Maroon Offense Trims Bridgman

First Team Wins 39-12; Reserves Defeat Bridgman 26-24

By JOHN SCHULTZ Buchanan thumped the Bridgman Brigadiers in a rough and tumble basketball game here Friday night by the score of 39 to 12.

The Maroons missed shots very frequently in the first quarter but their stride later in the game they hit enough in the first quarter to get a 12 to 2 lead.

The victory came on the heels of a 26 to 24 victory gained by the Bucks second team in the preliminary skirmish.

Ex-Buchananite Builds Up Large Farming Holdings at Ocala, Fla.

Local Party Visit J. M. Meffert on Tour South

There's one ex-Buchananite now a Floridian who has done quite well in his adopted state according to the Buchanan party comprising Charles Babcock, Ivo Mitchell, Joe Haas and Jerome Sebasty, who spent a pleasant day and a half visiting with J. M. Meffert at Ocala, Florida.

Mr. Meffert went to Florida over 40 years ago and he has since built up large holdings at Ocala, including 2,500 acres of good farm land, herds of cattle and hogs, a large block in the city, a sawmill, a lime kiln and other interests.

In addition to his truck yields he raises much rye on which he pastures his stock. He also raises a lot of peanuts and beans which he grinds up and mixes for stock feed.

They visited also with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lungren and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pearson at Fort Lauderdale, and found them well and enjoying the winter.

The Buchanan party traveled 2000 miles by auto in Florida alone, visiting among other places, at Fort Lauderdale, Tampa, Fort Myers and Palm Beach, Jacksonville and other cities.

On their return they visited at the great park which has been built up on the Battlefield of Shiloh, occupied in part by a great national cemetery of soldier dead.

Finishes 207th Quilt Mrs. John I. Rough, who will be 83 years old next July, is completing the piecework on her 207th quilt, as a gift to her great grandson, Eugene Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Baker of Portage Prairie.

Mrs. Rough pieced her first quilt in 1863 at the age of eight years. She was seated on a block of wood in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. David Hill, Glendora pioneer, when her grandmother gave her some pieces of cloth to sew together.

Seniors Select "Wells Fargo" As Best February Play at Hollywood

Selection Marks Beginning of Experiment in Film Standards Study

The fine film, "Wells Fargo," which was selected by the Senior English class as the outstanding picture of the month at the Hollywood theatre, will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The selection by the senior English class, taught by Mrs. Velma Dunbar, was scheduled to be the first of monthly selections, undertaken with a view to stimulating a study of standards of criticism for moving pictures.

It was felt by the seniors that not only was "Wells Fargo" an outstanding play but that it also provided an excellent opportunity to see a film representation of a great period in American history.

scope that its accurate presentation within a single motion picture is an almost unparalleled achievement. Events in this quarter century include the annexation of Texas, the Mexican War with its settlements of the international boundary line and the United States' inclusion of all territory north of the Rio Grande, acquisition of Oregon through treaty with Great Britain, the '49 Gold Rush to California and the War between the States.

At the opening of the story, the United States proper was about half its present size. In the northwest were unsettled Indian territory and the disputed Oregon country, and in the South and West were the independent Republic of Texas and the possessions of Mexico, including California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

During these years, beginning at a time when the western end of the railroad line was at Batavia, N. Y., and continuing up to the replacement of man and horse by train and telegraph from Atlantic to Pacific, pioneer transportation interests played a vital part in holding the nation together.

2 Movies Shown at High School

To Illustrate Habits and Control of Chief Menace to Houses

The Buchanan Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor the Termite picture "Hidden Enemies," at their meeting at the high school auditorium Monday, Feb. 28.

The picture is accompanied by a "talkie" lecture by Lowell Thomas, explaining the growth of termite life in wood, and the means of control. This film was shown at the Clark theatre in January under the auspices of the Lions club but since many were not able to see it at that time, this second opportunity is being offered.

Since there has been considerable evidence of termite damage in Buchanan it will be to the interests of residence owners to see this film. Following this there will be another film "Brazil" with very interesting moving pictures of the coffee producing section and other parts of the country.

Busy Buchanan Men Turn to Stamps and Other Hobbies for Diversion

Suggest that Boys Starting Collecting "Wise Up" on Dealers Tricks

The fact that "hobbies" are becoming increasingly adult activities, and the serious pursuits of a lifetime everywhere rather than the casual fancies of youth was indicated by a recent stamp collector's meeting at the Buchanan Public Library.

It there transpired that the stamp collecting in Buchanan and elsewhere is being done principally by men, usually men of affairs with many responsibilities, who turn to such collecting as a diversion from business or industrial life.

Jack Boone, for instance, specializes in United States commemorative stamps, and all Canadian stamps with very specific requirements in each stamp. These he has carefully mounted in a beautifully lettered book.

Mayor Merson has one of the largest collections of United States and British colonial in southwest Michigan but he specializes in United States revenue stamps, from Civil War issues on. He has a fine assembly of Civil War revenue stamps, and stamps on stock transfers, silver transfers, playing cards, wines and cordials, hunting stamps, and the like.

The first United States postage stamp was issued June 1, 1847, the year before the Buchanan post office was open. Merson values a Buchanan postmarked letter of the middle fifties, carrying one of the first stamps issued in this country.

In the Berrien County Record office is the old box which was used as the first postoffice file in Buchanan in 1848 and for a time thereafter. It is used as an ink cabinet.

Another very serious collector is A. H. Kiehn, who limits his collection to United States, Great Britain and Dominion issues and says that his field is too large. A sideline which he carries is that of Swiss stamps of which he has a very interesting collection covering the issues of the various Swiss cantons.

A prized possession of Kiehn is a block of four "Imperforate" stamps of the first issue of the Confederate States, taken from the body of a Confederate soldier killed at the battle of Chapin Hill.

Accompanying the stamps is a letter from a Confederate officer who took the stamps and the envelope in which they were found and sent to the dead man's family. It is supposed that the family had sent the man the stamps so that he could use them to write home.

Boys who become interested in stamp collection but who do not "know the ropes" are often the dupes of stamp dealers who work off on them the leftovers which the educated collectors will not take. These dealers sell miscellaneous batches of stamps, together with the pieces from the envelope's on which they were pasted, at $1 per pound.

The dealers themselves acquire most of their stamps in large consignments from persons connected with companies that have a large international mail. These persons take the discarded envelopes and tear off a piece with the stamp pasted on it, and sell them by the pound to dealers. The dealer sorts them, picks out those which will command a price from collectors, and then puts the rejected refuse in pound packages and sells them at about $1 a pound to boys and other beginners.

A boy who is starting needs to be associated with more experienced individuals or with an organization that can instruct him where to find good stamps, how to organize and properly limit his collecting activities, where to find the stamps he wants, and how to mount and preserve them so that he will not ruin them for resale.

RESPONSIBLE TO THE PUBLIC

TELEPHONE SERVICE, so interwoven with every phase of modern life, is a public necessity. It is needed day and night. It vitally concerns the general welfare.

Michigan's telephone workers realize they carry a responsibility not imposed on the average industry. How fully they accept that responsibility is shown by the "spirit of service" that has long been a tradition among them... a tradition that grew out of the faithful discharge of routine duty, and a ready sacrifice of personal convenience and comfort when emergencies have endangered the service.

Editorial

Our conversation, one day, turned to the discussion of a person's varying ability in different subjects and activities. A pupil may be very good in one type of art work, while in another line of the same subject he can't accomplish anything that is outstanding in merit. Not only does this hold true to art work, but it is the same for other subjects and activities.

Mary may be a failure in "math", but wait until you see her on the basketball floor. Jane may be poor in history, but she is a "whiz" at chemistry. The fact that Mary and Jane are poor in some work makes no difference to their friends.

If you can accomplish one thing and do it well, your friends will admire you for the ability you have in that activity or subject, and will not expect perfection in all things.

Outlines Purpose

History Department

"Why do we study history or government, and what good will either ever do me?" are some of the questions asked of Mr. Elbers and Mrs. Whitman of the history and government department of B. H. S.

The aims of Mr. Elbers' government classes are: 1. To make students know the forms of government. 2. To assure personal relationship to it. 3. To know the necessity of obedience to the laws.

No projects are used in government classes, but quite a few illustrations and diagrams are made.

In the eighth grade home-room the pupils have established a form of government for themselves. They have selected a constitution.

In economics the aim is to acquaint students with certain principles which seem to govern our economic environments. They stress the consumers' phase. Familiarity with terms and data are important.

Seventy-one students are enrolled in economics. Some graphs such as budgets are made in this course.

"The major principles of economic security of the average person is being able to develop economies in the necessities of living. Luxuries, naturally, come out of the necessities."

The study of history should: 1. Give an understanding of how life about us now has been evolved out of the life of the past. 2. Give us some appreciation of what our forefathers did for us. 3. Help us recognize the important present-day American trends and problems. 4. Make good citizens.

All of these are the aims of Mrs. Whitman's history classes.

"America had long been known as 'The Land of Opportunity.' What that opportunity may be in the future, and whether our democracy may succeed or fail in solving the many problems pressing upon us will depend largely on the minds and characters of our citizens, the future voters who are new boys and girls in our schools.

"We should know the history of our past not only because it is a great story in itself but also because we cannot understand the present or plan for the future unless we know how we became what we are!"

JOKES

Gail Pierce: "I see you got a hair cut?"
Wm. Thompson: "No, I washed it and it shrunk."

Dick Hayden: "How did you get that bump on your head?"
Ralph Rosenberg: "That's where a thought struck me."

Johnny Miller: "I like your big, brawny arms, Steve."
Earl Stevens: "Yes, I'm quite attached to them myself."

"Toad", Smith: "I'm a powder puff; I'm for the women."
John Schultz: "Clifford, what's love?"
Clifford Keller: "It's that ticklish sensation about the heart that can't be scratched."
Herb Russell: "No wonder Bob Wesner and Mark Heiney have holes won in the left side of their sweaters."

Fourth graders are enjoying making reading reports. They feel quite grown-up in telling the theme of story, its characters, and their opinions of stories that not all of the children have read. In this way interest is increased in the material we have in our school library and the children who do not read so well learn about stories they otherwise might not be able to read. The special topics for the month have been Norway and Colonial stories of our own country.

In the back of Miss Ekstrom's room a chart is hung which gives a list of book characters each child should know. As the children become acquainted with a character a check is made under his name on the chart. The unit of work in the reader includes stories that never grow old.

Norma Vargon drew the design which will be used to paint the puppet stage.

In the fifth grade Miss Ekstrom's room is studying the Central States. This group will be studied as agricultural states since they grow so much of our food.

DEWEY AVENUE NEWS
Opportunity Room
We are gathering materials from which to make an airplane. David brought us some pussy willows.

Our tables and chairs have had a fresh coat of paint.
Our gym period is spent mainly in practicing for the gym show.
Our "Su-Lin" book came and we are enjoying the clever pictures of the Baby Panda.

Second Grade
We are beginning the study of Holland and the Dutch people. We are working on posters of wind mills, canals and Dutch children. We are reading the "Dutch Twins."

Third Grade
We are enjoying the library books which were sent over from the High School. We are reading the Boys and Girls from Bookland.

The first grade enjoyed a valentine party February 14.
The kindergarten has finished making their first reader and are beginning to make use of them.

We are overjoyed to accept Richard Halliburton's invitation to visit with him the marvels nature has prepared for us. Our trip is made with his "Book of Marvels." It is the newest addition to the fourth grade library.

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY

The high school party of February 12 was one of the best all-school parties of the year. It was sponsored by the freshmen. The decorations were carried out in red and white streamers and hearts. White streamers were stretched across the gym so as to form a bright ceiling while red and white hearts of different sizes decorated the door and waved from the streamers. We think the decorating committee deserves a compliment for their efforts. A special compliment is due Mr. Robinson and his Troubadors for the fine music which they so willingly give to all the school parties.

The next party, sponsored by the Juniors, will be around March 14.

Who's Who

Florence Brewer was born January seventh, Nineteen twenty-three, Veedersburg, Indiana. She will be fifteen on the seventh. She has brown hair and brown eyes. Florence is a member of the Booster and Library Clubs. Her favorite sport is football, favorite flower is roses. Her favorite dish is a hot fudge sundae. Favorite songs are, "I Double Dare You" and "Moon at Sea." When Florence doesn't do something right, you watch her and she'll say, "Jimminy Christmas." Florence's hobby is collecting pictures and autographs. She always listens to her favorite program, the best orchestra leader, Wayne King. Florence is a freshman.

This boy is fifteen years old and is in the ninth grade. He is rather small for his age. He has dark hair, brown eyes, and a dark complexion. The sports that he likes best are football and basketball. One of his chief amusements is making things out of wood. He also has a stamp collection which is his only real hobby. One of his bad habits is teasing. He is always trying to tease someone and you don't know whether or not he is telling the truth. If you haven't already guessed it, this happens to be Robert Meuleman.

HOW THEY GOT THEIR NICKNAMES

John Schultz, a good looking senior boy, got his nickname, "Dutch," by going with a certain freshman girl whose nickname is "Dutch".

Betty Smith, a well known freshman girl, got her nickname, "Boots", when she was a little girl. She always got her older sister's boots out when there was company.

John Miller got his nickname, "Butch", from a certain little red-headed freshman boy.

Dona Smith, a sophomore blond, got her nickname, "Wessy", from a group of sophomore girls, but the secrecy of this name hasn't yet been let out.

Bait Casters Tourney at S. B. Outdoor Show

One of the new features of the South Bend Greater Outdoor Show, which will be held in the Studebaker A. A. Club rooms, Lafayette and Bronson Sts., March 17-20, will be an open tournament for bait casters.

Bait casting is fast becoming one of the popular indoor sports for anglers who yearn for the open stream even in the dead of winter. The Great Lakes Open Bait Casting Tournament will be unusual in that, for the first time, the contest will be based on team performance, whereas other bait casting contests have been every man for himself.

Two tournaments are scheduled. Local teams will compete on Saturday, March 19; while out of town teams will fight it out Sunday.

CERTAINTY

Say it a few times. Think of exactly what it means. And you will find that it is—almost—non-existent. Except, perhaps, for death, which is life's most certain certainty. We must, in other words, be prepared for the UNCERTAINTIES of life. The storms; the cyclones and floods; the droughts and fires; accidents and other uncertainties too numerous to mention.

Our best provision against these uncertainties is adequate insurance with which we can meet emergencies, and which can permit us to resume normal living, once the unexpected has passed.

First Small-Acreage Tractor Announced

The nation's 4,000,000 small-acreage, diversified farms soon will have economical tractor power available, in the form of a new type tractor to be built by Allis-Chalmers. It will be the lowest priced farm tractor ever placed on the market, selling at $495 f. o. b. factory, with rubber tires as standard equipment.

Never before has a tractor been designed expressly for the men who produce our cabbage, celery, fruit, milk, eggs, bacon—the small diversified and specialized farmers who intensify their operations. Until now, horse power has successfully defended itself against mechanical power on this type farm, because tractor manufacturers have never before produced a model small enough to justify the investment and upkeep.

The new tractor is a speedy, all purpose model capable of pulling a 16-inch single bottom plow at 4 miles an hour. Although it is designed for single-row quick-hitch implements, the tractor will easily cover more acreage than four or five horses by traveling at twice horse speed.

On a cost-per-hour basis, the new tractor offers serious competition for animal power, since it will operate for half the cost of a four horse team. A federal survey sets 55.6 cents as the hourly cost of a four horse team, and an Illinois survey shows that it costs over $400 each year to maintain the five horses ordinarily found on the small farm, which is little less than the selling price of the tractor.

A complete series of power equipment for small farms, to sell for the price of a present popular size tractor, is the Allis-Chalmers goal. The series will include the new tractor, harvester, mower, cultivator, disc, 2-row planter, 16 inch plow and a spring tooth harrow. The outfit will reduce small farm investment per acre to parity with larger farms.

The tractor will be a welcome newcomer to small farms, which actually need power more than larger acreages because of more intensive cultivation. Many small crops are worked twelve times or more each season. There are also twice as many small farms as there are larger farms where practically all of the nation's 1,314,000 farm tractors are found.

Features of the new tractor particularly advantageous to small farms are: A new tubular design providing clear vision and cutting weight to 2,100 pounds, hydro-matic tires, rear tread adjustable for varying row widths, a short turning radius for orchard work and close-to-the-fence cultivation, an arched front axle for row crop cultivation, a high gear for fast road travel, modern speed-lining and a wide upholstered seat. A new arrangement of stepping up belt speeds gives ample power for silo filling and feed grinding on livestock or poultry farms.

The new tractor is expected also to catch the eye of larger farmers as a secondary or auxiliary tractor. It may be able to eliminate the three to five horses commonly kept to supplement the larger tractor.

HOLLYWOOD
"A Damsel in Distress (RKO)—Pandro S. Berman's latest musical

film, now showing at the Hollywood, may not have the pepper of Ginger Rogers but it does have Fred Astaire, who is as charming and fleet of foot as ever. P. G. Burns and Allen join Fred in a dance or two besides contributing to the humor department. Reginald Gardiner, Montague Love, Constance Collier, Harry Watson.—Family.

FILM FOLK BEAR FAMILY LIKENESS
Securing actors for the various roles in America's famous Jones Family presented a genuine problem to Twentieth Century-Fox casting officials, who demanded not only capable screen players but a group that resembled each other.

Hundreds of applicants were interviewed before Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Howell, Geo. Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan were selected for the roles. They all bear facial resemblances, and the final seal of approval came when the cameraman discovered that all the faces required the same lighting.

The favorite family of the screen is reunited with all its members in their familiar roles in the latest of the series, Twentieth Century-Fox's "Borrowing Trouble," coming Friday and Saturday hailed as the fastest, funniest film they ever made.

and maintained it in the face of Indians, bandits and Nature, forms the dramatic background for "Wells Fargo," the motion picture coming to the Hollywood Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Called by some "The Lifetime of Empire" because of the important part it played in wedding together the sprawling nation as it existed in 1850-70, the story of the Wells Fargo Trail is one of the most dramatic and romantic in American history.

It came into being shortly after gold was discovered, when a swift and safe means had to be found to transport the gold from the mines and, equally important, to bring mail and news into the roaring mining camps. The firm of Wells, Fargo & Company, forerunners of today's Railway Express Agency, was organized to fill this need.

Trails were cut, way stations for the changing and watering of horses, were established and a veritable army of heavily armed messengers was organized to protect the treasure. The roads had to be kept open in spite of the whims of weather.

The task of planning and opening the trails is handled in the picture by Joel McCrea. A man of vision and courage, he is forced to leave his wife, played by Frances Dee, as the trail takes him farther and farther West. Unable to understand her husband, a rift occurs. There are patch-ups and reconciliation but as time goes on—the story traces the fortunes of the family for two generations—a break finally occurs.

The climax is reached after the War Between the States when McCrea and Miss Dee are brought together again by their children, now grown to young manhood and womanhood.

The brilliant supporting cast of "Wells Fargo" is headed by Bob Burns in his first "straight" role. Others in the cast of over one hundred are Lloyd Nolan, Henry O'Neill, Porter Hall, Robert Cummings, Ralph Morgan, Mary Nash, John Mack Brown, Barlowe Borland and many others.

Franchot Tone was his own stand-in for "Man-Proof," new romantic comedy, coming Wednesday and Thursday. The only two on the set who knew the reason why were Franchot and his stand-in, Robert Davis, better known as "Alabama." It happened when Franchot and "Alabama" were chatting between scenes. During the conversation the latter casually remarked that he was worried about his mother who had been sick for some time. A call was made from Tone's dressing room, and as "Alabama" left the set that night, he was presented with an envelope containing a round-trip ticket. If his mother made rapid gains after he arrived home.
