Material Green and Fairly Light

Six Lettermen Out of 23 Are Back in Squad of Sixty-Five

Coach Johnny Miller's experimental line-up of green but willing football material will take the field at Athletic park against Watervliet next Saturday in their first grid test.

"The way they do in the first three games will tell a lot about what they will do this season," stated Miller, with that thoughtful look that coaches wear when they are faced with the prospect of building a team with adequate reserves around a nucleus of six men. Seventeen men left school by the route of graduation. The six letter men remaining include Heckathorne at tackle, Leiter at half, Simpson at end, Ingelright
at center, Rotzein at guard, Hamilton at guard. This assures Miller of one tested backfield man and the nucleus of a good line. He will think in the gaps out of a wealth of green material which may or may not become first class varsity talent this year.

Sixty-five men reported for practice, of whom the following have been designated by Miller as possible material for this year's squad:

End—Dick Penwell, Bob Hamilton, Dick Habicht, Ed Hemple, Mark Heiney, Lawrence Kline,
Matthews Rauch.

Tackles—Warren Virgil, Steve Shovers, Glenn Sult, Andy Patus,
Bob Habicht.

Guards—Melvin Stoner, Kenneth Phiscator, Junior Bromley, Gerald Weaver.

Center—Arnold Herman.
Backfield—Duane Beadle, Lester
Hanover, Lee Topash, Bob Best,
Lucien Depyl, George Fitch, Tom Fitch.

The possible starting line for next Saturday will average about 155, which is approximately the weight of last year's eleven.

The schedule for the season is:
Sept. 24—Watervliet here.

Sept. 30—Cassopolis there.

Sept. 30—Reserve game with St. Joseph here.

Oct. 8—Paw Paw here.

Oct. 13—Niles reserves there.

Oct. 14—Niles here.

Oct. 22—Coloma here.

Oct. 27—Benton Harbor reserves
here.

Oct. 29—South Haven there.

Nov. 3—St. Joseph reserves
there.

Nov. 5—Dowagiac here.

Nov. 11—State high here.

ready for concrete Monday.

their forms at Berrien Springs

Attic Explorer Visits Buchanan

Mr. East is Gent Who has Attained the "Furtherest North" in Accumulation
of Historic Pictures

Jess East, the well known, not to say notorious, attic—beg pardon—attic explorer, was seen about town over the week-end in the interest of his excavations into the pictorial record of Buchanan's past.

Mr. East is easily recognizable, even if you never met him, by the accumulation of the dust of many attics on his shoulders, back, ears and hat brim, and the fashions of cobwebs which wave in the wind in his wake. He can also be recognized by a certain peculiar teetering walk which comes from balancing on the rafters of unfinished attics to avoid falling through the plaster.
Unlike most of the old timers whose pictorial record he is trailing, Mr. East is much more interested in attics than he is in cellars, although he does say that a cellar is not a bad place to visit to obviate the dry throat you get after visiting too many attics.

He now has over 2,000 pictures
but is still very unsatisfied because he says he has still to get hold of some of the best representations of old days. He is now about to explode a large announcement regarding his collection. Keep your eyes peeled for news.

"Batch" Named on M. S. C. Grid Squad

William L. Batchelor, of Buchanan, has made the grade as a member of the Michigan State College varsity football squad as a center and has been issued No. 2 Jersey for the season. Although Batchelor has a lot of competition ahead of him, he is making progress and promises to learn a good deal of football during the season.
He is playing fourth string center at the present time. He will be on the Spartan squad that will engage Wayne University there
Sept. 24 in the opening game. Boy Scouts from all parts of Michigan and local school children will be guests at that game.

Albatross Wins The Plym Trophy

Local Sea Scout Ship to Hold Possession for One Year
or Until Defeated

The Buchanan Sea Scout Ship
Albatross, skippered by Richard Neal and manned by William Snodgrass, sailed across the finish line at Lake Madron Sunday afternoon a length ahead of the Benton Harbor ship, capturing the Plym trophy in the second annual regatta.

The Buchanan ship thus takes over the trophy which had been held for the past year by the St. Joseph ship which won the first regatta. As soon as the name of the Buchanan unit is inscribed on the handsome trophy, it will be displayed in the window of the Allen Hardware store. The trophy is a silver wave, riding the crest of a silver wave, on an ebony base.
The Buchanan Ship will hold the trophy this year until its possession is contested in the next year's regatta. The first ship to win it three times will achieve permanent possession.

The weather was rough and stormy and the surface of the lake thoroughly tested the skill of the young seamen. In third place behind the Benton Harbor ship was a St. Joseph Ship, trailed by Benton Harbor and Dowagiac ships.

The boats sailed were of the type known as "snipes," and were the property of Camp Madron. The course consisted of three laps around the lake.

Local Quota in Candle Sale $216

Buchanan To Share in Cost
of New Building at Camp
Madron

The quota of the Buchanan district in the candle sale campaign to raise funds for the construction of a new handicraft and recreation building at Camp Madron
has been set at $216, to be raised by the sale of candles at $1 each before the dinner on Oct. 30 celebrating the tenth anniversary of the camp.

The total amount to be raised in the Berrien-Cass area is $3, 000. It is hoped that the local community will fully achieve its allotted part in the campaign.
The standing of Camp Madron as one of the outstanding camps of the United States in point of equipment and general efficiency is a matter of pride to the entire area. The growing numbers of Scouts render the new construction necessary to maintain this pre-eminence.

Writes History of Evan. Church

William Schultz Reads Account of Beginning of Organization

The following history of the local Evangelical church written by William Schultz, is to be presented as a part of the program of the fiftieth anniversary observance which began last night and continues through Sunday.

A number of Evangelical families having moved to Buchanan from Portage Prairie, and a number of our families living in close proximity to the village, an informal meeting was called on March 10, 1888 to consider the feasibility of organizing an Evangelical Society in Buchanan. Accordingly a meeting was appointed at the residence of Bro. Wm. R. Rough and wife for March 14, 1888 in order to effect a permanent organization. Rev. J. A. Frye, then our pastor at Portage Prairie was present and succeeded in organizing the class. The following persons were present at that meeting:
W. R. Rough and wife, Wm. Con-radt and wife, W. H. Shubb and wife, I. Schreiber and wife, Henry Imhoff and wife and Jacob Im-hoff. Abraham Brocous presented his name the next day and Jacob Houswerth also identified themselves with the society and became its charter members.

The following officers were elected: Class Leader, Wm. Con-radt, Exhorter, W. H. Chubb; Superintendent, Della Scott; Steuard pro tem, H. Imhoff; Representative trustee, W. R. Rough.

Preparations were at once made for the erection of a church. Pursuant to previous appointment a meeting was held at Rough Bros.
office March the 20th, 1888 for the election of trustees and to incorporate the society according to the laws of the State of Michigan. The following were our first trustees:
W. R. Rough, Jacob Imhoff, and Wm. Conradt. As building committee the brethren, W. R. Rough, Jacob Imhoff, Dr. Spreng, Wm.
Conradt, Jacob Houswerth, and J.
A. Frye were chosen. On the 28th day of March a lot was purchased on the corner of Oak and First streets at a cost of $450.00 as a prospective location of our church and work was at once commenced.

1888-1889 at the ensuing annual conference, Rev. F. Koehler was appointed as pastor of the little flock under the supervision of Rev.
J. A. Frye of Portage Prairie.
Regular services and Sunday School were held in the Rough Bros. hall until the completion of the church.

During the following summer an elegant and substantial brick edifice was erected of the following proportions: Main audience room 38'x60' with pulpit recessed of 6 feet

Plan Fruit, Grain, Vegetable Show

High Schools of County to Enter Exhibits; Ask for Big Pumpkins, Etc.

The Future Farmers Club of the Buchanan high school agricultural department is now laying plans for a community fair to be held at the high school Nov. 9 and 10, with displays not only from the local community and from the rural schools but also from the other Future Farmers clubs of the other high schools of the county.

Clarence Langer, Smith-Hughes
inspector in charge of the Buchanan high school agricultural department, is erecting the promotion, with the idea of expanding the show another year if it is successful.

The exhibits at that time of year will necessarily consist mainly of small grain, corn, potatoes and fruit. In addition to exhibits judged from quality and type standards, the Future Farmers are asking for "novelty" entries, consisting of extra large vegetables,
fruit, apples, etc.

The Rural schools are also to enter short programs, and prizes will be awarded the most original and the most humorous. It is not likely that cash prizes will be given to any extent this year, but ribbons will be furnished, and if the response is satisfactory there will be a further effort for a larger fair next year.

The Future Farmers of America are staging community fairs in the high schools of the county and will exchange exhibits. The local club will be especially favored at the time of their fair by being host to the other schools in the county
judging contest.

will offer late styles at the lowest possible prices. He is married and president, Mrs. James Harrison;

larly at D's Cafe each Monday

Willard Talks at H. S. Assembly

Robert Willard, who recently completed his three-year enlistment and training at Saltridge field, gave an interesting talk before the high school assembly Friday on the experience to be encountered. Young Willard had just secured employment in the office of the aeronautical department of the Bendix Corporation, starting his work Monday. His many friends here are pleased to know that he has an opportunity so soon to continue in the field in which he has received training.

Taxpayers Only Vote for Bond Issue But Parents of Children in School Vote for 4.8 Mills Levy.

Tax paying voters of the city of Buchanan will register their approval or disapproval of a bond issue to finance 55% of the cost of the construction of a new school building, contingent on a PWA grant of 45%, at a special election to be held in the high school auditorium from 5 p. m. until 8 p. m.
Sept. 26, such election having been called by the school board who were acting in consequence of having received a petition signed by a considerable number of taxpayers requesting such construction.

Since the Record has been asked by a number of people vitaly interested in the issue to present the reasons for and against as fairly and as thoroughly as possible, the following resumes of arguments for and against are presented:
Advocates Say

1. The Dewey avenue school building is 82 years old, having been erected in 1856. From the standpoint of any reasonably modern standard it is unsatisfactory, and its age and construction will limit its continued use to a few years.
2. The new building will permit relief from the present congestion in the high school building, and will allow for future expansion. In the high school one grade division now occupies the quarters intended for a sewing room for the Home Economics department, thus diverting it from its intended use. Room will also be made for future expansion.
3. The added tax burden imposed by the other public improvements already undertaken will not be as great as believed, as the retirement of bonds for the sewage disposal plant will not begin until 1940 and the retirement of the old waterworks bonds will be completed in 1939, so that the debt retirement burden on bonds already assumed will not be increased to any extent.

4. The additional street paving and sewer projects proposed by recent petitions have not received any official approval and the taxpayers must also act on them at public hearings, probably after the school bond issue election.
5. Taxpayers have yet to act finally on the proposed paving and sewer projects lately initiated by petition, and it is wrong to assume that such installation is officially determined as an expense on the taxpayer prior to the school construction. It is likely that if these receive PWA approval they will be submitted for public hearings after the date of the school elections.

6. The 4.8 mills designated as the levy to cover the annual cost of retirement of school bonds within the five year period required by law was named by the state debt commission as an outside figure to cover the highest probable cost and the greatest probable loss of income from other reasons. The levy will very likely be less.

7. If the contemplated construction is made it will be located some where in the north part of the city, reducing the distance to be traveled by the pupils from the outlying sections to the northeast.

8. Larger grounds will be secured, replacing the Dewey avenue grounds which are too small.

9. The construction of a second modern building to replace the Dewey avenue school would assure the pupils of all grades advantages equal to those now enjoyed by the pupils in our modern high school structure.

Opponents Say

1. In view of the present lack of employment and income of the majority of the community and the uncertainty of the future, the increase of the school levy to the extent of 4.8 mills for construction seems ill-advised at this time, notwithstanding the possible chance of a federal grant.

2. In addition to the construction cost, provision will be required for the employment of one additional teacher at once and of one additional janitor, plus other increases in maintenance costs.

3. The community has already undertaken the constructions of a sewage disposal plant, to be paid for by a ten-year bond issue whose retirement begins in 1940 and continues for ten years at the rate of $3,000 and $4,000 on alternate years, plus a yet undetermined additional maintenance cost.

4. A number of sections of the city have petitioned for street pavement and sewer installation, and it is only common sense to consider this new bond issue in relation to other new tax requirements in prospect, with a view to the maximum obligations which the community may reasonably incur.

5. While the desirability of a new school to replace the Dewey avenue school is self-evident, the disadvantages which the pupils now suffer must be balanced against other disadvantages still more serious which they might suffer if their parents were unduly burdened by new impositions of taxes which might mean privations or loss of homes.

6. By waiting until a later date the construction may be undertaken when there is better assurance of employment and income, and when special assessments on recently installed sewerage, which still have two years to run, are retired.

7. While it may be true that the possibility of receiving a federal grant may be considered an opportunity from a strictly local point of view, such grants have been available much of the time for the past four years and may be available for an indeterminate time as far as is now known.

Only taxpayers may vote on the bond issue, which requires a majority of the votes cast to carry. Taxpayers and residents with children in school may vote for the 4.8 mill levy, which requires a two thirds majority of the votes cast to carry.

Sr. High School Has A Record Enrollment

Buchanan High School started with a bang this year and is now in full stride. It must be that everyone likes old Buchanan High. Why? It's hard to tell, but I'll tell you this, the seniors have a large enrollment of seventy-eight pupils. The juniors are almost here with seventy-four. But wait, the sophomores are going ahead. There are eighty of them this year. That's nothing for the freshmen are at the top with ninety-six. The total for the senior high is three hundred and twenty-eight pupils. This is the largest enrollment in the senior high school. We find that there are seventy-four pupils in the eighth grade and sixty-nine in the seventh grade, totaling one hundred and forty-three pupils.

This year there are ninety-eight students from the rural districts; there are also ten post-graduates.

Good Management

as Important as Time-Locks

The banker can easily protect the money that is in the bank by means of strong vaults, time-locks, burglar alarms, insurance, etc.

But the real job which calls for all the banking knowledge, experience, intelligence, and strength of character which he possesses, is that of safeguarding the bank's money while it is out of the bank—in loans and investments.

Good management must throw a shield around every dollar that is out working for the community or that is a part of some of the bank's investments. This means that the banker must use careful judgment in finding a safe job for each one of these dollars. His ability to do this assures safety for the bank's depositors.

The Library

The board of the Buchanan Public Library has arranged that the librarians may assist the local public in securing books from the state library by taking care of the required correspondence, any one thus borrowing being asked to defray the cost of a postcard and the postage to and from the library at Lansing. The borrower will save by the reduced postage on state library mail shipments and occasionally by combined shipments, cost of which will be apportioned by the librarians.

Plans are being made by Mrs. Milton Ludwig for observation of National Book week in November, possibly by window displays about the city. Watch for announcements.

Readers Warned Against

Habit of Back-Tracking

Southbridge, Mass.—Because a recent survey showed that only 25 per cent of 3,000 persons read efficiently, Dr. R. J. Beitel cites four rules for those who would read without moving their lips.

The rules:
Learn to recognize words and their meanings almost instantly.
Cultivate the habit of taking in more than one word at a glance.
Read from left to right in a smooth, progressive manner without back-tracking.
Read silently, suppressing any murmurs and numbers.

STUDENTS ELEVATE PENNY TO TOP RANK

Reveals the Importance of Lowly Coin in Business.

Troy, N. Y.—Remedial Polytechnic institute students here are still basking in the sudden national fame they achieved when they elevated the once lowly penny to first rank in the coinage system by staging a "penny tax revolt."

The "TaxCentinels," an off-spring of the R. D. I. students' union, caught the attention of the world by using the penny in dramatic fashion to symbolize the hidden tax everyone pays in buying food, clothing, shelter and other necessities.

Under the auspices of the Students' union, the TaxCentinels bought up just about all of Troy's pennies—250,000 of them—and temporarily embarrassed merchants and banks.

Then the students put the coins back into circulation by paying 25 per cent of their purchases in pennies.

Most Important Coin.

While this was seemingly just a college prank, it was actually the result of serious study on the part of the students. They were striving for the most effective way to inform the average American consumer that his standard of living is touched by the fact that one-fourth of every purchase he makes goes to the collector of unseen taxes.

The penny, suddenly skyrocketed to national fame as the most important coin in merchants' tills, has not often achieved such a degree of popularity.

In fact, until the student tax movement swept the Troy campus, the penny was scorned for years by all but children who toddle to candy counters.

The original American penny, which was minted in 1793, was immediately unpopular because of its weight and unhandy size. Since then, the penny has been successively reduced from its original weight of 284 grains to 48, so that it is now one-fifth as heavy as it was at first.

The penny acquired its colloquial name of "copper" from its content, which is 95 per cent of that metal and 5 per cent tin and zinc. However, the word "penny" was first applied to a silver coin introduced by Offa, king of Mercia in England.

Later the word "penny" or "penny" was applied to an old English copper token.

Shortly after the Revolutionary war, congress provided for a uniform coinage to take the place of British money then in circulation.

First Copper Coins.

The first official order for small coins called for the minting of two copper coins, the cent and half-cent. A total of $80,000 worth was put in circulation.

Some copper coins were struck by states, such as New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont and New Jersey, to meet small coin demand, but they surrendered their coinage privileges in a federal constitutional provision adopted in 1787.

The half-cent was withdrawn from the coinage system before the Civil war. Experiments were made with two and three cent pieces, in 1864 and 1865, the value of the three-cent coin coinciding with the letter mail rate of the time.

Both suffered the fate of other small coins and were withdrawn, the two-cent piece in 1873, and the three-cent coin in 1890.

The latest suggestion which may affect the fate of the penny is the proposal to coin a three-cent piece again to facilitate the purchase of newspapers.

New Device Draws Heart Pictures for Surgeon

Tulsa.—A machine that draws a living electrical picture of heart action to guide surgeons during operations will be displayed here soon by its inventors. It is expected to revolutionize operating room technique.

The machine, a new type electrocardiograph, records heart beats on a phosphorescent screen whose aspect tells the surgeon the instant the patient's heart starts failing. It is an improvement over old-type electrocardiographs, which take photographs of the impulses. Their record is not available until the film has been developed and dried—a process requiring minutes that might mean a patient's life or death.

The new machine is an invention of Dr. Frank E. Hoecker of the University of Kansas physics department and Dr. Graham Acher, University of Kansas medical school instructor.

Educator Calls America Citadel for Soothsayers

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Prof. Ottomar Krueger, president of Concordia college here, believes:

"No other nation patronizes so many so-called miracle men, such as an innumerable host of soothsayers, fortune tellers, spiritualists, crystal gazers, as the American nation."

"No other country is so over-run with characters purporting to bring additional revelations from heaven, more definite knowledge concerning eternity, than our own U. S. A. Nowhere else are such vast sums of money spent foolishly each year to help fill the coffers of cheats, charlatans and mountebanks as here."

She's the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi

Much to the discomfiture of 300 freshman women and the delight of several thousand spectators, members of Sigma Chi fraternity at the University of California became "Indians" for a day and helped initiate the first-year women. Finally they carried off Jane Jackson in their dry-land canoe to be the "sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Miss Jackson seemed to view the honor dubiously.

Ban Is Put on Gambling, Convicts Take to Marbles

Jackson, Mich.—Jackson prison inmates have taken up marbles as a pastime since a recent edict against gambling went into effect, Deputy Warden James Ryan says.

Whether the innocent spring game is on a cash basis, no one but the players know as yet, but Ryan says that there probably is enough contraband money among the convicts to start a fair-sized bank, although the rules forbid them to have more than a dollar in cash on their persons.

When more than the stipulated sum is found, Ryan says, the money is confiscated and placed in the prison fund. One prisoner who figured in an escape plot last New Year's eve, he said, had six $20 bills so cleverly concealed in the heel of his shoe that it was impossible to tell that it had been tampered with.

Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

CHAPTER 53
By HAWES

A bore is a person who thinks that because he is interested in something everyone else is or should be interested in it—and I hope this not the case with this narrative.

Here I am on the issue of a year and a week, and not out of Paris yet. Yet some people are telling me, sincerely I hope, that they are still interested.

A year ago the past summer in Paris the sabers were not rattling nearly so loudly as now, and they were saying over there that the American newspapers made more of the war scares than they really amounted to. It seems a little more than press exaggeration now. I could talk in England and managed to get a few slants on their attitudes, but in Paris it was different. The only French person I spoke to about the war was the young lady night clerk at the Grand Hotel. Houssman Du Holder, whose fair brunette beauty was doubtless what made the hotel Grand.

"What do you think about the chances of another war?" I queried introducing the subject in my usual subtly diplomatic fashion.

She gave her shoulders a Latin shrug, hesitated, and then said: "We know nothing—we only wait."

And that was about all there was to be said about it. There were signs posted in hotels, restaurants and other public places advising behavior in the event of a gas attack, or so they said. I couldn't read them. The only attacks I was on guard against were those of the wildly careening taxis, cars and trucks taking the sinuous turns of the narrow streets on two wheels.

But last week I was half way across old Paris on a parade. As the long column (English newspapers estimated the marchers at from 5,000 to 6,000, in addition to the tens of thousands lining the streets) hitched along beside the Seine I continued my investigations, but without any Jean Jaures buttons. It was a memorable experience, this marching past old Notre Dame cathedral, then across the Pont De Neuf and through the Sorbonne, the University of Paris and the old Latin quarter where the windows of the University buildings were lined with cheering students and professors. A few blocks past the Seine and the column swung again into a short street, that terminated in the Pantheon, shrine of the great dead of France.

The street that fronts the great golden dome of the Pantheon was wide and it was choked for blocks with many thousands. The stage had been elaborately set, the entire front of the great building being decorated and a great stage built on the front approaches. Great streamers of red and blue were crossed on each side of the dome, hundreds of feet long and twenty or more feet wide. Immediately in front of the great pillars under the dome there was a great bust-length portrait of Jaures, which I estimated at from 50 to 60 feet in height. Loud speakers were set in front and soon voices of leaders began to boom over the crowd. I climbed to a window some eight feet over the street and watched for a half hour.

Across the street there was a sudden clamor and a whirling vortex of forms out of which myriad fists flailed the air and probably landed once in a while, but all over the crowd there was a "sh-h-h-h," shushing for silence and the riot stopped almost as soon as it began. The demonstration was evidently well organized to care for possible outbreaks. A single speaker, whom I do not know, launched into a dramatic oration, and after a few minutes I climbed down and went in a round about way to the Pantheon. Again I was lucky enough to mix in with a conducted tour, whose guide unlocked a door, leading down into the crypts to the burial places. We went down through past the coffins and urns containing the dust or ashes of Victor Hugo, of Emile Zola, of Voltaire, of Gambetta and of other French heroes of peace, back to the burial urn of Jaures, piled high with memorial wreaths and with a light burning before it. I learned later that the light before the urn of Jaures never goes out.

That visit done, I left the precincts of the Pantheon, still vocal with oratory and the answering cheers of the throng.

I had a little time left and I decided to spend it visiting the tomb of the military heroes at the Hotel Des Invalides. The point of interest there is of course the tomb of Napoleon. Surrounding and housing it is an immense war museum commemorative of the victories of France, which I hustled through like a dorky through a graveyard, to the central shrine that houses the great brown marble sarcophagus of Bonaparte.

The setting of the tomb contained a rather obvious lesson for the moralists. The immense coffin is surrounded by a circular gallery, perhaps twenty feet above it, from which the public must view it. No one is allowed in the circular pit about the sarcophagus. No one, that is, but a row of those militant European angels, always guarding something with a sword or about to dash hither or thither to avenge something or other. I saw hundreds of those armed angels—a scrappy lot indeed. If peace is to be restored to this sorry world, it seemed almost that the first move would be to disarm the angels.

The conventional motif for a war or a battle memorial in Europe is one angel sustaining in his or her arms a dying hero on whose head a laurel crown is being placed symbolical of deathless immortality, while another angel, up-right and armed with a drawn sword, seems about to dash into the fray in vengeance to make a few more dying heroes for the other side to erect angelic statues to—etc., etc. ad nauseum. Judging from the statues in Germany and France it would seem that the angelic host is split worse on European issues than the American political parties at the present juncture and heaven must be a rambunctious place. That is, of course, if European sculptors are accurate in their delineations.

Not far from the Hotel Des Invalides is the French Arch of Triumph, spanning the great Champs d' Elysees, occupying the same position in Paris that Unter Den Linden holds in Berlin. Directly under the great arch is a simple metallic plaque marking the French national memorial to its unknown dead in the great war—its "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier." I lingered there a short time. There were many guests in Paris, who viewed it curiously a moment and passed, but I saw one family, by their appearance from the peasant class, who lingered and shed tears above the tomb, for unseparated dead that was theirs somewhere in the dust of the battlefields. I must say that I have heard much of French good taste and this French memorial to the nation's unknown dead was in evidence. There was nothing to indicate the tomb, but a metallic plaque on the surface of the street under the arch, with a pile of flowers on it, and a group of grieving peasants standing beside it. Nothing to arouse revengeful thoughts or churn up the emotions, as in Berlin or at the famous tomb in the old castle at Edinburgh with its elaborate, grief-inspiring artistry. No soldier paced beside it as beside the cumbrous architecture of the American Tomb at Washington, D. C. No daily ceremonials but those of sincere sorrow. This isn't a pro-French diatribe. But this was the memorial of the Great War in the nation that suffered by far the most. It was rather well done.

Well, I'll be running along. I've spent already one day and three chapters more than I intended in Paris and I've told (honest Injun) just about everything. There were some great auction sales in progress on the great shopping street, the Boulevard Du Houssman and one other whose name I cannot remember and it was typical that the goods had been moved out on the sidewalk, where practically all business was being done. A bargain sale in Paris is something to see and I would have enjoyed spending more time. I did not buy but as near as I could judge clothing was very cheap.

I also went to the open air food markets down in old Paris, I believe on the Rue St. Denis. That too was something. I bought two small cheeses, samples of those strong aromatic European varieties, as souvenirs, and packed one in each heel of a pair of walking shoes in my grip. Needless to say, when consumed after arrival they were ripened to a delicious flavor. It is my opinion that visit to the Rue St. Denis food market and to the shopping section on the Boulevard Du Houssman are incomparably more entertaining than the faked indecencies of the Montmartre night club section. And you really learn more about France and the French than you would ever learn following a bark-er through mouldy museums and old art galleries.

And so that was Paris. On to London next week.

Berrien-Cass To Celebrate 10th Anniv.

By Cutting A Cake with Three Thousand Candies on It; Funds Received from Sale of Candies To Be Used For the Erection of a Building at Camp Madron

On October 30th the Boy Scout council will celebrate its tenth anniversary—the organization of the Berrien and Cass counties into one Council. This date also marks the tenth anniversary of the major portion of the present Council officers, including L. C. Upton, president, Wm. Carver, treasurer, Geo. Horst and Carl Horn, vice-presidents, Commodore Jack Gardner, Dr. Howard A. Blanning, Court of Honor, Frank Arndt, Camping and Health, Wm. Berkey of Cassopolis, District Chairman, Frank Hahicht, Buchanan, District Chairman, Lawrence Plym, District Chairman at Niles, Oscar Noll, Scout Executive of the Area. The union of these two counties made possible by the excellent cooperation of some five hundred men, and sixteen hundred boys, made possible one of the strongest Scout Councils in the country. To celebrate this anniversary it was decided to have a birthday cake at Camp Madron on October 30th with three thousand candles upon it. The candles which sell for one dollar each will make possible the erection of a new handicraft and recreation building at the camp as a permanent contribution to the Council and its camping program.

The committee handling the candle proposition is headed by Morris McGawn, President of the Three Oaks Bank of Three Oaks. The co-chairman is Arthur Knoblauch, Superintendent of schools in Cassopolis. Other members of the committee are: Henry Zimmer, John Van Arman, Lawrence Plym, all of Niles; Chris Anderson, Dr. C. V. Lawton, Dr. W. Thorup, and Alvin Elstrup, Benton Harbor; Frank Hahicht and Claude Carter, Buchanan; Wm. Berkey, Frank Squires, Cassopolis; H. C. Warriner and W. L. Alwood, Coloma; Carl Horn, Percy Balder, Dwagiac; Fred Edinger, H. B. Veneklassen, Three Oaks. In addition to this committee the Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, and Skippers of all units of the Area are also a part of the organization, and the proper information, together with the very attractive candle card, have been issued to all members who will take care of the sale immediately. When the building is erected the names of all those who purchased candles will be a part of a permanent record which will be fitted into a glass case in the wall of the building.

The building will be equipped with a 16x30 stage. Motion picture facilities, dressing rooms, a large handicraft hall with proper machinery for woodworking and other crafts, instruction room, and quarters for these directors. The building is to be of rustic design to match the present administration building and will be built out of cedar logs and fir siding.

Many people who visited the camp this summer heard of the tentative plan and have already made reservations for candles.

At the birthday party on October 30th, Sunday afternoon at 2:30, there will be open house at the camp. This will also bring to a close the fall camporee which will have several hundred boys camping at the camp. The program will be very fitting to the occasion and will be open to the public.

MICHIGAN MUSHROOM CO.

The Michigan Mushroom Company is one of the county's most substantial industrial organizations and employs a considerable number of people and while their products are widely accepted it has stood ready at all times to support local civic projects of the county. This is one of the main reasons why this concern's operation is of such vital interest to the public. It is such concerns that tend to make a city prosperous. With such active interests in the welfare of its employees and families it has won the confidence and good will of the public. The active operation of this concern is under the direction of men so well known throughout the county that any further remarks are unnecessary, but we cannot refrain from stating that this industry is fortunate in having as its leader men so thoroughly familiar with the details of the business and whose familiarity with outside conditions has kept the concern steadily active. We wish to extend appreciation to the executives of the Michigan Mushroom Co. upon this occasion.

CAR DESIGN SLATED FOR MAJOR SHIFT IN '39?

Noted Designer Declares End of Current Style Cycle is Now Overdue

By JOEL BARBER

Five years ago two radically different schools of automobile design met head-on in the market. The public evinced momentary interest and curiosity in the blunt-end school of streamlining, then swung over and approved the flying-wedge type of design.

The style cycle set in motion by this choice now appears to be nearing completion. Indeed, the question really is, if its end is not overdue, for while major style shifts cost hugely to accomplish, they cost far less than not to sell cars in satisfactory volume.

Which car ushers in the distinctive design that is to prevail during the next style cycle is of course enormously important, since to that car will accrue the advantages of setting the pattern for years to come. It is perhaps too early to forecast, but my advices from Michigan convince me that Buick, pioneer member of the General Motors family, will in 1939 be styleblazer of the new automobile mode.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Tragedy: He served in the navy during the World war. Huge ships and the bounding main appealed to him but circumstances forced him back into civil life when the Armistice was signed. Several years after the war, he became the father of a son. When in his early years the boy showed a love of the sea and ships, he was delighted. He was still happier when the boy, in his teens, declared he had chosen the navy for a career. So the lad was sent to an expensive training school. As graduation neared, the father made a number of trips to Washington. His boy was named and took the entrance examinations, passing them with an average of 92—a remarkable attainment. But he won't enter Annapolis. The physical examination disclosed that he was suffering from myopia and astigmatism, slight but enough to act as an effectual barrier.

Wild Life: When Bill entered a delicatessen near his home, the wife of the owner tried to give him a pigeon. She had sheltered it during the blizzard and as it was well and able to fly again, she didn't know what to do with it. Bill suggested the obvious—take it outside and turn it loose. The pigeon didn't want to leave, however, and a crowd soon gathered. Just as a cop came, the pigeon hopped out into Broadway traffic. The policeman bawled Bill out for not taking better care of his pigeon, then leaped into the street and stopped traffic until the pigeon hopped leisurely to the other side. Then Bill, fed up with pigeons and not wishing to attract further attention, vanished.

Alarm: Thieves have been making hauls from motor cars parked in front of one of the large apartment buildings. So the doormen have been keeping watch, hoping to catch the miscreants in the act, particularly because in their loot was a mourning dress belonging to a woman on her way to the funeral of a close relative. But despite their vigilance, it was a tenant who reported a man acting suspiciously around a car. Two big doormen, with blood in their eyes, leaped out and found a tired workman sitting on a running board tying his shoe.

City Life: An elderly spinster cousin from down South, having announced her intention of making her first visit to New York, a cliff-dweller sat down and worked out a program for her—the museums, Riverside drive, the cathedrals, the Battery, Radio City, in fact the usual routine. When the lively little old lady arrived, she brought her program with her. It was exactly the same as the one already prepared except that it included three night clubs—and that proved somewhat embarrassing because the New York resident had never seen the inside of one of those clubs.

Error: A Broadway bartender became tired of furnishing free drinks—illegal in New York state—to the same two cops day after day. So he called headquarters and when the cops arrived for their libations on the cuff, they found a new waiter and porter on duty. A fight ensued, which the porter and waiter won with the result that the two cops were arrested. They were phonies, while the waiter and porter were real detectives.

Rain: Being puzzled on how traffic officers could blossom out in raincoats whenever the skies began to drip, though a few moments before they had been blue-clad, I asked one about the matter. The explanation proved simple. The officers merely park their protection in some nearby business establishment and run and get it between lights.

Find Fossils of Giant Sharks in California
Los Angeles. — Scientists announced discovery of the remains of sharks 175 feet long that swam the seas covering southern California 25,000,000 years ago.

Fossil teeth of the giant fish were dug from sandstone of the Palos Verdes hills and in the Los Angeles suburbs. With them were complete fossils of smaller fish and of backbones eight inches in diameter.

Out of the Frying Pan, Into Fire for Penny
Screen life is just one international intrigue after another for Reginald Denny these days!

No sooner did the British-born actor finish his role of newspaper correspondent at the Spanish front in the dramatic film, "Blockade," than he was recalled to Paramount to play "Aigie Longworth," "Bulldog Drummond's" nitwitted companion, again, in "Bulldog Drummond in Africa," a story of international spy rings, showing at the Hollywood Friday and Saturday.

Rainer's Role Entailed
-24 Changes of Costume
In twenty-four changes of costumes Luise Rainer runs the gamut of a wardrobe typical for a belle of New Orleans in 1850, in "The Toy Wife," coming Wednesday and Thursday.

Adrian, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer costume designer, took full advantage of the designs of the period to turn out elaborate creations ranging in fabrics from the gayest of old-fashioned plaid taffetas to the finest dimities and muslins. Miss Rainer's most elaborate gown, fashioned from ten bolts of tulle, required four weeks to complete. It is trimmed with hand-made silk roses which festoon about the wide hooped skirt.

Janet in Demand
The day after tiny six-year-old Janet Chapman's first picture was finished by Warner Bros., three other studios asked to see her tests and another one to make tests of their own for a big child-star film. The debut is "Little Miss Thoroughbred," here Friday and Saturday.

Rooney a Drummer
In Famous Bands
Mickey Rooney, featured in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, doesn't collect autographs.

He does, however, collect mental notes on all of the various world-famous bands with which he has appeared in the capacity of drummer. Mickey hopes some day to combine the features of all these bands in an orchestra of his own.

During his career the young actor has appeared with more than twenty-five leading bands, among them those of Jan Garber, Freddie Martin, Eddie Duchin, Shep Fields, Rudy Vallee, and all others appearing at the Coconut Grove during the past five years.

and 24 feet to the ceiling. Lecture room 18x30 feet and 18 feet in the clear. The audience room and lecture room are separated by folding doors which can readily be thrown into one room when circumstances require. The building is of good brick with slate roof and iron cornice and gutters, making the building fireproof. On the corner of the church is a tower 12x12 feet and about 78 feet high in which swings a 1,000 pound bell calling the people to the House of God.

The church was formally dedicated to the service of God by Bishop T. Bowman on Nov. 11, 1888. The total cost of the church and furniture was $7,000.00 and was dedicated free of debt. Thus the society was organized. The church was built and paid for within 8 months after the initiative steps were taken. A good meeting was held during the following winter and the record shows a membership of 41 at the end of the conference year.

1889-1890. At the next conference session J. A. Frye was appointed pastor of the Buchanan Mission. During the year the work was greatly strengthened and solidified. At the end of the year the membership had increased to 59 and a Sunday School of 140.

Also during this year a suitable house was purchased on Main street for a parsonage at a cost of $1,075.00 comprising three lots. A lot was afterwards sold for $450.00 which gave us a good property at a reasonable price.

1890-1893. During the next two and a half years the society was served by Rev. F. Klump. We record below a sketch of his ministry in Buchanan.

In the spring of 1890 I was stationed at Buchanan, Mich., which had been organized as a mission two years previous. I found the work in a vigorous condition.

The spiritual and Church life of the membership was fairly good and the newly erected church edifice gave prestige in the community. At that time it was the best church house in the place.

Taking the mission as a whole, we found a prosperous field of labor, of which we felt justly proud. We had the good fortune of having among us the Presiding Elder, J. A. Frye and wife and family. In Sister we had a conscientious co-worker whose work will always live in the history of Buchanan Society. Bro. W. R. Rough and his departed wife, Mary Ann, were an abiding source of help and inspiration to us. This may be said of the entire membership.

In regard to our labors and visible results achieved, we have very little to say. However, our feeble efforts were not altogether in vain. A goodly number of souls were brought to Christ and into the church. The Sunday School increased about 40% and the Young Peoples Society which was then a Christian Endeavor Society was changed to a Young Peoples Alliance and increased about 50%. If I mistake not this was the first duly organized Y. P. A. in the conference.

Probably the most lasting results of our labors will be found in the History of the Riverside Camp-Meeting Association. It was at this time that the project was set on foot which has been the means of saving many souls and not only solidifying our work in Buchanan and Portage Prairie, but it has been the means of giving a greater inspiration to the work of the entire St. Joseph District.

The following tribute to the present pastor was written by a member of the church.

I believe that I bespeak the words of each member and friend when I say, "We, the members and friends of the Buchanan Evangelical Church, wish to pay tribute to Rev. C. A. Sanders, his wife and family for the spiritual and material contributions which they have so nobly made to the Church and Community."

We are greatly helped spiritually by the Positive Gospel Messages which Rev. Sanders preaches. We love and admire him because of his "all around" ability, also because of the canny judgment which he has shown in the handling of various problems that have confronted the officials and members of the Church.

We wish at this time to publicly thank Rev. Sanders for his participation in, and supervision of, the various material improvements in, and about the Church. These improvements consisted of remodeling the church basement, redecorating the interior and exterior of the church, laying of new floor in Prayer Room, and mason construction work about the entrances.

Economy was practiced in the development of these improvements through donated labor, possible economical purchases of materials, and contributions by members and friends. We are appreciative of the fact that no indebtedness remains on these improvements.

We look forward with anticipation to Rev. Sanders' continued services in behalf of the Church and Community."

An appreciative member,
William E. Schultz.

The present Church membership is 205. The present Sunday School enrollment is 256.

It was Pete Sinner's turn to pitch and he did handcuuffing the National league contender allowing only four hits, not more than one coming in one inning.

Clark's again got off to an early lead with two runs or two errors and Stelter's double in the first frame. The big inning, Clark speciality, came in the third inning when eight runs crossed the plate. Fabiano was knocked out of the box and Walters replaced him. Eight hits and five errors came in the big inning. The hits were by Rothfuchs, Leiter, Ellis, Frame, Stelter, Covert, Imhoff, and Sinner.

The final Clark run came in the seventh inning. Imhoff's double followed by Rothfuchs' single accounted for the run. The Boyce pitchers were kicked for eleven hits.

Stelter, the Clark catcher, was the hitting star of the game with a single, double and a triple in three tries at the plate.

Thus we say goodbye to softball for the year.

FACULTY VACATIONS

Many faculty members attended school during the summer months. The ambitious ones were: Miss Graves who attended the University of Chicago; Miss MacNeill Washington University at St. Louis, Missouri; Mrs. Dunbar, Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois; Miss Quicke also at Northwestern University; and Miss Krebs who attended Columbia College of New York. Attending the Western State Teacher's College at Kalamazoo, Michigan were: Mrs. Fuller, Miss Roam, Mrs. Heim, Miss Carnagan, and Mr. Robinson who received the degree of Bachelor of Science in music. Some teachers traveled, some worked, and others found recreation and rest at home. Mr. and Mrs. Mobre enjoyed a trip to Nashville, Tennessee. The most interesting things seen were the Mammoth Cave, beautiful river views, and Mark Twain's home. Miss Quade took a trip through Canada visiting Montreal, Quebec, and the Gaspé Peninsula. Miss Ekstrom visited the world from a car trailer. She covered the upper peninsula, especially the Au Sable River section. Mr. Langer was busy attending to his summer duties. He supervised agricultural projects, thirty-seven in number, and visited each participant in projects eight or nine times. He also coached the F. F. A. softball team and spent a week in Rochester, Minnesota. Mr. John Miller supervised the play ground and spent three weeks in Ohio. Mr. Carter worked at Batchelor's electric shop and spent one week visiting relatives and friends at Ahn Arbor and Hillsdale, Michigan. JOTS AND TITLES

Note: Wonder how many jitters they are in B. H. S.?
Nicest blond hair—Betty Jane Widmoyer.
Nicest dark hair—Ruth Rumsey.
A lot of the girls would like to know how they do it. So would we. We don't know, but we suspect that Fred Manning is the best dressed boy in school. He must be the bravest, too. Have you noticed the simply de-vine jacket he's wearing?
Take a peek at Bonny Juhe Chain's hair the next time you see her. Since she got rid of the steamline effect, she's one hundred per cent cuter.
Seen at the movies: George Lauffer. Maybe this young Lochinvar's flashing smile and shining face have captured the admiration of the maiden aunts—and maybe not.
Wonder of the modern world: That seventh graders ever survive to grow up.
Class doings: Having a number of class meetings lately. Maybe we'll get a party out of it. Speaking of parties, good luck to the freshmen's on the seventeenth.
Sadistic urge: To invent a self hanging device for those happy spirits who run and yell in the hall.
Note: The way Johnnie Miller wears his hair is cute.

TWO NEW TEACHERS

We all wish to know a little about our new teachers.
Miss Jeffery's home town is Hancock, Michigan. She likes all kinds of sports, but her favorite is ice skating. She enjoys the music hour of the sixth grade. She became a teacher at the age of eighteen when she graduated from Northern State Teacher's College, Marquette, Michigan. Last year she taught the fourth grade at Harvard, Illinois.
Miss Fritz is another of our new teachers. Her home town is Port Huron, Michigan. Her greatest sports are football and swimming. She has a hobby of collecting antiques. She spent her vacation abroad last summer. She graduated from Michigan State Normal College at seventeen and started teaching two years later. She has taught at Caseville and Belleville, Michigan.

Oldest Twins Mark Birthday

Proclaiming themselves the oldest living twins in the United States, David and Joseph Maddox celebrated their ninety-third birthday at their home at Philo, Ill., recently. Joseph is a bachelor. David lost his wife in 1930.

Polly: Ah, Ah, Ah, Didn't you forget something?
Editor: Oh, yes, here's your cracker. Now shoot!
Polly: Aw r r r k k k—Here it comes, hot off the griddle. Will Beverly Koon's "Harbor Lights" flicker again this year? Aw!
Who said B. H. S. hasn't gone in for air-conditioning? Have you seen the drum major's uniforms?
The new scholar, Paul Ewing, has become famous almost overnight. But, come, Paul, use it to a better advantage.
It is the people in the west wing of the building feel a sudden uprising, don't be alarmed. It's only the unconquerable team of Little and Fenwell playing scientists. Zoor! There they go!
Several sophomores have made some interesting comebacks since their junior years. However more about them later.
Watch for the new male singer who will appear with the dance band!
Polly: Oh, yes, boss. Take time here to tell Mrs. Dunbar we're very happy she's convalescing rapidly.
A toast to the teachers who start out and continue to teach without "pets."
If you should notice any of the thermometers have gone hay-wire, it was probably caused by one of the icy looks a couple of junior girls have developed.
Polly: I guess that winds it up, Chief. Akrrr!
Editor: That's swell, Polly. I couldn't have covered it better myself and here's your cracker.
Polly: Thanks, boss. I'm off!
Editor: And there goes Polly, your press reporter, to find more cracks to exchange for crackers next week.

Dewey Avenue News

First Grade There are thirty-five enrolled in the First Grade.

Our new books are: "The Busy Little Honey Bee," "Stone Age People," "Children of China," "Nan and Ann in Manners Land," and "Raggedy Ann and Andy."

Fourth Grade The Fourth Grade has started a unit on "People That Live in This World." Because it is approaching winter the children thought it an opportune time to begin a study of the people that live in cold lands.
Faye Colbator brought a tadpole for the science table. Anna Rosetti also brought a gourd for the science table.

The kindergarten has enrolled 69 new members for this year. They are getting acquainted with their new equipment and each other. The room has been redecorated which improves our light and makes a much more pleasant place to work.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

One hundred and thirty-three new books were added to the high school library this September. The librarian is preparing them for circulation, and soon they will begin to appear on the shelves. There is a wide selection of non-fiction books that follow the modern, up-to-date trend of world interests. Books on espionage that tell of the spy systems in the World War and in our industrial system; books on our police and methods used in dealing with gangland; more aviation books that cover airplanes, stratosphere exploration, and zeppelins; ocean wireless and sea disasters; the most interesting of etiquette and self-culture books are a few of the many interesting subjects dealt with.

The book reviewer says, "Hello, to boy-readers. He says this because he feels that you boys will become close friends with the new books he has to suggest for you. Every boy can find a book on sports. The newest, not this old stuff you've been reading, but something bigger, better, and more interesting than you have ever read, can now be found in your own school library."

Boys, imagine having Yost, "Red" Grange, and Benny Friedman to coach our Alma Mater's football squad.
Pop! The secret's out. We have these very men for you in the library and others equally as famous.

Not really, but so much in reality that, athletes, would be athletes, and fans of all ages will want to read this smashing new "Play the Game." It's alive with excitement and adventures of sport-land.

Does America have barons? If it does, who are they? Matthew Josephson says in his book, "Robber Barons," that they are men who seized power in America after the Civil War for private gains. He also shows how J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Commodore Vanderbilt and many others acquired power and what resulted from their methods.

Among the other books of interest are "The Home Book of Quotations" by Burton Stevenson and "Stories in Stone" by Willis T. Lee.

FACULTY CHANGES

Miss Fritz teaches the second grade formerly taught by Miss Pelhank. Miss Pelhank has been shifted to the third grade room taught last year by Miss Quicke who, in turn, is taking the fourth grade position in the Dewey Avenue building left vacant by Miss Rutledge's resignation. Miss Rutledge accepted a position last spring in the Evanston, Illinois, school system. Miss Jeffery teaches the sixth grade. Miss Abell's former position. Miss Abell retired from the teaching profession at the close of last school term.

IMPROVEMENTS

While we have been enjoying ourselves this summer, workmen have been improving the school for our use this fall. They have built two cement walks, non-slip and west back doors to the main building. And the window sills have been given a new coat of varnish, broken and cracked windows have been replaced by new panes. The back porch room and study hall are displaying new, hand-painted and varnished desks. Lower grades where the desks are fastened to the floor, have been cared and some varnished. Outside window frames have been painted. The furniture in the lunch office has been painted white.

BUCHANAN HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Buchanan High School owes much of its popularity to its ever active band, directed by Ralph R. Robinson.
Through graduation last year, two prominent members were lost, namely: Caroline Webb and Jerry White.

Virginia Sanford, Beverly Rouns, and Carol Kober, who are taking post-graduation courses, will remain in the band.

Mr. Robinson has had Phil Pierce, Jimmy King, Bill Ednie, and Fred Manning as band members for the past six years.

The activities of the band during the summer included a trip to Battle Creek to attend the American Legion Convention. This required much time and practice and resulted in securing a better name for Buchanan High School band.

HOBBYHORSEMEN OF B. H. S.

A rather unusual hobby, we suspect, is indulged in by Donna ("Cannonball") Smith. The first lady of the Buchanan athletics collects pins! No, we aren't fooling. It's true. It seems that she started when she found a pin on the front of the boy friend's sweater. (Sorry, we didn't get his name.) Though a bit vague about the exact number of pins, she says that she has a box of them at home. This has been going on only since summer, so what will the collection look like in two years?

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Mr. Robinson thinks there are greater possibilities for a fine orchestra this year than ever before. For the first time he has been successful in having a complete string ensemble. He has purchased three cellos, two stringed basses, and two violas. The students learning to play these instruments are making rapid progress.

G. A. A. ELECTIONS OFFICERS

On September 20 the members of the G. A. A. will hold a final election for officers. They will also discuss selling candy at the football and basketball games. All members are asked to meet in Miss Henry's office immediately after school.

MOST ACTIVE CLUB IN SCHOOL

The Future Farmers seem to be the most active students in the school. They have kept a program going all summer long. This program consisted of both work and entertainment. They started the summer with a soft-ball team. Although they didn't win many games, they were placed in Class A.

During the summer they also had a game with the Benton Harbor Future Farmers. The game lasted for four innings. Our boys came out on top with a 10 to 4 victory. They also won all other games played with Future Farmer teams during the summer.

On August 26th the annual summer picnic was held at Indian Lake. Out of the 200 members present 25 were from Buchanan. Other schools in this county which attended the picnic were Benton Springs, New Troy, Three Oaks, Benton Harbor, Eau Claire, and New Buffalo.

During the summer all of the boys in the Club had their own individual summer projects.

On Friday, September 9, the boys held their first meeting of the school year in the club room. There were 18 members present. Theodore Upham was elected vice-president. There were no other changes in officers. Committees were also appointed to work on plans for a fair which they will sponsor late this fall.

These boys are really active.

GIRLS BEAT MIDGET BOYS

In a terrific battle to see who was champion of softball this summer, the Buchanan High School girls defeated Coach Miller's Midget boys by a score of 15 to 12. It certainly shows the boys up, but better luck to them the next time.

Rhode Island Railroad 'Magnate' Goes for a Ride

Roy Rawlings, former speaker of the Rhode Island house of representatives, sits in the "presidential special," which serves as the only passenger equipment on his Wood River railroad, a unique "Toonerville" line which he purchased last year for $300 from the New York, New Haven & Hartford line. The road is 5.624 miles long with 712 miles of siding. The only other rolling stock is a gasoline engine and an old caboose. The road is used mainly for Mr. Rawlings' grain business and he says "It's a darn sight easier to run this railroad than it was to run the legislature."

"I Have Just Begun to Fight"

Those historic words of John Paul Jones, given voice when his flagship was sinking and all seemed lost, should be our motto during the coming days.

The President's attack on our liberties, which scored its first victory when he made of Congress a rubber stamp, is by no means ended. His recent defeat in his attempt to apply the "purge" to Democratic Congressmen and Senators who failed to acknowledge him as supreme ruler has given the people a false sense of security, which, to the end, may be our undoing.

Ever, beneath the surface, the President has in his hands those powers which he himself said he had in thirty-four months returned to Washington and which, improperly used, would shackle the liberties of the citizen.

He attempted to use these powers against Senators Tydings, George and Smith and against loyal, patriotic Democratic Congressmen. His defeat but intensified his well-known intolerance, but strengthened his determination to have his way. As some of his associates once before said, "his Dutch is up."

This is shown by the fact that already he is attempting to "purge" from the Federal payrolls all those who failed to do his bidding in the recent inter-party strife. Make no mistake. The President will use every bit of his famed personal charm, his ability to make promises which are never kept, the vast sums which Congress so foolishly granted to him and a large part of which has been used for political purposes—for the purchase of votes—and the almost unlimited arbitrary power which he has seized to further his own mad political ambition.

He obtained power by glowing promises. He kept none of them. He promised the more abundant life. He has brought us nearer to national bankruptcy. He has brought want and suffering to our land. After more than five years of unlimited power, of the expenditure of untold sums, according to his own statement, one-third of our people are "ill-housed" ill-clad and ill-nourished.

Having dominated the stage here in America, he aspires to become a world figure and we should be on our guard to see that, in satisfying this ambition, he does not involve us in foreign war.

Mothers, wives and sweethearts, as well as fathers, should gird on their armor and go forth each day to do battle for the defeat of this ambitious man who would use their sons as cannon fodder.

Let us be up and at these New Dealers and Communists. The battle has just begun.

Sincerely,
CLARE E. HOFFMAN.
