Petitions Circulated Here for Proper Surfacing on Redbud Trail

Now Here's the Proposition

A feller's first duty in this world is to deserve sumphin'—his next is to try an' git it.

The Ballad of the Tired B. M. How daily doth the tired B. M. go staggering weakly to his car.

And backs his car into the street and toils his way into the town. But wild and strongly doth he curse as he draws up before his store.

Albert some gally customer hath parked his chariot there before; He calls unto the city cop: "Come rout this fellow out too sweet—Why should he park his car on Front when there is room on Berrien street?"

How very strange it would appear to callers from the country-side, If once our town should greet these calls with parking spaces broad and wide.

Though walking wears the half-sole off and takes a little time, 'tis true, Perchance the customer with cash may hate to walk as well as you.

And faced each day with crowded streets he might become irate and rash

And bid him for some other town, and—what is worse—might take his cash.

Where if we left our cars at home and rode shank's horses into town.

We might retain our girlish forms and keep our German gollers down.

Prospects Road Building Better

Federal, State, County Matched Funds Being Spent on Surfacing

Petitions were started last week along the Redbud trail and among interested people in Buchanan directed to the Michigan Highway commission and the County Highway commission directing attention to the merits of the Redbud trail as a surfacing project.

Interest has been revived by the anticipated release of federal-state and state-county matched funds for the surfacing of Michigan roads. While there is not a certainty of immediately available funds the prospect of road construction and improvement is very much brighter than a year ago and the plans of interested workers is to keep the project before the minds of the authorities who will direct the expenditure of the funds when available.

Michigan counties are gradually retiring their bonded highway indebtedness and improving local roads with funds that formerly were used for the construction of state trunklines.

Murray D. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, estimates that 52 cents out of every dollar of revenue from the weight and gasoline taxes will be returned to the counties this year. There it is expended for road purposes under the complicated Horton Act of 1931 and subsequent amendatory legislation.

Under the statute, 50 per cent of the weight tax returned to the counties is spent for general maintenance and construction. The other 50 per cent is expended by the counties on the basis of five priorities. They are, in order:

- 1. Retirement of Covert road bonds. 2. Retirement of general county road and bridge bonds. 3. Retirement of township highway bonds. 4. Maintenance of additional township roads absorbed by the county beyond the 20 per cent annual minimum required by the McNitt law. 5. Balance divided between the county and the cities and villages on a direct population basis.

Merchants Tie South Bend 11

The Buchanan Merchants celebrated their debut in the St. Joe Valley League Sunday by tying the Conservative Life team of South Bend 7 to 7, at Athletic Park.

The Merchants scored in the first quarter on a pass from Topash to Hattenbach, for 40 yards, placing the ball on the opponents 18 yard line. From there they made first downs to the three yard line and Batchelor took the ball over on the next play. On the try for the extra point Deeds kicked the ball but it was blocked. But the South Bend players, ignorant apparently of the new rule which makes a blocked ball a free ball, failed to fall on it and Phingst picked it up and carried it over for the point.

The Conservative Life made a sustained drive for 40 yards in the first quarter to the 20 yard line, where it was taken across by a run by Augustine, quarterback. Scott added the extra point. From that point each team played cautiously and no more scores were made.

The Merchants will play next Sunday with the Kamm Beer eleven at Athletic park the game opening at 2:30 p. m. The Kammers are rated as one of the strongest teams in the league, which, in addition to Buchanan, comprises South Bend and Mishawaka teams.

Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

By HAWES

CHAPTER VII When I left off last week I was still in Oslo, only two days after arrival in Gothenberg, and with only a short time to reach my first main objective, the Midsummer Night festivals in Dalecarlia on the evening of June 24.

My problem was to see as much of Norway as possible and yet arrive in northern Sweden for the ancient rites. I took the matter up with the young lady clerk at the hotel. She had been educated in London and could speak English fluently. She told me to go to the government travel bureau at the main railway station. The private travel bureau, she said, would spend my money for me. So that Sunday afternoon I went to the government "Reisabureau" and found of course that it had closed shortly before my arrival. It was absolutely necessary that I get off on the Monday morning train

New Michigan Egg Grades

John B. Strange, commissioner of the State Department of Agriculture, recently announced the signing of contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the establishment in Michigan of federal grades for eggs. At the same time, he cancelled the departmental rule providing for the sale of eggs by the pound, adopted over a year and a half ago. Four grades have been established, Michigan Fancy, and Michigan grades A, B and C. Only two other states, Washington and Oregon have been granted the use of "fancy" grade.

This system of marketing, established 9 years ago, is in effect over practically the entire country. Last year, more than a million cases of eggs were inspected at country points and terminal markets. States leading in this service were Ohio, California, New York, and Virginia.

Foods Going Down

Illustrating the downward trend of food, an advertisement by a local store elsewhere in this issue prices round, sirloin or swiss steaks at 10 cents a pound. The price of these meats at this store last week end was 25 cents a pound. Drops in meat and general food prices have been too numerous to mention.

The William Lingle home on North Oak has been purchased by Arthur Wile who will occupy it at once.

Library to Open With WPA Aid

Library Board Organizes; Association Names New Officers

Acceptance of WPA assistance in the conduct of the new library project and of Miss Mayme Proseus as assistant librarian was voted at the first session of the newly-appointed library board Friday evening.

It was agreed that in view of the great needs of the library in point of books and of the lack of available funds that would be required to bring the institution up to any reasonable standard it is not advisable at the present time to consider the employment of a trained librarian. Instead the board voted that Miss Proseus should be placed in charge and that she should be aided in the technical work of cataloging and setting up the library by a state field library worker, if obtainable, or by other available trained supervisory.

The secretary was authorized to contact the state library at once in order to secure the aid in the preliminary set-up which was offered by that department last spring.

The first act of the board was to organize as follows: president, W. H. Brunelle; secretary, Walter C. Hawes; treasurer, Mary E. Reynolds; Frederic Smith, fourth member, is acting as the connecting link between the board and the city commission.

Rites For Mrs. John Troutfetter Wednes.

Funeral rites for Mrs. John Troutfetter, who was killed in an automobile accident near Michigan City Sunday night, were held at 3 p. m. yesterday from the Evangelical Lutheran church at Three Oaks and interment was made there.

Her husband had been taken to the home of his brother, Henry Troutfetter of New Buffalo, where he is reported to be out of danger. He had been told of his wife's death but was unable to attend the funeral. Mrs. Henry Troutfetter, also injured, and her daughter, Beverly, are both progressing satisfactorily. The girl in the accident was not the daughter of John Troutfetter as was first reported.

Mother Of Lester Lyon Passes Away

Mrs. Charles Lyon, 60, died at 7 a. m. yesterday in Holy Family hospital, LaPorte, Ind., where she underwent an operation last week. Born in Hills Corners Aug. 11, 1877, she had spent her life near Gallen. Surviving are her husband Charles Lyon; a son, Lester Lyon, of Buchanan; three grandsons and a sister, Mrs. Addie Martin, Lake Wawasee, near Syracuse, Ind. Funeral services at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the residence and 2 p. m. in the Latter Day Saints church of Gallen. Rev. J. W. McKnight officiating. Burial in Gallen cemetery. Mrs. Lyon was a member of the Royal Neighbors.

Last Rites For Leazenby Baby

Services will be held from the home at 10 a. m. today for Archie Rex Leazenby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leazenby, 408 West Roe street, and burial will be made in Bremen, Ind. The baby died soon after birth on Tuesday.

Tells of Days When Caviar From St. Joe Brought Dollar a Pound

Jesse East Finds Picture 165 Pound Fish Caught in St. Joe B. C. Voorhees

Ordinarily you think of caviar as an exotic product, usually from Russia, but it is a fact not generally known that caviar hunting was once a profitable sport on the St. Joseph river and the product, in the form of sturgeon eggs, was sold to New York fish merchants at $1.50 per pound.

As much as a bushel of eggs was often taken from a single great sturgeon, according to Charles Voorhees and when cleaned and washed there would be from 30 to 40 pounds net of caviar.

This information came to light as the result of the uncovering by Jesse East of an old picture showing Voorhees and his sons, Clyde and Clint, with four great sturgeon caught in the St. Joseph, the largest weighing 165 pounds. In the picture each of the Voorhees is shown hauling down on a rope thrown over a limb and suspending each a giant fish tall as a man lengthwise. On the ground in front is the 165 pound fish.

These sturgeons were caught on the Moccasin bluff on Lee & Porter's land about 40 years ago. Voorhees used to seine for sturgeon there. He would swing out into the stream with a large net in a boat. The net was buoyed up

Indians Never Made Sewers of St. Joseph, Says Indiana Archeologist

Says Socalled Indian Graves on River Bank Mostly Refuse, Garbage Pits

If they ever want to turn the Buchanan district back to the Indians they will have to clean the river up before the redskins will take it, according to M. H. Birdsall, South Bend business man who makes the study of the Indian remains of the Michiana region an avocation which takes up from 15 to 20 hours of his time weekly.

Birdsall was scouting over the flats below Moccasin bluff for pieces of Indian pottery when he met him. Trying to be helpful he told him about the Indian graves which were opened when the Redbud Trail was graded.

"Most of these were refuse pits, not graves," said Birdsall. "Although the Indians had a town on this site for hundreds if not for thousands of years, they never made a sewer out of the river. They dug shallow pits where they dumped all garbage and which they also used for sanitary purposes. Come here and I'll show you."

Maroons Hold Victory Hopes

Niles H. S. One Up in Grid Conflicts with Local School

Coach Miller has his best team in prospect while Curley Bradfield is handicapped with only one letterman and the remainder green material. The advance dope on the game is thus outlined by the Microphone sport reporter.

By John Schultz The Buchanan's "Fighting Bucks" will play host to Coach "Curly" Bradfield's "Golden Tornadoes" Saturday, October 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

The Tornadoes is a team that is very victory hungry. They have lost four straight games. They will be out to make up for these defeats Saturday.

Buchanan, fresh from two impressive victories over Cassopolis and Paw Paw, will be out to make victory number three.

The neighboring city has only one letterman in Captain Lynd. Curly has been working hard in building up a team fit to match the Bucks.

The series between these two rivals stand at six to five in favor of the Tornadoes. The scores and the winners are as follows:

Table with columns: Year, Buchanan, Niles. Rows: 1926 (21-0), 1927 (19-0), 1928 (6-7), 1929 (18-12), 1930 (0-13), 1931 (6-21), 1932 (13-6), 1933 (13-3), 1934 (0-13), 1935 (6-33), 1936 (6-21), 1937 (??-??)

This year is going to be an all together different story, so Coach Miller and his boys say for Buchanan has one of the best teams in the history of the school. The fighting spirit of the team is at its peak and you'll see plenty of fight and scrap from the Bucks in the 1937 game with Curley's Tornadoes. Both teams are in the pink of physical condition.

The student body should be congratulated for its loyal support at the previous games. Next Saturday is the first home game for the first team so lets not let down on our part. Instead, lets triple our attendance and our cheering. A team with support will bring home the bacon.

The probable lineups will be as follows:

Niles: Lynd, le; Bachman lt; Carey lg; Kromer c; Miller rg; Prucci rt; Holmes re; Kraft qb; J. Cook lb; G. Cook rb; Saratore fb.

Buchanan: Beck le; Jerue lt; Hamilton lg; Bainton c; Weaver rg; McCormick rt; Simpson re; Donley qb; Smith lb; Leiter rb; Stevens fb.

Foremost in the minds of Buchananites this week is the annual contest between the rampant Bucks and the staggering Tornadoes of Niles, to be played at the Athletic Park gridiron Saturday.

Charles Simmons Taken by Death

Funeral services were held for Charles Warren Simmons, 74, Buchanan native and old time cabinet worker, from the Swem Funeral home at 2:30 p. m. Monday, with Rev. Rice in charge and interment was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery. Pallbearers were F. C. Hathaway, Charles Pears, A. H. Hiller, R. G. VanDeusen, Frank Rinker, J. E. Arney.

Charles Simmons was born in Buchanan Aug. 26, 1862, the son of Charles and Mary Simmons. He spent his entire life in this community, working for years in local cabinet works and later at the Clark Equipment plant. He had not worked for about two years. He is survived by two sisters: Mrs. F. W. Smith, Detroit; Miss Gertrude Simmons, Buchanan.

Mrs. Phoebe Esalhorst is improved at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Homer Cooper.

Dwight Sorrel, Crawfordville, Ind., is a guest this week of Miss Betty Montgomery.

TO THE UNKNOWN WOMAN (OR MAN)
It is a pet belief of our own that the administration of credit in human matters is no more than one half of one per cent efficient, if that much, and that the 99.5% maldirected credit goes where it goes on the basis of a mess of bluster and blah.

This is a criticism that does not apply to the dedication of a Couzens Week in the Michigan schools, in honor of the late senator and his very outstanding benefactions to Michigan children.

It is our belief, however, that if a board of review endowed with superhuman insight were to scan the records of all Michigan people, living and dead, and select the person who had done the most for Michigan children and for Michigan education as well, TAKING INTO CONSIDERATION OPPORTUNITY, RESOURCES AND SELFLESSNESS IN MOTIVE, they would finally select some unknown woman, possibly from a city, possibly from the back country. She would be a woman who spent her early mornings scrubbing one, two, three or more as the case might be of grimy faces, packing dinner buckets, checking warmth of clothing and all of the details that go to such an enterprise, and the remainder of the day in a sequence of such duties, devoted solely and selflessly to the development of the future citizenry of the state. It is our belief, moreover, that this board would then advise the setting aside of a week, or perhaps of a month, dedicated to the honor of THE UNKNOWN WOMAN.

Of course we may be wrong. The Board instead might select instead some unknown man who all his life rose early and worked late without great hope of especial honor or sizeable emolument, to finance the development of his own contribution to the citizenry.

Our point is that in many cases their donation often might often be far greater in sacrifice than that involved in Couzens's $7,000,000 to the Childrens Fund. But we don't begrudge the late senator his week or his place in Michigan memory.

THE SPORT-SPOILERS

As the result of continued lawlessness on the part of hunters and on account of a total lack of game law enforcement in southern Berrien county, farmers of the Buchanan and Galien district are generally posting their farms against hunters this year.

Here are a few reasons cited: Chicago hunters were shooting good mallard bags in the marshes northeast of Galien two weeks ago, a week before the hunting season opened.

A farmer west of Buchanan plowed under nine pheasant hens last fall, all shot by hunters: Another farmer of that district turned a hunting dog loose after the pheasant season and the dog brought in nine hens which had been freshly shot.

Many of the most flagrant violators are from nearby cities in Indiana, southwest Michigan and northeast Illinois. Some of these hunters hunt through the hills west of Buchanan all day, killing far in excess of the rabbit and other game quotas. There are no game wardens in the vicinity and they can hunt the season through without seeing an officer. Being the kind of hunters they are, they break the laws with impunity.

But the result is that the farmers are taking the situation in hand, closing their farms and the lawless hunters are spoiling the sport for all.

How Much DO YOU TRADE at Home?
Unnecessary out-of-town buying will hurt this community—and everyone of us.
Our home merchants have invested their capital in carefully selected, reasonably-priced goods to meet our needs and approval. It is doubtful if there will be many cases in which we could get better values and better service and attention anywhere else.
We must remember, too, that nothing freshens up a merchant's shelves like brisk home buying. It enables a store to show increasing variety for the benefit of customers. Our merchants are eager to supply the things we want. Let's see them first before we send our dollars away to enrich other communities.

TIGHTWADING THROUGH EUROPE

you go along. At first I always appeared to be in a sort of way, experimental attitude. If I had been a heart-throb mechanic like these guys, I would work at the Clark Equipment Company. I would doubtless have seen through them at once but I am a mere two-fingered tightwad. I pondered. I turned and looked and wondered.
 I remember the first hotel I stayed in as I stepped from the elevator had a funny knob for a door knob. I got up in the Arctic dawn to find the town taking the elevator.
 Finding it was the first of a elevator pilot down to the first floor, I tried to get the door open.
 I worked and worked at that door rather worried by the fact that the Scandinavians are rather leisurely in the morning and the rest of the minutes probably wouldn't be up for an hour or so. When I was just about resigned to putting in the time riding up and down the elevator until some one got up to release me, I thought of an extra twist I hadn't given it. It worked.

I wasn't the only American that had trouble with doorknobs. I remember that on one of the two tours I took in Stockholm the bus was held up a few minutes until the guide rescued a gentleman from Phoenix, Ariz., who had gone in some place and failed to get out because he couldn't solve the problem of opening the door knob. I mentioned frequently to the Swedes and Norwegians the advantage of a law requiring standard door knobs. I hope they will do something about it.

However the Norwegian and the Swede are not worried over mere convenience. The standardized conveniences that are the American's idea of living are rather outside their way of thinking. Several Americans were looking through a model house erected by the city of Stockholm. It was a two story building with apartments on each floor. The only bathroom, for joint use, was in the basement. It should be said in justice that it was a very well built and attractive structure constructed as a model for low-cost quarters for working men. But an American woman was aghast about the idea of a bathroom two floors down.

"It seems funny how Americans are always worrying about convenience," said the Swedish guide.
 "We Swedes are not afraid to use our feet."

That fact is very evident everywhere in Sweden, town and country. The Swede and Norwegian as well, loves his home and he lives in it in a sense that the American does not. He builds solid, permanent structures, probably on plans furnished by a staff of civic architects; he furnishes it with beautifully-grained birch furniture. But he doesn't worry about a bathroom on every floor, and a slip down a couple of flights of stairs is nothing at all in his life.

Well, I started some time back to get out of Oslo but here I am yet, trying to open a door—to get out of a bathroom.

I got up that Monday morning I was to bid Oslo goodbye, perhaps forever, about three hours after sunrise which is to say about 5:30 a. m. I wanted to have a little time to saunter about the granite streets and to be sure to get breakfast and be at that travel bureau well before 9 a. m. Only the street cleaners were abroad. I started to look for an all-night cafe. Not in the city of Oslo was there one, as far as I could find.
 After six the newsboys started delivering the morning papers—only in Oslo most of the newsboys are middle-aged women. Finally I thought of going to the depot lunch counter. It was not yet six and the depot was closed until that time. I got in when it opened.
 I found two separate lunch counters for first and second class travelers and one for third class.

Western Farm Sinks 200 Feet Into the Earth

H. A. Robertson is shown viewing the destruction wrought on the land he is farming near Buhl, Idaho, by the sinking of thousands of square feet of rich soil into the bowels of the earth. More than five acres has already sunk 125 to 200 feet below its normal level, forming a canyon. This phenomenon of nature, experts say, is due to a great fissure beneath much of southern Idaho and may doom a considerable area.

but no encouraging prospects for getting anything to eat for a while in either. I found that same division of lunch rooms in the countries. I believe that one reason was that third class lunch rooms were much frequented by the country and peasant classes who carried lunch baskets and merely used the tables, perhaps ordering beer or other drinks.

I went first to the third-class room. The outlook was rather dark to me. The women were working at cleaning and setting up but there was no sight of food or any provision for getting it.
 I sat down at one of the light tables and longed for a good American lunch counter where they throw the eatables at you before you are fairly seated. Finally I tried a little Swedish. The waitress, looked at me, rather scornfully I thought, and went on about her work, muttering to one of the other women something that doubtless was not flattering to me.
 So I went in the other lunchroom and was encouraged by the sight of a woman making coffee. There was a counter containing various pastries which might have been bread or cake or cookies according to the point of view. There again I failed to make connections with my Swedish, but they did understand the situation and sent a woman who could talk English. I gave my order and in twenty minutes or so I had a cup of coffee and a plate of pastry.

Anyway in the three hours or so I managed to get something to eat and to get lined up at the door of the government travel bureau a half hour before it opened. It was as well for shortly the other travelers began to arrive. I heard an American woman sputtering—
 "And Ed says, he says, 'just give me a ham sandwich and a bowl of tomato soup and let me get out.'"

Promptly at 9 a. m. the door opened and I rushed for a counter.
 That was my first experience with Norwegian or Swedish railway officials. I will have to hand it to them. For fifteen minutes that clerk labored over a schedule that would enable me to see as much of Norway as possible at the least possible outlay of money and to arrive at Bollnas Sweden in time for Midsummer. He was thoroughly in sympathy with economical traveling. When he had finally worked out a schedule providing, as I afterward found, for some of the lovely scenery of the known world, I failed to understand fully the connections and without a show of impatience he laboriously went over the ground again. I don't know how hurried the folks behind me were, but I was taken care of right before I left, with about fifteen minutes to spare to catch my train.

And now while I am sitting on my suitcase waiting for the electrified government train to draw up to the platform, let's see what I have overlooked telling about Oslo.

There was the Bygdoy outdoor museum, one of those famous outdoor museums which were forerunners no doubt of Ford's Greenfield village. All the guide books said that the Bygdoy museum and the Viking ships are the feature of Oslo that none should miss. My experience in knocking about confirms me in the opinion that you can get more real honest-to-John lowdown on a people, their ways of living, by knocking about the streets and the stores and public markets than from any museum.
 And there is no admittance charge.

But the Viking ships sounded interesting, so that Sunday afternoon I took the ferry boat from the pier beneath the outdoor restaurant, for the opposite peninsula where the outdoor museum is located. Just above the landing pier was a long V-shaped building housing the "Fram," Nansen's ice ship. From there I started to walk to the Bygdoy museum past many beautiful summer homes, including the chateau of Norway's king. Any place but in a Scandinavian country they would have had at least a bus or taxis to carry you from the pier to the museum, a good three-quarters of a mile walk. But taxi driving must be a starve-to-death proposition in Norway.

In a great frame of a building were the two Viking ships found in burial mounds at Gokstad and Oseberg. These ships were "funeral ships," the vessels of the great chiefs or kings with whom they were buried in great mounds.
 Both date from the 9th century, approximately 1,000 years old.
 They are built of oak that is still for the most part in good condition.

The Gokstad ship is 76 feet long, with a keel 66 feet long and a maximum width of 16 feet. The gunwales are covered with lines of shields painted red and yellow.
 There were rowlocks for 16 pair of oars; also a mast for a sail. In such a ship no doubt Lief Ericson set sail from Norway in the first recorded discovery of America.

Kings and princess were always buried with their ships. They were placed on beds of blankets covered with quilts and a shed was built over them, around them were their arms, jewelry, metal ornaments and even eating utensils and farming equipment. On the Oseberg ship was a cumbrous, intricately carved wagon.

I went about so far through the museum exhibits and then decided that, by reason of the numerous entrance charges (which the residents of the city did not have to pay) I had seen about all I would remember anyway. That later grew into a practice. If they want to see much admission I would decide that their show was not worth seeing. That saved money and time.

There's one more item. In one of Oslo's beautiful parks there is a statue of Abraham Lincoln, donated by the Norwegian residents of North Dakota, and unveiled July 4, 1914. Later I saw another statue of Lincoln, in London square. He is the only American that I saw so honored in Europe. Of course Woodrow Wilson is honored by the little countries of southwestern Europe and has a main street of Paris named for him.

Next week we will be rolling northward up the Gulbrandsen river, through one of the most interesting and beautiful valleys in the world.

The Two Classes of Overweight

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

YOU may read from time to time about the "different kinds of obesity-overweight," and if you are overweight you may wonder to which class you belong.

As a matter of fact there are only two classes of overweight, and while they have odd names their meaning is very simple.

The first class is the exogenous—
 "ex" meaning "out of," and "gen"
 meaning "beginning," that is, the cause of the overweight begins outside the body. Thus taking extra food
 and not taking enough exercise is the common or usual
 type of exogenous overweight. It usually comes on with the ease and contentment of middle life.

The second class is the endogenous ("en"-within, and "gen" meaning "beginning,"—beginning within the body), which results from some gland disturbance or deficiency within the body. The glands at fault are the thyroid in the neck, pituitary lying on the floor of the skull, and the generative glands. Each gland has its own type of overweight but sometimes the overweight may be due to a deficiency in two or more of these glands.

When the thyroid gland in the neck is not manufacturing enough juice there is an increase of weight in all parts of the body. It is six times as frequent in women as it is in men. "The onset may occur with mental dullness, impaired memory, and obscure pains in the legs. As a result of this thyroid gland deficiency there follows an increase in the bulk of the body, with a firm inelastic swelling of the skin which does not pit on pressure."

Skin Becomes Rough.

The skin becomes dry and rough and wrinkles in the face smooth out leaving a childish or vacant expression. The mentality, speech and bodily movements become sluggish. Constipation is usually present and the rate at which the body processes work may be from 20 to 40 per cent below normal.

In deficiency of the pituitary gland lying on the floor of the skull there is sometimes a family tendency noted, and it occurs as often in males as in females. It usually begins in the very early teens just before puberty—the age at which girls and boys are entering into manhood and womanhood. Attention to this condition is first given because of the great amount of starch and sweet foods these youngsters can eat without having any disturbance in the stomach or intestine. They have a great craving for sweets and pastries. That, these youngsters are going to be plump or chunky is evident even at this age. Fortunately the mental ability remains normal and there is no lack of alertness.

An X-ray of the skull may show changes in the gland itself or the structures about it. Late in the disease there may be eye trouble, blindness, headache or vomiting.

In this type of overweight there is a great increase of fat in the shoulders, breasts, abdomen and hips, while the forearms and lower legs are slender and hands and feet usually small.

In the generative or sex gland type of overweight, there is in the male wideness of the hips with also a great deposit of fat there.
 There is increased fat deposits under the skin of the chest, the abdomen and the hips.

Depends on Glands.

In the female there is lack of breast development and irregularity of the monthly periods.

When more than one gland is at fault, such as the thyroid and the pituitary, or the pituitary and the sex glands, the symptoms will of course depend upon the glands involved.

In the treatment of overweight, as more than nine of every ten overweights got that way from over-eating, cutting down on the food intake is the chief method of treatment if these individuals are to escape the dangers due to overweight—heart, kidney, and blood-vessel ailments. However, in addition to cutting down on the food intake these "gland" types of overweight need to take the special gland extracts under the supervision of a physician.

"Thus restricting the food or emergency intake to less than the rethe State Emergency Relief Administration, will do the actual work of selecting young men in Michigan and is now receiving applications for entrance into the CCC, although enrollment will not begin until October 1."

Under the new legislation young men whose families are not on relief are eligible for enrollment in the CCC. In the selection of men, however, preference will be given to youths whose families are on relief and to young men whose families are in need of financial assistance even though they are not actually on relief. A short summarization of the new regulations follows:

To enroll in the Civilian Conservation Corps under the provisions of the new legislation an applicant must be an unmarried male citizen of the United States, between the ages of 17 and 23 (last birthday basis), physically able to perform hard work without injury to himself, and free from communicable disease. The total service allowed in the Civilian Conservation Corps may not exceed two years, using July 1, 1937, as the basis from which the length of service is computed.

To be eligible the law provides that young men possessing the above qualifications must also be unemployed and in need of employment. For the purpose of CCC selection the phrase "unemployed" shall be understood to cover unmarried junior applicants otherwise qualified by age, citizenship, fitness, and character; not regularly in attendance at school; not possessing other regular or full-time employment; who need the employment, the job training, the educational and other opportunities offered by the Civilian Conservation Corps; and who themselves, or whose families, due to financial limitations, are not in a position to secure or provide comparable experience and training.

Children in Court

A father learned yesterday in Juvenile Court that a definite means of causing a boy to steal is to tell him anything in order to avoid allowing him the means of earning a small amount of spending money.

This particular youngster was interested in a young lady in his class in the local high school and disliked seeing other boys escort her to the soda fountain or movie. Consequently, as he was forced to work at home without an allowance, he quickly took advantage of the first opportunity which presented itself to secure money by an unscrupulous method.

experience that the longer a loan is carried the weaker it usually gets. Bank examiners are, in fact, very critical of a loan which does not turn over at least once a year. Prompt repayment is also better for the borrower for it strengthens his credit.

A bank cannot tie up its funds for long periods because most of its deposits are subject to withdrawal on demand. Furthermore, bank credit is for the use of the whole community and regular repayments are necessary for making fresh loans.

4-H Clubs In County Are Organized

Activities for Winter Season Being Organized for New and Old 4-H Units.

Four-H Clubs of Berrien county now are being prepared for their winter activities, and new clubs are being organized, according to Henry C. Gleason, district club agent. Organization of new clubs and re-organization of existing units is expected to be completed during October.

Work for girls is in clothing, in which 206 girls were enrolled last year. Ninety boys were enrolled last year in handicraft clubs. Persons interested in joining Four-H groups, or in organizing new clubs, were advised to communicate with County Agricultural Agent Harry J. Lurkins at his office in the courthouse.

New club must have at least five members and a club leader. The leader need not be especially trained for the work, although many young people who have been members in the past are taking over the duties of leadership. Leaders will gather late in October for a training meeting, and a second training session will be held in February.

The Four-H council, composed of Four-H club representatives, is to meet sometime this month to make the winter's plans for the organization. The date for this meeting has been set tentatively for October 12.

Clothing work for girls is designed to cover a period of eight years. It begins with studies of cotton, and continues with such projects as complete costumes, wool garments, summer costumes, the girl's room and children's garments.

Boys' work in handicraft is conducted on a basis of the member's ability and his years of experience in the club.

Two of the girls who engaged in first year clothing last winter were invited by Miss Lois Corbett, assistant state Four-H club leader, to send their projects to the Michigan state fair at Detroit last month. At the fair at Detroit won a $2 prize, which was divided between the two members, and a white ribbon.

The girls so honored were Alice Sill, Berrien Springs, a member of Mrs. Fred Kretzman's club, and Laura Belle Randall, of Pennyan school, Pipestone township, a member of Mrs. Albert Randall's club.

Holiday Turkeys Have Daily Feasts

Estimate Crop to Be Far Under Season Demand.

It won't be long until Michigan's crop of turkeys are stuffed with dressing yet in the meantime the best dressed gobblers, are the ones who are going to have daily feasts of all they can eat of mash and grain.

Estimates of the crop are being made by Verne Church, federal state crop statistician, but only guesses place the number of turkeys in Michigan at a lower total than a year ago.

"Growers' wondering about possible prices and profits are advised by O. E. Shear, extension specialist in poultry at Michigan State College, to be more concerned right now with feeding the birds to a good finish. Give them all they will eat, Shear suggests, because the quality birds are the ones that command the better prices and are more easily sold on any kind of a market.

"It's always wise to look into a good market," suggests Shear.

In Michigan fewer turkeys are produced than are consumed, especially during the holiday times. The solution is to try to find a special market. Turkey producers who do not have too large flocks often can market to better advantage if they dress their birds and sell direct to retailers or to consumers.

Back in 1930 the census indicated Michigan produced 250,000 birds. In more recent years the turkey production has been expanding. Last year estimates placed the state total at near half a million turkeys, but still considerably below the Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year and other season consumption within the state.

C. C. C. Boys To Be Enrolled This Month

New Specifications Made for Civilian Conservation Corps, Henry Meyers Announces.

Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, today announced the CCC operating program for the second quarter of the current fiscal year. This program provides for the operation during October, November and December, of 1,605 CCC camps, a reduction of 244 in the present number, and the maintenance of the enrolled strength of the Corps at 300,000 men. To bring the camps up to strength, the program calls for the initiation of a replacement enrollment program on October 1, which will continue throughout the month. Enrollments are being taken at the local ERA office. It is anticipated that more than 100,000 young men and 9,000 war veterans will be given a opportunity to join the CCC in October.

The replacement enrollment program scheduled for this month will be the first large enrollment held since the passage of the Act of June 28, 1937, extending the life of the CCC for three years from July 1, and setting the maximum enrolled strength of the Corps at 300,000 young men and war veterans, 10,000 Indians and 5,000 residents of Puerto Rico, Alaska and the Virgin Islands. Recent surveys conducted by the War Department indicate that the discharge of men to accept employment and the dropping out of other enrollees at the conclusion of their period of enrollment on September 30 will bring the strength of the Corps to below 200,000 men on that date. The exact number of men which will be needed to fill the camps to maximum strength will not be available until reports are received from the nine army corps areas later this week.

"The selection of young men for enrollment during October is now under way in every state," Director Fechner said today. "A preliminary checkup conducted by the department of labor indicates that there will be well over a hundred thousand applicants available for enrollment in the CCC the first of next month. The state selection agency, which is

VIVID STORY OF SPAIN The first film romance to come out of modern war-torn Spain, "The Last Train From Madrid," opens on Friday at the Hollywood theatre. The story is built around events in Madrid a few months ago which immediately preceded the departure of the last train from the stricken city before a heavy bombardment. The lives of ten persons, caught in the maelstrom, are thrust together in the powerful drama, and their destinies are worked out together. The cast is headed by Dorothy Lamour, Lew Ayres, Gilbert Roland and Karen Morley, and includes Lionel Atwill, Helen Mack, Robert Cummings, Olympic Bradna and Anthony Quinn.

COLORFUL WESTERN The Far West during the most colorful period in its history serves as the background for Harold Bell Wright's "The Californian," Twentieth Century-Fox romantic outdoor drama which is showing here Fri. and Sat., with Ricardo Cortez in the starring role. Marjorie Weaver, Katherine DeMille, Nigel de Brulier and Morgan Wallace are featured in the film.

SEA TRAGEDY LIVES An intensely dramatic all-but-forgotten piece of maritime history that was an international sensation nearly one hundred years ago is being brought to the screen by Paramount as further evidence of the apparently growing conviction among film producers that truth, in the hands of a good rewrite man, is better box office than fiction.

The picture is "Souls at Sea," which will open Sunday at the local theatre, with Gary Cooper and George Rart in the leading roles, supported by a brilliant cast. Behind the screen play of rewrite man Grover Jones is the tale of an actual shipwreck and of a man who "played God" with human lives on the brink of disaster and got away with it.

THE ROAD BACK One of the year's outstanding productions, Universal's "The Road Back," has been booked for showing on Wednesday for a two day run. The screen story is taken from Erich Maria Remarque's novel of the same name which caused a furore in Europe and in this country when it was published in 1931. Because of the revelations in the novel, Remarque was compelled to leave Germany.

"The Road Back" tells the dramatic adventures of the soldiers who returned home after the war; of the wives who waited and of the sweethearts who forgot their promises. It relates the unrest of a whole people, starved for four years who began with food riots and finished with revolution.

"The Road Back" starts with Armistice Day, when the whole world begins dreaming of peace. It shows the loves and jealousies, nates and struggles in a land aflame with unrest.

The cast includes Barbara Read, John King, Richard Cromwell, Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Louise Fazenda, Noah Beery, Jr., and others.

Schools to Close For M. E. A. Meet Buchanan schools are to be closed from Thursday of next week, while the faculty attends the Eighth Regional Convention of the M. E. A. at Battle Creek.

Supt. H. C. Stark of Buchanan is the retiring chairman and will be in charge of the program this session. Headliners are Rev. Preston Bradley of Chicago and Lord Marley, English statesman who will speak on "America and the Pacific: Is the Future With Japan?" Seven counties of southwest Michigan are included in the Eighth Region.

Log Cabin of Long Ago The log cabin once dominated all other house construction in the United States. That was when pioneers were settling the West. It used to be an advantage politically to be able to say one was born in a log cabin, for the cabin was the hallmark of democracy.

The Golden Text, from 1 Cor. 1:3, is: "God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 51): "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit. The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 201): "The way to extract error from mortal mind is to pour in truth through flood-tides of Love. Christian perfection is won on no other basis."

ous Cahokia mounds, numbering about 100 and of great size. He came to the Moccasin flats immediately on his return and is comparing what he found at Cahokia with the remains of this region, finding a surprising similarity which indicates that Indians of the "Mississippi culture" once lived at Moccasin Bluff.

The Moccasin Bluff locality is the richest in point of Indian remains in southwestern Michigan for 150 miles into Indiana, according to Birdsall.

Birdsall states that a mixture or succession of tribal civilizations and cultures is indicated by the pottery remains below Moccasin Bluffs. The two main cultures indicated are the "Woodland culture," including that of the various Algonquin tribes and the "Mississippi culture" deriving from the lower Mississippi tribes.

The two kinds of pottery may be distinguished by the fact that the Woodland pottery was tempered with grit and the Mississippi, with shell. Many shell-tempered bits are found. The pottery was made "for the most part from" native clay tempered by shell or grit.

After the pottery was shaped it was dried in the sun and then baked in a primitive open air kiln, little more than a fire pit. This work was done by squaws.

There are many distinguishable designs on the bits of pottery found at Moccasin bluff. Some have the "corded paddle" markings indicating that the wet clay was patted with a wooden paddle wrapped in cords. Other pottery had a "herring bone" design. There was a variety of figuring. Some vessels were coil-ware, made by rolling out long rolls of clay which were then coiled into the desired shape. Most of the vessels found in fragments were common utility vessels about 6 or 7 inches in height. Some may have been used for votive offerings. However, Birdsall found fragments of a vessel apparently 30 to 36 inches high.

The arrows, spear heads and like implement found below Moccasin bluff indicate many origins. No rocks suitable for such purposes could be found in this vicinity because of the fact that the rocks indigenous to this region had been overlaid from 90 to 400 feet by glacial drift. Consequently a great part of the local implements were of rocks brought from the Wyandotte Cave region in southern Indiana and the Flint region near Newark, O. Some are from rocks obviously brought from the Rocky Mountain region. Rarely may be found implements of an obsidian rock available only in northern Mexico. Others are of rocks whose origin has been traced to Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

It seems likely, according to Birdsall, that the old Indian town on the Moccasin flats was along the river extending from 250 to 300 yards back west and from about the Berglund residence, across from the Wynn cottage, south to the Elwood Horner and Jack Ekin homes. Most of the settlement was within a hundred yards of the river. The remains indicate long residence, for at least several hundred years and perhaps back previous to the Christian era. No other site so rich in remains is found in 150 miles.

Probate News Judge Hatfield transacted the following matters. A Petition for the Appointment of an Administrator was filed in the estate of Jean Hanks, deceased; Letters around Buchanan daily delivering mail of rural routes, 15 miles south and about 38 miles of route north of the city, says that he recently counted 21 freshly painted houses on farms along his course, the most he ever saw at once.

Builds Home in Spare Time Herbert Ryan, Sr., has demonstrated one way of getting a home for yourself. This last summer, while working at the Clark Equipment company, he has built an attractive cottage on the Berrien Stone road or North Main street. He has lived in the house most of the summer. He is now painting and plastering.

Those Big Apples Friday evening we were seeing those Deacon Jones Delicious apples at the Log Cabin fruit farm. Charles Voorhees says that he sold 36 of the apples weighing 43 pounds or nearly a pound and a quarter apiece, at 10 cents each. Three went to California, a visitor from that state taking them home to show the West Slope what Michigan can do in the apple line. The largest apples weighed about 1 1/2 pounds. They are as large and much heavier than the Wolfe River apple, because of the heavy juice content.

The Deacon Jones Delicious is a new variety developed by the Geneva experiment station of Geneva, N. Y. Voorhees grafted the variety on Dutchess, Wealthy and Virginia Winesap trees. He has his first considerable crop this year, from 15 to 20 bushels.

Henry Fletcher, old-time threshing man of the Wagner district was a welcome visitor at the Record office Monday with his daughter, Mrs. Henry Kreiger.

August Ernst estimates that he will have 60 bushels of corn off his farm on the Redbud Trail. Alfalfa with marl applications of several yards to the acre every ten years is his system.

Joe Savoldi Sails From the Antipodes Joe Savoldi took ship from Sydney, Australia on Oct. 13, according to advance information received by Clem Savoldi in a letter this week. He will go to Genoa, Italy, by ship and will tour Italy on a wrestling schedule. From there he expects to go to Paris, London and German points on a wrestling schedule, arriving in America about the holidays.

Artist Works On Clark Theatre Christian Nielsen, noted Chicago panorama artist, is painting a beautiful new curtain and a set of drops for the Clark Theatre.

Mr. Nielsen makes his home at Lakeside in the summer and in Florida in the winter. He has painted in Chicago for 58 years, starting at the age of 14 and continuing until his present age of 72. He is regularly employed by the Fair store, Chicago to paint large scale Christmas decorations. Recently he returned from the Grand Canyon and the petrified forest of Arizona and will paint a panorama of that scenery 75 feet long for the Fair store, while he is in Florida.

Nielsen was a veteran movie scene artist, having painted for the Felix studios in Chicago before they went to Hollywood. He painted for the Essanay studios, and for Carl Lemle when Mary Pickford was an unknown working in his employ for $17 per week. He was associated in his work with Marie Dressler and many other noted screen stars.

His father, Hans Nielsen Dahl, was a noted oil painter who made his home on an island in the Baltic, off the Danish coast. His pictures are to be seen in galleries in Dresden, Germany.

Bucks Down Paw Paw Aces 35-6

John Schultz and Matthew Rauch trimmed the Buchanan "Fighting Bucks" by a score of 35-6. It was a big day for Stevens and the rest of the team. Stevens scored four of Buchanan's five touchdowns.

Getting off to a slow start Buchanan found new life in the second quarter after being held scoreless in the first quarter. A march of 40 yards to the goal netted them their first score. After an interception of a Paw Paw pass Buchanan gained possession of the ball on Paw Paw's 41 yard line.

Letter passed to Beck for 40 yards. Stevens hit the center of the line for the touchdown. Smith's kick for the extra point was no good. Score: Buchanan 6, Paw Paw 0. This was the score at the half.

After the kickoff Paw Paw fumbled and Buchanan recovered on Paw Paw's 27 yard line. Stevens hit the center of the line for 25 yards. He hit the same place for the touchdown. Smith's kick was no good. Score: Buchanan 12, Paw Paw 0.

A fumble paved the way for Buchanan's third touchdown also. Paw Paw fumbled on their own 15 yard line and Trapp of Buchanan recovered. Stevens at his second plunge at the line put the oval over. Smith's kick was good. Score: Buchanan 19, Paw Paw 0.

The Bucks got a gift when the center of Paw Paw threw the ball over the goal line on a play from the Paw Paw 20 yard line. The man was tackled behind the goal line for a safety. Score: Buchanan 21, Paw Paw 0.

Stevens again scored after he intercepted a pass and was downed on Paw Paw's 20 yard line. On second down he went to the goal. Smith's kick was good. Score: Buchanan 28, Paw Paw 0.

Buchanan kicked off to Paw Paw's 30 yard line. On the first play Trapp intercepted a pass on his own 35 yard line and raked the remaining distance of 65 yards. Smith's kick was good. Score: Buchanan 35, Paw Paw 0.

Buchanan kicked off with the reserves in the game. Paw Paw took the ball on their own 20 yard line and put on a sustained march of 80 yards to the goal. R. Marcelletti scored the touchdown from the 4 yard line. Score: Buchanan 35, Paw Paw 6.

Carried Van Buren's Message

On September 2, 1837, the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad announced that it would carry, between Baltimore and Wilmington, copies of President Van Buren's message of September 5, eagerly awaited by press and public because of its bearing on important problems of national finance. The message reached Philadelphia exactly six hours after its delivery to congress—then a record for rapid news transmission. On September 2, 1837 (by curious coincidence) Samuel F. B. Morse gave a demonstration of the telegraph which led Alfred Vail to become associated with the inventor and to give him invaluable aid in the early development of telegraphy. Today, news may be transmitted electrically, in typewritten form, to the most remote parts of the country.

STATESMAN PASSES

National honors were accorded the memory of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury in the cabinets of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover and one of the nation's leading industrialists who died at Southampton, N. Y., at the age of eighty-two. He was one of the nation's four wealthiest men.

FUTURE BACHELORS OF AMERICA

Oh! Boy! Haven't we fun! The Future Bachelors of America are giving a pot luck supper. The reason is because all of the fellows were initiated into the club by eating raw onions during the first hour, and now they are going to have a real feed.

We have some fellows on the cats committee that will dig up some good things to eat. It is to be Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, for members only.

Faculty Club

The first meeting of the Buchanan School Faculty Club was held Tuesday, October fifth, at the Clear Lake Woods Hotel. A chicken dinner was served.

The main purpose of the meeting was to initiate the new Faculty members. There were forty-two present including the husbands and wives of the teachers. Mrs. Dunbar was toastmistress.

The new teachers were: Mr. Langer, Miss Graves, Miss Cernahan, Miss Quickie, Miss Reams, Miss Felhank, and Miss Rutledge. At the initiation Miss Graves had to give a ten minute talk on "The Man I Would Desire." Mr. Langer gave a ten minute talk on "The Woman I Would Desire." Miss Cernahan gave a poem, "Faculty Chatter." Miss Quickie furnished the music by playing on the Hawaiian Guitar. Miss Reams gave a talk on "Bulldozing." There was a play given by Miss Felhank and Miss Rutledge.

FUTURE MUSICIANS DISPLAY INSTRUMENTS

Monday morning, September 27, there was much confusion in the fourth grade room. Four of the members of the class had their new musical instruments on display. They had been receiving instructions from Mr. Robinson. They each hoped to eventually become a member of the high school band.

Gene Wesner has a trumpet; Donald Holmes has a shining clarinet; Dale Florey, a cornet; and Dionne Dillman, a flute.

New Grade Books

A look into the library accession book discloses the fact that 280 new books have been added to the grade room libraries. They are beautifully illustrated and cover a wealth of topics.

Some of the books are: We See the World, My Bookhouse Series, Cap. Chief of Police Dogs, Living in the Age of Machines, Where Our Ways of Living Come From, China Fables and Folk Stories, Stories of Great Musicians, Child's Garden of Verses, 101 Things For Little Folks to Do, Nights with Uncle Remus, Burgess Flower Book for Children, Parade of Ancient Animals, Boys and Girls of Colonial Days, Iliad for Boys and Girls, and Book of Cowboys.

ASSEMBLY

A group from Mahers Business College, Kalamazoo, will give a demonstration in an assembly sponsored by Miss Quade, October 15, at 3 o'clock. There will also be a talk by Mr. Maher on "The Advantages of a Business Education." The demonstrations will cover different machines which are used in business. They are: The calculator and comptometer, adding and subtracting, dictaphone, and stenotype machines. Besides this, they will give demonstrations on shorthand. Even though you do not plan to go to business college, it will be interesting as they are all new inventions and you may come in contact with them in later life.

THE FIGHT IS ON

That was the phrase on everyone's lips Thursday, September 30, and Friday, October 1, when certain students started throwing eggs in the study halls at B. H. S. It was in first hour study hall that Lawrence Zupke caused Bud Miller to drop an egg. Bud, slightly confused, picked part of the shell from the floor and threw it at Lawrence. All ended, though, when Lawrence ran from the room and Bud cleaned up the mess.

We Almost Did Too

Jimmy King—Gee, Louie, there's a man at the circus who jumps on a horse's back, slips underneath, catches hold of its tail and finishes up on the horse's neck! Louie—That's easy. I did all that the first time I ever rode a horse.

Exchange Column

The Dowagiac Chieftains won their second football game of the season Friday, September 28. They defeated the Hartford team by a score of 20-6. The Dowagiac eleven played Coldwater on October 1 and Three Rivers on October 8. From the Gallen "Crier" comes the notice that new courses of shorthand, typing, and manual training have been added to the list of regular subjects.

BIG ATTRACTION AT THE DEWEY SCHOOL

Can you imagine taking an interesting trip to Central Africa with your dearest friends, your school mates? The fourth grade of the Dewey School has arrived in Matadi on the Congo River (of course only in their imagination) to visit a new friend, Bombo, of whom they have been reading. With Bombo as a guide, they have experienced living in the native village, hunting, and going on trips through the thickly tangled forests of this very hot land. Travel in this country is much different than in our own land.

New students enrolled at the Dewey School. This week the first grade enrolled Jack Brown and Marilyn Smith, Billy Hooton, Marilyn Scherische, Daurealow Smith, and Ray Nelson in the kindergarten. Donna Marie Howard from South Bend was new in the second grade, Monday, September 27. Robert Reed was added to the list of pupils in the opportunity room.

Records of Immigration

Records of immigration to the United States began in 1820. For the period before that time the chief sources of information about immigration were the frequent newspaper allusions to the arrival of vessels bringing immigrants, of whom a certain number were "foreigners," that is, those who spoke a language other than English.

Buchanan Reserves

Lose to Harbor

By John Schultz
 Buchanan reserves played their second game of the season on a cold but football weather day Thursday with the Benton Harbor reserves on the home field. The Buchanan reserves came out of the battle on a short end of a 21-6 score. They tied their first game with St. Joe Ponties, 0-0.

Straight football was the policy used by the Northenders in their victory over the Bucks. Line plays mixed up with passes proved too much for the Bucks. Playing headsup ball the whole game, Benton Harbor capitalized on all the breaks that came their way. An interception of a Buck pass led to one of their scores. A completed forward pass with the receiver catching the ball on the 50 yard line ran the remaining distance to the goal. On an exchange of punts led to their third and last touchdown and straight line plays led to the score.

Buchanan scored in the second quarter. After an exchange of punts a forward pass to the Benton Harbor 20 yard line was good. An offside penalty against the Northenders left 15 yards to go. With fullback Martin carrying the ball on line plays they scored on the third try.

Invention of Horseshoes

Though the ancients were sufficiently impressed by the damage done to horses' hoofs to device certain forms of covering for them (in the shape of socks or sandals), the practice of nailing iron plates or rim-shoes to the hoof does not appear to have been introduced earlier than the Second century B. C., and was not commonly known till the close of the Fifth century A. D., or in regular use till the Middle Ages. The evidence for the earlier date depends on the doubtful interpretations of designs on coins, etc. As time went on, however, the profession of the farrier and the art of the shoemith gradually grew in importance.
