Jobs and Votés: The following sane expression on the problem of the perplexing angle of the connection between the public job holders and politics is taken from the last issue of "Michigan Men and Affairs."

As a short foreword, perhaps it might not be out of order to inquire why the job might not be taken out of politics, through an honest and enforced national civil service, so that the jobholder might have his vote, exercising it with reference to the settlement of that vast world of affairs which is not directly related to his own job feature.

There is much discussion now, adays about taking WPA and the relief administration out of politics. You may, at some time, have heard someone say that the solution to this problem was to take away the voting privilege of those on relief jobs. This proposal, as Walter Lippman says, "is shocking when applied in principle to only those on relief."

Mr. Lippman says, however, that "if all men were disfranchised during the period when they are running for office or are holding public jobs, the thought is not so shocking." This would in principle disfranchise, not for life of course but for the period when they are on the public payroll, and all public jobholders not in Civil Service. It would include all from a candidate for President to a candidate for the WPA.

Granting that this is at the moment a fantastic idea, I submit that it will have to be considered . . . It is perhaps the paramount political problem confronting democratic peoples, and the failure to solve it elsewhere has been a decisive cause of the failure of democracy. When a deciding portion of the voters are part of the Government, it will be the Government that controls the electorate and not the electorate the Government.

For my own part, though I recognize the obvious practical objections, I can find no valid moral objection to the idea of denying the vote to a man who is a candidate for public office or is in public office by means of votes. . . . He can recover his franchise at any time by returning to the status of a private citizen.

On the other hand, it is in principle objectionable, and in practice often scandalous, that a man should exercise his franchise as a citizen when he has such a direct and personal stake in the consequence of his vote. On the bench a judge disqualifies himself when he has a personal connection with the case before him; a juror is rejected when he has a personal connection with the case. . . . The citizen, when he is voting ought to be no less personally disinterested than a judge or a juror.

And when one remembers that the fate of the nation is staked upon the decisions of the voters, it is not undemocratic, on the contrary it is most truly democratic, to say that the issues should not be decided by voters who are thinking of their own jobs.

Velours, Elle Fabric: Velours is a pile fabric woven from either woolen or cotton yarns, or from a mixture of the two. It is finished to represent a soft, smooth, furry pile. Velours is also used as a name for a material made from rabbits' fur, and largely used in making hats. Velvet is a fabric with a short, fine pile of silk. Velveteen is similar to velvet, only it is made of cotton instead of silk.

Oysters Change Sex: The sexes are separate in the Atlantic coast oyster. The young oysters less than a year old are generally male, but some of them later change into females.

Meaning of Name Orlando: The name Orlando is an Italian form of the Teutonic Roland, meaning "fame of the land," which might be interpreted as "great hero." Orlando Gibbons (d. 1625), whose compositions were among the earliest engraved musical works in England, was organist of Westminster Abbey. His anthems ("Hosanna to the Son of David," etc.) are popular.

Negroes Loyal to Mardi Gras Monarch

The Zulu King—colored Monarch of Mardi Gras—arrives by barge at the New Basin canal and boards his throne boat for the colorful trip through the main street of New Orleans Negro section. During the last day of Mardi Gras festivities, February 21, Negroes meet the tug boat, rechristened a Royal Yacht, and demonstrate their loyalty to their "monarch."

The letters are in two volumes, the first containing 252 leaves, the second 28, making almost 1,200 pages, with 62 lines to a page. St. Jerome, author of the letters, lived from 340 to 420 and was one of the most learned Fathers of the Latin Church and a very prolific author. He is credited with translating the Old and New Testaments from Hebrew and Greek into Latin, and writing explanations of the Scriptures, theological controversy, history, and biography. His letters are ranked by scholars with those of Cicero, Seneca, and Pliny.

Along with this rare book the University was given two other incunabula, or books printed before 1501. These books are bound together in what appears to be the original binding of wooden boards, with the back and two-thirds of the sides covered with stamped pigskin. One of the books is a legal treatise by Platea, a celebrated canonist and preacher of the fifteenth century. It was printed at Speier by Peter Drach in 1489 and contains the mediaeval ideas on questions pertaining to daily living and morality.

Lengthy Books Were Popular in Italy in Middle Ages

Lengthy books, such as "Gone With the Wind" and "Anthony Adverse," are not products of this age alone. As long ago as 1480, only 29 years after Johannes Gutenberg invented the process of printing with movable type, printers in Parma, Italy, were turning out books of 1,000 pages or more.

One such book, in two volumes, neatly printed in regular Roman type, with large margins and on good paper is included in a recent gift to the University of Michigan Library Collections. This book, described as a well-executed specimen of early printing, is the "Letters of St. Jerome," edited by Theodorus Laelius.

Librarian Calls Students on Fines

Due to the long list of pupils who owe library fines, Miss Cernahan called in all offenders last Tuesday and presented the problem to them. "No one need owe a fine," she explained, "for the books may be renewed if necessary. Even when fines are one cent per day, the amount quickly grows to large proportions."

Dewey Avenue School

First Grade—Miss Miller
The first grade enjoyed a Valentine party Tuesday. They used their post office in connection with the distribution of the valentines.
Fourth Grade—Miss Quickel
We are making a bird booklet. These birds have been seen—Robin by Sally Thanning and Lloyd Dokes; bluebird by Harry Walker; flicker by Robert Surch.
Kathleen Birong's name has been added to the dental honor roll.
Opportunity Room—Miss Reams
We have a new picture in our room, "Jack and Jill." We got it with Rice Krispies.
Ted Thurston's name has been added to the Dental Honor Roll.
John Coleman brought his dog "Skippy" to visit us.
We have a new fish to replace one that died.
We had a Valentine party. We had jello and cake. We made the jello here.
Henry Lakin brought a mouse in a jar to school.
We are practicing every week for the gym show.
Mrs. Lamb tested our ears with the audiometer.
Second Grade—Mrs. Wilcox
The second grade has a new name on the Dental Honor Roll, that of Joanne Meyhew.
We have started some indoor flower gardens. This week we have planted nasturtium seeds.
We had a Valentine party in our room Tuesday afternoon.
Third Grade—Mrs. Kiehnar
Barbara Walters and Betty Padock made us a large valentine box for our party on Tuesday.
We are studying about the deep sea fishes. John Spatta brought us a fine specimen of a starfish. It is eight and one-half inches across.
Kimmergarten—Miss Anderson
The Kindergarten celebrated their "Valentine Day" with a party. They made their own chocolate pudding. Donnie Mitchell brought Valentine cookies for all. In the afternoon class Marilyn Hewitt brought Valentine suckers for all.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

"Rich Land, Poor Land," by Stuart Chase, shows America as it was before the white men came: the forest, clear rivers, lack of soil erosion, and herds of buffalo. The scene then shifts to 1880 with the wasteful methods of farming and foresting that have ruined much of the land and helped erosion.
This is a book to make you think. It is profusely illustrated with photographs and black-and-white drawings.

New Art Teacher Outlines Work

Miss Groh, new art teacher, plans to give a well-balanced course in art education, assigning individual projects suitable to the needs and abilities of her students. Several art unit plans combining the various phases of the subject will be worked out in junior high school, featuring crafts, drawing, and appreciation, while work of the high school will include costume design, cartoon, and landscape through the rise of these media: charcoal, pastel, water color, oils, photo colors, florentine plastic, glorified glass and burnt wood etching.

Faculty Gives Musical Tea

At a musical tea given by the faculty Miss Virginia Sanford, Mr. Hyink, and Jerry Bowman sang. The accompanists were Marjorie Wolkins and Miss Groh.
Valentine decorations of red and white were used in the home economics room where the tea was held. Mrs. Whitman, Mrs. Weaver, Miss McNeil, Miss Cernahan, and Miss Quade were on the committee.

STUDENT POLL

A poll of junior and senior recreation last week yielded interesting results. A ballot, printed in Scholastic magazine, was filled out by students. Of thirty-three pupils who filled in the answers, only ten had an allowance. The average allowance was sixty cents. Nineteen had hobbies, eleven attended a party or dance in the last week, fifteen play musical instruments and thirteen read books that are not part of their school work. Thirty-eight belong to clubs, fourteen are in the band, eleven in glee club, and eleven in dramatics.

Grade News

Miss Carnagan—First Grade
The pupils in Miss Carnagan's first grade were very busy Valentine Day. In the morning they made Valentine appessauce for their party in the afternoon. Each child contributed something for the party and the entire afternoon was spent in having a good time. After the party, they wrote this story:
A Valentine Party
We had a Valentine party, for we made appessauce for our party.
We ate soda crackers and cookies with the appessauce. Everyone got some valentines. We had a good time.
Mrs. Heim—Second Grade
The children in Mrs. Heim's second grade are delighted with a new book, "The Way to the Circus," given to them by Miss Graves. This is a Junior Guild book.
Yvnn Watson brought a pretty Valentine box for our party Tuesday afternoon.
Second Grade—Miss Fritz
We visited the Post Office Monday. We learned where to buy stamps and mail our letters. Mr. Haslett invited us inside his office. We enjoyed Mr. Jones cancel the stamps on the letters. Mr. Haslett showed us the way they lock the mail bags. We saw many different kinds of stamps.
We visited Clark's News Depot, too, and bought a Valentine for Mr. Haslett. Charles Alsworth addressed and mailed the Valentine for us.
We enjoyed a Valentine Party Tuesday afternoon. We all received many nice Valentines. We had ice cream, heart shape cookies, candy bars, and peanuts to eat.
The candy bars were a surprise from the Clark News Depot.
Third Grade—Miss Kinney
The day after Valentine Day was Odean Toll's birthday. He is nine years old.
We had a very nice time at our Valentine Party Tuesday afternoon. For entertainment we had an amateur program. Several of the girls and boys surprised us by bringing cookies, apples, popcorn, and candy for refreshments.
We received the book about Rayon which we sent to New York for. It is very interesting, and we are able to learn many helpful things from it.
Wanda Lauver has been ill with the flu. She was not able to come to our Valentine party. We hope that she will be well very soon.
Fourth Grade—Mrs. Fuller
The fourth grade are enjoying

Geometry Projects Displayed in Class

Five projects, illustrating theorems of solid geometry have been placed on exhibit in Mr. Hyink's math room.
The projects were handed in by Don Beck, Shirley Hauch, Bob Donley, Howard Dillman, and Dick Kayden.

Niles Concert League Musical February 28th

The third and final concert of the artists series of the newly organized Niles Community Concert League, comprising Buchanan, Bertrand, Berrien Springs, Berrien Center, Cassopolis, Dowagiac, Edwardsburg, Eau Claire, Gallen, and Three Oaks, has been definitely decided.
W. S. Wright, director of organization and publicity, who organized this concert league of communities, was in Chicago last Saturday, conferring with W. L. Larsen, managing director of the National Concert League.
While the enrollment of adult and student members has fallen short of the goal hoped for by those in charge of the membership campaign and Mr. Larsen, he decided, even with the heavy investment, to give the members the very best of concerts that are sure to please, which met with the approval of the committee.
The Saldenberg Symphonietta of Chicago, will be the third concert, comprising 18 solo musicians of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.
The personnel of this unique organization was carefully picked by the young director, which represents the best soloists of the violin, viola, cello, and bass sections of the symphony and gives a program that appeals to the masses of modern and semi-classic music, with the symphony.
The opening concert will be next week, Tuesday night, February 28th, by William Miller, American

Saldenberg Symphonietta of Chicago Will Be Attraction

Those who have not secured their membership card, which is the only admission to these concerts, as no single admissions are sold in any league city, can secure theirs from R. R. Robinson and Mrs. E. C. Pascoe.
In Niles, 117 student memberships were contributed last week by Mayor Corbett, Niles, City Council, Niles Music Club, Niles Lion Club, Meyers 5c to $1 Store, Bunbury Grocery and Market, Trend Clothing Store, W. F. Harrah, W. H. Parkins, E. H. Miller, which will enable 357 music students, unable to purchase their own membership to hear one concert apiece. Of the 800 students studying music, 125 had secured their own membership up to last Saturday night, with many more spoken for this week.

Local Teachers Address Institute

Three of the grade teachers made special contributions to the group discussion at the Berrien County Institute at Benton Harbor. Miss Marie Connell and Miss Emil Reams took part in the discussion "Exchanging Art Ideas." Miss Sara Quickel contributed to the discussion of the topic, "The Uses of Tests."

Holiday Results From Institute

Because the Teachers' Institute was held last Friday at Benton Harbor, students had a day off. This was especially beneficial to members of the junior play cast, because they were able to rest from the strain of stage fright.
LIBRARY CLUB
The members of the Library Club have ordered their pins and charms. First year librarians must wait until the spring term before they are eligible to wear them, because so many drop out during the first semester.
Bounties Attracted Volunteers
Volunteers were attracted to the Colonial army in the Revolutionary war by bounties of money, land and clothing.

Seventh Grade Hears Radio

Mr. Rizor's 7th grade home room last week enjoyed listening to the radio he brought to school. The first program heard was a Lincoln Day program from Salt Lake City in which 500 school children took part.

WINTER'S STILL HERE—
In Michigan!

Do you know that Michigan offers fine facilities for winter sports... that probably no State excels our own as a winter playground? And do you realize the advantages of making this fact more widely recognized? It will stimulate a growing Michigan industry. It will bring additional money into the State. It will create more jobs for Michigan men and women.
Progress has already been made in this work. Every one should help—you can help by telling your friends about Michigan's Winter Carnivals and centers of winter sport.
The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is publishing this advertisement, one of a series, in 250 Michigan newspapers to help gain wider acceptance of Michigan as a great State for the sport that winter brings.
