citrus fruit consumption among 1,000 sampled families in the cities of Baltimore and St. Louis showed that in the former city 150 families out of 1,012 and in the second city 202 families out of 1,017 visited had never used grapefruit.

Grapefruit consumption in the United States rose gradually increased over 400% from 1919-20 to 1934-35, the figures being a national annual per capita consumption in 1919-20 of 2.4 grapefruit, and of 10.3 in 1934-35.

It is the plan of the retailers to break all sales records during the year 1936-37, raising the national consumption average.

Vegetables particularly affected are cauliflower, lettuce, peas, carrots, broccoli and celery. Shipments of California cauliflower, which up to the time of the freeze had increased 34 per cent over last year, have slowed down considerably.

Injury to the Imperial Valley iceberg lettuce crop is estimated at from 50 to 75 per cent and is expected to result in a shortage during February and March.

Peas were badly damaged both in California and Mexico. Although carrots and broccoli were frostbitten and shipments will be reduced in consequence through February and March, damage was not severe enough to cause a market shortage.

Cheap Eggs Continue

Cheap eggs and poultry still loom large in the current food picture—it's a sort of a vicious circle. Eggs are cheap because the hens are laying too many, and poultry meat is cheap because the farmers are killing off the hens because eggs are so cheap. Local poultrymen are threatening to get rid of their flocks as a losing proposition as the low price of eggs is away out of line with the high price of poultry feed.

"Last June our poultry feed was running about $1.75 per cwt.," said Mrs. Marvin Uhl, Gallien, who keeps about 1,000 hens in a modern poultry plant. "Now we pay a dollar more a hundred. We have just been about breaking even from the fact that my husband works in Chicago and takes the eggs in with him each week, getting a few cents more per dozen than we could get locally. But our hens are laying well. Just let them drop any below the present rate and we will be losing."

The slump in eggs came about 60 days early this year, on account of the mild winter which boosted the productivity of hens almost to the summer level. Normally hens lay about 45% of their annual output in March, April and May. Farmers expect a drop in March. But now eggs are cheap because they lay so many, but they have to lay a lot because eggs are so cheap—so what? If all the poultrymen who are threatening their flocks with the ax strike at once there will be still cheaper poultry on the market.

A cold February will doubtless bring the price of eggs up materially. Fresh eggs bought now will keep for a month in a cool room. Here's a way to help yourself and help the farmer.

Harvey Sherwood, former Buchanan man and a graduate of Buchanan high school who still maintains the old farm home at Bakertown, is conducting a course known as the "Collector's Club" in a series of fifty courses conducted by the Kalamazoo public evening schools. The course is for all hobbyists and for those who love to collect. Displays are made and discussions are held. The course is occasionally varied by lectures by specialists in some lines of collecting.

Mrs. John Lister Dies in Los Angeles

Word was received the first of the week by Mrs. Frank Imhoff from Mrs. Mary DeVan, nee Mary Imhoff, that Mrs. John Lister died in Los Angeles Jan. 29, and the funeral was held there Feb. 1, with burial in Englewood cemetery, in that city. Mrs. Lister will be remembered by many here as Nettie Carothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Carothers. She had been in ill health some time.

Legionnaires Back From Flood

Take Food to Scottsburg and Clothing to New Albany on Ohio River

Arthur Johnston and Barney O'Brien returned the first of the week from a trip with the Legion truck load of supplies to the flood districts.

Johnston reported that they were required to take the food to Scottsburg, Ind., a distributing point for relief food about 45 miles from the Ohio River. They then went on with the clothing to New Albany which is on the Ohio river. This place was still flooded when they arrived, although it was not as hard hit as Jeffersonville and other towns. Johnston and O'Brien were given a boat and a guide and rowed about through the business section, viewing the ruined stocks of many stores, the waters having subsided about five feet. This was the first time that New Albany had ever been flooded. It was too high for the flood of 1884, which attained a height of 56 feet there, but the recent flood went 11 feet higher.

The Legion authorities at New Albany told Johnston that the Buchanan truck load was the first in which the contents of boxes were all marked on the outside, which greatly aided in distribution. They stated that there was practically no disease or epidemic at New Albany which could be ascribed to the flood.

New Dry Cleaning Plant Opens Here

The Modern Dry Cleaners, a new local business establishment was opened this morning by Geo. (Stub) Boyce and Gilbert (Bud) Leach at 109 Main street, in the quarters formerly occupied by the Batchelor Radio store.

Mr. Boyce is very well known in Buchanan, having made this his home until about three years ago when he went to Berrien Springs. He was graduated from the local high school where he led in athletics and other activities, and his many friends here wish him well in his new business.

Mr. Leach is an experienced press man and was formerly with the Modern Dry Cleaners of St. Joseph.

They have installed a Hoffman steam press and are prepared to give their customers a one-day dry cleaning service. They will also handle local Western Union Telegraph service.

Revivals On At Bethlehem Temple

Revival services are now in progress at Bethlehem Temple, at 111 West Chicago street, where audiences are nightly enjoying the soul-stirring messages of Evangelist Tommy Stevens from Herrin, Ill. If you miss this revival you are missing a real Bible feast. Little Joyce sings nightly and Mrs. Stevens contributes special music. Rev. Charles Taylor of South Bend will be with us at the Friday services. Services open nightly at 7:30 p. m.

Pastor, Gladys Dick.

Curtain Raiser Opens 7:30 P. M.

Varsity to Clash in Revenge
Tilt at 8:30 P. M.

By Chuck Wesner
Facing one of the two teams who have previously defeated her charts Buchanan's highly rated basketball slinging quintet will invade the Niles high school field house for a double header between the first and second string of the opposing institutions. The curtain raiser starts at 7:30 sharp.

Coach Chet Davidson, Niles pedagogue, has been drilling his squad of eagers since way into history with the main idea of winning basketball tilts and beating the Buchananites. This season the Reds seem to hold the sword over the Bucks heads in the fact that they turned in a hard fought victory over them in the second battle of the season. The Nilesites do not boast an all veteran team but have a mixing of juniors and seniors composing the unit some of whom have had their share of experience. The Davidsons have not the record to boast about that their rivals do.

Coach Johnny Miller of Buchanan, has his squad tuned to their highest pitch of the year and as far as shape is concerned the Maroons should be in top form. The Bucks put up a fine battle on their home floor but in the last half they missed an even dozen out of fourteen attempts from the black line. To insure against anything occurring like that again the practice session each evening includes a specified number of attempts and a certain number of the attempts must be made before the play begins.

The two teams employ a varied type of offense and defense. The Big Reds will probably shift from a zone defense to a man to man because of the size of the Niles court and the speed of the Maroons.

Called to Chicago to Attend Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Forburger and son, Harold, were in Chicago Wednesday where they attended the funeral services for Mrs. Forburger's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Kollenberg, 87. While the family was attending the services the home was burglarized and many valuable items taken, however the housekeeper arrived home while the burglars were in the apartment, and scared them away before they had completed their job.

Lifelong Record Subscriber Renew's

Mrs. Dell Kempton of the Hills Corners district paid a visit to the Record office Saturday morning, subscribing to the Record after an interval of two years.

Until about two years ago when we could not afford it the Record had been in our family for more years than I am old—every since the paper started," Mrs. Kempton said, "I like it and I am sorry we ever dropped it."

How About Raising a Few Acres of Sugar Beets?

What farmers raise is to some extent conditioned by the nature of their soil, but Michigan farmers who have the right kind of lands for beets are receiving an urgent invitation this year to consider a sugar beet acreage.

There is probably a larger percentage of first class sugar beet land in the Galien and Glendora district than in the more rolling lands nearer Buchanan and the muck lowlands of those sections seem more adapted than the Fox loams of Portage Prairie. The talking point of beets is that the farmer contracts them for a certain price, and his only problem is to raise the beets.

On the basis of data compiled by the Farm Management Department of Michigan State College, covering a period of five years, 1931 to 1935 inclusive, it appears that sugar beets brought the farmers the highest gross return of any of the major farm crops grown in the state. For example, Alfalfa Hay brought an average gross return per acre of $17.85; Wheat, $17.55; Oats, $13.20; Barley, $13.96; Corn, $19.98; White Pea Beans, $18.13, while sugar beets brought an average return of $60.42, per acre.

While it is true that the production costs of sugar beets were greater than those of the other crops named it should be remembered that the net cash return, above production costs, was materially greater than in the case of the other crops. Further, the relatively high gross return from sugar beets proves that sugar beets have a greater "community" value than other crops. In short, the production costs of beets resulted in a great distribution of new wealth in the respective communities, thus increasing the purchasing power of the farmers, laborers, merchants and other business men in the community.

WHAT BUCHANAN MIGHT DO FOR ITS LIBRARY

Every now and then some one raises a query as to why Buchanan does not have a modern library.

They point out sometimes that towns much smaller than Buchanan have very good libraries housed in beautiful buildings. There is Berrien Springs, for instance, and Three Oaks and New Carlisle. Usually if you look over the main entrances of these libraries you will see the word "Carnegie" inscribed. In the case of Three Oaks it is the name "Chamberlain." In every case, it seems, the building at least was built by private philanthropy. It is a chapter in the past of Buchanan that the town passed up its chance to secure a Carnegie library building and the opportunity is no more available.

If Buchanan ever gets a library it is likely that it will have to be built and equipped from the pockets of the taxpayers. The question consequently arises whether the expenditure which the establishment of a good library would require would be justified. Automobiles are now practically universal and those who wish library facilities may get them at Niles for a small annual fee.

The structure housing the Niles Library was built by the Carnegie Foundation over 20 years ago at a cost of $15,000. It houses a library of 13,000 volumes, which, figured in terms of replacement cost, would be worth not less than $15,000, a total valuation of $30,000. According to figures furnished by the Niles librarian, the investment in reference books alone, allowing for the discounts given the library, total $872.65. Selecting from the list only the reference books which have the most constant use, the cost totals $263.80. Of this $129 is for The New International Encyclopedia. It seems that if the town is to maintain any sort of library at all that there should be at least a nucleus of reference books, costing perhaps not over $150. As things now are, unless a resident can maintain a reference library of his own he must go to a neighboring town to verify the simplest fact.

Perhaps the most feasible thing for Buchanan to attempt, if anything at all is to be done, would be to maintain a somewhat better equipped reading room, with a few current magazines and a small reference library. The time is coming when the matter of supervision of a reading room for a limited number of hours at least will be no problem. Eventually it is likely that this local community will assume more and more the support of the elderly who are without means. Like it or not, unless the picture changes, this is a measure we will not escape. Already a number of elderly people who are receiving money from the federal government are assigned to work around the schools. The number doubtless includes those who would be capable of supervision of a reading room during evening hours.

In the interests of such a reading room, the present library could very likely be reduced to about half its current size, since a great part of the books are antiquated and sadly outdated. We would risk a guess that from 50 to 75 of the books in the old library are not opened from one year to another. The library does include some classics which are good book property as long as they hold together. This list might as well be weeded out and one stack of shelves removed. In fact all the books worth keeping could be placed in wall shelves, and the space, thus created used for the installation of reading tables.

We doubt whether the city would be justified in spending $30,000 or half of $30,000 in establishing an up-to-date library worthy of the name. But in the case of a reading room with a good selection of magazines and a nucleus of reference books, the main cost would be maintenance and supervision.

WANTED—A BUCHANAN FRUIT MARKET

There is an opportunity, in the opinion of informed local people, for the establishment of a small fruit market in Buchanan that would also represent considerable advantage to nearby fruit growers and to the town as well.

Local growers now have to haul their product to the Benton Harbor market, a total round trip of about 50 miles. If they could haul to a market here, the trucks would come and buy at Benton Harbor figure. It would afford a service to local farmers and would consequently tend to increase the importance of Buchanan as a farm trading point. It might also tend to encourage a larger fruit acreage here. It has long been a query with fruit men as to why there is not more fruit grown in the southern part of the county, when the soil here is equally or better adapted to the culture of small fruit and is not infected to the same extent with fruit diseases as in the fruit belt proper.

Increased interest has already been manifested in the formation of the South Berrien Horticultural Society, organized at New Troy January 22.

Plans were made for a series of meetings at which some of the best known authorities in the state will lecture and give demonstrations.

The officers elected were: President, Andrew Feathers, Baroda; vice-president, Paul Hellenaga, Three Oaks; secretary-treasurer, K. V. Washburn, Buchanan.

A program committee composed of the Smith-Hughes teachers from each high school in the district, and a grower from each community to work with the teacher, was named.

P. J. Jenema, teacher of New Troy, and L. A. Boyd, well known New Troy apple grower, will have charge of the next meeting, tentatively set for February 12. At that time one of the Michigan State college experts on pruning will address the new organization.

Three Oaks Trampled By Maroons 36-14

(Chuck Wesner)

Coach Lawrence Heckathorne's quintet was handed their worst defeat of the season by Buchanan's victory greedy basketballers a week ago Tuesday evening when the Bucks invaded the Acorn's woodlot and more than doubled the count by rolling up a 36 to 14 count.

The Bucks jumped into the lead in the first stanza 11 to 2. In the second they doubled the score of the initial period, compiling enough points to have won the contest, while tying up the Acorns and holding them to four points.

The final half was just a repeat of the first with the Maroons on top with fourteen tallies to their opponents eight.

The Maroon Bees got off to a slow start but put on a spurt in the last half to coast to a 26 to 16 victory. Rauch garnered eight markers for the Bees and Ritzler bagged two fielders to lead the losers.

Virgil was the high scorer of the evening with five buckets and a pair of gift tosses. Ed Drier, Oak's center, zipped up seven points for his evening's labors.

Score by quarters:
Buchanan 11 11 3 11—36
Three Oaks 2 4 4 4—14
Referee: Knuth (St. Joe),
Timer: Murdock, Scorer: Wesner.

State Still Offers Supply Cheap Trees

Because of the large number of requests for young pine trees from the state forest nursery at Higgins Lake, forestry authorities here announce that the available stock for public distribution has been reduced to Norway and Jackpine seedlings.

A limited supply of these is still available for use in private forestry plantings by public institutions and sportsmen's groups. Orders will be accepted for 500 plants or more at a charge of $5 a thousand for Norway and $2 a thousand for Jackpine.

Power of the Emerald: The Emerald, so the ancient Hindus insisted, would frighten serpents and render their poison innocuous. It was said to cure fits and toothache if held on the face. It was supposed to bring lovers together after an estrangement.

When You Skid

Skidding is not only dangerous, but unnecessary. Engineers assert that, no matter what the road conditions, you can avoid skidding if you are careful.

Most drivers lay the fault for skidding on ice or snow or wet or oily roads, or on loose gravel, or on the other motor car driver who "did not stop in time." But if the road conditions are bad, or traffic is congested, slow down to a cautious pace, and there will be no occasion for skidding.

Tires are now made to grip the road much better than they used to. Chains are useful, too, but even chains will not keep you from skidding if you drive rashly. Keep the brakes equalized and they will not help to throw you into a skid.

Answers to Banking Questions

What Obligations Does My Bank Have to Me?

Your bank is obligated to:—
Safeguard your deposited funds, with all possible diligence, from the dangers of fire, theft and forgery.

Make your money available to you when you want it.
Cash your checks upon the order of your signature when presented by yourself or other duly authorized persons.

Return to you accurate statements of your account with cancelled checks, which are legal receipts for expenditures.

Your bank is able to meet these obligations through honesty and skill in management which renders its services worthy of your support and the confidence of the entire community.

Selenium

Selenium is a poisonous, non-metallic element fatal to live stock when contained in plants in as small proportion as ten parts per million.

AT THE THEATRE

Every Kind of Dance Done In "Born to Dance"

"Born To Dance," which comes to the Hollywood Theatre Sunday for three days, is hailed as the season's most lavish pot-pourri of music and dancing. Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer the vehicle presents the dynamic Eleanor Powell as its star and just about runs the entire gamut of rhythm. In all there are more than 250 dancers and more than 200 instrumentalists and singers in this new production with music and lyrics by Cole Porter, for several seasons Broadway's number one tunesmith and lyricist.

"15 Maiden Lane" presents Claire Trevor and Cesar Romero in a clash of vivid personalities set in the world famous jewel center. Produced by Executive Producer Sol M. Wurtzel for Twentieth Century-Fox, the film, directed by Allan Dwan, is a thrilling story of an almost impossible diamond theft, and starts Wednesday at the Hollywood. Also on the Wednesday and Thursday program "Craig's Wife" with John Boles and Rosalind Russell.

DRY-ZERO INSULATION BRINGS COAST FRUITS

"You can get better meats in the markets of Buchanan for less money than in Chicago, or that has been my experience," said a Buchanan housewife, who used to live in the Windy City, "I don't understand it either. They say that the smaller town markets go to Chicago for the greater part of their meat. Yet they bring it out here and sell it cheaper than they do in Chicago."

The Most Economical Vegetables
Home economists of the United States Department of Agriculture have learned that onions, tomatoes, young carrots and snap beans are the most economical vegetables in that the waste involved in preparing them for cooking is small. These products lose less than 10 per cent. This compares with 10 to 20 per cent of waste in potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips, cabbage, cauliflower, egg plant, broccoli and squash. There is a 20 per cent waste in spinach when the stems are used 40 per cent when stems are not used.

Of asparagus, 42 per cent is wasted; kale, 50 per cent; lima beans (in pods), 58 per cent; peas (in pods), 62 per cent; corn, 75 per cent.

Cooking tests show that to conserve calcium and phosphorus such vegetables as spinach, kale, chard, beet greens and beets should be either steamed or boiled in small quantities of water.

The Food Dollar
The U. S. Dept. of Labor has recommended that the food dollar be spent in this proportion: Milk or its equivalent, 25 to 30 cents; vegetables and fruits, 25 to 30 cents; eggs, lean meat and fish, 10 cents; bread, flour and cereals, 20 cents; fats, sugar and accessories, 20 cents.

The Story of Butter
Butter is one of the very best sources of vitamin A. A horseman who galloped across an Asian plain one day thousands of years ago is said to have discovered butter. According to the story as it has come down to us, the horseman had with him a goatskin filled with sour milk. The journey was long and rough, the day was moderately hot. When he reached his destination and dismounted, seeking to appease hunger and thirst, the horseman was bewildered to find something other than milk in his goatskin.

With some trepidation, for the acts of the gods were often mysterious in those days, he tasted the yellow mass. And then he tasted it again, for it was good. He told other herdsmen. It was not long before the tribe was making butter, hanging up the goatskins filled with sour milk and beating them with sticks or shaking them until the golden mass appeared.

A "Leftover" Potato Salad
Here's another of those "leftover" recipes. Mrs. P. W. W. of Albany, New York, concocts a mighty good potato salad out of those boiled potatoes that somehow always manage to be around. 2 cups cold boiled potatoes, cut in 1/2 inch cubes.
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped.
1/2 tablespoon onion or chives, finely chopped.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
5 tablespoons mayonnaise.
3 hard-cooked eggs, shopped.
Dash of white pepper.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
Rub bowl in which salad is to be mixed with cut side clove of garlic. Add potatoes, pimientos, onion and eggs. Combine 1 tablespoon mayonnaise with vinegar, salt and pepper, and add to potato mixture. Toss together lightly and chill 1 hour or longer. Add remaining mayonnaise and blend. Arrange with chopped chives.

Meat Price Forecast
The United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics has revised its estimates of pork production upward. It now appears that from 12 to 16 per cent more pigs will be slaughtered this season than in 1935-36. In view of prospective increased consumer demand, prices next Summer will, it is said, probably average higher than last Summer.

Supplies of beef for this year apparently will be smaller than in any of the last three years. In view of the relatively small number of grain-fed cattle, prices of good beef are expected to advance within the next three months, whereas they normally decline in the first half of the year. And lamb prices, according to marketmen, are likely to move upward as the supply diminishes.

State Develops New Wilderness Area

Another public wilderness area has come into being in northern Michigan as a result of action taken by the state conservation commission at its January meeting. The area is to be known as the Norway project, consists of approximately 72,000 acres of land and lies in the western part of the upper peninsula northeast of Iron Mountain.

In creating this new project, the conservation commission felt that it would provide a means of conserving, increasing and developing the state-owned land in the area which now amounts to 21 percent. Seventeen percent of the land is tax delinquent and 62 percent is privately owned.

The Norway project will be managed as a wilderness area with a view to keeping it perpetually open to public access and use. There will be a minimum of road and other improvements so that the present wilderness character of the area will be conserved. Deer are present in such numbers that the winter yards already are showing evidences of overbrowsing; there is an average population of grouse, game men report, and the cover is of a type especially suitable for snowshoe hares.

Only 12 miles separate the nearest boundaries of the Norway area and the present-state-administered Escanaba River tract. The boundaries of the Norway area are M-69 on the north, county road 569 on the east, US-2 on the south and M-95 on the west.

EDITORIAL

By Keith Dalrymple

The unmerciful flood rages on, and the once contented Ohio River valley is today the scene of horror and agony. Everywhere, throughout the United States, the world flood has brought horror to our minds, for with the coming of the flood also comes disaster for hundreds of thousands of people. We, who are able to sit back and calmly listen to reports from these stricken areas, should be aroused to aid the more unfortunate. We ourselves cannot leave our jobs and go as individuals to aid those who are homeless and heartbroken but our contributions can and will help if only we will make them. Now is a time when aid is needed and needed badly. This flood is the worst disaster within our country since the Revolutionary War, and yet it is impossible for us, who have never been in a flood, to actually realize what a terrible thing this situation is. However, the people who are in it know; they know too well the dangers, the agony, and the suffering.

EDITORIAL

A buzzer sounds, and a mad rush for the door takes place. First here, first served, is the motto used at the drinking fountain.

The mad rush in the corridors increases as the days and hours go by. A tall lanky person finds a smaller youngster slipping between this person and that, making his way down the hall. Some of these people would make poor drivers, for they don't believe in keeping to the right.

Books clatter to the floor, but no one stops and says "I'm sorry," or "Let me pick them up." Students of today are lacking in the qualities of courtesy.

Courtesy, if taught in all public schools as an academic subject, would help a great deal towards building up the inner feelings of the students.

When three minutes is allotted to the students while passing from class to class, they all try to make the rush in a minute. They find they have plenty of time left after they have reached their respective class rooms. They use this time for no account, but just to talk, maybe play pranks on one another, or a few to use these few minutes for studying and glancing over their lesson.

Students, let's make a pledge to carry ourselves carefully and less recklessly through the corridors.

DEWEY AVENUE NEWS

Ruby Mikesell, Reader; Ruthnits. The following pupils of the first grade dramatized the story, "Ned and Grandmother" for the Mother's Club meeting of Jan. 21.

Ruby Mikesell, Reader; Ruth Ross, Announcer; Jimmie Clements, Ned; Wilma Green, Mother; and Walter, Grandmother; Donald Clements, White Dog; Edna Brant, Black Kitten; Donald Grey, Little Pig.

The second and fourth grades and the opportunity room were guests.

The following people from the third and fourth grades of the Dewey Avenue School have had perfect attendance records for the past semester. Third grade: Merlin Bradley, Doris Fuller, Patricia Howlett, Joyce Morley, Ruth Van Every, and Norma Verson. Fourth grade: Dale Fuller, Dale Florey, Patricia Collins, Donald Holmes, Wayne Small, and Mary Elizabeth McKinnon.

The second graders are reported to be having a big time watching a polyphenus moth which has just recently come out of its cocoon. The moth was brought last fall by Dale Smedly, and now it has been mounted and put on display in the second grade room.

PASSING FADS AND STYLES

Again fads and styles are beginning to return. In school life these take place more than anywhere else and they are continually changing.

During the past three weeks styles for girls consisted of bright colored, two-tone sweaters. These sweaters have long sleeve sweaters topped with another with short sleeve.

The feminine hair styles have changed. These consist of curls over the top of the head, others with bangs, and still others with the hair combed straight back with a mass of curls at the base of the neck.

Fads are more becoming to girls than boys. They bring about a change in their clothing as well as in appearance. Many girls, as well as boys, have been wearing bright colored ear-muffs during the winter.

Ribbons are still being worn in the girls' hair.

Who's Who?

FRESHMAN

Evelyn Briney—Evelyn is quite short and has brown hair and hazel eyes.

Says she's quite studious at times. Evelyn plays the piano and likes those from Galien.

Boys' interest her, too, especially those from Galien.

Her favorite food is chop suey. She's attractive. Take Notice!

SOPHOMORE

Ruth Montgomery—Ruth is one of those girls who are full of "wise cracks."

She is very appealing. Ruth's in for everything and is a good sport about it.

She has blue eyes and brown hair.

"Where there's you, there's me," says she.

She'll be sixteen, May 12.

JUNIOR

Betty Semple—Betty is "A" high.

She has brown eyes and dark hair.

Betty likes good shows and a good book satisfies her.

You don't often see her looking for something to do in study period.

She doesn't waste her time—she works and really accomplishes.

She is in the junior play, and a very promising member of the cast.

Her birthday is Feb. 16.

GRADE NEWS

Thursday is a day of especial interest to fourth graders at the high school. Pictures from newspapers illustrating events of the past week are pasted into each pupil's scrap book. Each child tries to have a different picture; then each person tells the entire group about his picture. To show this work to pupils of other grades is also an enjoyable privilege. Some pupils have chosen special topics for their books such as Donne Quints, Princess Elizabeth, airplanes, and local clippings.

Everyone is glad to welcome Robert Yoder again, although he is not yet able to be back all day at a time.

Excellent spelling records for the first semester were made by Barbara Ericson, Marilyn Mull, Charles Kelley, Hadley Borders, and John Gowlund.

Mrs. Carnagan's first grade is making a doll's sun room. It is constructed from a large cardboard box. The walls were covered with fancy wall paper, and rugs for the floor were made from woven strips of paper. The furniture which consists of a radio, floor lamps, table, magazine basket, and davenport are being made from small boxes and construction paper. When completed, the windows will have draperies and coverings. There will also be window boxes filled with flowers.

This composition was written at the conclusion of a unit of work on oil. The most interesting paragraphs of the papers written by Maline Chain and Lyle Allis have been chosen for publication in the Microphone. This is fifth grade work.

PETROLEUM

Long ago the Indians used an oil which they found on the top of springs. The Indians would rub themselves with the oil. They said it made them strong and helped them win races.

We think that prehistoric animal and vegetable decayed and were washed into the earth. There it formed oil and gas.

Now men drill down into the ground to reach the crude oil. Natural gas generally comes out before the oil does. Sometimes the oil gushes into the air. It is called a gusher. Other times the oil flows out in a steady stream, or it has to be pumped out.

The oil then is taken to refineries. There many products are taken from it, such as lubricating oils, kerosene, vasoline, gasoline, grease, and mineral oils.

The following second grade pupils were not absent from school for the first semester: Lloyd Dokey, Lowell Dokey, Billy Forge and Evelyn Lee. James Luke was out on account of illness one half day.

OFFICE NEWS

P. T. A. meeting was held Jan. 21. Mrs. Lamb was in charge of the program.

An Executive Committee meeting of the Berrien County Teachers Association was held in Baroda, Jan. 28 at 8 p. m.

CLUB NEWS

The F. F. A. club went to Dowagiac, Tues. Jan. 26 to play basketball. They were victorious in both games.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

General assembly was called Tues., Jan. 28, announce the annual sale. The sale is to last two weeks. Melvin Campbell, business manager, explained the method of the sale to be carried out. Marion Miller, editor-in-chief, gave a short summary of the new divisions which are to be used for the first time this year. "The Pines" is to be in book form and will have a green suede cover. Many additional group pictures are to be in it, and the book will be larger than last year. The price of the book is one dollar.

All students in senior high school are given a chance to sell annuals. A staff committee has chosen certain periods during which the person who turns in the greatest number of annual slips will receive a free annual.

SHOWS PICTURES

A moving picture and verbal explanation of them on the Diesel engine and the Diesel engine industry was given free of charge last Wed. evening in the high school auditorium. The picture was exceptionally well projected and the information will prove invaluable to the younger generation who saw the show.

VEL LIT PLAYS ARE HUGE SUCCESS

A capacity audience witnessed the annual offering of the Velmarian Literary Society Friday morning. Each year the students belonging to this society write original one-act plays. The three best plays are then staged in the high school auditorium and an admission of five cents is charged. The money is used by the society to buy the medals which are awarded in the Velmarian Literary Creative Writing Contest.

The plays presented were: "The Coroner Laughs Last," by Robert Squiers; "Complicated Returns," by Marion Miller; and "Uncle Duddy: Poet," by Melvin Campbell.

ACTIVITIES OF GIRL ATHLETES

Emiline Delibac, a senior, is one of the most active members and ex-hilting master of the G. A. A. She joined the organization upon winning her 500 point award in her freshman year. All sports are her hobbies, although baseball is her favorite. Drawing is another interest upon which she spends a great deal of time. History is her favorite subject.

Another senior who joined G. A. A. in her freshman year and won her 500 and 1000 point award is Fern Dellinger. She is an active member and participates in all sports available at this school. She roller skates, swims, and rides a bicycle during her spare time, but at the present she is applying every bit of her time trying to master shorthand. A good movie or a basketball game is appreciated by Fern anytime.

KERMIT WASHBURN EJECTED SOCIETY TREAS.

Kermit Washburn, horticulture instructor in the local high school was elected secretary-treasurer of the South Berrien Horticulture Society. The society is a newly organized group of fruit farmers and agriculture teachers.

Marjorie Mitch, "You come over here instead."

"Doggie" Luke, "Well, how many points shall I make?"

We have a great poet in our midst, none other than the famous "Fagin" Campbell. Here are several of his compositions which were used in his play, Uncle Duddy, Poet.

The air was filled with Christmas joy.

But no one seemed to know it. The general reason seems to lay, in the fact that this is Easter Day.

They strolled in the twilight together. The heavens were blossomed with stars.

But a man worth while Is a man who can smile And they called it Dixie Land.

We feel sure that such talent should not go unmerited and we wish to be the first to get the "scoop" of publishing these soon-to-be famous poems.

OUR DANCE BAND

To many students before this year, the mentioning of a dance orchestra was met with a groan or a laugh, for the last few years they have not been very big successes. This year the unexpected happened, a good dance orchestra was built from practically all new material to whom dance music was but a cross word puzzle.

The dance orchestra members must be highly commended for their integrity and perseverance in making the orchestra a success.

Its director, Mr. Robinson, must also be highly commended upon the splendid performance of the orchestra, and through his ingenuity Buchanan High School can boast of having the youngest, if not the best, dance band in this section.

This success will not fade away this year, for all the members with the exception of two, will be with our school for the next three years. The following people are the ones we should thank for having this orchestra: Mr. Stark and Mr. Moore, for their splendid cooperation; Mr. Robinson, who is the real maestro but won't admit it; and the orchestra members: Bill Ednie and Fritz Manning whose muted trumpets lend a helping hand in the real swing that makes an orchestra; then that great big base horn played by Dale Lyon, who believes that a base is for rhythm, so he goes after it; the trombones lend their melody at the hands of Jimmy King and Phil Pierce. And again you have often heard an outburst of rhythmic beats that carries the tempo of the swing music, Bill Poorman behind his drums. You listen awhile and you hear a piano solo or a run, Kathryn Roti Roti putting in her share of the rhythm; then comes the sweet melody of the saxophones, the heart of the music, expertly handled by Betty Ryan, George Riley, and Victor Vigansky.

You have now met all the players. Let's give them our support when they play for our enjoyment.

Mich. Aids Fight Vs. Flood Epidemics

With disease threatening the Ohio river valley as an aftermath of flood conditions, the Michigan Department of Health this week rushed sanitary engineers, preventive vaccines and other assistance to the health agencies of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee to prevent the spread of contagion.

In answer to an urgent request from the U. S. Public Health Service, Commissioner C. C. Slemons today detailed three department sanitary engineers for service in the flood areas. The Michigan men reporting to Ralph E. Tarbett, in charge of U. S. Public Health Service engineers at Indianapolis, include Raymond J. Faust, John Miller and LaRue Miller.

This week the health department shipped 10,000 cc. of typhoid vaccine to the Red Cross at Evansville, Indiana, as polluted water supplies threatened epidemic typhoid conditions. This shipment was sufficient for the initial inoculation of 20,000 persons, and additional shipments totaling 50,000 cc. will be prepared by the department's biologic plant during the coming week. Biologics will also be available for the prevention of smallpox and diphtheria. A chlorofeeder pump capable of chlorinating and thus making safe a water supply for a small village has been sent to health authorities at Nashville, Tennessee.

Autos Kill 1,891 Persons in 1936

Automobiles killed 1,891 persons in Michigan during the past year, thus shattering all previous records and classing the automobile as one of the major causes of death in this state, according to unofficial statistics released by the Michigan Department of Health.

The 1936 toll is 13 per cent higher than the 1,667 deaths recorded the previous year, a total increase of 224 deaths. The highest number of automobile deaths in any single month was recorded in December when 223 persons were killed. More than 200 persons were killed in each of the last four months of the year, an average of at least seven deaths each day.

Counties Get 85 Million From State Highway Revenues

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, revealed this week that a total of $85,721,740 has been returned to the counties from state highway revenues during his administration starting in 1933.

The amount includes $24,237,714 returned to the counties for road purposes during 1936. The payments last year reached a record high.

On the basis of 1936 returns, Commissioner Van Wagoner revealed that the counties are receiving more money for road purposes than they formerly received from property tax sources.

In 1929 the total amount of property taxes levied for local highway purposes amounted to $24,434,713, the highest in the history of the state. From that high the amount dropped to 1,688,000 in 1933 and has probably dropped below the million dollar mark by now, the commission said.

Counties now receive the entire amount of the weight tax in addition to $6,550,000 from the gasoline tax. The latter amount includes $4,000,000 annually for the care of former township roads plus $2,550,000 a year allocated to the counties at the special legislative session of 1934 when the weight tax was reduced by 36 per cent.
