

TO TAG FOR LIBRARY ELECTION DAY

Buchanan Enters Blossom Queen Selection; Tryouts Set for April 14 Set Stakes For 1,000 Members

Now Here's the Proposition

The big news of the week, if you can believe Red Schwartz, is that they are going to paper the paper mill.

Charley Smith out here at Glenderry sez he don't understand the hifalutin' words them Record fellers put in the social columns an' is a corgie sumptin' the wimmen wear on their corsets?

The Logical Deduction I think it is the duckiest plan. To always write your congressman

To swiftly hasten to advise, When'er occasion may arise To tell him of the right or wrong Of any bill that comes along. And we should tell him further—more

To vote as we advise him—or We will forgothar on his track And see that he does not go back, But we'll be with him, sink or swim,

If he will let us think for him. Though he be drowned in seas of ink

Until he has no time to think, At least he'll know, from all the notes, Which way to jump to get the votes.

To Discontinue Rural Route 3

To Be Combined With Routes 1 and 2 on April 16

An order has been received at the Buchanan postoffice that, effective April 16, Rural route 3 will be discontinued and that this route will be consolidated with routes 1 and 2 and will hereafter be known as Route 1 and Route 2. This order is in conformity with the policy of the postoffice department that when there is a vacancy by death, resignation or removal, a re-adjustment of the routes is made to approximately 60 miles in length where formerly the average was about 35 miles. This is due largely to the fact of better roads and improved means of transportation, and also that a saving of about $1800 per year on the average is made on each route consolidated. The rural service of the country is operated at a loss and the postoffice department has been using every effort to cut down this expense and still maintain the efficiency of the service.

Under the new order the patrons have been notified of their new number and carrier, and each and every patron will be served in the same efficient manner as formerly under three routes. The carriers are scheduled to arrive at the office earlier and under this plan many of the patrons will get mail earlier than previously, and with the rest there will not be much change.

Buchanan has a very great advantage over many offices in the fact that the principal mails of the day arrive in the early morning and are brought to the office ready for distribution at 6:00 a. m. This makes it possible for carriers to leave at 8:00 a. m. and return in time to dispatch their mail on an afternoon train. If our train service was such that mails did not get in so early in the mornings and carriers had to wait at the office until later in the day to get started, we would not be so fortunate as we are in the matter.

Mrs. K. DeNardo Local Chairman

This City Now Tied With Grand Rapids, Battle Creek for Most Queens

Buchanan will again be represented in the competition for the queen of the Blossom Festival with a representative to be selected April 14 at the Hollywood theatre, according to Mrs. Kathryn DeNardo, who has been named by the Twin City management as the local chairman.

Mrs. DeNardo announces the following as members of her committee: Miss Jeanne Roti, Mrs. Jayne Hotchkiss, E. C. Hoffman, C. K. Detrick. She asks all girls between the ages of 18 and 25 who are interested to call on her. Several have already entered. A drive is to be made for funds to clothe the representative suitably, any balance not needed to go to a permanent fund.

The city is now tied with Grand Rapids and Battle Creek with two winners each in queen contests. The local committee states that they are certain the city will stand a good chance to win again, and to that end would like a good list of entries.

The selection will be made on the evening of April 14, at the Hollywood theatre, which will have a double feature, "Bull Dog Drummond" and "The Smartest Girl in Town."

Blossom Queen To Be Royally Entertained in New York City A regular Alice in Wonderland adventure awaits the choosing of this year's Blossom Queen, climaxed by a glamorous trip to New York City with an elaborate three day schedule of events planned in that great city of a million wonders.

The Queen upon arriving in New York will be escorted to famous old city hall and introduced to Mayor La Guardia who will present a key to the city to the Queen and a special broadcast over station WNYC of the ceremony will be held.

After receiving the key to the city the Queen and her entourage will proceed up Broadway to the luxurious Hotel Governor Clinton, at 31st Street and 7th Avenue where a royal suite is reserved for the duration of the Eastern visit and the ensuing three day whirl of sightseeing, theatres, radio broadcasts, and special trips along the gay white way of Broadway.

Among the many events already planned while in New York is a trip to the top of the tallest building in the world, the Empire State Building, where a panorama view of Manhattan Island and its environs of five adjoining states, for fifty miles in all directions—its parks—the great ocean liners going up and down the bay—its rivers, the other tall buildings—the palisades of the Hudson, and countless other wonders viewed from this vantage point. While in the observatory tower the Queen will give a special Broadcast on the daily program from the tower.

Probably the outstanding feature of the trip however, will be the visit to Radio City and the N. B. C. studios where an audition to appear with some of the most renowned radio stars and programs now on the air has been planned. Among which are, Fred Allen, Major Bowes, Joe Cook, and Jack Benny, the National Dairy Hour with James Melton who is to be the guest artist here during the festival, and the Shell Chateau programs.

Another high light of the trip will be a visit to the huge 6200 seat Radio City Music Hall where spectacles that surpass anything in the world are produced. Where those famous world renown dancers, the "Rockettes" go through the most intricate and marvelous dance figures with an orchestra of upwards of a hundred pieces and the great pipe organ produces music that will live in ones memory for ages.

Frank Sanders attended the funeral of the Hon. William H. Andrews, former judge of probate, at Benton Harbor Monday afternoon.

Establish Egg Market Here

Local Merchants Find New York Outlet, Pay Over The Market Price

A move was inaugurated at a meeting held here Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Buchanan Industrial committee to make Buchanan a principal egg marketing center of southwestern Michigan, by paying above the current market.

Sherman White, representing a well known firm of poultry produce jobbers of Port Wayne, Ind., was present and offered to send his truck here if the local egg buyers would agree to give him all their surplus eggs. Buchanan was selected from the fact that there is a surplus of eggs available here. Larger towns, such as South Bend, Niles and the Twin Cities, always have an egg shortage from local sources.

Both independent and chain merchants were represented at the meeting Wednesday evening and all were heartily in favor of the plan. White was to canvass yesterday the dealers who did not attend. The Fort Wayne firm has an outlet in New York City which is a higher market than Chicago.

Arden Richardson Weds Mary Huss Sat.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BUCHANAN:

As chairman of the tag-day committee, sponsored by the library association, which is to be held election day, April 5th, 1937, I would like to call the following to your attention and make this appeal.

The present library is sad and has been for many years in need of attention, and new and more modern reading material. Its resources for financing this need has been greatly limited. The various organizations in town have become active in this matter and have made rapid progress in arousing interest and enthusiasm.

But, to replenish the shelves and magazine racks, to purchase new juvenile readers, to furnish a reading room, and install a competent attendant, we must have financial aid. Thus, the purpose of a tag-day.

For such an enterprising and active town as Buchanan I feel sure that every citizen giving this drive serious thought will wish to join!

Help make this tag-day for the benefit of Buchanan and its future citizens a success!

Yours truly, MRS. MACK WIDMOYER.

Prec. One Votes at Dunlap Bldg.

Race For Two Vacancies On Commission Promises to Be Warm

One of the most hotly contested elections in the history of the city is expected Monday when seven candidates will be voted on to fill the expired terms of Harry Brown and Arthur Voorhees.

Running for the two places on the city board are the two incumbents, Voorhees and Brown, and Fred Schwartz, Fred Smith, Wilson Leiter, William Nelson and Frank Imhoff. This represents one of the best slates of officers which has appeared for the city commission since the inauguration of the charter form, affording the citizens an excellent choice. The other contested office is that of constable, for which Ed Mitchell, Fred French and Francis True are candidates for the two vacancies.

Of particular interest to Buchanan voters is the fact that the Precinct One vote will be cast in the Dunlap building at the corner of Front and Portage, as the former place on South Oak is no longer available. The Precinct Two vote will be cast at the city commission rooms as usual.

Election officials will be as follows:

Precinct One—E. N. Schram, G. H. Richards, A. H. Hiller, Norma Moyer, Ida Bishop, John Murphy, gatekeeper.

Precinct Two—R. R. Rouse, Frank Rinker, Jay Glover, Mrs. Clarence Spaulding, Mrs. Henry Smith, Isaac Hayes, gatekeeper.

The polls will open at 7 a. m. fast time and close at 6 p. m. in both the city and township.

Wanted, 1,000 members for the Buchanan Library Association Monday. Dues 25 cents.

Ernest Beadle came from Chicago to spend the Easter weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Beadle. He is in the employ of the Johnson Electrical company, Chicago.

Get Letter From Ohio Flood Victim

During the campaign for flood relief carried on in Buchanan in February, a local woman donated a dress, pinning a note in the pocket.

A few weeks later she received a letter which she permitted us to reproduce, with the request that the address and addressee remain anonymous.

The letter follows: Dear Unknown Friend: I am writing you a few lines as I received a note in the pocket of a dress given me, which I must say I was sure glad to get. I'm a young married woman and have a little girl four years old. I live with my mother and two brothers. We are staying down here on Main street in a wash house room. It makes it kind of hard with five people in one room. We lost all of our furniture except six pieces, and everything else. My former home was 34 East 18th street. The house is still there but it was condemned so that we cannot move back. It is kind of hard without a man to help at all. My mother is a widow and my brothers are not old enough to work. It seems that I can't get a job at all. I don't know much to tell you, only I am sure thankful I am still alive. I hope I never live to see anything like this anyways soon. I close hoping you will write me a long letter some times soon. My name is New Albany, Ind.

Assembly Program Tours the World

An assembly program which covered many different portions of the globe was staged by the agriculture department Thursday, March 25. On the first lap of the journey the shores of Hawaii were touched and there Chester Borst and Lawrence Zupke played Hawaiian guitars. Among the melodies which they played so well were, "Blue Hawaiian Moonlight," and "Old Hawaiian Moon," which was used as an encore for the thundering applause that they received.

On an old ranch in the West, Wallace Lewis, accompanying himself on his faithful guitar, sang new and old cowboy tunes. Much to the delight of the audience, his last two songs were "When My Dream Boat Comes Home," and the ever-popular "Darkness on the Delta."

A regular old fashioned melodrama was enacted by a very competent cast as the closing number of the program.

File New Charter Amend. Petitions

Two new charter amendment petitions providing for election of the mayor, clerk and treasurer were filed by H. S. Bristol with City Clerk Harry Post Tuesday.

The two petitions are similar to those submitted previously but have entirely new signatures. It is planned by the supporters of the amendments to proceed toward a special election, since there will not be time to arrange for a vote at the April 5 polls.

Workers To Canvass City and at Township Polls at Wagner Grange

A committee composed of representatives of a number of clubs and organizations of the city, headed by Mrs. Mack Widmoyer, will canvass the city and also the polling place for Buchanan township Monday, election day, for memberships for the Buchanan Library Association.

A special plea is being made to Buchanan people to join since this organization is formed for the special purpose of providing Buchanan with a modern library and reading room, especially in the interests of the young people. The local library was pronounced by a representative of the extension department of the Michigan State library to be almost entirely lacking in juvenile and children's books. It is expected that the receipts of this membership drive will be used mainly for the purchase of children's books.

The association has the further purpose of promoting the rearrangement of the city hall for the purpose of installing a reading room in the present commission room.

It is felt that since it will take some time to bring the library up to standard, it will be preferable to use the present city quarters, if the commission will agree, and not to use money available this year from appropriation and private efforts to pay for rent and fuel in another building.

A local industrial organization has offered to aid in the financing of scientific and mechanical books and magazines for boys, stressing such popular themes as aviation and radio. It is felt that the new project will fill a real need, especially among the young people. More definite announcement of arrangements will be made later.

When the library is further organized it will, of course, remain free to the general public, under the management of the commission. The only function of the association for which memberships are being sold is the promotion of the institution and the provision of funds for an aid in the education of young people.

The canvassers Monday will ask all to buy tags and memberships for 25 cents. For those who feel that they cannot, tags will be given for smaller donations. Those buying at membership prices will receive receipts and will be listed.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the city commission rooms Monday evening, April 12, at which time an organization committee will present a constitution and permanent officers will be elected.

When the library is further organized it will, of course, remain free to the general public, under the management of the commission. The only function of the association for which memberships are being sold is the promotion of the institution and the provision of funds for an aid in the education of young people.

Odd Fellows Have Crowded Schedule

A considerable number of local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs attended the meeting of the county association held at Glendora Monday evening. Arrangements were made to meet in Galien April 18, with Grand Lodge officers present. The May meeting will be held on a date as yet not definitely selected in Buchanan. The meeting here will be closed for the conference of degrees.

At the Odd Fellow meeting Tuesday night arrangements were made for the Encampment team to confer the Royal Purple degrees at South Haven Saturday evening, April 3. The subordinate Lodge will confer the initiatory degree at Holland soon, and will confer the third degree at Val-paraiso April 24.

THE FARM BUREAU

This week a drive is on throughout Berrien County for membership in the American Farm Bureau.

The Farm Bureau has grown in prestige in the past twenty years until it rivals the Grange as a spokesman for the farmers of the United States. In fact it would seem that there is room for both organizations. The Farm Bureau lacks the fraternal and social features of the Grange. It is more strictly a business and propaganda organization. Its dues are $5 per year, considerably higher than the Grange, and it has embarked heavily in co-operative buying and selling enterprises, which are especially strong in the middle west.

The Grange inclines more to be a social organization in the best sense, not only providing the country dwellers with wholesome entertainment but working for the preservation of the ideals of the American farm home.

We had the pleasure of attending a meeting of the Buchanan Farm Bureau recently. The business section was given over to consideration of legislation of interest to farmers now before the Michigan assembly. The knowledge displayed by the chairman and some of the farmers present tended to prove the statement made by observers that you will find a higher average of interest in and information on public affairs outside of corporation limits.

The records of the state Highway Department reveal that as of March 1, it has returned $1,521,844.92 of state highway revenues to Berrien County since the end of the fiscal year 1933.

This return of funds has enabled the county to maintain and improve its own highway system including the former township roads, and in addition, to reduce local highway indebtedness. At the same time property taxes for highway purposes have been reduced almost to the vanishing point.

Important from the standpoint of the county highway authorities is the promptness with which the department has released these funds to the counties.

Bob, the DeNardo canary, is strictly a one-man bird, and to be convinced you should witness his capers and his transports when Ralph comes home from the store at noon or night.

It might be well to explain that for three of his eight years Bob lived just an ordinary canary-bird existence, cooped up in a cage. Then Ralph started training him, and he responded so that he was given the run of the house as one of the family. Now his cage is opened in the morning and he has the freedom of the house for the day. As long as Ralph is in the house in the morning Bob is quite likely to be following him from place to place over the house like a dog. A couple of weeks ago he insisted on riding on the handle of the razor while Ralph shaved. Ralph gave the razor a flip to get the bird off and dropped and broke it. That was quite a strain on the family tie.

One trick Bob has is to fly to the telephone whenever he hears it ring. He will perch on the standard of the speaking tube or on the receiver and remain while the conversation is in progress.

One day in the past week the writer went to the DeNardo home shortly before one o'clock to witness Bob's antics when Ralph came home. He was a little bashful and retired to a bedroom. When Ralph came home he did not come out immediately but soon as he called the bird started to trill and warble fit to burst his throat or at least to strain a tonsil. Finally Ralph went into the bedroom and Bob came out with him. He perched on a cabinet in front of Ralph, only a few inches from his face, and sang with the fervor of a Metropolitan opera prima donna, trilling, expanding his whole body, shaking his wings.

Ralph came closer so that the bird could reach his face and Bob quit singing and reached down to his mouth, whether for the kiss of fellowship or just looking for a possible stray piece of spaghetti we cannot say.

When Ralph sat down to lunch Bob was on deck on his shoulder. He has the customary box of birdseed in his cage, but he much prefers to eat from Ralph's mouth. Especially spaghetti. He eats most anything and also has a taste for coffee. Once possessed of a sizeable piece of spaghetti he is likely to fly off some place and finish it alone. If he happens to drop any food en route he never fails to go back and clean it up, before he goes back for more.

Christian Science Society Sunday service at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Middleweight title, with Jack Dillon, Silent Martin and other names well known twenty years ago. In fact Bens has several scrapbooks of clippings from papers in New York City, Chicago and from many other cities, to show that he had some reputation himself in those days. In this book is a clipping from a Chicago newspaper in which he is shown with Jack Dillon, Spider Kelley, and two trainers.

Years before and after he was in the prize ring Bens was a miner and a mine foreman in Butte, and since he has operated a 1,000 acre ranch 12 miles out of Butte, where he has conducted cattle and horse raising and dairying. Lately the ranch has been in charge of an old friend of boxing days, and Bens has been working as a bouncer in one of the wide-open gambling halls of Butte, where a nice evening's diversion for young men about town is to gang up on a bouncer and "give him the boot," i. e., knock him down and stamp the daylight out of him. Butte is still the wide-open western town, bad as Dodge City in the days of Boot Hill Cemetery, and from all the little mining camps for scores of miles about the boomers come in for pay-day speers. On these occasions Mr. Bens still cashes in quite nicely on his fighting craft, drawing $25 for a night's work caring for the young gent who want to see if he can still take it.

For you would never guess, looking at his solid muscular figure, his barrel chest, and his unmarked face with ears and nose intact that he fought for the middleweight crown in Brooklyn, N. Y. in 1914, 23 years ago. It is no accident that his years were not slapped back, Bens says. He always slapped the other fellow's ears back first.

Mr. Bens and his wife, Caroline Harms Bens, have been visiting here with the latter's sister, Miss Lydia Harms. He will return here from Detroit and make several visits through the south before returning to the Butte range about the time steers chase wildly across the range with their tails in the air after the first bites of green grass in late spring.

He Was a Champ

Mr. Leo Bens, Butte, Mont., erstwhile middleweight fight champion, Montana motorcycle champion, rancher mine foreman and what have you, is in Detroit this week, having slipped off to the motor capital to see Henry Ford and incidentally, to see a certain Art Allard, a member of the Detroit police force. Messrs. Bens and Allard met in Butte on the evening of Sept. 1, 1913, when both were just poor boys trying to make a living in the fight business. In the strictly official argument that occurred Bens broke several ribs for Allard and otherwise battered and dented him, but it is not thought that Allard will necessarily bear him any ill will, after all these years. For Allard and Bens have long been out of the ring, Bens having said goodbye in 1923, after 87 battles in which he traded punches with such knights of the squared circle as Jack Tolland, the only man that ever boxed out a decision over Mike Gibbons, Al McCoy, a claimant of the national

Christian Science Churches "Unreality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 4. Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 37: 7): "Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 454): "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action."

Farnum Plays Judge's Role in Salem Drama William Farnum, movie idol of a generation ago, returns to films in an important role in "Maid of Salem," a new Frank Lloyd romance with Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert, which will be shown here Sunday and Monday only. Farnum plays the part of Judge Samuel Sewall, in whose court in 1692 the "witches" of the old Salem were accused and sentenced to die. He condemns Miss Colbert when she refuses to reveal the identity of MacMurray, with whom she had been seen dancing in the woods. Her refusal convinces the judges that the stranger was "the devil." The lavish cast includes Harvey Stephens, Gale Sondergaard, Bonita Granville, Virginia Weidler and many others.

Tyrone Power, who catapults toward stardom with his performance in the film, is cast as an enterprising member of Lloyds, the great international underwriting organization, who brought to that firm its world reputation, and whose courageous lie at the moment of the Battle of Trafalgar changed the fate of the British Empire. Starring Freddie Bartholomew and Madeleine Carroll, the film also features Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith and Virginia Field.

What is the best measure of a Bank's strength? The strength of a bank may be judged by the following 3-ply yardstick:—

1. The honesty and skill of its management in making sound, useful loans and investments.

2. Its reputation and standing in the community, particularly in the confidence it has built among its depositors.

3. The adequacy of its capital, surplus and reserves.

To those who understand figures, bank statements when compared with those of preceding years, are a good standard of measurement. But most individuals judge a bank by its good name among people they know, by the friends as well as by the loans it makes, and by its record for economical methods as well as services rendered. It is also judged by earnings sufficient to build up reserves as well as pay dividends to stockholders, and by its usefulness to the community.

TEACHER SEZ

By Velma Dunbar
Sometime ago I was asked to write an editorial for the Microphone. Not having a definite subject which I wished to discuss at that time, I did not respond to the request. However, an occasion now arises which I believe requires my attention. I wish to reply to the editorial published in the Microphone, March 18, in regard to the teaching of English.

The editorial of the above date states that English, as it is taught in schools today, is of little practical value. If our English teachers believed that the English course as taught in most high schools today was entirely satisfactory, there would not have been formed sometime ago a group of English teachers from the Big Five and Buchanan to discuss, analyze, and attempt to improve our present course of study. Neither in Buchanan would the English committee be now working a great many hours overtime to check our present system with the recommended experience curriculum devised and published by the National Council of Teachers of English. So may I state in the beginning of this discussion that we are in sympathy with the challenge of the above-mentioned editorial, but we do not feel that those statements should remain without your understanding of our interpretation of them.

Let us consider the personnel of our student body, for upon this fact largely depends what is to be considered of most value in the English course. Most of our students enter some trade, secretarial work, or following upon leaving high school. A minority enters our

EDITORIAL

By Keith Dalrymple
For the past few years the officials at the head of the state of Michigan have been trying to point out to the drivers of automobiles the necessity for efficient driving. Slogans have been printed in newspapers, signs have been placed along the highways, and all sorts of programs have been launched to make us safety-conscious. In school a step further has been taken, the introduction of driving as a home room project. However, the automobile death toll is steadily climbing instead of receding. This matter of safe driving has fast become a great problem.

We pay our officers to see that law is carried out. On the highway, drivers are finding out that they either know how to drive or else that they pay a dear penalty for not knowing. The highway is certainly not the place for unskilled drivers. Some drivers, although apparently experienced, do not realize that there are essentials on an automobile other than the steering wheel and the throttle. There are, however; especially one: device the brake. This is probably as important to the drivers as the rip cord on a parachute is to a parachute jumper. Just as the jumper knows what to do with that rip cord, so should the driver know what to do with the brake.

INQUISITIVE KITTY

What part of a newspaper do you usually read first? Marie Montgomery—The funny sheet, especially Lil' Abner. Kathryn Roti—Jokes, not excluding the daily serial. Art Trapp—The funnies first. My favorite is Popeye; after that I read the sport page. George Riley—"School Slants" in the "Mike." Betty Lou Batchelor—I usually read the stories. Ivan Price—I read the headlines first. Ben Harvel—"Screen Oddities." Clyde Shaffer—I read the pictures, if that's possible, because I can't read letters.

INTRAMURAL TOURNAMENT ENDS WITH SENIORS VICTORS

The annual interclass basketball tournament has been run off during the past two weeks by John Miller, high school physical education director. Two teams were entered from each class, including the seventh and eighth grades. In the first round the senior reserves forfeited to the junior high reserves; the junior first string eliminated their classmates, the junior seconds; the seniors barely beat the soph; the junior high scrubs won over the soph reserves; and in the last game of the preliminary round the freshmen scrubs were dropped by the freshman varsity. In the quarter finals the juniors banged the junior high firsts, while the seniors managed to eke a decision over the junior high scrubs. The juniors drew a bye in the semi-finals and the seniors moved into the finals by tripping the freshmen's first squad. The final game saw the seniors cop the high school championship. The seniors used practically the same team that won the top laurels two years ago.

THE BIG QUESTION

Why does Elaine Blancy watch the back of the room in first hour study hall? Is "Toad" Smith back to school to stay? Why is Alice Sharp so secretive about her boy friend? Is Don Jerue still a constant caller on Clark street? Has Dale Boyce forgotten his last affair? Has Ross Leasenby still the fever to go to Niles? How will the gym show turn out? Why doesn't Wanda Walters give the high school boys a break? Who has Ruth Montgomery worried now?

GRADE NEWS

Miss Bohl's third grade has been writing letters to pupils who are ill at home. Jessica Doak won first place, and Phyllis Zoleman second, in the spelling contest, which was held March 18. Norma Thompson's and Danny Herman's names have been added to the Dental Honor Roll. Mrs. Fuller's room is losing three members from the fourth grade. Barbara Mae Ericson is moving to Chicago. Marilyn Mull to the country, and Eldon Rossow to South Bend.

SCHOOL SLANTS

Only one and one-half days of spring vacation! Hardly a vacation at all, but how nice it will be to get out of school a week earlier when the weather is unbearably hot and every minute in school an added torment. And did you know that there are only about forty actual days of school left in the year? Two enterprising senior girls in front-row history class even went so far as to figure up the exact number of hours. They must be awfully anxious to escape!

A Social Hour and party in one week still leaves this reporter slightly flabbergasted! The two events are this week—Social Hour Wednesday and the party Saturday, April 3. Perhaps the rather thinly veiled hints given in the "Mike" had something to do with it, but it is undoubtedly due to the efforts of certain members of the band and jazz orchestra.

Thither and yon—Ask Joe Bachman where he spent the evening before leaving on his trip to Washington—Norma Yoder apparently enjoys having classmates read her notes—Who is George Riley chasing on (a freshman)—Joe Bachman and Bob Stevens have a prominent part in the senior production "Money to Burn." They're the stage managers—Just how many girl friends does Don Jerue have—Does Phyllis DeNardo still like a certain junior who knows how to wink.

The senior candy sale was discontinued last Wednesday during the Library Club's taffy apple sale. In some remote way taffy apples always suggest spring and track meets. Perhaps because the Niles ice cream parlors make a specialty of them, and Buchanan cars usually stop there on the way to a Buchanan-Niles meet. And, speaking of track meets, the Buchanan team will be practicing in the very near future. For the first time our new track field will be entirely completed. With the excellent material available, Coach Miller should have a track team second to none in this district.

One member of Buchanan high school's basketball squad won a place on the team selected from approximately eight class B schools in this district. The honor was accorded to Kenneth Luke, ace scoring threat on this year's team. He played Tuesday night in Kalamazoo on the honorary squad.

Here and there—Does Joe Bachman always carry girls' letters in his sweater, or just those he receives from Washington, D. C.—How many students missed Social Hour a week ago Wednesday?—Why did "Imo" refuse to go with a football captain?—Does Phyllis enjoy some of her portraits which have been hung in the history classroom?

FRESHIES SPONSOR SOCIAL HOUR

The "Freshies" sponsored the weekly social hour held last Wednesday in the gym. The jazz band did an exceptionally fine job of playing. The boys trio, composed of Dale Lyon, Melvin Campbell, and Phil Pierce, add colorful harmony to several numbers. The jazz band opens and closes each dance program with their theme, "Song of India."

APRIL FOOL'S DAY

April Fool's Day, celebrated on the first of April, is a day quite generally devoted to playing absurd, but harmless jokes. Its origin, though unknown, is not recent. An old English almanac, printed in 1760, contains the following rhyme: "The first day of April, some do say, Is set apart for All-Fools Day. Although it is a special day, it is not a holiday. It is a time which children look forward to, for it is one day in which mischievous pranks are sanctioned by all. In English-speaking countries the victim of a joke is called an April Fool.

Wanda Walters is "that way" about a certain "Chuck"? Betty Ryan and Dale Leiter "hit it off" together? Reamer and Smith make up one of the latest couples around B. H. S.? Bob Neal already has a date for the prom? Geneva Babcock is now wearing a track medal? Don Harroff makes eyes at V. W. in homeroom? John Dale ushers girls around who are too tired to walk? George Riley is becoming a great cartoonist?

WE WONDER IF—

The wave in Bob Neal's hair is natural? Joe Bachman will meet any good looking girls on his Washington trip this week? Earl Stevens knows a certain "Carol"? Bob Squiers and Victor Vignansky really get mad at each other? The annual will go to press soon? The Junior-Senior Prom will be as successful as it was last year? Maxine Christmore's ring means anything? Bud Jesse and Bessie Crothers are going steady?

Uncle Sam; Brother Jonathan
Brother Jonathan is the older appellation. It was applied first by American Loyalists from 1776 to 1783, as a term of derision, to the Patriots; later the term was used generally to indicate any country bumpkin, states Literary Digest. Jonathan Trumbull (1710-85), governor of Connecticut from 1786 to 1789, was a close friend of General Washington, frequently consulted by him, and often addressed by him as Brother Jonathan. The term Uncle Sam appears to have arisen about 1813, and was presumably a jocular extension of the initials U. S.

Climate of West Indies
The West Indies have a tropical climate except in the Bahamas and the temperate uplands of the larger islands; but the northeast trade winds temper the heat. The rainfall varies from 31 to 118 inches per annum.

Meaning of Recent Period
Recent period in geology is usually applied to the time included since the appearance of man on the globe. It is also called the Human epoch.
