Do You Believe This? All Together "No" (W. Earl Dye in The Rotarian Magazine)

I am confident that all newspaper editors will go to heaven. No matter how eloquently the editor may boost for the development and progress of his community, no matter how loyally he supports a friend in politics, extolls the virtue of a famous native son, stretches the truth to praise a local prima-donna-to-be, or gently lays a metaphorical wreath on the grave of a departed, he seldom hears a "Thank you." Rarely does anyone say, "Well done." Almost never does he hear "We appreciated that." But let him make a slip—a punner in town take a whack at him, some of the worst knockers forget that they ever made a mistake themselves. That is why I believe all newspapermen go to heaven—they get their share of hell on earth.

Just That! Visitor (in editorial office): "What do you use that blue pencil for?"

They Used The Prizes on Their Husbands

Credit for the best prizes we have heard of to date at any local bridge, bunco, bingo, pinocle, poker—or what have you—contests held in Buchanan recently were those given at the meeting of the Buchanan Farm Bureau held at Buchanan Co-ops, Inc., last Wednesday.

The prizes had been tastefully selected by the chairman of entertainment, Mrs. Rex Milhon, from the stock of Co-ops, Inc., and consisted of halters, axes, and curry combs. Among those who were the lucky winners were Mrs. Paul DeWitt, Mrs. Nosh Anderson, Mrs. Ollie York, Jim Reed and Douglas Dean. Rex Milhon was the bingo barker. Coffee and pumpkin pie was served by the refreshment committee, Mrs. Paul DeWitt and Mrs. Ira House. President Bob K. was in charge of the business session. The boys who took poultry home were Frank Hamilton, Fred Hamilton, Edward Rudel, Ira Nelswander, Artie Weaver, El. Proudt, Charles Tichenor, Noah Anderson. In all ninety farmers attended.

Game Is First Of Cup Series

Senator Carroll Jones Offers
Silver Cup to Team First to Win 4 Games.

Buchanan high school opens its 1937-38 basketball season tonight with high hopes of achieving results comparable to those of the late football season, if they can get by their old rivals, Berrien Springs in the opening game.

Although Coach Miller has had only a short time to round his cage squad into shape, it is believed that he will have a strong team this year. The Berrien Springs team enters the first game with the advantage of an earlier practice start.

Zest has been added to the rivalry by the provision of a silver cup which is to go to the school which first achieves a total of four victories, the system being the same as that followed in the World Series baseball games. The cup for the Buchanan-Berrien Springs series has been provided by Senator Carroll Jones of Marcellus, representing this district in the state senate.

The game will open at 7:30 p. m. this Wednesday evening. Five letter men are back this year, including Simpson, Leiter, Beck, Stevens and Trapp. It is not expected that Simpson will play in the game due to an injured arm. Among those who may be seen on the floor are Hamilton, Wesner, Hahicht, Rober, Topash, Hess, Vergil, Russell, Pascoe, and Morris.

Hold County Farm Election

To Select Committees For Management of Soil Conservation

Chairman, Martin H. Kretschman, announces that the county soil conservation committee has set the date for the community elections in Berrien County. The farmers in each township will elect the community committee, which consists of a chairman, vice chairman, third member and alternate member. The chairman of the committee will be a member of the county board of directors. The schedule of meetings in this vicinity will be as follows:

Oronoko, Berrien Springs High School, Dec. 3, 2:00 p. m.; Niles, Bend of River Grange, Dec. 6, 9:30 a. m.; Bertrand, Town Hall, Dec. 6, 2:00 p. m.; Buchanan, Wagner Grange Hall, Dec. 7, 9:30 a. m.; Gallen-Weesaw, Gallen Town Hall, Dec. 7, 2:00 p. m.

On this committee will rest much of the responsibility of setting farm bases or goals. They will also be depended upon for the accurate reporting of the payment performances for the farmers in the townships. In this farmer operated program a heavy responsibility rests on the farmers in this election. This responsibility can only be met by having as many as possible taking part in the balloting.

In addition to the voting at the township election meetings, members of the County Committee and County Agent, H. J. Lurkins will explain the background and purposes of the farm program, using illustrations.

The agreement was that the railway company would refund $1 for every car carrying freight in or out from the plant for nine years or until the full sum was refunded. ### Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

CHAPTER XIV
By HAWES

The life in Sweden, as it appears to an American seeing it for the first time, is a strange mixture of indifference to minor hardships and an artistic attention to comfort.

The attention to comfort applies especially to excellent and plentiful food, to artistic furniture, rugs, and general interior decoration.

The indifference applies to a almost total disregard of the American concern about waste of energy, especially in a few extra steps here and there. It applies also to the Swede's hardy disregard for the discomforts of mosquitoes and the hordes of stinging flies in the forests, the only distinct drawback to the lovely northern summers. Your real he-Swede pays no attention to a mosquito. My brother-in-law's assistant, a tall young Viking with several silver cups for prowess in winter sports on a shelf in his room, strode about daily through the woods, naked above the waist, while I fought horseflies the size of wild turkeys—or so it seemed. Whether they are immune, or whether a horsefly will not bite a Swede I do not know.

A few days after my arrival my brother-in-law had scheduled a trip several hundred miles far back in the province of Harjedalen to buy timber for his company. We were to go back into the mountains near the Norwegian border and northward toward the land of the Lapps. I was invited to go along. There is no speed limit in Sweden and my brother-in-law's chauffeur wheeled along (Continued on Page 5)

Restoration Old Church Recalls Chapter in History of Buchanan

Former Buchananites Founded and Financed Sect

News of the restoration by the Seventh Day Adventists of the old "Larger Hope" church at the corner of Moccasin and Third streets was the occasion of some interesting reminiscences by Dell Jordan, whose memory and acquaintance extends back to the days of the activities of the founding organization.

The Church of the Larger Hope, Mr. Jordan stated, was founded principally through the activities of John Paton who was a resident of Buchanan in the seventies of the last century. Paton had originally been associated with "Pastor" Russell in the publication of that famous religious leader's first work, "The Millennium Dawn," collecting materials and working on details of printing. Later he parted company with Russell in a dispute over a matter of creed, and became one of the founders of the "Larger Hope" denomination, which was similar to the Universalist church.

Russell had held to the belief, still a cardinal tenet of the International Bible Students, that only a limited number would be saved. The "larger hope" which gave name to the church Paton helped to found was that all humanity should survive into a spiritual life.

Paton interested John Weisgarber, who for years operated a sawmill, his last building being that now used by the High Grade Oil company as a warehouse at the corner of Alexander and Oak streets. Weisgarber became one of the main financial supports of the local "Larger Hope" church and also furnished money to Paton to start a printing plant for the denomination at Allmont, Mich. Paton then went to Allmont and that place became a publishing center for the church. Among the leaders of the local "Larger Hope" church was a Dr. Berriek, a very prominent physician of the town in the seventies and eighties. Berriek had an office in the rooms now used as V. F. W. headquarters, over the Glenn Smith store. Berriek for a time preached in the church, in addition to maintaining and editing a local weekly in opposition to John Holmes and the Record. He owned and occupied the brick residence at Moccasin and Front streets now the Dr. Strayer home.

John Koenig Is 110 Years Old

Glendora Centenarian Has Birthday on Thanksgiving Day

John Koenig, who ranks as exhibit A-1 in evidence of the remarkable longevity of the citizens of Berrien county who manage to keep out from under the automobile traffic, will round out his 11th decade of life Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, when he will be 110 years old.

Koenig is reported to be up and about again at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Schmalz, a mile north of the Hills Corners Christian church, after recovering from an illness that had kept him in bed a short time.

He was born in Poland, Nov. 25, 1827, being just 10 years older than the state of Michigan. He grew up in Poland and was married at the age of 25. A few years later his wife died and he married again. He followed the trade of hand sawyer in Poland, sawing logs into boards by hand. When the timber became scarce in Poland he went to Russia at the age of 51, in 1878. Remaining in Russia until 1899, he came at the age of 72 to the United States, where several of his children are already emigrated. Going first to Kansas, he spent his first summer there in threshing and harvesting work. When Oklahoma was opened for settlement he took up a farm there, but gave it up when crop conditions were adverse and his farm buildings were wiped out by fire. He then came to Berrien county to make his home with his daughter in the kinder living conditions of Michigan. His second wife died Sept. 9, 1927, at the age of 92. Of his eight children, three daughters and two sons survive.

Koenig has carried an excellent digestion into advanced years and is able to read his German prayer book daily, his sole reading.

His hearing is excellent for his age. He has attended the German Lutheran church at Glendora until of late.

1st Ice Accidents

Are Reported Here
Buchanan was visited by its first real touch of winter in the past week, the snowfall of Sunday and Monday being estimated from 5 to 15 inches in different localities.

Thermometer readings on Tuesday morning were as low as eight above zero. Roads and walks have been quite icy. The first two ice casualties were reported.

Dan Ranahan fell while carrying a milk bucket on icy ground in his farm yard, breaking a leg just below the knee.

"Sky" Knight Quits as Pilot

Buchanan's Contribution to Aviation Resigns as Pilot;
Will Remain With United Airways

Mrs. Emma Knight and Miss Mattie Smith arrived home Sunday evening from a visit of a week at the home of the former's son, Jack Knight, at Dune Acres, three miles from Chester, Ind., jubilant over the fact that Knight had just resigned from active service as a flying pilot for United Air Lines, after running up an all-time record for 2,400,000 miles of flying, 18,000 hours in the air, during 20 years of flying.

It is reported that Knight will remain with the company in an important advisory and educational capacity. He is a native of Buchanan, was reared and educated here, and local citizen's regard his record with pride as Buchanan's contribution to aviation. The Chicago Tribune of Nov. 19 had the following to say of his record:

18,000 Hours of Flying
Knight's log books record some 18,000 hours of flight beginning in 1917 when he joined the army air corps and received his flight training at Ellington Field, Texas. During this time in the air he has covered 2,400,000 miles, most of it over the middlewest and the east-south slopes of the Rockies. In the future he will fly only for pleasure or as a passenger on ground business, he said.

Knight is known not for spectacular deeds as a pilot but for the surety and regularity with which first he carried the air mail back in the pioneer days of aviation and later flew giant planes filled with passengers.

The closest he ever came to the spectacular was the night of Feb. 22-23, 1921, when he was scheduled to fly a plane load of mail from North Platte, Neb., to Omaha as part of a trial run from coast to coast under supervision of the postoffice department. The trip was to prove to congress the feasibility of night air mail flights.

Bonfires Only Signals.
The only guiding signals from the ground were infrequent bonfires lighted by farmers along the route. Jack completed his portion of the trip, landing safely in Omaha, and found that the pilot who was supposed to take the mail on to Chicago was not at his post, so Jack took off again and flew the Omaha-Chicago section of the route too.

Bldg. Loan Joins National League

Financial Status Entitles It To Membership In
U. S. Body

The Industrial Building and Loan Association of Buchanan was admitted to membership recently in the United States Building and Loan League, according to H. R. Celarius, Cincinnati, Ohio, secretary-treasurer of the League.

In qualifying for membership the successful association submitted financial statements, by-laws, and other details.

The Industrial Building & Loan Association becomes a member of a national trade organization in this field that has over 4300 members. Its business is administered by an Executive Vice President and staff from offices at 303 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

The United States League, organized forty-four years ago to aid the work of the local institutions in the home financing field, has on its rolls today some of the leaders in American finance. The Industrial Bldg. & Loan Association will be entitled to send a delegate to the League's annual conventions and to regional conferences of League members and will also participate in the national programs for tax relief, home owning encouragement, and other work undertaken by the League.

Officers and directors of the institution include: H. R. Adams, President; F. C. Hathaway, vice-president; C. V. Glover, secretary-treasurer; Frank Meijer; Oscar E. Swartz; Frank Hahicht; Harry Berry; A. H. Miller and Arthur Voorhees.

According to a recent statement the assets of the association are $422,712.06.

Honor Return of Rev. John R. Day

An audience of 125 members of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church and friends gathered at the Parish hall Wednesday evening to enjoy a dinner honoring the return of their pastor, Rev. Father John R. Day, and to listen to an interesting hour of description of his trip abroad as a member of the official party of the national commander of the American Legion.

The distinguished party was accorded honors which no previous party of Americans had received, including banquet in Westminster hall, an address in their honor by Hon. Anthony Eden, England's famous minister of foreign affairs, and an address by King George.

They were also feted in France and Belgium, visiting many of the battlefields in the former country. They were accorded signal honors in Paris. They also visited and were banqueted at Strasbourg, in Alsace-Lorraine.

After parting from the official party, Father Day traveled through Switzerland and Italy, and had the privilege of an audience with the pope at his summer home near Rome. Father Day sailed from Naples through the Strait of Gibraltar for New York City.

Rev. George Horkan of Niles officiated very capably as toastmaster. Clarence Fulkus spoke in behalf of the church membership welcoming Rev. Father Day back; Walter C. Hawes spoke in behalf of the towns people outside of the church to the same effect.

Clerical guests present were Rev. John Sheridan of Detroit, who had maintained services here during the absence of the pastor; Rev. Francis Sharp of Benton Harbor and Rev. George Horkan of Niles.

Gasoline Stations Shut Thanksgiving

At a meeting of the Buchanan Gasoline Dealers Association last week it was decided to close all service stations on Thanksgiving Day from 12 o'clock until 4 o'clock thereby giving all employees an opportunity to get their fill of the days repast.

Public Spirited Encouraged to Give $1.60 each to Provide Milk For One Child

At a meeting of the Buchanan Parent-Teachers Association at the high school Monday evening it was announced by Mrs. Avea Lamb, school nurse, that the need for money for daily milk rations to underweight children at the local schools would be larger for several years on account of industrial snickening, and that about $170 would be required to purchase donated milk.

A canvass of the patrons brought requests for free milk for 105 pupils. The 80 hairpins required for the continuance of rationing to one student for four months will cost $1.60.

Mrs. Lamb suggested that anyone who wished to might donate $1.60 to provide for milk for one student for the period of four months during which the ration is given. Anyone who so wishes may go to the school and have a student allowed to him or her, and may receive regular reports on the condition of the student, so that they may be assured of the aid erected by their contribution.

The milk rationing was scheduled to start this week, and will consist of a half pint daily. This milk is secured from the local dairies at reduced price, 2 cents buying a half pint. A number of local citizens contribute to the fund but the amount needed is higher than was expected.

The program consisted of music by a group of girls from Mr. Koenig's department, followed by an excellent address by Miss Melita Hutzel of the Michigan Department of Health on "Social Hygiene." Miss Hutzel stressed especially the provision of normal community outlets to supply the natural desires of young people for group association, stating that care in such provision and supervision would work very greatly toward reducing delinquency among students.

She stated that at Indianapolis, Ind., and in other cities the school had adopted the plan of holding sunset dances, for students, from 4 p. m. to 7 p. m., after which the students would go to their homes. This relieved the school of the responsibility for actions of the students following late evening social events.

Miss Hutzel told of some notable achievements through adult supervision in Michigan communities.

The School World

A Lansing paper of last week carried a large cut of Miss Hope Kelley, with a story to the effect that she would preside as president Phi Beta chapter of Mu Kappa Epsilon, national honorary musical sorority, at the organizations Founders Day and Home Coming Program which was held this past Saturday. The Home Coming dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. Saturday at the Hunt Food Shop in Lansing, and the alumni presented a musical program.

Boy Scouts

A meeting of the boys and parents interested in the formation of a new Cub Scout troop was held in the high school building Tuesday evening, with Claude Carter, Buchanan Scout commissioner, in charge, and a representative of the area office present to explain.

A large Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held at the high school building on the evening of December 14, at which a special program will feature pictures of the national jamboree at Washington, D. C., and Rocky Mountain pictures.

Big Turnips

The most sizeable turnip displayed in Buchanan this fall was a 4 1/2 pound tuber raised by Lemt Brothers of Gallen, The Samso. Dairy display four large turnips the largest weighing 4 1/2 pounds.

73 Bushel Corn

The best yield of corn reported to date in this vicinity was that of 2200 bushels from a 30 acre field at the Samson farm. The average was 73 bushels to the acre. A fine display of corn from the field was in the window of the Samson farm dairy last week.

'WHOLE' HELP START MORE 4-H CLUBS HERE?

Next week Buchanan people who have an opportunity to attend that classic of farm shows, the Chicago International, will see much of one of the most significant movements in the United States—the 4-H Club.

Thousands of boys and girls from all parts of the United States, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska, will assemble in Chicago under a standard bearing a four-leaf clover with an "H" on each of its leaves—the banner of the 4-H club. They will be the prize representatives, the elect of the largest rural youth organization in the world. Back of them will be a million members of 100,000 local clubs, and nearly 5,000,000 alumni.

This year many Buchanan young people will be there for the first time. It has been a matter of regret that no person or organization in the Buchanan community has seen fit to put some energy into the organization of 4-H club work here. For several years there had been clubs at Gladstone, but the immediate vicinity of Buchanan has been neglected. This past year some live organizations have been organized at Dayton, and Mrs. Olson and Richard Koenigshof and the others who have been responsible are to be congratulated on their public spirit.

But there is yet room for several more 4-H clubs about the town before the youth are adequately organized. Here's a good job for the Lions club or for any other organization with civic aims. A service club at Chadron, Neb., borrowed $475 from the bank and loaned seven 4-H club boys $68 each to buy a registered pig—repayment to be in the offspring. The service club was to get two pigs out of each first litter, and the boys the remainder. The movement placed the hog business of the Chadron community on a purebred basis.

At Austin, Minn., two years ago a bank took over the financing of the purchase of purebred calves, hogs and lambs by 4-H club boys and girls, investing $1900 in 64 such projects. Every cent was repaid with interest. An Oklahoma boy added $1,000 to the year's profits on his father's farm simply applying the knowledge of seed quality, crop rotation and stock breeding that 4-H club activities had given him. The champion 4-H club member at the International Stock show last year was William Bainbridge of Indiana. He started club work at the age 10 with a calf his father gave him for doing chores, then branched into poultry. His projects for six years have realized for him a total of $7,127.

In a recent magazine article the significance and scope of the movement was defined as follows:

A search for the underlying significance in this organization takes us on a sweep through the prairie states of the Mississippi Valley and back to the turn of the century. McCormick's invention of the reaper had released a vast population of agricultural laborers; and the more aggressive farm youth migrated to the cities. Agriculture lagged, and rural population decreased steadily.

Leaders disturbed by this drift began organizing groups of young people here and there to improve farm conditions. Will B. Ottwell of Illinois started 500 boys and girls, on a corn-raising campaign; Dr. A. B. Graham, a supervisor of schools, formed a similar group in Ohio; and in Iowa, School Superintendent O. H. Benson gave credits for scientifically managed farm projects. These and other sporadic efforts grew into a single movement with "Head, Heart, Hands and Health" as the theme, and "4-H Clubs" as the name. In 1913 more than 100,000 boys and girls were registered under that emblem. A year later Congress made funds available for farm improvement through extension services of agricultural colleges, and counties got expert farm supervisors, part of whose job was to promote 4-H programs.

Expansion came swiftly. In 1921 a group of industrialists and professional men formed the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Work to aid the 4-H movement. It now stages the 4-H Congress every November in Chicago, publishes plays and a monthly bulletin, and "lobbies" for 4-H work.

What do these youngsters do? Well, what don't they do? They produce opera on a state-wide scale; put on drama contests with hundreds of clubs, staging everything from heavy tragedies to slapstick comedies; raise and sell pigs for money to equip their own orchestras; raise finer cattle, sheep, corn and wheat than their dads did; spruce up old farmhouses until they are ready for company again; plant trees by the millions, check erosion, purify farm water supplies, prevent forest fires, create wild game preserves, can carloads of fruit and vegetables, earn money for their education, and wind up the year by stealing the spotlight from the grownups' International Livestock Show in Chicago each November.

FARM WORK FILLS IN THE GAPS

The function of seasonal farm labor as a stop gap for industrial lay-offs has been evident in the number of Buchanan men who have been going out to husk corn and do other farm work during slack time at the shops.

Until the slowing down of industrial production during the past months the farmers were unable to get labor to harvest their abundant crops, including the best corn crop the district has seen for many years. Farm wages are not as high as shop wages although the pay for husking corn is up from a half to double depression wages for the same. It has been about 12 cents per shock and a man can husk 25 shocks a day in fair conditions, which means about $3 per day. It's not ritzy pay but it helps tide things along and it's good hearty outdoor work.

Linen Oldest Known Textile
 Contrary to general opinion, lightweight clothing is not always cooler than heavyweight clothing. This is true with linen, which is an excellent conductor of body heat. In the tropics heavy linen is worn, for it is coolest. Since linen is also very absorbent, says Pearson's London Weekly, heavier linen more quickly takes up perspiration than does light. Linen is the oldest known textile on earth and is very durable. The "winding sheet" in King Tutankhamen's tomb was in good condition after having been in the vault 3,000 years.

HOLLYWOOD

"DOUBLE OR NOTHING"

SMASH COMEDY HIT

Scenes that you'll remember, songs that will be hummed by millions, a heap of good, wholesome tom-foolery that will tune up your funny bone, plus Bing Crosby and Martha Raye, make "Double or Nothing" which opens Sunday for three days at the Hollywood theatre, grand entertainment.

Bing and Martha literally lay a velvet carpet for your approach to the high heaven of fun. They casually waltz seven new songs to stardom, including "It's the Natural Thing to Do," and "The Moon Got in My Eyes." They launch a "Swing Band." They introduce a quick-change night club show that will make night club history.

Andy Devine, "gravel-voiced" comedian, is in it, and so is genial William Frawley. With Bing and Martha they make up the four honest fortune hunters who are out to double $5,000 in thirty days. Plotting against them is Sam Hinds whose lovely daughter, played by Mary Carlisle, is enlisted to entice Bing from finance to romance.

LOVE BIRDS CAST

IN "BLONDE TROUBLE"

That vivacious pair of Hollywood love birds, Eleanor Whitney and Johnny Downs, is the romantic team in the comedy "Blonde Trouble" which opens Friday for 4 days. Lynne Overman, Benny Baker, Terry Walker and William Demarest are also in the cast of this screen treatment of the Ring Lardner-George S. Kaufman stage success.

"BORNEO" IS BEST

JOHNSON PICTURE

Certain that there will never be another picture like it, Osa Johnson presents Martin Johnson's greatest adventure, the pictorial climax of his career in "Borneo," a Twentieth Century-Fox release at the Hollywood theatre Friday and Saturday.

Termed by Lowell Thomas, the picture's narrator, as the isle of the incredible, of the inconceivable and of the impossible, "Borneo" is a startling picture record of sights seldom or never seen before by civilized man.

"LOVE UNDER FIRE"

STARS LORETTA YOUNG

A Scotland Yard sleuth taking a "busman's holiday in strife-torn Spain, Don Ameche finds the former land of bullfights and mantillas is still a setting for tempestuous romance when he meets Loretta Young in "Love Under Fire" which comes here on Wednesday-Thursday, December 1 and 2. Borrah Minevitch and his harmonica rascals present their version of traditional Spanish serenading, and the cast also features Frances Drake, Walter Catlett, John Carradine, Sig Rumann and Harold Huber.

Editorial

Klute Rockne, "the immortal Rockne," was to the fighting Irish what Johnny Miller is to our fighting Bucks. The Buchanan boys this year have bucked some pretty heavy lines which have averaged from 170 to 180 pounds. The Maroon line's average is 155 pounds. The 30 to 40 pounds disadvantage was overcome by the good, hard, fighting spirit instilled in the Bucks by our own "immortal Rockne." During the three years that John has been with the Bucks, he has endeared himself to all the students at Buchanan High School as "our Rockne."

Claims High Place in Ranks of State Teams; Win 3 Class B Victories

By JOHN SCHULTZ

The Bucks, as you all know, went through a football season undefeated. They waded through class B and C schools with ease. In class B they defeated Niles, their old rival, that seemed pretty weak this year; Dowagiac, another tough team in years gone by, seemed to be easy. South Haven proved to be our toughest game in the class B group. We won in the first quarter. In class C the Bucks waded through Cassopolis, defeating them 32-0. Paw Paw was next 35-6 with the Bucks turning on the power in the last half, to score 35 points. This 35 point decision was the worst beating a Paw Paw team has received in twelve years. The decision over Dowagiac was the first time we had beaten them so decisively. Waterford came out of their game with the Bucks with a tie. The Bucks only wish they could play that game over. The Central Catholic team of South Bend played us for the first time. We gave them a real licking when we defeated them 28-0.

The hardest game for the Bucks this year was their last game with State High. The boys were set for them and handed them what the "Kazoo" team has been dishing out to the teams in this county for the past three years. The Bucks were the first to score on the State High team in three years.

The Bucks not only won the honor of having an undefeated season, but had the best team in Southwestern Michigan. Best of all we can say claim to class B championship of the state.

The players' part in laying claim to the State Championship is as follows:

At left end this year there was a senior by the name of Don Beck. Don was called on to do the punting this year which he did very nicely. Don was very good defensively in turning in plays and blocking punts.

At left tackle this year we found without a doubt one of the toughest men on the whole team, Sam McCormick. Sam was always scrapping and always in the thick of the battle. Sam played his first and his last year as a varsity player. He was a deadly tackler.

At left guard we found Burrell "Snipe" Weaver. Although handicapped by his size, he more than made up for it by his scrap and was always found in the opponent's backfield at the bottom of the pile. "Snipe" is a senior.

At the center of this undefeated team was Charles "Kelsey" Banton. "Kelsey" did a great job on offense, but still better on defense. He was an ideal center. He is a senior this year.

At right guard we saw Bob Hamilton, a sophomore, who will be plenty good next year. This year Bob did a great job of plugging up the center of the Buck line. They call him "Hammie" because of his scrap.

At right tackle we saw Don "Kissey" Jerue until the South Bend game. "Kissey" became infatigable the Monday after the Niles game. While Don was in there he had a lot of fight and was a deadly tackler. After Don was through we found Simpson playing tackle on defense and end on offense.

Dale known as "Slipper" played very good ball defensively but at offense he was a whiz. Dale could catch a pass six feet off the ground or if it was only one foot off the ground. He played at right end during the offensive part of the Bucks' games. Slipper received a dislocated left elbow in the Dowagiac game that kept him out of the State High game.

At this point John put Donak at right end and used Russell Heckathorne at tackle. Donak is a senior this year. He was very good defensively, always on his toes and turning in plays that came his way.

Russell "Rus" Heckathorne is a junior this year and will, without a doubt, hold down the right tackle position next year.

At quarterback John used Richard "Pete" Donley, a senior and a real field general. "Pete" always used his head on choosing plays. Defensively Pete was very helpful.

John also used Glen "Toad" Smith at quarterback, also a senior. Toad was used at halfback when Donley was in the game. Toad was always dangerous on end runs and catching passes. In the last game of the season he received a bruised hip in the second quarter to put him out the rest of the game. Toad was very speedy and used his speed to advantage.

At left half we found a junior by the name of Dale "Zeke" Leitch. Zeke was responsible for all the passing of the team, playing a great part in Buchanan's undefeated season. Zeke also could run. On end runs he was hard to stop.

At right half we found Marne "Pep" Trapp, the speed of the team. Pep was very fast and was very twisty and hard to stop. Defensively Pep tackled to kill. Pep was the fastest man on the team and he used it to advantage in running.

The fullback position was filled by a 180 pound boy by the name of Earl "Stevy" Stevens. He carried the power of a Buck in his body. Stevy was very hard to stop and when he tackled anyone the player knew it. If you doubt my word when I say this just ask Foustler, State High fullback. Stevy is a senior this year and will be missed next year.

Mike Rotzeln is another sophomore who will see much action next year. This year he was always in the thick of the battle and had plenty of the old scrap.

Ivan Price played right end when he was in action. Ivan was a great pass receiver and played good ball while he was in action. He is a senior.

Suit, a junior, played at tackle when he was in the game. He will be around to help John Miller next year. He was a real fighter for B. H. S.

Dale Lyon, a senior, played a halfback position and did very well. Dale scored at South Bend from the 3 yard line. He had plenty of drive and ran fast and hard.

Keith Dalrymple, a senior, played at fullback and did very well in filling in for Stevy. He punted and also passed.

Ed Ingelwright, a junior, filled in at center for Banton and will see much action next year. Ed is big and tough and should fill the center for the line next year very well.

Richard Walkden, a senior, played at guard and filled in very well for Snipe in the center for the Buck line.

MeVlin Stoner, a junior, played guard. MeVlin saw little action this year but you'll see a lot of him next year.

Lawrence Bachman, a senior tackle, had plenty of fight when he was in action in the Buck uniform.

Jack Morris, a junior, played a halfback position and did it very nicely. Jack was very fast and will help out next year.

Bob Habicht, a junior, played at tackle and will help next year with his height.

Lee Topash, a sophomore, like his brothers is playing nice ball and you will hear more of him next year. Lee, like Dan, is a very good passer.

Paul Martin, a freshman, is a fullback and is forming into a very good man to be used next year. He is a very big boy for a freshman and will be heard about next year.

Mark Hieny, a tall blond, plays end. Mark was not used much this year but when he was in the game he played his heart out and you will hear from him next year also.

Now we come to a great part of the team's success, this is the coach. Coach Johnny Miller has piloted the Bucks to their first undefeated season of football. Great credit and praise is in order for Mr. Miller.

USHER CLUB

A short business meeting was held Tuesday night by the Usher Club for the purpose of discussing the uniforms to be worn Friday night for the Faculty play. The band coats that were worn by the members in previous years are again to be used this week. New uniforms will be decided on at a later date. The girls were assigned their positions for ushering during the Faculty play and the meeting was adjourned.

Last week was American Book Week. One week each year is set aside to give special observance to our books. An interesting thought about this line is the contrast of children's books and school books of twenty-five and fifty years ago in comparison with the delightful books of today. Our reading tables and book shelves are filled with many children's books so attractive in color, design, illustration, and content that adult readers often express a desire to read them.

An observance of American Book Week the first three grades presented an auditorium program before a grade assembly.

Miss Carnagan's first grade is making and painting bookcases out of orange crates for the library corner. Later the books will be arranged in the new bookshelves in their various classified order.

Miss Connell's first grade group is working on a social study and language unit. The children are discussing our community helpers, the postmen, the dentists, the firemen, and the policemen.

The A-group has completed the preprimer called "Dick and Jane Stories" and has started to read another called "More Dick and Jane Stories."

This group enjoyed a Pilgrim breakfast one morning not long ago. The children had brought some corn to school which was dried, ground and cooked in class. Then it was served to the children as a breakfast of the Pilgrims was also discussed.

Miss Pelhank's group is also starting a unit of work on Thanksgiving. A wall frieze of Pilgrim activities will be made.

This group has just finished making a pictured dictionary. After each letter in the alphabet a picture of the object beginning with that letter was placed.

The children have finished the first coat of paint on the orange crates which will be used to make a library nook.

Mrs. Fuller reports a new student, Joan Schoen, from Miss Southard's private school in Toledo, Ohio. Joan has two sisters who entered our school at the same time. Barbara in Miss Quickel's third grade and Marlene in Miss Connell's first grade.

This division of the fifth grade is studying foods. Each child has worked out at least one balanced meal.

The week of November 15 to 20 was National Milk Week. Carl Newson and Hadley Borders who are the milk distributors at school, wore the regular milkmen's badges.

Favorite book characters and scenes are being drawn in art class and later will be transferred to a frieze.

A short dictionary drill each day is enjoyed by members of the grade, especially by those who have good dictionaries.

It is surprising how quickly a word may be located with practice.

This sixth grade group is observing Book Week by making slides of "Robin Hood."

Miss Abel's room is making a large poster copying the picture of the Pilgrims going to church. The class has already studied figure drawing. Show card paints will be used on the large wall picture.

Almost every grade in the entire school has a membership in the American Red Cross.

The intermediate grades are also joining the Junior Red Cross. A rule of the organization is that the fifty cent annual dues be earned by the children. The grades have used various ways to raise the money. Fruit sales, fruit juice sales, and chocolate milk sales have been held, the profit to be used for dues. One grade gathered hickory nuts to sell. Another grade is selling old paper. Some children are earning their money outside of school and telling the class and telling how they did it.

A membership in the Junior Red Cross brings an interesting magazine to the room each month. Another benefit may be derived from letters and scrapbooks made and exchanged with schools in other countries. These exchanges tend to create a real and lively interest in geography and to promote peace between nations.

Dewey Avenue School Book Week is being observed by the fourth grade this week by learning the names and authors of many fine children's books. Slogans describing the care and appreciation of the books are also important. Each pupil made a bookmark representing a favorite story book character.

The second graders belong to the Junior Red Cross and will receive the magazine each month. They are making bookmarks illustrating the poem "A Magic World is a Lovely Book."

Members of the B reading class have finished the Elson Primer. They are: Fred Virgon, Kenneth Ferris, Elwood Hemphill, Arthur Bacus, Barbara Walker, Dale Dackus, Anna Bette Lindquist, Layend Mathues, Betty Ferris, Larne Anderson.

Junior High News

"Hey, we're getting all wet!" These cries came from the sixth hour science class Monday afternoon. It seems that Mr. Carter had made a fire extinguisher and wanted its use demonstrated. As Jack Frank seemed very anxious to do it he was chosen. He was told to go to the window and turn it upside down. As he turned it, instead of the water going out the window the contents went all over the pupils in the front row and gave them an unexpected shower bath.

Last week the eighth grade girls' Home Economics class finished the study of foods by having a luncheon during noon hour. The lunch was prepared by the girls during the second and fourth hour class periods. The menu consisted of creamed chip beef on toast, a glass of milk, and sandwiches served with a small fruit salad. For dessert, chocolate pudding and cookies were served.

Do you buy on the installment plan? Do you know the rate of per cent you pay by doing so? The eighth grade arithmetic class is studying these things, and have found that you sometimes pay as high as five hundred per cent when buying some small article using the installment plan.

Catherine Thompson, a member of the seventh grade, moved to Lansing, Michigan, last week.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

Everybody would have his lessons. Certain Junior boys failed to "cut up" in first hour study. The radio would be turned on in every room.

The office would run out of office blanks. The teachers would start using bean shooters.

The Home Economic girls and boys would serve everyone. Eugene Stritch would fail to skip school.

THE MODERN MIRACLE

As I walked into study hall Monday morning, a very pleasant sight greeted my eyes. Lo and behold! The modern miracle! Mr. Moore must have been up to his ticks again. There on the wall in the very back end of the room hung a big new picture in a beautiful, ornate, gilded frame. It was a large picture of a shipwreck. I was surprised to see it in the place of the tattered old B. H. S. emblem that looked like the last rose of summer.

BOOSTER CLUB ACTIVITY

At a meeting of the Booster Club, November 17, the members decided on filling baskets for several needy families.

Last year the Home Makers did this work and as the Booster Club is in connection with the home economics department, the same work will be done this year.

This girls' club will bring different foods from home to contribute to this needy cause.

SENIOR BANQUET

A banquet, sponsored by the senior class for the football team's victorious season, was held in the high school building Saturday, November 13 at 7 o'clock. For place cards slips were given out with names of movie stars which corresponded with names on cards at the table. The cake was decorated with a football design and the figures 1937. It was cut by Coach John Miller. A toast to the team was given by Shirley Trapp. Speeches were made by different members of the senior class football boys.

TIGHT-WADDING IT THROUGH EUROPE

the cireling roads at near top speed while I and two forest workers in the rear rolled from side to side. Finally for the first time in my life I got the land equivalent for sea-sickness and had to change to the front seat.

One of my riding companions in the car was the son of the superintendent of the lumber company, a lad just out of the national college of forestry, and now sent back to the forests to learn the business from the bottom, as is the thorough Swedish way. He had studied English for eight years, through high school and college, and spoke it readily although a Swedish accent combined with the English pronunciations that are taught in Swedish schools gave it a foreign sound. He was a highly intelligent young fellow and was so interested in pumping me about America that I had little chance to pump him in return about things in forest work.

Especially did he want to know about gangsters. Were there any gangsters in America now, and had I ever seen any gangsters? There was a sort of half-curious, half-critical light in his eye as he asked the question. American movies had perhaps taught him to consider the gangster as a main element in American population.

I told him that a gangster was nothing but an inferior rat and that while I had never had the pleasure of seeing gangsters occupied in the more spectacular activities of their calling I had prowled about curiously in the gangster infested parts of Chicago and had seen plenty that looked like the part. I told him that I lived within three hours drive from the most notorious gang center in America and that one of the nation's A-1 killers had been held at the county seat of my county for trial.

All this he communicated to his companions, who stared at me with wide-eyed interest, perhaps speculating on possible gang connections of my own.

After we had ridden about a half day, we stopped at a forest pension for midday (midday meal), served in reality about 3 p. m. A pension is a home made over into a hotel. It was one of several pension hotels that I visited in the course of the trip. I was now well back in "Norrlund" the term given to that part of Sweden north of Stockholm. The cleanliness and the beauty of these little hotels was a delight. Floors were of clear white pine, scoured to whiteness and kept that way. The woodwork was equally beautiful; the furniture was mostly of birch, beautifully grained, and often inlaid.

Some of the older places had a mixture of modern and antique furniture. The antique furniture has an amazing variety of colors and patterns, each district having its peculiar furniture designs, developed by artist workmen through long centuries. There is now a shift to a modernistic type of furniture of beautifully grained and stained birch. Lumbering and woodcraft in general is the main industry of Sweden and their furniture is unrivaled for beauty, as Buchanan people who visited the Swedish exhibits at the Chicago fair can testify. These homes and hotels were an interesting combination of the antique and of extreme modernity.

The midday on that first day was served in the elaborate Swedish style. We did not sit down at tables, to be served as in America. Instead we washed and went into a large dining room where the floors looked almost cleaner than the table. There was a long table spread with the smorgasbord which forms the first part of a Swedish dinner. It is just as well that you understand it is the first part only. It includes cold meats, various kinds of cheese, Swedish rye breads and hardtacks of varying kinds, and particularly that amazing variety of sea products that is a striking element in the Scandinavian cuisine. There were all those delicious Norwegian varieties of pickled fish, the caviar the stromming— but that had better be another story.

There were little tables about the room apart from the smorgasbord table. We would go to the main table get ourselves plates and silver, pick over the offerings and return to the small tables to eat. There was no limit in the number of times you might go back. Most of us went back several times. In fact a person was supposed only to take one slice of bread at one time. This is a minor detail of the Swedish eating ritual. You pick your slice of bread or hardtack, take one of several butter knives laying in racks on the table and spread it with a soft butter from which the milk has not been worked. If you want more bread, you go back to the smorgasbord table and repeat the process, but the point is that it isn't exactly manners to take an extra slice of bread and some extra butter on your plate. There other things, most which I never learned. Blessed be ignorance if an awareness only makes you nervous over your clumsiness. My companions were always uniformly courteous and paid no attention to my manner of eating, but once I caught two of the hotel attendants peeking through the curtain of a door and having much fun over the American's social clumsiness in Swedish manners.

Anyway no one ignored me. This was away off the tourist route and not many foreigners got back there, although everywhere in Sweden you found many who had spent some years in America. In hotels, pensions, everywhere I stopped, I was referred to as the "Americaner" (accent on third syllable) and necks were craned and curious stares were directed my way. I was, so to speak, in a spot. I hope lumbering manners did not reflect too much discredit on the social reputation of my native country.

We had browsed leisurely about the smorgasbord for a half hour, fiddling meanwhile with one of those curious Swedish radio sets that have maps of Europe on the dial face, with electric lights lighting up on the map as you get London, Rome, Prague or Moscow as the case may be. Then the waitress brought in the real midday or "warmratt" meal, consisting of hot meat and fish dishes, potatoes and other vegetables, plus coffee and pastry.

Never any soup. Never any pie. I didn't taste, or even see a pie in Europe, until I got to England.

But there was always a good brand of mild beer, called by the Swedes Pilsner or ol, with two dots over the o in the last term, having somewhat the same effect as the German ulmalt. There were also other alcoholic drinks that I steered clear of as much as possible, but that also is another story.

After midday I was told that I was to have the courtesy of a special car and a companion, a Swedish forest inspector, who was to accompany me about to be sure that I saw what I wished to see, and especially some of the more beautiful sections of Norrlund. For the rest of that afternoon and the next the inspector drove me about, this time in a 1937 Chevrolet, also furnished by the lumber company. The inspector could not speak English, but by desperate rallies of all of my meager Swedish I was able to ask questions and understand at least a part of his answers. He told me that his son was a newspaper man in Stockholm, that he was at that time in charge of a party attending the Paris exposition, and that he had been sent by a Stockholm newspaper into Russia.

We stopped at a number of little towns and at each place he would hunt up some one with a knowledge of English to act as interpreter. I was told that his time was at any entire disposal and I could stop anywhere as long as I wished. So I browsed and poked about strange old churches, with strong traces of Russian reminiscence of the days when Carl the XII conquered northern Russia and brought back Russian ideas of architecture. These churches had old paintings on the doors, walls and behind the altars; they had strange Asiatic-looking towers for the bells entirely apart from the church. Linguistic accomplishments are common in Sweden and the ministers could usually speak English.

I poked about in mountain farmyards, where the buildings were of logs, usually in the old black weather stain, sometimes painted in the Falun red, and arranged in rectangles, with the house at one end and the farm buildings along the sides. The inspector explained what I was doing to the good-humored mountaineers. These black log farm buildings, generations old, were nearly always lighted throughout by electricity, as the result of the plentiful and cheap current secured from the abundant water power. Again all was a strange mixture of the modern and the antique. Especially interesting were the old boat-like sleds for use in winter time. On the rear of one of them was painted in the almost indestructible old Swedish paint the date "1821."

Cow barns had pine floors which were scoured daily by the dairy maids to a whiteness rivaling that of the houses. The women care for the stock and do much of the farm work, except for the haying on these mountain farms, the men working in the lumber industries. The barns were not large, but had mows with steep runways with cleats for the use of the men who climbed them carrying the hay to the mows by hand. Mowing is often done by scythe on the smaller mountain farms, but the larger farms have mowing machines with 3½ foot sickle bars, many of them imported from America.

Next week I am going to tell about Vemalen, a typical Norrland town in Harjedalen; of Axel Halgren, "the black Swede," ex-lumber jack from Vancouver, who acted as my interpreter there; and of my visit at a mountain farm, and of the tales of the Trolls or hill and wood fairies that I heard told by the mountaineers, some of whom really believed in their truth.

Wife Teaches Lesson

A king of the long ago instead of promoting the progress of real improvement and wealth, namely agriculture, was so much wrapped up in sordid avarice as to employ a great portion of the labor of his subjects in working mines for precious minerals. His queen, wishing to teach her husband a lesson, one day ordered the table set with a splendid repast of gold and silver, wrought in the form of fruit. The king in vain sought to satisfy his appetite with the beautiful articles on the table, owned that gold and silver were, after all, only ornamental, took the hint and immediately set to work promoting the better use of agriculture.

Portage Church Has 50th Anniversary

A half century of development will be celebrated at the Golden Anniversary observance to be held at the Portage Prairie Evangelical church next Sunday, Nov. 28, with services all day, and Bishop Geo. D. Epp as chief speaker. The program will be:

9:30—Morning Worship. Sermon: Bishop George E. Epp, D. D., Sunday School following Morning Worship Service.

2:00—Music, Portage Prairie Orchestra; special music, Niles Evangelical Church; Reminiscences.

7:00—Song Service. Music, Buchanan Evangelical Church. Sermon: Bishop George E. Epp, D. D. Benediction.

Although the present church has been built a half century the Portage Prairie organization dates back to the fifties of the past century. Its organization was the result of the settlement of a number of "Pennsylvania Dutch," a pioneer of the movement being David Rough who came from Juanita, Pa., to Portage Prairie in 1849.

In 1850 and in 1851 the Prairie was visited by Bishop Seybert of the Evangelical church. In the fall of the latter year he organized the church with the following charter members: David and Ann Rough, Peter Rhoades, Justice Steiner and wife and two children.

Nickel Stronger in Cold

Life stops, but modern industry goes on at 328 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. Here quicksilver freezes so hard that it can be used to hammer nails, and iron vessels become as brittle as milk bottles, but nickel and high nickel alloys, which become harder, stronger and more durable the colder it gets, are used for working parts of compressors operating at this low temperature.

Half-Breed—Hybrid

A half-breed is a person or animal born or descended from different races or breeds. A hybrid is an animal or plant derived from crossing two different species. A mongrel dog is the offspring of two different breeds of dogs; but the offspring of a tiger and a lion is a hybrid. A loganberry is a hybrid derived from grafting a raspberry with a blackberry.

Shells Used to Store Water

Among the most useful things on the Great Barrier reef, Australia, may be named the bailer shell. It grows to such a size that shells which may contain a gallon of water are quite common. They are used by boatmen as bailers for their craft and for the storage of fresh water when only a gallon or so is required. The Aborigines use them for many purposes, chief of which are saucepans, buckets, bailers for their canoes, and safe deposits (or dilly-bags) for the storage of personal property. The flesh of the bailer shell, though tough, is eaten by the natives. The bailer contains more flesh per area of shell than any other shell on the reef.

RACKET SMASHER

Racket-crushing, crusading young Thomas E. Dewey beams for the camera after his recent election as district attorney of New York county. Running as a fusionist candidate on the same ticket as reform Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia he was elected by a landslide vote.

Bertrand to Hold Bible Conference

A four day Bible Conference will be held in the Bertrand Community church of Bertrand, Michigan, beginning Tuesday, November 30, and continuing each successive evening until Friday, December 3. The sessions will begin at 8 p. m. daylight saving time. Rev. John Lanting, the pastor of the First Baptist Church of LaSalle, Illinois will be the Bible teacher.

The Rev. Mr. Lanting's voice is familiar to some in Buchanan, as he has been heard in the Evangelical church of this city in 1929. He is a Bible teacher of reputation, having appeared on the program of the famous Keswick Conference of Muskoka Lakes in Ontario, Canada, and in churches of cities throughout the states of Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois. His voice has been heard over WMBI, the radio station of the Moody

Bible Institute in Chicago, and also from the Grand Opera House, where meetings are held each week day at noon, broadcast over station WJJD.

The conference is sponsored by the Berean Bible Class, taught by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Hyink. The people of Buchanan are cordially invited to attend.
