

ARMISTICE PROGRAM AT H. S. FRIDAY

Buchanan Contributes To Majorities For G. O. P. in State, County

Atty. R. P. Small Will Be Speaker

Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle Hank of Hills Corners Sez: The best thing about the two-party system—it don't leave no doubt who's to blame fer everything.

Election and Milk Bottles Well, friends and neighbors, the big battle is all over but the shouting, but the Republicans are holding a protracted and long delayed whoopfest, while the Democrats are reading the reports from California and Cook county to sort of salve their feelings.

Meanwhile the sun comes up and will tomorrow and the flowers will bloom and the birds sing and the hens lay, probably just as well for Mr. Fitzgerald as for Mr. Murphy.

Meanwhile the treadmill of life goes on and you and me have to work just the same and not change in the subject, let's turn over our attention to serious business like the big milk fund drive in Buchanan.

There was one big issue overlooked in the local election and that is why the counters in all our places of business have to look like a back porch the second week after you left on your vacation and never told the milkman: Everywhere you turn there is a milk bottle.

There's just one thing we can do to get 'em off and that is to fill up 'em up, once and for all, and so they will stay filled. Tell you what let's do— we had just as well clear off the counters with one fell swoop. All they want is $150 and they got about $45 of that. So all that is left is $100 and all it will take to clear off the counters so we will have more room to lean on them is a dime apiece from 1,000 people in Buchanan, and there's easily that many who have a dime, if not more.

What do you say that we make a ceremony of it and at 10 a. m. sharp on Friday morning everybody that can drag a dime out of his or her jeans drop it in a milk bottle. Just get the dime ready and hold it over the neck of the bottle and at the stroke of ten sharp drop in and then listen to the grand glorious "clink." Probably just the sound of that much money hittin' a milk bottle all at one and the same time will touch off a big business boom here in Buchanan.

Only don't let it turn out like the old story of the time everybody in the world decided to holler "boo" all at once and see if the sound would carry to the moon but when the time came to holler everybody kept quiet to hear the sound and so it was the quietest time in the history of the world. Which is just about the way this will work out. But it was an idea anyway.

Boy Scouts

Sea Scouts The Sea Scout Ship, "Albatross" steamed out of Port Buchanan, Michigan at 8 bells ship time, Monday night. The meeting was informally opened with Ken Blake and Bill Snodgrass in charge of the meeting in absence of George Remington, skipper.

The Scouts discussed what was wrong with the meetings if anything and what could remedy them. Little was said about the Beamless Feed at Benton Harbor except to determine who is going to be present. After the business was finished, the scouts concluded the meeting with the game "Heads and Tails."

Verne Longworth, "Yeoman."

Fitzgerald Lead Here Nears 3 to 1

Desenberg Leads Ticket Here by 200 Votes But Fails as County Goes G. O. P.

The combined precincts of Buchanan, never entirely out of the Republican column since that party nominated its first ticket in 1854, gave state and county candidates of that party the heaviest margin in recent years, ranging from 2 to nearly 3 to 1 over Democratic candidates.

The sole exception was the candidacy of Atty. B. R. Desenberg, who led his ticket here by 150 to 200 votes but not sufficient to secure even a local majority.

In the gubernatorial contest Fitzgerald received 1041 in Buchanan, Murphy 392.

Precinct 1 State Governor: Fitzgerald, R, 484; Murphy, D, 202.

Sports Go Military in Italy

The military note has entered even sports events in military-conscious Italy. Fascist troops who go through compulsory athletics in order to keep in trim erected this barricade of bayonets as a hurdling obstacle. Woe to the soldier who fails in the leap.

Maroons Upset Dowagiac 14-0

Bucks Continue Their Undefeated Way in Top-Form Game Here Saturday

The Buchanan Bucks played their best football of the season last Saturday when they downed Dowagiac 14-0 to keep their undefeated record intact.

The Buchanan Bucks played their best football of the season last Saturday when they downed Dowagiac 14-0 to keep their undefeated record intact.

Buchanan made their first touchdown in the first few minutes of the second quarter when they marched the ball from their own 19 yard line to the visitors 6 yard line and Best plunged through the line for the remaining 6 yards to score.

Their second score came midway in the third period when they took the ball down to the visitors 1 yard line and Leiter passed to Simpson to score.

Buchanan made both of their touchdowns by hard line plunges and they completed only three forward passes.

Dowagiac had possession of the ball during most of the first period but they failed to penetrate very far into Buchanan territory.

Buchanan started their first touch down drive in the last few minutes of the first quarter when Leiter took the visitors punt to his own 19-yard line.

Wins Honors in Jitterbug Dance

Dick Ellis and Ida Fay Take Honors in 2 Contests in South Bend

Dick Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, and his dance partner, Miss Ida Louise Fay of Niles won additional laurels in the past week by winning a silver cup as the best "jitterbug" dancers in a contest at the Verhovey club, South Bend, Saturday evening.

The contest was won on points in competition with four other fancy dancing couples. For the benefit of those who may not know what "jitterbug" dancing is, it is characterized by extremely fast and difficult footwork and considerable acrobatic action.

On Wednesday of last week Miss Fay and Mr. Ellis won $5 in a contest at the Palais Royale, winning on that occasion on the applause of the audience.

Red Cross Roll Call Starts Here Friday

The annual Red Cross Roll Call for membership will begin in Buchanan Armistice Day, Friday, under the auspices of the Thirty club with Mrs. J. C. Strayer in charge.

Mrs. Strayer announces that she will have assistants located in the Postoffice, the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, the Union State Bank and the Clark Equipment offices and shops, until the conclusion of the drive on Nov. 24.

B. H. S. Host Today at Judging Contest

The agricultural department of the Buchanan high school will be host this afternoon at a judging contest, in which teams are expected from Eau Claire, Benton Harbor, Berrien Springs, Three Oaks, Galesburg.

The contest will cover four classes of poultry, five classes of apples, including identification of 25 plates of apples, and samples of weed seed to identify.

To Be Financed by Play Nov. 18

School Board and Teachers Cooperate to Finance 16mm Projector

A movement toward the introduction of visual education in the local schools has been initiated by the Buchanan teachers, who have pledged $100 toward an estimated outlay of $385 for making pictures for a 16mm projector, equipped with a sound track.

The $100 is to be financed from the proceeds of the play "Penny Wise," to be staged at the high school auditorium on the evening of Nov. 18.

It is expected that it will form a valuable adjunct to instruction. Movie films for educational use in the schools are becoming more and more an important implement in modern education and the movement aids to bring local schools abreast of the best and most modern practice.

Noisy Delegate Tossed Out

Little business men meeting with government representatives at the Department of Commerce building in Washington recently encountered some turbulent sessions. Leaders said A. R. Shafer of Philadelphia, a delegate, wanted the floor too many times and finally officers were called to remove the delegate from the meeting hall.

1st F. F. A. Fair is Huge Success

Dutch Corners School Wins First in Rural School Program Contest

The first Farm Fair sponsored by the Future Farmers Association of the Buchanan high school passed into history last week with an unqualified success that should ensure its repetition in future years.

The young farmers-to-be and their instructor and leader Clarence Langer, deserve high commendation, not only for the completeness, variety and excellence of the displays but the splendid appearance and layout of the entire show.

The home economics department, Miss Helen Krebs teacher, also contributed a very colorful and meritorious department which added much to the success of the exhibit.

The "Rural School Night" program was especially appealing. The Dutch Corners school, Wilma Carlin teacher, won first award for program; the Holmes school, Mrs. Frank Hamilton teacher, took second place; the Currier school, Mrs. Rex Milhon teacher, took third place.

The following awards were made in the various classifications:

- Apples: Jonathan—1 Bud Miller, 2 D. Marsh, 3 B. Olson. Grimes Golden—1 M. Huss, 2 J. Walkden, 3 R. Walkden. Delicious—1 V. Phiscator, 2 B. Miller, 3 L. Miller. Winter Bananas—3 D. Chain. The public is cordially invited to attend a special program to be given by the Junior Endeavor of the Church of Christ Sunday evening, Nov. 13, beginning at 7 p. m.

Will Speak on Untouchables

Returned Missionary From India to Talk at Methodist Church Sunday Night

Miss Bernice Elliott, a missionary fresh returned from life among the "untouchables" of India will speak at the Methodist church Sunday evening under the auspices of the Young Women's Missionary Society.

Miss Elliott is back on her first furlough after six years in villages in India inhabited largely by the "untouchable" class, numbering 83,000,000 out of 300,000,000 in that country.

The Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society will serve tea in her honor following the program Sunday evening.

The public is cordially invited to attend. There will not be admittance charge but a silver offering will be taken to defray the expense of her coming.

Father Hammer Dies at Mendon

Father Hammer, who was pastor of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church here for five years, leaving about ten years ago with the accession of Father Owen here, died last week at Mendon, Mich., and the funeral was held Tuesday at that place.

Bishop Elbers of Lansing was the celebrant of the funeral mass, and Father Ryan of Notre Dame acted as deacon. Buchanan people attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Travis.

V. F. W. Hosts at Armistice Party

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and their Auxiliary will sponsor a cooperative supper and party at their hall on the evening of Friday, Armistice Day, all service men and their families are invited to attend. The potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. with bunco and a social time following.

Customary Morning Exercises to be Held at H. S. Auditorium

The twentieth anniversary of Armistice Day will be observed at special exercises under the auspices of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the high school auditorium Friday morning, the following program beginning at 10:15 a. m.

Taps by high school buglers, Fred Manning and Bill Ednie, Jr. Arthur Johnston will be in charge of the exercises.

For the first time Armistice Day will be a national holiday by act of Congress and public offices, including the postoffice, will be closed.

The American Legion will hold the customary Armistice night party.

To Investigate Origin of Fires

Fourth of Mysterious Series Destroys Barn on Bert Rumsey Farm Sat.

The services of the state fire marshal and the county sheriff's office are reported to have been called in to check on the origin of the mysterious fire which consumed the Bert Reynolds barn in the Lake Madron district Saturday night.

The mystery has been increased by the fact that this was the fourth barn burned under mysterious circumstances within a few months of time and within two and a half miles distance along the same road.

In the series of fires, alternate barns along this stretch have been destroyed on the Coveny homestead, the James Hanover farm, the George Duis farm and the Rumsey farm. In addition the barn on the H. F. Kingery farm was destroyed by fire which was started by lightning.

In the Rumsey fire three cows, two horses, several tons of hay and all farming equipment and tools were destroyed. The fire started about 7:45 a. m. The family had left before 6 p. m. to attend a supper and farm fair at New Troy. No lantern or other light had been used in the barn and it was not wired for electricity.

Postal Rates on Books Lowered

Books have been taken out of the general parcel post classification and have been allowed a special mailing rate of 1 1/2 cents a pound, regardless of number of pounds or zone of destination, according to a special proclamation by President Roosevelt, going into effect Nov. 1, 1938 and terminating June 1, 1939, when the rate reduction will be placed before congress for continuation by law if it seems advisable.

Under the parcel post classification the rate on one pound to Chicago is 8 cents, on five pounds 11 cents. Under the new special book rate the charge to or from Chicago is 1 1/2 cents for one pound, 7 1/2 cents for five pounds. Parcel post rate to and from Buchanan and New York City is 11 cents per pound, 33 cents for 5 pounds. Under the new book rate the charge is 1 1/2 cents for one pound, 7 1/2 cents for five pounds.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Judson Clark, at their home west of Buchanan Sunday, a daughter. The baby has been named Jeanean.

Mrs. John Jerue, who has been critically ill at her home on Liberty Avenue, is recovering slowly.

Armistice Day 1938

The following Armistice Day reflection was printed in Howard's Vincent O'Brien's "All Things Considered" column of the Chicago Daily News in 1935. With the proper allowance for lapse of time expressed in the article it is even more timely now than it was then:

Seventeen years ago today I was riding along a road in Picardy. Darkness had fallen and it was cold. The car silted over a road so muddy that one understood why the army of Marlborough had "sworn so terribly in Flanders."

Here and there on the horizon a rocket—fired by someone, no doubt, from habit—winked momentarily in the blackness. There was a strange stillness in the air. For the first time in four years the guns were silent. It seemed odd not to hear that endless rumbling cough.

The only sounds came from the wheels as they sloshed through the gumbo. Now and then the driver cursed prayerfully as he skidded towards twigs thrust into the road by the engineers to mark an unexploded mine.

Then came a new sound—the unmistakable sound of marching men—and in the blackness ahead our lights picked up a battalion of British yeomanry. As they came nearer we could see the rifles at an awkward slope, the drooping heads of men utterly done in. The officer in command tried to straighten at our approach, but after a tap or two of his stick on his muddy boots he let it drop, to hang by its thong from his wrist.

Silently the column trudged on. We had stopped, and all I could hear was the wordless refrain of Kipling's "Boots." And then, out of the darkness, came a voice—a harsh, rasping utterly exasperated voice.

"Put out those lights!" it ordered.

"Why," I cried, "haven't you heard? The war's over! It ended at 11 this morning. We don't have to put out lights any more."

"Aye," answered the voice—and there was more hopelessness in it than I had ever heard in a human voice. "We've heard that before."

And another voice, softening as it receded, added: "The war ain't never goin' to end."

That was seventeen years ago and today we can only wonder if that man was right.

Practical people assure me that he was—that war, regrettable as it is, will be with us for a long time to come, and that what they call "preparedness" is the only thing that can save us from its horrors.

Yet I remain unconvinced. It is obvious that if we have an impregnable defense no nation can attack us and that if other nations are equally powerful we cannot attack them. This however, can result only in a singularly unpleasant world, with every nation a military camp and every citizen in it the prey to unending fear. Such ideas as we have heretofore had about "civilization" would perforce disappear.

The trouble with armament as a guaranty of peace is that it is good only as long as there is disparity. A nation armed to the teeth is safe against one which is not. But when two nations are armed to the teeth the situation is the same as if they were armed only with cutlasses, except that it is much more expensive and the peaceful arts suffer more.

It seems to me that nations are now at the point where individuals were in the middle ages. In those days a man had to go armed at all times and his home had to be a fortress. In time, personal preparedness became such a nuisance that by common consent it was discarded.

It may be that, with the slow march of intelligence, the human race will no more permit nations to have their own battleships than enlightened communities now permit individuals the free use of side arms.

It seems to me that we shall have to come to the international control of armaments, or, as that dismal voice said out of the Flanders night seventeen years ago, war will go on until the human race is obliterated and the way is made clear for creatures with more sense.

The new cars in the Ford Quality Group for 1939 give you a broad choice. Whichever you choose, whatever you pay, you'll get top value for your money. That is true of the lowest priced car or the highest. All have one important thing in common—inherent quality.

Their quality comes from fine materials, precision workmanship, and from the fact that back of these cars is the only automobile plant of its kind—where production processes are controlled from iron ore to finished car—and savings passed along as extra value.

Things are happening in the automotive world this year! Nowhere is the advance more marked than in the Ford Quality Group. See our dealers before you buy any car at any price.

Last Sending Dates Holiday Presents for Foreign Lands

For there are local people who send Christmas gifts to Europe annually, Postmaster A. G. Haslett has reported a list of latest sailing of steamers by which such gifts may arrive at their destination by Christmas. The list is too long for full reproduction here, and if anyone wishes information other than concerning sailings to a few countries given here they may secure them from Haslett. A few are: Belgium, Dec. 16; Canal Zone, Dec. 17; Czechoslovakia, Dec. 16; Denmark, Dec. 10; England, Dec. 16; France, Dec. 16; Germany, Dec. 16; Greece, Dec. 10; Hungary, Dec. 10; Ireland, Dec. 16; Italy, Dec. 14; Holland, Dec. 16; Norway, Dec. 10; Poland, Dec. 16; Scotland, Dec. 16; Sweden, Dec. 10; Switzerland, Dec. 10; Russia, Dec. 10.

Around About Buchanan

Flowers Still Blooming Although the hardest freeze of the current fall struck the Buchanan district Wednesday morning, hardy flowers are still in bloom (Wednesday evening) and the season continues one of the mildest on record.

An iris in bloom was reported yesterday at the Floyd Klammer home in Dayton, one bud being almost open and several others almost ready. Violets are in bloom at the H. D. Raymond home and forsythia bushes in the yards of Will Leiter and Clarence Spaulding. Alex Loos reports a small boxelder tree newly leaved out at his home on Pottawatomie Island.

Two Voters Total 173 Years A lesson in good citizenship was given Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Nancy Lyon, who will be 90 on Nov. 18, and Mrs. Jane Pierce, 88, braved the rain to vote at the library.

Townsend Club

The Townsend club will meet next Monday evening at D's Cafe.

Taxpayer Must Bring Along Old License Plates

State law provides that there may be only one registration for a motor vehicle, and for that reason 1938 license plates must be surrendered when 1939 plates are purchased, according to Mrs. Eva Dwan, manager of the auto license bureau in the Berrien county courthouse.

Many motorists, now buying 1939 license plates, cannot understand why the 1938 plates must be turned in," Mrs. Dwan said. "The 1938 registrations are good until March 1, and unless they are turned in when 1939 plates are bought, there would be two registrations for a car."

Editorial

While the majority of B. H. S. students have grave faults in courtesy, a few remain to carry on the ancient tradition that ladies and gentlemen exist. They are the ones who should be appreciated, instead of being called "sissies." They are the ones who don't block doorways, who don't always find fault, who aren't in such a hurry they knock down everyone in their paths, and who don't gossip in class.

We exclude seventh graders from this; they are usually bewildered and have no idea that the three minutes between classes will allow them plenty of time to reach their rooms.

For instance, a certain courteous person said "pardon me" when he interrupted his teacher; another stopped to apologize when he accidentally tripped a classmate; and another lends his books freely to another who has forgotten his.

B. H. S. isn't entirely hopeless, after all, is it? A little cooperation and the halls and locker rooms won't sound so much like a bloody battle between Sioux and a few Blackfeet.

Our True Story

It was splendor in itself—the scenery, I mean. We were camped in the cougar flat along the bank of a mountain stream, ninety miles east of the coast ranges.

What did we eat? One doesn't think much of food when one's nerves are on edge waiting for one of those lithe, graceful mountain lions to come stalking or bounding along; however, bacon, eggs, crackers, and cheese was our dish.

Being very tired from energetic tramping, we curled up upon our straw mats and waited impatiently for dawn.

A hand clapped roughly over my mouth awakened me with a start. Not twelve feet from our tent was a huge male cougar. The old guide shot at the hind quarters. The animal reared and jumped nimbly across the thirteen foot stream, turned, saw us, jumped, charged the guide, an expert shot, who headed the beast between the eyes. The animal fell conquered.

"Yes, cougar hunting can be very adventurous."

"Thank you very much, Mr. Robinson."

School News

Bob Dodge tried to act like Charlie McCarthy and made a hit in the freshman English class.

The sophomore English class plans to read The Reader's Digest for the next four months. They will read one-fourth of the magazine every week.

The pupils in Miss Quade's office practice class have been studying incoming and outgoing mail. The typing classes learned the numbers and symbols of the keyboard.

The first of the month saw the beginning of field ball and basketball practice in the girls' gym classes.

This is American Education week in the schools of the United States. A fitting assembly program is prepared and each class room is emphasizing the week in various ways.

November 14 to 18 is Book Week which always follows American Education Week. Posters and new books in the library entice everybody to examine and read the many new and old books in the library.

Answer Seems to be Mostly No

Students Stravvoted Heavily Against Week-End and Vacation Home Work

This week's question, "Should teachers assign more work on week-ends and holidays?" Duane Arend, freshman: "No, a person needs mental rest as well as physical rest."

Kenneth Herman, senior: "I do not think they should because those are our only days for recreation and we earn them."

Edward Vanderlise, 7th grade: "No, a person should have those days for rest."

Eugene Longworth, junior: "After looking forward to a holiday and finally getting it, assignments take away about half of the time."

Mary Metzger, junior: "I don't think they should, because what is the use of a vacation if one has to study?"

Jacqueline Bilotti, freshman: "I think not because there is always something else to do and we can't get our school work done anyway."

Barbara Swartz, sophomore: "I don't think they should all the time, but in small amounts it is O. K."

Marie Arrick, 7th grade: "I don't want home work because we have trips and other things to do on holidays."

Rita Mae Huebner, senior: "No, there is always something more interesting to do other than school work, besides, week ends are time for us all to relax."

Patricia Dellinger, sophomore: "No, a big majority go visiting or have company, so why spoil the vacation with home work?"

Grade News

Miss Connell's First Grade Miss Connell's first grade took a trip to Fagras' grocery store. We learned, something about fruits. He told us the story of Hershey candy. Most of the boys who work in Mr. Hershey's factory are orphan boys. He gives them their food, clothes, spending money, and sends them through high school. He has over a thousand working for him.

We took a trip to Joe Huebner's home on Lake street to see the pheasants. They have beautiful colored feathers when they are about two years old.

Joe has a pet rabbit. His name is Spot. He came from Pennsylvania.

Miss Fritz—Second Grade Donald Bailey has moved to South Bend.

Marilyn Cease has entered our second grade.

Jeanette Fisher brought some gold fish to school for our room.

At our Halloween party Mary Ellen Pierce, Charles Ailsworth, and Jeanette Fisher received prizes for the funniest costumes.

Miss Ekstrom—Fifth Grade Dictionary drill with the attractive new ones the school bought is proving very popular. Some of the pupils have asked to buy their own.

In addition to dictionary work the class this week is learning what an anthology is. The Anthology of Children's Literature is being examined from the viewpoint of reference material.

Bill Lauver, Raymond Ferris, Eugene Wesner, Delbert Lauver, David Gombosi and Mary McKinnon are working on posters for book week to enter a contest sponsored by the public library.

The grade is reviewing subtraction this week before taking up work on long division.

Science readers deal with the topic, "Why Living Things Need Air and Water."

Sixth Grade—Miss Jeffery Catherine Simpson has entered Miss Jeffery's sixth grade.

Harold Lisika moved to Gallien. Two new names have been entered on the Dental Honor roll.

Eight pupils in Miss Jeffery's class are making "Book Week" Posters.

The sixth grade received three new library books, "Nino", "Trudi and Hansel", and "Japanese Fairy Tales."

Kindergarten enjoyed Halloween with two parties. One in the morning and one in the afternoon. The afternoon group participated in the parade of costumes. Dollie Mae Sebasty brought popcorn and the children who attended in the morning all helped to pop it. Carol Shreve

Students Point to Family Trees

Some are Noble Oaks, Others Merely Hazel Brush

Our project in Mrs. Dunbar's freshman English class at the present is to trace our ancestors back as far as we can. Many interesting facts have been learned concerning the migration of these people.

Jacqueline Bilotti has told us that her grandmother's great, great uncle was a Monk in Italy and went from there to Turkey to teach Christianity. Jacqueline's great, great uncle was one of Chicago's biggest lawyers, and her great uncle was once the featherweight boxing champion of Illinois. Her relatives still own the largest portion of Avellina, Italy, a town about the size of Buchanan. She has sent to Greece to obtain information regarding her father's ancestry.

Lillian Letcher boasts of being related to a carpenter named Ketchum who sailed with Miles Standish and John Alden on the Mayflower. In possession of her family is a history book and a hymn book printed in 1803 in Diaborn. Lillian's grandparents lived in Alsace Lorraine, the territory between France and Germany which has always been the cause of a great strife between these countries. They later moved to Switzerland where Lillian's father was born. Then they moved to Illinois.

Josephine Pascoe's grandparents on her father's side came from England to Belville, Canada, where her father was born. Her mother's grandfather came from Germany and her father and mother came with their twelve children to Constantine. Josephine's great grandmother lived to be ninety-five and her great grandfather, ninety-one. One of Josephine's mother's great relatives entertained Washington at his home.

Nancy Scheetz's great, great, great, great grandfather came from Germany to Wayne county, Indiana. He went to California during the gold rush to seek his fortune, helping people during a siege of disease he contracted it and died. Her great grandfather came from Ireland.

The great grandparents of Marguerite Bliss came from Pennsylvania and for a great many years were the only whites between Hinchman and Berrien Springs. They have many original Indian remedies.

A clockmaker from Germany was Betty Metzger's great grandfather. Her father's cousin has a clock six feet tall and over a hundred years old. In German the name "Metzger" means butcher.

Shirley Roberts' mother was left an orphan in Austria at the age of three and was cared for by friends until she was six. She was then put on a ship and sent to America. She was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Long.

Esther Starr has only been able to trace her relatives living in America.

We have no Russians, Chinese, and not very many all-Americans.

Pupils with artistic ability are submitting designs for a cover to be used on the book that these reports shall be bound into. It will be on display at the exhibit next spring.

Richard Troutfetter has made maps of Europe and America and on these with colored yarn we shall show the advancement of each family.

brought apples and there was candy for all.

The first grade made tooth powder. Donna, J. F., and Nadene brought salt and soda from home. Robert and Marilyn went shopping for salt and soda at the grocery store. Monna brought peppermint oil. Each one had a turn to measure and stir the powder. Each time we measured three spoonfuls of salt and three spoonfuls of soda and one drop of peppermint oil. After it was stirred well each one took some home in a paper cup they had folded and written the receipt on.

Diana Zimmerman has added her name to the dental honor roll. The second grade had a Halloween costume party Monday afternoon. There was a "Mickey Mouse," a "witch," several clowns and hoboos. We had very nice refreshments which were served by Sharon, Larina, and Nona.

Bobby Miller's name has been added to the dental honor roll in the third grade.

We are sorry to have lost Donna Gowland from our room this week. Her parents are moving to Gallien.

The third grade enjoyed the Halloween party. Almost everyone was dressed in costume. The girls and boys enjoyed the parade in costume.

Russell Wolkins is still absent from the Special room.

Junior Gregory, Bonnie Young, Charles Stroud, and Ted Thurston have their safety buttons. We had a nice Halloween party. In costumes the following were unusual: Bud Lakin, Bonnie Young, and Billy Stark. Those who made good masks were: Dorothy Lisika, Richard Korp, and Betty McCarty.

Herbert Moyer was elected president of the fourth grade Citizenship club.

Robert Pazder's name has been added to the dental honor roll.

In our Health Lessons we are studying about foods that are good for us, in connection with this we are making posters showing muscle building foods, energy foods, and foods that contain vitamins.

We are very sorry to lose Rose Brown. She is moving to the country.

Books of the Week

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS Those who have read "Little Women" and other Alcott books will enjoy the complete story of her career in the biography "Invincible Louisa" written by Miss Meigs, who is herself beloved as an author of books for boys and girls.

NEW BOOKS Caroline Dale Snedeker writes of old heroes and they become breathing characters; Miltiades, Aeschylus, Aristides and many others. "The Spartan" is a story of heroism in "those far off days, the most vital in all human history." The plot moves swiftly from Marathon to Thesmopylae, to Salamis, and finally at Plataea which freed Greece from Persian invasion forever.

BOOK REVIEW "Chee cha-ko", in other words tenderfoot, and newcomer, was what the old sourdoughs called Chad Spencer when, from his uncle's plane, he stepped out into the cold world of Alaska on a six month's thrilling search. He hated the name but had to admit that he deserved it. Cold and unhappy as he was, the adventure promised by his uncle seemed no more than a dream.

That was before he had his chance at driving the dog-team; before Bud Sellar's alpine break-up, and before breath-taking events that followed.

The author, Gertrude E. Mallette, tells how during all the exciting days that Chad was earning himself a new name—the coveted title; no longer Chee cha-ko but sourdough.

ROBERT MOST COMMON GIVEN NAME IN SCHOOL After careful study to find the first and second most common given names in school, the results showed that there are more boys named Robert than girls named Betty.

The names Robert and Richard are the first and second most common boys' names, and Betty and Mary the most common girls' names.

Football Training Rules The first and most important training rule is, "Do not work just before a game, instead get plenty of rest." The other rules, all of equal importance, are: (1) have at least eight hours sleep and more if possible; (2) keep the mind on football at all times; (3) no dates during the week; (4) be off streets at nine o'clock and in bed at nine-thirty; on Saturday and Sunday nights the players are allowed to stay out until twelve; (5) candy or other sweets must be eaten directly after a meal; (6) three good meals should be eaten regularly every day; (7) drink lots of milk and water during the week but not just before a game; (8) try to avoid fried foods and eat more baked foods; (9) drink postum or hot chocolate as a substitute for coffee; (10) no eating between meals.

Coach John Miller says, "An ideal meal before a game is a baked potato, roast beef, dry toast, no butter, and water or tea."

Some Post-Mortems on Halloween Pranks

Luella Bloom went on a treasure hunt for food and finally ended up with an ice-cream cone.

Billy Vander Ven and Evelyn Dalrymple did their share of soaping windows. They helped decorate the ice-house with various trash.

Herbert Rough must have a guilty conscience because he's afraid he'll get into trouble if he tells all the mischief he got into.

Marjorie Bowman went to a party and arrived home at one o'clock.

Using a bag of onions Herbert Swartz and Gus Fagras played catch.

Mrs. Whitman's Room The twelfth grade history classes had a special day last week on the Revolutionary period with special reference to the career of Benjamin Franklin. Some excellent talks were given by members of the two classes. The "Life of Benjamin Franklin" was given by Richard Watson and Martha Young. Benjamin Franklin's career as a diplomat in Paris was presented by James Heminger and Mary Cripe. Ben Franklin's proverbs were given by Chas. Hess and Wallace Lewis.

Another topic about the career of Daniel Boone was given by Ruth Lightfoot. A mid-semester exam was also given in the middle of last week. The tenth grade history classes are studying about the Gracchi brothers while the citizenship class is discussing safety.

Library

By Norma Yoder Queer Book Markers

Strange, very strange things are found in books. By this I do not mean the literature itself, but the handy bookmarks that are left in the books when they are returned to the library, such as keys, pencils, songs, and mostly letters. The poor librarians must battle temptation whenever they find these mysterious-looking letters, etc., so please have pity on them and shake out your books before you return them.

The circulation of the library is increasing, and there were 79 new cards for the month of October.

The book "Gone With the Wind" seems to be as popular as ever, and is still on the rental shelf, with from three to five reserves.

A Vest-Pocket Review The book I am reviewing for this week is "My Son—My Son" by Howard Spring. The book is an English tragedy, for adults, which at one point or another will parallel the lives of many of its readers. Here is told a story of a father's love for his son, demonstrated lavishly but not wisely, which rebounds with disaster to almost everyone concerned. Two men, who have been close friends since their youth, have sons born on the same night and each of them plans a career for his son according to his own ideal. The book then elaborates on the lives of the boys, and shows how the hand of Fate can lift some to fame and power, and at the same time cast its shadow over the life of others in a way that brings disaster and broken hearts to all. To anyone who enjoys a touching, melodramatic novel, I highly recommend "My Son—My Son."

ADVICE TO FRESHIES

The following column appeared in the State High paper and we, thinking it good advice, wish to re-print it:

If a teacher breaks up your little conversation with your neighbor while in class, report her at once.

Do not stare a hole through the seniors; they are very sensitive. Moreover, they are opaque.

Do not bluff the teachers; they have all been there before.

Do not slide down the bannisters. Put one foot in your pocket and walk down like the seniors.

G. A. A. PINS ARRIVE

The G. A. A. pins arrived Friday, October 28, and there were many "Ohs" and "Ahs" as the girls examined them. They are maroon and gold. The larger pin has the symbol, while the smaller one, attached by a chain, has the year in which the girl graduates.

It seems that some of the girls have lost their pins, as we noticed that "Doggie" Luke and Dale Letter are wearing them.

It's got looks—and so have you!

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than last year!

IT makes the eye glad and grateful—you spot that the instant your gaze takes in this sparkling Buick for 1939.

It's sleek and swift and businesslike, lean and clean in every line, the trim bonnet low-set, the graceful upper-structure light-and-airy looking, neat and fine.

Will you step in, please, and look it over closer?

Why, it's almost like being in an open car, with the outlook you've got here!

The long nose tapers quickly out of eye-way, the pillars modestly retire to the background, overhead stop lights drop into easy vision—ahead, to right, to left, you can see!

The ruler will tell you there are as much as 413 added square inches of safety glass in this Buick, and these inches are placed where they count.

It has a lot to do with making Buick beautiful, this grand expanse of openness!

And like "catwalk-cooling": radiators low where air pressure is greatest—and the lines of the bonnet: broad, clean, aerodynamically better—

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors Terms!

Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

CHAPTER 50
By HAWES

In this instalment it is my purpose to leave London for the Lake Country, a beautiful scenic section in northwest England, and thereby progress towards the conclusion of this more or less interminable series.

Before I leave London I wish to pay my respects to the White Heather restaurants, where an impetuous tightwadder was able to secure the rudiments of nutriment by judicious reading of the menu from right to left at as little as 10 to 12 pence (20 to 24 cents) a meal, counting in a bowl of barley broth at turpence, and a couple of oat cakes at tuppence. The White Heather restaurants are Scotch, the white heather having some good luck significance. Women were crying the sale of "white heather for good luck" in the London depots. It was a matter of good luck for me that I located the White Heather string so soon after arrival.

Scotch barley broth as it is served in the White Heather string is a most filling concoction, brewed from meat, barley, peas and other vegetables, and with a most substantial body. There also I ate the famous Scotch scones. I also ate a Sunday dinner, on advice of landlady, at one of the Lyons string of chop houses. The one I struck was on Whitehall, in the governmental section, and I suppose more expensive on that account. It was full of fellows in boiled fronts and tails, undoubtedly government clerks the most part on Sunday parade. Despite all the reflections I have heard on English cookery, I must say they know how to cook and serve a nutron chop at the Lyons chop houses. I never ate a better meal, although, of course, it was bitter to part with 60 cents plus 10% service at the close.

It hardly seems right to leave London without paying one's respects to that chief relic of antiquity in the city, the Tower of London. Down on the Thames it stands, not far from the Victoria embankments made known to Americans in Jack London's "Children of the Abyss." Just above it up the Thames is London bridge, which has been falling down in children's songs time out of mind.

The old Tower is an interesting place, but for me it had the disadvantage of having been turned into a museum, with an immense array of arms and armor and other historical objects dating from the middle ages. Had it not been cluttered with such bricabrac and mobbed with tourists it would have been a most interesting place, for here was the old structure built back in Norman days and surrounded by a moat and entered by a draw-bridge.

Here Henry VIII's wives were brought as he wearied of them and here their heads were removed as a convenient way of relieving the next wife of embarrassment. Here Catholics were imprisoned and suffered death by the axe or the flame during Protestant ascendancy and here they turned the tables when they got the upper hand and dealt a similar fate to Protestants. Here a hired guide or a purchased guide book will point you to "Traitor's Gate", through which prisoners of state were introduced to imprisonment which was only a preliminary, as a rule, to death. Once the Thames river lapped the outer wall of the Tower and this Traitor's Gate was a water gate through which the prisoners were brought to the Tower by boat. Now the river is some distance below. But with a very little knowledge of the circumstances one may imagine the scenes of centuries ago when Ann Boleyn, most noted of King Henry the Eighth's wives, was brought in under guard—or Sir Thomas More, destined to the stake, or Sir Walter Raleigh, destined to the axe. These were undoubtedly sad processions and the times were tragic, far more than those today. Among the few who came through that gate a prisoner and escaped alive was the Princess Elizabeth, eventually Queen Elizabeth.

Nearby the Traitors Gate is the Bloody Tower, where the two princes were smothered by the Duke of Gloster, immortalized, if my memory serves me, as Richard the Third in Shakespeare's play. You may find in the 12-acre enclosure of the tower a little square plot encircled by a chain and paved with granite where once the place of execution was established and where the

Scenes and Persons in the Current News

1—Lord Halifax, who was placed in charge of the British foreign secretary's office, following the resignation of Anthony Eden in one of the most dramatic cabinet upheavals of the present generation. 2—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of England, whose policy of seeking an immediate understanding with Premier Mussolini led to Eden's resignation. 3—Anthony Eden, foreign secretary who resigned rather than pursue Italian friendship, talks about circumstances which he held would indicate that Britain was yielding to pressure from Il Duce.

queens of Henry VIII and other victims felt the axe. Most people seemed to be interested in the display of the crown jewels of the English royal regalia, in the circular room of the Wakefield Tower. Here is kept the Imperial State Crown, with four arches, made originally for Queen Victoria's coronation in 1838.

There were a dozen Towers, nearly all the scene of royal and noble imprisonments and executions or murders. A murder or two might excite one but so much history in a small area palls, at least if you are just making a run and jump through it. (P. S. I would have been more interested if they had not charged me a shilling every time I turned around.)

More vivid in my memory is the sight of the Bank of England which I saw a few minutes after I had left the Tower. Through a maze of crooked narrow streets in the "oldest part of the town" I threaded until I came out on King William street and followed it to its junction with Cornhill and Threadneedle streets, where that revered building, the "Old Lady of Threadneedle street", the Bank of England, stands. There was a great scaffolding around the structure, adding to the impression I had already gained that the British Empire was pretty well laid up for repairs. This is the old City of London. Just a few blocks north is London Wall street.

About the site of the bank was the old market center of London perpetuated in the names of the streets. You may walk from Broad street into Milk street and then turn off on Honey Lane into Poultrey street which in turn merges with Cornhill in one direction and in Cheapside in the other. I walked west from the bank through Poultrey and Cheapside streets past a succession of great bank buildings, each the financial center of some part of the farflung empire. There was the Bank of Wales, The Bank of South Africa, The Bank of Canada and so on. Perhaps the Empire is a losing proposition to England in a governmental way but it would seem that there must be much private profit derived from it.

At the end of Cheapside was St. Paul's, the most noted church of England, where I split a service one Sunday, after spending the first of it in St. Clement's Danes. It was growing dark when I came to St. Paul's, and I grabbed a bus and sped back to my room to get a packed suitcase and leave for Euston Station, when I was to take the London & Northwestern to the Lake Country for my last day in England.

That night on the train bound for the Lake Country in Lancashire is a blurred spot in my memory. The train was crowded—all European trains I rode on were crowded. There was the usual cash for a seat. Only in Norway and Sweden did a third class passenger have the privilege of reserving a seat and you can write your own ticket why.

I was dead tired from pounding London streets. The car was divided into compartments seating four each with only panels about five feet high as partitions. The seats faced each other with tables between. Two young lads and one middleaged man shared mine. No one paid any attention, but all sprawled as best they could, either with their head on the table and slumped far down in the seat with their legs under it and slept fitfully several hours. But after midnight my young companions began to stretch and take stock of their fellow travelers. Soor they found they had lived in the same town in north England and knew the same people. They had the gentle lady-like inflections of the English clerical class, but they were companionable boys, good manners to the core. It was fun to sit and listen to their characterizations.

I have no railway guide of that trip, and I was too sleepy to remember where I changed trains. This I do remember, that no train man ever looked at my ticket on that train. Early, about 5 a. m., I got off at a town whose name I forget. I only remember a gentlemanly lad whom I asked about my next train and "where breakfast could be secured."

He took me to the lunch counter and while I ate he checked my train en route to Grasmere in the Lake Country. After he had fully gone over the route he started asking questions about America.

Now he was a postal clerk, not the bottom grade, but about intermediate, and he got three pound six, or about $18.50 a week. How much would a clerk of similar grade get in an American small city (say about like South Bend)? The carriers got three pounds a week, about $15. How would that compare with American carriers' wages? Less than half I told him.

He was rather dazed. But there must be a difference in prices. However there didn't seem to be a lot except in clothes, where the English have us badly shaded. Finely tailored wool suits in London store windows for $15 to $18 while I was there.

But no Englishman in his class owned a car—practically none. But they nearly all owned homes. An English workman or clerk of office worker would never think of buying a car, he said, until he had a home paid for and furnished pretty well to his own taste. But now most of them were getting radios or planning to.

What did I think of Roosevelt and the New Deal? All Englishmen were deeply interested in that, he said. You got the impression that Roosevelt was fully as popular in the moderate and lower wage classes all over the world as he is in those gradations in America.

The youth of England was genuinely interested in being "fit", he said. I heard a lot about that "being fit". It connoted mental and spiritual fitness as well as physical fitness, he said. But he wondered about the young people in Germany. It seemed to him that they were devoted mainly to physical, bodily fitness at the expense of mental fitness—or did I think so? There was not a shadow of enmity in his characterizations of Germans.

He seemed to have time on his hands and staid with me until my train came, about 6:15. He put me in the right compartment and saw me off with the inevitable "cheerio", which some way didn't seem at all funny and quite sincere and all right. I was now bound, with one intervening change for the lovely Lake Country. The train I now rode was eminently "jerkwater". The cars were divided completely into separate compartments with no doors connecting, and the train men ran along the platform at stops and opened the side doors and called the stations. I was nervous as usual about getting off at the right station. I asked a young English farmer who, with his wife and baby, were my only companions. They were going to get off. I needn't bother, they would see to it. So they did and there was another train a short distance and meanwhile the lovely Cumberland Hills, like nothing at all that I ever saw in America, began to rise on each side. Finally I got off at a little station and grabbed a bus for the village of Grasmere, where, if you care to know, the poet Wordsworth lived and wrote his best work and Coleridge lived with him and wrote the "Rhyme of The Ancient Mariner" and De-Quincy, Shelley, Walter Scott and many others came and linked their name with one of the loveliest spots in this or any other world.

Viking Sword and Armor Found in North Ontario

TORONTO—A Viking sword and armor, unearthed in northern Ontario, may prove once and for all that Norsemen took themselves far inland on American soil 500 years before Columbus.

The important relics, unearthed at a mining claim near Beardmore, have been deposited here at the Royal Ontario museum.

Director of antiquities, Dr. C. T. Curdell, has submitted pictures of the war gear to authorities on Norse archeology in Europe, and is assured by all that the relics are the sort of fighting equipment used from 950 to 1000 A. D. The discoveries consist of a sword, battle axe, shield handle and pieces of rusty armor.

The Geographical Journal, British scientific publication, comments that the Norse armor find, if accepted as authentic history, tends to support the view that Vinland was not in Massachusetts, but farther north, and that Norsemen who explored the interior of America would have journeyed from Greenland south to Hudson strait and across Hudson bay and then toward the Great Lakes.

Earth's Early Edens Were Not Troubled By Poisonous Snakes

By DR. FRANK THONE

WASHINGTON—Snakes are a comparatively new thing under the sun. In the Age of Reptiles, that ended only 50 or 60 million years ago, they were almost unknown. Only the last of the dinosaurs, that lived in Cretaceous times, ever had a chance to see snakes, and those were of the earliest models and probably not numerous at that. At least, their fossils are exceedingly rare today.

Data on the relative recency of snakes are included in a new monograph on Fossil Snakes of North America, written by Charles W. Gilmore of the United States National museum and published by the Geological Society of America.

Snakes really began to get down to business on this planet at about the same time that mammals started their long climb to domination. Newcomers together, the snakes and we.

Venomous Ones Came Later.

The first snakes were non-poisonous, resembling modern black snakes and boas in that respect. Venomous species did not appear so far as the present record shows, until after Miocene time, roughly from 13 to 16 million years ago. First rattlesnakes began buzzing in the geologic period immediately after that, the Pliocene, which lasted from 13 million years ago until the Ice age began, about a million years back.

Prize specimen in the collection studied by Mr. Gilmore is the practically entire skeleton of a snake embedded in a slab of shale from the Green River formation, in the northern Rockies. Because of the slenderness and fragility of snake bones, it is rare to find well-preserved fossils at all; no other skeleton so nearly complete as this has ever been discovered.

Technique combining the skills of sculptor and dentist was necessary to free the fine bones from their stone matrix, but it was finally accomplished without mishap. This early invader of the American Eden was a serpent a couple of inches over a yard long. It has been given the scientific name Bovius Idelmani.

Starve the Cutworm

OTTAWA—Scientific starvation is prescribed as the best treatment for the cutworm, one of the most serious insect pests of the western plains of Canada and the United States. Destruction of all vegetation in a field by plowing it under after it has reached a height of one and a half or two inches and delay in seeding for ten days kills off the young larvae of this pest.

Carrying Their Crosses

At Furnes in Belgium is held the famous Procession of the Penitents when men and women stagger through the streets carrying heavy crosses. The procession has been held annually since 1388.

Clever... these modern dogs

THE WORLD IS GOING TO THE DOGS—IT'S SAID—WHICH DOESN'T SEEM SUCH A BAD FATE, AS WE LOOK AT THESE MODERN CANINES WHO SEEM QUITE CAPABLE OF TAKING OVER.

Helium, whose father was a husky with Admiral Byrd at the South pole, is a regular member of the landing crew for the blimp that soars Miami's skies. Picking his favorite landing rope, the dog helps pull down the ship after each sight-seeing trip. He has assisted in 3,000 landings and he's only 10 months old.

In the realm of British sport, this magnificent Alsatian has taken up cricket, and judging by his alertness at the wicket, it's going to be just too bad for the opposing players.

Modern dogs are clothes-conscious, too. Here Daisy Dachshund is faced with the eternal feminine question: "What shall I wear?" The "gowns" are among the newest styles from the Rue de la Canine, where the pooch can be fitted for overcoats, sweaters, boots or—don't faint—pajamas in either linen crash or toweling.

Well Diggers Find Fish 200 Feet Down

DECATUR, MICH.—The month's best fish story—and a true one—is provided by men drilling for oil on a farm near Fish Lake. When down about 200 feet, the water pump at the well became clogged. Pulled up for inspection, it was found that two pike were entangled in the mechanism. The well is about 80 rods from the lake.

Cliff Dwellings in Colorado In Mesa Verde National park, there are several cliff dwellings that have been dated accurately by tree-ring chronology. In Spruce Tree House are roof beams constructed between the years 1230 and 1274 A. D. The Cliff palace was built between 1073 and 1273. The cave in which Cliff palace, the largest of all cliff dwellings, is situated was occupied originally in the First century B. C. or A. D. The Pueblo culture on Mesa Verde, which began to develop at that time, reached its classical stage about the Tenth century. The Basket Makers, as the earliest cliff dwellers are called, were the first agricultural Indians of the Southwest.

South Berrien Herd Association Makes Report

28 Cows Produce Over 1,250 Pounds of Milk During Month

September production in the South Berrien Dairy Herd Improvement association averaged 600 pounds of milk and 26.57 pounds of butterfat, compared with August averages of 720 pounds of milk and 30.09 pounds of butterfat, according to the monthly report of the tester, Eddie Omland. There were 365 cows on test in September.

Twenty-eight cows gave more than 1,250 pounds of milk, and 21 cows produced more than 50 pounds of butterfat.

A new member was taken into the association, Leo Jones of Berrien Springs, with a Guernsey herd.

High production among small herds was attained by six Guernseys owned by H. D. Roberts, which averaged 566 pounds of milk and 30.2 pounds of butterfat. Eight Holsteins owned by George Olmstead averaged 355 pounds of milk and 30.02 pounds of butterfat, and Glenn Kinney's five purebred Guernseys averaged 640 pounds of milk and 29.36 pounds of butterfat.

Russell File's 11 Guernseys were high medium herd for the month, with an average of 833 pounds of milk and 41.51 pounds of butterfat.

Child Study Club
The Buchanan Child Study club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Burton Mills with an attendance of fifty-three, including guests from New Buffalo, Three Oaks, Gallen and St. Joseph. The state president, Mrs. R. A. Jackson, Lansing, and the state extension director, Mrs. Robert Love, of East Lansing, were present. They were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Sigerfoos, East Lansing. The visiting officials gave talks on the ideals and purposes of the organization. Josephine Kelly gave a talk on "The Place of Music in General Education." She demonstrated the results of her method of teaching music to preschool children with little Miss Emmaline Rampold, age four, who had had only four lessons. The club also considered plans for its usual Thanksgiving and Christmas activities for needy families.

Willing Workers Class
The Willing Workers class of the Church of the Brethren met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ida Shreve for a potluck dinner and an all-day meeting.

Lillian Club
The Lillian club was entertained Wednesday night of last week by Mrs. Louis Proud. Prizes in games were won by Mrs. Lillian Crull, Mrs. W. B. Fynearson, Mrs. H. E. Squer, Mrs. Arthur Vorrey, Mrs. Effie Hathaway and Louise Hickok. Mrs. Bettie Smith is to be hostess Dec. 7.
