Plan Vesper, Night Service

New Committees Are Appointed

Landsman City Atty.; Kean Chief Police; Mitchell Street Commissioner

Caleb J. Wilson, mayor-elect, was sworn into office Thursday evening, following the regular vote canvass, and named his administrative aides at the first regular meeting of the new regime Monday night.

The following were appointed: Assessor, Harley E. Squibb, Jr., city officer, Dr. J. C. Strayer; city attorney, Phillip C. Landsman; chief of police, Frank Kean; night police, Paul Kane; special police, Clifford Dillavou; fire, A. T. Sumner; water works superintendent, Clyde Blake; street superintendent, Ed. F. Mitchell.

The following committees were named: Mayor pro tem, Arthur Voorhees; finance, Smith and Voorhees; streets, Voorhees and Schwartz; waterworks, Grafton and Smith; lights and parks, Schwartz and Grafton.

Lowell Swern and commissioner Schwartz were named to the cemetery board.

The salary of the night police was fixed at $90 per month with one night off each week. Salary for the street superintendent was set at $110 per month for a 45 hour week. The clerk's bond for the coming year was fixed at $5,000 and that of the treasurer at $10,000. Harry Boyce will furnish the clerk's bond and Herbert Roe the treasurer's bond. Compensation insurance was allotted to Mrs. Nellie Boone and Chevrolet truck insurance to E. N. Schram.

TWO MEN HURT IN PECULIAR AUTO ACCIDENT

W. E. Becker and Joe Burnham were painfully cut by flying glass in a peculiar accident last Friday evening, when ice and snow thrown by a county snow plow smashed the windshield of the former's car and cut up the interior. Becker was returning from Niles shortly after 6 p. m. with Burnham in the back seat when he met the county plow a quarter of a mile west of Niles. The flying ice and snow broke his windshield and passed entirely through the car, breaking also the back window. Both headlights of the car were also broken and the upholstery was damaged. Becker suffered a face and head cuts that required 15 stitches. Burnham ducked down in his seat, but the flying glass and ice took his hat off and inflicted a head cut. Becker kept control of his car and turned about and returned to the Pawating hospital. Burnham, who had been knocked out "on his feet" and was in a semi-unconscious condition, was taken in a passing car which stopped to offer aid and was taken to the Pawating hospital.

Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

CHAPTER XXXIII By HAWES

In Which Your Humble Servant Is a Guest of the City of Stockholm

I could crane my neck out of the window of my room in the Mission Glander and see, a block and a half down Drottningstgatan the big clock on the corner of P. U. B.

That was quite a convenience because my $1.25 Ingersoll was nonoperative and it was so light all night that it was hard to tell when morning came. I wanted to get up early and use to the utmost the golden July days at the Norrland capital, so the convenience in being able to see that clock was one main determination in getting that room. The clock was set in the corner of the building at Kungsgatan and Drottningstgatan, with the main entrance under it, where years back Greta Garbo had daily entered for her stint behind the hat department counter in the basement.

Thus I did not lie awake half the night in order to get up early for it was as light at 2 a. m. as it was at 7 a. m. I also had another (Continued on Page 4)

"Buccaneers," Senior Choice of Hollywood Plays Here April 27-28

Frederic March Plays Pirate Jean LaFitte; Hugh Sothorn Is Andrew Jackson

There may be some dispute over the interpretation of events surrounding the Battle of New Orleans which is depicted in the great Paramount production, "The Buccaneers," but there was no doubt in the minds of the Senior English class of the Buchanan high school, Mrs. Velma Dunbar teacher, that the film is tops among the shows coming to the Hollywood in April.

"The Buccaneers" will be shown April 27-28, immediately following "Fevarich," voted second best April show by the Seniors. The action of the film is based on the life of the pirate Jean LaFitte whose aid to General Andrew Jackson is held by one school of historians to have turned the tide and to have been responsible for the fact that the country lying west of the Mississippi belongs now to the United States instead of Canada.

Jean LaFitte is not a hero constructed in Hollywood; his life has long been one of the most romantic stories of American history. LaFitte and his brother appeared in New Orleans in 1806 and used a blacksmith shop as a blind to sell contraband goods smuggled into the city. The pirates had their headquarters on the island of Grand Terre near New Orleans, a labyrinth of bayous and swamps. LaFitte organized them and became the head of a group which monopolized the sale of contraband goods.

A studio unit spent six weeks in the bayous near New Orleans getting backgrounds. Later the settings were used in staging the action at Catalina Island, where 18 barge-loads of equipment, two warships and three gunboats of the 1812 period and 700 actors were used in the scene. So accurate was the reproduction of the battle considered that the model of the set was placed on permanent display in the New Orleans museum.

The Battle of New Orleans was filmed in the woods near the Santa Anita race track after a carload of Spanish moss had been transported from the southern swamps to drape the trees. Frederic March impersonates LaFitte, and Hugh Sothorn, a distant relative of General Jackson, portrays that pioneer hero.

The scene of the Victory Ball at New Orleans following the battle provides the romantic of the association of the famed beauty and chivalry of old New Orleans.

Meet Miss Buchanan at Leg. Hall Tonight

You haven't by any chance forgotten the big party for the mysterious lady, Miss Buchanan, at the Legion Hall tonight? Or that the party will start at 7:45 p. m. instead of at 8:30 p. m. as was first announced?

In addition to being in on the ground floor at the disclosing of the secret of Miss Buchanan's identity, to be announced with fanfare and flourish by Dr. M. J. Converse, there will be a flock of beauty present in the forms of Miss Buchanan of other years, several of whom will be guests of honor.

Insulation Expert Talks to Lions

S. B. Cook talked before the Buchanan Lions club last night on "Home Insulation," showing an interesting movie film in illustration.

Mrs. Martha Vergon, Huntington, Ind., is reported to be seriously ill at the home of her son, Glenn.

Eyes Injured When Shotgun Explodes

Willard Witters, 22, suffered painful injuries to head, face and eyes when a 22-year-old muzzle loading shotgun in which he had tamped two charges, exploded. The gun had not been shot for years. Young Witters put in one load which failed to explode, so he put in another. This time the gun went off. He received several pieces of shell in his forehead and was burned about the eyes with powder. The physician who was called said that his eyesight did not seem to be endangered.

Plan triangular Track Meet Friday

The Buchanan high school track team will hold a triangular meet with Berrien Springs and New Buffalo here, Friday afternoon, April 22, starting about 2:30 p. m. The local team has some good developing material this year. Stevens, who jumped 5 feet 6 inches last year, is jumping higher this spring. Doak is putting one shot 45 and 46 feet. Hamilton is running the quarter in 56 seconds, which is good this early.

The team meets Paw Paw there May 7; Benton Harbor there May 14; attends the regional at Kalamazoo May 21; any winners at the regional attend the state meet at East Lansing May 28.

State Officers Visit I. O. O. F. Tuesday Evening

Past Grand Master Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge of Harrisville and Grand Conductor Glenn Hammel, undersheriff of Kalamazoo, gave addresses at I. O. O. F. hooster meeting. The talks were preceded by a play, "The Wife of Pilot," very ably presented by Rev. and Mrs. Lee Coontare and Miss Alene Dodge. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Franklin, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Ellis, handled the musical numbers in a very capable manner.

The Grand Conductor pointed out the duties of Oddfellowship to the community through civic service.

Herman Dehnke, Past Grand Master and representative of the Sovereign Grand Lodge for the past two years explained the functions of that body, concluding his speech with an appeal to Fraternism to fight for the keeping of our liberties as laid down and presented to us in the Constitution of the United States, stating that because our neighbor's house had burned should not cause less worry but should create greater cause for self-preservation. Lunch and dancing ended a very pleasant evening.

The Broceus Parent-Teacher Association met in regular session at the school Tuesday evening with 50 attending. Mrs. Jennie Mechem, county school commissioner, was present and gave an excellent talk. A playlet, "Can This Be Home?" was presented by the three Smith sisters, Edward Meufbeck and Ray Knapp. Two new members were added. The men served doughnuts and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Knapp and Mrs. Alva Best attended the County Parent-Teacher Council in Buchanan Thursday.

Mrs. Estal Price came home Tuesday evening, having completed two weeks of jury service at the county seat.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crawford called on Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rough in Niles Saturday.

Coveney School

The honor roll for the month of March: Francis Bowker, Barbara Huston, Clara Hartline, Forrest Pletcher, Edna Bowker, Norma Roundy, Rosie Altergott, Phyllis Davis, Phyllis Naragon, and Mary Ann Rose.

We have decided to make a small newspaper for our English classes. We have chosen, "Coveney Gossip" for our title. We had some good news articles written.

We have been busy painting pictures on glass and making bird houses in art class.

Do you want to SAVE MONEY?

The Standard Coupe

The Standard Ford V-8, with 60-horsepower engine, gives you a lot of car for a little money. 300,000 new owners acclaimed the "thrifty 60" last year. Hundreds a day are buying it in 1938. Why? Because it is priced low — includes essential equipment without extra charge — and goes farther between filling stations than any Ford car ever built. Owners all over the country report averages of 22 to 27 miles on a single gallon of gasoline. But economy isn't all the story by any means. The Standard "60" is built with the same precision as the De Luxe "85," and has the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis. It is easy to look at and ride in — as well as easy to buy and run. There's a Ford dealer near you.

TIGHTWADDING IT THROUGH EUROPE

A Swedish Restaurant There I got my 19c breakfast consisting of oatmeal, a pitcher of milk, bread and butter, one egg and coffee. An extra cup of coffee was 15c, almost exactly 4 cents.

the use of function of the thing decorated. Back of the small serving counter the whole ground floor was filled almost like a theatre with modernistic chairs of bright steel and leather upholstery.

One of the things that secretly pleased me at the Norma cafe was the way a certain blonde girl used to bounce out as I came in to grab my order. Later by observation I found out that she did that for all English and American customers...

Norma gave a fine chance to observe the run-of-the-mine public, for the place was heavily patronized by clerical and commercial workers in the lower-income brackets.

Tilj Stadhuset In case you don't mind I like to show off my little Swedish and the above heading means "to the town hall" where I went after one of these early breakfasts...

I had become enamored of the work being done by the city to provide beautiful modern houses in attractive surroundings for poor people. This work in Stockholm had been designated by an American bureau studying housing in Europe as the most successful in the world.

great brick building, standing like a sheer red cliff at the edge of Lake Malar, with a burnished copper roof and a tall tower with a golden dome. It is rated by many critics as the most beautiful modern building in the world.

He took me to the newest of the Garden Cities, North Angby, where I had spent an evening on my own hook two days before. We went immediately to the government yards, where the city gives out building materials on loan credit to the home builders.

This representation of the future of Stockholm is a woman, seated, holding in one hand an olive branch and on the other a child. This is actually emblematic of the aspirations not only of Stockholm but of the nation...

Some way it seemed typical of the city that in this great "gold hall" the elected representatives of the people, many of them poor workmen, gather for state functions attended by ceremonial eating. The town hall has been called "a temple of the aspirations of the common man."

I'm Guest of Stockholm After I had followed Mr. P. Crossland about the city hall I tackled him at the termination of his last lecture and introduced myself as an American interested in the city housing program.

Mr. Crossland was all courtesy. "Come back tomorrow afternoon if you can," he said, "and I not only will have more time but I will take you about and show you what we are doing."

So we will skip the intervening day. On the morrow I reported early in the housing bureau office, beautifully paneled in birch. He came at 1 p. m. and we went out in front where he called a taxi. Crossland was an illustration of the fact that Sweden's public service is free from the vicious patronage system which vitulates all American public service regardless of the party in power.

crossed swords with no one. "No, there is no conservative interest opposing this housing project," he said, "except to a very limited degree. This is particularly true because the germ of the idea started in 1853, initiated by the king himself. Then as a special observance of the birth of an heir to the throne the crown appropriated a sum of money to provide houses for the worthy poor."

"Isn't there some opposition on the ground that helping the poor will destroy their initiative?" I asked. I remember Crossland looked at me a minute and then laughed. "No," he said, "We're not afraid of that. The liberals and radicals might wish to extend the service faster, but there is no disagreement on the principle. We know that we can carry on our program free from political interference from year to year."

He took me to the newest of the Garden Cities, North Angby, where I had spent an evening on my own hook two days before. We went immediately to the government yards, where the city gives out building materials on loan credit to the home builders.

This yard is supplied by one firm which gave the city the low bid for the prefabricated materials," said Crossland. "In that way, by blocking the order for material for 400 houses and getting bids we saved about 30% of what it would have cost for the people to buy individually on the open market."

It is in this respect that many American thinkers would insist on calling the Swedes radicals. Nearly a third of the business in Sweden serves the export trade, and there competition is as free (or as cutthroat) as in highly competitive countries such as the United States.

competition he is referred to the export trade, where it is held that he must deal as he is dealt with. But there is nothing sacred about the right to make profits in supplying the domestic markets with essentials. The nation has squeezed most of the speculation out of the real estate business; it has operated with a certain ruthless and singleminded directness to assure that public interest is above private. Still, as Babson said, it is now one of the few remaining boom countries just at this writing, and immeasurably ahead of the United States in security and steadiness of employment, if somewhat below it in wage rate per time unit.

Typical of its consideration of public interest was the organization of the city housing staff. Mr. Crossland took me in the office of the architect representing Stockholm in Angby. "A builder of a government financed home at Angby cannot paint his house until his selection of color has been approved by this office," he said, "Here they show charts of the houses which show the colors of the others; he must use some shade that will harmonize with his neighbors'."

That might seem like regimentation, but it's results are indicated in the pleasing combinations of color in the series of bright little homes on the neatly paved streets. Possibly the Swede considers that the opportunity to acquire the home on the most reasonable terms constitutes the essential liberty.

How the Land Was Acquired "The city owns all the building sites around Stockholm," said Crossland, "about 20,000 acres. Five times the area covered by the inner city. You see that large empty house over there? That is one of the manor houses of the old nobility which once owned all this land in large estates. But within the past forty years the city bought all of it, at prices entirely non-speculative. About $300 per acre, which is cheap for land close in."

"How was the city able to get this land so cheap?" I asked. Mr.

Crossland looked at me in his slow speculative way and I surmised he was wondering how an American would interpret his answers.

"The city had the situation in its own hands," he said. "We determine the direction of development, because we have all the public transportation franchises. Look at these small mountains and these granite rocks. No noble could develop this land at his own expense, unless he were assured of a railway or a modern highway or some avenue that could handle the transportation. But the city will not extend transportation into any district until it owns the land. The original owners had no chance to speculate. They got a very good price for their land, and we figure that they have no right to obstruct the pressing need of the people for cheap homes by holding out for high prices."

"These lands have not had a speculative price since the city began its expansion 40 years ago. In fact the government bought land just west of Angby many years ago, then sold it back to a private owner, and then repurchased it at less than the original purchase price. The owner never thought of a speculative profit based on the extension of the city. It is simply understood that it won't happen. He was glad to sell at the prevailing market for that type of land."

The government does not sell the land to the home builders but gives them a 60 year lease, renewable at termination for another sixty years unless the city wishes the land then for another purpose in which case it must redeem the buildings at a fair price. The lease can be transmitted at death to heirs, it can be sold and it is good as collateral. In fact it seems to have about all the advantages and lacks some of the disadvantages of ownership. The leaseholder pays annually a lease price amounting to about 5% of the valuation. The average cost is about 1.2 cents a square foot, or from $50 to $80 per year, according to the size. The price also varies according to the attractiveness of the lot.

This may seem like a high annual charge but it must be remembered that this is in a suburb of a city of 750,000 population, taking the city and suburbs together. The basement of the houses must be blasted, in many cases, out of granite. But this $40 to $80 per year serves as interest charge on the valuation and it also pays for all the cost of laying out the suburb and for all street improvements including paving, sidewalks, water, gas and sewer mains and extensive landscaping. All these are paid for in one regular annual charge determined on when the lot is bought. The ownership is never threatened by the imposition of large improvement assessments. The Swede knows where he is at when he starts.

He plans it that way. (To be continued)

Table Tennis

The Table Tennis League brought its season to a close at the Presbyterian church with a singles and doubles tournament.

In the singles division Paul Schultz, Harold Hanlin, Bill Bohl, and Roland Shreve went into the semi-finals. The result of the match between Schultz and Shreve was a victory for Schultz, 21-8, 21-9, 21-11. In a closely contested match Bohl defeated Hanlin 21-18, 19-21, 21-16. The final match between Bohl and Hanlin was just as close, but in this Bohl lost 22-20, 22-20.

After Jim Ellis and Dick Ellis had nosed out Schultz and Carl Bean in the semi-finals, 21-19, 19-21, 21-17, they met Bohl and Hanlin in the finals. The match was perhaps the high spot in the tournament for thrills. With strong driving the Ellises won easily in the first game, 21-14, but they became erratic and lost the next two by scores of 21-18 and 21-19. The Ellises found their stride again in the fourth game and won 21-9. But in the fifth and deciding game Bohl and Hanlin came through with strong and experienced play to win 21-15.

The consolation singles tournament was won by Rex Shreve when he defeated Bill Gregory 21-10, 18-21, 21-9, 19-21, 21-17.

The laborites were in power in Stockholm, but they, as the conservatives before them, kept their hands off the bureaus manned for the public interest with servants chosen entirely on the basis of their equipment for their posts. Crossland had the fine restraint of your true conservative, whose affiliation is inherent rather than of interest. He always paused a second and weighed his words. There seemed to be an effort to be accurate. His eyes did not dilate and glow and he was not as eloquent as young Mr. Lundeen the able propagandist in charge of the Kooperativ Forbundet, but he Christian Science Churches "Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday April 17. The Golden Text, (John 10:30), is: "I and my Father are one." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ephesians 2:13, 18): "But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 18): "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love."

Currier School (Mrs. Frank Hamilton, Teacher) Leslie and Betty Straub missed school for a day last week because they were sick with their vaccination. The seventh grade of the Currier school has started their Michigan geography, April 11, 1938. Because of the snow storm some of the children missed last week. The Junior Girls All Star 4-H club will meet at Mrs. O. C. Olson Tuesday, April 12, 1938. The Language meeting was postponed last Friday because there wasn't enough children there. This week the lower grades will talk on one of the music composers. Mr. and Mrs. L. Gray of Buchanan visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bennett, Sunday. The All Star 4-H club is working on the program for achievement Day to be held in the Dayton church April 28 at 8:00 p. m. We are planning to go to Three Oaks on April 28, to go through the Featherbone factory in the morning, then have a picnic dinner and take part in the Music Festival in the afternoon.

Howe School (Mrs. H. G. Bachelor, Teacher) Mrs. Wm. Beardsley entertained a number of rural teachers at her home Sunday afternoon. Attendance was out in half the past week because of the storm. Sore arms from small pox vaccinations were also a contributing cause. The fourth grade has been handing in some very good letters written for language work. The following letter was written by Junior Siekman. Niles, Michigan, April 6, 1938.

Dear John:- We have been studying about the Dutch people who live in Holland. It is very interesting to study geography. At our school, we have pictures of Dutch people on the side wall. When I find pictures, I cut them out and put them there. Have you been studying about the Dutch people at your school? Yours sincerely, Junior Siekman.

Another fourth grade pupil, Dewey Spencer, wrote this letter. Niles, Michigan, April 6, 1938.

Dear Donald:- We are making it look like spring in our school room. It looks like Easter too. There are blue birds flying around. We have Easter rabbits and Easter eggs. There are flowers. The rabbit is jumping over the eggs. What is your school room like. Your friend, Dewey.

Says Microphone Jokes Are Hoary

Dear Readers:
I was handed this card last Tuesday, the fifth, by one of my teachers. It was written as follows:
Dear Editor:
When I picked up the Berrien County Record as usual and looked at the Microphone, I was greatly surprised to find a column called "jokes" very unorganized. All the jokes with the exception of one had been copied from the annual of '36".
The remaining joke was new about the time I was a freshman (1933) so I was disgusted at the whole column.
So saying and hoping that I may see a more original, and better "mike" next week I remain,
Yours in haste,
Bob—'37

In reply to this letter I wish to say that we appreciated it even if it was to make a needed correction, and would like to have further comments on our "mike."
Although the jokes are stale, as you put it, we feel that the "joke" column is not as important as all the others, but as that is no excuse, I'm sure our Joke Editor will write better jokes in the future. Hoping to hear from our readers again, I remain
Sincerely,
The Editor.

I wonder if the weather man knows that April is here, and Easter is just around the corner, and that April showers bring May flowers (not April snow).
Have you noticed the new oblong picture on the hall wall downstairs?

Here Are Facts of Buchanan Schools

We students come to school here five days out of the week without stopping to think of the facts about our Alma Mater. In checking up on a few of our facts we find that there are: 52 rooms with 30 of them in the high school; 37 teachers of which 17 belong to the high school faculty; over 30 clocks with 20 in the high school. The study hall seats 130 pupils; the auditorium accommodates 800 people. There are 1200 books in the library. Of the 1041 students in the Buchanan schools, 633 are in the junior and senior high school.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The general objectives for the whole Home Economics course in the junior and senior high school are:
1. To help the girl cultivate a deep appreciation of her family life and its importance in our social set-up.
2. To aid the girl in gaining a conception of home-making as a vocation that requires skilled labor, expert management, scientific knowledge, and a good mental attitude.
3. To develop in the girls interest in participating in home-making activities.
4. To help the girl develop a scientific attitude of mind towards the common tasks of the household.
5. To increase the girls appreciation of the qualities of character that are especially significant in home and community life.
6. To develop in the girls the ability to adapt scientific and aesthetic findings effectively.
a. In wise planning of balanced meals.
b. In sanitary and economical care of food supplies and home equipment.
c. In the management of the income of her time.
d. By applying sound principles of procedure in the productive activities of the household.
e. In understanding and practicing sound principles of health.
f. In caring for simple emergencies in the home.
g. To insure the girl a more abundant life in accordance with individual capacity and ambition.
The junior high girls are required to take this course.
The seventh grade studies clothing, breakfast, and child care.
The eighth grade classes study food preservation, luncheon, clothing, and personal grooming. This class makes pajamas after they find suitable materials. They also learn how to make flat seams and French seams.
The ninth grade also have foods and clothing study. Food preservation; breakfast; luncheon, and dinner units; teas and refreshments; modern housewifery; Christmas candies and cookies; health and child care; social customs and hospitality are the things taken up under the foods department. In the clothing department color and style in clothing selection, a silk and a cotton project, personal improvement, home nursing, girls' own rooms, care and repair of clothes, and a linen suit project are studied.
The tenth grade boys class study serving, principles of cookery, and meal planning. (Outdoor cookery is another feature of this class). Dinner units, nutrition, rules of living, (manners and customs), first aid and home care are also studied.
In the tenth grade girls' Home Management class the home is the chief topic studied. Planning, furnishing, and decorating, furniture,

Our Lily that we have in the opportunity room has a bud on it. We are making a booklet of wild flowers in art class.
Eyes are the topic of study in hygiene this month.
We have added the names of the fly catcher and oven bird to our bird calendar.
The following people have made good bird pictures: William Forge, Clifford Good, Billy Ferris, Doris Lee Wolkins, David Coultas, and Evelyn Liska.
We have the following flowers in our garden: May Apple, Spring Beauty, Fern Anemone, Bloodroot, and Squirrel's Corn, and violets.
The kindergarten has been discussing the picture of Snow White and Seven Dwarfs. They have been very much interested in coloring pictures of them. They have also collected pictures from newspapers and magazines and compiled them in a scrap book.
The first grade has found by their wind chart that March had sixteen days of west wind, six of south wind, two of north, two of south, one of northwest and one of southwest winds. This month

"SLIPS," "SLAPS," OR "SOMETHING"

What senior girl felt bad the other day when "Toad" Smith got in a fight with Sam McCormick? Don't feel too bad, "Aggie."
Of late it seems that "Rich" Donley and Elaine Blaney are writing more notes than usual. Better get to work, "Penwell."
There are some cute seventh grade girls in school this year, and it looks as though Ben Harvel is taking his pick.
It seems that Bill Ednie and Doris Allee are too much a quiet couple. Anyway, we don't seem to be able to "pin" anything on them.
Martha Trapp and Winston Sands seem to be "kinda" that way about each other, but then, they're nice kids.
What cute freshman girl has Dale Lyons gone overboard for? Here's a tip, folks, her initials are H. S.
What did "Hereby" Swartz do in Mrs. Whitman's sixth hour civics class to deserve sitting in the hall just outside her room? Some fun, eh, "Hereby"?

Melvin Backus made a horse and sleigh. Helen Aillsworth made a covered wagon.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club had planned to go to Notre Dame to visit the art gallery, the cathedral, and the library last Wednesday afternoon. Later in the day they had planned to go to the movie, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and then to dinner. Because of bad weather plans were postponed until a future date.

THE GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

The basketball teams from the ninth through the twelfth grade planned a weenie and marshmallow roast Tuesday night after school. Because the weather changed so suddenly, it was postponed until a future date.

It is generally conceded that America leads the world in the quality and extent of telephone service.
Important factors in this supremacy are the efforts of the Bell Telephone Laboratories "to find a better thing or a better way," and the experience and skill of the Western Electric Company, the manufacturing department of the Bell System.
Because of our association in the Bell System, every improvement so produced is made available promptly for us in Michigan... a continuing assurance of high-quality telephone service at reasonable cost. That is why Michigan's telephone service is as fine as any telephone service in the world.
And that is why your telephone... although it can connect you with any of 35,000,000 other telephones all over the civilized globe... retains such simplicity that even a child finds it easy to use.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The senior class play, "The Nut Farm," is told in the living room of the Best home and grows familiar with the passing of each incident. Nothing is much more convincing than the second act, including the reading and enacting of parts of a movie scenario. The comedy promises to prove a gold mine of laughter. The humor is entirely free of anything that might offend.

Killian Addresses Y. W. C. A. Group

Attorney Joseph E. Killian, of St. Joseph, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination as prosecuting attorney, lashed out at the sellers of intoxicating liquors to minors in his recent address before the Young Women's Political Science group at the Y. W. C. A.
The speaker presented statistics taken from the records of the Berrien County jail to show the number of persons under 21 years of age who were booked on charges of intoxication.
"In my opinion this problem cannot be remedied by placing the juvenile in jail after he has become intoxicated and at the same time permitting the person who sold the minor the intoxicants to go free. The solution to this problem lies in vigorous and efficient enforcement of present existing statutes and the prompt prosecution of the violators," he said.
His remarks were roundly applauded by his audience.

IT SEEMS IT'S A CAR FOLKS WON'T DO WITHOUT!

WE were pretty sure we had a great car when some months ago we checked the final blueprints on the 1938 Buick.
It had the new and mighty DYNAFLEX engine for sparkling action—the sensationally desirable TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING for a lullaby of a ride.
Looking ahead in that promising day, we figured we had every chance of getting our sales share by reason of what this car gave the buyer for his money.
Now, when times are sterner, it appears we built better than we knew—we've got a car folks just won't do without!
This great new Buick was first introduced to the public last fall. Through September, October, November, it sold in steadily increasing volume.
In a period when sales of other cars were sliding off it went ahead, in one month actually out-selling one of the Big Three of the lowest-priced field.
It's still going ahead—not car Number Seven or Eight, as one might expect by its price-class, but one of the season's Four Best Sellers!
There is only one explanation of such a record when made by a car in the thousand-dollar bracket.
Such a car is so good—has so much of value in it—people just won't do without it!
They buy it not only in preference to other cars—they buy in preference to waiting for easier times and readier money-to-spend!
That's the convincing sort of car you're about to drive when you first take the wheel of a 1938 Buick.
If you haven't yet handled a new Buick, you ought to—just to see what such a car is like!

"Better buy Buick!"
