To Pay 75% of Cost to the City

25% of Material and Equipment Cost Paid by General Tax; Federal Gov't. Pays Labor Costs

The city commission and City Assessor Harley Squiers will meet in the commission chambers at 7:30 p. m. Friday to review the special assessments for sanitary sewers in the eight various districts constituted to include the WPA sewer projects to complete city sanitation.

At this time anyone affected by the assessments is invited to appear and make objections if he or she so wishes, this being the last chance for such appearance.

The special assessments are to cover 75.37% of the cost of equipment, equipment rentals, supplies, engineering and engineering costs and other incidentals not paid for by the federal government. The remaining 24.63% of such costs will be paid from the general tax of the city. The appropriation of the Works Progress Administration is designed to cover the labor cost.

Pleas Made to Outlaw Christmas Tree Cutting

Wasteful Economic Loss Pointed Out by State Foresters

Pleas to outlaw the Christmas tree on the charge that its use causes a wasteful raid on the forests are not supported by Michigan state foresters.

The assumption that the cutting of the trees each year to perpetuate the Yuletide custom wastes the forests is not sound, say the foresters.

"The question is not of use," says George S. McIntire, assistant state forester, "but of what methods are used in cutting. If these methods are proper, the cutting may be a thinning process highly beneficial to the forests."

The view of foresters in general toward the Christmas tree custom and its effect on the forests is expressed in an editorial appearing in the current issue of the foresters' national magazine, "American Forests." Excerpts from this editorial follow.

"Brief though its season of service is, the Christmas tree has come to be the forests' greatest contribution to universal inspiration of happiness and good will in America. . . . Of course, Christmas would still be Christmas without trees but what a dreary, funeral affair it would seem. Yet there are sincere and well-intentioned people who would ban the use of Christmas trees. Shocked by the sight of hundreds of them consigned to the ash heaps or burned in the streets following the Christmas season, they become alarmed by the thought that here is wanton waste of our forests. Their conservation, we think, carries them to extreme and illogical lengths. The use of trees for Christmas is as legitimate as their use as logs for our fire places, as pulp for our books and newspapers, as rayon for our clothes, or as lumber for our homes. If conservation called for denial of forest use, certainly the Christmas tree because of the good it does and the joy it gives should be at the bottom of the list of forbidden uses. . . . Any one of our states outside the prairie belt has ample forest land not now used to grow all the Christmas trees the nation needs. . . . All Christmas trees are not cut in violation of good forest practice. Great numbers come from the tops of trees cut in lumbering operations which otherwise would be left to rot or burn. Many trees represent thinnings from natural forests which benefit the trees."

Miss Jane Habicht of Chicago was a guest over the holiday week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Habicht.

U. M. Professor to Lecture Here

Dr. Charles Fisher of the faculty of the University of Michigan will lecture here on January 16 under the auspices of the Buchanan Child Study Club, his topic being "Dad Looks at Youth." Further particulars as to time and place will be announced later.

Mich. Has Big Building Program

$19,000,000 Being Expended in Buildings on U. M. Campus

Michigan now has under way a $56,000,000 construction program partly financed by Public Works Administration grants to the State amounting to $25,115,242.

Construction work is now under way on about 250 projects in the State. The number of grants approved for Michigan was 303. A number of the Applicants lost their grants because of their inability to finance their share of the construction cost for one reason or another. The grant is an outright gift of 45 per cent of the cost of construction, the Applicant furnishing the remaining 55 per cent. The net number of projects to go under construction by January 1, 1939, as required by Act of Congress in order to qualify for a PWA grant was 250, allowing for those which were rescinded and some of the last minute allocations.

Far and away the largest factor in the Michigan building program is for educational structures, ranging from fine new buildings on the University of Michigan campus at Ann Arbor and Michigan State College at East Lansing and other state institutions to district schools. The total of educational buildings now under construction is 108. The Public Works Administration contributed $8,418,432 to this program, the total estimated cost of which is $18,938,266. When this educational program is completed it will give Michigan one of the finest public school systems in the country.

Michigan showed great forethought for the afflicted and had an unusually high percentage of hospital applications and grants. The PWA approved 24 grants for hospital buildings, both in the way of new buildings and additions to those already in existence. The total grants for hospitals was $4,311,448. The total estimated cost of new hospitalization facilities is $9,581,001.

The State of Michigan with PWA assistance is putting up 24 public buildings throughout the State, such as county buildings, city halls, jails, fire stations, public libraries and community buildings. For his purpose the PWA gave $1,452,472 and the estimated cost of these structures is $3,947,723.

In line with the general movement towards more sanitary living conditions, Michigan has instituted a big program of waterworks and sewers with the assistance of the Public Works Administration. There are now under construction 29 waterworks projects which include both new systems and improvements to existing facilities. For waterworks and sewers the PWA approved grants of $3,788,671 representing an estimated total construction cost of $8,351,768. There are also seventeen sewage disposal plants under construction in various portions of the State.

The State's highway improvement program, including paving and bridges, has been aided by a PWA grant of $3,373,306, the estimated cost of the program being $4,496,239.

Eleven Michigan cities are installing new light and power plants for which PWA has allotted a total of $1,332,042 and the total estimated cost of the new structures is $2,980,000.

Twentieth Century Siege of Jerusalem

British troops ready for action above the Suleiman road opposite the new gate of the French hospital in Jerusalem during the recent curfew of the Holy City which is under military control. The British have made a relentless drive against Arab rebels to pave the way for orderly introduction of government reforms. The Palestine question has plagued the British empire since the World war, with constantly recurring crises arising over disputes between the Arabs and the Jews who have attempted to establish and maintain the Jewish national homeland and encourage immigration of Jews to the Holy Land.

County Officers Select Staffs

Leo D. (Mike) Boyce to Be Deputy in Office of Co. Treasurer

Miss Lillian Krieger, Benton Harbor, will be deputy county treasurer, and Miss Lou Clybourne, Benton Harbor, will be deputy register of deeds, after January 2, according to announcements from Treasurer-Elect William H. Bartz and Register-Elect John L. Chaddock.

Miss Krieger has had some six years of experience in the treasurer's office. Mrs. Veronica Mason, present deputy treasurer is to be retained. Others in the treasurer's office will be Leo D. Boyce, Buchanan; Miss Doris Gifford, Oronoko township; and Bertha Wentz, New Buffalo.

Mrs. Rora Lee Lloyd, Mrs. Dorothy Cole and Alden Bridges, who have served under Treasurer Edward L. LaViolette, will be dismissed. Miss Clybourne will replace Mrs. Mary Maul as deputy register, Mrs. Pauline Orasky, Benton Harbor, will replace Miss Ruth Benjamin, and Miss Dorothy Shire, is to be retained.

RAIL CHIEF

Mrs. Edith Jarvis Alden of Chicago, newly elected secretary of the Burlington railroad, as she takes over her duties as the only woman executive of a big railroad in the country. She is a smiling, gray-haired woman of 54 and has a son 26 years old. She went to work for the company in 1918.

Icy Roads Contribute to Minor Auto Accidents; Four Inches Snowfall

Ideal weather for the Christmas season—albeit a little sidly in spots on the highways—favored the Buchanan community for the holiday season.

A light snow and steady sub-freezing weather had provided good sleighing and winter sport weather on the Christmas week-end. On Tuesday morning the mercury sank to 10 above zero and about four inches of snow fell. At 6 a. m. Wednesday the low-season mark of 8 above zero was recorded at the Indiana & Michigan Electric company plant here. Winds drifted the snow on country roads. Several near-disasters from skidding on icy roads were reported, all without serious injuries.

Land Exchanges Help Forest Administration

Recent land exchanges involving more than 50,000 acres in state and national forests will result in more closely consolidated administered units of public holdings for both the state and the U. S. forest service.

In one exchange, the forest service gave 9,668 acres in the Au Sable, Baldwin, Black lake, Fife lake, Higgins lake, Mackinac, Pigeon river and Prosque Isle state forest areas for 8,381 acres of state land in the Manistee national forest.

In another, 5,315 acres of federal land in the Houghton lake and Mackinac forests for 3,445 acres of state land in the Ottawa national forest. The third exchange involved 12,766 acres of state land in the Manistee national forest and 11,621 acres of federal land in the Baldwin, Higgins lake, Lunder and Mackinac state forests.

The exchanges resulted in the state acquiring 1,700 feet of frontage on Lake Michigan in the Mackinac state forest, approximately three and one quarter miles of fair trout water on the Black river and over one quarter of a mile of good trout water on the Pigeon river.

Plants Need Rest Period

When growing cacti plants in the house it is well to remember that most of the plants need a dormant season of about three months in order to bloom well.

The plant should only be watered every two weeks during the resting period, if kept in a room with normal lighting conditions and at a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees, Miss Elizada Clover, instructor in Botany at the University of Michigan, advises.

Even less water is needed if the plants are taken to a cool room in the basement where there is less light during this time, she says.

Unhealthy cacti plants may sometimes be saved by cutting off the healthy part of the stem and replanting it. The cut surface should be allowed to dry before planting in rather coarse sand. It is well to dip the cut surface in charcoal to discourage the growth of fungi before replanting. Miss Clover added.

Dance in Finals at Jap-O-Land Friday

Buchanan friends of the dance team of Dick Ellis and Ida Fay are notified that the popular jitterbug duo will compete in the finals at the Jap-O-Land ballroom on US-12 two miles east of Benton Harbor at 11 p. m. Friday evening, Dec. 30, against a Benton Harbor couple, the decision being by audience applause. A measure of support will be appreciated.

Happy New Year

- To the postman who, through rain and shine, has served us so faithfully throughout the year. . . . To the milkman who wends his way to our homes before sunrise that we may better enjoy our breakfast food and coffee. . . . To the cop on the corner who has watched over our interests so diligently. . . . To the doctor, who, night and day, has protected our health. . . . To the school teachers who exercised so much patience in the teaching of our children. . . . To the wife and mother without whom "home" would be a foreign word. . . . To the husband and father who has toiled through another year to keep the larder filled. . . . To the laborer, the transient, the rich and the poor. . . . To one and all. . . .

Happy New Year

Ernest Mallinger Weds Chicago Girl

Ernest Mallinger, formerly a clerk in the local A. & P. stores and well-known throughout the Michiana district as a stunt motorcycle rider and president of the Black Aces, motorcycle club of the Twin Cities, was married in South Bend Thursday evening to Clara Van Norman of Chicago. They are now making their home in Chicago. Local friends were not greatly surprised, their suspicions having been aroused by his firm avowals of being a "woman hater." Mallinger was well liked locally and his friends here wish him good luck.

Federal Savings Pays 3 Pct. Dividend

An enviable record was established with the declaration of a three-percent dividend by the Buchanan Federal Savings and Loan Association this year. Since 1910 this association has never missed a dividend of at least three percent. Dividends of 1 1/2 percent were declared semi-annually this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Hathaway spent the holiday week-end at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Caroline Voss, Chicago.

Mrs. Florence Blake of Chicago was a guest Christmas at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Matheus.

Hamblin Writes of Florida Location

Ralph DeNardo received a letter recently from A. L. Hamblin, former local jeweler and watch repair man, who stated that he had arranged space for a repair bench in a jewelry store in his present location at Clermont, Fla., and had so far "transacted more business" in two months than I have in any year previously since the depression started. Mr. Hamblin states that his present work is very advantageous, since he can arrange his time to come and go when he pleases and do his work at night if he so desires, while taking in the beauties of Florida in the day time. He states that he can almost reach out of his window and pick bushels of citrus fruit and that the city maintains a large free fruit dispensary in a box on a street corner.

Cold Forces Stop on Disposal Plant

Work was suspended Tuesday by the Haines & Haines force on the sewage disposal plant for the first time since the initiation of the installation on Aug. 19, cold weather forcing the masons to quit laying brick on the walls of the control room. Most of the exterior work of the plant is done, but the installation of equipment is still to begin. The time consumed now checks with the financial outlay within three percent, which indicates that the work is proceeding almost on schedule.

New Years Show at Hollywood Theatre

The Hollywood theatre is to present a Gala New Years Eve show Saturday night at 11:30. At the conclusion of the regular Saturday night show the box office will sell tickets at 11:15 for the midnight show which will start promptly at 11:30. A slight interruption will take place at 12 o'clock to give patrons an opportunity to usher in the New Year. Horns and caps will be furnished to the patrons for the midnight show. A preview showing of "Suez" will be the feature picture together with short subjects. Manager Hoffman states that the patrons will be offered one of the best surprise novelty offerings ever presented at any theatre. So make your New Years plans right now and come prepared to have the biggest laugh of your life with the starting of 1939.

Report Increase in Holiday Mail

Although postal receipts for the holiday business had not been checked yesterday, the clerical force stated that there were over 80,000 machine cancellations during that month up until Christmas day, as compared with 79,000 for the entire month last year, indicating an increase. The machine cancellations include only letter-size mail, larger pieces being hand cancelled.

State Pushes Four Million Dollar PWA Construction Program

The state highway department pushed its newly revised $4,000,000 PWA construction program this week by opening bids (Wednesday Dec. 21) on ten projects.

Opening of the bids followed approval of the program by the Public Works Administration in the minimum statutory notice time of two weeks. The original program provided for base preparation projects exclusively while the revised program includes bridge, and oil aggregate surfacing projects.

The new program calls for the improvement of 341 miles of highways including 17 projects covering 109 miles of base preparation totaling $1,788,669, and 34 oil aggregate projects covering 232 miles at an estimated cost of $1,649,845. There are also 19 bridge projects estimated to cost $587,100.

Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner has also requested the PWA to transfer any unused Michigan allocations to highway construction.

Drunken Driver Loses License

Clyde Marrs, a farmer near Buchanan, incurred a $50 fine automatic revocation of his driving license for a year when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving in the court of Justice of the Peace Lee Mathie Tuesday morning. Marrs struck another car in Buchanan Monday evening, damaging a fender and going on without stopping. Police who followed him found his car in the ditch near the cemetery, and took him to St. Joseph for safe keeping over night.

Sonny Riley Local I. & M. Salesman

Harleigh V. (Sonny) Riley, Jr., has been transferred from the Benton Harbor district of the Indiana and Michigan Electric Company, where he was a rural representative, to the Buchanan district where he is a salesman in the merchandise department, taking the place left vacant by the death of Leonard Daggett.

Must Clear Path to Mail Boxes

Rural Residents Asked to Cooperate in Assuring Mail Delivery on Stormy Days

If rural residents wish to assure themselves the continued blessing of free mail delivery on snowy days it will be necessary for them to cooperate by keeping paths clear to mail boxes, according to Postmaster A. G. Haslett, who has suggested publication of the following bulletin issued by the postal department:

It is not the practice of the Department to grant allowances to rural carriers to cover increased equipment maintenance costs due to extra travel to serve patrons along roads which are rendered impassable by snow. If excessive detours would be necessary in order to effect delivery of mail to such patrons, they should relocate their mail boxes temporarily, receive their mail through other patrons' boxes, or make some other arrangement for receiving their mail until the roads can be traveled.

Where there are weeds along a highway which might cause the drifting of snow, postmasters should advise the removal of weeds before the beginning of the snow season. At the approach of the winter season, postmasters should inform patrons, provided this can be accomplished without expense to the Department, that they are expected to see that roads are put in such condition after heavy snows that it will be possible for rural carriers to travel them. Patrons should be advised to take the matter up with the highway officials with a view of having arrangements made, wherever practicable, to keep roads open for travel.

Carriers are not required to perform service on foot when roads cannot be traveled with the conveyance ordinarily used by them, but, in accordance with the instructions in Article 14, on page 91 of the Postal Guide for July, 1937, they are expected to make every reasonable effort to serve as many of their patrons as possible. It is realized that in many sections the use of horse-drawn equipment cannot be obtained. However, carriers should by employing other available means, including the hiring of assistance at their own expense, endeavor to render as nearly complete service as is possible without undue physical exertion or excessive financial expenditure. Ambrose O'Connell, Second Asslt. Postmaster Gen.

Introducing 1939

We are about to meet an interesting young chap who without previous experience is taking on a big job and a heavy load of responsibility.

There will be no point in our asking him at this time what his plans are; he doesn't know himself. Of course, we are all counting on him to help in solving some of our problems. But we must not forget that he is also counting heavily on us for our cooperation.

Therefore, let's just pitch in and help all we can without asking too many questions or assuming to know too much in advance about what he intends to do.

To our friends and patrons we extend best wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

HOLLYWOOD

JANE'S SECRET

A possible hint to the secret of Jane Withers' popularity may be found in the title of her newest 20th Century-Fox comedy, "Always in Trouble," observes Associate Producer John Stone. Trouble haunts the mischievous miss's every footstep. Stone points out, and there isn't a jam she can't wiggle her way out of! That's how Jane wins fans and influences popularity polls. "Always in Trouble" opens Friday and Saturday at the Hollywood theatre.

"SUEZ" OFFERS

FILM MIRACLE

When the savage black simoon roars in from the Sahara to provide a climax of terrifying power for "Suez" audiences at the Hollywood Theatre will witness a spectacle and experience an emotion the screen has never been able to capture before. Twisting, torturing, destroying—the devil-wind of the desert is one of the production miracles of the spectacular story of Ferdinand de Lesseps and the building of the great canal that has become the jugular vein of the world. Darryl F. Zanuck, producer of many of the screen's most memorable pictures, has re-created on the screen the stupendous effort of de Lesseps to tear two continents apart and join the Mediterranean with the Red Sea that ships might sail the desert. A canal half a mile long, 100 feet deep and 150 feet across was dug by movie crews in the American desert near Yuma, Arizona, for scenes in the film. Other dramatic sequences were filmed on a 30-acre desert constructed on an abandoned golf course on the 20th Century-Fox lot. Royal courts of Europe and Egypt were built for the film, which is highlighted by the romantic story of the loves that drove de Lesseps to the realization of his dream. Tyrone Power interprets the flaming heroic role of the canal-

LEADING ROLE HER

BIRTHDAY PRESENT Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer helped Lynn Carver celebrate her twentieth birthday anniversary by awarding her the first leading role of her career. She plays opposite Lew Ayres in "Young Dr. Kildare" at the Hollywood starting Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Carver won the role after considerable testing, during which Maureen O'Sullivan and Jean Parker were two prominent candidates. The possibility that the picture may be the first of a series indicates plenty of activity for the little Kentucky girl in the future.

Miss Carver's last appearance on the screen was in "Everybody Sing," after which she took a vacation from acting to become the bride of Nicholas Nayfack. She appeared also in "Sweethearts," "The Bride Wore Red" and "Madame X".

Used Card Money

The first paper money used in America was issued by French authorities at Quebec in 1685, according to an official of the Detroit Coin club. Merchants and traders accepted it, since Canada was in desperate need of small change. Crude bills were made from ordinary playing cards, cut into four pieces, each piece being stamped with a fleur-de-lis and crown, and signed by the governor, intendant and clerk of the treasury. Card money circulated in Detroit for many years and proved more valuable than some of the beautifully engraved notes which followed it.

Pied-Bill Grebe Quick Mover

The pied-bill grebe is a solitary bird that likes to sit on the water among the reeds, but it is such a quick mover that it can dive beneath the water swiftly enough to dodge gun shot fire.

Christian Science Churches "God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 1. The Golden Text (Isaiah 44:6) is: "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isaiah 42:8): "I am the Lord; that is my name; and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

Correlative passages to be said from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 330): "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man."

Mrs. Charles Wilcox and Mrs. Lester Cudney of Niles, attended the funeral of Charles Price at Galien Wednesday afternoon of last week.

There in the course of an hour's talk at the dining room table he proved to be a business man from a small inland town, in Edinburgh on routine purchasing and practicing Scotch thrift in his accommodations. The rest were salesmen and clerks, and one soldier, a boy about 19, in Edinburgh on furlough. For an hour steady I ran the gauntlet of a shower of questions on conditions and events, economic and political, in the United States, through which I took advantage of the occasion to explain according to my peculiar bias.

They proved quite well informed on American affairs but rather at sea over controversies regarding the supreme court and the constitution being alien to Great Britain's scheme of government. They wanted to know what I thought of England and were hilarious over my few experiences with the English snob.

In short, without going further in details of no interest, the little group in the old lodging house proved what I had experienced in every other country I was in—that except when you encounter the special and artificial attitudes of the official classes you find the same human nature in all countries, and that courtesy is as common in Germany as in America and generosity as much the rule in Scotland as anywhere.

When the Supreme Court and the Constitution were worn threadbare as a theme of conversation the talk veered to Bobby Burns and the legends of his gay, dissipated life in Edinburgh. About 11:30 p. m., after many assurances that on no account would I be permitted to oversleep, my roommate accompanied me to my room, which now appeared clean and decent. He demonstrated the cumbersome conveniences of the place, remarking: "Things are pretty old fashioned here, but you'll find kind and accommodating people. So I slept my last night in the Old World.

The next morning came the always frantic scramble for the boat. I missed the early train I had thought to take by missing my bus. But I still had two trains left and I got the next with an hour's leeway. An hours run on the electric to Glasgow, the smoky industrial metropolis of the north with a population of over 1,000,000—and there I had to change trains and catch another electric for a run of a few miles out to Greenock, where the boat left.

At the depot I noticed poorly clad men begging for jobs carrying grips. Although I was fairly well loaded I always shook them off and lugged my own, but that morning I was anxious to get the boat so after I had been pursued by one fellow I handed over my grips and told him to lead me to the Greenock train. Then I noticed that his face was flushed, with embarrassment. "I beg your pardon" for running after you," he said, "but I'm out of work and I can't get any dole and all I can earn for my family is just what I can pick up about the depots carrying luggage."

Children in Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Bombarding The Social World Two socially prominent and well-to-do parents were severely lectured in court when their only son was implicated in an arson case.

When the parents attempted to shift the responsibility for their son's conduct to his play-mate, the judge turned to the couple and said, "Each of you are so busy with your club, lodge and social obligations, that you have no time left to train your child. If I hear again that you employ a high school girl at ten cents an hour to supervise the activities of your nine year old boy, I will be forced to remove him from your custody."

Costly Economy A father learned in Juvenile Court that a definite means of causing a boy to steal is to deny him an opportunity to earn a small amount of spending money.

This particular youngster who was interested in a young girl in his class in the local high school, disliked seeing other boys escorting her to the soda fountain or the movies. Consequently, as he was forced to work at home without an allowance, he quickly took advantage of the first opportunity which presented itself to secure money by an unscrupulous method.

Ambitious Youth "Get yourself a wedge job!" That's the advice Walter B. Pitkin gives young people eager to get a running start in life. Lumberjacks use wedges to topple mighty trees, says the psychologist and author in the current Rotarian magazine, and youth can use the same device to crack open the doors of opportunity.

"To get a wedge job, develop an accessory skill," Pitkin counsels young men and women, explaining that high competence in a low field is necessary first of all. "You seek work that brings you into close contact with some man at or near the top. The work must be humble. But your skill at it must be, as the movie advertisements say, super-colossal, if not positively mastodontic."

Many of today's "big shots" started as aides to private secretaries, then became private secretaries, then executive secretaries, and so on up, he says, for that reason mastery of stenography, bookkeeping, or a similar skill gives a young person with ability and ambition an unparalleled opportunity to learn about company trends and conditions. As he makes himself useful in small jobs, bigger jobs will come to him.

Law may be a wedge skill, Pitkin informs, impoverished, young attorneys looking for clients. By studying new and proposed laws as they affect a specific business, an able lawyer may create a job for himself. Facility in writing may enable a young man to make technical reports and scientific abstracts readable to the public, and thus make himself useful to an industry. Door-to-door selling, mechanics, photography, and many another skill may be used to serve a similar purpose. "No skill, well mastered, is too slim or inconsequential to be laughed off, if you think hard enough about how to use it as a wedge," concludes Pitkin. "Use it ingeniously, not to begin at the bottom and work up, but to crack into the "big stuff" with a very small tool."

Tight-Wadding It Through Europe

CHAPTER 65 By HAWES Well, friends and neighbors, this narrative is nearing the bitter end, and while the end may be bitter, it will be a consolation to all to know that it is the end.

A part of my very limited holiday correspondence was the dispatch of two letters to chance acquaintances in Sweden—one to the Bolnas porter and ex-sailor who was so accommodating and asked only letters from the United States, and one to the tall talker and ex-timber topper of Oregon, Axel Halgren of Venedal, Harjedalen, near the borders of Lapland.

There has always been a sneaking feeling in me that it would have only been fair to write a note to the landlady of No. 6 Forth street, thanking her as an anonymous American for the courtesies extended to me as an alien by her and her lodgers. That of course as amends of sorts for the wholly unwarranted suspicions I entertained.

It must have been ten o'clock when I left the Royal Mile of High Street, between the castle and Holyrood Palace, and rode by bus across the viaduct to Princess Street and down the steep pitch to Forth Street. Hardly had I arrived at my antique accommodations, up one flight of worn stone stairs, when the swarthy looking villain who was to be my room mate, came and with unexpected politeness asked me if I would not care to join them in the dining room for evening tea. They always had tea and a bit before bed, he said. All that was a part of the six shillings accommodations.

There in the course of an hour's talk at the dining room table he proved to be a business man from a small inland town, in Edinburgh on routine purchasing and practicing Scotch thrift in his accommodations. The rest were salesmen and clerks, and one soldier, a boy about 19, in Edinburgh on furlough. For an hour steady I ran the gauntlet of a shower of questions on conditions and events, economic and political, in the United States, through which I took advantage of the occasion to explain according to my peculiar bias.

BOOKS OF THE WEEK

"The Spartan, by Caroline Sneider, is a story of the man who returned from the battle of Thermopylae and the curses of the Spartans who despised him. Filled with great historic value, the book neither deals with love nor becomes sloppily sentimental.

Another excellent book is "Ladies of the Press." It is a history of the more famous women journalists.

THE CROWD ROARED

With laughter when Mr. Langer sent the junior high basketball team onto the floor during the game with Niles. They didn't know that our boys could slip between the legs of the larger Nilesites. Their teamwork indicated that victories will be common occurrences in the years to come.

AG. BOYS ATTEND FAIR

On December 8, Richard Walken, Bob Hamilton, Glen Sult, Harold Hittle, Don Walquist, and Ted Upham attended the state apple show at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

HOBBS' HORSEMEN

Souvenirs of joyous occasions are fun to collect, thinks Dorothy Irvin who has collected them for several years. Among hers are a callaloid cuckoo clock, a half-dozen photographs, and several rings. In fact, the box contains nearly everything that is less than a cubic inch in size. Dorothy isn't very talkative about the sources of her treasures—in fact, she's extremely reticent.

Attend Movie on Steel Production

Mr. Carter's chemistry classes were invited to attend a moving picture about the production of steel at the Clark Theatre on Tuesday, December 20. The movie was in technicolor and gave a comprehensive picture of the necessary steps. It is estimated that it cost $25,000 to produce.

H. S. Music Revue Proves A Success

Mr. Robinson's Musical Revue on December 16 was a decided success. Displaying in its perfection the long hours of practice and rehearsal, it drew comments of high approval from the crowd. Soft red and green lights were used to heighten the effect of the rhythm of the marching and dancing.

H. S. DRUM MAJORS CONDUCT CLASSES

The drum majors have finally become aware of the degeneration of the younger generation, and they are taking steps to prevent them from becoming utter pagans. After school classes are held by Margaret and Bette Smith; Mary Cripe, and Robert Vanderslice to introduce the youngsters to the noble art of baton-twirling.

VELMALAN LIT. GIVES PROGRAM

On Friday, December 23, the Velmarian Literary Society had a Christmas program. It featured an original Christmas story by Ramona Dalenberg and a poem by Margaret Smith.

SPEECH CLASS VACATION

During the two weeks before Christmas vacation, the speech class worked extra hard, so that the last week might be one of unalloyed enjoyment. Story telling was taken up during this time.

LIONS REPAIR TOYS

Thanks to the efforts of the Lions Club members, who worked steadily and unselfishly, Santa Claus visited many houses that he would ordinarily have missed this year. Broken toys were mended and repainted for children whose parents could not afford to buy gifts.

Dogs Have 'Reached Back'

Borzoi dogs are lanky in appearance, but they are sturdy in bone. Their backs rise in a graceful curve, something that is not desired in other breeds, because it is a fault that fanciers call "reached back." These dogs' long legs have unusual driving power and this accounts for much of their amazing speed.

Deer Trapped for Feeding Experiments

The trapping of deer to be used in feeding experiments this winter has been started at the Cusino state game refuge near here, with 23 fawns, 19 does and 11 bucks already caught and retained.

The trapping operations are begun at the refuge as soon as snow causes the deer to yard in the swamps and other sheltered areas. This year's program calls for the trapping of from 75 to 80 animals for addition to the stock of approximately 50 held over from last year. In addition a number of other deer are trapped, ear-tagged, weighed and then released, a record being kept of each catch and re-catch.

The Stephenson live-trap, a box-like structure which catches the deer efficiently without injuring them, is used in the operations. Clover or alfalfa is strewn in front of the trap and placed inside as bait. From the number of re-catches made, the deer appear to have little fear of the traps, many being caught several times and one having been trapped a total of 23 times.

Some of the deer will be kept in the corral and some will be placed in the eight browse plots which have been laid out, four more than were used last year, for feeding experiments.

Animals which drop their horns belong to the family of the cervidae. Those that keep their horns throughout life, normally, belong to the family of the bovidae.

provides biological evidence of a former connection between the two southern rivers, contrary to the belief of geologists. Certain mussels, native to the Tennessee drainage, were found in the Cahaba, a tributary of the Alabama River, by Dr. Henry van der Schalie, University of Michigan zoologist. Their presence here, he says, indicates that the two rivers were connected at some time in the past.

Dr. van der Schalie's research seems to indicate that there were connections between the river systems at two different times. Three species of mussels found only in creeks are common to both systems and thus indicate a connection of the headwaters. Seven species representative of somewhat larger streams are also common to both river systems. The latter connection, Dr. van der Schalie believes, must have been at an earlier date than the connection between the headwaters because the seven river types are somewhat differentiated, indicating a lapse of time in which the evolutionary tendency could take place.

Clams Reveal River History

Perhaps clams don't talk, but mussels in the Cahaba River of northern Alabama have recently told University of Michigan scientists the story of an ancient connection between the Tennessee and Alabama river systems.

Christmas Program at Grade Assembly

The December Grade Assembly Committee consisting of Mrs. Alma Fuller, Mrs. Blanche Heim, and Mrs. Eunice Inhoff arranged and presented the Christmas program for all grades in the High School auditorium Friday morning. It opened with the entire assembly singing "Deck the Hall" and "The First Noel."

Mrs. Heim's second grade gave a clever playlet using all her children "The Animal's Christmas."

Mrs. Fuller's fourth grade presented "A Story of the First Christmas." Helen Allsworth, the mother, told the story to her children, Billie Lou Lamb and Birdie Lou Schiffman, while the remainder of the group dramatized it, assisted by a choir of sixth grade girls singing "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Carol to the Shepherds," and "Joy to the World." Mrs. Inhoff lead the singing with Miss Edna Reams at the piano. The program closed with the entire assembly singing "Silent Night."

Juniors Select "Growing Pains"

"Growing Pains," the play selected by Miss Orpha McNeil for the Junior class production, is guaranteed to tickle your funny-bone. It is a story of adolescence in three acts, written by the popular French playwright, Auranian Rouverol. Fifteen characters are necessary, and tryouts for these will be held soon after the holidays.

H. S. Students Write to France

Mrs. Weaver's twelfth grade French class is receiving letters from students in France who desire to become more familiar with English. Mrs. Weaver applied for the names last spring and has only recently received results.

Many of the letters show the writer's struggle to make himself understood in a foreign language with occasionally amusing results.

MRS. WHITMAN'S CLASSES

Last week, Mrs. Whitman's third hour senior history class had a debate on whether or not we should have Clay's American system. Speakers for the affirmative were: Jack Morris, Fred Banke, and Alta Ferris. Speakers for the negative were: Charles Hess, Rex Proud, and James Hemminger. A decision in favor of the negative by a three to nothing majority was reached by the judges who were: Dale Simpson, Adolph Rauch, and Dale Leiter.

There were many excellent maps handed in by both of Mrs. Whitman's senior history classes. These maps were of the United States and contained all places and events that were important just before the Civil War.

The Muses
The muses were characters in Greek mythology—the daughters of Zeus and Mnemosyne, and patrons of literature, art, and science. Their names were Calliope, who was in charge of epic poetry; Clio this story; Euterpe (lyric poetry); Terpsichore (dancing and choral poetry); Erato (love poetry); Polyhymnia (religious poetry); Thalia (comedy); and Urania (astronomy). As objects of worship, says London Answers magazine, they were classed among the water-goddesses, and the springs and streams of Mount Helicon were sacred to them.

Selective Traffic Control Cuts Road Accident 92 Percent

New evidence of the effectiveness of selective traffic control was found this week as state police and state highway officials looked over accident reports for the first year's operation of a control zone on the Dixie Highway south of Saginaw.

Their records show a 92 per cent reduction in fatal accidents. The zone, extending from the south City limits of Saginaw on US-10 and US-23 for 6 1/2 miles, was established on December 15, 1937. Since that date there has been only one fatal accident as compared with 12 in the preceding year.

State highway and state police officials attribute the success of the zone to the fact that regulations were based on past accident experience and were reasonable. They also point out that strict and impartial enforcement has been carried on jointly by the state police and the Saginaw County sheriff's department. They also gave motorists credit for cooperating with enforcement officers by observing the regulations.

Large reflectorized signs erected at the beginning and throughout the zoned area warn motorists that it is unlawful to cross the center line of the highway and that they must stay in the right hand lane except when passing. Speed limits of 35 and 50 miles an hour were established on different sections of the zone.

The enormous baobab trees of Madagascar, are so large that it would take 15 men with outstretched arms to encircle one of them. They line many of the town's streets.

Why Shoes Squeak
Why some shoes squeak is explained by one research authority in this way: Squeaks in shoes usually are caused by the contact of different layers of leather in the soles rubbing together.
