

To Hold Exhibit of New Methods in 'Spud' Culture

Demonstrations, Test Plots to be Shown September 2 at Lake City.

Forty acres of potato demonstration and test plots will be on exhibit for Michigan potato growers who attend Potato Field Day at Lake City, Sept. 2. About 2500 growers are expected to attend.

This event, sponsored by Michigan State College and under the supervision of H. C. Moore, potato specialist, will include various exhibits and demonstrations of machinery showing latest types in planting, spraying, digging, and grading. Other exhibits will show new and standard potato varieties, the best methods of disease and insect control, and how to harvest and grade potatoes to get the better prices.

To Discuss Potato Irrigation
The program includes discussion of the work being done with irrigation of potatoes by George Amundsen of the agricultural engineering department; potato disease and insect control presented by J. H. Muncie, plant pathologist, and C. B. Dibble of the entomology department; methods of applying commercial fertilizers by George Grantham of the soils department; development of new varieties explained by E. J. Wheeler of the "Patent" department.
After lunch, which may be brought from home or procured on the grounds, Ashley Berridge, superintendent of the Lake City extension station, will discuss the development and operation of the extension station, and the work of agricultural extension, will give a brief address.

Grade Display Slated
Potato graders will be on display.

Membership Increased by 80 in 1937

August Report of Production Credit Ass'n. Reveals Total of 333 Members.

Eighty new members have been added to the Benton Harbor Production Credit Association this year, according to the August 1 report of Paul H. Smith, secretary-treasurer of the organization. The association now has 333 members.

The amount of money loaned in the first seven months of 1937 is 50 per cent greater than for CHILDREN IN COURT. The Michigan Liquor Control Commission is today enforcing its order calling for the revocation of the license of any establishment in which slot machines, baffle boards or any kind of skill games may be found. The prohibition extends to rooms connected with rooms in which liquor is sold or served.

If county and city enforcement officials throughout Michigan follow the example of state authorities and confiscate all slot machines in establishments where liquor is not sold, Michigan will be setting an example which law-abiding citizens in other states can urge their own city, county and state officials to adopt.

Berrien county has the greatest number of members in the association, but exceeds Van Buren county by a very small margin. There are fewer members in Cass and Allegan counties, but the amount loaned to these members averages more than in the other counties.

More than 50 per cent of the Bankers' loans are for marketing fruit farming operations, Mr. Smith says. However, the territory includes much general farming so that there is a wide diversity of loans. March, April and May comprise the greatest lending periods, but the demands of general farming are increasing the loans for the other months of the year.

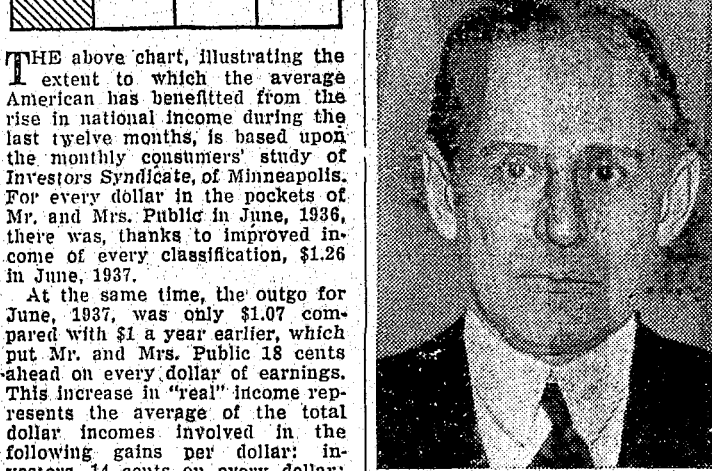

Several industries closely allied with farming have inquired about loans from the association, but loans are confined to farms, Mr. Smith said.

Chain Store Taxes Less Popular in 1937

That protests from consumer and farm groups are putting the brakes on legislation which forces chain stores to raise their prices to consumers, is shown in a survey of bills proposed and laws enacted by State Legislatures in their recent sessions. Altogether 98 anti-chain store tax bills, intended to cripple chain stores, were introduced in the Legislatures of 32 states during their 1937 sessions. But only five of these once popular measures became laws, the other 93 being killed or failing to pass.

Wisconsin and Maine led in the trend away from special burdensome taxes on chains. Maine repealed its anti-chain store tax, enacted three years ago, and turned a cold shoulder on three bills to increase the levy. Repeal of the tax was brought about almost entirely by farmers and farm assodations, who objected to the tax on the grounds that the chain stores are their best markets and that any laws which injure markets injure the farmer's income. Likewise in Wisconsin. Due largely to farm opinion, Wisconsin allowed its tax of $250 on each store over 25 in a chain to expire, and failed to pass three other proposals to continue this type of taxation.

Further indication of the growing unpopularity of anti-chain store legislation is seen in the failure of the United States Senate to enact a bill taxing the larger chains $550 a store in the District of Columbia. Although the proposal to soak the chains was advanced by strong opponents of chain stores in the House as an example to the rest of the country, it received little consideration in the Senate Committee, where it was quickly killed.

The turning of the tide against taxes intended to penalize the chain stores started in California. There a huge tax on chain stores was passed by the legislature and submitted to the people to vote upon during the last national election. To the surprise of the politicians favoring the tax, it was voted down by their constituents in 57 out of 58 counties. Since then, law-makers have stopped to wonder if special taxes on the stores which sell at low prices and make it possible for the masses of people to buy at low prices might not be boomerangs after all. For the public is coming to realize that special taxes on food chains mean higher prices, and farmers are already on record to the effect that they mean smaller markets and fewer sales.

Case Still Holding Many 'Lost' Checks
Leon Case, Secretary of State, is custodian of about 500 checks averaging $4 each, which the state of Michigan has been trying to return to their rightful owners for more than three years. In 1934, the legislature reduced the weight tax rate on passenger cars from 55 to 35 cents per hundredweight. But before the act was passed, thousands of motor car owners had already bought their 1934 plates. Attempts to Deliver Refunds Refunds were obviously in order, and accordingly checks were made out and mailed to those entitled to receive them. After three years, delivery has still been impossible in some instances. Only occasionally is a check claimed, but much more frequently people apply for refunds which they think they never got until their signatures on cancelled checks are turned up from the records. The great bulk of refund checks originally returned unclaimed in 1934, were claimed the next year; car owners when buying 1935 plates, noticed the cost was less, inquired concerning it and in hundreds of cases were presented with their refund checks. The checks are always good, but from all appearances virtually no more of them will ever be claimed. Incorrect addresses, or changed ones are believed to account for the condition.

Children in Court

The Delinquency Prevention Council of Michigan has undertaken a splendid piece of work which should be supported by every social, civic, fraternal, educational and religious group throughout the nation.

This organization is serving as the nucleus of a committee to stimulate parental education and leadership in the fight against juvenile delinquency.

The Delinquency Prevention Council operates by interesting and coordinating the activities of clubs and organizations already in existence in each community.

Organizations, such as churches, newspapers, schools, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, V. F. W., Legion, Federated Women's Clubs, Y. M. C. A., Parent-Teacher clubs, juvenile courts, etc., should contact Professor L. J. Carr at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., if they care to participate in such a worthwhile movement in their own locality.

Instead of purchasing a tube of tooth paste with the money his father had given him, a sixteen year old boy played a slot machine that stood in the store.

To his dismay, the one-armed bandit devoured his money and he had nothing to show his father for the funds that had been entrusted to his care.

Five boys stood in court yesterday afternoon and confessed that they had stolen several hundred dollars worth of brass from the city and various manufacturing plants. Two electric traffic signal lights valued at eighty dollars were destroyed so that a few pounds of brass could be secured. During the course of the trial, it was learned that the brass had been sold to several junk dealers. When the boys were confronted by the junk dealers they readily admitted that they would not have stolen the traffic lights if it had not been possible to dispose of the brass they contained.

Thousands of parents throughout the nation have been eagerly awaiting the opening of the present school year for they are only too anxious to turn over the rearing of their children to the school.

This is a task which the schools cannot accept for such parents serve as examples for their children when they are not in school. Nine or ten months work of a conscientious teacher can be nullified in an instant if a parent tells a falsehood and is caught red-handed in same.

A young mother who shielded her son in everything recently proved the means of laying a foundation for a delinquent career. Her first step started years ago when she wrote an excuse to the teacher after Junior had played truant. It didn't take long for the budding youth to reason that mother could always be counted on to protect him.
