This Was Unnecessary

Away back in the prohibition days bath tubs were regularly associated with snakes through the general use of the plumbing for making home brew. But although it seems entirely unnecessary with things as they are now, yet we are told as a fact that Bob Strayer and Mrs. Robert Roe found a rattlesnake coiled around the bath tub pipes at the Roe cottage on the river near Black Hawk camp one day last week. Strayer got a garden rake and killed the snake, which put up quite a fight.

Fred's Swing Band

Well, Fred Swartz and his swing band are swingin' it again over on Portage street, with prospects of a two or three week's run. Speaking of music, they sure can shovel it. But any time they get a hurry-up call for an engagement at Hollywood it will be all right with us.

Wildlife Section

Something rare in the form of bird life for these parts at least was found in the Buchanan district last week, when Edward (Bring-Em-Back-Alive) Pascoe, intrepid explorer and photographer of wild life, ventured into the pathless wilds of the Earl Beck farm north of the Cooeney school, and scaled an old soft maple stump, pointing his lens back into a turkey buzzard's nest in a hollow.

Earl Beck stood on guard to give warning of the possible attack of the old birds, whose method under such circumstances is to circle immediately over the intruder and after careful use of range finders to regurgitate their dinner in his direction. Since decayed horse and other carrion usually have first place on a turkey buzzard's menu, it is never a pleasant thing to be so treated by them. However the old birds never showed up. The hollow was about 8 feet from the ground. Two young buzzards about the size of a pound and a half fryer were inside.

As Pascoe pointed the business end of his camera into the dark hollow, the two younglings sprang out as though they were about ready to pounce on the camera and make a meal of it, emitting a peculiar hissing sound. But the threats of a pound and a half turkey buzzard mean nothing to Pascoe.

Sighting imperturbably on his quarry he flashed his lights and they were took. The two birds are half squatting with wings

Conservation Dept. Okehs

Richard Schwartz, Owner,
Gets Encouragement from State Clubs

The tract of woods on Moccasin Bluff belonging to Richard Schwartz and known as one of the most prolific wild flower tracts in southwestern Michigan has been approved by the state conservation department as a wild life sanctuary, according to word received this week by the owner.

Mr. Schwartz made the application in collaboration with other local people who are interested in the idea of eventually constituting it as a special wild flower sanctuary, of the same type as the famous Bowman's Hill State Wild Flower Preserve in Bucks county, Penn. Another famous preserve is Glenwood park in the suburbs of Minneapolis, Minn. Other states have similar preserves, and many states have societies for the preservation of wild flowers. However, Michigan to date has nothing of the sort, although the Michigan Conservation Department is interested in such movements.

The Illinois State society for the Preservation of Wild Flowers indicated its interest last spring, members stating that they would attempt to organize a field trip to Buchanan if the project were established during the wild flower season. However confirmation was not received by Mr. Schwartz until June 12.

Mrs. F. Z. Votey of Grand Rapids is chairman of the conservation section of the Michigan Federated Garden Clubs. She has indicated that that body will be interested in any progress made. The Wild Life department of a Detroit newspaper has signified a similar interest. The Schwartz tract was used for botany field work by a Notre Dame science teacher for several seasons. He described it as one of the finest wild flower tracts in this section. The idea back of the designation of the tract is to use it for educational purposes in behalf of preservation of wild flowers, many species of which are rapidly becoming extinct.

City Allots $500 To Public Library

Fred Smith was appointed representative of the city commission on the newly-constituted park board at the special meeting held Tuesday evening. The commission also voted $500 to the Buchanan Public Library for the coming year. The Union State Bank was named depository for tax funds, in accordance with the new state law which requires such designation before tax collections are made.

CHAPTER 8 Knights of Golden Circle and Party Clashes on Home Front

There are still extant old timers of the Buchanan district who will tell you in hushed tones that there was supposed to be a chapter of the "Knights of the Golden Circle," somewhere to the north of Buchanan, along the lower river road, the present Redbud trail.

Of course there would be no way of proving it, no records ever left, as the "Knights of the Golden Circle" was an organization of Democrats whose aims and even actions were under considerable suspicion during the Civil War. Ostensibly to defend northern Democrats against oppression, it seems likely that at times they extended their operation to defending or hiding deserters from arrest, hiding bounty-jumpers, resisting the draft, and even to secretly plotting rebellion behind the lines in the north.

The organization was strong in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and since the path of southern Democratic emigration touched southwestern Michigan here, it is no more than likely that there was a chapter in the Buchanan district. The order resembled a lodge in its use of passwords, grips, and a ceremonial procedure. The initiation of a new member was replete with dignity.

The Knight Lecturer would inquire: "Who cometh? who cometh? who cometh?"

The Warden of the Outer Court would respond: "A man. We found him in the dark ways of the sons of folly bound in chains and welligh crushed to death beneath the iron heel of the oppressor."

The most familiar password was "nu-oh-lac," which was merely the name of the famous southern leader, Calhoun, turned backward. The cry of distress was "oak-houn," the first part being the first letters of the "Order of American Knights," one name of the organization, and the last part was the second syllable of "Calhoun."

There was not much actual treason in the organization, or in the Democratic party in the north. For the most part they merely wanted cessation of the war with the restoration of the union as it was, with slavery intact, and the general acceptance of the doctrine of state sovereignty.

Said the Niles Democrat paper, which, strange to modern readers, was called the Niles Republican: "We are ready to go when it is necessary to defend the flag of our country, but not to defend Chicago platforms and abolitionism. As we have repeatedly said, the South had no just cause for attempting to destroy the union. Not a single

Says Chi. Papers Overlooking Bet

Former Chief of Police of Windy City Makes Summer Home on St. Joe

Chicago rotogravure photographers are overlooking something when they don't give the St. Joe River a play, according to Gen. LeRoy T. Steward, former chief of police of Chicago and also for many years superintendent of mail delivery at the Chicago postoffice.

Gen. and Mrs. Steward arrived Friday at their summer home on the St. Joseph, immediately north and below the Black Hawk Boy Scout camp about three miles north of town. It is a beautiful cottage on the west bank of the St. Joseph, in the string of cottage homes developed about ten years ago by Mr. McComber of Berrien Springs. Here he has spent his summers for the past three years, going back in the fall to his Chicago address at 6636 Minerva Avenue. This fall he will not go back for he has acquired a property in Watervliet which he is improving for a winter residence.

"We like Michigan and especially Michigan people," said Mrs. Steward. "They're more pleasant and hearty than the folks in the city, and the country is lovely."

The Chicago Tribune carried the following article on the departure of Gen. and Mrs. Steward:

After living in Chicago for sixty years, Gen. Steward, who was for many years superintendent of delivery in the postoffice and once chief of police, is leaving. Local color thereby suffers another loss. Before his retirement a little more than a decade ago Gen. Steward and his luxuriant goatee were as well known about town as the bewhiskered senator, the late James Hamilton Lewis.

Equally distinguishing have been the Stewardian wit and bull's-eye epigrams. No wonder his old cronies at the Union League club are feeling dejected!

Girl Scouts

A party of 29 local Girl Scouts are leaving today for Camp Lone Tree, the summer headquarters of the Oak Park (Ill.) Girl Scouts on Long Lake near Three Rivers, Mich. The girls will spend a week there, under supervision by the Oak Park management which is very complete and thorough. A requirement is that every girl must have a physical examination two days before entering. The local physicians cooperated in giving these examinations free. The camp has a hospital with trained nurse attendance on the grounds. College girls on summer vacation are in charge of each unit.

Summer Recreation Programs Begin

The 1939 summer recreation program began at the parks Monday morning with Miss Allegra Henry in charge of the girls' programs and John Miller in charge of the boys.

Miss Henry is at Kathryn Park from 9 a. m. until noon daily, and at Athletic Park from 1 until 4 p. m. daily. At the former place the work is mostly for the younger girls. At Athletic Park tennis instruction is given and softball practice is held for the older girls. Mr. Miller supervises softball play in the afternoon and is in charge of the evening games.

Attend Rally at Crystal Springs

The young people of the Epworth Leagues of the Buchanan and Oronoko Methodist churches attended the sub-district rally of Berrien and Cass county leagues at the Crystal Springs camp grounds Monday evening. A potluck supper and program was held.

98 Are Enrolled In Reading Club

A total of 98 children were enrolled in the Vacation Reading club at the Buchanan Public Library, according to Mrs. Alice Ludwig of the Buchanan Public Library Staff. All are actively pursuing the program, which has the cooperation of the Buchanan public schools.

Stage Tug War Men vs. Tractor

Co-Operative Dinner at Noon;
Drinks, Ice Cream
Furnished

People of the Buchanan district are invited to be guests at a community picnic to be staged all day July 4 at Bear Cave Park, most beautiful picnic ground on the lower St. Joseph river.

The program will begin at 10:30 a. m. with a softball game between the employees and customers. There will be a cooperative dinner at noon. All attending are asked to bring their own table service, sandwiches for the family and a dish to pass. The ice cream and drinks will be furnished by the Co-Ops. Special favors will be given those arriving before noon.

In the afternoon a program will be held, including games, contests, entertainment, and drawings. A novel feature will be a tug of war between an Allis-Chalmers tractor and all of the men present. Special souvenirs will be given all A. C. tractor and All-Crop owners.

Those who wish to take part in the horse shoe contests must bring their own shoes and stakes.

Goodyear Tire Adviser Speaks

Author, Lecturer and Economist Speaks to Industrial Executives Here

Arthur J. C. Rotrock, author, lecturer, economist and industrial adviser of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Inc., spoke to an audience of two hundred consisting of executives and supervisory members of various industries from Buchanan, Niles, Three Oaks, Berrien Springs and members of the Berrien County Foreman's Club on the subject: "The Human Side of Industry," at the Clark Theater Monday evening, June 19.

His audience sat with intense interest thru his hour's talk in which he presented facts from the U. S. Dept. of Labor, Commerce and Agriculture.

In 1938 there were more men in industry than at the peak of 1929, he said, but still industry is blamed for the unemployed. Facts reveal greater number were never employed by industry. The unemployed are found in the Appalachian Mts. running from North to South, in the northern peninsula of Michigan, the cut-away sections of northern Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Utah and the Ozarks. There are approximately 1 1/2 million farm hands unemployed at present. These never worked in industry.

There is no overproduction because too many families are without modern conveniences. There are 10 million families in the United States without a bath tub—with all fixtures which go to make up a bathtub equipment would keep that industry at top speed for 2 1/2 years.

In 1900 approximately 1 million men were put out of work when (Continued on Page Six)

To Leave Soon For Conference of World Youth

Following the conference Miss Wright will go on a conducted tour of Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France and England arriving home about Aug. 27.

C. E. Company Analyzes Business For Layman in A Novel Report

Handsome Illustrated Booklet
Has 70 Pictures

Stockholders and a few others with immediate interest in the concerns of the Clark Equipment company received something new and novel in the form of a stockholders report in the past week, a handsomely illustrated and made-up booklet carrying about 70 fine cuts.

In the booklet the finances and operations of the company are analyzed in a simple and interesting style, much different from the formal business report. The document is entitled: "President's Annual Report to Stockholders" and carries the following foreword: "It is the duty of the president of an industrial corporation to submit in a technical style that is not familiar to the average reader. The statements of assets, liabilities and earnings, are frequently presented in a manner less easily understood by the average reader than by skilled accountants. The writer is hereby attempting to present the information usually covered in stockholder's reports in a more simple manner."

Included in the views are several recently taken airplane views, including a successful aerial shot of the Buchanan plant taken from a plane above the McGowan store on Liberty Heights and looking northward.

Among the "breakdowns" of business is that which determines that the company carries total assets of $7,741 for each employee. The 1938 balance sheet is analyzed on the per-employee basis as follows:

Assets	Per Employee
Cost of land, buildings, machinery, etc.	$5,184
Investment in Buchanan Land Co., insurance, prepaid items	92
Inventory	1,187
Accounts and notes receivable	256
Cash, working capital	1,022
Total	$7,741

Liabilities	Per Employee
Trade, debts, next payroll, capital	$231
Reserve for wear and tear	2,497
Bank debts	353
Stockholders investment	4,660
Total	$7,741

The following table shows what the money received by the Clark Equipment company from its customers is paid out for:

Material
Wages	$41
Repairs, depreciations	11
Taxes, insurance, developments	07
Electricity, fuel	35
Profit	35
Total	$100

At the end of the book is a series of group pictures of the men with an appreciation of their services.

Rose Snyder, 91 Today, Lives on Mt. Tabor Farm Where She Was Born

Her Sister, Maggie Snyder
Herman, Will Be 97
in October.

Perhaps the most unusual example of family longevity in the Buchanan district is that of Miss Rose Snyder, of the Mt. Tabor district who is 91 years old today, and her sister, Mrs. Maggie Snyder Herman on the Bend of the River, who was 96 on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Herman has been bedfast for several years, but Miss Snyder is unusually active, and followed her usual custom this year of spading her own garden by hand, raising all her vegetables including her potatoes. Miss Snyder's trim little garden has a woven wire fence about it to keep stock out.

"I let a man take the fence down and go in with a horse to plow it once, but I never will again," said Miss Snyder. "The horse tramps too much down turning around."

Miss Snyder lives on the 40 acre farm where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Snyder, settled in 1843, and where she was born five years later on June 22, 1848. Her sister, Margaret, was born in Oct. 27, 1842, in New Albany, Ind., and came to Buchanan with her parents the year that the town was plotted. There were not to exceed a half dozen houses in the town, according to the tradition handed down by their parents. The (Continued on page 7.)

12 Teams Enter Adult League

Clark's Trim Kawnneers; High Grade Oil Trims The Hoosier Beers

The summer softball schedule conducted annually at Athletic Park, began Monday evening under the direction of John Miller, who has been retained by the park board as summer director.

Twelve teams are entered in the men's division which is the largest number in the history of the sport here. The teams have been divided into three leagues of four teams each as follows:

League A—Clark's, High Grade Oil, Phillips 66, Poorman's; League B—Foundry, Dry-Zero, Mid-State, Future Farmers (first team); League C—Clark Offices, Presbyterian church, Bakertown, Future Farmers (second team).

Games will be played at Athletic park five nights a week, excepting Saturday and Sunday, starting at 7 p. m. and lasting until about 10:30, two games played. On Friday evenings two outside teams will regularly be brought in for games. A five cent admission charge is made for adults.

In C League the Presbyterians defeated the second team of the Future Farmers 7-6. Poorman pitched and Snook caught for the Presbyterians; Kline pitched and Hemple caught for the Future Farmers. J. Ellis tied the score in the final inning with a fielder's choice, scoring. B. Donley, Ellis then drove in the winning run through a third base error.

In B League the Future Farmers first team defeated the Mid State team 6-1. For the Future Farmers' Walker pitched and Miller caught. For the Mid State L. Loomaugh pitched and A. Schlut caught. Langer was at bat, hitting two triples and scoring a triple on an error.

In League B Dry Zero defeated Foundry 7-6. Toney pitched and Rossow caught for the Dry-Zero. Sherburn pitched and Howard caught for the Foundry. Routt came into the pitcher's box for Dry-Zero in the last half of the fourth and Toney took the short-stop position.

In League A Poorman's defeated Phillips 66 5-4. R. Styburski pitched and J. Styburski caught for Poorman's. Freeling pitched and R. Donley caught for Phillips 66. S. Styburski won the game for Poorman's by hitting a double, scoring Jim Liska.

In the first game with an outside team the Clark team defeated the Kawnner team 6-4. Cinner pitched and Steler caught for the Clark team. Leiting pitched and Brooks caught for the Kawnner team.

The High Grade Oil defeated the Hoosier Beer team 4-3. Junior League

Each afternoon Miller supervises the play of a Junior softball squad, with about 35 boys taking part. To date the local juniors have won two games from Berrien Springs 5-3 and 8-2.

Attendance at the evening games has been quite good. A charge of 5c to adults is made, which about pays expenses. The three leagues play separate schedules and at the end of the play the three winners play for the city title.

Wind Destroys Barn on R. Schwartz Farm

Semi-cyclonic winds continued to touch the Buchanan area in the past week, the large frame barn on the Richard Schwartz farm in the Broceus neighborhood having been totally destroyed in the rain and windstorm Monday afternoon. The barn was 30x73 ft. in dimension. A new cement block foundation recently installed by Schwartz under the barn was also tipped over and badly damaged. The farm was formerly owned by Emerson Banks.

Walter Schirmer, Jr., 3 1/2 year-old son of Atty. and Mrs. W. B. Schirmer, incurred a fracture of one bone of the left forearm in a fall in the yard at his home Saturday.

ON RESPONSIBLE GEOLOGISTS

It is well within the bounds of conservative statement to say that the article published in the Record two weeks ago relative to the claims made for a certain method of alleged oil detection created wide interest and controversy both pro and con in the districts most interested.

The writer can well understand the natural hopes which promises of discovery might raise in the minds of people engaged in the hard battle of livelihood on the farm under present conditions, when the ratio of prices is badly against the farmer. The people who hope for something like oil discoveries on their holdings are doubtless far more concerned about paying up their debts if they have them, educating their children and providing a more desirable environment and opportunities for their families than the enjoyment of night club life and other dubious pleasures.

However none of these more desirable ends will be achieved through illadvised promises which raise false hopes. No responsible representative of any responsible company will go into an untested area and make positive statements of the likelihood of the presence of oil. The best he can say, with any warrant of scientific knowledge at present recognized by authorities is that the geologic structure appears to be favorable to possible oil retention. In other words, he can say that the rock stratification is such that oil might be retained in a recoverable pool, but he positively cannot give any assurance that the oil is there.

The most approved method of finding whether there are possible rock formations favorable to oil retention is the use of seismographic instruments in connection with dynamite explosions. "Miniature earthquakes" are created by the explosion of dynamite, and then seismographs are made similar to those used to record natural earthquakes. In simpler language, extremely accurate time measuring devices enable the geologist to gauge the depth of deep-lying rock formations by observing the length of time necessary for the shock waves from a dynamite explosion to be reflected from the rock structures.

By taking such records at various points in a given area, the geologist secures the information necessary to map the subsurface rock structures and determine whether or not they include basins that might hold oil.

U. OF M. BUREAU ANALYZES STATE TAXATION

The actual cost of the government of Michigan to the taxpayer, when segregated from federal relief and old age security and special grants to local units for education, highways, welfare and relief, advanced approximately $8,000,000 or about 9% from 1930 to 1938, according to a pamphlet recently issued by the Bureau of Government of the University of Michigan.

The actual cost for 1930, says this pamphlet, was $75,000,000 and for 1938 it was $83,000,000. This does not represent actual expenditures for all purposes, which increased from $118,000,000 in 1930 to $199,000,000 in 1938.

The great increase is represented by added amounts of state funds granted to local units, which increased 175% during the period studied. Says Mr. Ford, director of the Bureau of Government: "The state is now contributing more to the financing of local government than is actually spent for state government."

The total money turned by the state to local units in 1938 was $91,000,000, compared with $83,000,000 spent for state government.

A total of $418,000,000 has been spent in the state for welfare and relief in the past 6 years, not including local funds spent on relief. In 1938 a total of $37,500,000 was spent on relief through the state treasury, of which $26,500,000 was state funds and $11,000,000 federal funds. Added to this was $66,000,000 spent in the state by the federal government on WPA and PWA projects.

The total cost of state and local government has not altered materially, $110,000,000 having been lopped from the state and local levies on property since 1930.

The proposal has been made in Michigan, he continues, to increase the retail sales tax to four per cent, and to use the additional one per cent to finance the deficit. However, Mr. Ford asserts, the present sales tax accounts for 35 per cent of total taxes, licenses, and fees collected by the state. Two other proposals have also been made. One is for the legislature to adopt the bill which has been introduced for the creation of a new Department of Revenue, which would probably lead to a considerable increase in revenue. The other is for the adoption of a special tax on intangible personal property, which would be an improvement over the present method of taxing intangibles and would likewise mean an increase in revenues for the state.

One of the outstanding programs of the season will be in the evening, when John Carter, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, Concert and Radio favorite, appears in recital. Carter is brilliant, has a fine natural singing voice which brought him much notice. He took up serious vocal study in New York, and after studying two years he was given the chance to sing in the Metropolitan Opera Association, where he won first honors from among 707 aspirants. Carter signed with Metropolitan, which brought him offers from radio and motion pictures. He accepted the stellar singing role of the Chase and Sanborn hour, left vacant by Nelson Eddy, who was going on a Concert tour. He was at once acclaimed a favorite from coast to coast. Winona is proud to announce this Artist Recital.

The large conference of the month is the Twentieth General Conference of the Free Methodist Church which opened on June 14th for a two-week session. This is the law-making body of the church, conference sittings and committee meetings continue throughout the day, with special evangelistic meetings each evening. These conferences meet every four years and are delegated, A World Youth Advance, at which service training courses are offered is also in session with about 1000 young people registered.

When Men Were Chinless

Man required about 50,000 years to develop a chin, scientists say. The Piltdown man, believed to have lived from 100,000 to 150,000 years ago, and the Heidelberg man, who may have lived 300,000 years ago, were chinless.

THE HARVESTORS GET THE GRAIN CLEAN

The 2 HARVESTOR JR. models (6-foot and 8-foot) are exactly the same in principle as the famous 12-foot "G" HARVESTOR which has been the leading seller of all combines of its size since 1934 and still is. The 6 and 8-foot sizes have all the advantages of the original HARVESTOR over previous combines for getting, threshing, separating, and cleaning all the crop and at a low cost. They perform efficiently in soybeans and all grain including flax and maize. In direct comparison with the 12-foot HARVESTOR, the Junior models both have at least the capacity of a 9-foot cut machine—to assure the best possible job for all combining conditions and crops—that is, the length of the separating and cleaning mechanism of the 12, 8, and 6-foot HARVESTORS is the same. The widths of the cylinder, straw racks and cleaning shoe of the 6 and 8-foot HARVESTORS are only one-quarter less than those of the 12-foot HARVESTOR.

Children in Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

The Problem of Adequate Discipline

A mother frequently complained that her children were shiftless; that she much preferred to wash the dishes alone than to shout herself literally hoarse in trying to get her daughter to help. This mother did not realize that industry is merely an acquired habit.

Parents who permit children to evade their responsibilities should realize that such a practice becomes a fixed habit. No child should ever be humored when he loses his temper or sulks when asked to perform certain duties around the home. The boy who learns to perform a specific task each day is not so easily sidetracked when he is forced to confront the realities that accompany his first steady employment.

No child who has failed to learn discipline and to form certain definite traits of character should be allowed to start on a career of self expression. Both the mind and the personality are developed by training and practice. Parents should take advantage of every opportunity presented in the home to develop industry and character in their children.

The dogs of war that Hannibal launched at his enemies were huge bull-like dogs as large as a calf and able to tear a man to pieces.

Here's The Difference

Railroads operate on their own roadways, built and maintained entirely by the railroads.

Out of every dollar the railroads take in, taxes take 9 cents, and their rights-of-way take 23½ cents—a total of 32½ cents for roadways and taxes.

Highway motor carriers operate on public highways, built and maintained by taxpayers.

Out of every dollar taken in by the certificated motor carriers, 7½ cents (I. C. C.) goes for taxes of all sorts—and this represents all they pay for roadways and taxes.

Barge lines which operate on our inland waterways—the canalized rivers of the country—operate on "roadways" built and maintained by taxpayers.

Out of every dollar taken in by these inland waterway freight carriers slightly under 2 cents goes for taxes of all sorts—and this, too, represents all they pay for "roadway" and taxes.

Thoughtful people now believe that forms of transport which operate on and by means of facilities provided by the taxpayers shall pay for the use of such facilities and shall be on an equal basis as regards taxes—real taxes to be expended for the general support of government.

Laws now before Congress aim to remedy the present inequitable situation in the American transportation industry.

In substance, they call merely for a square deal for the railroads.

And a square deal for the railroads means a square deal for the taxpayers, too.

Phone Company Help State in Difficulty

The state's fiscal emergency today spurred the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to advance its semi-annual state property tax payment fifteen days.

Frank L. Hall, tax attorney for the company, turned over to Auditor-General Vernon J. Brown a check for $1,520,246.77, representing half the $3,040,493.54 the Michigan Bell will pay to the state in property taxes for 1938. The first payment, which is due by June 30, was advanced upon a recent suggestion to the company by the State Tax Commission of a probable state financial emergency before July 1. Final payment on the property tax bill is due on or before October 31.

The State Tax Commission has suggested to the company that, in the event of an emergency with regard to school funds before June 30, Hall said. "Recent statements by the auditor-general and budget director indicate that the state finds itself approximately $5,000,000 short in its efforts to meet bills this month.

"To assist in remedying this situation, President George M. Welch, of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, has sanctioned advancing the current payment two weeks before the required date. It would seem the part of good citizenship for the company to do this.

"Until 1935, companies paying taxes into the primary school fund were required by law to pay the entire amount by June 30. The legislature of that year, recognizing the practical difficulty of raising such heavy tax payments in one sum, enacted a law authorizing payment of half the tax by June 30 and the balance by October 31. This was enlightened legislation and afforded constructive help to a number of the state's largest taxpayers."

Hall revealed that the total taxes of the Michigan Bell company for 1938 amounted to $5,454,000, an increase of 7 2-3 per cent over the $5,046,000 for the previous year. In addition to the state property tax, the total embraces the following levies:

Federal income and capital stock taxes, $1,822,000; social security taxes to the Federal and state government, $547,000; miscellaneous levies, mostly to municipalities, on property not used at present in the operation of the company's business, $45,000. The company's total taxes payable this year amount to $8.23 per average telephone in service during 1938.

Telephone, telegraph, railway, express and car-loaning companies, under the statute, pay state taxes, in lieu of local levies, on property useful for their business. The money goes into the primary school fund, from which it is returned to the 83 counties in proportion to their school population. The Michigan Bell Company's property taxes constitute the largest payment by any public utility into the fund.

Betty Ann Miller Gets Digest Award

Paul J. McGee, Principal of Buchanan High School, announced today that the coveted Reader's Digest Award for Scholastic Achievement has been won by the valedictorian of the class of 1939, Miss Betty Ann Miller, 205 Main Street, this city.

The Reader's Digest confers this annual award as encouragement to young men and women throughout the nation who, by their scholastic achievement, give promise of growing into leadership in their communities.

The awards go to valedictorians of graduating classes each year and were established in response both to the increasing interest among students in the most significant articles which appear in current magazines and to the belief of educators that vital contact with the living, quickening thought of our day is essential both before and after graduation.

The fact that one of our pupils has been chosen to receive The Reader's Digest award is a distinct tribute to the high standard of our schools and to the modern methods of this community's educators.

Calls Father From San Francisco, Calif.

One of the high points of Father's Day in Buchanan was undoubtedly the long distance call received by the H. R. Adams family from George Adams of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Miss Louise Adams all talked to George Adams. They say that his voice came in over the 2,000 miles of wire as clear as though he were talking from somewhere in Buchanan.

Equalization Board to Meet In Lansing

The two-year battle of the cities of Niles and Benton Harbor with the county board of supervisors over the equalization question, may be brought to an end before the supervisors meet on June 26 for their annual equalization session.

Supervisor Walter Eidson of Oronoko township, chairman of the board, and the seven members of the board's equalization committee, will have a meeting with members of the state tax commission at Lansing, probably on June 21. It is expected that the state tax commission will deliver its opinion in the controversy when it meets with the Berrien county officials.

Niles and Benton Harbor have not been satisfied with their equalized valuations for several years. They contend that their assessed valuations have been raised at equalization time, while those of other cities and the townships have been reduced, so that the two largest cities in the county pay more than their just share of taxes.

Two years ago the supervisors of the two cities protested the alleged discrimination, but were ignored by the other members of the board. Last year there was internal strife on the equalization committee and two reports were submitted.

The majority report met the demands of Benton Harbor and Niles. The minority report, Niles and Benton Harbor claimed, contained the same inequalities of which they had been complaining.

When the two reports were submitted to the 39 members of the board for final approval, there developed a strife which kept the board through an evening session and well past midnight.

Niles, with four members on the board, and Benton Harbor, with five, had the support of the four St. Joseph supervisors, and of two of the township supervisors, in their efforts to defeat the minority report. Supervisor A. W. Baker of Coloma, chairman of the equalization committee, and Supervisor Thomas Hastings of Niles township, joined with the cities in voting against the minority report. The vote was 22 to 14, with one Benton Harbor supervisor absent.

After adoption of the report, Niles and Benton Harbor appealed to the state tax commission for a re-assessment of the county. Assessors were sent from the state, a brief public hearing was conducted, and the assessors worked for several weeks in the county. The results of their survey are expected to be presented to the county officials at the June 21 conference.

When the list of standing committees was announced at the board's organization session in April, it was found that Mr. Baker had been removed from the equalization committee. His place as chairman was filled by D. E. Patterson of New Buffalo, who was a member of the committee last year and whose name was signed to the minority report.

Supervisors Guy Smith of Weesaw township, and Fred Koenigs-hof of Bertrand township, who also signed the minority report, are on the equalization committee again this year.

Other members of this year's equalization committee are Patterson as chairman, and Simon Kreitner, Hagar township; John Winn, Niles; B. S. Barnes, Benton Harbor; and Frank Small, St. Joseph.

Winn and Barnes signed the majority report last year, along with Mr. Baker, Mr. Barnes, Mr. Winn and Loomis Preston. Preston resigned from the board to become a state representative; his place was filled by Small, a new member of the board of supervisors this year.

Baker's membership on the committee is filled by Kreitner, who voted against the majority report last year.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 107): "Through Christian Science, religion and medicine are inspired with a divine nature and essence; fresh pinions are given to faith and understanding, and thoughts acquaint themselves intelligently with God."

Just 72 years ago a small group of people of the community met and organized the Dayton church. Years of prosperity and also discouragement have gone by. Just a year ago we were faced by the fact our church was about to be closed for lack of interest and the will to work.

Mrs. O. C. Olson leader of the 4-H Club talked with our minister and said she would get her club members to come if we would try to have Sunday school.

So with new teachers, new success and cooperation, we now have a Sunday school of 70 members with an average of 50 for each Sunday of the 14 months we have been working.

We have added new members to the church roll and are planning an extensive program for the coming year. We extend an invitation to all to come help us celebrate our year's work next Sunday and start a new year of cooperation, fellowship and work.

 The wagon and buggy factories lost sales because of the automobile coming in that field. Now there are 6 million employed in the automotive and equipment factories.

We transferred the development of the geographical frontier to the mental frontier—by exploiting new ideas and enterprise which produced the photo-electric cell, soybeans into steering wheels, cotton into pavements, sand into gasoline, and peachpits into ornaments.

There is no "Go West Young Man, Go West," but this is the field for our present day high school juniors and seniors. We have just scratched the surface of possibilities in America.

Mr. Horrocks summed up his talk in the plan of 4 Aces and a Joker:
 Ace No. 1—Available man power.
 Ace No. 2—Co-operation.
 Ace No. 3—Ideas and possibilities.
 Ace No. 4—Savings deposits lying in banks idle.

Drawing the 5th card—was the Joker. With the 4 Aces we have a perfect hand to start business, but why spend all energy when at the end of the year we draw the Joker in Special Tax.

There is now in Congress a bill to repeal this tax, and if it passes we better be ready to go for our forward move will go farther in the next 15 years than we have gone in the last 40.

 spread in menace to the intruder, but the picture was a success. The birds are not naturally beautiful. Their heads and necks have a patent-leather finish. The down of the young bird is white, darkening as they mature. These birds had a dusky shade in spots.

A few days later Beck found a mamma possum and five young ones in the corn field and captured them, placing them in a box at the house. There the mamma possum and all the little possums regularly fold up and go to sleep whenever visitors show up.

Earl is planning to call his place the Beckfield Zoo and charge admittance, 25 cents at the gate, 10 cents for a look at the buzzards.

Going the rounds of papers is a squib which, like most things, is not 100% true, but which has a percentage of truth nevertheless: There was a man who lived by the side of the road, and he sold hot dogs.

He was hard of hearing, so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes, so he read no newspapers.

But he sold good hot dogs. He put signs up on the highway, telling how good they were. He stood on the side of the road and cried, "Buy a hot dog, mister?"—and people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove, to take care of his trade. He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened. His son said, "Father haven't you been listening to the radio? Haven't you been reading the newspapers? There's a big depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Everything's going to pot."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he reads the newspapers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell off almost overnight.

"You're right, son," the father said to his boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Swain Brave Fellow, But He Goes to Jail

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—A young swain's fearlessness landed him in police court.
 He was walking along a street with a girl friend when he decided to prove to her what a brave fellow he was.
 "I'm not afraid of anybody. Just to show you," he said, "I'll knock down the first man that comes along."
 He did.

DAD AND DAUGHTER UNITED BY RADIO

Girl, Lost 23 Years, Talks to Her Father.

HAMMOND, IND.—For the first time in 23 years, a father and a daughter are talking to each other with the aid of radio amateurs in Hammond, Ind., and Los Angeles.
 It was only recently that Walter Baden of Hammond found the daughter who was taken from him by his wife at the time of their divorce nearly a quarter of a century ago.

She is Mrs. Olive Carolyn Klar of Los Angeles, widowed mother of a four-year-old child. But neither she nor Baden had enough money to go to the other.

V. L. Harnack of Hammond, operator of amateur radio station W9-LMO, and Ashby Stratton of Los Angeles, station WBTMX, arranged for two-way conversation.

When the first talk was arranged, Baden approached the mike in Harnack's home tremblingly. He heard the faint words:

"Hello, daddy, can't you hear me? This is Olive."

All the things Baden had planned to say fled from his mind. Tearfully, he cried:

"Olive."

"It's—it's a nice weather out here," Olive said.

Then suddenly she burst out:

"Oh, daddy, why can't we see each other? I'm so poor I had to borrow six cents for an airmail stamp to mail you a letter."

"We'll see each other soon," Baden promised her. "I'll find the money some way. We'll talk again soon. I'm sure."

And he wasn't mistaken, for Harnack and Stratton have arranged for other conversations between the father and his long-lost daughter until the time when they can be reunited—in person.

Indians Declare Cobra

Always Verifies Its Kill

BEDAGAMA, CEYLON.—A cobra attended the inquest here of a man it had bitten, at least that is what natives believe.

While walking home one evening the man accidentally trod on the snake, which bit him. He ran the rest of the way home, about a quarter of a mile, and there collapsed and died.

During the inquest, which was held in the house the following evening, a cobra was noticed crawling about outside. Villagers caught it and showed it to the coroner, saying that it was the same one that had killed the man.

They explained that an injured cobra will often not be content with biting the person who injures it, but will follow him about afterward. If he escapes the first time, it will lie in wait and attack him again.

Chivalrous Cops Perform

Ticklish Job for a Lady

EVANSTON, ILL.—Mrs. Helen Zaiser rang and rang the front door bell of her home. No luck. She had just returned from driving her maid home. Her husband, William, was dozing in an arm chair.

Getting chilly and annoyed, Mrs. Zaiser summoned Policemen George Hildebrecht and Walter Egebrecht. They forced open a living room window. But it was too far above the ground for them to enter.

Then Mrs. Zaiser had an inspiration. The policemen went to the garage, got a fishing pole, reached through the window and tickled Mr. Zaiser in the ribs. Mr. Zaiser awoke. Mrs. Zaiser got in.

Hunter Out Too Late,

Is Tired by Three Bears

ELGIN, N. B.—Mike Layden has given up hunting—at least after sundown.

Returning from a belated deer-hunting expedition, Layden came face to face with three bears. Forgetting his guns and other equipment Mike took to a tall tree, where the bears held him prisoner for nearly six hours.

He was rescued when the hired man from his farm came looking for him and the noise he made tramping through the brush frightened the bears.

Skeleton at Car Wheel

Jolts Three Franksters

CAPTOWN.—Three young men in a North Natal town who had amused themselves by playing pranks on parked cars got a shock when they opened a door of a car. At the wheel was seated a skeleton dressed in a white shirt and felt hat.

One of the youths collapsed, one stood petrified and the third gave a terrified shriek.

Tea Is Still Taxed!
 Americans consume an estimated 20 billion cups of tea a year—an annual average of 150 cups for every person in the country. A National Consumers Tax commission survey shows that of 18 cents paid for a quarter pound of this tea, nearly three cents—or 15.4 per cent—are taken by hidden taxes.

Tales of an Old Town

act has been passed oppressive to them. On the contrary they have received all the protection they have asked for, and the rebellion must be crushed if it costs the nation all its resources. The sooner it is done the better, and to accomplish this every true-hearted Democrat will labor with all his energies." (Niles Republican, June 15, 1861).

There were two particular "hot spots" during the Civil War years when the tension on the home front was highest, the months immediately following the declaration of the war in April, 1861, and the months following the enforcement of the draft or "enrollment act" in late 1863 and early 1864.

One of the less romantic but always present features of wars is the fact that during their duration they constitute a Roman holiday for that species of patriot who utilizes the occasion to settle a few private grudges and to generally advantage himself. The trend of idealism and of sincerity was undoubtedly high in the young Republican party at least at the outset of the "inevitable conflict," although there is sad proof that in the latter stages there was a progressive decline as enthusiasm increased over the profits from war contracts and from $1.00 per pound wool, 15 cent per pound pork and $3.25 per bushel wheat.

But even at the beginning there were apparently a few Republicans not averse to doing a little patriotic "strafing," sometimes from dubious motives. Witness the following from the Niles Republican of Aug. 31, 1861:

"George M. Beswick, a quiet, inoffensive farmer of Milton township was called out of his bed between 3 and 4 a. m. Saturday. He found eight men armed with clubs waiting for him outside. He was commanded to get his team ready, hitch them up to a wagon and take them to LaPorte, Ind. However they stopped at South Bend took him into a lodge hall and cross-examined him and then turned him loose.

"William Smith of Bertrand was then in charge Tuesday by six armed men, who came into the field where he was working drew revolvers on him and ordered him to come with them to South Bend. On the way they flourished their guns in front of him and asked him if it were true that he was in favor of freeing the slaves."

"The Niles Republican commented: 'Republicans should remember that if war breaks out in the north, they will have as much to lose by it as the Democrats. The death of a single man by violence for his political opinion may lead to the death of thousands.'

This strange paragraph was an unusual, a rare expression of that fear which was present in the back of men's heads in the Buchanan district as well as through the entire northwest—that Civil war might break out internally in the North, that there might be revolt behind the lines.

Supposedly in defense against this possibility the Republicans organized societies, some open and above board, like the Wide Awakes, others of a semi-secret nature, like the "Loyal League" and the Union League. Also the Democrats on their part banded themselves into furtive and necessarily secret orders, supposedly as a defense against abuse. Most famous was the "Knights of the Golden Circle," alias "Knights of the Golden Square," alias "The Sons of Liberty," very likely all different names for the same movement. Its leader was the "copperhead" Clement Vallandigham of Ohio, a name once placed in the same class as that of Benedict Arnold throughout the North but in late years placed in somewhat better repute as historians delve deeper in the idealologies that underlaid the Civil War.

Meanwhile the Niles Democrat organ was rather boldly reminding the Republicans that "They keep calling on the country to forget politics and parties but keep right on kicking the Democrats out of the postoffices."

Shortly before the war opened George M. Dewey, grandfather of the present racket-busting Thomas Dewey of New York City, had started a Republican paper in Niles, "The Enquirer" and became very active in politics in various ways. For one thing he advocated the suppression of "The Republican" for disloyalty during the first months of the war. Dewey was apparently so super-active in politics that he acquired much opposition among the members of his own party. Anyway John Perrott, new Republican postmaster at Buchanan, wrote a letter to the Niles Republican saying that he violently disagreed with Dewey's attack and had stopped his subscription on account of it.

In the next edition the editor of the Republican reported that he had met Dewey on the street and had pecked him with a "mere love tap" with the idea of having the matter settled by fistfights, and that Dewey refused to fight but said he would sue him. Thereafter he insinuated continually that Dewey was more interested in playing politics than in fighting, stating for instance: "The well known local orator who spoke in the Gallen woods last week will not join the army. Reason: he does not like bullets."

ROSE SNYDER LIVES ON FARM WHERE BORN

Snyder's went out north of the town into the deep woods of the Mt. Tabor district and settled at the foot of a hill near a spring. The present home is built on the hill above.

It was the universal custom of the earliest pioneers to hunt a spring for a building location, almost without regard to other features. Roads did not matter, since there were no surveyed roads, only trails following the lines of least resistance through the trees.

There they built a log cabin in which the family lived for many years, cooking over a fire place. A trail wound through the trees near the house, and along the approximate route of the present lower river road, up the steep, then ungraded, Moccasin Bluff, to the village. That way Mrs. Jacob Snyder used to ride on a white horse to market the butter and other produce. Often the girls walked to town. Margaret remembers how she and her sister, Elizabeth, used to pick berries in the woods and walk to town to trade them for circle combs, beads and other girlish trinkets at the John D. Ross store. Sometimes the girls were allowed to ride the white horse but more often they walked the six miles.

Both can remember the days of the Civil War, but naturally Maggie can remember them best, since she was older, and moreover she became the bride of a soldier during the war. Her future husband, Chris Herman, although he was of a Democrat family, enlisted very early. There is a story to that.

In the issue of the Niles Republican of June 21, 1861, the editor describes very interestingly a trip by steamboat down the St. Joseph river from Niles to St. Joseph and return by stage coach. In that trip down the river the boat stopped at Berrien Springs and took on about 50 recruits, the Berrien County Rifles, who were to board a steamer at St. Joseph for Chicago where they would join the Douglas Rifles, an organization which was to be organized in Chicago by Northern Democrats in honor of the great Democrat leader, Stephen A. Douglas, to demonstrate that Northern Democrats were willing to shed blood for the preservation of the union, even if they did not see eye to eye with the abolitionists in the matter of slavery.

But apparently at Chicago the old political game was operated. By some hocus pocus it was determined that there were not enough recruits for a new regiment, and consequently it was deemed necessary to divide them up among other regiments. So Chris Herman served his three years in Company E, 42nd Illinois. At the end of this term of service he re-enlisted, but came home for a month to marry Maggie Snyder. It is not hard to see now that he had a beautiful bride, and old timers will tell you that Maggie Snyder was one of the beauties of the Buchanan district. They were wed on March 19, 1864.

Married, he went back to his regiment and he marched from Missouri to Texas during the last year of the war. He was wounded twice, once a scratch in the side, once a flesh wound in the arm. When he came back he was always bitter about the war, and the family never talked about it. He always said he wanted to forget it.

There was much bitterness. One of the first causes of complaint was the soldier's pay. When the first recruits were enlisted they were promised their pay of $13 per month in gold. That lasted only a few months, then they were paid in greenbacks, worth about 40 cents on the dollar. All metal money disappeared during the war. There were even paper nickels, dimes and quarters, part of them "shinplasters" issued by business men in the form of "token money" or "promises to pay."

During that last year of the war Maggie Herman worked at the home of Mrs. William Ingelright, who was running a farm and caring for four children while her husband was in the army. Mrs. Ingelright got $10 subsistence money from the government. Mrs. Herman, having no family, got no government allowance.

Mrs. Herman can remember a rally in Buchanan at the beginning of the war. They had speaking from a platform, probably at the junction of Main and Front street. Some one spoke, she does not remember who. Perry Fox, a local hardware man of that day, sang: "Jordan Am a Hard Road to Trammel."

When Chris Herman finally came back in 1865 he bought the forty acres which is part of the farm where she still lives with her son.

When they were girls Rose and Maggie attended the old log school house which was the predecessor of the old Colvin school, Rose remembers the names of her teachers: Amos Gray, Nellie Halstead, Lucy Deming, Alma Dunning, Enoch Ross, Ezekiel Spaulding and Flavilla Quint. Ross never married. She has always called the old farm her home, although for several years she worked as a dressmaker in Buchanan. Another sister, several years younger, Mrs. Frank Hartline, lives on a nearby farm.

stages, probably will be completed by the middle of the month. He seeks an escape. But there was another element that entered into the Steward's decision to abandon their apartment at 6336 Minerva avenue. Off in that country retreat the rural neighbors still live by the belief that the bread sweetest to the taste is that which is earned by honest toil. There, the general rumble, he will be spared the provoking spectacle of WPA workers leaning on their shovels.

Gen. Steward had been mails delivery superintendent for twenty-four years when he retired in 1925. Sandwiched into that period were the two memorable years when he was the city's chief of police. That was from 1909 to 1911, during Fred A. Busse's service as mayor.

As police chief Gen. Steward organized the first motor boat and motorcycle squads in the department. He replaced the horse-drawn paddy wagon with a motorized vehicle. Patrolmen had been working for indefinite hours; he placed them on eight hour shifts. He drafted the first formal traffic regulations, and the forerunner of the safety traffic school was established during his tenure in office.

His Men Kept Spruce

It is recalled also that, looking to the sartorial perfection of the chief, the police department spruced itself up to the last man, and the law walked the streets in those days in Beau Brummel splendor.

Gen. Steward's military title comes from the state militia. He is a retired brigadier of the Illinois National Guard.

Gen. and Mrs. Steward are enthusiastic and thorough travelers. But they do all their traveling in the Americas. The general has no hankering to see Europe. "By George, almost every country over there owes us money, and who wants to hobnob with people who won't pay their debts?" he barks.

In April the South American Grand Prize Race was run—twice across the Andes—4515 heart-breaking miles! All leading American low-price cars were among the 69 starters. The race was won by a Ford V-8. And 10 of 28 cars to finish were Fords!

There's just one way to know the smooth, quick power of a Ford V-8. That's to get behind the wheel. Come in and drive the new Ford.
