

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR HERE MAY 4

Annual Gym Show To Be Held at High School Tonight, Fri. Night

Hold Banquet in Legion Hall

Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle
Hank
Hill's Corners
Says:

They're exceptions, but a fellow usually gets about as much trouble as he is looking for.

The following tribute to spring in the English cockney style has been going the rounds of the press for several years.

Ode To Spring And All That Er-Spring—You perfectly price-less old thing.

I'm frightfully bucked at the signs that one sees.

The jolly old sap in the topping old trees

The priceless old lilac and that sort of rot.

It jolly well cheers up a chap, does it not?

It's so frightfully bright; so amazingly right

And one feels as one feels if one got rather tight.

There's a tang in the air if you know what I mean

And the grass, as it were, is so frightfully green.

We shall soon have the jolly old bee on the wing—Er-Spring—Old fruit! You've given old Winter the boot.

The voice of the tailor is heard in the land,

(I wonder what my rotten credit will stand?)

And the birds and the flowers (but especially the birds)

Will be looking too perfectly priceless for words.

We shall have to get stocks of new ties and new socks,

And of course we must alter the jolly old clocks.

So a young fellow's fancy turns naturally toward

The river and Nance or Betty and Lords.

In fact—as I said—you're a price-less old thing.

Er-Spring—Old bean! It's well—it's—you know what I mean,

It's time I was oiling the jolly old bat.

So cutting a long story short and all that,

The theme of this jolly old song that I sing—

Is—er—Jolly old Spring!

—Desmond Carter.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

Over in the M. E. church notes you will see a notice of a birthday party Friday evening for Atty. A. A. Worthington, who passes his 80th mile stone that day. The party will be given by the Bethany class which he has taught for 33 years. Atty. Worthington started the study of law over 60 years ago in the offices of his father-in-law, Atty. Jacob Van Riper, one time attorney general of Michigan, regent of the University of Michigan and county judge of probate. He has practiced law continuously here 58 years, being not only the ranking attorney of the city in point of seniority but also in the county.

It's a problem where we ought to put this—but some way we just can't bear to put it in the society column. Tuesday evening the Buchanan Co-op boys got together in D's cafe and gave Bob Koenigshof a sort of a "Farewell to all that" party. Bob jumps off the dock soon. We don't know the program or procedure of the party. Probably it is just as well. But it explains something the general public may not have understood. Last year (Leap Year) Bob was bombarded with Valentines directed to the "Crusty old bachelor of Days Avenue." Now we know. He (Continued on Page 4)

10-Year Old Is Clever Artist

A set of clever freehand drawings by Jack Proud, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Proud, Hudson Lake, was brought into the Record office yesterday by his cousin, E. F. Mittan of Buchanan. The drawings are the more remarkable from the fact that young Proud attends a rural school and has never had any instruction. The Prouds are frequent visitors at the Mittan home and Mr. Mittan has encouraged the boy to develop his talent. The lad spends much of his spare time drawing, his usual subject being a bird or animal. The set which the Record was permitted to inspect contains some very life like representations.

Fuller House, Party Burned, One of 6 Brick Mansions of Civil War Days

Built By Local Merchant
When Town Had Trade
From Wide Area

The fire which nearly destroyed the C. H. Fuller house at 116 West Front street Thursday afternoon marked the passing of one of Buchanan's half dozen brick mansions built by the "merchant princes" of the Civil War days.

The Fuller house was built by Jacob Luther in 1866. Luther had a "general" store where Glenn Smith's store now is. The other houses referred to are the present L. M. Desenberg house, built by Perry Fox; the present Strayer house, built by L. P. Alexander; the house now owned by Mrs. Paul Wallace and formerly used as a hospital, built also by L. P. Alexander; the present Swem Funeral Home, built by Charles Clark; the C. F. Pears home, built by William Pears. The latter house was partially destroyed by fire years ago, and was remodeled to its present smaller size.

The builders of these homes were Buchanan business men of the Civil War period and after. Business was excellent during the Civil War and these men invested some of their profits in imposing mansions, which were popular then. It is said that a number were ruined financially in the ensuing hard times of the seventies.

That was before the Pere Marquette railway had been built up the lake to St. Joseph, and the trade from the basin now occupied by the Baroda, Bridgman and Sawyer communities and from much of the lake district came to Buchanan. Trade was large and profits were good. At one time according to an old newspaper of the days immediately following the war, there were three weekly papers here. Not even the names of all have come down to us.

A story is told of the construction of the Luther house. When one of the contractors was placing the heavy scroll work on the cornice, a passerby called up: "What are those hooks for?" "Those are to hang the monkey on," replied the carpenter. In the 'ing of those days the "monkey" was the mortgage.

Ulysses S. Bristol

Ulysses S. Bristol passed away Wednesday night at 11:15 following an illness of several days, from double pneumonia and complications. He was born August 12, 1872 at Little Fish Lake, in Cass county and had spent practically his entire life in this community. He is survived by his wife, the former Eva Berger, and by four children, Clara, Betty, Frank and Wallace, by one brother, Harvey S. Bristol of Buchanan, and a sister, Mrs. Belle Welkel of Detroit. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the Swem Funeral Home and interment was made in Oak Ridge.

Seniors to Stage "Money to Burn"

The annual senior play is to be presented May 14 in the high school auditorium, the drama selected by John Elbers, director, being "Money to Burn."

Three weeks have been spent in rehearsing and the actors have the first and second acts well in hand. They are now memorizing the third act. The cast selected comprises Marion Miller, Phyllis DeNardo, Jeannette Levin, Virginia Wright, Edward Smith, Max Beadle, Robert Neal, Melvin Campbell.

Marie Rudoni Taken By Death

Member B. H. S. Sophomore
Class Was Ill Only
Two Days

A tragic event in Buchanan in the past week was the sudden passing of Marie Clesta Rudoni, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rudoni, and a popular member of the sophomore class of the Buchanan high school.

The girl was ill less than two days, the complaint starting as a cold and developing into pneumonia. Her high school class attended the funeral services at the St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church in a body, and the church was banked with one of the most beautiful displays of flowers ever seen in Buchanan. Father John R. Day was in charge of the funeral, and interment was made in a mausoleum at Oak Ridge cemetery. Pallbearers were Wilbur Strayer, Louis Pascoe, Donald Roti Roti, Vincent DeNardo, Mike DiGiacomo, Ed. Rudoni.

She was born in Buchanan Oct. 27, 1921 and died at her home at 302 River street at 9:25 p. m. Friday. She was a member of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church and of the Girl Scouts. Her parents survive. She had no brothers or sisters. The community extends sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Rudoni.

Start Construction Dry-Zero Addition

Construction work was started on the new addition to the local Dry-Zero plant Monday by the Sollitt Construction company of South Bend, with E. Rans of South Bend as superintendent.

In addition to the 112x200 steel, brick and concrete factory addition, a 20x60 two-story office building will be constructed at the north end. Work was begun also the first of the week by Charles Nurrie, Kalamazoo railway contractor, on the extension of the switch 200 feet north.

Wins National Writing Award

Jack Marble, B. H. S. Junior,
First Boy to Attain Scholastic

Again a national honor has come to a student of Buchanan High School in the field of creative writing. Jack Marble, a junior was awarded fourth place in the division of historical articles of the thirteenth annual Scholastic contest. His article, "When Dad Was a Boy," relates some interesting stories of early life in Nebraska—a very hot day when his father and his uncle killed the hogs by throwing pails of cold water on them to cool them; of the country school where a German boy, twenty years of age, six feet tall and having a blond and curly beard, mingled with the little six year olds and read from a chart. The sunflowers grew so thick and tall that you couldn't chase a jack rabbit through them, and the culture of that day was enriched by a lending library and literary societies with which his grandmother was connected.

Jack Marble is the first boy to receive national recognition in creative writing; although in the past years Marjorie Campbell, Alene Riley, Pauline Topash, Cherry Blossom Helm, and Virginia Wright have had their writings published in the national high school weekly, the Scholastic, and in Saplings, a book collection of the best high school writings in the United States. 7500 high schools and 50,000 students competed in the various fields of this year's writing contest.

The award will be presented to the winner at the Honors Convocation, May 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Grossman Heat Home In Trailerville at 25c Per Month

Owner of Four Houses Takes to Home on Wheels to Follow His Trade

Buchanan's Trailerville addition to date has consisted of one trailer, the residence during the past winter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grossman of Ligonier, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Grossman have made their residence in their trim little home on wheels parked back of the Mary Flynn home on Ryerson street during the past winter. To the beleaguered householder, trying to adjust his budget to winter heat expense, it may be of interest to know that it cost 25 cents a week to heat the trailer.

The Grossmans are not exactly transients without property ties; they pay taxes to the state of Indiana on four houses. One of them, at Ligonier, is fitted with their own furniture. But the man is a machinist and during late years he has been unable to secure continued employment at his trade in any one place. He would get a rush call from some plant, go there and establish himself in rented quarters at some inconvenience, work full time and over time for two or three months after which the job might drop off to nothing. Finally they hit on the trailer as the solution as a home during unsettled working conditions.

Clark Reports Good Quarter

Report of Clark Equipment Company and its subsidiary, Clark Celfor Tool Corporation, for the quarter ended March 31, 1937, showed net income of $310,812 after interest, depreciation, development expense, and federal income tax, but before provision for undistributed profits tax. This is equal after dividends paid on 7 per cent preferred to $1.24 a share on 237,641 shares of common stock. In the first 1936 quarter net was $54,254, or 14 cents a share, on 233,776 common shares.

Stage Poetic Pageant May 4

Drama Of Pageantry Written
By Mrs. Thompson at
Pres. Church

A poetic pageant will be presented at the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, May 4th at 8:00 when Mrs. Jack Bishop's division of the Home Service department of the Presbyterian church will sponsor the event. Mrs. Susan Curtiss will be in charge of the tickets and the pageant will be open to the public.

Mrs. H. B. Thompson will read the poetic pageant, "When Clubs Were Trump," written by herself and Maud Stewart Beagle will tell something of interest about each woman. Mrs. Josephine Kelley will play the accompaniments.

Mrs. Thomas Grimes will resemble the cave woman; Mrs. Wm. C. Downey, Portia, who portrays wisdom and talent in playing the piano; Mrs. Helen Carmon, as Queen Elizabeth will play and sing; Mrs. Wayne Smith, as Joan of Arc will sing "Marseillaise."

Mrs. John Miller, as an early American, will play a lilted minuet; Mrs. Lottie Bell as Barbara Fritchie will wave the American flag as "The Star Spangled Banner" is sang in unison. Mrs. Eulalia O'Toole as Susan B. Anthony will sing "Beautiful Dreamer"; Mrs. Louise Jerome as Harriett Beecher Stowe, will read a selection from "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Mrs. Harry Lyddick will demonstrate how the comic-strip character, Maggie Jiggs, rules with a rolling pin, and plays classical music. Mrs. Arthur Knoblauch portraying Carrie Nation, will sing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" Mrs. George Chicott will act the part of a male teacher, with a class of six, will sing several school numbers and Mrs. Jack Bishop and Mrs. Pankhurst will sing a duet. Mrs. Thompson will close the program with a vocal selection.

The Grossmans are not exactly transients without property ties; they pay taxes to the state of Indiana on four houses. One of them, at Ligonier, is fitted with their own furniture. Finally they hit on the trailer as the solution as a home during unsettled working conditions.

They pay Mrs. Flynn $4 per month for parking space, which includes lights. They are hooked on the Flynn lights. They do their cooking on a small oil stove. The interior is a very snug home for two. In one end is the bed, which can be made over in a couch by day. At the other is a sort of breakfast nook arrangement consisted of two seats facing each other, with a folding table which lets down between. Four people (Continued on Page 4)

An attendance of 275 is anticipated at the co-operative dinner and court of award to be held at the Legion Hall next Tuesday evening, May 4, for the members of the three Buchanan Troops and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stark will be host and hostess for the official table. It may be necessary to add other host names if the guest list grows.

Business Notes

All records for carload shipments out of Buchanan were broken during the month of March with a total of 142 cars, as compared with a previous high of 134 cars out in one month during World War days. Figuring in the record was the fact of heavy shipments by Dry-Zero, and the fact that a strike of truckmen in the Detroit district had forced the Clark Equipment company to route shipments from the Buchanan and Berrien Springs plants to that section by rail.

A transaction of more than usual interest in the recent past was the sale of the Bainton orchard on the Niles road to Clyde Voorhees of Dowagiac. Mr. Voorhees owns and operates a farm at Indian Lake. He expects to manage the orchard with the co-operation of his father, Charles Voorhees of the Redbud Trail. There are 1200 trees in the 18 acre orchard. Ultimately Voorhees will build and make his home here.

The realty firm of Boyce & Boyce announce the sale of a 12 acre tract, M. O. Burdette selling to Ralph Ed. Huston of South Bend. The tract is on the Wagner stone road immediately across from the Conant fruit farm, south of the Boreas school. Huston plans to build later.

Fifteen Buchanan WPA workers under the direction of Ed Kalitz began work relaying brick at the west end of Front street Monday.

Carl Thanning has purchased the Howard Ferris house at the intersection of River and Portage streets.

L. B. Spafford has a display of the most modern, scientific designs in bows for archery in the window of the Mills hardware store. Among the late converts to the ancient and honorable sport is James Everingham.

EN ROUTE TO MORE TRAFFIC ORDER

During the nine years that the writer has been in the Buchanan community he has been periodically bombarded with such questions as the following:

Why don't you say something about the business men keeping their cars out from in front of their places of business so the customers will have a chance? Why won't you say something about limited time for parking in the downtown section? About parallel parking so the streets will not be so congested? And more of the same.

The traffic control in the past has been haphazard, mainly because the sole day officer combined the jobs of police and street commissioner. Increasingly, and especially for the past year, his duties as street commissioner called him out of the business section. Traffic went its own sweet way and behaved as might have been expected.

Now there is a day officer who is devoting his entire time to traffic control and there appears to be a chance of more order. Some of the things he is setting out to enforce, however, bring up more insistently than ever the matter of prolonged parking in the business section. For instance, if no one is to be allowed to double park even to let some one out of his car, the matter of parking convenience gains importance. It becomes increasingly a matter of public accommodation to encourage all who are in business to park their cars off the main streets if possible.

In the past there has been prejudice, largely deserved, against parking in the city lot back of the stores on Front and Main. But the glass and debris that endangered tires has been removed, and a light installed. Monday morning there were about a dozen cars parked there, including three business men's cars. Is it possible that there might be more? Or are there other places in the rear of the business houses that might be fixed to accommodate business men's cars and thus make more parking space for customers?

In addition to the full time services of Frank Kean as traffic officer, the city, in collaboration with the Lions club, has purchased the services of the National Safety Council, supposed to include a traffic survey by an expert. Perhaps if such survey is made it will carry more weight than the random suggestions of amateur traffic critics.

"Friendship quilt," the property of Mrs. Esther Kinney of Buchanan. This quilt was made by the Ladies Aid of the Oronoko church in 1892, and on it are inscribed in needlework the names of those ladies whose dresses are represented by pieces in the quilt. Several of the names were those of pioneer Mt. Tabor women, including Mrs. Quint, the mother of the late Flavilla Quint Spaulding, Mrs. Maria Tabor and "Aunt Bessie" Ingelright. This quilt and seven others formed a very interesting part of the "Quilt Pageant."

C. J. Wilson of Buchanan bought the quilt which was sold and Stanley Marsh bought the comforter. A fine entertainment program was given, including instrumental selections by Howard Barbour singing by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Marsh, song by Lucy Marsh accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Marsh, songs by Leo Wire of Baroda, who accompanied himself on the guitar, songs by Mrs. Louise Barnes, accompanied by Miss Daniels of South Bend. WHEN Hamlet, prince of Denmark, first suspected the murder of his father, there was no foul stench to assail his nostrils... not until a ghost walked did he become fully aware of the decay within his household.

So it is with food: You cannot always depend upon sight and taste in deciding the edibility of food. Oftentimes food that smells all right has reached a stage of bacterial development which is dangerous to life. Above 50 degrees is the danger zone for storing food, as bacteria multiply rapidly and mold growth is encouraged.

"The Plough and the Stars," a fictitious story of the Irish "Up-rising" of 1916, which brings Barbara Stanwyck and a distinguished cast to the Hollywood theatre, has been called the "greatest drama of the twentieth century."

That Jones Family is in again, but this time it's not a private fight, for Slim Summerville and his orphan hero have moved in, adding a new amusing element to "Off to the Races," Twentieth Century-Fox production featuring the Jones Family.

"WAIKIKI WEDDING" HERE FOR THREE DAYS

"Waikiki Wedding," a comedy of love and music in the South Seas, brings Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Martha Raye here, starting Sunday, in another fit of buffoonery of the type that made "Rhythm on the Range" one of the outstanding comedies of last year.

This time Bing is a press agent for a pineapple cannery in Hawaii—and in the furtherance of his campaign to keep Waikiki sold as the glamour spot of the universe it becomes necessary for him to fall in love with Miss Ross who is about to walk out on a well laid publicity scheme of his concoction.

When Crosby discovers that he really is in love with the blonde beauty and that he must choose between losing her or see his scheme go boom, the climax is reached. In the meantime Burns, Bing's assistant, and Miss Raye, Miss Ross' secretary, have been making hey-hey while the tropic sun shines, leading to further complications.

SCINTILLATING COMEDY TO BE SHOWN HERE

A scintillating melange of music, wit, dancing, comedy and beauty, moves into the Hollywood Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday when Paramount's "Champagne Waltz," co-starring Gladys Swarthout and Fred MacMurray, and including Jack Oakie, Veloz and Yolanda, Herman Bing, Vivienne Osborne, Frank Forest, Benny Baker and Ernest Cossart, begins its run.

Tells Memories of Old Sawmill of Charlotteville, Now Bridgman

Mrs. A. E. Holmes Describes Horse Railway From Timber to Lake

Memories of old Charlotteville are recalled by Mrs. A. E. Holmes who was born in the old sawmill town which preceded Bridgman in days when furnishing Chicago and the prairie west with building materials and fuel was the main industry of the lake front.

There as a girl she grew up in the sound of the hum of the saws, and often in childhood she followed the plank trestle of the old horse railway out to the lake front, then only a playground for the children of the settlement. She went to school in a one-room school taught by Miss Hale, strict spinster lady from Boston who grounded them thoroughly in the common branches and also if they pleased in algebra, geometry, philosophy and in the languages.

Life centered about the mill and the railway. For a time her parents ran the big boarding house which cared for 50 and more men. All worked in the sawmill or in the woods. The railway extended west from the mill to the lake, passing through two tunnels under two intervening rows of dunes, straight to the lake. The old pier was several hundred yards south of the present Weko Beach buildings. The road also extended out west into the timber 2½ miles. The great logs were sledged to the road by oxen, there loaded on the cars which were each pulled by a single horse to the mill. The cars were low, strongly-built flat trucks, which carried only a log at a time. The rails were wooden stringers.

Many of the oak and white wood logs were immense, six feet in the clear. B. S. Bedortha, a resident of the village years after, showed a great whitewood plank at the Columbia exposition in 1893. The plank was four inches thick, about 12 feet long and six feet wide in the clear. Mr. and Mrs. George Bridgman, grandparents of the late sheriff, were then residents of the town, the post office being located at their home. There the inhabitants used to gather at the ringing of a bell when the mail arrived and Mrs. Bridgman would distribute the mail from her apron.

One of the owners of the mill for a short time was Capt. George Richards of Buchanan. Mrs. Holmes was a very small girl then and she remembers Capt. Richards as a tall, straight man who came out of the mill one early morning and caught her up while she was toddling down along the railroad to the mill in her nightgown, just about the time the trams started to roll in. She had escaped from the house while her mother thought her asleep.

Mr. Holmes also lived here as a boy, and when he was grown was the express and freight agent for the Pere Marquette after it was built through in the early seventies. He also conducted a store there. After they had been married they went to the present site of Baroda and there Mr. Holmes helped Michael Houser plat the new townsite. There also he conducted the freight and express business and the postoffice on the new road north through Gallien to St. Joseph.

The old LeRoy home was in a log cabin, the only lathed and plastered home in the village. Loop & Daniels from Chicago conducted the general store. Straight south four miles was the old sawmill town of Curtown, around the Curtis sawmill where Sawyer now stands was the sawmill town of Painterville.

After the Pere Marquette was built through and the timber had been moved back for several miles the fruit industry started up and Bridgman, as the town was now named, became a main fruit shipping point.

Live Economically In Trailerville

may be accommodated very comfortably at this table. The two seats can be opened out for a bed, when required, giving sleeping quarters for four. A wardrobe on the side takes care of their clothes, while trim cupboards in the ends take care of dishes and other belongings.

When it gets warmer they may move out to a lake or river front location. And whenever the spirit moves them they can hitch their car on in front and move on. They don't intend to spend the rest of their lives in a trailer, they say, but they have a notion to cruise about a little before they settle down and pick out the most satisfactory place to live. They had intended to spend the past winter in Texas, had the husband not secured good employment at the Clark plant. But eventually they will drift out of town along the concrete ribbons looking for the place they prefer to live in. It may be in Texas or it may be Buchanan, or it may be back in Buchanan. But they want to live about a bit to make sure.

Hedler of the Bendix Products Corporation of South Bend will be one of the most sensational attractions at the Blossom Time Air Festival held at the Benton Harbor Airport Sunday May 9th. Hedler holds the world's record for consecutive tail-spins and is reported to be out to set a new record when he thrills the Blossom Festival visitors on the final day of this spring festival. He will also do a series of difficult acrobatic maneuvers including the most hair-raising stunt of all—the outside loop—Hedler is one of the few pilots in this country who can successfully perform this act which was originated by the famed Tex Rankin who holds the record for consecutive outside looping. Hedler will also do a series of consecutive loops with a single roll through each loop—a very beautiful sight demonstrating his skill and precise ability in the air. He also accomplishes inside loops with snap rolls, two at a time at the top of the loop—and he declares he will not cease his aerial neck-breaking speed until he does an inverted tail spin. He is scheduled to go on the program at 2:55 p. m. and will perform one thing right after another for more than twenty minutes of dare-devil stunting.

It has been reported that many new streamlined planes will be on display at the show which will get under way with an opening bomb at 2 p. m. Competition is growing keen for the group or individual who sells the largest number of tickets to this show is going to win $400 in cash or a new Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan. To date one organization has sold more than 125 tickets, another 77, and a third group 52. One person has sold 62. The Air Show Ticket Office is at Brown Bros. Ford Sales, W. Main St. Tickets are 50 cents including tax.

Two round-trip flights on the giant flagships of American Airlines, Inc., from Chicago to New York will be given away to the holders of "lucky" tickets. These will be chosen by the 1937 Blossom Queen at the air show intermission, 3:30 P. M. Sunday, May 9. The winner of the New Ford will be announced at this time by John Kagel, Professional Announcer from the National Sound System and by Chief of the Announcing Staff Frank Blanning of Benton Harbor, Assisted by Tom Mitchell and their committee.

was never really crusty at heart at all. It was just a defense mechanism, intended to stand the local gals off until the Chicago headquarters could take charge.

Added Later: The preceding was written before the party and hit things fairly straight under the circumstances. About the only necessary addition is that during the ordeal Bob broke down and confessed that the date will be May 15, the place the "little brick church around the corner" in Chicago. Oh yes—the girl is Miss Irma Shelborn of Chicago. Remaining regular guys on the Co-ops staff are Bennie Metzgar, Ed Kell, Harvey Letcher and Dale Nelson.

Jumpin' Joe writes his brother Clem that he is still wrestling in Australia, being in Sydney at last reports. It is late fall there and winter is just settling in. He will remain during the winter, starting home toward Australian spring, visiting South Africa, Italy, France, Germany and England en route home.

Clem Sohn, "batman" who plunged to his death at Vincennes, France Sunday, was an acquaintance of Richard Schram, who met the aerial stunt artist a number of times during a week of stunting at South Bend.

The American Legion is having the interior of the postoffice redecorated. Fred Schwartz is doing the work.

Local business people and employees of South Bend firms living in Buchanan, who have hitherto had an hour's advantage in time over South Bend, lost it this week with the setting of the clocks ahead to the daylight saving schedule in the Indiana city.

Buchanan fishermen report small luck on the opening of the trout fishing season Saturday, because of the turbid streams swollen by rains. This week they are getting their last of the blue gills and bass fishing until June 25. Among things seen about town this past week was that of E. C. Pascoe and a young man dragging a huge concrete roller up the incline on the former's landscaped lot off Third street. For all the world like the human teams you hear about hitched to the plows in the Old World. The main difference was that in the Old World the team pulls the plow, whereas when last seen the concrete roller had taken charge and was taking the team down hill toward the fence.

Headlining the local spring blossom showing this week are the apricot trees, now in full bloom in the rear of the Clarence Dempsey home on Short street and at the J. E. Cook home on River street.

Elbers Talks of Value in Life

Mr. John Elbers, instructor of the speech department at Buchanan High School, spoke Thursday, April 22, before the journalism students on the subject, "Speculations on Life."

He began his message with the question, "What is the reason people strive?" He answered his question by saying, "People strive, people live, because they are continually looking for a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow." As an example of this he referred to an individual who sacrificed his reputation, his children, everything, in an effort to obtain his pot of gold, money, but his gold was the only thing that he had in the world. Like Macbeth and Lady Macbeth at the end of their trail, he found what he sought, but, what did it bring him?

In contrast to the money-seeker, Mr. Elbers told of a woman who went out at all hours of the night to aid the sick in her community. She received no pay for these services; but, when she died, there was not room enough to hold the people and the shower of flowers that they had brought her. She really had found a pot of gold far superior to money.

Mr. Elbers continued, "Looking at one another, I find that I do not know your generation; and you do not know mine, so one must not be too hasty to criticize. As you grow into my generation and a little beyond, you will begin to reach the crest of life; and you will have to feel your way along to be sure of yourself. Finally, when you draw near the end of your life, your pot of gold is whatever you are or what you have done. Your memory is your pot of gold."

JUNIORS PREDICT BEST PROM IN HISTORY OF B. H. S.

With the junior-senior prom about one month off, it is not too soon to begin planning for what the juniors hope to be the best prom in the history of Buchanan High School. The juniors gained a large amount of money from the annual junior play this year, and they are determined to spend it all on the prom if necessary.

The class states, "We are going to buy the most attractive decorations; and we predict that the gym will be a very picturesque scene, and one that the seniors will never forget. As for music, we are sorry; but the dance orchestra has not as yet been selected. However, you can be certain that it will be one of those 'low down, red hot, swing outfits.'"

The only message that the juniors wish to give to the seniors at this time is: "Come prepared for a good time."

FOOTBALL TEAM TO BE DRESSED IN NEW UNIFORMS

"Our football team is really going to be dressed up next year in an outfit such as they have never had before." This statement was made by Mr. P. J. Moore, high school principal, who had definitely picked out a set of fifteen new uniforms for the boys of next years team.

The uniforms are maroon and white, the pants being all maroon and of whip cord, a more durable type of cloth than the old ones. The jerseys are maroon in body with white shoulders and sleeves, shoulder pads being of a very high grade. The head gears are all white.

A sample suit is being sent to the school as a check to see that every thing is as it should be. When it arrives, it will be put on display in the hall.

NEW TROY NINE POUNDS BUCKS 7-2

New Troy's baseball nine pounded two Buck Pitchers, Jesse and Luke, for 12 sooties which they turned into 7 runs, while the Buck batsmen were solving the offerings of D. Fletcher, Trojan mound ace, for three hits and two runs.

Buchanan pushed her two markers across the plate on hits by Leiter and Virgil in the first inning; after that the Trojan pitcher kept things well under control.

New Troy scored one counter in the second, one in the third, two in the fifth, and three in the sixth frame. The Troy sluggers got to Jesse for five hits, two runs, and Luke gave up seven hits and five runs.

The Maroons were handicapped by inexperience, hitting slumps, and by hurling that was a bit wild and ineffectual.

Score:
New Troy 0 1 1 0 2 3 0-7

GRADE NEWS

Mrs. Heim's second grade took its first field trip Tuesday afternoon. The pupils observed the lark, morning dove, frog eggs, and buds of the oak trees. Richard Brewer has had his name added to the Dental Honor Roll.

Miss Ekstrom's fifth grade made puppet heads, painted them, and then dressed each doll individually. A radio loud speaker has been installed in this room.

Talks of Music And The Community

"Music and its relationship to the community means everything," according to the report given by Mrs. Harry Thompson yesterday.

Mrs. Thompson has been interested in music ever since she can remember. When three years old she made her first public appearance singing some Christmas songs at the church. Mrs. Thompson is at the present time taking lessons from Richard B. Young in Chicago. "Any one who has a will to sing can cultivate a nice singing voice," said Mrs. Thompson.

There should be more community singing taught not only in the glee clubs for the high school students, but to the grade children as well.

Strange as it may seem, music is sung through the mind, not the vocal cords. All music whether it be jazz, love song, or lullaby should be sung so the listener can receive some message.

At a music convention held in Detroit last week the idea stressed was that there should be more music for the people in general. "To me," said Mrs. Thompson, "the most interesting speeches were given at the convention by a Jewish rabbi, Catholic priest, and a Protestant minister as to the effect of music in their churches." In the church music is becoming more important every day.

"Five years ago I began to teach music after being urged by several pupils who wanted to take lessons."

For her leisure moments, Mrs. Thompson observes, "I find much relaxation in listening to Rudy Vallee and other crooners. Lily Pons beats them all."

"Outside of my home I would give up everything else except my music," concluded Mrs. Thompson, showing how much she loves her avocation.

SENIORS HOLD CLASS MEETING

A senior class meeting was called by Melvin Campbell, president, April 20, during home room period. After the usual preliminaries of roll call and the secretary's minutes of the last meeting, the president turned the meeting over to Mrs. Dunbar, class adviser. Mrs. Dunbar discussed the old business: payment for caps and gowns, invitations, and cards. The new business brought up was in connection with Skip Day. A definite date was set, and, as has been the custom for the past several years, Chicago will again be the city visited.

It was decided that tickets for the senior play will be distributed to members of the class very soon, and Charles Wesner was appointed to write all advertising articles about it for county newspapers.

Jeanette Levin volunteered to write to several newspapers and inquire about interesting sight-seeing trips which the whole group might enjoy. A committee was appointed to make out a schedule of these for the morning. Charles Wesner was appointed chairman of this, while Kathryn Morgantheau, Eva Kovich, and Clyde Shaffer will serve under him.

SPRING SCENES

By Lorraine Fletcher
The roads of the countryside
Which curve and bend
Are dusty tan ribbons
Which have no end.

The creek flows merrily on its way
Gurgling and laughing as though in play.

Like a narrow silver ribbon
Winding its curved way.
The new green of fields
Now released from the snows
Make bright pretty patches
Through which the creek flows.

Baseball season started nearly two weeks ago with a crushing defeat administered to the "Bucks" by Central. The score was 17-2! However, Buchanan's team had practiced only twice prior to this game and certainly that should be considered before condemning the team too much. The New Troy game was much better, the outsiders winning by only five points.

Members playing on the regular nine are: Donald Virgil, Richard Dohley, Dale Leiter, Dale Simpson, Olen Smith, Jack Polley, Lee Miller, Mark Heiney, with Kenneth Luke, Kenneth Jesse, and Wallace Lewis, alternating as pitchers.

The orchestra committee for the prom has been busy "trying out" different orchestras, and they expect to have one selected very soon. The prom is only a month away, May 28, and already students are making dates for the big event.

Nearly all plans for Skip Day have been completed by the seniors. Of course, the date is a big secret to everyone in school, but the destination is to be Chicago. So, underclassmen, one bright day soon the halls will be entirely void of seniors, and you'll know that they left bright and early (6:30) and won't be in town again until after midnight.

Frank Imhoff Has Almanac of 1845

An interesting old document was entrusted to our care for inspection last week by Frank Imhoff, being a copy of the Columbian Almanac, as used by Joseph McDowell, Philadelphia, for the year 1845, "and after the 4th of July, the 69th year of American independence."

The almanac contains the time-honored frontispiece, the picture of the gentleman disrobed and the front of his abdomen turned back in triangular flaps, with 12 signs for the constellations of the zodiac. It also contains the old time tables of chronological cycles, of ember days, moveable festivals, There is also a table of star and moon influence which is rather mysterious to the present-day reader, indicating among other things the times most favorable for bleeding. "Bleeding" was the old medical practice of letting blood with leeches or other methods as a supposed means of cure.

An editorial note states that "all the calculations of this almanac are made to solar or apparent time, to which add the equation in the hour table when the sun is low and subtract when fast for mean or clock time."

It contains a number of literary articles, reminding that in those times the almanac was often the only publication other than a weekly newspaper that entered many homes from one year's end to another. The first is a political song to be sung to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," written by Major Jack Downing, the pseudonym of Seba Smith, a forgotten American author and humorist.

Each month has a table of the sittings of the court of quarter sessions and the court of common pleas, held successively in towns listed in a court circuit. There is a naval story of the War of 1812. There are also the anecdotes and the "funny stories" which always figured largely in the old almanacs, and which furnish a notion of the humor of that day.

Here is a sample: "Mathematical Question: Suppose a feller who has nothing marries a gal which has nothing;

Christian Science Churches
"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 2.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 25:29): "For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 262): "Conservation to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligations to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them."

And here is another: "Halo Steward!" exclaimed a fellow on a steamboat on the Mississippi, after he had retired to bed, "Halo steward!" "What massa?" "Bring me the waybill." "What for, massa?" "I want to see if these bedbugs put down their names for this berth before I did. If not, I want 'em turned out!"

Scout Leaders Do Fine Work

Scoutmasters and Committeemen in Berrien-Cass Area Give Much Time

All over Berrien and Cass counties there are groups of men who are giving their time to Boy Scouting to a degree that most people do not realize. Sixty-five Scoutmasters and 21 Cub leaders are in direct contact with the boys, and if Scouting is to succeed in doing the work for which it is intended, these leaders have to be on the job every meeting night, regardless of what other calls there may be upon their time and of their desires to be doing something else. These men give their time, not only for the meetings which they direct, but give their time to attend training schools and answer the many other demands of Scouting; and along with the Scoutmasters are the members of the troop committees, one of whom is expected to be present at each meeting of his troop, in addition to which he attends the necessary committee meetings, helps to raise funds and do the many things requisite to keeping Scouting on the high plane which it should occupy. There are also the members of the Area Council, who have general supervision of the business affairs of the Area, look after the camp at Lake Madron, and spend considerable time in behalf of Scouting. Altogether there are over five hundred men in Berrien and Cass counties who are directly connected with Scouting, and they give their time to it because they know what it is doing for boys in the way of character building and in providing proper activity for boy life.

One notable feature of Scouting is that the men who give their time to it also give freely of their money in order that the work can be carried on; but there are not nearly enough of these men to finance the area program, which is the reason that the general public is asked each year to contribute to the budget. Last year there were approximately five thousand contributors, but the increased cost of everything has made it necessary to raise more money this year. Inasmuch as the Scouters give their time as well as their money, it is only fair that other people should help carry the financial burden, for the benefits of Scouting are to all.

Farmers Fear Labor Shortage in Rural Dists.

Harry J. Ludkins reports on Farm Conditions to Berrien County Solons

Berrien county farmers are fearful of a labor shortage during the coming summer, County Agricultural Agent Harry J. Ludkins reported to the county board of supervisors Tuesday afternoon.

Men are leaving the farms for factories because of higher wages, the county agent said, and although farm labor has been raised to as high as 20 cents an hour or more, farm labor is not being held.

He expressed confidence, however, that the problem will be solved and that the county's farmers will not suffer unduly.

The fear of labor shortage, he said, has been reflected in the cancellation during the past week of 104 acres of tomato contracts held by a large canning concern near Buchanan.

Mr. Ludkins urged the supervisors to encourage irrigation, which he said brought an additional $60,000 to Berrien county farmers last year according to a conservative estimate. He said Berrien county has more irrigation than any other county in Michigan.

Teachers' Club Annual Play

April 29 - 30

Max Fuller to Direct "Mr. Pim Passes By" at B. H. High School Auditorium

Samuel Beeler, president of the Benton Harbor Teachers' club, in general charge of the arrangements for the Teachers' club play "Mr. Pim Passes By," to be presented at the Benton Harbor high school Thursday and Friday nights, April 29 and 30, at 8:15 o'clock, reports that this year's production bids fair to be one of the most successful ever attempted here. He has a fine staff of teachers on various committees promoting the affair and assisting with the arrangements, and eager school children throughout the city anxious to help the teachers make the show a success.

Alden Bierman, instructor at the junior high school is chairman of ticket sales, and is proceeding with his work in his usual "go-getter" manner. Mr. Bierman believes that this year the house will be filled to capacity both nights from advance indications.

Max E. Fuller, a familiar name to followers of the Thespian activities of the schools here, is directing the play again this year. Lovers of legitimate stage productions recall his most successful Teachers' club play last year, and the many he has coached at the high school.

With an exceptionally fine cast this year, and a vehicle which long has been considered one of the "best plays", namely "Mr. Pim Passes By," by the noted English playwright A. A. Milne, Mr. Fuller will endeavor to give the public a play that will reach professional standards.

The roles are taken by the following: Mrs. Grace Weins, principal of the Sterne-Brunson school; Misses Madelyn Grigsby and Mary Louise King of the high school; Don Farnum and Arthur Michmerhuizen of the junior high school; and Mr. Fuller of the high school.

This comedy, English in its setting, human to the core, chock full of amusing situations, has everything one looks for in such a play.

The action takes place in the morning room at Marden House, Buckinghamshire, England. The fussy, and ever so conventionally British Mr. Marden finds himself in many predicaments, marital and otherwise. He and his wife Olivia Marden differ as to the directions in which their niece Dinah should point her affections, the aunt approving of dashing young Brian Strange, but the uncle vehemently objecting until—until— (but too much must not be told in advance).

Lady Marden (Aunt Julia) is a bawdy, middle-aged English noblewoman. She is 65 years old and in her own words "is proud of it". This is a fine character role which Miss Grigsby does exceedingly well.

Caraway Pim, an absent-minded old man, who passes by the Marden house now and then before and after an "adventuring" trip to Australia, causes much consternation to Mr. Marden, and provokes great laughter because of the predicaments developing as a result of his bobbing in and out.

AROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

History in the national sense and in a journalistic and typographical sense may be gleaned from some old papers given to the Record office by Mrs. R. P. Thompson.

The papers consist of a Harpers Weekly of Sept. 21, 1901 and several numbers of the Grand Rapids Herald and Press of approximate dates featuring the death of President McKinley by assassination and the succession of Theodore Roosevelt. Numbers of the Grand Rapids Press and the Toronto (Can.) Globe deal with the death of Queen Victoria. The illustrations comprise an interesting combination of the old hand engravings and the modern photo engravings then coming in.

Especially interesting is a woodcut of Queen Victoria surrounded by a border of black an inch wide which takes up all but a column of the front page of the Toronto Globe. At the top is the streamer headline: "1837—The Victorian Era Has Ended—1901." In the papers dealing with the death of McKinley the youthful face of Theodore Roosevelt is prominently portrayed. A group picture of Roosevelt's children shows Alice in the center surrounded by the younger children, with the youngest, Quentin, a curly-haired baby of about two, sitting on the arm of her chair. Seventeen years later his death in a "flaming coffin" in aerial battle in France was a death blow to his father.

A terrace of field stone is to be placed in front of the Kent residence on Main street, hard rains having gullied the turf above the sidewalk.

Buchanan grocers report the tail-end of the current grape fruit offerings, with a late supply of the fruit from Texas and Florida. A little later, in the fore part of the summer, there will be a special crop in from the new Arizona plantings at a higher price. But the orchardists of the U. S. with some help from Hawaii, keep the orange supply going the year around.

Walton Becker, who has the unique profession of "bowyer" as an avocation, is at work in his shop on a new batch of bows made from a perfect osage orange log which he recently acquired. Becker says the modern machine made bow is more precise and more deadly than those used either by the medieval English or the Indians. They are made shorter, the old English bow being six feet long, whereas the present-day bow is from 5 to 5½ feet long. A 5½ foot bow with a 65 pound draw will kill a bull he says. The shorter bow has a faster release or snap back to its straight position, releasing the arrow faster. Target bows have about a 45-pound draw and hunting bows have from 65 to 100 pound drawers. The old bow was round, whereas the present day bows are wide and flat.
