

Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle Hank of Hills Corners sez:

Allus remember that a feller that's kummin at you alus looks bigger than a feller that's runnin' away from you.

That's Business To shape with care the daily deed To serve a vital human need; To toil with brain and heart and nerve To meet the needs of those we serve— To pour our all, no more, on less Into the job—that's business.

To serve in honesty, exempt From chilling hate and cheap contempt; Then to believe, all unafraid That we shall in our turn be paid As we have served, no more nor less Than measured worth—that's business.

My Lady Friend By F. L. Chilcoat My lady friend is a wholesome type

The one I really adore. She steals, she lies, she swears And kisses me galore. I'm the happiest man alive I lay my soul most bare To a Dorcas not the modern type Who'll steal and lie and swear. This old stock dame is true as steel But reckons with the past, her hands are artful all the day, She never wears a mask. Her hair is a trifle wavy, Her face is decked with a smile, She has the knack of cooking And a tune she hums the while. Into my arms is where she steals; Contentedly there she lies; She swears she'll have none but me—

Alas, this dame is my wife. The Record is indebted for this poem to F. L. Chilcoat, who gives us the story of it. At the time of writing he was an inmate of the state prison at Jackson and spent much of his time writing poetry. He showed some of it to a guard. "My wife likes that sort of thing but I don't care much for it," said the guard, with a look in his eye that indicated that perhaps he and his wife disagreed on more things than that. Nevertheless Mr. Chilcoat tried his hand again and turned out the following which he gave to the guard, saying perhaps his wife would like it.

Shortly afterward the prison pay day came and he found in his quarters a large sack of his favorite tobacco with the compliments of the guard. He guard saw him shortly afterward and slapped him on the shoulder. "Boy, did that hit the nail on the head!" he said.

Change Date of School Election

Board Moves to Require Nomination of Members by Petition

Elsewhere in this issue is a resolution enacted at a meeting of the board of Fractional School District No. 1, Buchanan, providing that henceforth nominations for candidates to membership in the board shall be by petition, that voters shall be registered and that elections shall be held on the second Monday in June instead of on the second Monday in July as hitherto.

The resolution stipulates that petitions nominating candidates shall be signed by not less than fifty qualified voters and shall be filed with the secretary of the board not more than 30 or less than 15 days before the date of election, which will be June 12 this year.

F. Smith Resigns From City Board

The resignation of Frederic Smith as a member of the city commission was received and accepted at the meeting of that organization Monday night.

Members of the commission expressed regret that Mr. Smith had made the decision, as he had come to be regarded as a valuable and able member of the board. He stated in his letter of resignation, which was read by Clerk Harry Post, that business responsibilities and the encroachment of work on his time made it no longer possible for him to devote the required attention to city affairs. He stated later that when he was elected to the commission he was a clerk in his father's store but that the death of his father, Glenn E. Smith, had made him the responsible head of the establishment, increasing his work and his responsibility.

During the latter part of his period of service on the city governing body his business experience and ability have been more and more relied on in matters of civic finance and budget-making.

"If I Were King" Named Finest at Hollywood in Feb.

The film version of the famous story of Frances Villon, loved poet-ragamuffin of Paris, as produced by Frank Lloyd and starring Ronald Coleman has been selected by the English class of the Buchanan high school as the best play coming to the Hollywood in February.

The play—by the way, the name of it is "If I Were King"—comes to the Hollywood Feb. 15-16. Francois Villon, swashbuckling poet and idol of the Paris mob, sacks a royal warehouse in open defiance of the king's authority, in order to prevent his beloved people from starving while the Burgundian armies blockade the city. Chased by the soldiers, he takes refuge in a church, under the wing of father Villon, his long-suffering foster-parent.

While the other worshippers devote themselves to their prayers Villon's eyes roam about the church, finally lighting on Katherine De Vaucelles, a royal princess and lady-in-waiting to the queen. When Katherine leaves, Villon follows and reads her his latest love ballad while she waits for her lover. Arrested by the guards for his insolence, he is saved through the intercession of the princess, who is not unaware of the rascal's charm.

Katherine returns to the palace to complain to King Louis XI that his forces are submitting to the Burgundian siege without fighting back. Louis, determined to find out how the Burgundians know all his military secrets, tortures a prisoner and learns that the spies' center is at the infamous Fircorne Tavern in the stumps. That night he and his chief adviser, Tristan L'Hermite, go to the Fircorne in disguise, hoping to catch the traitors red-handed.

During a rendezvous with Katherine, Villon sees a way out of his difficulties. Katherine suggests that the generals would fight soon enough if they didn't have storehouses groaning with food. Suddenly inspired, Villon eludes his guards, opens all the storehouses and distributes the food to the starving populace. When he returns to the palace to reveal his identity to Katherine, she is shocked at the deception practised on her and ask him to go away. To make matters worse, the generals still refuse to fight.

Word suddenly reaches Villon that the mob has gotten out of hand and plans to sack the city in a last great orgy. He rushes back to his home quarter and in a brilliant speech inspires the people to save their city from the Burgundians. He leads them himself in a victorious battle.

Villon's glorious victory makes the generals more determined than ever to ruin him. They succeed in trumping up a treason charge against him, but just as the king is about to sentence him to the gallows, Katherine steps out of the crowd with evidence that it is Villon, not the generals, who has defeated Burgundy. Anxious to reward Villon, but equally anxious to preserve the peace of the city, Louis commutes the sentence to exile.

As Villon plods along the road that will lead him out of Paris forever, he does not know that Katherine is following close behind him. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Neill Canfield, a daughter, at their home northwest of Buchanan, Sunday. The baby has been named Vera.

Gas Produces Eyes in Cheese The holes or eyes in Swiss cheese are produced by the liberation of gases generated by bacterial action during the fermentation process. It was formerly thought that the atmosphere and grass of Switzerland were essential to the development of these eyes, but the U. The Thrift of ABRAHAM LINCOLN

When Abraham Lincoln was a lawyer in Springfield, Illinois, his annual earnings were only $1,500 to $2,000, largely because of his low fees. In one of his letters he writes: "If the case is as stated I will handle the case before the Supreme Court for ten dollars."

Yet Lincoln made regular deposits in a local savings bank over a period of 12 years. He saved one-half of his $25,000 salary as President. He left an estate valued at $110,974.62—equal to $500,000 today.

Children in Court By Judge Malcolm Hatfield Parents Are Responsible For Abnormal Behavior in Their Children

A psychiatrist was given the job of assisting the parents of a delinquent girl by determining how the parents themselves were responsible for the development of a certain abnormal behavior in their child. This was the first time that these parents had ever tried to trace the source of such manifestations.

After the second interview, the psychiatrist was able to point out certain conditions prevailing within the family which were responsible for the child's behavior. He emphasized the fact that these parents placed greater emphasis on physical hygiene, and not enough significance on mental hygiene, symptoms of which were indicated by their daughter's tendencies toward day dreaming, jealousy and self-consciousness.

Parental attitudes are exceedingly important, because the average child unconsciously adopts views which the parents hold. Consequently, parents frequently require assistance from a psychiatrist in working out their own goals of achievement, and also their own attitudes and relationships to each other, as well as towards the other members of the family.

They used this recipe: 3 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons soda, 3 drops flavoring. There are large posters in their room of the foods that help make strong teeth.

Mrs. Heim—2nd Grade
Mrs. Heim's second grade built a train. Jim Topash built the dining car; Ralph Thurston the baggage car; and Marion Hawks the pullman car. The engine was made of clay by Dickie Davis. During the stormy weather they took a trip to the southland.

The children are enjoying the book "The Wizard of Oz" and also the book "Marcella."

Miss Kinney—3rd Grade
Betty Rifenberg, Paul Montgomery, and George Hattenbach have made a postoffice for us. We are sending letters to each other. This is helping us to learn to write interesting friendly letters.

We have started to make a scrapbook for our room. There are some stories and pictures for it already.

Several boys and girls have painted very nice pictures with poster paint. Most of them are winter scenes.

Norma Korp and Paul Montgomery had birthdays this last week.

We wrote a letter to a company in New York to get material for our clothing unit.

We are learning much about animals and insects that liberate in the winter.

Miss Ekstrom—Fifth Grade
The class began work on figure drawing this week. Each child will choose a favorite pastime of a group of people to draw: sitting in Norway, flying kites in Japan, and the Olympian games are favorite subjects.

The month of February is thought of as a patriotic month because of its many birthdays of famous men. So this month some time will be spent on local, state, and national government. The development of government is an outgrowth of early American history.

Miss Spear—Fifth Grade
We have made some very attractive animal pictures in Art. These pictures will help us with our animals for the circus we are going to make in the spring.

We have another name added to our Dental Honor Roll making 35. We haven't far to go to reach our goal of 100%.

We are starting decimals in Arithmetic.
In History we are studying the early colonists. We are going to make a study of the colonies, the people who settled them, their customs and costumes.

Miss Rams—Sixth Grade
We have three more names added to our Dental Honor Roll, making twenty-nine in all.

This week we are going to illustrate the story of the "King of the Golden River."

Dewey Avenue School

Kinergarten—Miss Anderson
We have been painting free brush pictures with poster paint. Doreen Weaver and Joanne Russell have their pictures on the bulletin board this week.

Special Room—Miss Reams
We have started a new weather chart. We learned that we had snow twelve days in January—from our chart for the month. We have been making clay animals. Ira made a very good elephant, Charles made a dog and a cat, and Bonnie made a rabbit.

Second Grade—Mrs. Wilcox
The second grade is reading "Boyhood of Lincoln" and "Boyhood of Washington." We are also learning songs about Lincoln and Washington.

Third Grade—Mrs. Fischner

The third grade has a bird feeding station. There have been six different kinds of birds that we have watched.

Bobey Miller has drawn a picture of skating and Roscoe Coleman has drawn one of coasting. Others have drawn Eskimo scenes after reading "Eskimo Land."

Fourth Grade—Miss Quikel
Lloyd Dokey drew a very appropriate winter scene. Georgine Chain, Kathleen Birong, and Herbert Meyer are painting the scene. This picture is an outgrowth of a study in primary and complimentary colors.

FEBRUARY 1ST IS DEADLINE

Wednesday of last week was the last day of which money for annual pictures might be handed in from the various classes and clubs.

Chemistry Classes See Molten Iron

Mr. Carter's two chemistry classes visited the Clark foundry January 27 to see molten iron poured and the making of the moulds. The students also saw the chemical laboratory where the metals are tested.

Cassopolis Long Shot Says Miller

Odds are on Buchanan to win the Cassopolis game here tomorrow night. In the first game played with this team, Buchanan won 22 to 9 on their floor. It was their only defeat; they have won all other games with high scores.

Coach Miller has indicated that the Cassopolis team will now be likely to make an excellent showing.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

"My Own Story" by Marie Dressler is the very human tale of her rise to stardom in the "gay nineties," her loss of popularity, and final success in the movies.

Her home life is told too; of a tyrant father and loving mother who depended on her; of her beautiful sister, so unlike Marie herself.

Ermine Changes Color
The distinctive white fur of the living ermine, or stoat, changes to brown in the summer.

MICHIGAN—for All Sorts of Winter Sports!

MICHIGAN's natural facilities for winter sports, perhaps unexcelled anywhere in the country, are worthy of promotion. Thousands of visitors should be attracted here from outside the State, and Michigan residents can be shown that they need not leave their own State to enjoy the finest of winter sports.

All Michigan will profit from such promotion, in which the Michigan Bell Telephone Company wishes to do its part. This is the first of a series of three advertisements, appearing in 250 Michigan newspapers, to promote Michigan as an outstanding winter playground.

Where'll You Be When the Spring Fun Starts?

EYE OPENER!
With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than a year ago!

RIGHT now we'd like to point out that with the first feel of spring in the air, there's going to be another scramble to get these beautiful new Buicks.

There's going to be a rush to get behind this great car's lively Dynafash straight-eight power plant, to take in the budding countryside from behind its new wide-paned windows.

There'll be a sudden hurry to trade in cars that have begun to pass their prime, and step out in the cushioned smoothness of BuicCoil Springing's full-float ride.

No question about that, not when you recall last fall, when we had to sell cars on a five and six week delivery basis.

On the other hand, you can get rid of a lot of grief by trading an old car now. Get rid of weak batteries, slick tires, slow-starting engines, brakes that may be needing a relining job soon.

You'll get a car in this well-made, well-mannered, well-groomed new Buick that'll take the rest of the winter right in stride, and just be warmed up when spring comes.

You'll get it at prices lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

- * DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE
- * BUICOLTORQUE-FREE SPRINGING
- * GREATER VISIBILITY

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them even than on some sixes. You'll get a better allowance on the car you're now driving—and like as not avoid some heavy servicing bills.

So why wait until sometime "in the spring"? Shop early for your Buick, the most satisfying car you ever drove—shop wisely and avoid the rush!
